BRITAIN NEEDS MEN.

Wanting Higher Class Soldiers War Secretary Copies Our System.

London, March 8.—The new army regulations proposed by the War Secretary, Mr. Brodrick, providing for increased pay and other reforms, which have created so much comment, appear to have been directly copied from the United States. Major Arthur Lee, M. P., formerly British Military Attaché at Washington, said today:

"At last we have taken out a leaf from your excellent book, though I do not believe we have gone quite so far in that direction as we might or hope we may. Under Mr. Brodrick's proposed changes, a private in the British infantry now receives almost as much as a private in the United States Army. With this change, which I frequently advocated while military attaché at Washington, we hope to get a class of recruits similar to those secured in America. Under the old pay we were gradually lowering the physical standard, yet still finding it hard to get men, while our desertion percentage was increasing at a rate which showed there was something radically wrong with the system. The American army was the only other voluntary enlisted body in the world with which we could make serviceable comparisons, the Continental armies, owing to conscription and other causes, being perfectly worthless as examples."

"A year ago Mr. Brodrick pooh-poohed the idea of copying the United States. Now he has changed his mind and has done what the majority of the members of the House, regardless of party, believe to be the very best thing that could have happened to the army since Mr. Cardwell (in 1872) effected his sweeping reforms. For the first time 'Tommy,' with everything found and higher pay, will be in a better position than his agricultural brother, and from that class we ought now to get the best instead of the worst."

"Yes, it may hurt the agricultural interests, or, what is left of it, in England, but I do not believe that this demonstration will be as serious as the evils which the change will correct. Not only is it interesting to note the influence of the American system in these sweeping changes, but they will have a tremendous negative importance. Last year the Government clearly indicated its fears that it might have to resort to conscription. The present move banishes all possibility of this, for I understand Mr. Brodrick is willing to go even further in copying the United States excellent treatment of enlisted men and by liberal finance build up the standard of the army. The increase in pay means an additional annual cost of about £2,000,000, but I maintain that it will be a direct saving of money, for the better class of men secured will mean fewer men in the hospitals and prisons, as well as obviating other forms of wastage and will quickly make up for the additional initial outlay. Some day, perhaps, we may be able to adopt the sensible plan of the United States of paying the enlisted men of all arms at the same rate. But traditions here die hard."

GAMES FOR CORONATION.

National Sporting Club of London Plans a Carnival.

New York, March 8.—W. A. Gavin and W. C. Lee, of the National Sporting Club of London, arrived today on the steamer St. Paul.

"We have come," said Mr. Gavin, "to try and induce American champions of boxing, fencing and wrestling to go over to England during coronation week, there to meet the best men that Great Britain and other countries of Europe can produce. What we chiefly want is the champions of the army and navy, but they must be men that are at present in the country's service, and not like Tom Sharkey, who, although formerly in the United States navy, has been a professional for many years. We will also try to get Harvard and Yale to send their best boxers to England to compete against those of Oxford and Cambridge. Lord Lonsdale, the President of the club, has offered a cup as a prize for the winner of a boxing contest between Harvard and Oxford, and the Earl of Kingston, another cup for the winner of a contest between the boxers of Yale and Cambridge. The chief feature of the tournament will be a tug-of-war between picked men of Europe and twelve of the United States.

"Amateurs will receive trophies and the professionals cash prizes, but the professional line will be drawn very fine. The club has a belt which is valued at $5,000, which will be given, beside a large money prize, to the best heavyweight professional boxer, but he must be the best that his country can produce, and no second-rate man will be considered. The contest will be held in Convent Garden, London. If we can agree for some of the competitions to be held in the open air, we will do so."

PROPERTY IN DISPUTE.

Particulars of the Disagreement Between the Consuls.

Tien-Tsin, March 9.—The mission property here which is in dispute between the French and American Consuls is less than two acres in extent. It borders the American mission property and was previously occupied by undesirable Chinese. The French Consul stopped building operations on the disputed property and placed a policeman there. The French flag has not been raised over the property. The American Consul here, James W. Ragsdale, is maintaining a firm attitude and does not believe serious developments to be likely. The affair is in the hands of the French and American Ministers at Peking.

The English Methodist mission of London, the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions and the American Methodist Mission all have property within the extra concession claimed by the French in June, 1900. Since that time the American missions have purchased the adjoining property and have been collecting rents and levying taxes thereon. Ragsdale protested against such action and caused American flags to be hoisted over the property in question.

HARD TRIP FROM HONOLULU.

Bark Alden Besse Reaches San Francisco Badly Battered.

San Francisco, March 9.—The southeaster that raged along the Pacific Coast has not confined its attentions to the lumber fleet and coasting steamers, but has gone farther south and taken in Honolulu in its course. Sailing vessels arriving from the islands say that never have they experienced such stormy times as those which they have met during the last three weeks.

The Alden Besse got in yesterday from the islands, and Captain Kessel says that in all his experience he never had such a hard time of it. From the first day out from Honolulu the watch below never knew what it was to have its full four hours. Off the Pacific Coast all the elements seemed to combine against a quick run. On March 1st, in latitude 33.21 north, longitudes 142.40 west, a gale was struck which lasted for four days. Mountainous seas were running, which battered the old bark so badly that she sprang a leak. All hands were at the pumps and, although oil bags were put overboard both forward and aft, they were not sufficient to keep the waves from breaking on the board. A huge roller carried away part of the bulwarks, stove in the galley, flooded the cabin and carried overboard everything movable. On the 7th the vessel was leaking so badly that all hands could not keep the water down, so steam had to be got up in the donkey boiler and with that the crew managed to keep the vessel afloat. The elements seemed to have a grudge against the old bark, because, just as she seemed to be clearing herself of the water in her hold, her maintopmast backstay carried away and for a few minutes it looked as if the mast would be carried out of the vessel. Captain Kessel at once called all hands from the pumps and in a short space of time the canvas was got off the mainmast and the vessel hove to. Temporary repairs were made and the Bessie was again put before the wind. While making for port and all hands were again at the pumps and the donkey engine doing its best, a big sea broke aboard and carried away the starboard lifeboats. After that there were no more mishaps and the vessel came to anchor off Meiggs wharf.

QUEEN LAUNCHES BATTLESHIP.

Alexandra Participates at the Christening of a War Vessel.

London, March 8.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra participated in a number of inspections and ceremonies at Plymouth today, including the distribution of China medals. Among the recipients were Admiral Sir Edward Hobart Seymour, who commanded the First Pekin relief expedition.

The principal ceremony of the day was the launching of the first-class battleship Queen by Queen Alexandra and the laying of the keel plate of the first-class battleship King Edward VII by King Edward. The latter will be built on the slip on which the Queen was constructed. The King Edward VII will eclipse all previous efforts in naval construction. She will be of 16,800 tons displacement and carry four 9.2-inch guns.

Queensland, March 8.—During the trip of the channel squadron from Beech Haven to this port the battleship Camperdown, which sank the battleship Victoria in the Mediterranean on June 22, 1893, twice narrowly escaped sending the battleship Empress of India to the bottom. There was a dense fog during the whole trip. Soon after starting the Camperdown steamed within a few feet of her sister battleship, and only skillful maneuvering prevented a collision. Again, when off Kinsale, the Camperdown was almost in collision with the Empress of India when shouts of "For God's sake, reverse!" averted a disaster.

Nation's St. Louis Exhibit.

Washington, March 8.—The House Committee on industrial Arts and Exposition today authorized Chairman Tawney to recommend to the Appropriation Committee that the sundry civil bill contain provisions of $800,000 for the Government exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition; $40,000 for the Indian exhibit and $200,000 additional for the Government building.

BANANA AS A FOOD PRODUCT.

Its Comparative Value with the Great Staples.

Mr. G. Clarke Nuttall describes the banana, in Longman's, as "the best food product of the earth," and gives many grounds for his description.

"Incredible as it may seem, it is perhaps the best food product of the earth, being far more productive than either wheat or potatoes—the staple food of other nations. Long ago, it was calculated that it is a hundred and thirty-three times as productive as wheat and forty-four times as productive as the potato; in other words, that the ground that would give thirty-three pounds of wheat or ninety-nine pounds of potatoes would, so far as mere space is concerned, give four thousand pounds of bananas, and with a fractional amount of the same trouble. The fruit is also very good if peeled, split down the center, and baked with a little butter and sugar. The pith, too, of the banana stalk, being of a spongy, starchy character, is pressed into man's service. It is pounded and boiled, and thus forms a very nutritious food. The young shoots, cooked, make a palatable vegetable, while the fruit boiled in its earlier green stage is a really excellent addition to any dinner. A pleasant drink, something after the style of cider, is also obtained from the banana by expressing and fermenting the juice."

Then the banana fiber (known as Manila hemp) is already used for cordage, shoestrings, and ropes; and will yet, in the judgment of the writer, add a vast mass of textile material to the world's stock. It will also make excellent paper. The writer proceeds:

VALUE IN NUTRITION.

"In the tropics, we have seen, it is the staple food of millions; but it might also, if properly treated, take similar rank with us. It is scarcely ever realized that, as a form of nourishment, it can claim first place among vegetable products that are food for mankind, for it is twenty-five times as nutritive as the ordinary white bread eaten in this country, and forty-five times as nutritive as the potato, thus far outweighing either the wheat or the potato in food value. Hence, on this account, its position as a fundamental food or breadstuff is amply justified."

HOW THE FRUIT CAN BE UTILIZED.

"It is, of course, not suggested that the banana fruit in its natural form should be used as food. Like the wheat, it would require drying and grinding down into flour. Mills might be erected where it is grown, or within easy reach, and then at the suitable time the fruit could be gathered, dried, and transformed into flour. The flour would possess all the nutritive properties of the fruit in its natural state, and it would further lend itself to easy and cheap transport, and thus it would furnish a valuable addition to the food of the world. Banana bread has been voted excellent, and is now made in Chicago, and might just as well be made in London, or, for the matter of that, in any other place, could the flour be obtained reasonably."

"This marvelous fruit could be made into a kind of marmalade. 'The juice of the banana is very strong in tannin, and a highly satisfactory ink and shoeblackening can be obtained from it.' The wax secreted by its leaves might be turned to commercial account."

ENORMOUSLY INCREASED DEMAND.

John Bull, despite all that is said of his supineness in the West Indies, does seem to be "waking up" to the value of the banana.

"The coast of Honduras is a great center of the export fruit trade, but in 1883 one little schooner was sufficient for all the requirements in the way of transport. Now, three lines of steamers and sixteen sailing vessels barely meet the demands made upon them, and the greater part of the fruit they carry consists of bananas. The cargo of a steamer may be anything between 8,000 and 15,000 banana bunches; hence, it is obvious great numbers are exported yearly. The West Indies, Cuba, Costa Rica and Central America generally tell the same tale of increasing trade. From Jamaica alone we get millions of bunches, now, every year."

The dreaded shrinkage of the world's wheat supply need not now alarm us, if in the banana we have a superior food, and one that—in the tropics—is more easily produced.

JOSE IVEZ LIMANTOUR.

The Man who may succeed Diaz as President of Mexico.

In the event of the retirement of President Diaz of Mexico, there has been much speculation as to his probable successor. Recent dispatches from the Mexican seat of government have prominently mentioned the present Minister of War, General Bernardo Reyes, in connection with the high office, but a strong contradiction has also been received which states that the Minister of Finance, Jose Ives Limantour, would be the natural choice of the people. General Reyes, it is said, is one of Senor Limantour's most enthusiastic supporters and has publicly expressed himself to that effect.

Senor Limantour is considered a brilliant lawyer in Mexico, and has few equals in the republic as a political economist. His first political post was as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury under Minister Romero, whom he succeeded.

AMERICA TO THE PORTE.

Turkey Urged to Capture Brigands Who Held Miss Stone.

Constantinople, March 9.—The American Legation here today presented to the Porte the text of the note referring to the capture of Miss Stone. It is pointed out in this note that as Miss Stone was captured, the ransom paid and the prisoners delivered in Turkey, the brigands must be within the Turkish frontier and should therefore be captured.

The note denies that the authorities were ever required to lessen their vigilance on the frontier and asserts that only the movements of the troops in the interior were interfered with.

The first note presented to the Porte by the United States Legation at Constantinople in the matter of Miss Stone's capture by brigands demanded the punishment of the guilty parties. The Porte, in replying, repudiated responsibility.

Excitement in Ireland.

Dublin, March 9.—The belief that the United Irish League is about to be "proclaimed" caused great excitement at Kiltrush, County Clare, today, and the arrest of two men named Crowley and Eustace, who were charged with "moonlighting" and firing into the house of a woman who had purchased hay from a farmer who was under the ban of the league. Yesterday a man named O'Donnell was arrested and sentenced to one month in prison for trying to prevent this farmer from selling hay.

Miss Roosevelt off to Cuba.

Washington, March 9.—Miss Roosevelt, with several friends and accompanied by a maid, left here tonight for a visit with General and Mrs. Leonard Wood at Havana.

He says, "I never handled a medicine that sold better or gave better satisfaction to my customers." This Remedy has been in general use in Virginia for many years, and the people there are well acquainted with its excellent qualities. Many of them have testified to the remarkable cures which it has effected. When you need a good, reliable medicine for a cough or cold, or attack of the grip, use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you are certain to be more than pleased with the quick cure which it affords. PRESIDENT FAVORS EXCLUSION.

Livernash Sounds the Chief Executive on the Big Question.

Washington, March 8.—For an hour today Edward J. Livernash of San Francisco was closeted with President Roosevelt in discussion of matters affecting the Pacific Chinese bill.

"The details of the conversation between the President and himself I shall not speak of," said Mr. Livernash this evening. "I feel free to say, however, that we went over the exclusion situation pretty thoroughly and that the President impressed me, as he has on other visits, as earnestly and intelligently with us in our exclusion fight. If the Pacific Coast Bill does not get through in form satisfactory to the West I don't think it will be his fault. He wishes the country to have a right kind of an exclusion law."

"I wish we had more such discriminating observers of the requirements and perils of the case, for we need them these days. There is danger of serious weakening of our bills. A big, aggressive, pro-Chinese lobby keeps steadily pegging away, and it has no lack of brains or cunning. It is unfortunate that some California newspapers and private individuals are helping the lobbyist with matter adverse to our cause. One would think that on this Chinese question we could all stand shoulder to shoulder."

"The California Commission and the national labor organizations are striving to beat down our enemies before time for voting on the subject. This is a city of programming, and the thing is to fight hard enough and adroitly enough to persuade the programmers of the inexpediency of programming against the propositions we advocate. Our immediate fight is to kill proposals to have the committees go on record for amendments not acceptable to the Pacific Coast."

"Afterwards the fight will be to kill amendments in embryo, so to say, that is, before they are generally heard of and before they bob up in the House or Senate. Thus far we are getting on fairly, but the men who say the situation is safe, do not know the truth or else are unwilling to tell it. I think we have persuaded the committees to pay no heed to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the Southern Pacific Company in the matter of making El Paso an easy port of entry for smuggling operations. But there are other, even more dangerous, schemes to be fought to a standstill, and we are hard at it. What the results will be, I don't know, but we are hopeful."

"Let me say that a tower of strength to us in these times of stress is James R. Dunn, Chief of the Treasury Department's, San Francisco Chinese Bureau. Mr. Dunn is worth more to the cause just now than any half-dozen Congressmen, and this strictly along lines proper for an executive officer of the Government to pursue. The Commissioner-General of Immigration, Mr. Powderly, Dunn's immediate superior, is another officer who ought always to be remembered with gratitude by citizens who favor the exclusion policy and appreciate a strong fine character."

NEW FINANCIAL MEASURE.

Plans to Make the Currency Responsive and Equal to Demands.

Washington, March 9.—Chairman Fowler of the House Committee on Banking and Currency tomorrow will introduce an important financial measure, framed by the Republican members of the committee after conferences extending through the last two months. It brings together into one financial measure a number of questions which have been urged heretofore. Fowler explains the purpose of the bill as follows:

"The purposes of the bill are: To transfer from the Government to the banks the responsibility of protecting the necessary gold reserve and the burden of furnishing gold for exportation, thereby saving our commerce from the destructive apprehensions growing out of raids upon the gold in the Treasury; to provide a currency always responsive and equal to the demands of trade everywhere and to equalize and lower the average rate of interest in all parts of the United States; to secure for American enterprise and American capital the privilege and option in engaging in international banking under national law and so lay a foundation upon which to build an American merchant marine; to remove the last vestige of doubt with regard to our standard of value."

"The measure provides for international banking and a division of banking currency is established under a board of control, instead of a single individual, in the person of the Controller of the Currency, as heretofore. The board will consist of three members whose terms of office are for twelve years."

"If the measure now introduced should become a law it is confidently believed that the national banks will assume the current redemption in gold of one hundred and thirty millions of United States notes. In consideration of the obligation assumed by the national banks, they will have the right during the succeeding five years to issue gradually, as business may require, an amount of bank notes equal to 60 per cent of their paid-up and unimpaired capital, provision being made also for an emergency circulation."

"As the notes are taken out for circulation the banks will deposit with the Government a guarantee fund of 5 per cent of the amount of the notes so issued. The national banks hereafter will be required to pay interest upon the Government deposits at the rate of 1 per cent per annum."

"This 5 per cent guarantee fund and the tax upon the bank notes will be used to protect the bank notes, and the excess of such taxes, with the interest on Government deposits, will be used to pay off United States notes which the banks assume to currently redeem. It is asserted that the whole one hundred and thirty millions of United States notes which the banks have assumed to currently redeem will be paid off in thirty years out of the taxes collected upon circulation and interest paid by the banks upon Government deposits."

"The United States will be divided into clearing-house districts to facilitate the current redemption of the bank notes, so that the amount of the notes outstanding at any time always will be co-ordinated with the amount of trading to be done, precisely, as checks and drafts reflect the amount of commercial work being carried on."

"By and with the consent of the board of control, banks may have more than one place for doing business, being authorized to establish themselves in the various cities of the country."

"No bank note of a denomination less than $10 will be issued, and the Secretary of the Treasury shall not issue a silver certificate of a denomination greater than $7, and thereafter, upon the presentation to him of 100 silver dollars or any multiple thereof, and a demand for their redemption, shall exchange gold coin for the same."

Out West.

Mr. Charles F. Lummis, the well-known writer of California, has enlarged his magazine, which for the past seven years has been known as "The Land of Sunshine," and rechristened it "Out West." The editorial offices are still at Los Angeles, but the magazine now reviews a somewhat larger field, and doubtless will acquire a larger constituency than heretofore. It new motto, "The Nation Back of Us, the World in Front," well represents the spirit of the periodical. In the fifteen volumes of The Land of Sunshine an extraordinary amount of important material bearing on the history and resources of the far West was published, and we shall hope to see this good work continued with even greater zest in the new series.

The first number of Out West opens with a poem by Sharlot M.

Hall. Mr. Lummis, the editor, describes a remarkable "Duel in Desert," between a prowling wild-cat and a horned owl. The facts of this extraordinary combat have been preserved in the form of a relic, consisting of the remains of the antagonists, now preserved in the museum of Leland Stanford University.

Mr. Carl Purdy continues his interesting account of "Pomo Indian Baskets," begun in the former series of the magazine, President Jordan, of Stanford University, writes on "Certain Problems of Democracy in Hawaii," giving especial attention to the suffrage question. There is a full account of "Chinese Journalism in California," by Ednah Robinson, illustrated with photographs of Chinese editorial offices and facsimiles of Chinese papers.

The department of "Early Western History," consisting of critical translations of documents relating to California, never before published in England, is continued in the new series; so also is the editorial department entitled "In the Lion's Den." Mr. William E. Smythe, has charge of about twenty pages in each issue of Out West, chiefly devoted to topics associated more or less closely with the irrigation of arid America. Out West is well supplied with interesting pictures illustrating Western scenery.

Paderewski is Popular.

New York, March 8.—At Paderewski's second recital for the season in Carnegie Hall this afternoon it was demonstrated that the great master is immensely popular with music lovers. Additional testimony of this popularity is afforded by the fact that for the performance of his opera, "Manru," tonight at the Metropolitan Opera House, not a single seat remained unsold.

THE BANANA TRADE.

Speaking of the banana and the English market for the same, an Englishman makes the following statement:

"The coast of Honduras is a great center of the export fruit trade, but in 1883 one little schooner was sufficient for all the requirements in the way of transport. Now three lines of steamers and sixteen sailing vessels barely meet the demands made upon them, and the greater part of the fruit they carry consists of bananas. The cargo of a steamer may be anything between 8,000 and 15,000 banana bunches; hence, it is obvious great numbers are exported yearly. The West Indies, Cuba, Costa Rica and Central America generally tell the same tale of increasing trade. From Jamaica alone we get millions of bunches, now, every year."

If twenty years has been sufficient in the growth of the banana industry in Honduras to require an increase in carrying capacity between the banana field and London market from one schooner to three steamship lines, why may not the same story be told of Hawaii twenty years hence? With the arrival of the Matson steamer, fitted to carry bananas, the movement toward a flourishing banana industry on this Island should begin.

As will be seen in another column, the food value of bananas is incredibly great compared with the other staples. The bananas of this Island cannot be surpassed elsewhere either in size, quality, or endless variety. There are acres upon acres of land adapted to the culture of bananas. Much of this area is not good for anything else. The banana field is an inviting one in Hawaii just now.

If there is doubt as to a market, it is only necessary to remember that through the prodigious perseverance and keen foresight of James J. Hill, American flour is now displacing rice to quite an extent with certain classes in China. If American flour can be sold in China at a profit, Hawaiian bananas can also be sold in China at a profit. A banana is said to be twenty-five times as nutritive as wheat bread and forty five times as nutritive as the potato. With such a handicap the Hawaiian banana ought easily beat American wheat and spuds in the race for favor in the orient.

Taking a nearer view the banana should be raised here in such quantities as to require a line of steamers between this port and San Francisco within the next five years.

THE REPUBLICAN CAPSTONE.

The new Republican currency measure introduced in congress by Chairman Fowler of the House Committee on Banking and currency, if passed and made the law of the land, will mark the triumph of the best financial and economic thought in America over doubt, timidity, ignorance and even dishonesty—so largely characteristic of Congressional action in monetary legislation since 1873. It will crown the labors of the Republican party with the diadem of honesty and success in the halting purpose over thirty long years, which may be compared to the wandering in the wilderness by the children of Israel before they were admitted to the Promised Land.

When Sherman said, "the way to resume is to resume" the Republican party and the people reluctantly followed the Moses of American credit through the Red Sea of depreciated currency and business instability. Then began the wandering in the wilderness, where ghosts of Greenbackism. Free-Silver-Bland-Allison Acts and Bryanism almost exterminated the hope in the hearts of faithful, clear headed men to place the financial system of the United States upon a sound, scientific and practical basis.

The Fowler bill is the closing chapter in the thirty year war for sound money in America. It divorces the government from the banking business without investing the banks with power to embarrass the Treasury or impose upon the people. It grants privileges to the banks but imposes upon them compensatory obligations. It puts out of gear forever the "endless chain" which so disastrously depleted the gold reserve during Cleveland's administration.

The banks assume the responsibility of protecting this gold reserve and are granted greater powers of issue, which it is thought will impart elasticity to the volume of currency, adapting it to all emergencies of trade.

GOOD WEATHER HAILED.

Vessels Have Had Hard Time Tackling Cargo in Hilo Bay.

Last Tuesday was the first day with in two weeks that weather conditions permitted the loading of sugar on the various vessels waiting in the harbor. Sugar is piling up fast in the various warehouses. There are over 35,000 sacks of Olau sugar in the warehouse awaiting transfer to vessels, 33,000 sacks at Hakalau and 17,000 at Pepeekeo. The Matson line has three vessels in port, the Marion Chilcott, the Annie Johnson and the Roderick Dhu. Since the weather cleared up, the Matson people have been working three shifts of men at loading sugar, and the Roderick hopes to sail today. The Helen Brewer has been lying in the harbor for nearly a month, without being able to take on a pound of cargo and the promise of fair weather brings joy to the heart of the skipper.

WILL AID GRAZIERS.

Live Stock Men to Form Close Body.

With a degree of enthusiasm which was worthy of the cause, the graziers of the Islands met in considerable force at the directors' of Castle & Cooke at Honolulu last week and formed the Hawaiian Live Stock Breeders' Association. There have been 26 names attached to the articles of association.

The meeting indicated that there will be good work done by the association, for every man present seemed to feel that the time was here for concerted action upon the matter at hand, and there was not a single person chosen to act for the body who did not willingly take up the task. The first gathering was held in the morning, and at that time D. P. R. Isenberg was chosen chairman and P. M. Swanzy temporary secretary. Then an adjournment was had for the purpose of getting together more of the cattlemen of the city, so the meeting held at 2 p. m. was one full of interest. The permanent officers were first chosen. They were: President, D. P. R. Isenberg; vice president, Eben Low; secretary, A. F. Judd; treasurer, A. B. Wood. Executive Committee: L. L. McCandless, A. W. Carter, W. H. Conwell, Francis Gray and Julian Monsarrat.

The by-laws of the association were then adopted. They declare the purpose of the association to be the bettering of the live stock of the Islands, the conserving of the interests of the graziers, the improvement of the pasturage lands and the forage plants, the care of the forests and the reforestation of the lands of the Islands. The principal object of the association will be the bringing and breeding of a better class of horses and cattle. After these sheep will run a third with attention to hogs as the subject which will attract the least attention of all.

There were very few changes in the by-laws or articles of association, and before the adjournment of the meeting all the groundwork had been laid for an association which would give to the association wide latitude. A special committee on herd book, composed of W. H. Conwell, Eben Low and Julian Monsarrat, was appointed, and when the meeting adjourned it was to be called together again on Saturday, when it is expected there will be a system of registration prepared by the committee. There will be submitted as well a complete plan for affiliation with the Live Stock Association of the United States, which will give full weights to the registration of the association.

The names of the articles of association are the following: The Hawaiian Agricultural Company, R. C. Searles, L. Von Tempsky, J. Monsarrat, E. Lowe, F. M. Swanzy, Palmer and Frank Woods, M. P. Robinson, W. M. Giffard, A. W. Carter, W. C. Achi, A. Mason, Robert Hind, J. M. Horner, A. F. Judd, Dr. J. H. Raymond, H. Waterhouse & Co., H. P. Baldwin, Samuel Parker, W. H. Conwell, Prince David Kawanakoa, H. M. von Holt, S. E. Damon, C. A. Brown, A. Dowsett, L. L. McCandless, George Campbell and Samuel Parker Jr.

It is the fond hope of the growers that in time they become to the cattle interests of Hawaii what the Planters' Association now is to the sugar business. There will be not only a registry, but as well there will be prepared a set of rules for the carrying on of a regular information bureau, and in time there will be brochures, which will aid in the dissemination of the facts concerning the industry here, and investigations made by the graziers which will serve their fellows.

TEN THOUSAND HORSE-POWER.

Canadian Enterprise More Daring Than American at Niagara.

When the project for the development of the power of Niagara falls was undertaken, a few years ago, all previous efforts of electrical engineers were far outdone. It had been found possible at that time to build electric generators which would deliver an output of 1,500 horse-power, and it was said that possibly it would be practical to increase the size of generators to 2500 horse-power. The Niagara falls power company undertook and accomplished what was then thought little short of miraculous, in building, installing, and putting into successful operation dynamos of 5,000 horse-power size.

It was then thought that the limit in the development of electric machinery had been reached, at least for this generation. The plant at Niagara, with its mammoth units of energy, was considered one of the industrial wonders of the world and excited as much interest among visiting scientists from this and other countries as the spectacle of the great Niagara falls itself. There have been a number of immense electrical plants built since then in various parts of the country, and the Niagara plant has been increased in size. But the enormous generators first built there remained up to a short time ago as the limit of electrical development. Now the Niagara falls plant is about to be outdone. The Niagara Falls power company, has undertaken to build a plant on the Canadian side of the falls which will be as far ahead of the present plant as the latter outdistanced all others. In this new plant, which is expected to have an output of 200,000 horse-power or more within a few years, it is planned to install electric generators which will each have a capacity of 10,000 horse-power, and contracts have already been let to an American company for building them. These new dynamos are to be the industrial wonder of the day. Each of them is to be capable of producing as much power as is used to run a transatlantic steamer. Up to a short time ago the entire power of the Chicago Edison company's downtown plant was not as great as one of the new dynamos. All the industries of a fair-sized city could be carried on by the power from one of these machines. The undertaking is an enormous one, but has proceeded successfully so far and is assured of success. The lesson it teaches is that the limit of electrical achievement was not reached at Niagara and doubtless has not yet been reached. In fact, judging from the progress of the last fifteen years, electrical development has no limit in sight.

Like the flight of the swiftest bird is the progress of a hacking cough into consumption. First a cold, then a settled cough, then slow fever, night sweats, and hemorrhages. Don't neglect your cough. Stop it at once and drive away all thought of consumption. Begin as early as possible—the sooner the better—to take the most effective remedy for coughs of every kind and in every stage. One of the most annoying coughs is a throat cough, where you have that constant tickling in your throat. It comes on worse at night, keeps you awake, and makes you have that smothered feeling in the chest. It hardly seems possible what one dose of Cherry Pectoral will do for this kind of a cough, it brings such marked relief.

Put up in large and small bottles. When the cough gets down deep in the chest and the lungs are painful, put one of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Plasters directly over the tender lung. It will draw out all the soreness.

THE ELKS BANQUET.

The Sweetest Feast Ever Spread in Hilo Town.

The banquet given by the Elks last Thursday night at Demosthenes Cafe, was the finest affair of its kind ever given in the city. The visitors, Dr. G. B. Cooper, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler and over a score of Elks from Honolulu were given the best that Hilo could afford. They said they were well treated and were even in so good a humor that the little shower of rain that accompanied their embarkation on the Kinau did not seem to dampen their spirits in the least.

The banquet was served at the rooms of Demosthenes Lycurgus. The tables were loaded down with beautiful decorations and carried a bigger load of delicacies from the larders of the ambitious Greek.

Covers were laid for 85. Grand Exalted Ruler Cooper sat at the head of the table. On his left sat R. T. Guard, the boss of the young Hilo herd. On Guard's left sat the Toastmaster, W. C. Cook. On seating themselves all present showed marks upon either physique or physiognomy of the hi-jinks held at the hall before the banquet. At this first function of a social character in the Hilo lodge, some of the Honolulu brethren indulged in plays that made the hair of the untutored Hiloite stand on end. But these diversions only whetted the appetite for the toothsome array on Lycurgus' tables. The dining room was faultlessly bedecked with the foliage and flower of the tropics. A quintet of Hawaiians discoursed entrancing music. The hands of the clock pointed the hour of ten.

The service was without blemish. The cook and the waiters from the Kinau, waiters from the Hawaiian hotel and elsewhere were called in to aid in purveying the refreshments.

It was nearly one o'clock before the inimitable W. C. Cook of Paipaiou announced that the hour had come for speechmaking. In his usual eloquent manner, he complimented the visiting delegates and said a few pluming words in behalf of his home lodge and city. All through the evening the Toastmaster was in his happiest vein and bridged every chasm with ready wit in story and suggestion.

Preceding the speeches Exalted Ruler R. T. Guard, was given the favor to perform a little duty. He arose and in a few short words, perpetrated the surprise of the evening in presenting Dr. Cooper with the nicest gavel any one at the board had ever seen. Dr. Cooper accepted the bejewelled mallet with visible emotion and managed to say a few words in appreciation of the gift.

The toastmaster then called A. B. Loebenstein to respond to the toast "The President of the United States." The speaker paid an eloquent tribute to the many personal and official virtues of President Roosevelt. His speech was greeted with applause at every turn.

Dr. Cooper responded to the toast "B. P. O. E. D. D. G. E. R." The applause that was given Dr. Cooper proves that he can be elected Mayor of Hilo, whenever he wants the office.

F. M. Brooks toasted "The Honolulu Lodge, relating the interesting story of the founding of the first Elk lodge in Hawaii. He sailed clear until he referred to Hilo as a small town, at which point he was so pelted with oranges and banquet debris that he had to sit down.

"Hilo Lodge No. 750" was the subject of a rattling speech by E. E. Richards. The entire crowd felt good toward the subject of his remarks and the tributes he paid were every time voted just and proper.

"The Town of Hilo," was the subject of a loyal talk by Philip Peck, one of the staunchest backers of the "Crescent City." He devoted a few minutes to a practical discussion of the needs of the city and how to set about satisfying them.

"The Ladies" were not forgotten, although it is doubtful if ever a better time was enjoyed by gentlemen with the fair sex absent. H. L. Ross talked to and about the ladies. Being an old Elk he ventured to discourse on the fine relation which should exist between the Elks and the ladies. The toast to the ladies was drunk with a zest.

After the regular list of toasts many extras came, the best of which were those by Admiral Beckley and J. T. Stacker. The hour was late when the last of the feasters left the dining hall.

Friday morning the skies had clouded intent on giving the Honolulu visitors a square deal. They were rained on a little. A big crowd of citizens and Elks was at the wharf to bid them aloha.

The Cost of the Boer War.

Mr. H. Morgan Browne writes an article with many interesting figures on the cost of the Boer war which is a monumental record of the lack of forethought on the part of England's ministers. Up to the present time, there have been seven distinct demands for money necessary to bring the war to a definite conclusion. The last was made on March 8, 1904, and it did not bring the sum beyond £143,867,000 ($719,335,000). He expects that the aggregate expenditure will amount to £172,405,000 ($862,025,000) on March 31. Other considerations point to the fact that the army in South Africa will cost at least £70,000,000 during the current financial year. One of the most suggestive facts brought out by Mr. Browne is that it took twice as much money to induce a Colonial to risk his life for the empire as to induce one of England's street bred folk. Of the pay of the troops, one-third of the money, or £8,000,000, went to pay one-fifth of the men, who were supplied by Australia, Canada, South Africa, and the Imperial Yeomanry. The average cost of these sons of the younger nations to the old empire was £100 a head, as against £50 a head, which is the average cost of regular troops. Colonial loyalty and patriotism is no doubt very magnificent and inspiring, but such figures as these take a little of the gift off the gingerbread.

A Printer Greatly Surprised.

"I never was so much surprised in my life, as I was with the results of using Chamberlain's Pain Balm," says Henry T. Crook, pressman of the Asheville (N. C., U. S. A.) Gazette. "I contracted a severe case of rheumatism early last winter by getting my feet wet. I tried several things for it without benefit. One day while looking over the Gazette, I noticed that Pain Balm was positively guaranteed to cure rheumatism, so bought a bottle of it and before using two thirds of it my rheumatism had taken its flight and I have not had a rheumatic pain since." A Life Saved

Sixteen Months of Awful Suffering

Impure blood is always dangerous. Just as soon as you begin to feel weak and languid, nervous and depressed, you are in danger. Make your blood pure and your nerves strong at once. Mr. Thomas H. Cashel, of Drifstone, New South Wales, Australia, sends us this letter, with his photograph:

was suddenly taken very ill for three weeks was delirious nearly all the time, and my life was despatched of. The doctors said I suffered the most frightful agony; the poisoning all settled in my liver. I then went to Sydney Hospital, where I was in bed for some time. I then left the hospital, believing I must surely die. Then my people bought me a bottle of

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

It did me good at once. In all I used fifteen bottles. Without doubt, it saved my life, even after sixteen months of suffering.

Take Ayer's Pills with the Sarsaparilla.

DEMOCRACY AND FLUNKYISM.

A Discussion Inspired by Representative Wheeler's Speech.

Congressman Chas. K. Wheeler's outbreak in the house against the official reception of Prince Henry and the sending of an embassy to the coronation of King Edward, has brought forth a wide discussion of the difference between courtesy and flunkysim, and of Mr. Wheeler himself. Mr. Wheeler began by denouncing our foreign policy, declaring that we had been made the laughing stock at every court in Europe, and that from the very foundation of this government England has been trying to undermine us and cause our ruin. While it might be well, in the opinion of Mr. Wheeler, to treat the representatives of foreign powers with courtesy and consideration, still he would no longer treat Secretary Hay in that way. Mr. Wheeler then jumped from King Edward and John Hay to Prince Henry. "In the next few days," said the Kentuckian, indignantly, "we are to have a brother of a ruler come over to this country and take charge of a little tug, ship, vessel or yacht, whatever you please to term it, built by some people in New York. We are appropriating thousands of dollars and people are falling over each other to get to see a little Dutchman come over and take charge of a little boat. I object to the republic of the United States undertaking to lay the flunkies at the feet of a little German prince; and I object to the United States sending emissaries abroad to whistle their fingers and dance attendance at the antechamber of some Britisher because he is going to wear the crown."

The Boston Advertiser (Rep.) does not agree with Mr. Wheeler, thinking that the American people "will be honoring themselves more than their guest. They will not be, in any way or measure, conceding that old world institutions are better than those of the new world, but on the contrary, they will be demonstrating to mankind that all which is best in old world manners is here combined with all which is best in new world liberties." The Washington Post (Ind.) has but one criticism of the speech to offer, namely, "that Mr. Wheeler failed to distinguish between the obligations of hospitality and the instincts of sycophancy. If Mr. Wheeler had stopped short with his denunciation of the special embassy and the announcement of his reasons for that denunciation, he would have had with him the sympathy of a large majority of his hearers and of the country in general. The American people had their patriotic pride and their sense of national dignity sorely wounded within the past few years. A slow fire of resentment is burning in many millions of loyal hearts on that account, and Mr. Wheeler might easily have fanned that fire into flames. He made the mistake, however, of leaving a sure ground. We think very much as he does of the proposed special embassy, especially in view of the revelations of the past few weeks; but the impulses and the duties of hospitality are sacred."

"Once more," says the Chicago Journal (Ind.), "once more has the Pogram defiance been hurled in the face of the effete and degenerated despots of Europe. Again have the aristocratic circles of the old world been made to quail at the shriek of the American bird of freedom. We know now there is at least one member of Congress who remain true to the traditions of the past and is ever ready to stand as a bulwark against the encroachments of a cankered aristocracy." The Pittsburg Post (Dem.) takes the matter more seriously: "The Kentucky congressman who made a speech against American flunkysim to royalty and monarchical and imperial institutions of government may have been a little wild in some of his flights of oratory, yet there is no question that on the general subject the mass of the American people are in accord. We run to extremes both as regards the coronation and the exceptional honors to our German guest," the Post thinks, while the Detroit Journal (Ind.) has this explanation for Mr. Wheeler's attack: "Mr. Wheeler, it will be remembered, came from the state where the close season for governors is shorter than for rabbits and citizens not in official position. This fact may have distorted his judicial perspective somewhat; but it is nevertheless clear that his brand of democracy is in danger of being seduced from the paths of virtue by recognition of the fact that kings and princes, as parts of the great human procession, may, without contamination, be treated at least as courteously as one treats the drum-major of the town band."

"If democracy," says the St. Louis Republic (Dem.), "indeed, is so feebly implanted in American bosoms that the courteous treatment of such a man as Henry of Prussia threatens to seriously impair our national character, then we are truly in a bad way. If American democracy is of such a nature that courtesy and good breeding are impossible to it, then democracy itself is in a bad way. Congressman Wheeler of Kentucky has simply seen fit to make an ass of himself and to misrepresent his state in an unexpectedly humiliating manner." The Globe-Democrat (Rep.), of the same city, characterizes Mr. Wheeler's remarks as "a disgraceful outbreak," an opinion in which many other papers concur without attaching much importance to the incident.

"Wheeler's speech had to be made," the Memphis Commercial Appeal believes. "There must be a fool in every play, an ass in every function. Wheeler has done double duty. Southern people will not approve a line of this speech. They are the Democrats and aristocrats of the country. No matter whether a sand digger or a planter, lord the land beyond the reach of his vision, the southerner's highest regard is for the law of hospitality. We are in the family of nations friendly with all, having special alliance with none, and if they want to visit us, let 'em come on, and if they have a celebration and we want to see the show, our democracy is not injured by the trip. Democracy does not preclude good breeding, and in a republic good manners are among the badges of nobility." The Council Bluffs Nonpareil is reminded by Mr. Wheeler of a story attributed to Mr. Jacob A. Riis, who tells of an Irish teamster who went to the priest in a fright; he had seen a ghost on the church wall as he passed it in the night. "And what was it like?" asked the priest. "It was like nothing so much as a big ass," said Patrick, wild eyed. "Go home, Pat, and be easy," replied the priest, soothingly; "you've only seen your own shadow."

COLONIAL GOVERNORS.

Dole of Hawaii Will Meet Two Others at Washington.

Washington, March 8.—In about a month or so Washington will hold three Governors of as many distant "colonies" of the United States.

This will be a spectacle never before witnessed at the national capital. The Governors, who probably will be given an entertainment together at the White House, are Governor Dole of Hawaii, Governor Taft of the Philippines and Governor Wood of Cuba.

Governor Wood is expected here shortly. He will remain for probably not more than a week and will return to Cuba, where some entertainments have been arranged for Miss Alice Roosevelt. He will be back again in Washington, however, about the first of April, and at that time Governor Dole is expected to arrive from Hawaii.

Governor Taft is now in Cincinnati, but will return to Washington and will probably remain for some months yet. No one has yet learned what is the purpose of the bringing together here of these Governors of the distant provinces (for Cuba will be a province until May, if no longer).

It is not improbable that there will be a general discussion of the future of the Philippines, Hawaii and Cuba at the White House and the announcement of some important policies may be made at the conference with the insular representatives of the United States.

GERMAN PRESS PLEASED.

Cordiality of Prince Henry's Reception Considered Gratifying.

Berlin, March 9.—Some of the daily papers have been summing up Prince Henry's trip to the United States. Their tone is one of complete satisfaction. They deny that the Prince's visit was ever intended to have any specific political aim, but merely purposed to bring about an improvement in the popular feeling in both countries.

The Boersen Zeitung admits that its most sanguine expectations have been exceeded by the occurrences of the Prince's trip, and says the heartfelt cordiality displayed by the Americans was greater than could have been expected.

The National Zeitung says that Prince Henry and the Americans have learned to understand and appreciate each other, and that the result attained is out of the common. It is a not-to-be-forgotten incident, says this paper, in the busy rush of modern life.

America and Sugar Bounty.

London, March 10.—According to the correspondent in Brussels of the Standard, it is said there that the United States will approve the sugar convention and that the American Minister to Belgium, Lawrence Townsend, has been ordered to conduct certain negotiations with the Belgian Government with reference to this subject.

European Expansion in Asia.

Captain Younghusband calculates that by the end of the century the white men of the world will have increased from 500,000,000 to 1,500,000,000, while the Asiatics under Europeans will, in the same time, increase from 340,000,000 to over 800,000,000. The 400,000,000 Chinese are not likely to increase to more than 800,000,000. Countries like Arabia, Persia, and Asiatic Turkey may keep their populations stationary by war and massacres.
