RATIFICATION MEETING CALLED DEMOCRATS WRANGLING OVER IMMIGRATION

M'CANDLESS FOR PLATFORM AGAINST IMMIGRATION

WANTS THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION TOMORROW TO ADOPT A PLATFORM DENOUNCING THE IMMIGRATION LAW—SAYS THERE IS ENOUGH LABOR IN THE COUNTRY NOW—EFFORTS BEING MADE TO COMPROMISE.

The Democratic convention meets tomorrow, with a prospect of a lively discussion of the immigration question and a practical certainty that it will nominate L. L. McCandless for delegate to Congress. McCandless is opposed to the immigration law, and will try to have the platform made his way but he says that if he is overruled by a majority of his party's convention he will bow to the will of the majority and accept the platform adopted.

McCandless was asked this morning where he stood on the immigration question. "I think," he said, "that we have enough labor in this country now. I thought so two years ago. I personally know of two cases of laborers discharged by the Kahului railroad company because they were my buttons in the last campaign. It seems to me that in a country where the big concerns can discharge men for political reasons there must be enough labor without spending money to import more."

McCandless will go into the convention to fight for a plank in the platform denouncing the present immigration law. If he gets such a plank, he will make the proposition the issue of his campaign against Delegate Kuhio. If he does not get it, he will accept the decision of the convention and make other thunder against the Republican delegate. The probabilities, however, are said to be in favor of his winning in the convention, though prominent Democrats are opposed to him, and the party may lose some important leaders if he gets the plank he wants. It has already lost Col. C. J. McCarthy, who has withdrawn as candidate for senator. McCarthy's election if he ran was claimed by Democrats as almost certain hence he is a serious loss. He disagreed utterly with McCandless on the immigration issue.

McCandless said this morning that he understood that there were other reasons for McCarthy's withdrawal than the difference over the immigration question. He said that McCarthy had private reasons for not running. It is said that McCandless has a majority of the delegates to the convention and will probably carry his platform. On the other hand, efforts are being made to make a compromise and draft a plank which will approve immigration of certain kinds, for plantation labor.

If such a compromise is reached, it is said, Col. McCarthy may change his mind and decide to run.

Treasurer Trent's position in the matter is being much discussed, but the deacon says it isn't any of his business. He is not a delegate to the convention and is not running for a Territorial office, and he says he doesn't have to take part in the formation of the Territorial platform.

INCREASED BENEVOLENCE AT DECREASED COST

William O. Smith, Mary S. Parker and Secretary E. A. Mott-Smith, trustees of the late W. C. Lunaillo, have submitted their annual report to the Master, who has compiled his report on the accounts, etc.

The master tells an interesting story of the work of the Lunaillo Home. Mrs. E. A. Weaver has continued as manager and Dr. F. A. Hedemann is still the attending physician. A little expenditure for repairs has put the property into excellent condition. The average daily attendance for the year has been 55.1, as against 51.767 for the previous year, all the persons who had passed through the physicians examination having been admitted. The cost per capita for the year was $179.23, as against $193.32 for the year 1909. The excess of expenditure over income was slowly but surely decreasing, a statement that was fully borne out by the statistics produced. The manager reported that 17 males and 7 females had been admitted during the year, six males and one female having been discharged. Ten males and two females had died during the year, the deaths being due to chronic disease and old age. The number of inmates on July 31 last was 56, while at the same time of the previous year the figures stood at 51, an increase of five. On Thanksgiving Day the inmates were regaled with chicken, luau and soda water feasts, but the spiritual side was not neglected.

The master said that all the bonds were good and formed a safe investment. The notes were secured by mortgage, and, prima facie, they also were good investments. In conclusion he reported that the trustees seemed ever mindful of the high ideals and noble purposes that had actuated the benevolent founder of the institution in providing for old Hawaiians, the necessities of life and the comfort of a home in their declining years. But in the furtherance of these ideas the trustees have not lost sight of the important principles of business.

REPUBLICANS WILL RATIFY

The Republicans of Oahu will hold a ratification meeting on Saturday, September 24, to ratify the action of their conventions just concluded. It will be a big mass meeting, with several addresses on the issues of the campaign.

This was decided at the first meeting of the new county central committee at noon at the party headquarters. The committee discussed informally plans for the coming campaign, and will hold another meeting tomorrow. Col. Sam Parker was chosen chairman of the committee and J. Marcellino secretary. An executive committee of eight was decided upon to have charge of the campaign. In co-operation with the Territorial central committee.

It was practically decided to have a very short campaign, as far as the county work is concerned, though the Territorial campaign, as was explained by A. L. C. Atkinson, has to begin early. It being necessary for Delegate Kuhio to visit all the islands. The active county campaign will probably begin about three weeks before election day.

It appears to be the sentiment of the committee that the plan of meetings shall be somewhat different this time from the plan of the past. An effort will be made to hold meetings at which there shall be addresses by orators worth listening to, rather than a mere series of routine announcements from one candidate after another that he "supports the whole ticket." The party will pick out its orators who can draw and interest crowds and make them work, and leave the candidates who are not good speakers and don't want to speak any how to take back seats.

The matter of a chairman of the executive committee is still unsettled. W. W. Harris was proposed last night by Breckons as chairman of the county fight, but it is said he cannot accept because he is going to the coast. This morning the name of Charles Hustace Jr., was proposed, but Hustace doesn't want it, and in fact has resigned from

ADMIRAL SAH TALKS OF NAVAL PLANS OF CHINA

While journeying from Yokohama to Honolulu Admiral Sah Ching Ping, one of the Naval Commissioners of China who is accompanying Prince Tsai Hsun on his mission to the United States, mingled freely with the English speaking passengers, and displayed a lively interest in the everyday happenings on board ship. In appearance Admiral Sah is disappointing. He looks almost insignificant, is small in stature, sparse in build and does not appear to possess more than an ordinary amount of intelligence. But he who would judge Admiral Sah must go further than a superficial examination. Beneath the unprepossessing exterior there glows an intelligence that is positively startling.

"He is like chain lightning," remarked one Honolulu resident, a gentleman who had many opportunities of studying Admiral Sah even during the very brief stay in port. And this phrase sums up Admiral Sah exactly. Once started he fairly bubbles over with vivacity. He seems tireless and talks rapidly and entertainingly all day long. To one of the passengers, in response to an inquiry the Admiral described the personnel of the Naval Mission and he also outlined the purposes which the mission had set out to accomplish. Of the officials comprising Prince Tsai Hsun's suite almost all were captains in the navy and most of them were natives of Southern China. Admiral Sah claims Foochow as the place of his nativity; Captain Y. Y. Asao comes from Canton; the Hon. C. P. Chu also hails from the City of Rams; the Hon. J. Y. Tseng is from Foochow; Mr. C. Cheng is from Canton and Mr. P. L. Lin is from the south also. The northern Chinese accompanying the mission are the Hon. Chow Tsz Chi from Shantung, Captain Y. C. Tseng from Tientsin and Mr. H. L. Chou from Hunan. Admiral Sah, Captain Tsao, Mr. Chou and Mr. S. Fung were all members of the naval commission which visited Europe last year, and the Admiral expressed himself as being much impressed by what he saw on that occasion, though he confided to the writer that he was looking forward with keen interest to the inspection of the American naval stations.

"How do you account for the presence of so many Southern Chinese in the Navy?" was a question put to the Admiral.

He smiled slightly before replying, "Perhaps it is that there are more natural harbors in the south," he hazarded.

"Is it not that the Southerners are the more intelligent and progressive?" "I hardly think so," he answered, with a deprecatory shrug of his shoulders.

Admiral Sah has had considerable experience in the Chinese navy, having been in command of the cruiser squadron, with which he toured the entire coast of China and proceeded up many of the rivers. He is not optimistic with regard to the future of China's navy, but he does not commit himself to any definite statements regarding the steps which will be taken upon the return of the commission.

"We have now only a few cruisers," he remarked rather sadly, "but more will shortly be built."

While in Japan, the Kawasaki dock yard, the Mitsui Bishi docks and the Yokosuka Naval Yard were visited but the visits were not official, this being reserved until the return trip. When questioned as to the progress now being made by China in the education of her young men as naval officers and the construction of naval harbors, Admiral Sah grew somewhat impatient and courteously suggested a game of chess, at which it might here be stated he is an expert. The writer was inveigled into a game but proved no match for his doughty opponent and Admiral Sah rose from the table winner of a couple of games. The definite program for the Prince's tour through the states has not yet been decided, though the members of the party expected to receive advice here in Honolulu.

DECIDED AFTER TWENTY-TWO YEARS

Twenty-two years ago Estacio Tavares Jorge claimed that he was a nephew of Frank Antone, who had then recently died, and was, therefore, entitled to a share of the property left. The matter was taken to the courts, and it was not until last night that it was decided in the circuit court that he was not a nephew. The evidence went to show that Jorge was only a godchild, who was cared for by Antone, and was not a blood relation. When the decision of the court was announced, J. M. Monsarrat gave notice of appeal to be held before a jury.

Honolulu standard time is 10 hours 30 minutes slower than Greenwich time, being that of the meridian of 157 degrees 30 mins. The time whistle blows at 1:30 p. m., which is the same as Greenwich 0 hours 9 minutes. The sun and moon are for local time for the whole group.

WHAT WILL HE DO?

A correspondent writes, "Please advise me what old and middle-aged men are to do who are out of work. The word is 'we want a young man.' I am in the fifties and have a wife to take care of and have been out of work several months. I have walked the town over answering ads, always to have thrown back at me, 'Want a young man,' or 'You are too old.' In answer to a civil service examination, I learned, 'No applicant considered over forty years of age.' Is this right? I want work, and must have it, in order to live and take care of my dear ones. What am I to do?"

This is a problem facing not only men but women workers who are advancing in years. It is useless to say that they should have saved something for this period of their life. Those who are employed can not always save. It is useless to say that the government should provide old age pensions. Perhaps it should, but it doesn't. The situation remains that these people have no money saved, no steady income, and the work they have done they can no longer do, because younger workers are wanted.

The only thing is to turn their faces resolutely to some new work which the old can do and which the young do not care for because more money is to be made in other occupations. No doubt it will not appeal to the elderly man or woman as much as the work he or she has been doing. But it will not do to look back.

Instead of answering advertisements where younger applicants will win out every time over him, a man in the position of this correspondent should try to work up a number of customers for himself as a handy man. In a suburban town such a man, if he will do his work well, will usually find more than he has time to do. Lawns are to be mowed, flower beds weeded, paths to be kept straight and trim, fences to be painted, awnings put up and taken down, there is a constant demand in suburban places for a man to do odd jobs. A man could soon build up a business of this kind if he could be relied upon and if he did his work thoroughly.

The field is not quite so large in

LOG BOOK

The M. N. S. S. Wilhelmina left port this morning for San Francisco after an eventful stay in Honolulu. It was whilst this vessel was still in quarantine that several members of the crew escaped to the shore only to be apprehended by the police upon their return to the boat. They were then sent to the quarantine grounds where they are still detained. At the conclusion of the quarantine period it is probable that these men will be hailed before the police court and charged with evading the regulations. The matter rests with the Federal authorities but it is considered certain that legal steps will be taken to make an example of these men in order to prevent a similar occurrence in the future. The Captain of the Wilhelmina had little difficulty in filling the vacant positions on board so that when the vessel pulled out this morning she had her full complement on board.

Passengers already booked by the S. S. Claudine for Maui and Hawaii ports are as follows: F. G. Cook, K. Roendahl, Miss M. Mayhew, Mrs. H. Perella and child, Mrs. W. H. Anderson and child, P. Kyau, and Yoon Y. Kyau.

A wireless message has been received by the Pacific Mail S. S. Company announcing the departure of the Asa from Yokohama early this morning. The vessel brings 600 tons of cargo for Honolulu.

The American businessmen who are on their way to China and Manila in the P. M. S. S. Korea were officially welcomed at Japan on the outward trip, as the committees of the various Chambers of Commerce in the island empire recognized that, as the visitors are guests of China, it would not be courteous to them to usurp China's rights in this connection. However, at a recent meeting of representatives of the Chambers of Commerce of Tokyo and Yokohama it was decided to extend an invitation to the party to pay a formal visit to Japan on their return trip. The Korea arrived at Yokohama on the 9th instant. It is proposed to escort the visitors to Tokyo and other commercial centers, such as Osaka and Nagoya.

PARENTS LOAD BABIES

WITH QUEER NAMES

Not long since it was chronicled that a Des Moines babe had been christened "Halley Comet" because it happened to have been born during the recent astronomical excitement, says the Des Moines Register. In another Iowa home, fond, but misguided parents named their young heir "James Jeffries Corbett" some weeks before the catastrophe to the white race at Reno. An Eastern exchange tells of a man who went in perpetual embarrassment through life bearing the name, "Modest Flower."

These instances of parental folly are bad enough, but look upon this, beside which all others fade into insignificance:

A woman in Missouri, when called upon to give her name to an officer of the court, gave it thus: "Mrs. Mary Samantha Sarah Lavinia Macy Lucretia Henrietta Parthenia Arizona Tabitha Dollie Welding." After the official had recovered from the faint, the woman explained her cognomen in this wise:

"When I was born my parents had eight sisters. There was a family feud involving all of them when it came to naming me, so in the end they settled the matter by naming me for all of them and throwing in a few names extra."

When parents take advantage of a helpless infant not more than a few hours old to inflict upon it names that forever afterward will be a burden and an embarrassment to it, they take the meanest possible advantage of which even a sheep stealer should be ashamed. There ought to be some sort of retributive justice for "Halley's Comet," "Modest Flower," "Mary Samantha Sarah Lavinia Macy Lucretia Henrietta Parthenia Arizona Tabitha Dollie," and all their ilk, and it is a strange commentary on the world's progress that it was not long since provided.

ROOSEVELT IN NEW YORK FIGHT

NEW YORK, September 14.—As a result of the primaries throughout the State yesterday, which developed into a fight to a finish between Theodore Roosevelt and the leaders of the "Old Guard"—William Barnes, Jr., Timothy Woodruff and Vice-President Sherman—the relative position of the factions remains the same as when the Republican State convention, by a vote of twenty to thirteen, elected Vice-President Sherman temporary chairman and defeated Colonel Roosevelt.

Roosevelt returned to the State on Sunday and took a leading part in the primaries. As a result he will have almost the entire delegation from New York city and the surrounding county, a delegation of one hundred and ninety. His opponents claim that they have carried the outside counties. They claim that one hundred and nine delegates out of one hundred and forty-two from Kings county are theirs and that they have elected twenty-four in Queens county and eight from Richmond.

INSURGENTS WON IN WASHINGTON.

SEATTLE, September 14.—The insurgents are the victors in the State primaries just concluded after a bitter fight, Congressman Poindeux being nominated as United States Senator over Senator Piles, the candidate of the regulars for reelection. Poindeux's plurality is over thirty thousand.

All three insurgent congressmen have been nominated, which gives the State wholly over to insurgency.

ESTRADA RECOGNIZED.

WASHINGTON, September 14.—The Estrada government of Nicaragua has been formally recognized by the American government, the Nicaraguan representative here, David Arrellano, named by President Estrada, being received by the department of state yesterday.

Thomas Dawson, the recently appointed American minister to Panama, has been named to proceed to Managua to assist the new government in straightening out the financial affairs of the republic.

FORMER PREMIER DEAD.

TOKIO, September 14.—Viscount Sone, who had been one of the leading statesmen of the empire, died at his residence here yesterday. He was premier of Japan until May last, when he resigned to be succeeded by Teruchi, the present minister of war and resident general in Korea.

HARVARD AERONAUT WINS.

BOSTON, September 14.—White, the Harvard champion, added to his laurels at the meeting of the Aero Club of America here yesterday. He won four places in the aeronaut contests and came second in three contests, his prize money aggregating $22,100.

CHICAGO SCHOOLS OPEN TO ADULT ALIENS.

CHICAGO, August 31.—After wrestling with the problem for several days the School Board today decided to admit Chinese, Japanese and any other foreign adults to the public schools, provided they were of good moral character and were vouched for by some person known to the members of the board. The attorney for the board could not discover any law whereby he could bar foreign adults.

It also became apparent that if the Japanese and Chinese were barred, the same rule would apply to Hunga, Poles, Slavs and all the numerous nationalities here. The agents of these nationalities have been very busy since it became apparent that foreign adults might be barred from the schools.

The case came on the application of a Chinese and Japanese, both of whom are over 21 years. Both were vouched for by responsible persons, and Mrs. Ella Flag Young, superintendent, recommended that they be admitted. The parents of white children are opposed to the plan, but seem powerless to prevent it.

THE MARAMA IN PORT.

The Canadian Australian steamer Marama berthed at the Alakea street wharf at 6 o'clock last evening, after having experienced a really delightful trip from Sydney. The voyage commenced on August 29 from the last mentioned port and Brisbane was left behind on the 31st ult. Suva was reached on the 5th inst. and one day was spent there, the run to Honolulu from Fiji taking eight days.

The most dramatic scene of the Republican conventions occurred last night when J. C. Cohen was asked to take the pledge to support the Republican platform. Cohen started an explanation of his attitude and John Wise interrupted, claiming that Cohen was out of order. Chairman Breckons said he was about to call Cohen to order himself, and then Wise took the platform and made an answer to Cohen. There was no interruption until the chair said Wise was out of order, but by that time Wise had got in most of his speech.

The chairman said that in view of Cohen's attitude he would pledge him separately, and asked Cohen the question whether he would support the Republican platform or not. Cohen declined to give a categorical answer, whereupon Breckons announced to the convention that Cohen was not a candidate, having refused to make the pledge required by the rules.

Cohen's stumbling block was the immigration plank. He has generally been understood as opposed to the immigration law, and the platform endorses it. As he has strongly attacked it for months past, it was not expected that he would be able to endorse a platform approving it, and there was considerable surprise that he attempted to be a candidate on a platform endorsing it.

The senatorial contest proved to be a walk-over for Cecil Brown. After A. F. Judd, on motion from the Fifth district had been nominated by acclamation, a ballot was taken on the other candidates. Brown got 147 votes, Chillingworth 121, Crabbe 47 and Hughes 75. This nominated Brown and Chillingworth. For the short term Achi got 80 votes and Kaleiopo 126. The defeated candidates moved that the nominations be made unanimous and pledged their support to their successful opponents.

Balloting for candidates for the House came next. The fifth district results were as follows:
Frank K. Archer, 47; A. L. Castle, 75; S. P. Correa, 62; E. J. Crawford, 16; Ed. K. Fernandez, 33; E. J. Gay, 11; Wm. K. Isaac, 5; Jos. Kalana, 9; D. K. Kama, 27; S. K. Kamakala, 6; Wm. A. Kane, 17; Chas. Kanekoa, 63; Ruel Kinney, 17; Sol. Mahelona, 29; S. K. Mahoe, 40.

were several well-known Australians, including the Hon. W. L. Allardice (formerly acting Governor of Fiji) and his wife; C. E. W. Bean, a journalist of high standing in the Commonwealth and Roy W. Sandford. Mr. Allardice is making a trip to England, but will return again to the Fiji Islands before receiving another appointment in the service of his country. Mr. Bean has been on the staffs of several of the leading Australian journals, notably the Melbourne Age and the Sydney

Morning Herald. He is proceeding to London to take up the post of London correspondent to the Sydney Morning Herald. Mr. Sandford, who is the son of a Bridgeport, Conn., millionaire, is interested in automobiles, being the proprietor of a large garage in Sydney. Mr. Sandford, sr., is devoting considerable time and money to the development of the steel industry in the commonwealth. Another well-known Australian on the Marama was Frank K. Archer, A. L. Castle, S. P. Correa and Chas. Kanekoa had been nominated, and it was necessary to vote again to nominate two more out of the list not chosen.

William A. Kane, E. J. Gay, W. K. Isaac, Ruel Kinney, Jos. Kalana and E. J. Crawford announced their withdrawals as candidates for the fifth. The second ballot resulted as follows:
Ed. K. Fernandez, 37; D. K. Kama, 21; S. K. Kamakala, 2; Sol. Mahelona, 29; S. K. Mahoe, 60.

This elected S. K. Mahoe, as one other candidate from the fifth, leaving one other to be nominated, Kamakala announced his withdrawal.

Ben Zablan moved that the rules be suspended and the next highest candidate be declared the nominee. This meant Edwin Fernandez. Breckons declared the motion out of order, the rules declaring that a majority vote must elect. Adams moved that Fernandez be chosen by acclamation as the sixth nominee from the fifth. This carried and Fernandez was nominated.

The first ballot in the fourth resulted as follows:

Robert Hoapili Baker, 46; C. H. Brown, 13; M. S. Deponte, 30; Lima Kahanahele, 47; J. H. S. Kaleo, 3; Jno. K. Kamanoulu, 81; Hiram Kolomoku, 53; E. K. Lilikalan, 8; E. A. C. Long, 78; Geo. Makalena, 14; A. Q. Marcellino, 77; A. St. C. Pihanaia, 27; Ed. Towse, 58; Norman Watkins, 80; Wm. Williamson, 51.

This vote elected Kamanoulu, Long, Marcellino and Watkins.

Deponte, Kaleo and Geo. Makalena, and Lilikalan withdrew. The second ballot resulted in only Ed. Towse receiving a majority, he getting 70 votes. The chairman declared him elected and told the delegates to prepare their ballots to choose their sixth man.

John Marcellino moved that the rules be suspended and Wm. Williamson declared the choice of the Fourth. This motion carried and Williamson was declared nominated.

Before adjournment, however, the following county committee was chosen:

WITH DEWEY AT THE BATTLE OF MANILA.

WASHINGTON, September 14.—Rear-Admiral Corwin H. Rees, a conspicuous figure in the Navy, will be placed on the retired list tomorrow on account of age. His career is unique in military annals, in that he fought in the volunteer army during the Civil War, participating in more than thirty land battles, and subsequently took an active part in the Spanish-American war, as an officer of the navy. He began his military service at the age of fifteen, and at the close of the Civil War was still young enough to enter the Naval Academy.

During the battle of Manila bay in 1898 he was executive officer of the Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship. Later he commanded the monitor Moinongahela, and afterward was Captain of the Portsmouth (N. H.) Navy Yard, and finally commandant of the Honolulu Naval Station. He is a native of Ohio. He has had more sea service and less shore duty than any of his naval contemporaries.

Announcement.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-nomination to the office of City and County Treasurer, subject to the action of the Democratic County Convention.

WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 14, 1910

THE REPUBLICAN LEGISLATIVE TICKET.

A strong legislative ticket for both houses has been produced by the Republican county convention. Three out of the four senatorial candidates have good legislative records to their credit. Mr. Brown having had a career of about a quarter of a century in the law-making bodies of Hawaii under different systems of government. Mr. Judd, the remaining candidate, has served on various government commissions and aided in framing important legislation.

Several members of the house ticket have had legislative experience, faithfully and efficiently serving their constituents. As a whole the candidates from the fourth and fifth districts are quite a representative body of men, in both racial and business aspects. One of them, Mr. Archer, served a term on the board of supervisors. Unfortunately, this candidate rather discredited himself on the floor of the convention by uttering gross misstatements regarding the expenditure of money on roads in the fifth district.

All of the legislative candidates go before the people as the legitimate candidates of the Republican convention. None of them has crawled in through the cabin window as the choice of a minority of the delegates. So far as known there was neither undue influence nor "peanut" politics in the choosing of candidates for the legislature.

COLLEGE EXTENSION.

Correspondence courses are being started by the College of Hawaii. This extension of its scope will enhance the value of the institution to the Territory. The intention is to impart scientific knowledge relating to various industrial pursuits, the application of which will ensure right methods and prevent waste of resources from blind experimenting. Means of combating the multitudinous pests that beset animal and plant life will be pointed out. A circular from the college says:

"This movement means to the people of Hawaii an opportunity to secure collegiate training along practical lines. You are perhaps interested in farming, in gardening, in poultry-raising or in the affairs of the household. The great world of plant life and animal life is perhaps unfamiliar to you. The fee is nominal, covering necessary expenses. The books are provided. You study when you have time, and to the extent of your personal desire. You have at your command the guidance and knowledge of those who have made these special lines their life work. Is this not worth while?"

Colonel Roosevelt says that the system of making tariffs is a scramble of selfish interests to which the general interest of the public is subordinated. The same thing is largely true with respect to making appropriations of public money. Life itself is but a scramble of selfish interests. Society should have for one of its chief functions the balancing of contending interests in private affairs, as the legislature in self-governing communities is expected to do with regard to public affairs. What people might ask, however, is why Colonel Roosevelt, when head of the nation, did not undertake the task of reforming the system of making tariffs. His hindsight appears to be not the least brilliant of his wondrous talents.

"Every special interest is entitled to justice—full, fair and complete—but not one is entitled to a vote in Congress, a voice on the bench or to representation in any public office." This is one of the latest Rooseveltisms. It is nonsensical. What material interest is there which is not special in itself? One of the greatest of special interests is the agricultural, but according to the Roosevelt theory every farming community should be disfranchised. Representative government is a combination of all the interests of all the people, and if the oracle had said that no single interest should dominate over any or all of the other interests he would have spoken wisdom, if only a mere truism.

Wise Democratic leaders—if Mr. Breckons will concede that there are any such—will hesitate before adopting an immigration plank that contains liability of injuring the great industries of the country, among which must now be classed the raising of various staples other than sugar. For all of Hawaii's industries are facing a growing scarcity of labor, and the newer ones can only be developed by the settlement of citizens, or those eligible to citizenship, upon the soil. The citizen labor at present in the islands will be among the earliest and the sorest sufferers from a dearth of labor to carry on the established industries of the Territory.

Whatever member of the legislature succeeds in carrying through to executive approval a simple but effective bill to provide for direct primaries will earn the respect and gratitude of sensible people. The proposal of the Republican platform to enact a primary law for this island alone is wise, providing that the other islands are not ripe for the innovation. After it has been tried out here, and perhaps amended as the first experience may dictate, the other islands might be eager to adopt the plan.

A good man is lost to the Senate by the exclusion, through the fortunes of politics, of John Hughes from the Republican ticket. This comes of the absurd apportionment of senators between two representative districts. It was to prevent such petty sectionalism that the Organic Act made of the Island of Oahu one senatorial district. No party has a right to change this arrangement. The illegitimate separation of the district along the line of Nuuanu avenue is foolish, because the voters may at any general election produce an exactly contrary effect to that intended. By electing the senatorial candidates of opposite parties living in one of the representative districts the other district would have no senator living in it. That would not hurt the country in circumstances that may be imagined, but what would become of the illegitimate division of the senatorial district by the politicians? The same remarks will apply to the board of supervisors. In its wisdom, born of experience, the legislature, in substituting municipal for county government on this island, abolished district representation, and made all the supervisors elective at large. In this a feature of commission government was measurably imitated, eliminating objectionable ward politics besides exhibiting other merits not necessary to mention here. Party politicians ignore the spirit of the charter and parcel out the representation to the districts formed solely for the purpose of electing members of the house of representatives. Again the voters may interfere with the pretty scheme and bunch the entire representation—quite a possibility—in one section of the city, say Makiki or Kalia. If the entire Republican allotment

The Poet Philosopher

Ah, yes, my friend, it's mighty hot! No man whose head is right could doubt it. The sun is on his job, I wot, but 'twill not help to talk about it. Men chase along and fume and sweat, and roast the climate, all together; they might be cool if they'd forget to think and talk about the weather. Some fellow stops me in the shade, and of the sizzling sun he preaches; and all the time my thoughts have strayed to Eskimos and Arctic reaches. I'm thinking of the ice up there, of snowy trails and tired explorers, who eat a slice of polar bear, and wash it down with hair restorers. I'm thinking of the sledge and raft, of storms with which brave men have reckoned; I'm thinking of the gumdrop graft, and heat can't bother me a second. Most human ills contrary are; and if we coddle 'em and pet 'em, they'll stick like forty kinds of tar, but fade away when we forget 'em.

for the fourth representative district should be elected this year for example, and three Democrats from the same district should defeat that number of Republicans living in the fifth district, the very thing just mentioned would have been accomplished. Moreover, it is an infringement of the voters' constitutional or charter rights to prevent their party delegates in convention from a choice of the whole field of senatorial or supervisorial candidates to the full number to be elected.

THROUGH SUEZ CANAL.

During the last twelve months it is estimated that shipping totalling 15,407,505 tons passed through the Suez Canal. This includes passenger and cargo steamers trading to the Far East, and Australia, and vice versa. An interesting feature of this record is the fact that the P. & O. Company contributed 1,157,000 tons and the British flag altogether accounted for 9,592,357 tons. A comparison, showing the increase in the P. & O. traffic, may be mentioned, viz: In 1884 the tonnage of the company passing through the Canal was 467,000 tons, so that in 25 years the increase amounted to 681,000 tons.

The following is from Henry Clews' financial letter of August 27:

"There has been a noticeable improvement in the banking situation at the interior resulting from the precautions enforced by bankers for the last month or six weeks. Liquidation has not only checked unhealthy speculation in the interior, but has forced a freer marketing of crops which had been held back for higher prices. This was strikingly demonstrated by the recent large increase in grain receipts at primary points compared with a year ago.

"The demand for money to move the crops at the West and South has already begun, and henceforth the surplus reserves of the New York banks may be expected to decline as Western institutions draw upon their balances in this market. Considering the lessened demand for money for business and speculative purposes, the New York banks will be able to assume their share of the crop burden with much less difficulty than at one time feared. Firmer money rates are within probabilities, but indications do not point to any extreme stringency either at New York or interior money centers.

"Owing partly to the improvement in the monetary situation at New York gold imports have ceased; the stiffening of rates in London and the probability of an advance in the Bank of England rate having put a further restraint upon our power to attract gold. From now on, however, our exports of produce should begin to increase.

"Wheat is still above an export basis, but the outward cotton movement will begin as soon as the bill-of-lading controversy is settled and this should be an important factor in our foreign trade, which is still in an abnormal condition owing to the large imports and relatively small exports. The latter are steadily gaining, and conditions are becoming more favorable for foreign purchases of both our raw and manufactured products. At the same time the dullness of business here is sure to check importations, especially in view of the agitation for the lower tariff.

"In this connection it is worthy of note that during the past seven months our imports were swelled by an increase of $20,000,000 in rubber and $10,000,000 in sugar, these two items alone forming an important part of our expansion in imports. In many cases the importations of textiles have fallen off decidedly as a result of dull business and the new tariff rates. The imports of rubber and sugar are also likely to decline."

THE MANCHURIA'S DEPARTURE.

With the Imperial Chinese flag flying at the forepeak, to the pleasing strains of music rendered by the Hawaiian Band, and to the waving farewells from those on the wharf, the Pacific Mail steamer Manchuria slowly backed out from the Alakea street wharf about 6 p. m. yesterday. His Imperial Highness Prince Tsai Han, after having spent a busy day ashore, boarded the vessel shortly after 4:30 p. m. and continued his voyage to America. There were many Hawaiian residents on board the mammoth liner as she departed and among them were several young men and women returning to the States to continue their studies at various colleges. The prevailing custom of presenting garlands of flowers to cheer "the parting guest" excited much comment among those passengers of the Manchuria who were only passing through Honolulu as well as among those remaining here whose privilege it was to witness the pleasing incidents for the first time. The passengers who arrived from Australia on the steamer Marama were also greatly interested in the proceedings which preceded the departure of the Manchuria and several of them expressed their admiration of the custom and of the music. There was a large number of local residents on the wharf to bid their friends adieu.

LAVA BRICK OUTFIT.

Information has arrived of the shipment from the factory of the machinery for the proposed new lava brick factory to be erected on the Diamond Head side of Kaimuki. The stuff goes via the Atlantic, Gulf and Tehuantepec route, up to San Francisco and finally here in one of the American-Hawaiian boats. In the meanwhile the ground is being made ready to receive it and the actual manufacturing of brick will begin very shortly.

KIPAHULU O. K.

Hackfeld & Company received advice this morning that weather conditions at Kipahulu, Island of Maui, have been and are exceptionally good. Excellent, steady rains have fallen. The young cane is in the best of condition. Kipahulu turned out 2,650 tons of sugar this year, and a much larger yield is calculated upon for next year.

WILLETT & GRAY'S LETTER ON SUGAR

Willett & Gray's sugar letter of August 25, which, arrived in the Nippon Maru, contained the following relating to the market for raws:

The market opened at an advance of .30c in the current quotations to 3.09c, c & f, and its equivalent, 4.45c, landed, basis 96 deg. test, at which the reported sales were small.

Soon after the opening some holders advanced their views to 3 1-8c, c & f, equal to 4.38c, landed, and firmly refused to budge from this position; other holders have 3 1-4c, c & f, in view.

The refiners at New York are not yet prepared to pay 3 1-8c, c & f, but some business is reported at this figure for shipment to New York; such sales, however, have recently been fore-runners of sales at same price c & f, to New York.

Offerings are moderate in quantity, and some have been withdrawn in expectation of obtaining still higher prices later on in view of the short supply.

A year ago there was also a shortage of raw sugar here pending the arrival of new crops, and prices of Centrifugals advanced from 4.11c, on August 19th to 26th, to 4.20c, on September 9th; to 4.27c, on October 14th, and to 4.45c, (highest) on November 11th, declining thereafter to 4.17c, on December 16th.

A cargo of Javas at Algiers was offered here, but has been sold to go to Greenock, at equal to 13s. 6d. c. f. i. New York, or 4.64c, landed Javas for August shipment (October arrival) were offered at 13s. 1-2d. c. f. i. New York, equal to 4.55c, landed, and since withdrawn.

It is evident that Javas are wanted more in England than here, the advancing market there for Beet sugars making available Cane sugars valuable; this relieves our market of any close competition by holders of Javas afloat, and gives Cuban holders a clear field for the present, at least.

Old crop Beet sugars are too dear for English refiners, who are now working principally on Javas, and it is expected that they will continue to use a larger proportion of cane sugars than formerly, requiring some Cubas each year.

Demeraras for November shipment are offered at 2.80c, c & f, to New York, equal to 4.50c, landed.

Refiners are not disposed to consider any sugars for later arrival than September, preferring to await developments, although it is barely possible that their future supply may cost them more by adopting this policy.

The United States Four Ports receipts for the week were light (32,906 tons), and total stocks are reduced to 329,659 tons; the reduction in stocks last two weeks was 23,359 tons, and last three weeks was 36,587 tons.

European markets declined 4 1-2d. on cane sugars on the sale to Greenock but are still about 9d. above the parity of our market for nearby sugars. Beet sugars, however, advanced for the week 3-4d. on August, 1 1-2d. on October-December and 8 1-4d. on September, the latter being the principal feature of interest this week as affecting

THE SHIP SUBSIDY NATIONS VERSUS OTHERS

In a recent issue the Commercial cited some official statistics to show that the United States pays less for the carrying of its ocean mails than is paid by any other maritime nations of the world for a similar service—a fact that in very large measure accounts for the paucity of our cross seas tonnage, because American capital is not encouraged as foreign capital is to invest in ships for the carrying of imports and exports.

In the matter of ship subsidies, too, our persistent refusal to adopt the policy of our maritime competitors keeps them in control of the ocean-borne traffic, while the Stars and Stripes are only rarely seen in a foreign port. Reply to the argument by an anti-subsidy newspaper to the effect that prosperity without subsidies and the lack of it with subsidies "is the outcome of the two most important experiments in this line," the secretary of the "merchant marine committee of 100," whose executive offices are in this city, points out that there is not a maritime power of any consequence in the world today that is not paying ship subsidies in some form or another. Here is his list—the amounts paid annually:

France	$13,423,737
United Kingdom	9,689,384
Japan	5,413,700
Italy	3,872,917
Spain	3,250,120
Austria-Hungary	2,984,530
Germany	2,301,029

Germany is the lowest in the list on this point of subsidy granting, but she makes various rebates and concessions that increase to an enormous extent the figures above cited.

Under ship subsidies France has doubled the tonnage of her merchant marine in the last quarter of a century. As long as she adhered to the free ships, no subsidy policy, Japan never had more than 200,000 tons of deep sea shipping; under subsidies she now has a merchant fleet of 1,400,000 tons. The subsidies cost her about $5,500,000 a year, but it pays her royally; she now has on the Pacific a fleet of over 200 steamships, averaging fully 2000 tons each; she has practically forced the American flag off that ocean, and has converted the Pacific into something like a big Japanese lake.

But the United States, a no-subsidy nation, cannot point to any merchant marine prosperity. It is high time for her to employ the same sort of weapon that her competitors use in the contest for merchant marine prosperity.—New York Commercial.

the value of all sugars for the immediate future.

The Porto Rico crop output proves to be 290,000 tons for export and, allowing 18,000 tons for local consumption, a total production of 308,000 tons, against 245,000 tons the previous season.

Weather conditions generally in Cuba favor the growing cane crop.

In Europe the weather has recently been favorable for the beet crop in most sections, and F. O. Licht cables us specially that time for beginning harvesting will be about normal.

This week a sale was made of St. Croix Centrifugals afloat at 2.815c, c. f. & i. (equal 4.50c, landed), for export purposes, which does not establish a spot quotation, as a sale of prompt Cubas was made the next day at equal to the current quotation, 4.45c.

At the close a sale was made of Cubas for September shipment at 3 1-8c, c & f, p Philadelphia, equal to 4.48c, and it is believed that sales at this figure will be before long be made of sugars for prompt shipment, on which spot quotations may then be advanced.

Advances above 3 1-8c, c & f, or 4.48c, landed are problematical. There is likely to be available sugar to tide over the period pending the arrival of new crop sugars, but the question is, will the owners part with their holdings in time to meet melting requirements without demanding higher prices?

PROMOTION COMMITTEE.

At its meeting tomorrow afternoon the Promotion Committee will probably settle for good and all the matter of a poster for the Floral Parade on February 22. Thus far no local designs have come in, although three or four are expected prior to the meeting. Secretary Wood is very anxious that local people take more interest in the matter and would be particularly pleased should the lucky competitor be among the list of Hawaiian competitors.

BROKERS' SHIFT BASE.

Giffard & Roth, stock brokers, are today removing from their former offices in Kaahumanu street to the premises in the Stangenwald building lately vacated by the Maison Navigation Company.

A Slow Market But Figures Are Stronger

The stock market has been slow today, although figures as a rule have been stronger. With the mail steamers cleared away, there is nothing in the situation to longer deter activity, and it is the consensus of opinion that a return to normal conditions will be speedy.

Between boards there were total sales of 150 Hawaiian Commercial, made in a number of small blocks, at $40. On the board this morning 100 shares changed hands at the same. At the close of the session $10 was bid and $12.50 asked, indicating a slight advance.

Onahu was decidedly stronger, although sales were on the basis of yesterday's trading. Between boards 10 shares sold at $32.50 and on 'Change this morning 10 shares sold at the same. At the close $32.50 was still bid and $32.75 asked.

A sale of 15 shares Paauhau was made between boards at $27, after which $26.75 was bid and $27.25 asked. This stock is closely held, and is seldom quoted.

Another sale between boards was $500 Hilo Extension sales at $109, which was precisely the basis of the last previous transaction.

On the board this morning 30 shares Honokaa sold at $18, after which $17.875 was bid and $18.125 asked. This is rather better than had been expected for this stock today, a slump having been expected on account of further discouraging crop reports from the plantations. It is unofficially reported that this year's yield will be around 7,500 tons, in place of the 11,000 long estimated by the manager at the first of the year. This immense failure might reasonably be expected to make the stock panicky. Of course, however, Honokaa will show up very differently next year and future, the estate now having an abundance of good water; and the time when the yield will be twice as great as this year is now close at hand. It is the future outlook that keeps the stock up now and will cause it to stiffen more and more as the dividend era approaches.

Also on the board this morning 5 and 10 shares Ewa sold at $33.125, after which $33 was bid and $33.125 asked. These figures are against $33-125 bid and $33.25 asked yesterday, denoting a slight slump. There is, of course, no cause for the drop, Ewa being today what it was yesterday and last year, and what it will be this time next year.

Pioneer was probably another shade off, $230.50 being asked for it against $231 yesterday. It is just possible that this stock may be affected to the bad by the persistent rumor that the directorate will not advise the payment of an extra dividend in December, although well able to do so. The idea of some of the directors is that the payment of an extra dividend would have the effect of starting an unusual boom in the stock, which might or might not be justified by the future returns of the estate.

Waialua was $129.50 bid and $130 asked. This is slightly in advance of yesterday's quotation, when the market closed at $129.25 bid.

OAHU LEAGUE TO TALK NEW SERIES

A special meeting of the Oahu Baseball League for the purpose of winding up business in connection with the Wasoda series will be held at the law offices of Senator Charles F. Chillingworth tomorrow evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Manager A. Q. Marcellino stated this morning that the park officials would be ready with their report, which would show the full amount of receipts together with expenditures.

Another very important matter to come before the meeting is that of the second series. Arrangements for the final leg of the season have been allowed to drag so long that some of the players seem to favor cutting out the second series altogether. In all probability, however, a series of eight in place of twelve games will be arranged.

COLONIAL DEFEATS THE ENGLISHMAN

Dick Arnet, the wonderful New Zealand athlete, defeated Ernest Barry, the English sculling champion, in a match on the Zambesi River on August 18, the contest being for the championship of the world. Arnet has been a champion cyclist in his time and may now turn his attention to boxing, with a view to entering the roped arena as a heavyweight aspirant.

In the rowing match Arnet took the lead from the start gaining a length's advantage in the first half mile and remaining in front until the finish. The Englishman retired 200 yards from the finish.

PLAYERS' PAY HAS INCREASED

Probably nothing better illustrates the advancement of base ball than the manner in which salaries have increased in the major leagues, and comparatively, in the Southern and all other minor circuits. Ten years ago, for instance, no player was receiving more than $6,000, and only one, Jimmie Collins, then the kingpin of the Boston outfit, drew that amount.

Had some of them prophesied that within a decade Horace Wagner would be receiving a $1,000 increase in salary the citizens would have raised a collection to send the prophet to a desert land. The following table shows what the stars got a decade ago.

CZAR MINGLES WITH THE PUBLIC

NAUHEIM, Germany, September 1.—Emperor Nicholas came here from Friedberg in an automobile today and visited this resort of baths in the most democratic way. His majesty left his car outside the town and walked in, accompanied by two adjutants. As the party passed through the streets crowds gathered and hailed the emperor, who returned their salutations. He visited various objects of interest and had coffee at a public cafe. From the cafe the emperor returned to where the motor car was waiting and was driven back to Friedberg.

While here the Russian monarch exhibited not the least nervousness, though it was probably the first time in years that he had come so closely and freely into contact with the public.

FEED MOTHER AND SAVE BABY

PARIS, France, September 1.—"Feed the mother to save the child." This is the watchword of France and Germany in the crusade against infant mortality and it is likely to be adopted soon in Chicago, according to Dr. Isaac Abt of that city, a specialist in children's diseases, who has been studying children's hospitals and infant mortality in Europe. "The system," said Dr. Abt, "is based on the principle that the mother's milk is the best for the infant and, therefore, the measures taken are aimed at keeping the mother's milk healthful. In Paris there are stations where nursing mothers are given wholesome food free. A woman with a babe in her arms is given a free meal and no questions are asked."

Tax to Save the Babies.

In Marburg, Prussia, the system has probably reached the highest point. There a special tax is levied to combat infant mortality and the work is in charge of a municipal specialist in children's diseases. When working women become mothers they are paid wages by the city until the children are weaned, thus insuring the mother's health. It is impossible for an overworked, worried and troubled woman properly to nurse a baby and Marburg aims to protect mothers even from worry.

"Is Chicago likely to take up the system?" the doctor was asked. "Yes," he replied. "Superintendent S. C. Kingley of the United Charities and Dr. Evans, commissioner of health, in conjunction with the milk commission, have plans under way."

Europe is Ahead of America.

The physician said that a large children's hospital in connection with the Michael Reese hospital was projected. When asked regarding his ideal of a hospital for children he asked to be excused from expressing his views until his studies in Europe were more complete.

"Europe is far ahead of America in this respect, however," he added.

MOVEMENT IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, September 12.—Interest in the doctrine of "feed the mother and save the child," to decrease infant mortality in Chicago, was expressed today by Dr. G. B. Young of the Marine hospital and a member of the city milk commission appointed by Mayor Busse, following the receipt of the Daily News special cable dispatch from Paris today.

"A committee of members of the Cook County Medical society has been at work for a number of months," said Dr. G. B. Young, "along lines suggested by Dr. Abt. While the purpose of the commission does not embrace the feeding of mothers directly, indirectly it is a means to the same end, inasmuch as it is the commission's duty to investigate and examine thoroughly all certified milk."

Declares Idea is Good.

"Of course, the idea is a good one. Dr. Abt, who also is a member of the milk commission appointed by Mayor Busse, has made a study of the subject, and hence is familiar with all phases of the mother and child end of the pure milk investigation. It was through his efforts as a member of the Cook county committee that the commission was appointed and he himself included in its membership."

"As to the progress already made by the commission, it may be said that up to July 1 earnest work has been put forth by the members and that eventually the findings of the commission will be placed before the city council in the form of an ordinance which the council may or may not adopt."

Dr. Abt's reference to a new institution for the treatment of children recalls the will of the late Mrs. Nelson Morris.

Mrs. Nelson Morris announced Aug. 6, 1909, that she would give sufficient funds for the erection of an institution for medical research to be known as a memorial to her late husband, Nelson Morris. It was to be known as the Nelson Morris Memorial Institute for Medical Research. The structure was to be built from a fund of $300,000 presented for that purpose to the board of directors of the Michael Reese hospital. The plant in itself was expected to cost $100,000 and to stand on land owned and situated near the hospital proper. Work on the structure was not to begin until Mrs. Morris returned from Europe, where she was traveling at the time of the announcement of her plans.

While abroad Mrs. Morris was touring the continent in an automobile and in France she met with an accident at Fontainebleau which caused her death. Her body was brought to Chicago in September, 1909, accompanied by her sons.

On October 12, 1909, the contents of her will were made known. She left an estate valued approximately at $6,000,000, leaving $500,000 in charity alone. The main bequest outside of that to her family was $300,000, which was to be used by her executors to erect and endow a convalescent hospital for children in memory of herself and husband. It was her desire and was expressed in her will that the hospital should be owned and controlled by some one of the existing hospital corporations in the city, especially the Michael Reese hospital.

Roosevelt Declares His Latest Ideas

OSAWATOMIE, (Kan.), August 31.—In clear and emphatic fashion Theodore Roosevelt announced his political creed here today. It was a creed of progressive Republicanism. It aligned him definitely with the progressive movement within the party. It placed him on record as an advocate of some policies which find favor with the insurgents and as an opponent of every "special interest" which he believes exercises a sinister influence on the affairs of the people.

Colonel Roosevelt declared himself in favor of a wide increase in the power of the national government, so that it might assume greater activity in control of the corporations, and in working out the policies which he believes should be adopted. He declared for the "new nationalism," as he termed such an increase in governmental power.

Colonel Roosevelt characterized the issue of the day as "the struggle of free men to gain and hold the right of self-government against the special interests, who twist the methods of free government into machinery for defeating the popular will."

Warning Against Extremists.
While Colonel Roosevelt's speech is regarded by many of those who heard it as carrying him farther than before with the progressive movement, the Colonel coupled with his declaration a warning against the extremists, injecting an extemporaneous remark on the subject into his prepared speech.

"I do not want our people to follow men whose intentions are excellent, but whose eyes are a little too wild to make it safe to trust them," he said.

Another sentence which Colonel Roosevelt put into his speech extemporaneously brought forth applause from the crowd. He said: "No man should make a promise before election that he does not intend to keep after election, and if he does not keep it, hunt him out."

The people gave his words an interpretation of their own, and the burst of cheering which broke out when they heard them was one of the wildest of the day.

Speaks on Historic Field.

The speech was delivered in a grove on the battle-field today where John Brown fought the Missouri raiders on August 20, 1856. The setting was picturesque. Thousands of people had gathered for the dedication of the battle-field as a State park today. Colonel Roosevelt stood on a table which was placed on the platform, and towered high above the dense throng which surged about him on every side.

The crowd was so great that only a small part of the people could hear what was being said, but they all cheered. The cheering was so enthusiastic that Colonel Roosevelt was interrupted constantly and had to hold up his hand in protest time after time. The crowd caught up every phrase which it interpreted as an expression of progressive sentiment and shouted as long as the Colonel would let it.

Governor Stubbs introduced Colonel Roosevelt. His speech was a warm endorsement of Roosevelt and Rooseveltism. As the Colonel climbed on the table to speak there was a demonstration which lasted several minutes. His speech, in part, was as follows:

More About The Square Deal.

There have been two great crises in our country's history; first when it was formed, and then again when it was perpetuated. The formative period included not merely the Revolutionary War, but the creation and adoption of the Constitution and the first dozen years of work under it. Then came sixty years, during which we spread across the continent—years of vital time of stress and strain which culminated in the Civil War, the period of terrible struggle upon the issue of which depended the justification of all that we had done earlier, and which marked the second great period of growth and development within. The name of John Brown will be forever associated with this second period of the Nation's history; and Kansas was the theater upon which the first act of the second of our great national life dramas was played. It was the result of the struggle in Kansas which determined that our country should be in deed as well as in name devoted to both union and freedom.

I stand for the square deal. But when I say that I am for the square deal I mean not merely that I stand for fair play under the present rules of the game, but that I stand for having those rules changed so as to work for a more substantial equality of opportunity and of reward for equally good service.

Break Power of The Interests.

This means that our governments, National and State, must be freed from the sinister influence or control of special interests. Exactly as the special interests of cotton and slavery threatened our political integrity before the Civil War, so now the great special business interests too often control and corrupt the men and methods of Government for their profit. We must drive the special interests out of politics. That is one of our tasks today. Every special interest is entitled to justice—full, fair and complete—but not one is entitled to a vote in Congress, a voice on the bench, or to representation in any public office.

There can be no effective control of corporations while their political activity remains. To put an end to it will be neither a short nor an easy task, but it can be done.

Supervision of Capital.

It has become entirely clear that we must have government supervision of the capitalization not only of public service corporations, including particularly railways, but of all corporations doing an interstate business. I do not wish to see the nation forced into ownership of the railways if it can possibly be avoided, and the only alternative is thorough-going and effective regulation, which shall be based on a full knowledge of all the facts, including a physical valuation of the property. This physical valuation is not needed or, at least, is very rarely needed, for fixing rates; but it is needed as the basis of honest capitalization.

I believe that the officers, and especially the directors, of corporations should be held personally responsible when any corporation breaks the law.

Roosevelt And The Tariff.

With the present tariff, made by the same methods as its predecessor and as that predecessor's predecessor, there is grave dissatisfaction. The people know that there are some things in it which are not right and therefore they tend to suspect that there are, as I think, more numerous things in it which are not right. They know that the system in which its predecessors were made encourages a scramble of selfish interests, to which the all-important general interest of the public is necessarily more or less subordinated.

There was a time when this scramble was regarded as the natural course in tariff making and was not resented.

Now the people demand, and rightly, that the profit of the special interests shall be subordinated to the general welfare in every case. It is this attitude of the people which must be met by proposals to amend the present tariff. Very little improvement, indeed, will follow any attempt to revise the tariff by methods hitherto used.

AT THE THEATERS

The clear, warm weather last evening enticed many people abroad and the variety show houses were all quite well filled. At most of them the programs were hold-overs from the preceding evening, but seemed to please—which is the main thing.

AT THE EMPIRE.

"Jolly Trixie" continues to be the "large" attraction at the Empire. Clad in a baby jumper, red hose and tiny slippers she makes a most "conspicuous" stage appearance and would be classed as a star if any star were so huge. "Trixie" has a rather attractive voice, although it is not strong. This evening "Trixie" will re-appear, as will also the charming Miss Rockwell and the little African sisters. A new set of pictures will be put on.

"THE BANANA MAN."

Bance Smith, otherwise "The Banana Man," returned in yesterday's steamer from Australia and will appear at the Novelty theater for the first time on his new tour tomorrow evening, joining the Wise-Milton combination. Tidale, the tenor singer who had appeared at the Novelty for some time, called by the Vancouver steamer this morning for the Sound country. This evening's big feature film a the Novelty will be "Michael Strogoff," a courier of the Czar, an adaptation from one of Jules Verne's stories.

JURY VERDICT IS SUSTAINED

In connection with the appeal against the decision given against Pong Chong, alias Paipu, and Chong Duck, alias Akaka, Justices Perry and De Bolt and Circuit Judge Cooper of the Supreme Court have handed down their decision in this matter. The verdict of the lower court was sustained.

These men were convicted of burglary in the second degree, and the assignments of error relied upon were, that the evidence did not sustain the charge, and that it was not sufficient to sustain the conviction; that the Court erred in expressing, in the presence of the jury, the opinion that the testimony of the witness, Sam Kaluna, was material; also that the Court erred in commenting upon the testimony of the witness Kahia Mersberg. The finding of the Court was that the evidence on which the defendants were convicted in the first instance was competent, relevant and material, and that the Court in its ruling did not invade the province of the jury. The evidence being properly received, the Court was correct in having declined to withdraw it from the jury, and the jurors must have understood and accepted the remarks and ruling of the Court in the sense which was so apparent.
