LATEST NEWS.

The Australia Brings Dates to the 3d Inst., Inclusive.

The steamship Australia arrived yesterday from San Francisco with dates to January 3d. Following is a summary:

The European Situation.

A dispatch from Berlin, January 31st, says: Russia and the allied powers are showing symptoms of amelioration. The situation has become one of the greatest perplexity, which nothing else than some authoritative deliverance from the Czar or Kaiser can clear up. If the New Year's imperial reception pass over unmarked by explicit declarations giving assurances of peace, it will be held as certain that diplomacy has failed to check progress toward an open rupture. General Von Schweinitz, German Ambassador to Russia, has had frequent interviews with De Giers, one result of which has been the arrangement for publication of the forged documents. But judging from the tenor of the article published in the "North German Gazette," the interviews have left the situation unimproved. No decisive diplomatic issue is expected before the middle of January. After that events will develop with electric rapidity.

It is the opinion of military circles that Austria and Germany will agree upon the winter as the best time for a campaign in Poland, and that if war must be it should either commence in February or be deferred until June. While the movements of troops in Poland are ceasing forces are being concentrated in Bessarabia, and this fact leads to the belief that Russia either distrusts Roumanian neutrality or has other plans than a campaign in Galicia. The forces now massed along the Bender and Odessa lines are estimated at 85,000 men. Several army corps are already fully mobilized and stationed along the Pruth and Dniester rivers and railways converging to Roumania. The Black Sea fleet is being hurriedly equipped for active service. The formidable extent of these preparations gives rise to a suspicion that the Czar contemplates a sudden descent on Bulgaria, while acting on the defensive toward Galicia. Gregor de Wolan, recently Russian Consul at Pesth, publishes a brochure under permission of the St. Petersburg censor, predicting that Hungary will become a Russian province. The pamphlet, which is quoted by the Hungarian press, increases the eagerness for final arbitrament of war.

Death of ex-Secretary Manning.

Daniel Manning, ex-Secretary of the United States Treasury, died at Albany, N. Y., December 24th, after a life of hard work and activity. At Washington the flags on all the public buildings were placed at half-mast out of respect to Mr. Manning, and President Cleveland sent a sympathizing telegram to Mrs. Manning. The late Mr. Manning was born at Albany, N. Y., August 16, 1831.

The Crown Prince.

In an interview December 31st, Dr. Mackenzie stated that he was pleased with the improvement in the condition of the Crown Prince Frederick William. Dr. Mackenzie said that he never admitted that the disease from which the Crown Prince suffered was cancer. The only statement which he had made which could be so construed was last November, when he said the new growth was apparently cancer-like. The microscope, by the use of which alone can the nature of the disease be ascertained, so far shows that it is not malignant. The malignant symptoms manifested in November have passed away. Dr. Mackenzie said, however, that if the disease is not cancer it is certainly protracted.

Miscellaneous.

Queen Victoria has decided not to go to London at the commencement of the session, so Parliament will be opened on Thursday, February 9th by commission.

The London "Standard's" correspondent says: In an interview, December 29th, with M. Mateus, the Colombian Minister declared that neither by threat nor cajolery would his Government be induced to allow America to have anything to do with the Panama canal, even if De Lesseps failed to complete the work. They would rather do without the canal than see America complete it.

A dispatch from Massowah, December 19th, says: Last night the Italian camp was aroused by an alarm that the Abyssinians were about to make an attack. It was afterward ascertained that the Italian commander had caused the alarm to be raised in order to test the troops. The experiment showed that everything was in perfect order. The Abyssinians continue to advance.

The Ameer of Afghanistan has offered to grant amnesty to and restore the property of all refugees of the past nine years who will return to Cabul, with the exception of the Barakizle tribe.

The Servian Ministry has resigned. The resignation has been accepted by King Milan. The retirement M. Risties is considered a check to Russia.

All vessels, pontoons and tugs belonging to the Austrian Navigation Company have been ordered from the lower Danube to return to the Save River for the winter. This is an unusual precaution.

It is stated that the Pope has instructed Archbishop Walsh and other visiting Irish priests to adopt a conciliatory attitude toward the Government in Ireland.

A passenger train collided with a snow-blocked freight train near Madrid December 29th. Several persons were killed and other seriously injured.

Smith and Kilrain met in the office of the "Sporting Life" December 22d and agreed to let their fight stand a draw.

Prince Ferdinand of Serbia has summoned all the Generals of his staff to attend a war council to be held in Sofia.

The Bulgarian Chamber of Deputies has sanctioned the expenditure of $2,000,000 in the purchase of repeating rifles, and of $1,000,000 for forts.

The death is announced of the mother of the reigning Duke of Saxe-Meiningen.

The Russian Government has prohibited the exportation from Russia of stone used for building forts.

Hugh M. Brooks, alias Maxwell, the young Englishman under sentence of death for murdering Arthur Preller, has embraced the Catholic faith.

The Alhambra Theatre at Antwerp was destroyed by fire at midnight January 2d. The theatre was a vast structure.

Dispatches report heavy rains and floods in Italy. Many rivers are so swollen that they threaten to overflow their banks.

Goschen is working on a plan to convert the British national debt from 3 per cents into 2½ per cents.

The St. Petersburg "Gazette" says that there will be no deficit in the Russian budget for 1885.

The Hanlan-Trickett sculling match is fixed for May 3d next.

The belief is gaining ground that the Kilrain-Smith fight was a hippodrome.

Convin, the French artist, has died of starvation.

HON. S. G. WILDER.

He is interviewed in San Francisco on Hawaiian Affairs.

The Hon. S. G. Wilder arrived in San Francisco December 27th. He was interviewed by a San Francisco "Alta" reporter, and said: "With the exception of this dispute over the veto power there is nothing to disturb the political situation. The King seems disposed to accept the new order of things, and although his advisers are not of the wisest, it is altogether improbable that any serious friction between the King and the Legislature can again occur. Certain it is that if the islands cannot govern themselves in peace they will ask the United States to govern them. All classes of people in the islands are friendly to the United States, and the American flag is the only foreign flag that they would willingly pass under."

"Financially the islands are now in better condition than for many years passed. The Legislature wisely lopped off many useless expenditures in the public service, and also cut off some of the kingly perquisites. However, the King was left enough to get along on quite comfortably, as his salary, with his remaining perquisites, aggregates about $80,000 a year. That is amply sufficient to meet his personal expenses and also support his retainers and hangers-on. No attempt will be made to reduce this allowance, and if the King keeps his place he can keep his crown and his income."

"As I before remarked, the country is now on the fair road to prosperity. Fine crops are assured, and grinding was commenced last week on all the plantations. This good crop, with the recent rise in sugar, combine to add to our prosperity, and if the United States will leave the tariff alone we will be all right. True, this move of Claus Spreckels toward going into the beet sugar industry in this State is not going to help us any, but then I guess we can always find a good market for our cane sugar. I am now on my way to London to negotiate a loan for the purpose of building a new railroad. I have already two railroads, and the third will run from Hilo to Waipio, covering a distance of between sixty and seventy miles. Twice already have I visited London for this purpose, and on my last visit the money had been promised, when suddenly came the news of the revolution in Honolulu. I had to hurry home, and the capitalists becoming frightened, the negotiations failed. Now, however, confidence is once more restored, and I have been notified that I can have the money, $1,500,000. The money I am to have at 6 per cent, which is a very reasonable rate, being as low as that offered any of the railroads in this country by the English money lenders."

"Having obtained the loan, I will purchase in England the necessary rails and 191 iron bridges required in the construction of the road. My locomotives I will purchase in Philadelphia, and the balance of the rolling stock will be bought in this city."

"I will leave for New York Thursday by the first train, and will arrive in New York Tuesday evening, and on the following day will sail on the Etruria, one of the fastest of the Atlantic steamers."

"By the way," said Mr. Wilder in conclusion, "it may be of interest to mention that I have made thirty trips between this port and Honolulu, yet it was on this voyage that I first met another vessel on the voyage. It's a lovely desert of waters. Another fact is that I have never seen the bar as rough as it was at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It was simply indescribable in its roughness, and we left a big clipper ship outside that was afraid to come in."

SUGAR MARKET.

Following is the latest quotation on the sugar market from Williams, Diamond & Co.'s circular, dated January 3d:

There has been no change in the Cuba basis since November 23d, and it is still 5½c for 96 deg. test, although the value of Cuba centrifugals in New York, December 31st, was 6c for 96 test.

All foreign markets are firm, and prices continue to advance. London beets, 88 test, were quoted in our last circular at 15s 3d. On the 15th ulto. they declined to 15s 1½d, and since then quotations have been as follows: December 17th, 15s 4½d; 21st, 15s 6d; 22d, 16s; 24th, 16s 1½d; 27th, 16s; 29th, 16s 4½d, and 30th, 16s 3d. The United States markets have not yet followed the advance of foreign markets, but it seems to be only a question of a short time when prices in this country must further advance.

Our latest advices from New York of 28th ulto. show no particular change in the situation from that last advised, except that holders are firmer in their views and less disposed to sell at previous prices.

The strong position of all markets outside of the United States is the most prominent feature of the situation.

Refiners are holding off, only taking an occasional cargo of low grade sugars, that may be available at cheap prices. They are enabled to do this by moderate receipts by direct importation and light production.

Cuba is holding with renewed confidence, as English buyers will pay better prices than can be obtained in the United States.

There is some indication that the "Trust" is beginning to realize that they have allowed the market to run away from them, for they are now willing to buy at prices that were asked ten days ago, but can find no sellers. The supply of desirable grades on the spot is practically nothing, but a large line of centrifugals could be readily placed at 3½c cost and freight for 96 test. Sellers, however, appear to have withdrawn and prefer to hold for the high prices that seem inevitable.

The position of supplies in all parts of the world is so strong that sellers begin to feel indifferent and refiners are beginning to be anxious.

Total stocks in all the principal countries December 22d was 735,130 tons, against 805,300 tons last year, and against the previous weeks' figures of 736,924 tons and 823,816 tons.

London, December 22d.—Receipts at the four ports, U. K., for the week ending December 17th were 19,500 tons; deliveries, 16,500 tons; stock increased 3,000 tons. Stock 169,183 tons against 192,553 tons last year.

Our latest telegraphic advices from New York of the 31st ult. show an improvement in prices of both raws and refined.

Value of Cuba centrifugals 96 test, 6s. Market firm and advancing. Prospects good. The advance is caused by a prospect of short supplies. Granulated advanced 29th and 30th ult. ½c per lb. and is quoted at 7c.

London, December 31.—Beet, 88 test, 16s 3d. European and foreign markets strong and prices advancing.

John W. McCarthy.

John W. McCarthy, who was recently convicted of embezzling $550 of the State of California money while Clerk of the Supreme Court, was before Judge Sullivan December 30th for sentence. His attorneys moved for a new trial on the grounds that the evidence was not sufficient to warrant a verdict of guilty and because of errors of the Court in instructions to the jury. Judge Sullivan denied the motion, whereupon Attorney W. T. Baggett moved for arrest of judgment on the ground that the offense of which the defendant was extradited from Honolulu; that the indictment under which conviction was had was found since the defendant was brought back from Honolulu, and that he was returned to San Francisco under a previous indictment. Judge Sullivan took the matter under advisement and continued the case until January 6th.

On the 23d of December, while the Mariposa was at sea, Michael O'Brien, a pantryman, attacked the second steward, W. J. Barfoot, with a carving knife. The blade struck the steward in the neck, glanced downward and passed entirely through the arm. O'Brien has been held to answer for the assault.

Very many sugar planters in Demerara have abandoned the making of fine crystals for the English market and will, for the coming year, make only dark sugars for American refiners. It is estimated that over 70,000 hogsheads of sugar will be exported from British Guiana during the coming year.

The San Francisco "Alta" says: "We don't care much to annex Hawaii, but the King would find a residence in San Francisco much more to his taste than vetoing bills and licensing opium sales in Honolulu. There are also four kings here who are old friends of his, and would help to while away the time."

Three little maids a shopping went, their dresses for to buy.
Where ribbons, lace and buttons were not so very high.
"Let's go to Sachs' store," one of the three maids cried,
For there, I've always heard, the sales are boni-fide.

There has been a complaint or two that the beer sent out by the National Brewery Co. is a little flat. The beer should be allowed to stand for twenty-four hours. In drawing it the glass should be held about eighteen inches or more below the tap. A glassful drawn in this manner last evening tasted first-class. The beer improves with age.

The San Francisco "Bulletin" says: "If the present Congress concludes to subsidize steamship companies, the Pacific Mail Company will construct two fast vessels for the China line, their speed to be eighteen knots at least, equal to the best Western ocean liners. The Oceanic Company will also build one for the Australian trade in place of the Zealandia, which will be put in the Hawaiian trade. The Oriental and Occidental Company will also construct a new fast steamer and convert the San Pedro into a passenger steamer."

W. M. Gibson Talks.

In an interview with ex-Premier Gibson December 29th, that gentleman said to a San Francisco "Call" reporter that it was true that matters in Hawaii were in a very unsettled state, and that the reformers had turned plunderers, and would but for some restraining influence—possibly the presence of British and American men-of-war which may have received instructions to preserve the monarchy—make loot of the palace itself.

"But," said Mr. Gibson, "the statement that that the kanakas are acquiescing in the idea of annexation is all bosh. The white population do not desire it as a rule. Even the Americans themselves would rather preserve an independence there."

"I do not say," said Mr. Gibson, "that annexation is forever an impossibility or that such a thing will occur, but I do say that as a voluntary act of the people there, it is not an event to be looked for immediately."

With reference to the statement that Kalakaua would willingly take a ranch in California with an annuity of $5000 a year, that, too, he said, was simply bosh. Kalakaua has an estate which yields him an income of $20,000 a year where he is and it is not likely that he would be willing to give that up if there was nothing else to surrender for a ranch and a $5000 annuity.

Mr. Gibson said that he was kept informed of the true current of affairs and popular feeling at the islands by persons there who are in a position to know the facts. He regretted the disordered state of the Government, but the party at present in power was responsible for it. They had armed the mob, and now the mob was turning on them. Mr. Gibson said he would not venture to predict what was in the future.

It was supposed that Kalakaua had been virtually dethroned, but his exercise of executive authority and the boldness of his vetoes, which even surprised Gibson, show that there is now a sustaining power behind him.

Upon being asked whether he contemplated returning to the islands, Mr. Gibson said:

"Yes. That is my desire, but my friends advise me to remain here and get good rest first, and they will keep me well informed of Hawaiian affairs."

The ex-Premier has been suffering from a severe attack of bronchitis, which has kept him an invalid for some months and he is still very weak. But he hopes under the excellent care he is receiving here to recover his health and strength.

A TERRIBLE DISASTER.

The Steamer San Vicente Burned at Sea off Pigeon Point—Twelve Lives Lost.

A terrible disaster occurred December 21st at sea off Pigeon Point, by which the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's coasting steamer San Vicente was burned and twelve of her crew lost. The fortunate appearance of the Queen of the Pacific enabled seven of the crew to escape death.

Not since the terrible and fatal disaster to the steamship Pacific of the Coast Steamship line has such a loss occurred to this company.

The San Vicente left San Francisco at 4 p. m. on the 20th. She was a small steamer, about two hundred and fifty tons burthen, and had been engaged in freight traffic between San Francisco and Monterey and intermediate points. Her cargo consisted only of general merchandise and empty lime barrels. At 9:45 the mate noticed smoke coming through the leaders of the wheel gear. The Captain was immediately summoned and a hose was stretched along the deck. The engineer was ordered to stop the engines and turn the steam into the pumps, but the smoke which now began to pour through the crevices of the engine room terrified the engineer, who, although he turned on the fire-pump, failed to stop the steamer's headway. He and his assistant, with the two firemen and all the crew below, came rushing up the companionway and about the deck completely terror-stricken.

The main hatch was cleared away, but the current of air thus produced caused the flames below to burst forth in a volume that could not be stayed. The hatch was again placed in position, the ventilators were turned from the wind and an effort was made to smother the fire.

Nothing could be done, and the next morning the burning wreck went down. Out of a total of nineteen on board only seven were rescued. The fire broke out somewhere in the hold and cannot be accounted for in any way. The company places a value of $30,000 on the vessel, and there is no insurance. Although an old steamer, she had been recently built up and repaired throughout.

THE QUEEN OF HAWAII.

Daughter of brown chiefs from over the seas,
Kapiolani!
Tawny cheeked queen of the soft Polynese,
Who eat of the taro and live at their ease;
Hail and good day to your majesty, please,
Kapiolani!

Sprung from the strain of many a chief
Who paddled and swam by the coral reef,
Hail, for the Yankees hold thee lief,
Kapiolani!

How fares thy glorious consort, King Dave,
Kapiolani?
Big is the throat of Oahu's big brave,
Big be the flask his grief which shall lave,
He will drink to your health while you're over the wave,
Kapiolani!

Let dark Kalakaua for sorrow carouse,
Kapiolani!
Let him bind the dank cloth of remorse on his brow;
The head it is his, but the wisdom's his frau's;
Did it chance that in 'Frisco you met with King
Clans,
Kapiolani!

Thou comest from slopes of old Mauna Kea,
Kapiolani!
From fire hearted Mauna Loa sheer,
From craters that fill the island with fear,
From reefs where the surf foams up like beer,
Kapiolani!

With all kindly words of the voice and the pen,
Kapiolani!
We bid you be welcome and welcome again.
Sweet bread fruit of royalty, Pacific's pearl, when Will you come to this town and see the Sandwich men, Kapiolani?

Hawaii's bright daughter, touch hand and hand,
Kapiolani!
Blithe be your journeys in this Yankee land;
Soft shine the noonday test you be tanned,
Soft skip the zephyrs that you may be fanned;
You're fond of ice cream? You'll find America grand,
Oh, Kapiolani!

Something wrong.

An old farmer living near Chambersburg,
Pa., was telling a member of the Sixth Michigan cavalry how he took the invasion of the state by Lee's army. Said he:

"We'd gone to bed and I heard our dog bark. Says I to the old woman, says I, there's somebody moving around or that dog wouldn't bark that way. Go to sleep, you old fool! says the old woman. Says I, I won't do it! I tell ye, a critter or somethin' or other has got into the garden, or that dog wouldn't keep up his barking. Wall, he barked and barked, and I finally went to sleep and left him barking. I specked the brindled cow would get in and eat all the cabbages up, but I was sort o' mad at the old woman and didn't keer. I woke up about 6 in the morning and that dog was barking yet."

"What at?"
"That's what I wanted to know. I knowed it must be suthin' or other, and I went out to see."

"Well, what was it?"
"Jist about 35,000 rebels had bin stringin' along past the house during the night, and that's what ailed Bose. I knowed that dog had his eyes on critters or somebody."— Detroit Free Press.

An Unsuccessful Day's Sport.

Young Sportsman (to farmer, from whom he hired a gun and a dog for a day's shooting):
—I've lost the dog.

Farmer—The dog came home four hours ago. What's the matter?

Young Sportsman—Why, I fired eight times at a duck, which proved to be a decoy duck, without hitting it, and then the dog howled and started 'cross country. He's no good, Mr.
Hayseed, and that gun kicks like thunder.

Farmer—I should think it would kick like thunder.
Then Farmer Hayseed went around to the back yard, where the dog was gnawing an indigestible bone, and gave him a pat on the head and a couple of French chops.

A Kansas Mayores.

The mayores of a northern Kansas town, who was elected under the new woman suffrage law last week, came down to her office the other day with a Mother Hubbard on,
and as she sat cross legged in the mayors' chair the city clerk noticed that she had a hole in the heel of her stocking and that her bustle was to one side. He reported the fact to his wife, his wife told the hired girl, the hired girl told her fellow, her fellow told the city marshal, the city marshal told the mayores, whereupon the city clerk got fired and the town is scandalized. The mayores said she would wear her bustle in front, behind or sideways, and it was nobody's business. It is needless to say that the fair mayores is red headed.—Wichita Eagle.

A Smart Witness.

Lawyer Sidney Jones was cross questioning a colored female witness in the superior court of Albany, Monday, and after the witness had stood his questions until she became restive under the strain she convulsed the court room for a minute by addressing the inquisitive lawyer as follows: "Look a heah, white man, you needn't keep on axin' me so many questions over an' over 'bout the same thing; you ain't a gwine to catch me in no lie."—Albany (Ga.) News.

One Craft in Danger.

A well known retail merchant was in a bad humor one Monday morning. A friend said to him: "Charley, I am afraid the preaching yesterday did not do you much good." "It did not," was the answer. "My pastor preached against the follies of fashionable dress, and most of the ladies of his congregation are my customers."—Dry Goods Chroni-

HIS DEPTH OF WOE.

Och, Kittle, I love ye, an' faith I can't mend it,
Yer lips are so rosy, yer eyes are so blue;
With a smile that's so roguish—the saints all defend it!
That if I am ravin', the fault is wid you.

Ye childe me an' frown, yet me self it is thinkin',
More angry ye'd be wid me were I to go;
Sure, Kittle, me heart like a stone would be sinkin',
If I thought that wid more than yer lips ye said no.

Thin out on ye foolin', me darlin', nor taze me;
But end this suspinse if ye value me life—
In coorse there is many another could plaze me,
An' make, like yerself, me a true, lovin' wife.

Don't flash wid yer two eyes, I didn't quite mane
it—
Though the truth 'tis the same, an' the devil say no—
Thin come to my arrums—och, must I explain
it?—
Me socks are all out at the heel an' the toe.

There's the pig, the poor darlin', an' sure he is fallin',
Wid groanin' an' moanin'—begob it's a sin!
From mornin' till night the swate craythur is waitin',
An' no one to carry his shwill to the pin.

Thin come to me shanty, I beg of yer, Kittle;
Say yis, an' wid joy I'll be dancin' a jig;
If not for me self in yer heart ye take pity,
Och, Kittle, remember the woe of me pig!

—Charles H. Turner in New York Mercury.

Maxie's Nose.

Maxie was the little 6-year-old daughter of a clergyman who had taken great pains with her religious instruction, and had held before her the goodness of the Supreme Being, so that she should have in her mind always His kindness and mercy, as well as power. One morning her mother, passing the open door of the room in which the child was playing, saw Miss Maxie standing on a chair before the mirror, with her face close to it, scrutinizing her little phiz with great earnestness, and with a long sigh she remarked:
"I don't see how God could have given me such a nose, when He knows how particular I am."—Harper's Magazine.

The Way it Works.

"No," said the widow; "I thank you kindly for your preference and fully appreciate it, but I think one term is sufficient." "But," said the suitor, "have you considered that you owe something to me? Would you have me eke out a miserable existence merely to give you the retirement which, on the whole, you have no right to assume?" That is a view of the case which has not struck me," was the thoughtful response. "Perhaps I had better reconsider." This was years and years ago. The delightful creature has had two terms, and now her sense of duty induces her to yearn for still another.—Judge.

did you read it through?"
"I did, sor."
"And what do you think of it?"
"Well, savin' yer honor, I think it's a dommed lie, sor."—Washington Critic.

The Parson Off Color.

Red as the rose was she,
Red as the beet was he,
And the marriage service was duly read,
And readily out of the church they sped.
I asked the parson the size of his fee,
"I got a red," he answered me.
