"Not being allowed to pass the gangway leading to the deck of the S S Korea, and knowing that the within named Millie Lancaster, defendant, was a passenger by the said S S Korea bound for San Francisco, U S A, the service of the within writ was therefore not made on said defendant, Millie Lancaster."

Novel Entertainment.

Prince and Princess Kawawana-koa entertained about a hundred prominent people at the Campbell home near Diamond Head last evening. The leading feature of the evening was a diversified program presented by Mr Freear, an English traveller. This was held in a big tent on the lawn. Refreshments were served and the entertainment was made most delightful in every respect.

Dr A M Atherton, of Honolulu, who is seriously ill at Liberty, N Y, was married yesterday at the latter place to Miss Ellen L Baker, of Providence. The ceremony took place in the sick room. Mrs Atherton and two sisters of the young man were present.

At the Baseball League meeting yesterday the protest of the Elks, filed last week, to the ruling of Umpire Lemon in the game with Punahou was overruled. The protest of the Mailes against the game on Memorial Day was also disallowed. This means that all of the games will stand.

EMPLOYING JAPANESE.

After agitations of a pronounced type in most parts of the United States, the positive expression of labor organizations, the action of the Territorial Legislature and the general and explicit protest of citizens generally against the employment of Asiatics on public works it was believed that citizen labor would be vouchsafed a show here when a show was to be given. The Territorial Government has been bad enough, God knows, in allowing contracts to be sub-let into the hands of Japanese. That Waialeale road contract is still fresh in the mind of the workingman. But it seems that the Federal authorities have even less concern about citizen labor, and the protection of Americans in the Islands, than our own happy-go-lucky administration. All of the central government's contracts here have been small, but even those have, so far as possible, found their way into Japanese hands. Another government contract has fallen into the hands of Japanese, and there is nothing in the past or present indications to show that the work at Pearl harbor will not be done by Japanese, unless the idle citizen workingmen get together and make a protest that will stick.

A gang of some half a dozen citizen dredgemen stood together in a group near Naval Wharf No. 1 this morning. Cotton Bros. dredger stood some fifty feet away from the wharf and was starting in to dredge the naval slips there. From stem to stern the machine was manned by—Japanese! The few officers were alone citizens of the United States, the rest being coolies. The citizen workmen, all of whom were born in the United States, watched the proceeding with deep interest. It was a lesson to them never to be forgotten. Far from their native homes, in an outpost of the United States, seeking work—and to be supplied with the spectacle of Uncle Sam walking around them and giving desirable employment to coolies who are not and cannot become American citizens.

This Federal dredging contract was let by Captain Rodman to Cotton Bros. Rodman claims to have no control over the labor a contractor may wish to employ. It is understood that Cotton Bros. claim that they lost money on the Pearl harbor contract and desired to make it up on the Honolulu harbor work by the employment of cheap labor. Captain Parker, of the dredger, is directly responsible for the retention of Japanese.

In view of the sentiment in regard to Japanese, and the exigencies of the moment, neither of the excuses are justified by any circumstance whatever. Captain Rodman should know what kind of labor is to be employed on Federal works and should see to it that Japanese are not employed. Cotton Bros., if they expect to get work from American citizens (and no one else in the Islands has anything for them), should employ citizens. In permitting the employment of Japanese on the dredger, Captain Rodman and Cotton Bros. have deliberately ignored the expressed wishes of The Builders & Traders Union, the Legislature and every labor organization in this country. They have gone diametrically opposite to the general sentiment, and deserve all the censure that can be given them.

September 7 is Labor Day, the day when the American workingmen get together, touch shoulders and compare notes. We hope that on that day the citizen mechanics and laborers of these Islands will get together, pass resolutions condemning Rodman and Cotton Bros. and send a formal and forceful protest to Washington against the employment of Asiatics on the dredger or in other public capacities. If worked properly such a move would bring these and other gentlemen up with a round turn and be lasting in its effect.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The first thing the Builders and Traders Union should do upon the arrival of Admiral Terry next Friday is to present to him a vigorous protest against the employment of Japanese to dredge the slips at the naval wharves. This un-American fluke should be nipped squarely in the bud.

H Birbe, Jr, promoter, manipulator, ward-heeler and sand lot politician, has gone into the business of small farming. His experiment will be watched with interest, particularly by predecessors that have ignominiously failed in the same line. Cut worms still fetch a rather sorry price in the market, from all accounts.

The Advertiser has flared up at the Land Commissioner on account of the conservative manner of that official in dealing with public lands, and alleged settlers and "small farmers" from abroad. The cause of the rumpus seems to be that the Commissioner endeavors to tell the truth about land and farming possibilities, and will not lend himself to the present scheme of fleecing a lot of honest clod-hoppers from the mainland out of their desperately hard-earned savings.

Christian Science, like a great many other things, hinges upon faith. Believe implicitly that your health is good, and it is good. But if you feel bad it is because you do not believe you feel well. Believe your neck is not broken and it is not broken; but if you lose your grip on that belief and in the full efficacy of prayer—watch out! Verily, Christian Science is a wonderful thing.

The appointment of F W Macfarlane to be Commissioner to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition is entirely satisfactory over our way. Mr Macfarlane was born here, has the details of the country at his finger tips and knows how to supply information in an interesting way to inquirers. Being a successful and substantial business man, his word at St Louis on industrial and financial subjects will be readily accepted. Governor Dole could hardly have made a choice that would have been so generally acceptable.

The slogan in the County campaign should be "good men." If the native party can find suitable candidates in its ranks—men of ability and unquestioned honesty—it is the plain duty to work tooth and nail for them; but if such men cannot be found in the ranks to fill all of the positions, there is no good reason why party lines should not be crossed and better men of other parties, if such there are, endorsed. To have good officials in the County governments is of more importance at this time than the top rails of party fences. Think that over.

The Advertiser, replying to our statement that General Black, aspirant for the office of commander of the G A R, was a Republican, says: It happens that General John C Black is a lifelong Democrat and the man who, when he made the nominating speech for Cleveland in the Democratic National convention of 1884, said that he loved him "for the enemies he had made."

A "Democrat" that supported McKinley in 1896. McKinley again in 1900 and is already rooting for Roosevelt in the campaign of 1904 is not, at this stage of the game, considered a very good Democrat anywhere.

The charter of the Stevedores Union will make it a part of the National Union. In about two weeks the general laws will apply to Honolulu shipping. No vessel loaded here by Japanese will be discharged at San Francisco, so that local shippers will be obliged to employ only citizen stevedores. The same rule will apply to Seattle, New York, Philadelphia and other large ports. Vessels discharged here by Japanese will not be touch by local stevedores nor will they be discharged at the other end. These way seem extreme measures but are deemed necessary to protect citizens against cheap coolie labor.

Wedding That Failed.

Saturday night a pretty Portuguese girl and her lover, a street car motorman, went out for a stroll and failed to return until next morning. The parents of the fairy were greatly incensed over the matter and on Monday interviewed the young man. He agreed to an immediate marriage and named 1 p m yesterday (Tuesday) as the hour.

The bride-to-be (or not-to-be), in the exuberance of her joy, sent word out into the highways and byways, and as the critical period approached her friends began to arrive by dozens and scores. The parents arranged an elaborate collation and supplied other incidentals necessary to give a fitting marriage send-off to the "Belle of Punchbowl Town"—their daughter.

The hour approached but the bridegroom yet tarried. After 12:30 the bride began to feel anxious and nervously glanced down the street at frequent intervals. Upon the approach of each street car the crowd in the house would scurry onto the veranda to witness the coming of the hero.

But, alas, the clock struck one, and there was still no noble, broad-shouldered motorman on hand. The suspense became unbearable, and finally burst forth in real Portuguese excitement.

An investigation was started and it was found out that the groom-to-be (or not-to-be) had skipped by the Kona two hours before for the Coast, leaving Mary alone with her frantic parents, her experiences and her tears.
