THE EMPEROR OF GERMANY.

This is the eighty-seventh anniversary of the birthday of His Majesty Wilhelm I, Emperor of Germany and King of Prussia. The following, taken from the Statesman's Year Book, will to-day be read with interest by all our German citizens, whom we congratulate upon the day they celebrate and to whom we wish good luck and prosperity:

"The Constitution of the German Empire—Verfassung des Deutschen Reichs—bears date April 16, 1871. By its terms, all the states of Germany form an eternal union for the protection of the Confederation and the care of the welfare of the German people."

—schliessen einen ewigen Bund zum Schutze des Bundesgebiets, und zur Pflege der Wohlfahrt des Deutschen Volkes.

"The Imperial throne of Germany has always been filled by election, though with a tendency towards the hereditary principle of succession. Originally the Emperor was chosen by the vote of all the Princes and Peers of the Reich, but the mode came to be changed in the fourteenth century, when a limited number of Princes, fixed at seven for a time, and afterwards enlarged to nine, assumed the privilege of disposing of the Crown, and their right being acknowledged, were called Electors. The election of the present Emperor was by vote of the Reichstag of the Confederation, on the initiative of all the reigning Princes of Germany.

"Since the creation of the Imperial dignity by Charlemagne, crowned 'Kaiser' at Rome, on Christmas Day in the year 800, there have been the following Emperors of Germany: House of Charlemagne, 9; House of Franconia, 5; House of Saxony, 6; House of Hohenstaufen, 7; House of Habsburg, 17; House of Luxemburg, 7; House of Habsburg-Lorraine, 4; House of Hohenzollern, 1—Wilhelm I.

"The average duration of reign of the fifty-six Emperors of Germany in the preceding list was upwards of sixteen years.

"Wilhelm I, Emperor of Germany and King of Prussia, (whose birthday is celebrated to-day) was born on March 22, 1797, and is the second son of King Friedrich Wilhelm III of Prussia, and of Princess Louise of Mecklenburg-Strelitz; educated for the military career, he took part in the campaigns of 1813 and 1814 against France; he was Governor of the province of Pomerania, 1840; Military Governor of the Rhine provinces, 1849-57; appointed Regent of Prussia during the illness of his brother, Oct. 9, 1858; ascended the throne of Prussia at the death of his brother, Jan. 2, 1861; Commander-in-Chief of the German armies in the war against France, July, 1870, to March, 1871; unanimously proclaimed Emperor of Germany at Versailles, January 18, 1871. Married June 11, 1829, to Augusta, Empress of Germany and Queen of Prussia, born Sept. 30, 1811, the daughter of the late Grand-Duke Karl Friedrich of Saxe-Weimar."

Hoch Lebe Der Kaiser!

the regular assortment of dry goods and groceries, some Manilas, a dray and a saddle mare will be offered.

Our report of the Y. M. C. A. regular monthly meeting is unavoidably held over. Some important business was transacted and it was decided to hold the annual meeting on Thursday, April 17th.

An accident occurred yesterday at the Ice Works, which completely destroyed the ammonia pump. The delay in repairing it will necessitate the non-delivery of ice, except to the hospitals and sick, for a fortnight.
A sudden fever scare is imminent.

Mr. J. I. Dowsett received, by the Discovery, 35 mules, 24 horses, 2 bulls and 1 cow. They were all landed in good condition, the bovines, which have been bellowing all day in the next yard, are especially lively.

Messrs. Tregloan & Atwater have just received a fine lot of Children's and Boys Suits. Call and see them.
667 3t.

When Captain Mehrtens and Tell were searching the Chinese quarters yesterday, for a runaway Celestial, they came unexpectedly upon a number of opium smokers who were gathered together in a small room off Nuuanu street.

Messrs. Wm. G. Irwin & Co., the agents of the Oceanic S. S. Co., have issued some very neat cards showing their stately steamers gliding over the deep green sea. The reverse side of the card contains all necessary information as to the cabins, rates of passage, baggage allowance, time of sailing and all the details that ensure a quick and comfortable passage in the Mariposa and Alameda.

THE HAWAIIAN HOTEL.

There have been rumors for some days past that the hotel had changed hands, but nothing definite was settled until yesterday when Messrs. G.
W. Macfarlane & Co. arranged for a transfer of the Government lease from Dr. McGrew. The transfer will take effect from to-day or the end of the present month, but the formal deeds have not yet been signed. The community may expect, under the new ownership, that the hotel will fully sustain its reputation for respectability and tone, and that it will be conducted in a first class manner. Messrs. Macfarlane & Co. have ample facilities for importing, which gives them an obvious advantage over a private individual.
They will endeavor to satisfy the public and make profit for themselves. Mr. George Fassett will continue in the management of the hotel, and Mr. Dexter, late chief steward of the Alameda, will assist in catering and take charge of the bar room. An efficient staff of assistants is promised with a table that will satisfy the most capricious epicure, who will make allowances for the difficulty in procuring supplies from a limited market like Honolulu. In time better arrangements will be made for obtaining the necessaries and luxuries of life.

THE CIRCUS.

Thursday evening's performance at the circus was more successful than some of the preceding ones and attracted a large audience.
Among the novelties introduced were the two Shetland ponies which were well ridden by little Harry Morosco, who, though mounted bareback and having as much as he could do to manage them, successfully controled his fiery young steeds. Miss St.
Claire, mounted on one of the lately arrived horses, Danger, showed herself to be a much better horse woman than formerly. Alejo Hudson performed his comic clown act, and caused roars of laughter. His balancing of a peacock's feather was decidedly clever, and the manner in which he fooled two boys in a race for a dollar provoked much merriment.
Alejo is a decided acquisition to the circus and we hope to see him in his riding and tumbling acts.
There will be an afternoon performance to-day, commencing at two o'clock, a promenade of the company through town this morning, and a performance, at the usual hour, this evening when an entire change of programme will be presented, commencing with the Grand Star and Waltz Entree. The last performance was concluded at ten o'clock, which was considered an improvement by pleasure seekers.

ANOTHER BURGLARY.

M. Michiels, on arrival yesterday morning at his place of business, the Louvre of Brussels, found that somebody had been before him and that his stock had perceptibly diminished.
The building, which is situated on the corner of Alakea and King streets, is almost unprotected. Nobody slept on the premises on Thursday night so that the burglar had a clear field for his operations. He had evidently entered the yard by a gate on Alakea street, cut away a portion of the window sash and removed the glass sufficiently to enable him to unfasten the catch, push up the window and have free access to the well filled store. The value of the stolen property was about $1,500 as it includes over 100 large silk handkerchiefs, 48 gold plated rings set with stones, a handsome diamond locket, three ladies' open cased gold watches, two valuable rings set with pearls and a handsome gold necklace. In addition there were missing some good suits of clothes and a number of minor articles which it was impossible to ascertain at a cursory glance. Some of the jewelry was kept in a show case which was unlocked, the remainder being in a trunk; the burglar had evidently inspected the interior arrangement of the store during the daytime. Subsequent to his successful raid he appears to have adjourned to a shed in the yard and there carefully packed up the portable property, as remnants of matches and a knife were found there. A policeman generally leases the front window sill of the building as a resting place at night; it is probable that, on Thursday night, he had found more comfortable quarters for his midnight dreams. This is the last of a series of burglaries that have occurred in Honolulu within the past few months, and, as the modus ope- randi has been similar in each case, it is reasonable to suppose that the same artist has been everywhere at work. It is no longer safe to leave doors and windows open, or insecurely fastened, at night. Honolulu is becoming civilized.

A NEW GIRL.

(From the New York Times.)

Novelties in girls are naturally looked upon with suspicion. The present style of girl has been thoroughly tested and found to be perfectly satisfactory, and when any one claims to have devised a new and improved style of girl, the claim usually proves, upon examination, to be a ridiculous failure.

From the West there comes the story of a newly invented girl of startling originality. She differs from previous girls in the fact that her left leg is attached to her right shoulder, while her right arm occupies the place usually occupied by a left leg. Girls with extra limbs or with no limbs at all have frequently been exhibited to an unsympathizing public, but the distribution of the new girl's limbs is something absolutely new, and as such deserves serious attention.

The claims made in behalf of the new girl are many, and some of them at least appear to be justifiable. For example, it is asserted that a woman who has a hand where the left foot is usually found can pick up pins and other small objects from carpets without stooping. She can also hold a rug in place while sweeping it, and can drag a cat out from under a sofa and turn her out of the room with the greatest ease. When she drops her prayer-book in church she can pick it up and place it on the seat beside her without attracting the slightest attention, and she can climb into a carriage with the aid of her hand-foot—if it may be so called—with an ease and grace of which the ordinary woman is quite incapable.

Having a foot where other women have a right hand, the new style of girl would make an admirable family disciplinarian, since she could administer punishment to children without the trouble of removing her slipper. She would have an immense advantage over other girls when wearing beautiful and costly hosiery, since she could display the stocking on her right upper limb with no more impropriety than is involved in displaying a neatly fitting glove. So, too, her advantages for displaying a neat and artistic boot would be quite unequalled, and she would be able to button both her own boots without trouble than ordinary women find in putting on their gloves.

These are claims which, it must be admitted, are well founded. We may, however, concede everything that is claimed in behalf of the new girl and still disapprove of her. What is this girl to do when on receiving an acceptable offer of marriage she wishes to clasp her arms around her lover's neck? Will he be likely to feel flattered when the soft touch of a Western feminine foot caresses his left ear? When the marriage ceremony is in progress, how will he obey the clergyman's order to take the bride's right hand in his? And then, how will the new girl be able to make the simplest article of food without literally putting her foot in it?

The worst feature of the new girl, however, is her inability to walk. Nothing has been said by her advocates on this subject, which is a sufficient reason for assuming that they have nothing favorable to say. Is the girl expected to walk on both feet? If so, it is safe to say that she cannot do it, and if she could, her appearance would be so grotesque that she would never venture outside of her own room. Undoubtedly she is expected to walk on one foot and one hand. Need anything more be said to prove that she is a painful failure?

This attempt to make the modern girl a compromise between the bimani and the quadrumana is certainly ingenious but it is doomed to the fate of all previous attempts at improving girls. Our girls need no improvements, and it will take a greater intellect than that of Cuvier to devise any possible change in them which would not be for the worse.

A Strange Experience.

BY AMOTO.

(From the Australasian.)

I am about to relate the one extraordinary and inexplicable experience of my life. I shall not attempt to account for it. I shall simply narrate what occurred and leave my readers to choose their own explanation, if they can find any. I may state that at the time I was in the enjoyment of my usual health, having, in fact, returned to town only a few days before from a three weeks' holiday in the country. As far as I know I have never had any hallucination or illusion of the senses. I have always been a confirmed disbeliever in the supernatural and miraculous, whether in the old-fashioned form of ghosts, dreams, and haunted houses, or in the more modern manifestations of spiritualism, clairvoyance, and "thought reading." Most of my friends, indeed, regard me as an unusually prosaic and matter-of-fact person, one unduly sceptical in demanding that statements of an exceptional character shall be supported by the clearest possible evidence.

With these few preliminary remarks I proceed to relate what was I will not say seen by, but made known to me, on a certain autumnal afternoon, in one of the busiest and most crowded thoroughfares of this city of Melbourne.

It was a dull calm day, in the month of May, and having nothing particular to do, I found myself walking alone up Elizabeth-street on the right-hand side, with the intention of turning up Lonsdale-street, round by Swanston-street, and so back to Collins-street, from where I had started. Why I chose this particular walk I am unable to say. It is not specially attractive to me, and I had no reason that I know of for taking it. I was impelled by a seemingly casual and purposeless impulse to turn my face in that direction. The day had been unusually warm for the time of year, and now, towards five o'clock in the afternoon, it was extremely close, not the faintest breath of air being perceptible. I strolled leisurely along, had passed the post-office, crossed Little Bourke-street, and was about half-way towards Lonsdale-street, when it struck me that I would stop for an instant and compare my watch with the post-office clock. I turned round, drew out my watch, glanced at it, and then looked at the clock. It was exactly five minutes to five. My own timekeeper was two or three minutes fast. As I put the watch back into my pocket I noticed a small terrier dog trotting
