NEWSPAPER WORK IN ENGLAND.

Active Reporters in the Small Places Make Pretty Fair Wages.

The most important requisite for reporters is that known as "lineage." Daily newspapers, for example, have recognized correspondents in nearly every town of any importance throughout the country. A reporter living in one of these places, and connected with a local newspaper, may be appointed correspondent for a dozen or even more journals.

All events of importance have, of course, to be attended for his own paper, and should anything occur of sufficient interest to justify notice in the papers he represents, he writes a report and forwards it by telegraph or by train.

From each paper he receives the cost of the telegram and is paid for his report at so much per line, varying to different towns between one penny and two pence per line. Some of the London papers pay as much as three pence per line, and in the case of matters of unusual importance or value the leading provincial newspapers will sometimes pay a like amount. By this means it is no unusual thing for a smart man to make as much as five pounds in a single night.

In a good district a reporter looks forward to doubling his weekly income by "lineage" alone. Even when not the recognized correspondent of any paper, he makes a considerable addition to his earnings by "lineage." Take, for example, an interesting event coming to the knowledge of the reporter some morning. He writes out a telegraphic message and wires a paragraph to the principal evening papers. A special reduced charge is made for press messages. Up to 6 o'clock in the evening seventy-five words can be sent over the wires for one shilling, and one hundred words after 6 o'clock for the same amount. Every repetition of the message costs two pence.

From each paper which inserts his paragraph the enterprising scribe receives half a crown or three shillings and sixpence, usually the latter sum. So, taking it that he sends his news to twelve newspapers, the cost of the telegrams would be three shillings and tenpence, and if the report were used by nine out of the twelve papers he would receive (taking as a moderate estimate that he would be paid half a crown by each) £1 2s. 6d. Deducting the cost of the telegrams it will be seen that he clears nearly a sovereign by the transaction.

The risk is small, for any spic item of news told in an interesting way is always welcome to the evening papers especially. If only two papers were to insert and pay for his report he would still be a gainer.

In the large cities and towns there are men known as "penny-a-liners," unconnected with any particular newspaper, who make a decent income by keeping a watchful eye for items of news which may escape the observation of the ordinary reporter. Any terrible calamity in a district is a golden harvest to the scribe. A railway accident, colliery explosion or startling murder means pounds, shillings and pence to the reporter.

Another source of profit to the "Knights of the Penicil" is shorthand writing in the local law courts. In many towns the reporters are the only competent shorthand writers, and to their lot fall the shorthand notes which from time to time are required by solicitors and other people.—London Tit-Bits.

After the Apple.
A gentleman who some years ago had occasion to take a long journey through the Caucasus was accompanied by a servant and a guide, who told him many stories of the country—stories of danger and peril in that beautiful forest land. Once Stepan, the guide, and a friend of his had observed an apple tree well laden with fruit, some seven or eight versts from their village in the forest. It stood unclaimed of man, almost the only relic of some prosperous Tscherekees village. Stepan and his friend arranged to meet at the tree one morning early and share the fruit.

When Stepan came near the tree he saw some one already engaged in throwing the apples down. Thinking his friend was trying to steal a march on him, the irate Stepan heaped all manner of abuse on him, and at last, getting no answer, fairly yelled with rage, and began to throw things into the tree.

Then the shower of apples ceased, and with a great report a huge old bear came tumbling out of the tree, almost on top of the terrified villager. As usual in such cases, Bruin was quite as much frightened as the man, and shambled off as quickly as possible, leaving the apples to Stepan and his friend.—Yonth's Companion.

Value of Honesty.
There is no compensation for lack or loss of honor. I have seen it tried again and again. There is no substitute for it. Whoever sells a fraction of it for wealth or preferment begins to inherently degenerate. The end is death. Can you measure or weigh that word when applied to the soul? Honesty, simple honesty, is the best policy in dealing with ourselves, with our children, with our neighbors, or with things. I remember that the physician in charge of one of the largest asylums for the insane said a few years ago in his annual report: "Above all things deal honestly with the insane. Do not on any account undertake to deceive them. A liar can only work mischief with a diseased mind. The truth may be hard enough for them to bear, but a falsehood is cruelty. They need trust and confidence. Faith in others is healing." I think this is a universal law. Be honest, especially to the young and the weak.—Mary E. Spencer in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Just Plain Snakes.
A Pennsylvania man says he knows of a spot where at least 5,000 serpents are bunched together for the winter. There are no fancy snakes among them, but just common, every day snakes, such as blue racers and rattlesnakes, and he asks no particular credit for his discovery.—Detroit Free Press.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

During the process of deepening the channel at the entrance to Honolulu harbor the Dredger will be in operation night and day. At night there will be a danger signal placed on the forward derrick of Dredger about 30 feet above sea level, which can be seen by all vessels approaching the harbor. The signal consists of three red lights and a white light as in the diagram, the red lights being about 3 feet apart with the white light in the center.

All steamers crossing the bar will stop at a safe distance from the Dredger and give one blast of their whistle which will be answered by a single blast from the Dredger, to be followed by three blasts from the Dredger when the passage is clear and they can proceed.

The Tug will be on hand when not otherwise engaged to assist sailing craft in passing the Dredger when necessary.

There is an influential movement at present to revive interest in the domestic cultivation of tobacco. By special request the BULLETIN publishes a prize essay on the subject, an instalment of which appears in this issue.

The Japanese Government has nullified the clauses relating to consular jurisdiction in the treaty with Portugal, because the Portuguese Government recalled its Minister and Consul-General, appointing resident merchants as honorary consuls in their stead. Portugal perhaps has a ways and means committee at work.

HORNER'S BANKING BILL.

What is behind the notes to be issued by the Bank of Hawaii? Nothing but the securities deposited by its borrowers. Section 4 of the bill reads:

It shall be the duty of the Postmaster-General to loan the money supplied to him by the Cabinet as directed by Section 2, in sums not less than one hundred ($100) dollars, to all legal applicants upon the securities and to the amounts following, that is to say: upon the promissory note of the applicant with interest payable thereon at the rate hereinafter provided, this promissory note to be secured by deposit of a sufficient number of interest-bearing bonds of the Hawaiian Kingdom, at ninety percent of the market value thereof in gold coin, or by mortgage of real estate at not more than one-half of its taxable value at the last assessment, or by bullion at 80 percent of its market value.

It is by getting into its vault these valuable securities at the heavy discounts prescribed, probably, that "the more money drawn from it [the bank], the richer it would become," as the author claims. But, what about the borrowing public? They are required to give security on their notes, while they get not a particle of substantial security on the bank notes they receive. It is unnecessary to argue what the result would be from such a one-sided arrangement, in a crisis of business depression or political unrest. The author himself gives his whole position away, in an attempt to show that "the Bank of Hawaii, if put in operation, would do another thing heretofore thought impossible, viz.: It would reverse Grasham's currency law which reads as follows: "Whenever two or more currencies of equal nominal, but different actual values, are put in circulation side by side, the cheaper will drive out and take the place of the dearer by a law as inexorable as that of gravity."

This predicted reversal of a financial law Mr. Horner undertakes to demonstrate in this wise, his words being condensed: Suppose the bank to have loaned gold coin intrinsically worth 90 percent of its face value, the same amount of silver coin at 80 percent of its face value, and the same amount of paper money worth nothing intrinsically. As the bank is compelled to take back any part or all of this money at its face value, the author answers the query as to which would be carried back, the cheaper or the dearer, with, "All must answer the cheaper." Then he declares in triumph, "No other system of money could reverse that law and drive all inferior currency out of circulation, save the one foreshadowed in the bill now in the House for the organization of the Bank of Hawaii." So he admits that his proposed paper is "inferior" currency, to be driven out of circulation by the operation of the law that brought it into existence! That means that in a contingency sure to arrive the bank would collapse, having left in hand nothing but its own notes pushed back on it by the public. When it foreclosed on a delinquent borrower's securities, the purchase price would also be paid in its own notes. The bank notes would indeed be a depreciated currency from the start, because the law forbids the bank from dealing in exchange. The private banks would simply refuse the notes for exchange except at a discount that they could fix arbitrarily. That alone would be sufficient to put silver as well as gold at a premium over the rag money.

OFFICERS QUARANTINED.

Mr. Clarence Crabbe, Port Surveyor, and Messrs. Robinson and J. Luahiwa, Customs Officers, were quarantined on board the O. & O. S. S. Oceania this morning by order of Mr. C. B. Reynolds, Agent of the Board of Health, while passengers and two of the steamer's officers were allowed to come ashore. Mr. Crabbe protested against the landing of the passengers, but his protest went unheeded. Mr. Reynolds told him that he and his assistants had mingled with the Chinese passengers while the others had not. Mr. Crabbe said he would come ashore this afternoon and test the legality of his quarantine.

The Chinese immigrants for this port number 368—242 men, 35 women and 91 children. They have been landed at the quarantine station.

TOBACCO.

Cultivation and Preparation for Market.

Prize Essay for the American Agriculturist.

BY JUDSON POPENOE, OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY, OHIO.

I commenced the cultivation of tobacco about fifteen years ago; I therefore write from experience, and shall try to give that experience, in a short and plain way.

Varieties.—I have cultivated various kinds of tobacco, but have come to the conclusion that what we call the Ohio seed-leaf is the best and most profitable kind for general cultivation. There are other kinds of tobacco that sometimes are profitable, and do well, but most of these do not cure out so well, nor color so evenly, nor are they so fine and salable as the seed-leaf. The Havana tobacco is too small and has not the fine flavor of the imported. The Connecticut seed-leaf I believe to be identical with our Ohio seed-leaf; the difference in the climate may make a slight variation in the quality, but we plant the Connecticut seed-leaf here in Ohio, and I don't think they can be told apart. The most of the tobacco raised in this district is the seed-leaf, which is strong evidence that it is the best and most profitable kind to raise here.

Seed.—At sowing-time a few of the most thrifty stalks should be left to grow without topping, for seed. When the crop is cut, let the seed stalks stand, stripping off the leaves and suckers. As soon as the seed-pods are black, the seed is matured; then cut off the seed-heads below the forks of the plant, and hang them in a dry place, out of the reach of mice, to cure. At leisure time, during the winter, strip the seed-pods from off the stalks, rub them in the hands until the seed is rubbed out, sift through a fine sifter, put in a dry place, secure from vermin of all kinds, and it is ready to sow. I have sowed seed six years old which grew as well as new seed. I think it is a good plan to raise seed enough at any time to sow for ten years, as it is thought to deteriorate by constant raising without changing. If seed snaps or pops when it is thrown on a hot stove, it will grow.

Preparing Seed Beds.—There are two plans of preparing beds for sowing seed; the first, and best, is to spade or plow a bed in rich, dry ground, with a southern exposure; the south end of a barn is a good place, as the reflection helps to warm the ground. Where you have tobacco stalks, as you make a furrow with the plow or spade, fill one-third full with the stalks and turn the next furrow over them, and so continue until the bed is broken up. The stalks hold moisture, make the bed warm, and help to drain it. Take well-rotted hog manure and spread over the bed, to the depth of about two inches, then harrow or rake until the manure is thoroughly mixed with the surface of the bed, and all is well pulverized, and as fine as garden mold. For a bed one rod wide and four rods long take two common sized table-spoonfuls (as much as will lie on conveniently) of seed and mix it with four quarts of ashes, or slacked lime, and sow broadcast; the ashes will enable the seed to be sowed evenly; then take a hand-roller and roll the bed evenly, or place a board on one end of the bed, walk on it to press the ground to the seed, move it over, and repeat this until the bed is all pressed over. Another plan is to burn a large brush heap in a clearing, or on any new ground, in the evening; in the morning dig the ground up with the ashes on; while warm, rake the bed fine and sow the seed as above directed. Very little weeding is required where the ground is burned, as the fire destroys the weeds and grass seeds.

If the weather is dry, the plants will need watering after they are sown, (which will be about three weeks); in fact the surface of the bed should be kept constantly moist; the beds should be kept clear of weeds; do not let the weeds get a start of your plants or they will soon choke them out. If the plants grow well and evenly, the above sized bed will plant four or five acres, but it is always safe to have two or three such beds, to guard against a failure, and to supply your neighbors. The usual time to sow is from the middle of March to the tenth of April, or as soon as the ground admits of working in the spring. I have known seed sown in the fall make good plants, but do not recommend it.

Soil.—A rich, sandy, second bottom, I believe to be the best for raising tobacco, although our chocolate colored uplands, when very rich and highly manured, will grow an excellent quality of tobacco, but will not yield as much to the acre. Black river bottoms will yield more to the acre than any other kind of land, but the tobacco is not of so fine a quality; it grows larger, has coarser stems, and heavier body, and consequently, in my opinion, is not so good for wrappers or fine cut as the second bottom or upland tobacco.

Manuring and preparing for planting.—Tobacco is a gross feeder and grows rapidly when once started, therefore needs plenty of food to make it grow well. There should be a good coat of clover to plow under; if the ground is naturally rich, this alone will make a good crop, but hog and stable manure, well rotted, is what the tobacco, as well as any other crop, delights in, and the more manure the better the tobacco. The plan that I am now experimenting on is, as soon as I cut my tobacco in the fall I give the ground a good harrowing, and then drill in wheat; the ground being well cultivated all the fall, is clear of weeds and mellow and needs no plowing. In the spring I sow clover, after the wheat is off; I keep the stock off until about September, to give the clover a chance to harden and spread. I then let the stock eat as low as they want to, which drives the clover to root and causes the crown to spread; I do not suffer stock to run on the clover during the winter or spring; about the last of May or first of June I plow the clover under, which is now in blossom, and so I alternately keep two fields in tobacco and wheat, at the same time feeding the ground a crop of clover every two years; in this way I expect my land to increase in fertility all the time. The clover turned under makes food for the cut worms, and they trouble the tobacco plants but little. We now harrow thoroughly, following in the same way that we plow, to make the soil lie flat and not drag up; next the roller is put on, and after the ground is well rolled it should be again harrowed, and, if cloudy, rolled again. Make the ground in the best condition possible, so that the roots of the tobacco will have no trouble in penetrating the soil and searching for food. My plan is to furrow east and west three feet apart, north and south three and a half feet. I plow the tobacco both ways, but do all the hoeing, suckering, etc., north and south. Some mark out the ground three feet each way, but I think it is too close. If the tobacco is large, three feet does not give room to work among it conveniently. I mark out the ground with a small one-horse plow, going east and west first, finishing the way that I make my hills. The usual way to make the hills is with the hoe, making the hill where the furrows cross each other, drawing the dirt into a hill about as large as for covering corn or potatoes. With the flat part or back of the hoe press or flatten the hill down to the level of the surface of the ground, taking care to have it clear of clods or rubbish. I generally make my hills with what we call a jumping shovel—the frame of a single shovel-prow, made light, with a shovel about eight inches square, put on in the place of the common shovel. Hitch a steady horse to this, start him in the furrows, dip the shovel in the middle of the furrows, and raise it, depositing the dirt at the cross of the furrows. Have a hand following to level and pat down the hills, and take out clods. In this way I made, with the assistance of a boy fifteen years old, about fifteen thousand hills in a day, while with the hoe alone three or four thousand is a good day's work.

ONE MILLION IN A PILE.

The Moorish palace now being erected in the Midway Pleasure at the World's Fair grounds will contain one remarkable attraction—a million dollars in gold in one pile. The palace is to be 200 feet square, built of iron and wood and covered with staff. It will be a reproduction of the Alhambra and will look out on a Moorish garden. Muscular men with muskets will guard the pile of gold.

B. Hoffman of Vienna, a director of the company that is putting up the palace, while on the ground lately was asked, "What will you do if somebody makes a rush for the gold?"

"Our guards will repulse any attack that is made," he said. "But we will be ready for the worst. We will have things fixed so that by merely pressing an electric button we can dump the entire pile of gold into a burglar-proof vault."

THREE native girls were brought before the Police Justice this morning charged with disobedience to parents. Consenting to be good in the future and mend their ways, they were discharged.

The general verdict of the many tourists who have laved in the blue waters of the Pacific, as rolled up to the doors of the Long Branch Baths, of which Col. Jas. Sherwood is proprietor, is that the bathing facilities are excellent.

The trial of Dr. John Arthur Irwin at New York, on a charge of having performed an illegal autopsy on the body of Washington Irving Bishop, the mind reader, ended in a disagreement of the jury. They stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal, and Judge Fitzgerald discharged them.

The Scotch flint stone landed from the British ship Benmore was used in a portion of the macadamizing of Queen street, below Fort street. THE Occidental & Oriental Steamship Company, W. H. Smith, Commander, arrived yesterday at 4 p. m. from Yokohama, making the passage in 10 days, 6 hours and 35 minutes, and reports as follows: Left Yokohama, July 16th at 10:33 a. m.; had fresh easterly winds and fine weather the entire passage. The Oceanic is expected to sail for San Francisco this evening.

SUPREME COURT.

The suit of Col. S. Norris against Madame Emily de Herblay for $3000 debt on a bond furnished some time ago, when it was attempted on the part of the defendant to place the plaintiff in bankruptcy, to prevent his disposal of his property while her suit on an old claim was pending, is on trial by a foreign jury before Judge Dole.

Col. Norris the other day lost his suit against the same defendant for $10,000 damages on account of the bankruptcy proceedings. The whole of the morning was consumed before a satisfactory jury could be collected, as the plaintiff barred all who had sat on the previous case. A. S. Hartwell, F. M. Hatch and J. M. Davidson for plaintiff; P. Neumann, L. A. Thurston and W. F. Frear for defendant.

FOREWARNED.

Information was received at the Police Station this morning that a che fa bank owned by a Chinaman was in full swing on an extensive scale at Kamoilili. Police officers Louis Touissant and David Kaapa immediately set out on horseback for the spot. When they arrived at the place they saw a large crowd of people, mostly from town, lounging around but not a che fa ticket in sight. It is presumed by the officers that some one had forestalled them and warned the bankers. The scene at the place was similar to that seen every day at the upper end of Maunakea street. The supposition is that the city was getting too warm for them and they have taken to the suburbs, having runners on horseback.

THE JAPS.

A late Japan Weekly Gazette contains the following: "The Japanese in Honolulu, it would seem, are in no particular hurry to return to their native country, but are pushing on to pastures new. Our Honolulu exchanges inform us that 24 had lately taken passage for San Francisco, and the same paper remarks that the emigration to the United States has been great of late."

THE LEGISLATURE.

FIFTIETH DAY.

WEDNESDAY, July 27, 1892.

Morning Session.

The Assembly convened at 10. Prayer by the Chaplain. Reading of minutes by Clerk and Interpreter. Minutes approved.

The President appointed Rep. Ashford and Noble Macfarlane to serve on Horner's Banking Bill.

Rep. Waipulani offered a resolution that, from information received it was reported that the deputy sheriff of Ewa had obtained some tins of opium, but on examination the contents revealed only dust. Resolved, therefore, that a select committee be appointed to investigate the matter. The introducer made argument to the effect that a select committee was necessary as the Opium Committee were slow in their movements.

Noble Pua objected also to reference to the Opium Committee, they were so slow in their movements that it would seem as though they were stupefied with the stuff they handled. He favored reference to a select committee.

Rep. Kaui said that he was surprised at the introduction of the resolution. The deputy sheriff in that district would feel like venting his wrath on him because he would believe that he was cognizant of the introduction of it before the introduction. Do know something about the transaction and consider it should be investigated.

Rep. Bush favored investigation and would be pleased to learn if we are in the last days. The Bible statements are now being proved. There are miracles being daily performed. In Ewa they have put in a weak officer; I hear that the Marshal and his friends drove up here lately bringing opium up in an express wagon.

Rep. Josepha had no confidence in the workings of the Opium Committee. There is something wrong with that committee. Did not wish to be a member of any select committee; had no scent for opium, but did favor the resolution as presented.

Rep. Smith said that he was in favor of a most thorough investigation of the matter, but it seemed to him that the Opium Committee could control the subject if they only worked.

Noble Marsden said that he as a member of the committee was attending to the matter, but at the same time he believed that the result would be, as in former times, a large bundle of documents, which were only mysteries.

Noble Walbridge said that the Opium Committee of which he was a member, had not had a meeting for several days, yet there was attention being paid to the subject by individual members of the committee.

Rep. Smith said that there were people high in society and high in power who were assisting the traffic. He was opposed to license or the privilege of opium selling in any form. The idea of licensing was only the fulfillment of the thought of "letting things go to the devil and be done with it." He believed that there was something radically wrong with the foundation; the chief officers who had charge of this matter were shirking their duty or else were in with the people who were dealing in this deadly drug.

Rep. Bush moved that a special committee be appointed and he wished to be on the committee. He knew of a person who was peddling opium all over the country.

Voices—Who is he? Why don't you have him arrested?

Rep. Bush—That I cannot do; there are several women engaged in it and she is not now here.

Rep. Kaohou from the Committee on Opium said that they had met many obstacles in the course of their investigations. People who had promised to assist were very dilident in supplying reliable information. It was uphill work to obtain anything like a regular meeting. He had no objection to have this matter referred to a special committee. The resolution only refers to one tin of opium which by some jugglery has been transmogrified from opium to earth, and it could without any objection on his part be referred to a select committee.

Rep. Smith offered an amendment the following: "That the resolution be referred to a select committee to examine into the facts and report and also to examine into and report upon the general subject of the introduction and use of opium in the Kingdom and report recommendations relating to the same."

On motion the amendment of Rep. Smith was carried.

The President announced that the special committee on the resolution of Rep. Waipulani would consist of Reps. Waipulani, Bush, White, Kapulu, and Noble Pua.

Rep. Waipulani gave notice that the select committee would hold a meeting at recess to get acquainted with one another.

Noble J. M. Horner gave notice of a meeting of the committee on Horner's Banking Bill after adjournment.

Minister Parker would like to have the House take a recess at this hour (11.15) on account of a Cabinet meeting.

Action was delayed by the Clerk reading answers from the Attorney-General to questions of Rep. Kapahu to the effect that: (1) In all opium cases but three police officers have received their shares of fines imposed. In the three cases one-half of the fine is retained by the Marshal for payment to the Chinese informers upon demand thereof. (2) The police have never sworn to any expenses. (3) Statement is made of officers from whom pay is deducted on account of illness, and also explanation that, if any officer is absent without leave or through sickness more than seven days in any one month half the pay allowed at the monthly rate is deducted for each day so absent. As the amount deducted in each case has never been drawn from the Treasury it could not be returned to it.

The Clerk read reply to questions proposed to the Minister of the Interior by Rep. Pua, relative to the number of, and to whom, wholesale licenses to sell spirituous liquors:

E. Hoffschlager & Co. H. W. Schmidt & Sons, G. W. Macfarlane & Co., Gonsalves & Co., Hop Hing, Quong On Kee & Co., H. Hackfeld & Co., Wing Wo Tai & Co., Wing Wo Chan & Co., Quong Sam Kee & Co., F. A. Schaefer & Co. Retail licenses had been issued to W. C. Peacock, H. Vierra, P. McInerney, Hawaiian Hotel Co., (L'd), James Olds, E. S. Cunha, H. R. Macfarlane, L. H. Dee, S. Nowlein, J. H. Lovejoy, F. L. Leslie, Yeong Young, J. W. Ricard, J. K. Miller, J. S. Canario.

At 11:40, on motion, the Assembly took recess until 1:30 p. m.

GOOD DAY'S SALES.

Sale of Seaside Lots Results in a Yearly Income to the Queen Dowager of $785.

The sale of the leases of five seaside residences at Waikiki belonging to Her Majesty the Queen Dowager took place at noon to-day, at the salesroom of J. F. Morgan. The attendance was large and the bidding brisk. The leases were for twenty years, but the sales were per annum, and resulted as follows:

Lot A—Sold to E. C. Rowe, at $160.

Lot B—Sold to Thos. Wright, at $160.

Lot C—Sold to Chas. Hustace, Jr., at $155.

Lot D—Sold to Dr. Geo. Trouseman, at $155.

Lot E—Sold to Her Majesty Queen Liliuokalani, at $155.

These lots are situated on the east side of the Waikiki church and command a good sea view. The income annually according to the sales will be $785, and for twenty years $15,700.

The residence lot at Palama with a convenient cottage thereon, adjoining the Dwight residence, was sold to C. B. Dwight for $925.

The sale of household furniture in the morning at the same place, by J. F. Morgan, was very good, everything being sold.

WOULD YOU DO IT!

If to keep up with the fashion you were asked to sing a song, Would you do it—Yes? So would I.
If upon some current topics you were asked to come out strong, Would you do it—Yes? So would I.
Some think all public matters are a horrid bore, but I like men to have opinions they are ready to stand by.
Now if ever for your Queen and Country you were asked to die Would you do it—Yes? So would I.
It's time we stopped some people from fleeing Hawaii's purse. Some Legislative blunders want sending back to nurse. Would you send them—Yes? So would I.
The plow which turn our sod up should be light and strong and true. If I said the "HENDRY BREAKER" worth more than any two, Would you think so—Yes? So would I.

INSURE IN THE Equitable Life Assurance

Society of the United States.

An Eminently Conservative and Safe Company.

FINANCIAL STRENGTH.

The consideration of first importance in judging of the condition of any financial institution (and notably of a life assurance company, the majority of whose contracts extend over long periods of years) is its surplus strength. The Equitable has, over and above all liabilities, a larger surplus than any other assurance company.

Assets, Dec. 31, 1891, $136,198,518.38
LIABILITIES, including the Reserve on all existing Policies, (4 per cent. Standard) and Special Reserve (toward the establishment of a 3 1/2 per cent. valuation) of $1,500,000 109,905,537.82
Surplus, $26,292,980.56

This Surplus remains after making provision for every obligation, on a rigid calculation of Liabilities based on the standard prescribed by the Insurance Law of the State of New York, which assumes that Assets will be invested so as to realize interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum. In addition to this, in a spirit of conservatism, the Directors of the Society, on the recommendation of its Finance Committee, have set aside a Special Additional Reserve, looking towards even a more stringent and conservative future standard of valuation than the law now prescribes.

FORTY-NINTH DAY.

TUESDAY, July 26, 1892.

Afternoon Session.

The Assembly re-convened at 1:45 o'clock and continued with the consideration of the reports of the Judiciary Committee on Bill No. 73, relative more particularly to change of the enacting clause of Bills.

After some little discussion, the majority report of the Committee was accepted (to use the word "Sovereign") and the Bill and report were made the special order of day for next Tuesday, August 2d.

Bill No. 6, to levy an internal revenue tax, (of 25 cents per pack) on playing cards was read for the third time. Noble Macfarlane was opposed to the passage of the bill although he did not wish to say anything against it. He had been considering the matter of revenue himself and believed that a far larger income could be obtained by levying a tax on plug tobacco, at 10 cents per lb. He mentioned statistics in support of his argument. He showed that a revenue of $70,000 might be obtainable from a tax on tobacco and it was eminently proper to place a tax thereon, for the manufacturers in the United States had themselves to submit to a home tax. He moved the bill under discussion be tabled.

Rep. Kaneali had doubts of the tax, if levied, being properly carried out. People engaged in an innocent game of poker might be arrested by a policeman on a charge of having unstamped cards. The Hawaiians were, as he thought, to be the sufferers; trouble even between the United States and Hawaii might ensue if this law was passed.

After some further argument the bill on motion was passed.

Third reading of Bill No. 46, relating to the appointment of a police justice for the district of West Kau, Hawaii. Passed.

Second reading of Bill No. 57, to create one police and two district justices for Hilo, and to divide that district into three judicial districts. After considerable argument, lasting over an hour, the bill was discovered by Noble Cornwell to be ungrammatical in construction and a motion to amend certain lines caused a closer investigation of the wording which resulted in the bill being referred to the author (Rep. Konohi) for reconstruction and for consideration on Thursday, the 28th inst.

At 3:50 o'clock the House adjourned.

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and that in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. Fifty cent bottles for sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Agents.
