Whatever may be the result of the election in the United States there will be land in Hawaii and people to cultivate it.
There will still be beautiful homes and lawns for Chinese and Japanese yard men to look after and keep beautiful.

It is a quest, for if there are many places where greater attention is paid to beautifying the lawns and it is probable the appearance of the best of them is in a measure due to us,—for we provide the garden tools of the town.

Our stock of Iloes, Rakes, Weeding Forks, Bush Hooks, is as complete in numbers and quality as will be found anywhere. Garden and Hedge Shears are better when of English make and we have paid particular attention to the selection of these tools.

We have other art tools for the garden which must recommend themselves to you if you are judge of quality.

Trowels, O's and Bush Hooks are useful; so are Hand Axes when trimming algaroba trees.

We do not have exclusive sale of these articles: everybody sells them, but they don't all sell as good quality as we. When you buy from us our name over the door is a guarantee of the quality—and price.

COMPLETELY CURED HIM.
J. M. J. Clune, of Walkerville, Ade-

"Six years ago, I had an attack of Indigestion and Liver Complaint that lasted for weeks; I was unable to do any hard work, had no appetite, food distressed me, and I suffered much from headache. My skin was sallow and sleep did not refresh me. I tried several remedies and consulted a doctor, without obtaining any relief; finally, one of my customers recommended Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It helped me from the first.—In fact, after taking six bottles I was completely cured, and could eat anything and sleep

COMMISSIONER MARSDEN

TALKS ABOUT HIS TRIP THROUGH THE COFFEE REGIONS.

His Tour Was Entirely in the Interest of the Coffee Industry—What He Saw and Did.

In conversation with a BULLETIN representative this morning, Commissioner Marsden of the Bureau of Agriculture, who has just returned from a tour of the coffee districts of Hawaii, said:

"My tour of the Island of Hawaii was almost entirely in the interest of the coffee industry.
I visited all the coffee districts on the island and examined into the conditions of the industry everywhere, but especially in Hamakua, Hilo, Oahu and Kona.

"The Hamakua district I found especially adapted to the cultivation of the berry in that portion lying in the belt of woods which is protected from the high winds which prevail in that district. J. M. Horner's plantation is a model of good cultivation and intelligent pruning and from the results so far obtained is an assured success. He has 90 acres of coffee trees, a portion of which is now bearing. From this year's picking he has obtained 25,500 pounds of berries, the proceeds of which have paid two-thirds of his entire outlay on the plantation from its inception to date, while the prospects are good for an enormous yield next year from the same trees and others which will come into bearing. Mr.
Horner finds that his trees from Guatemala seed have made a more vigorous growth and given the heaviest yield, which seems to be due to the climatic change. His results are also borne out by a similar experience on another plantation owned by a native at Kauaihaele, 18 miles distant.
The coffee throughout Hamakua district is remarkably vigorous and healthy and is free from blight of any nature, which is due to the good work of Professor Koebele's ladybirds. This is true of every district I visited.
There is an almost total absence of blight everywhere. I visited the Honokaa homesteads which are mostly settled by natives and Portuguese. There the coffee tree thrives remarkably well, but owing to the pernicious practice prevailing with the Portuguese of planting other crops between the coffee trees they don't do as well as they ought to. There was one exception to this practice, and the result was shown in the superior growth of the coffee.
The settlers have plenty of land and I called them together and explained to them the folly of the course they were pursuing and they promised to avoid it in future.

"I went all through the Oahu district on foot, visiting most of the plantations. Coffee undoubtedly does well all through the district, though in a few instances the trees have not been well planted. However, the planters are gaining knowledge by experience and are farther advanced in the methods of planting, cultivation and general care of their plantations than those of any other district. If they have no drawbacks, such as a scarcity of labor which is even now beginning to make itself felt, the industry in that district will be a grand success. I found the Oahu coffee planters a set of bright, intelligent and hardworking men, ready and willing to receive and act on suggestions. They have promised to give a fair and honest trial of several experiments, the results of which I think will go far towards solving the problem of furnishing employment for their laborers during the season of the year when there is no coffee picking to be done. One of these is the introduction of mountain dry land rice, for which the soil of Oahu seems admirably adapted and the cultivation of which will go far towards furnishing all-the-year round employment. Another experiment will be the introduction of the castor bean. This is a prolific yielder and requires little cultivation, and the manufacture of castor oil can easily be made a profitable industry in conjunction with coffee. The machinery required is simple and inexpensive and the product is one of the market staples. The oilcake left in the presses after the extraction of the oil will be valuable as a fertilizer for the coffee, and I have impressed upon the planters everywhere the necessity of commencing fertilization at once, without waiting for the virgin soil to be worked out, as many sugar planters did.

"Kona district undoubtedly possesses the soil and climatic conditions requisite to the raising of the coffee bean in its perfection, but with the exception of a few foreign corporations like the Hawaiian Tea and Coffee Company, the coffee in that district has been almost entirely uncultivated. I visited many plantations owned by Portuguese, natives and Japanese and instructed them in the correct methods of planting, pruning and caring for the trees.
The industry in Kona district is kept back by the exorbitant prices at which suitable lands are held.
If land was more easily available and proper cultivation of the berry more generally understood Kona district could produce an inexhaustible supply of coffee.
It is a superb country.
I saw figs, grapes and peaches there of magnificent appearance and flavor. The Portuguese understand the cultivation of the vine well and manufacture a considerable quantity of wine every year, but the varieties of grapes cultivated are not up to date. I am going to get them some of the finer varieties, such as are found in the big California vineyards and maybe after a while we can stop importing grapes from California. The Kona settlers have also promised to give the mountain rice and castor beans a fair trial, and I shall send sample packages of seeds up there as soon as I can get them ready.

Everywhere I went I held meetings when I could get a few of the planters together and told them what I could about the correct methods of raising coffee, but I laid particular stress on the absolute necessity of taking up some other industry as well, by which the labor necessary in the berry-picking season could be utilized during the balance of the year.

In conclusion the Commissioner said he was glad to get home, having been away from his office nearly two months, during which he had been traveling almost constantly and much of the time on foot. He expects to make regular trips to Hawaii every six months, and will also visit the other islands for similar trips, leaving for Maui in about two months.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S REIGN.

English Residents Will Celebrate the 25th of September.

On the 25th of September next, if Queen Victoria lives to that time and every one hopes she will, Her Majesty will have reigned one day longer than any of her predecessors on the English throne. George the Third was the sovereign who occupied the English throne longest, his reign lasting 59 years 3 months and some days. If Queen Victoria lives through the 24th of September next she will have been on the throne longer than George III.

The many loyal subjects of England's beloved Queen in Honolulu have resolved to appropriately celebrate the event of September 25th and a meeting of the preliminary committee will take place this evening. The celebration will be under the auspices of the Sons of St. George.

Senator W. H. Rice returned to Kauai yesterday.

SUCCESSOR TO MONOWAI

MUST AVERAGE SEVENTEEN KNOTS
ON A 21 DAYS TRIP.

Other Boats Building for the Union Steamship Company—Twenty-knot Steamers for New Zealand Trade.

The Union Steamship Company's Monowai will call here on her way to the Colonies on November 19th, probably for the last time. The vessel is too slow to suit the increasing demands for faster passages. The company expects to put a new vessel on the San Francisco route about the end of the year and she will be a fast one. Under the terms of the contract with her builders she is to be an eighteen knot boat, and make a trial trip over the route, and if she cannot average seventeen knots an hour on a twenty-one days' run she will not be accepted. She will be 4500 tons burden and will, therefore, be one of the largest vessels coming to this port.

Captain Carey, Purser Bendell and Chief Engineer McKaig of the Monowai expect to be assigned to the new vessel and all Honolulu people will hope their expectations will be realized, for they are deservedly popular here.
They will probably take most of their subordinates with them.

"The Union Steamship Company is branching out," said Chief Engineer McKaig on his last trip. "It has bought a cargo-boat and has a new one on the stocks.
A twenty-knot boat is being built to run between Ouehuna and Wellington, to carry our mails, and another fast boat is being constructed to run between Auckland and Sydney. Then there is the eighteen-knot boat for the San Francisco trade, so, you see, the concern is holding its own. The Monowai is a splendid ship, unfortunately (with a sigh), we can't make time with her."

Among the many Australian skippers who come to Honolulu Captain M. Carey easily ranks as one of the most popular. He was born in Killarney, but in 1835 he was sailing out of New Bedford in a whaler. He did not like the life, and when the vessel put in at the Bay of Islands for water he managed to miss her when she again put to sea. He then tried farming, but could not make a success of it, and in 1859 he was third officer of one of the Intercolonial Royal Mail Company's steamers. A year later he hoisted the Union Steamship Company's flag on the steamer Wellington, and has stayed with that concern until it is now the biggest and most powerful corporation in the southern seas.

Major Pangborn on Hawaii.

Interviewed on his arrival in San Francisco from Honolulu, Major Z. K. Pangborn said to a reporter of The Call:

"Before I say anything about home affairs, allow me to say a little of that beautiful island republic, Hawaii. I was there for several weeks and I can say with assurance that it presents a magnificent field for business—that is, an increasing and profitable business. This is particularly true of coffee, sugar and fruits of all kinds. There are vast tracts of land which have never been used but which are capable of returning almost untold wealth to those who are willing to venture their dollars. I think the islands could easily sustain three times the present population."

Large Opium Importation.

The Belgic, which passed through this port on July 24th, had on board the largest consigament of opium for San Francisco in many months. There were 455 cases averaging something over forty-one pounds to the case and appraised at 80 per pound. The value of the importation was about $115,000.

ANCIENT WRITINGS FOUND

VALUABLE MANUSCRIPTS DISCOV-ERED AT CAIRO.

Bearing Upon the Early History of the Christian Church.

LONDON, August 1.—Several most important discoveries have just been made in Cairo bearing upon the history of the Christian church in the first two centuries of the Christian era. Among them is a manuscript from the fifth century which is a coptic translation of the three original gnostic writings of the second century. Its value consists not only in the fact that it hands down old gnostic writings that hitherto have been unknown except by name, but, above all, in the circumstance that one of them was known to Irenaeus and epitomized by him without any statement of the source from which he had derived it.

The discovery of this manuscript enables us for the first time to test the accounts of the gnostic system as given by the church fathers in the light of the original manuscript.

It contains three independent treatises entitled "Gospel According to Mary or Apocryphon of John"; second, "Wisdom of Jesus Christ"; third, "Practice of Peter."
The "Gospel of Mary" is a document used by Irenaeus, and consists mainly of the revelation of John. The "Wisdom of Jesus Christ" consists of questions addressed to him by the disciples and his answers. The "Practice of Peter" is the narrative of one of Peter's miracles of healing.

JUDICIARY NOTINGS.

Administration of Estate of Moss Davis—Jury Term.

Judge Carter has granted letters of administration to Sarah A.
Davis, on the estate of the late Moss Davis, under $9000 bond.
Robertson for petitioner. The estate consists of $13,500 in cash, and the heirs are the widow and three sons.

A non-suit was granted in Kauoi vs. G. K. Kalopahia and others, called for mixed jury on Monday.

Yesterday the trial of Kahoiwai et al vs. Limaue et al., quieting title, was begun before a mixed jury. It will last into tomorrow. There is a branchy family tree in the case. Robertson for plaintiff; Magoon & Eddings and Castle for defendants.

Two letters in large plain white envelopes have been lost. The Metropolitan Meat Company offer a reward for their return. One is addressed to "Richard Gilliland, Waianae," the other to the "Central Market, Honolulu." They were probably lost between Bethel and King streets corner and the depot.

SAILING TIME GAINED

QUICKER ROUTE TO THE EQUATOR IS DISCOVERED.

Result of Observations by the Hydrographic Office—On the Water Front.

The United States Hydrographic Office yesterday announced a discovery that will not only deeply interest all classes of shipping men, but will prove itself a matter of great importance to them. It is a new route from San Francisco and Sound ports to the equator which will enable vessels to make the voyage to the line in from two to five days less time than they now take to cover the distance.

As the route described is one more frequented than any other sailing route in the world, and as the saving of time by the new course is greater in the winter season, when the number of vessels leaving this port for the Horn is twice as great as it is in the summer season, shipping firms and mariners will lose no time trying the new course to ascertain how well the hydrographic officers have reckoned. At present the voyage is an uncertain one as regards time. The Drumraig, Captain Bailey, went from San Francisco to the line in twelve and one-half days, and in 1891 it required forty-two days for the Clan Mackenzie to make the trip. The average time consumed in making the run is twenty-four days. Many months ago the Hydrographic Office began to make observations with a view to establishing a more certain and economic route, and now it feels it has succeeded.

At present the run from parallel 35 to parallel 15 is made between meridians 125 and 120. At parallel 15 the vessels generally sheer in to the east, going for parallel 15 to parallel 5 between meridians 120 and 115, and then they take a southwesterly course to the equator between the same meridians.

The proposed route is shaped much the same as the one at present traveled, but it lies further to the west, keeping from fifty to 100 miles further out than the old track. The vessel will cross parallel 35 about half way between meridians 130 and 125 and go south to parallel 10, between those meridians. Then it will point in shore so as to catch the 120th meridian and parallel 5 at the same time and coming about to the southwest cross the line at meridian 125.—Chronicle.

COFFEE AND LABOR.

Commissioner Marsden says the Advertiser has not treated him fairly in reference to certain remarks purported to have been made by him and printed in the Hilo Tribune and afterwards misquoted and commented on by the Advertiser. What Mr. Marsden did say was that the labor of picking coffee berries would have to be done by contract, not that it would have to be done by contract labor. He meant that children, families and laborers generally would have to be paid by the coffee planters at so much per bushel, the same as is done in picking fruit and hops in other countries. Mr. Marsden wants it understood that he is opposed to the present system of contract labor and wants it abolished just as soon as the way is open for the planters to obtain free labor. For his part he is in favor of obtaining European families, but so far experience has shown that the supply of that class of labor has been entirely too meagre for the needs of Hawaii. He claims that a constant and full supply of labor must be had here, and that as long as free labor cannot be obtained we must employ the other kind. According to the Commissioner's views given to the BULLETIN this morning, the coffee planter of Hawaii today is in a precarious condition, and unless a plentiful supply of labor from some source is furnished him the industry is doomed.

Lord Wolseley, Great Britain's "only" General, has raised a nest of hornets about his ears. He testified before the Commission on Indian Military Expenditures that he would not like to put the British Indian troops in front of European soldiers and that he would not like to fight France, Germany or any other army with Indian troops. As a sample of the scoring his remarks have got him in the press, the following is quoted from the London Globe: "Lord Wolseley is no longer our only General because in the one war which many believe inevitable, with Russia, our Indian army which he recklessly insulted will play an important part, and we should not like to see them called upon to follow such an intensely unpopular commander." Lord Wolseley's testimony was cabled to India, where it has aroused great indignation. A dispatch from Simla says: "The high authorities fear it will cause great discontent among the Indian troops."

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, on his arrival at New York from London a few days ago, speaking of the British cable conference said that "the feasibility, practicability and desirability of such a system have already been established, and about the only thing that the conference will determine is the mode of management. What we want to find out is, whether it should be subsidized by the government or owned by the government. That will be decided by the conference to be held in the latter part of October."

A Washington dispatch says: "Among old politicians Vermont is known as the rural political barometer. Whenever the Republican majority in that state drops below 25,000, the Democrats always carry the country. This was first noticeable in 1876. Again in 1884 when Cleveland was first elected, and in 1892, the barometer was a faithful index to public sentiment. Both Maine and Vermont hold their state election on Sept. 14 this year, and from the result of these some interesting and important calculations may be made." These facts are causing the Republicans much anxiety as to the Vermont election. Correspondence received in Washington indicates that both Maine and Vermont are wavering. It is called to mind that Maine was the original greenback state and once elected the greenback state ticket.

Certainly the unexpected has not happened in the findings and sentence of the court martial that tried Captain Good of the regular forces. The public had already condemned the captain for palpable and persistent transgression of military discipline, which was evident on the very face of the case apart from the suspicion aroused of conspiracy, also, to down the chief commanding officer of the regiment.

Mariners will be interested in the report of a new sailing route laid out to the equator in the Pacific, which promises to reduce the time from San Francisco by five days out of an average of twenty-four.

Major Pangborn's high opinions of Hawaii's resources ought to be helpful to both public and private prospecting for capital in the United States for investment in these islands.

Students of religious subjects have interesting intelligence of the discovery of valuable manuscripts at Cairo bearing upon events in the early part of the Christian era.

It is easier to get a quorum in the field than in a hall with outdoor sporting clubs.

Better Performance.

In conversation with Mr. Vanderlip this morning, he explained to a BULLETIN representative the nature of some of the new acts to be given Thursday and Saturday evenings by the Elsie Adair company. They will be extremely entertaining and some of them entirely new to the Honolulu public in conception and detail. A performance much better than the first is promised and Mr. Vanderlip is a gentleman who keeps his promises.

Julien D. Hayne's Victims.

The holders of Julien D. Hayne's drafts failed to receive any word from him by the last mail, although word was received from the Nevada bank that no funds had yet been placed to the credit of Hayne or his wife. Mr. Peterson will send his three drafts, amounting to $1970, to his brother with instructions to commence suit against Mrs. Hayne wherever she may be found.

At The Anchor.

It is extremely refreshing these warm days to take a nice cold shower bath before donning your attire in the morning. However, one soon becomes warmed up to an uncomfortable degree again and the best thing to keep your body in proper condition is to go over to the Anchor and drink a glass or two of Fredericksburg beer, the nectar like beverage which Mr. Cunningham offers each customer who drops into the saloon. His graceful bow and melodious voice are two additional attractions which increase the enjoyment of quaffing the healthful draught. Fredericksburg is the best in the market.

Timely Topics

—ON THE— DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND THE AERMOTOR WINDMILL.

The singular situation of the Democratic party at this time is aptly illustrated by the story of two Irishmen who occupied berths in a sleeping car on one of the great American railway lines. A collision took place in the night and confusion ensued. Both men dressed hastily, and when they emerged from behind the curtains, Pat, recognizing his friend Mike, said to him, "Mike, are you hurt?" "No," said Mike, who in his haste to dress had gotten into his trousers with the hind part before, "I am not hurt, but am fatally twisted." The Democratic party, it is almost needless to remark, is like unto Mike, "fatally twisted." Instead of being twisted in a railway collision, however, Democracy seems to have been twisted by wind. Whether some remnants of the recent St. Louis tornado hovered around the Chicago convention or whether it was simply a tornado issuing from the mouth of the "Boy Orator of the Platte" certain it is that windy eloquence carried the day in the Democratic convention, and from all accounts the campaign will have to be carried through on wind, as the banks refuse to let the Democrats have any gold to run it with.

If the windy eloquence of a boy orator can force a Presidential nomination in favor of an almost unknown candidate, what must be the power of old Boreas himself when he turns loose a consignment of the real article. We have seen it in the almost total destruction of a portion of the city of St. Louis and we have seen it take a "twist" through Kapiolani Park just to show the people of these islands that we are not entirely forgotten.

Wind, however, properly regulated and controlled is not only a good thing in the mouth of a man like Wm. J. Bryan, but it is a better one in the case of the AERMOTOR WINDMILL, and a very little of it will answer the purpose. The mechanism of the Aermotor is of Steel and it is simplicity personified. A boy or an ignorant Jap can run it and keep it in order. Only a few weeks ago we replaced a windmill set up in the grounds of the Queen's Hospital, which would not do the work represented, by an Aermotor. There has been no trouble about water since. The hospital people are using more water than ever before, have more to use and yet the Aermotor only runs a portion of the time. For the first time in the history of the institution, the trustees are assured of water enough to irrigate the entire grounds and the pipes will soon be laid to do so.

But enough said! Everybody knows the Aermotor does exactly what it is represented to do. To those who have not examined its simple construction we would like to show a small working model which we have in operation.

to your type printed visiting card, when it is so easy to get the correct thing right at home.

No card but an engraved one is acceptable; others are considered shoddy and should not be used.

We know the correct thing, and any work turned out by us, will place you right in the swim.

Every effort is being made by us to keep this work at home, and if a strict adherence to San Francisco prices, combined with good clean work is any inducement to place orders here, we will get all your work from now on.

Bear in mind that we are not trying to meet the cut rates of Eastern Department stores for inferior work; but are doing good work, using the very best of material, and adhering closely to ruling rates in San Francisco.

Nor is the work confined to Cards alone, but Wedding and Society Stationery, Business Cards, Announcements, Bill Heads for Professional men, Embossing, and the general run of work coming under that head, have the same careful attention.

You may not need anything now, but it is well to bear in mind when the time comes, and save the expense of sending away for it.

RAMBLERS...

$75.00

If you are thinking of getting a BICYCLE, now is the time to get one while they last. This offer of RAMBLERS at $75.00 is not a cut in price, so don't wait expecting to see the price come any lower. We are offering 1895 wheels at this price and there are but a few left. This wheel is fitted with the

Great G. & J. Tire

which has proven so satisfactory in this land of the

Kiawe Thorn

We also have a stock of the 1896 wheels both ladies and gents which we are offering at a low figure and on easy terms. Come in and have a look at our wheels and satisfy yourself that we are in the Bicycle Business.

An Investment

Stop and think how many Nickles and Dimes you might save had you a wheel. A ride to Wai-kiki is not only a pleasure but a sure saving of health and strength. You will find new vigor by the use of muscles never before brought into use.

W. W. DIMOND'S

Even with a super-abundance of depredatory bugs the average woman of Honolulu takes a great interest in plants. The taste of many runs to ferns because they are little or no trouble to raise. And there is money in it to persons who wish to raise them for sale. A plant for a quarter will be worth two or three dollars in a year if properly attended to. That's the reason we included Fern pans of English pottery among our goods.

They are new here and have never been seen before. If you are raising ferns come and look at our window. We've lots of things in there suited to the flower garden or in the house.

In the celebrated Monmouth Pottery we have Stone Jars holding from a half gallon to ten. Then there are Butter Crocks, Fruit Jars, Bean Pots, Stew Pans and Water Pots.

The factory at Monmouth, Illinois, holds the record for the best glazing on stone of any place in the United States. It is their goods we handle. We have also small and large flower pots, with and without saucers, absolutely perfect. We carry no second quality. Then we have other and cheaper flower pots of both English and American make.

An inspection may be to your interest.

WALKER-CORNWELL MARRIAGE.

Large and Fashionable Assembly at the Cathedral.

St. Andrew's Cathedral, with its interior superbly decorated, was crowded with a fashionable assembly yesterday evening on the occasion of the marriage of John S. Walker to Blanche Adele Cornwell. Many prominent people in public and private life were present. Right Rev. Bishop Willis united the couple in the holy bonds of wedlock according to the Anglican ritual.

J. O. Carter Jr. was best man, aided by W. H. Cornwell Jr., brother of the bride. Miss Kate Cornwell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Cordelia Walker, sister of the groom, bridesmaid. The bride looked beautiful in a dress of white satin with train, and was given away by her father, Hon. W. H. Cornwell. Wray Taylor, organist, rendered standard wedding music.

After the ceremony a brilliant reception was held at the residence of the groom's mother, Nuuanu avenue. The demesne and house were grandly illuminated and decorated. Mr. Walker is the successor in a large insurance and financial business to his late esteemed father, Hon. John S. Walker, who was twice President of the Hawaiian Legislature, and who served in several Ministries, besides having been a member of the Privy Council and Auditor General. He is one of our most popular young fellow-citizens. The bride is one of the most popular belles of Honolulu, whose debut a few years ago was signaled by a grand ball given by her father at the Hawaiian Hotel. The happy and well mated couple have the best wishes of the BULLETIN for long life in unbroken felicity.

MOTHER COOKE DEAD.

The Aged Missionary Lady Succumbs After a Short Illness.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Juliette Montague Cooke died after an illness of two weeks, aged 84 years and 5 months. The following particulars of the long and useful career of the departed, who was affectionately known as "Mother" Cooke, are from the Advertiser:

Mrs. Cooke was born March 12, 1812, in Sunderland, Mass., where she spent the early part of her life. On November 21, 1836, she married Amos Starr Cooke at Danbury, Conn., and on the 14th of December following the bride and groom set out on the bark "Mary Frazier" for the Hawaiian Islands. They came to this country under the auspices of the American Board, and in their company were thirty-two missionaries who came out to reinforce the Christian workers in this country. The "Mary Frazier" arrived in Honolulu April 10, 1837. On the 8th of June of the same year Mr. and Mrs. Cooke began teaching in a school organized for the instruction of the children of the royal families. They continued in this work for twelve years. In 1850 they moved to the house on King street near Kawaiahao Church, which has since been known as the Cooke homestead.

During her active days in the Islands "Mother" Cooke was constantly at work among the native population, striving to uplift and enlighten. She attended the native families in time of sickness, and did much to assist them in their homes. With increasing years she was obliged to withdraw from the field of activity, but her interest in the general Christian work was never failing.

The children now living are Charles M. Cooke, A. Frank Cooke, Mrs. M. A. Turner and Mrs. J. B. Atherton of Honolulu and Mrs. S. T. Alexander of Oakland. There are twenty-two grand-children and five great-grand-children.

To the public:—Having just returned from a five weeks tour to the islands with the Hawaiian Circus which proved a financial failure, I beg to inform interested parties that I have turned the entire circus over to the mortgagee, Mr. Keven, and that in future I shall devote my time to the balloon business. It is my intention to make a series of ascents in the near future. Should they be a financial success I shall pay my share of the debts of the Hawaiian Circus.

IWAKAMI,

Hotel Street, Robinson Block

MADE FOR TWO.

Jack Hinkston was her slave, bound hand and foot to her chariot wheel, or perhaps it would be better to say now that she had taken to cycling, that he was bound to her bicycle wheel. She had flouted him and scorned him for upward of two years, and in despair Jack set himself at undoing his bonds.

Jack had heard that Cissie had taken to the bicycle, but he had never seen the young lady on a machine. For the past week or two Jack had avoided Cissie, and he had taken out his bicycle and had gone for a long wheel into the peaceful country.

As he cycled along a narrow country thoroughfare he heard behind him the sharp ring of a bicycle bell. Something in its imperative ring, or else the fact that he was on a lonely road, caused him to look over his shoulder, and he nearly tumbled off his machine with amazement and surprise.

There was Cissie on the top of a silver plated machine, with the very newest and natty cut of an advanced woman's bicycle costume, clipping over the distance at a tremendous rate of speed. She passed him with a whirl, giving him a saucy nod and a salutation as she went by.

"Stop a minute, Cissie. I want to tell you something."

But the young woman never paid the slightest attention. She bent over the handle bars and reined down that lane in a way to make pedestrians' head swim.

Cissie disappeared round a corner, and when Jack came to it she was not to be seen down the long avenue.

Jack went on leisurely for a mile or two, then he jumped lightly off his machine and trundled it along beside him. The road had suddenly become very bad and Jack thought it safer to wheel the bicycle along by hand rather than risk a puncture on the sharp flint stones scattered with such profusion along the way.

Near a little rustic bridge over a clear stream at the bottom of a dell he found what he expected to find—a very pretty girl, with a most woe-begone, disconsolate look on her face, sitting on the grassy bank, looking forlornly at a bicycle that lay on the road with the tire of the hind wheel collapsed.

"Hello, Cissie!" said Jack breezily. "Had a tumble?"

"No," snapped Cissie. "I am not in the habit of tumbling."

"Ah!" said Jack. "I see what is the matter. The tire is punctured. I knew that would happen. I shouted after you to tell you of this bit of road, but you would not listen."

"I did not hear you," said Cissie, at which assertion Jack raised his eyebrows with incredulity, which made Cissie all the more angry, especially as she knew she was telling a thing which was not true.

"Well, I don't want any help from you," she said curtly.

"Why, of course not," returned Jack, sitting down on the opposite bank and leaning his bicycle against the hedge. "A person who comes out on a wheel and doesn't know how to mend anything that goes wrong is simply a silly fool. One can see you understand all about cycling, because you have left your machine lying on the ground and the oil is running out of your lamp."

"It isn't your lamp, and I can surely do what I like with my own. I don't see what right you have to interfere."

"Bless you, Cissie," said Jack. "I am not interfering. I am not even offering advice. I have never yet had the pleasure of seeing a woman take off a pneumatic tire and mend the inner tube. This, of course, you have to do before you can move on, for you are miles away from any place, and even if you left your machine here you would not dare to walk home in that idiotic costume."

Cissie blushed deeply, and the tears came into her usually bright eyes. She tugged nervously at the skirts of her coat, and then, seeing what she was doing and finding that they but scantily covered her knees, she looked for a moment as if she were going to burst out crying, for it had taken some bravery to come out for the first time in knickerbockers.

"What business is it of yours," she cried, "how I am dressed? You are nothing to me, and I am sure I don't care a penny for your opinion one way or another."

"I don't suppose you do," said Jack, striking a match and lighting his pipe. "I used to be under the impression that you knew how to dress. I am not any longer. I used to think that you could not put on anything that would be unbecoming. Now I hold no such opinion. Still, I must say that I admire your bravery in coming out in the daylight, where people can see you in such a rig. The hard things you have said to me when you had on a pretty lawn tennis costume, for instance, do not affect me a bit when they are said by one who merely looks like a saucy, impudent boy."

"Well, Ciss, when are you going to get at mending that tire?"

"I—I—I—don't know anything about tires," sobbed Cissie.

Cissie had bent her head upon her hands, which rested on the saddle of her cycle. It was quite evident that she was in tears, and Jack, waiting for a reply,

Sales Talk

With Hood's Sarsaparilla, "Sales Talk," and show that this medicine has enjoyed public confidence and patronage to a greater extent than any other proprietary medicine. This is because it possesses greater medicinal merit and produces greater cures than any other. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that Tells the Story.

All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its superlative medicinal merit, is why the people have abiding confidence in it, and buy Hood's Sarsaparilla almost to the exclusion of all others.

Customers Want Hood's.

"We order Hood's Sarsaparilla in large quantities and it is the only blood purifier which a druggist can buy in large quantities without risk. It is selling very rapidly and customers who buy it once are sure to call for Hood's the next time. We believe Hood's Sarsaparilla must possess true merit in order to retain its popularity. Its sales exceed all similar preparations and its praises are often heard." L. SOMMER & SON, Springfield, Illinois. Thousands of druggists say the same.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Mrs. Utter Had Serious Kidney and Brain Trouble.

Stubborn Rheumatic Complications.

All Praise to the Great Medicine That Made Her Well.

PASO ROBLES, CAL., May 1, 1893.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co.,

Gentlemen:—I cannot speak too highly of Paine's Celery Compound. I have just purchased the third bottle, and am sure that the medicine, with God's blessing, has relieved me of a serious affection of kidney and brain trouble and a stubborn case of rheumatism.

I feel very grateful that I was so fortunate as to learn of this medicine that makes people well.

I remain,

Very respectfully, smoked on in silence. At last he said, in a gentle voice:

"Look here, Cissie, if you ask me very nicely I will take off that pneumatic tire and mend it in five minutes by the watch."

Cissie looked up again with something like her former indignation in her eyes. "I'll throw the machine into the stream," she said, "before I will ask you to mend it."

"Just as you please, Cissie," replied Jack, clasping his hands behind his head and leaning back in luxurious enjoyment of his pipe. "Just as you please. The day is my own, and I suppose you will wait here till night before you venture back home again."

"Out of the kindness of my heart I will stay here with you, not to look at you, for I shall gaze at the tops of the trees as much as possible, and not to talk to you, for if there is anything in this world I abhor it is an impudent, cheeky boy. But this lane is a great place for tramps and gypsies, and it becomes very dark at night because of the overhanging trees."

Jack smoked on, gazing up, as he had promised, at the tree tops. The silence was broken only by the sweet singing of the birds and now and then by a quick catch of the breath on the part of Cissie. Five minutes elapsed and then ten.

"Jack," said Cissie without raising her head.

"Did you speak?" inquired the young man.

"Jack," she said, "I'm perfectly helpless, and I think you have been very horrid to me."

"All right," said the young man, rising to his feet. "I will go away. But do try to get out of this lane before darkness comes on."

"Don't go away," cried Cissie. "Please forgive what I said, and won't you be so kind as to mend my tire?"

Jack picked up the bicycle, took off the dripping lamp, had the tire off and on again and pumped full in an incredibly short space of time.

"There," he said, "you see how quickly a thing is fixed when the time is not wasted in foolish conversation. Are you going any farther, Cissie? If you are, I would advise you to walk your machine over these stones."

"No," said Cissie, with a deep, quivering sigh; "I am going home as quickly as I can, and then I will burn this awful costume. I did not really want to put it on, but all the girls in our club have one."

"Cissie," said the young man, slipping his arm around the natty, tailor made coat, "the costume is all right, and don't you be bluffed. It looks as pretty as a picture and suits you down to the ground. When a girl talks kindly, it's simply one of the naughtiest costumes that ever were constructed by a tailor, but I say, Cissie, don't you think we have misunderstood each other for a long time now, and don't you think that a bicycle made for two would require less exertion than a couple of single machines?"

"I don't know but it would," said Cissie, looking up with a smile that was all the sweeter because there was just the slightest suspicion of a quiver at the corners of her pretty lips.—Luke Sharp in Detroit Free Press.

PURIFINE

Is the disinfectant that the world is talking about. In the United States its merits are becoming known. The people are using it. Purifine possesses many points in its favor over other preparations. It is odorless, and in employing it as a disinfecting agent, does not create another odor as offensive as that which it subdues. Non-poisonous too. That's an advantage—children will meddle; servants misunderstand; then there's trouble. Some one is poisoned.

Those who use it speak its praise in convincing language. Here's one from the Department of Medicine in the University of Michigan.

"We use Purifine and find it very good for deodorizing sinks and boxes, etc., and for washing sponges used about subjects for dissection. W. A. CAMPBELL, Demonstrator of Anatomy."

PURIFINE is for sale by the HOLLISTER DRUG CO. in 25c., 50c., 75c. and $1.50 bottles. The "AUTOMATIC DISTRIBUTORS" are for rental. Our Agents will call upon you and explain the merits of "Purifine" and the "Automatic Distributors."

Waiatale Departures—Passengers and Cargoes—Schooner Kaukaeouli Arrived With Sugar.

The S S Australia began loading her cargo today.

The Waiatale for Kauai was the only steamer leaving today.

Tomorrow, high tide large 7.03 a m; high tide small 6.50 p m; low tide large 0.30 a m; low tide small 1.15 p m.

She schooner Kaukaeouli came in from Hawaii this morning with a cargo of No 1 sugar, which she put into the barkentine Archer.

The bark Harvester hauled up to Fort street wharf from the stream yesterday afternoon. She will discharge coal for Wilder & Co.

In two or three months time the steamer Likie will be put into service again. She will be thoroughly overhauled and made as good as new.

At the departure of the steamer Claudine yesterday evening, the band played on the wharf in honor of President Dole who was a passenger for Maui. Quite a large crowd gathered on the wharf to see the President off and hear the band. As the Claudine passed the old battery at Kakaako, a salute was fired by a company of regulars.

The number of seamen shipped at New York during the fiscal year ended June 30th, according to the annual report of Shipping Commissioner Power, was 25,132. Of this total only 6447 signed articles as Americans, 8955 being British, 3022 Scandinavians, 5643 Germans, 167 French and 84 Italians, the others being of many smaller nationalities.—S F Commercial News.

Yesterday forenoon, passers-by noticed a boy, about twelve or fourteen years old, lying on the ground near the old fishmarket with his tongue hanging out. Some thought he had sunstroke, but on investigation he was found to be "paralyzed" drunk. After a while, he was taken to a Chinese store and stowed under the counter to sleep off the effects of the "fire-water."

The steamer W G Hall arrived late yesterday afternoon with her usual cargo of sugar, coffee, wax, hides, cattle and sundries. She was delayed at Lahaina for two hours, some of the officers having to attend the inquest over the death of a Portuguese passenger, who had died suddenly aboard the steamer on her up-trip. The Hall called at Kakaako on the way down to get several passengers for Honolulu.
