IMPOSSIBLE DEMANDS MADE ON MANAGER ANDREW ADAMS OF KAHUKU

A Strike Ensues, but the Plantation Is in Good Shape to Meet It—Free Rooms and Board Wanted for Evicted Laborers.

Makino, the labor Pook Bah, has succeeded in getting the Japanese laborers at Kahuku to go out on strike. He prides himself on having achieved something very wonderful, but he has overlooked the minor detail that the Kahuku mill has disposed of more than nine-tenths of the crop and that the owners can conveniently close down the mill and keep it closed till next September without a cent of loss to themselves.

In the meantime there is plenty of labor, over on the weather side of the Island, to see to the irrigation of the young cane. Neither is much labor needed, for the plantation has been visited by plentiful showers every night for the last few weeks, and indications are that these will continue throughout the summer, as the regular trade winds have set in.

It was on Wednesday that a delegation of Kahuku laborers, after coming to Honolulu to confer with the Moguls of the Higher Wage Association, returned to Kahuku and proceeded to make trouble.

J. P. Cooke was at the plantation at the time, in consultation with Manager Adams, and he was present when a delegation of Japanese called on the manager, during the noon hour, and demanded that four Japanese employes on the plantation be discharged.

Mr. Adams asked them for valid reasons why these men should be discharged, but they were unable to advance any sound reasons. The best they could bring forward was that the men in question read the Hawaii Shinpo and were suspected of supplying inside information to the Planters' Association.

A DECIDED REFUSAL.
Mr. Adams then made a very decided refusal to their demands. The four men spoken of are all trusted employes of the company. They have all worked their way to good positions and are entirely above the class of laborers who are making the fuss.

One of these men has been in the employ of the plantation ever since he came to the Islands, eighteen years ago. He is a carpenter, and has a wife, family and very comfortable home. Another has worked his way to the position of assistant chemist in five years; another is a capable electrician, and the fourth is in charge of the day nursery, an institution arranged by the management for the care of babies while their mothers work on the plantation.

Return in the Evening.

As soon as the demands were denied, the delegation returned and nothing was heard from them until that evening. Shortly after six o'clock a much larger delegation, comprising the entire committee and their wives from Kahuku, called on Mr. Adams and demanded again that those four men be discharged.

Mr. Adams attempted to argue with them. He stated that the men referred to were not spies, that the plantation had no spies, and, in fact, had no need of spies. He also pointed out that he could not possibly discharge a man simply because he read the Hawaii Shinpo. The employes of the plantation had a perfect right to read any paper or publication they wished, no matter what the sentiments of its editor, and he firmly refused to accede to their demands.

Laborers Make Noise.

Then the delegation, a very numerous one, withdrew and told the members of the mass meeting that had gathered near the mill the result of their efforts. After that there was much noise, and it was not long before the mill was closed down.

The white employes in the mill hurriedly left the mill.

GOVERNOR ON THE LEGISLATURE

Chief Executive Believes That the Schools Are Crippled.

Before the Men's Club of St. Andrew's Parish last evening Governor Frear analyzed the work of the Fifth Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii, his comment on the accomplishments of the session being about evenly divided, commending the lawmakers for what he termed sincere attempts to mold the legislation to meet the needs of the Territory, and condemning them for their failure to pass several bills of importance and particularly for the neglect of the department of Public Instruction.

In dealing with what he considered the shortcomings of the Fifth Legislature, the Governor stated that he believed that "it had failed all along the line in dealing with the schools, although commendation had been expressed for the advance in the appropriation by $69,000 for teachers' salaries."

He said that this advance over the appropriation of the previous session was not sufficient to meet the extra expenses of the department, made necessary by the increase in the number of pupils in the course of the two-year period, and that it was a mistake to think that the Legislature had made sufficient appropriations for the need of the department.

The Governor declared that it would be as reasonable to think that a sugar plantation could be conducted without overseers as to consider that the school department could be maintained at its proper standard of efficiency without normal inspectors—provision for which was left out of the appropriation bill by the Legislature. He condemned the cut in the appropriation for industrial school work and the failure to make provision for medical inspection, new school buildings and a dormitory for the Boys' Industrial School—all of which he declared in emphatic terms were vitally needed.

Predicts Bad Results.

"The result will be," asserted the Governor, "that large numbers of children will be without school accommodations during the next two years. Some of them will drift to the streets and then to the reformatory, and perhaps the prison."

While avoiding a definite personal statement, Governor Frear plainly intimated that he considered the House of Representatives to be a more conservative body than the Senate, and among the examples he cited which he said tended to convince many of the shortcomings of the upper house was the passage of the bill amending (Continued on Page Five.)

IS MRS. TAFT COMING HERE?

Possibility That White House Lady May Visit Hawaii to Regain Health.

Will Mrs. William H. Taft come to Hawaii to get her health back again? Can enough influence be brought upon the first lady of the land to induce her to spend a while in the Isles of the Blessed?

Indirectly, an invitation for Mrs. Taft to pack right up and come to Hawaii has been issued. H. P. Wood, secretary of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, announced the fact to the members of the committee at the meeting yesterday, but he made little of the matter, probably on account of the fact that a representative of the press was present.

Mr. Wood has cabled to Dr. L. E. Cofer, formerly in charge of the Marine Hospital work here and recently appointed to the high position of Assistant Surgeon General of the United States, to give Mrs. Taft information and data relative to the splendid, health-giving climate which Hawaii possesses.

Dr. Cofer is known to have a great aloha for the Islands, and he will probably do all in his power to persuade the wife of the President that Hawaii is just the place she should come to. Dr. Cofer will probably do this through Mrs. Taft's physician, who will be consulted in the matter, of course.

The matter might never have been mentioned at the meeting had it not been for a casual question from one of the members of the committee when Mr. Wood was reading his usual accounts for the month. One of the bills charged up to the Promotion Committee was for a cablegram to Dr. Cofer.

"What was the cablegram to Dr. Cofer for?" asked James McLean.

"Why," answered the secretary with a smile, "I merely wanted Dr. Cofer to do a little promotion work for us. When I read the news that Mrs. Taft was suffering from a nervous breakdown, I thought how nice it would be for her to come down here to recuperate, which she undoubtedly would in short order if she came. So I cabled Dr. Cofer to give her, if possible, copies of article he himself had written regarding the healthy climate of Hawaii and other literature, verbal and otherwise, appertaining to the advantages found here by the one desiring a complete course of rest-cure. At any rate I thought it would not be a bad idea to start, if possible, the bee buzzing in Mrs. Taft's head."

The members of the Promotion Committee approved the forethought of Secretary Wood heartily.

ALAMEDA THIS MORNING.

Bringing sixty-two passengers and considerable freight, the Oceanic liner Alameda will be off port this morning about seven o'clock, according to a telegram received from Captain Dowdell. She is already booked full of passengers for the return voyage.

BILLY ELLIS RESENTS THE RESTAURANT COLOR LINE

He and Another Hawaiian Singer Could Have No Seat in a Minneapolis Cafe—Brings Suit for $25,000 Damages.

Minneapolis Tribune, April 27.—W. S. Ellis, an American citizen and a native of Hawaii, claims that the color line was drawn against him at Crombie's restaurant last Tuesday evening. He has instructed his attorneys, Hofstede & Johnson, to bring suit against the cafe company and Max Stearns, the proprietor, for $25,000 damages.

According to the attorneys for Mr. Ellis, who is the manager of the Hawaiian theater last week, and is listed himself as a baritone singer, both Ellis and a member of his company named Zablan, part Spaniard and part Hawaiian, were refused seats and service at the cafe, although the two white women with them were seated.

The attorneys state that according to their client's story, he and Zablan went to the cafe Tuesday evening with two other performers from the Princess. The women were a little in the lead and were shown seats, but Ellis and his friend were stopped by some one they supposed to be the head waiter. They were informed they could not be seated or served.

"Do you draw the color line?" Mr.

Ellis is said to have said.

"We do," was the reply.

Rather than create a scene the two men withdrew and later sought the advice of counsel.

Ellis and his company are now playing in St. Paul. He says he was in Hawaii at the time of the annexation to the United States and was admitted to full citizenship. His American name was secured when his father was adopted by an American missionary in Hawaii many years ago.

Minneapolis Tribune, April 28.—Attorneys for Max Stearns, proprietor of Crombie's cafe, who is threatened with suit by W. S. Ellis, a Hawaiian, on the claim that the color line was drawn against him, say that the man did not appear at the cafe until 11:30 at night. At that time, they assert, he was told that it was too late for him to be served with drinks.

The defense, if the case comes to trial, will claim that the matter of color was not raised until after Mr. Ellis and his party had been told that they could not be served with drinks after 11 o'clock at night. It is claimed he was then told that color made no difference.

TERRIFIED ENGLISHMEN ARE NOW SEEING GERMAN AIRSHIPS IN THE NIGHT

The Press Doubtful, but Feeds the Excitement ---Paris Barbers Strike---Manila Is to Have a Capitol.

(Associated Press Cablegrams.)
LONDON, May 21.—Stories of a mysterious airship flying over England nights are agitating the public and becoming a nightmare to the anti-German party. The press is convinced that the sensational reports can not be verified, but is giving much space to them.

MANILA'S NEW CAPITOL

MANILA, May 21.—The cornerstone of the capitol was laid yesterday, Forbes and Mena officiating. The speakers declared the ceremony to be a step toward Philippine independence.

MANILA, May 20.—The Philippine Assembly adjourned today after having passed a resolution favoring the independence of the Philippines. This was the last act of the first legislative body of the Philippines.

SPRECKELS GAVE LIBERALLY

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—Rudolph Spreckels testified today regarding his financial relations with the graft prosecution, telling for the first time intimate details of his relations with Heney and Burns. Spreckels stated that he had paid Heney $23,828, Burns $141,000, and Heney's partner, Cobb, $10,000, with $15,000 still due. This makes $175,000 that Spreckels has already spent in financing the prosecution independently of the large amount of other expenses incident to the fight.

BARBERS HAVE STRUCK

PARIS, May 21.—The barbers have joined the strike.

DENVER, May 21.—Rev. Dr. J. M. Barkley has been elected moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

THE MECKLENBURG DECLARATION.

CHARLOTTE, North Carolina, May 20.—President Taft was here today to participate in the celebration of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, which preceded that of 1776.

On May 20, 1775, a convention of Mecklenburg County was held at Charlotte and made a declaration of independence. This was the result of long-continued friction with the mother country over acts that greatly impeded the prosperity of the colony, principally composed of Scotch, Irish, English, and Germans.

LINER IN THE ICE.

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, May 20.—The Allan liner Mongolian, with five hundred passengers on board, is fast in the ice off this harbor.

THE SULTAN QUALIFIES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 20.—Sultan Mehemed V., his deputies, and the government officials today took the oath to support the constitution and uphold constitutional forms of government.

THE CONGRESSIONAL JUNKET.

Philadelphia Inquirer.—The Hawaiian Legislature has made an appropriation to defray the expense of bringing over to the Islands an influential group of Senators and Representatives to see what may be done to make a new Gibraltar out of the naval station at Pearl Harbor. The stories of deficit in the Federal Treasury are creating apprehension at Honolulu lest the work of fortification now under way shall be temporarily halted. The Hawaiian Gazette suggests that "it might be a good idea to invite the leaders of the House, and Senate, from both parties, including the Speaker and Champ Clark, and put the case of Hawaii before them as one of national significance." In bringing to bear the allurements of an extended junket, combining health, pleasure and business inducement, the gentle Hawaiians show themselves apt in the arts of lobbying.

ANOTHER CHANGE IN QUEEN'S AGENTS

J. K. Aea has again taken hold of the management of the affairs of Liliuokalani, Curtis Iaukea withdrawing yesterday. Speaking of the change Mr. Iaukea said it was true that he had withdrawn from the active management of Her Majesty's affairs. "You see," said he, "there was no use mincing matters. I had to tell the Queen some very unpleasant truths about the way her affairs had been grossly mismanaged by her former agent and when she insisted on continuing with the management in the hands of the same man I respectfully declined to have anything to do with them. I have only the best feeling for the Queen and I think she appreciates the services I have rendered her in the matter."

STRIKERS THREATEN JAP STRIKEBREAKER

Fujii, the Japanese laborer who went to work on one of the plantations as a "strikebreaker" the other day, was last night intimidated by a crowd of the strikers who threatened his life and he was compelled to go into hiding for the night. He was in a drug-store, above which he lives, on Hotel street near River, last evening, when a number of the Japanese strikers entered and began abusing him. They had been drinking to a certain extent, but were in full possession of their senses. They threatened several times to "do up" Fujii, calling him the vilest sort of epithets. Finally one of their number made a threat to kill him for his part in the "strikebreaking." Fearing for his life, Fujii ran down Hotel street and escaped. He is now in hiding.

Noise Soon Subsides.

The noise and shouting that went on while the laborers were leaving the mill soon subsided, and everything has been quiet ever since. The mill is shut down, and, as already stated, can remain so until next September without any loss to the owners.

Makino's Diplomacy.

The following letter was sent by the strike committee at Waipahu and Aiea to George Ross and E. K. Bull, in answer to the notice stating that all unemployed Japanese must vacate their houses and camps before noon tomorrow. A copy of this letter was brought up by Makino, who evidently

COMES ON FIRST VISIT TO HAWAII

Mrs. Frances K. Headlee Will Arrive From Los Angeles
on Alameda.

Mrs. Frances King Headlee, representative of the Hawaii Promotion Committee in Southern California, and one of the best lecturers in the West, will arrive here this morning on the Oceanic liner Alameda on her first visit to the Paradise of the Pacific.
Although Mrs. Headlee has been delivering illustrated lectures in the interests of the Hawaiian Islands on the mainland for considerable time past,
she has never visited here.

"To hear Mrs. Headlee pronounce the difficult Hawaiian names, to hear her enthusiasm regarding the present and future of the Islands, one would think that she was the veriest kind of a kamaaina," said W. H. Hoogs, member of the Promotion Committee, some time ago when he returned from a trip to the States. He had heard Mrs.
Headlee speak in Los Angeles, where her headquarters are located, and he was thoroughly satisfied that her work is of the highest order.

She is now coming for a first-hand knowledge of the country of which she has been telling the people, and, before leaving, will have seen all the Islands and every point of beauty and interest on them. This has already been attended to by Secretary Wood of the Promotion Committee, who has gotten busy in arranging a travel schedule for her. She will leave next week for Maui, where all the scenic spots of the island will be shown her.
Mrs. Headlee is bringing with her the picture slides which she uses to illustrate her lectures on the Yosemite and on Alaska, and before she returns to the mainland she will give talks in this city regarding these places. These will probably be under the auspices of the Hawaii Promotion Committee.

Secretary Wood's weekly letter to the members of the Promotion Committee was as follows:

The Secretary's Address.

Honolulu, May 20, 1909.

Chairman and Members of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, Gentlemen: Within the past two weeks we have received the following additions to our library of directories:
Kansas City, Mo.; Fargo, N. D.; Savannah, Ga.; Mobile, Ala.; Atlanta, Ga.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Reno, Nev.;
Buffalo, N. Y.; Topeka, Kas.; Jersey
City, N. J.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Astoria, Ore.; Idaho, New South Wales, New Zealand, Rochester, N. Y.; Boulder, Colo.; Lewiston, Idaho; Worcester,
Mass.; Hartford, Conn.; Richmond, Va.; Camden, N. J.

The manager of the American branch of Thos. Cook & Son, whose office is at 245 Broadway, New York, writes under date of May 5:
"The outlook for travel to the Pacific Coast, Alaska and Hawaii is very good, particularly owing to the exposition to be held at Seattle, and there is every prospect of a very large summer business."

The following letter shows how thoroughly the Australian and New Zealand members of the Imperial Press Conference appreciated their reception and entertainment in Honolulu:

"Canadian-Australian Royal Mail Line,
"May 4, 1909.

"H. P. Wood, Esq., Secretary, the Hawaii Promotion Committee, Honolulu.

"Dear Sir: We have been asked by the Australian delegates to the Imperial Press Conference who traveled on board the R. M. S. Marara, to express to your committee our warm thanks for the cordial way you received us on our arrival at Honolulu and the great hospitality you extended to us during our stay. All the members of our party thoroughly enjoyed the time spent at Honolulu and its wonderful charm and picturesqueness, together with your great kindness, will long live in our memory.
"We have the honor to remain,
yours faithfully,

"R. KYFFIN THOMAS,
"Chairman,

"G. W. KIRWAN,
"Hon. Sec."

Following out our plan to obtain as much information as possible concerning different celebrations similar to our annual Floral Parade, letters have been sent out to the secretaries of every known enterprise of the kind.

The manager of the York (England)
Pageant writes under date of April 29, promising to send us complete data concerning their pageant.

Mr. F. A. Rolleston, secretary of the Ponce de Leon celebration, writes from St. Augustine, Florida, under date of May 6, as follows:

"Mr. H. P. Wood, Secretary, the Hawaii Promotion Committee,
"Dear Sir: Yours of April 10 to hand
a few days ago and was gratified to learn that the fame of our celebration had spread so far and interested you sufficiently to elicit a letter of inquiry.
As we were getting out a souvenir special, I decided to wait until it was ready before replying, so I could send by same mail.

"I also received your souvenir publication, which I appreciate very highly and thank you for. I trust you will be pleased with the one of our celebration which I am sending. I am also sending with it the program and some advertising pamphlets we used prior to the celebration. Our affair is entirely different from your entertainment, but the exchange of ideas may be profitable to us both, and I will be pleased to furnish any information in connection with our recent event if you desire particulars not contained in the publications. Your committee is entitled to congratulations for the beautiful floral parade which is so artistically pictured in the souvenir booklet. It was a revelation to me and to many friends to whom I showed the illustrations. I have often heard that the Hawaiian Islands are the garden spots of the world and I can readily believe it.

"Our celebration here was very successful. We have to repeat it on a much larger scale in 1913, the occasion being the 40th anniversary of the landing of Ponce de Leon. Trust the booklets will reach you O. K. With best wishes, yours,
"(Signed) F. A. ROLLESTON."

Our chairman, Mr. Bowen, returned this week from a short trip to Maui and reports conditions on the Twin Island most prosperous. For instance, the number of automobiles in use on the island is now fifty-five, double the number in use ninety days ago.

Mr. Bowen also confirms the committee's published statements as to the character of the hotel accommodations at Walluku. The Walluku Hotel, in charge of Mrs. George Schradler, has six rooms and is a pleasant family hotel.

The Maui Hotel, under the active management of Mr. W. H. Field, has been thoroughly renovated and has twelve good rooms. Mr. Field also has fourteen rooms attractively located at the entrance to Iao Valley,
a splendid place for a summer's outing. Mr. Field has just issued a handsomenly-illustrated pamphlet descriptive of his hotels and the attractions of Maui, which should help materially in directing travel that way. Respectfully submitted,

H. P. WOOD,
Secretary.

IMPOSSIBLE

regards it as a masterpiece of diplomacy and cunning:

"Dear Sir: We beg to inform you that the Japanese laborers can not resume their work unless their request for increased wages, presented to you some few days ago, is complied with,
and that they will quit and vacate the houses, camps and premises owned by your plantation, before 12 o'clock noon, May 22, as per your notice. We have ordered the men to clean up the camps and houses before leaving.
Thanking you for your kindness and courtesy, and praying for your continued prosperity, we remain, sir, very respectfully yours."

Each letter was signed by the committee of the plantation to the manager of which it was addressed.

Jap Societies Resolve.

On Wednesday night the members of the Hiroshima and Yamaguchi Societies, representing immigrants from Japanese provinces of those names, held a meeting at which the following resolutions were passed:

1. That a committee be appointed to look into the capacity of each Japanese hotel in town, with a view to obtaining free lodging for evicted strikers.
2. That the Japanese restaurant-keepers in Honolulu be requested to feed a certain number of strikers free
as long as the strike lasts.
3. That all members of the Higher Wage Association who have homes be requested to accommodate as many strikers as they possibly can, and that those who can not entertain any strikers be requested to contribute in money to the strike fund.

So far no report has been turned in
as to how the Japanese restaurant-keepers like the idea of feeding an unlimited number of their countrymen gratis, nor how the Japanese hotel-keepers take to the scheme of filling up their beds that otherwise might be the resting-place of transient roomers, who pay in advance.

Dr. Hasegawa Rebuffed.

There was another meeting at Waialua yesterday at which Dr. Hase-gawa, the plantation physician, was present. He is a traveled and an intellectual man, and he tried to impress on those who were present at the meeting that conservative and quiet methods were the best.

This incensed some of the agitators present, and he was shouted down as soon as he began to speak. Then some rowdy shouted out that the doctor was a plantation spy and should be ejected from the meeting. Without further delay some more rowdies hustled him away from the meeting-place.

Train Takes a Thousand.

A thousand strikebreakers were taken out on the train yesterday morning to the plantations. As word had been given out that only this number would be required, there was not so much crowding as usual. When the train returned in the evening, the paying-off was done with much less crowding than heretofore, and the police had an easier time of it than the day before, when they got jammed up against the gates in their efforts to make the laborers come in single file for their pay.

Everything is quiet on all the plantations at present. At both Aiea and Waipahu many of the strikers have already given up their homes on the plantation property and have left for Honolulu. Others have been in to draw their pay and stated that they were preparing to vacate before tomorrow
at noon.

Suppress the Shinpo.

It appears that the main efforts of the agitators have been directed towards the suppression of the Hawaii Shinpo among the laborers. The Shinpo has always been very conservative in its policy and has been advocating a cessation of the strike and for the laborers to wait for a more propitious time at which to put in their requests for higher wages.

The members of the Higher Wage Association have been warned against reading the Shinpo, on pain of Mak-ino's dread displeasure, and copies of the incendiary Jiji have been spread broadcast.

The latter paper is going to great lengths of exaggeration in what it publishes concerning the strike. Yesterday morning it stated that the chief chemist of the Honolulu plantation had resigned because, as he said, it was impossible to produce good sugar without the aid of the Japanese and he would not stand for a poor grade of sugar. This is only one example of the many false statements that appear in the agitators' organ every day.

An Educated Fanatic.

Negoro, Makino's right bower in the strike agitation, is described, by a countryman who knows him well, as an educated fanatic. Negoro is a graduate of Berkeley University and has managed to get many violent ideas into his head.

Shortly after he left Berkeley to come to Hawaii the first time, he was the leader of an agitation against Consul Saito. Negoro wished to have the consul removed, and he made much noise in his attempt. When the law was passed which placed a restriction on the immigration from Hawaii to California of the Japanese, he made another big howl.

After he had made enough noise to satisfy even himself, he returned to Berkeley to take his degree. He then returned to Hawaii and stated that he would never leave until his object had been accomplished. This object apparently was to make trouble between the laborers and the planters. Mr. Negoro can now leave Honolulu with a peaceful conscience, for his object has been attained.

Soga Imported Labor.

Soga, the editor of the incendiary
Nippu Jiji, is well known to kamaa-lana here as a prominent member of the Japanese immigration company that supplied Japanese labor to the plantations for many years. His assistant editor, Tasaka, was also in the immigration company as chief clerk.

It has been said by those who know them that Negoro and Makino are fine examples of the fanatic being led by the wily grafter. Negoro is entirely under the thumb of his half-Japanese associate, and the latter is said to literally twist the Berkeley graduate round his little finger. In the meantime Negoro does the work and Makino takes the proceeds. A very fine combination and highly satisfactory for Makino.

"It is Said," from the Nippu Jiji.

It is said that a solicitor for the Chronicle goes in the camps with a sword.

That he is so timid that he cannot go without a sword.

That when the Shinpo's man goes out
he will take a revolver with him.

That they have to guard themselves because they acted as "dogs" and
"pigs" and betrayed the Japanese.

That the translations in the Shinpo of the editorials of the Advertiser and Bulletin show their unpatriotic spirit.

That the Nippu is the only defender
of the Japanese interest.

That without the Nippu's righteous fight the Shinpo and the Chronicle would betray all Japanese interests to haoles.

That the higher wage question is the most important and imminent one.

That after the higher wages is accomplished the revision of all cultivation contract system must be insisted on.

That the planters will bow down and ask their government to bring in more Japanese.

"That is right."

That the Kahuku Japanese's deter-

TENNIS DOUBLE MATCH MONDAY

Tennis Experts Will Play for Castle and Bockus Cups Next Week.

The following comes from an enthusiastic tennis fan who follows the game very closely and never misses a match, although he does not play himself:

The outlook for lawn tennis in Honolulu was never more promising than at the present time. The interest aroused by the handicap singles tournament just finished on the Beretania courts has served to create an enthusiasm that has not been equalled for several years, and the squad of regulars at the Pacific and Beretania courts is increasing daily until it is absolutely necessary that additional courts be obtained.

Too much credit can not be given Mr. W. L. Warren for his plucky finish in the handicap singles. After a grueling match with Mr. Gee, the result of which was always in doubt until the last point, with but thirty minutes rest, he met and defeated "Sonny" Cunha, one of the club's strongest players, thereby retaining his right to the Wall trophy. He played a steady, consistent game throughout, and certainly deserved the first honors.

Edwin S. Gee of the U. S. pay department, a recent acquisition to the Beretania club, is improving daily and will certainly be a factor in any future tournaments. He entered the handicap event with but two days' preparation, after a six months' absence from the game, and that he worked himself up to the semifinals is sufficient evidence that he has class. In his matches against Captain Low and Warren he established a reputation for gameness that will be hard to dispute, for although all in, he struggled through to the finish, playing almost entirely on his nerve. When he rounds to form he will undoubtedly be one of the most dangerous men on the Islands, he having met and defeated such opponents as Beasley, of the Royal Artillery, of Hongkong, and Norrie, the Shanghai expert, the latter a three-time winner of the championship of the Far East.

Captain Low of the U. S. Marine Corps is also a scratch man, a steady and conscientious player, and a player who is in the game from start to finish. Playing from the left hand, he has all the advantage of a southpaw ball-tosser. He is equally strong at the net and the base line.

Cunha's ability is too well known to require special mention, as, in spite of the handicap of superfluous avoidu-pois, his unerring judgment and instant sizing-up of an antagonist's weak points, his easy handling of difficult shots and pickups, more than compensate for his weight. He is undoubtedly the easiest and most graceful player in the Islands.

Alan Lowrey is regarded as the coming player of the club. He has been too much taken up with the wind-up of the baseball season to devote sufficient time to the game to keep in form, but a few weeks' practise will bring him up very near the top. He plays the hardest drives and smashes of any of the club, and when playing well will defeat the best of them. At present his playing is marred by inconsistency, and he is inclined to be erratic, but these defects will certainly be remedied by practise.

After a great deal of wrangling, the much-talked-about handicap match in doubles has been arranged and will take place on the Beretania courts, commencing May 24.

The sportsmanlike and generous spirit of Messrs. Bockus and Castle in donating two valuable cups for this contest can not be too highly appreciated, and serves as an additional stimulus to the game.

Four exceptionally strong teams have already entered, including Warren and Anderson, Lowrey and Gee, Cunha and Bockus, and Low and Castle. Any of these teams have a perfect right to win, and there will doubtless be many fiercely-contested matches before the finals have been reached.

The courtesies of the club have been extended to all who are interested in tennis, and play will commence at 4:30 p. m. sharp next Monday.

TROUBLE AMONG BASEBALLITES

Riverside League to Continue—Another Organization Being Formed.

Minor baseball seems to be in a bad way just at present. There are two factions consisting of three teams of the original Riverside League, and a new league that is being formed with the other two Riverside teams as a nucleus.

At a meeting of the Riverside League recently the president resigned and two of the teams went with him. They were the C. A. Cs. and the J. A. Cs. The direct cause of disruption was said to be a matter of whether the by-laws should be amended by a three or four-fifth vote.

But since that it has come up that this was not the real cause by any means. There was internecine warfare going on. There were petty jealousies and a whole lot of stuff that ought never to come into a league of sportsmen.

One grouch was on the style of ball used. Some complained that they were being railroaded into using a make of ball they did not like. Others had other equally futile grouches to hand out and the consequence is that the good old Riverside League, that has done so much for baseball here, though still standing and strong, will probably have to take in two new teams.

There was a meeting of the league yesterday at noon in the offices of A. L. C. Atkinson, the new president. At this meeting it was decided to hold another meeting at the same time today and to send written requests to the other two teams to be present. It was also unofficially agreed that the matter of the vote should be arranged to suit the other two teams should they wish to come back in the league. In the meantime another meeting was going on at which the C. A. C. and J. A. Cs. were represented. This meeting was for the formation of a new league to play on new grounds. The Chinese and Japanese teams both swore allegiance to the new organization, so there seems little chance of their returning to the fold.

Three Teams Stick.

The three Riverside teams, the Palmas, Aalas and Chinese Alobas have agreed to stay by the old league and to make a success of the series this summer.

At the meeting yesterday there were two personal applications for admittance to the league, the same being held over until the meeting today as it was decided to give the other two teams every chance to make a compromise.

Whatever else may happen the Riverside League will fish out the same good brand of baseball that they have always done at Aala Park and the fans who are used to their usual Sunday afternoon entertainment will not be disappointed.

Intentions Unknown.

What the other league intends to do it is hard to say. Precedent in every game from golf to yachting shows that an offshoot organization founded on a basis of sore heads has never prospered for very long. It is possible that they will get three live ones to go in with them and do well. At any rate there seems to be plenty of room for more than one league in the neighborhood of the river.

Those who are figuring on promoting the new grounds state that there is nothing decided yet and that they must see their way clear before they put money into the project. If their intention is to form a new league and buck the Riverside League with games played in an enclosure where they charge admission, they might find out that the Honolulu public prefers the free show.

Nobody, however, seems to have any very definite ideas or any definite information. The only thing certain is that the Riverside League will continue, but of what teams it will consist outside of the three standbys, it is hard to say. Minor baseball is going through one of those inevitable crises that are all for the good of the game when they are over.

Sport Notes

The interscholastic league schedule will be played out as first made up. The Saints will play the High School tomorrow at Alexander field at 2 o'clock, and the Kams will play the Puns on the Kam diamond on Monday. The postponed Saint-High School game will probably be played off on Monday too.

Last night the graduate division of the Kalihl Boys' Club defeated the senior division of the Palama Boys' Club, in a game of indoor baseball, by a score of 13 to 12.

There will be a meeting of owners of small yachts on Tuesday night at the Commercial Club at 8 o'clock. The object of the meeting is to talk over possible handicaps for the Cooper Cup race at Pearl Harbor on June 6.

PINEAPPLE MEN MAKING GOOD BY ADVERTISING

How Dealers Who Were Shy of the Local Product Came to Stock Up—Value Created for Trade-Mark Name.

Printer's Ink.—The Hawaiian pineapple growers were a little known a few years ago as if they lived on the Fiji Islands. They marketed their goods with the same difficulties and the same liberal concessions and uncertainty as do many thousands of other growers of one thing and another at the present time.

Possibly if the panic had not occurred they would still be growing and canning pineapples in the same way. But necessity was again the mother of invention. The pineapple growers are almost ready to believe now that the situation which the panic forced upon them was a blessing in disguise.

The Hawaiian pineapple growers have a beautiful proposition. They grow smooth cayenne pineapples, which are acknowledged the best. Then with sugar made on the same island, and tin cans also manufactured there, they can these pineapples at the "psychological moment," when they are most luscious and ripe. As a consequence their product has the very first requisite of a successful advertising proposition—exceptional quality.

But up to the time of the panic nobody knew of these delectables except a portion of the Pacific Coast and a few scattered patrons throughout the country. The Hawaiian growers were themselves disorganized and sold their cans without labels to such jobbers as could be persuaded to take them. It naturally happened, of course, that the jobber put his own brands very prominently on the cans, and it was only by his gratuitous kindness that the word "Hawaiian" got on, if at all. The public knew it was getting good pineapple, but that it was Hawaiian pineapple only a few wise ones understood.

For general purposes of economy the Hawaiian pineapple growers a few years ago got together and organized. They planned to can their product more economically, and they also planned to increase their crops from 200,000 to 400,000 cases per year.

But when the panic came on they faced a peculiar and embarrassing situation. Here were 400,000 cases of pineapple waxing ripe in the fields, while even the ordinary dependable market of 200,000 cases was being seriously threatened! The panic froze the market into icy rigidity before their eyes. Obviously the situation demanded quick and decisive methods. An outlet must be found for the extra output, or the growers would be seriously embarrassed.

Many meetings were held, and many plans listened to. Then an advertising campaign was decided upon, and a cooperative advertising appropriation made. The public was eating the so-called fresh pineapple coming from Cuba, South America, etc. (picked green and often of inferior grade), and canned goods from the Bahamas and Singapore, somewhat inferior, while the Hawaiian growers had the choicest pineapple to offer, packed ripe, and canned with the purest sugar. The real flavor of the pineapple was hardly known except to those more wealthy who could pay high prices for choice pineapple. Why not tell the public of the exquisitely flavored pineapple possible to buy in cans at the panic price or less than the inferior "fresh" fruit?

The growers have a natural community of interest, for the name Hawaiian is a natural monopoly, an enforced, exclusive trade-mark. They need only advertise "Hawaiian" as an index to good pineapple, and they build up their prestige mutually.

For three months this magazine campaign has been running, and with the result that jobbers are cabling and worrying about shipments, and there remains no shadow of doubt as to what is to be done with the 400,000 cases. The result of the advertising has astonished even the most optimistic of the growers. A six months' campaign was planned, and though it is but half completed, the results are as pronounced as the optimistic ones expected of the whole six months' campaign. Not a case could be procured from any New York city brokers recently.

The advertising campaign began in January, with full and half pages in such periodicals as the Ladies' Home Journal, Saturday Evening Post, Woman's Home Companion, Youth's Companion, Delicater, Everybody's, Munsey's, McClure's, Outlook, Sunset, Overland Monthly, Pacific Monthly, Good Housekeeping, Harper's Bazar, World's Work, McCall's, Table Talk, Boston Cooking School Magazine, Ladies' World.

A booklet was issued, well illustrated with suggestive pictures of pineapple and giving recipes for using it in the three forms—solid, sliced, grated and crushed—and 500,000 of them were distributed at the request of either jobbers, retailers or consumers, within a very short time. A new edition of 200,000 more is being gotten out.

A large sheet showing the ads running in the magazines, and arguing for stocking in the line, was sent to 150,000 dealers, and the response was promptly felt.

Previous to the advertising campaign a dozen jobbers in the United States were selling from 3000 to 20,000 cases a year—with no advertising to help them. This showed that there was a healthy natural demand which could be readily stimulated. American people are eating more and more pineapple each year, and have a pronounced liking for it.

The Hawaiian Pineapple Growers' Association does not advertise any one brand—there are still some of its products being sold by jobbers with their own brands on them. But they are all labeled "Hawaiian," however insignificantly, and the idea is to develop demand for Hawaiian pineapple, as distinct from any other.

The association is made up of eight growers and packers, and the advertising campaign in the magazines has demonstrated so much that it is very likely to be kept up permanently.

The success of this campaign is most convincing proof of the efficacy of the magazines in creating demand and marketing goods very expeditiously. Previous to the campaign the national distribution was very uneven and reluctant. But three months of advertising effort was necessary to stimulate the trade to real activity. Jos. Richards and staff prepared the campaign.

SCENE FROM "THE TOWN CONSTABLE," AT THE ORPHEUM TONIGHT.

"The Town Constable," leading unless they realize that the melodrama of the cheap theatrical troupe, with its thrilling, impossible adventures and decided touch of vulgarity, is forgotten in the modern acceptance of the term, as "a musical reading."

Nothing could be more dignified and impressive than Richard Strauss' arrangement of Enoch Arden, and those who have heard the music, and in some part the explanation of its themes, are eagerly looking forward to next Tuesday evening, May 25, when Miss Margaret Clarke and Mrs. F. T. P. Waterhouse will give the melodrama in its entirety, at the home of Mrs. J. A. McCandless.

Patrons of the Art Theater continue their attendance with unabated regularity, and the new opposition shows do not seem to have affected the prosperity of the "old standby" in the very slightest degree, because the "Art" always carries the newest and best films obtainable. The program tonight is one of rare promise, the feature films being "The Elf King" and "The Miniature Circus." The former is colored, and depicts a famous Norwegian legend, while the latter should be of especial interest to ladies and children, who prefer the matinee performances. In addition to the above, there are some highly amusing comedy pictures, while a new illustrated song will be rendered, entitled "The Preacher and the Bear."

Pleasing specialties will be given by the Osborns and Ray Collins. At the matinee tomorrow afternoon the farce comedy "Royal Reception" will be given, and is a play that is sure to please the little ones. Children under ten, ten cents, including a reserved seat and adults twenty-five cents. This will be the last matinee and all the little ones ought to see Sophie and Gordon Osborn.

FRIDAY MAY 21

A LABOR UNION DESPOTISM.

The real spirit of the strikers was shown at Kahuku yesterday by their demand for the discharge of four Japanese whom they accused of reading the Sheba papers. This was an example of sheer labor-union tyranny, the kind that invades public as well as private rights and assumes an unlawful control over both employer and employed. Especially does it show how the strikers would interpret a victory and to what despotic use they would put the power of control such a victory would give them. One can see from this Kahuku incident, and others of a similar character, that the agitators have taken the extreme attitude of labor-union fanatics; the pose of active hatred toward "scabs," of the boycott, of intimidation; and that, if they should win the present fight the governing hui would use the high hand in all future dealings between employer and employed.

Surrender to forces like this would end the prosperity of the sugar business and bring about a permanent decline in stocks. Having the laborers disciplined and the employers cowed, demand would be piled on demand and the air would never be quite free from threats and suspicion. Nor would the tyranny of the union confine itself to plantations. Every employer of Japanese would feel it. Every house servant and yardboy, every clerk and day laborer would be enrolled in the "organization," his hours regulated by the central hui, his days off fixed, the exact scope of his duty marked down, his wages regulated and enough of them turned over to the Makino oligarchy in the form of dues to make that body a far more powerful institution than the Planters' Association, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Merchants' Association combined.

This strike, in its final analysis, is not one for the rights of labor against the arrogance of capital; it has become a fight of the people against the despotism of labor agitators, and it must be won by the law and order elements if the prosperity of Hawaii is to continue.

PRESIDENT, SENATE AND TARIFF.

President Taft has expressed himself recently as not well pleased with the attitude of the Senate toward the tariff bill. The members of the Finance committee have consulted the President from time to time regarding certain features of their substitute and, for the provisions relating to imports from the Philippines, the proposed customs court and the maximum-minimum clause, they have won his unqualified approval. With regard to specific rates, however, Mr. Taft has not been consulted and the Senate leaders have contented themselves with general assurances, to the President, of their sincerity of purpose so to frame the schedules as to command his approval. It is not at all clear whether President Taft's desire to commend all that was commendable has been misconstrued, or whether the erroneous impression has been gained that his satisfaction with certain features of the measure would offset his disapproval of the schedules.

In discussing the tariff recently with friends the President has frankly deplored the fact that the men on whose assistance he should be able to rely, to insure the adequate revision of the Dingley rates, are so unwilling to subordinate their local interests to the national welfare and are selfishly insistent on the maintenance of high duties on those commodities most produced in their respective States.

The President is keenly alive to the importance of expeditious work by the two houses of Congress; he realizes to the full the embarrassment to the business interests of the country which is the inevitable concomitant of uncertainty regarding the tariff rates; but he is no less appreciative of the fact that the present tariff revision bill, or should be, of a character to forestall all reasonable agitation for another readjustment of the schedules for a decade or two longer. Under these circumstances he places the interests of the consumer for that period against the immediate necessities of the business man and from the comparison reaches the conclusion that, for purely economic reasons, it is better to prolong the present situation, even by a veto, if that be necessary, than to have written on the statute books an inequitable tariff act.

Senate leaders are not impressed by the President's dissatisfaction, and they go so far even as to assert that only those who are making the tariff can form an adequate idea of the difficulties or as to the form the measure will assume after it has been submitted to the fire of the conference. However that may be, the Chief Executive has a keen suspicion that the attitude of loyal Republicans, which agrees with his own, will promote the ultimate formulation of a measure which he can approve.

A cable from Honolulu, Hawaii, says that everybody in Honolulu was complaining about the cold weather which prevailed during the last two weeks of March. The cable says that on several mornings the temperature has dropped as low as 59 degrees. During February the average temperature was 71.9. They must be thin-blooded people, indeed, if a temperature of 59 chills them.—Louisville Farmers' Journal.

That is intelligent comment. Long residence here thins the blood and makes a temperature of 59 degrees seem chilly. That is why a newcomer perspires in white negligee while an old-timer puts on a light overcoat.

After the retirement of John D. Rockefeller from the active management of the Standard Oil trust, the late Henry H. Rogers became the directing mind of that vast industry. Rogers was a self-made man and began his business career by delivering papers for a weekly rural newspaper. For many years his name was eclipsed by that of Rockefeller, but the Standard Oil investigation brought him into the limelight. It cannot be said that he made a good impression on the stand at that time; his lack of tact in dealing with opposing counsel made one of them a governor and harmed the interests committed to his care; but the people got their eye on him for the first time and fame followed.

There is a clue to the Woodruff opposition in the Senate in a stray item about the remark of the two Pennsylvania Senators, Oliver and Penrose, that they did not know him. Woodruff hails from Philadelphia and his nomination is credited to his State. But in matters like this, the Senators representing the State in Congress usually want to be consulted and, feeling themselves snubbed, Oliver and Penrose may have held up the nomination to assert their dignity.

There seems to be a feeling among strikers that, if they leave one plantation they can easily find work on another. But the wish, in such cases, is father to the thought. We have no reason to regard it as likely that other plantations will assist the trouble-makers by employing men who want to earn money for the strike maintenance fund. The sugar estates are not playing any part in the agitator's game.

Even the most ignorant laborer can hardly claim that a plantation is obliged to give him a home to maintain a strike in. Shelter and fuel are a part of the wages of plantation labor, not a reward for tying the place up.

The Kaiser's transport which spied on the river Humber will probably turn out to be a North sea excursion boat with a picnic on board and a "leddie Cherman band" for dancing purposes.

The Filipinos demand independence, but they say nothing about repaying the half a billion dollars or so that it has cost the United States to put them in the way of getting it.

If Mrs. Taft comes here for a rest cure, for heaven's sake let her get it. No prominent visitor in the past has ever had a chance.

The Sultan swears that he will uphold the constitution. He knows that his own will suffer if he doesn't.

All Paris needs to do to get the best of the barbers' strike is to change the fashion to beards and long hair.

Britannia may rule the waves in song, but she seems to be betting on the other fellows in the poolroom.

Wanted—Board and lodging for six thousand strikers. Must be free. See Makino.

Letters From the People

OLD HONOLULU DAYS.

Boston, May 8, 1909.
Editor Advertiser: Some time ago an inquiry was made in the Advertiser respecting an old building on the makai-Waikiki side of Chaplain lane and Nuuanu avenue.

In 1842 there stood on that spot the finest private dwelling in Honolulu. It was a large, two-story house, with wide verandas, located in the midst of a large plot of land, well cultivated and surrounded by a high stone or adobe wall, so as to give complete seclusion from all outsiders.

It was the residence of Mr. Henry Skinner, an English merchant, the founder of Janion, Green & Co. later. In those early days there was but little social intercourse between the American and English residents, and they seldom met.

Not long since there was another inquiry about a mound at the corner of Punchbowl and King streets, thought by some to be a relic of the old tomb of royalty.

The tomb of the royal family, Liholiho and wife, Kaahumanu and Kinau, was a small structure built of coral which stood alone, some way from any street, in the palace grounds, on the right-hand side of the main drive to the entrance to the palace from King street. At that time, 1842, it was quite a distance from any street.

As I remember it, it had no window; hence any light inside could not be seen on the outside. Thence Dr. Judd retreated in the Lord George Paulet reign of English rule over the Islands. The Doctor was appointed one of the commission to act ad interim during the appeal to the British home government. The loyal Doctor soon found his position most uncongenial politically, socially and morally, and resigned the office. His noble work in the tomb keeping the public archives secure is a matter of history. Yours truly, GORHAM D. GILMAN.

Around the Police Station

Because Manager Hertsche of the Young Hotel refused to prosecute, the case against Roy M. Baker, the young man whose meteoric career has a lot of interesting data attached thereto, was not pressed yesterday morning in Judge Andrade's court. The fact that Mr. Hertsche was content, after securing his money, to let the matter drop, was severely commented on by Prosecutor Brown and by Judge Andrade, the latter stating that some of these days a complainant who failed to put in an appearance in court would be cited for contempt. Brown also said that he would not look with favor on Mr. Hertsche if he wished at some future time to get out a warrant under similar circumstances.

Baker still protests that he is all right, and that everything is all right with regard to his financial condition. He was merely "temporarily embarrassed" according to a statement made. Besides having been identified by a local barber as a former professional bicycle rider in Chicago, he is now said to have been a chauffeur and follower of race-tracks in the States.

Charles A. Stanton, who has been identified with the matter by the afternoon papers, called at this office last evening to state that he knew nothing of Baker beyond an acquaintanceship of a few days, and that he did not endorse the man's check. Mr. Stanton is himself a recent arrival in the city, but is connected with a reputable business firm here and his dealings with Baker were merely commercial. Baker represented to Stanton that he wished to make an investment of a large sum of money, in the neighborhood of $15,000. Stanton states that he will lose no money as the result of any connection with Baker.

The local business man who endorsed Baker's check may yet bring criminal charges against the latter. It is also rumored that the Federal authorities are looking up Baker's history in regard to the alleged bigamy matter. The management of the Seaside Hotel last evening refused to make any definite statement as to whether Baker had paid the board bill for two weeks which it was said he owed, merely saying that they would be satisfied with the money when they got it. The impression was conveyed, however, that Baker had not settled his bill, but that the management had come to terms of agreement on the matter with the man who has several black marks against him.

Sailors Lose Out.

Shipping Commissioner Almy yesterday investigated the charges made by members of the ship Dirigo's crew against the "grub," and found out that they were groundless. The investigation was held on board the Dirigo, J. M. Levy, the King street grocer, accompanied Almy, and, after an investigation, stated that the food taken on board the ship at Delaware Breakwater was all right and that it appeared to still be in good condition. What small differences there were with regard to the slop-chest account were quickly settled by Almy.

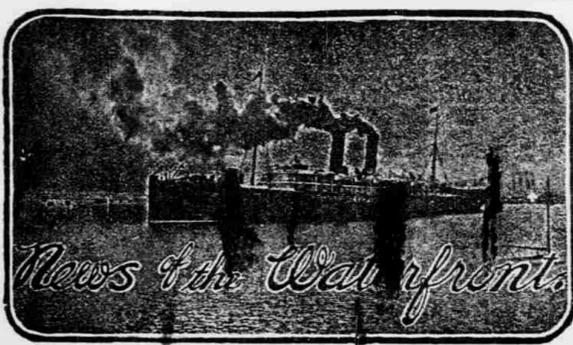

A couple of the sailors of the Dirigo came up to the Advertiser office in an intoxicated condition late yesterday afternoon and complained of their treatment at the hands of the arbitrators. They were rather strenuous for a few minutes, but made their getaway when the police were called.

Balboa Brings Lumber.

Bringing a heavy load of lumber, the American schooner Balboa arrived here yesterday afternoon from Tacoma. She was towed into port by Captain Hyde in the tug Intrepid.

TRANSPORT SERVICE.

Buford, at San Francisco. Dix, arrived Honolulu from Nagasaki, May 14. Logan, at San Francisco. Sherman at San Francisco. Thomas, sailed from Manila for Honolulu, May 15. Sheridan, from Honolulu for Manila, May 15.

That a systematic effort is being made on the mainland as well as here to prevent the possibility of any opium being smuggled into the States is shown by the fact that the customs officials in San Francisco even went so far as to make a rigid inspection of all the passengers from this port on the Pacific Mail steamer Korea when she arrived at the Golden Gate port on her last voyage. Passing through a close inspection here, travelers on the Oriental boats are given a second taste of Uncle Sam's watchfulness when they arrive on the Pacific Coast. Regarding this, the Examiner, under date of May 1, says:

Anticipating that the opium smugglers will begin their operations almost immediately, the customs officials are guarding against every avenue for getting the prohibited drug into this country. The first step taken publicly was the searching of suspicious baggage of the passengers on the steamer Korea from Honolulu to this port yesterday.

As Honolulu is an American coastwise port, the baggage of passengers from there has never before been examined, but has been allowed to land by the inspectors when evidence was produced to show that it was from the Islands and had not been tampered with.

It was deemed an easy matter for passengers from Oriental parts to carry their opium and other dutiable goods in their cabins and after leaving Honolulu place the contraband stuff in the baggage of local passengers from Honolulu.

The new order does not make a sweeping search of all the baggage from the Islands, but only draws attention of the inspectors to carefully watch any suspicious pieces wherein opium may be concealed.

"We do not intend to inspect the baggage of regular passengers from the Islands and cause them annoyance," said Deputy Surveyor Blinn yesterday. "We will open and examine all pieces of baggage not claimed and then carried off personally by the passengers. Generally a passenger will not take the chance of being caught with the goods on him, so if he is in the smuggling business he will leave it on the wharf and send after it."

Toy Wireless a Shipping Menace.

When the last Legislature was in session a bill was introduced for the purpose of protecting the wireless companies by licensing them, but, on account of several evident defects in the wording of the bill it died of a pocket veto. Some law in this respect is needed, according to wireless operators. Charles B. Warren, operator on the Matson steamer Laurine, says that the operation of wireless by youngsters for fun or for experimental purposes is a menace to shipping on the Pacific Ocean. The following story appeared in the San Francisco Call the day following the arrival of the Laurine at that port on her last voyage:

In the small boy of San Francisco and his experimental wireless instruments there lies a menace to the safety of shipping on the Pacific Ocean, according to Charles B. Warren, pursuer and wireless operator of the steamship Laurine, which arrived in port yesterday from Hawaii.

Warren asserts that he has had great difficulty in getting this port wireless at all during the daytime and that he has been compelled to wait until after midnight to send a message to San Francisco owing to the constant "breaking in" of instruments operated by youngsters here.

Warren declares that the attention of the government should be brought to the conditions and some action taken at once to protect shipping.

Lurline's Broken Propeller.

Last Tuesday night at sea a piece of the propeller on the Matson steamer Laurine was broken off, and, as a consequence, the vessel will be somewhat delayed in arriving here. Wireless word of the accident came the other day to the local agents of the company. Another wireless was received yesterday afternoon from the Laurine announcing that she would arrive here at eight o'clock this evening. She had previously announced her time as noon. The accident to the propeller of the ship, while not in any way endangering the safety of those on board, prevents the vessel from making her usual time. No repair work of this kind could, of course, be done at sea.

This will be done here, and the Laurine will probably be a little late in returning to the mainland. This will depend, however, on how quickly the work can be done here. It will be carried on with all possible despatch so that the Laurine may be able to leave on regular schedule time.

Captain Bent Injured.

Captain Bent, master of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha liner Tenyo Maru, received some nasty injuries the other day when his vessel was in this port, according to a report which was brought to this office last night. According to the tale, Captain Bent was coming down the companionway from the bridge, as the big vessel was being pulled into her dock, when he slipped and fell, bruising his body and cutting a bad slash in his leg. It is understood that his injuries were so serious that he was not able to leave the ship while she was here and the customs officials went on board to clear the ship.

Andrew Welch Next Week.

Carrying no less than eight passengers, Captain Kelly's smart bark, the Andrew Welch, will probably get away from here for the mainland about Wednesday of next week. For the first time in many months, there are more people clamoring for passage on the windjammer than there are accommodations. For Captain Kelly and his boat are certainly popular.

The Governor traced the development of the Legislature of Hawaii from the days of the early kings, and emphasized the progressive tendency that he said has gone to place legislation on a higher plane with every passing session. He said that 5590 pages of laws had been placed upon the statute books of the country by the Legislatures, and that a forward spirit and a greater degree of applied intelligence was noticeable as the years passed. "The increased complexity of the social organism," said the Governor, "has naturally produced a necessity for more legislation and, as a general rule, this power has been used wisely. It speaks well for the moderation of the Legislature that so few laws have been enacted and shows that the confidence has not been misplaced. "There have been ups and downs in the relative importance of the two branches of the Legislature and many believe that at the present time that of the House of Representatives is increasing. At the last session the House approved a resolution which included suggestions for needed changes in the land laws of the Territory, but the Senate killed it. It opposed the bill allowing appeals by the Territory and refused confirmation to one of the best Treasurers the Territory has ever had. On this I express no opinion."

Need Able Men.

Continuing his summary of lawmaking essentials Governor Frear stated that the science of legislation was acknowledged by authorities to be the most difficult of sciences and yet he believed that there were few men in the Territory in any walk of life who did not think themselves fully qualified to sit in the Legislature and participate in the making of the laws of the country.

On Consolidation.

Referring to the consolidation of departments, Governor Frear expressed some doubt as to whether it would work out in practice and said much would depend upon the ability of the man who was placed at the head of the consolidated department. He said that the most important advantage was in obtaining a larger salary for the executive head, which he believed would assure greater efficiency by securing an able man for the position.

Praise for Kauai.

The Governor paid a tribute to the good work performed in the Legislature by the delegation from Kauai and cited it as an instance to show the need of sending able representatives to the Legislature. He said that the chairmanships of the two most important Senate committees—Ways and Means and Judiciary—were held by Kauai men, and that the important committees of Finance and Public Health in the House were also headed by Representatives from that island.

Praise for Kauai.

One of the commendable characteristics of the last Legislature, the Governor said, was the idea carried into effect of having public meetings on vital subjects affecting the public, at which those interested participated in a free discussion. The second commendable characteristic, he said, was the desire to look to the future and make preparations through the provision for commissions that will tend to solve the problems confronting the Legislature of 1911.

"A remarkable feat," is the phrase Governor Frear used in referring to the accomplishment of the Legislature in bringing the expenditures within the revenue. He said that it might not appear to be such a difficult thing to the minds of many persons not versed in the difficulties of government, but insisted that in this one thing the Legislature of 1909 had placed itself on record in a manner that will establish a precedent for all of the Territory's legislatures of the future.

On Queen's Hospital.

Referring to his veto of the appropriation for the Queen's Hospital, Governor Frear said that it was impossible to be guided by matters of sentiment in dealing with the financial affairs of the government. He insisted that the question of the appropriation for the Queen's Hospital resolved itself into a question of the "Territory making the appropriation and having a deficit, or the county meeting the expense and not having a deficit." On this basis, he said, there was no possibility of choice, and much as he regretted the necessity of vetoing the item, he found it necessary and essential to do so.

The adoption of the movement for the transfer of more control to the counties and the imposition of a greater degree of financial responsibility, Governor Frear said, showed the vital importance of electing able men to the Legislature and assuring the adoption of a consistent plan of economy.

"The time has come when the good citizens of the Territory must give up the idea of soiling their hands in politics, and go to work," observed the Governor. He added that a large amount of financial discretion will be vested in the County Supervisors under the new regime, and that it remains with the people to see that they have representatives that can perform the duties intelligently.

On Consolidation.

Referring to the consolidation of departments, Governor Frear expressed some doubt as to whether it would work out in practice and said much would depend upon the ability of the man who was placed at the head of the consolidated department. He said that the most important advantage was in obtaining a larger salary for the executive head, which he believed would assure greater efficiency by securing an able man for the position.

VERDICT GIVEN FOR DILLINGHAM

M. F. Scott Must Pay Amount of a Note in an Old Case.

It took the jury in the case of B. F. Dillingham against M. F. Scott just nine minutes to find a verdict for the plaintiff yesterday, holding Scott liable for the sum of $1100, which he borrowed from Dillingham, and the legal rate of interest on that amount from December 29, 1902. Scott's defense was based on the assertion that he secured the loan from Dillingham in the behalf of the Kona Sugar Company and that it was not a personal obligation that he then contracted.

This view of the transaction was emphatically denied by Mr. Dillingham, and the weight of the evidence adduced was contrary to the statements made by Scott, who conducted his own case.

This is the second verdict that Dillingham has secured against Scott, the former case being carried to the Supreme Court by the defendant, and remanded to the Circuit Court for retrial, with a number of rulings on the legal status of accommodation paper.

Prince David's Estate.

The estate of the late Prince David has been inventoried and appraised at $67,461.50, of which amount only $3,250.00 is real property. The appraisers appointed by the court to determine the value of the estate were R. W. Shingle, Job Batchelor and Charles A. K. Hopkins. The greater portion of the estate left by Prince David consists of forty shares of the Kapiolani Estate Company, Ltd., the remainder of the amount being distributed in personal property.

A motion to dismiss the petition in the case of the Kapiolani Estate, Ltd., against Mary Atcherley was filed by the defendant yesterday, the grounds alleged being that the Kapiolani Estate has parted with its rights since the institution of the case. The petition states that "Lewers & Cooke, a Hawaiian corporation, has since the institution of this case, brought suit in the Court of Land Registration, claiming to own the land involved in this case by purchase from said Kapiolani Estate, Ltd., and praying for a registered title to it. The defendant herein appeared in said case in the Court of Land Registration as a defendant, denied the title of said Lewers & Cooke, Ltd., and set up a claim to the land in fee simple. Upon appeals to the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii that court by decisions * * * has disposed of all points of law involved in this case and said decisions' claims are binding upon this court in this and decisive of this case. On March 24, 1909, the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii rendered a decree dismissing the said suit of said Lewers & Cooke, Ltd., and finding that it had no legal or equitable title to the land described in this petition."

Attached to the petition is an affidavit of Lyle A. Dickey, one of Mrs. Atcherley's attorneys, in which he states that he has searched the records of the Bureau of Conveyances and has found there deeds transferring the property in dispute from the Kapiolani Estate to Lewers & Cooke. He also tells of Mrs. Atcherley appearing as a defendant in the Court of Land Registration when Lewers & Cooke asked for a registered title to the land.

To Sell Land.

James F. Morgan was named as a commissioner yesterday by Judge Robinson to sell a piece of land fronting on the Hotel street for the benefit of the claimants in the suit of the Sociedade Lusitana Beneficente de Hawaii and William Abia, petitioners, vs. Henry P. Bush, James H. K. Bush, Kama Leleiwai, Henry Bush, a minor, and Arthur and James Very, minors. Judge De Bolt found that the rights of the claimants were so involved that it was practically impossible to make an equitable partition of the property, and that the only substitute was to sell the land and make distribution of the proceeds according to the proportion of the claims adjudged by the court. The petitioners were represented by Attorney E. M. Watson.

Court Notes.

An order of notice of hearing petition for allowance of annual accounts, final distribution and discharge were filed yesterday on the estate of Rose Santos d'Oliveira, the Bishop Trust Company being ancillary administrator. Letters of guardianship were issued yesterday to Rev. E. W. Thwing over Chee Ah Ai.

Meaai Kekuewa was found not guilty on a charge of assault and battery by a jury in Judge De Bolt's court yesterday. The plaintiff was Rose Lee Hong, the defendant having been convicted in the District Court.

DO YOU HAVE RHEUMATISM?

And Are You Satisfied With the Treatment You Have Had?

If Not, Read This Evidence and Learn How You Can Cure Yourself.

The latest scientific works state that the ordinary medical treatments of rheumatism are still far from satisfactory. For this reason sufferers from rheumatism will be interested in the success which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have had in curing this painful disease.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured hundreds of cases, and are the most direct treatment of rheumatism, because they drive its poisons out of the blood. That rheumatism is a disease of the blood is shown by the fact that it is hereditary in certain families, and that there is a marked thinning of the blood immediately following its attack.

Mrs. W. V. Radtke, of No. 1521 Biddle street, St. Louis, Mo., says:

"I suffered with inflammatory rheumatism for about seven years and found no relief until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was confined to bed for six months at a time during three years of my sickness. I was so sore all over that I could hardly tell where the pains were. My right hand was crippled and I had no use of my left hand. My limbs were swollen and I had no use of them. I was perfectly helpless. I had no appetite and there were days and weeks when I took but little food. When I could be up, I had to walk with crutches. I had constipation, which the doctors said was due to the medicine I was taking.

"I was treated by four physicians, who relieved me for a time, but any change of the weather would cause me intense suffering. After some time the doctors pronounced me incurable. I was taken on a stretcher to a hospital where I remained for two months. When I left the hospital, I was treated at my home for some time longer but was not helped. Then I started to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I could see some improvement after taking only a few boxes and kept using the pills until cured."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. per box; six boxes for $2.50. By the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

GUESTS BOOK TO GO TO SEATTLE

With room for 70,000 names, a Guest's Registry book which will be used at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition was presented to the Hawaii Promotion Committee by the Hawaiian Gazette Company, Ltd., yesterday. The book is very large, and was bound and printed by the Hawaiian Gazette company. In passing a vote of thanks to the company for the splendid present, Secretary Wood said:

"The Registry book is one of the finest pieces of workmanship which I have ever seen in that line, and we certainly appreciate the gift. It will be used at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, where it will be a bit of promotion work in itself. When people see the exquisite work which has been done on this book and notice that it was made in Honolulu, they will realize that this is a city which has the most modern appliances and workmen in all branches of the trades. The book is certainly a credit to the maker."

Chairman Bowen of the committee also expressed his high appreciation of the book, and a motion that a vote of thanks be extended to the Hawaiian Gazette company for it was unanimously passed.

SPECIAL CARS FOR PINEAPPLES

Thirty-Seven New Ventilator Cars Will Be Ready Next Month.

Thirty-seven cars designed especially for the carrying of fresh pineapples are now under course of construction at the carshops of the Oahu Railroad & Land Company, Master Carbuilder John Hughes superintending the work.

These cars will be of the finest type in existence and will be a genuine credit to not only the advanced plans of the builder, but also to the enterprise of the company, which has realized the rapid growth of this practically new industry and is making preparations for the proper transportation facilities to handle it.

The cars will be ready to send out of the shops by the end of next month, and will be immediately put into the service here. They will have open ventilator tops and air-holes at each end of the car. The fruit will be given plenty of fresh air, and will arrive at the city in just as good condition as when shipped. The cars are of a class which are seldom turned out from anything but the largest carshops and factories, and are far and away above the average in point of workmanship.

As soon as these are completed, John Hughes expects to start work on the construction of seven or eight new passenger cars, these also to be equipped with all the latest appliances and to be of the most modern type. They are to be used on the local run. Besides the construction of some forty rail-road cars, Mr. Hughes has also the superintendency of the construction of the monster clam-shell dredger which is to be used clearing the channel at Pearl Harbor. This is for the Hawaiian Dredging Company.

The pineapple cars, which will be finished about the end of June, were only started about two months ago, showing the rapidity with which this sort of work is handled in the local shops. The cars will be a great boon to shippers of all kinds of fruit, especially pineapples, for they greatly remove the liability of the green stuff becoming wilted during the railroad journey. The cars will also be used in the carrying of sugar.

HAWAIIAN EXHIBIT MOVES. Either this afternoon or tomorrow morning Will Cooper will start the work of putting the Hawaiian exhibit on board the transport Dix. While there is still a great deal of coal to be removed from the hold of the vessel, enough has been taken out so that space is given for a considerable lot of the exhibit.

Yesterday afternoon work on the unloading of the coal from the Dirigo was suspended for a while on account of the fumigation of several hundred potted plants which were stored there and which are to go to Seattle on the Dix. The work was conducted by Jacob Kotinsky. When the doors of the room were opened and the acid fumes came out in great clouds, the men on the wharf and on the decks of the Dirigo took flight.

COMPROMISE AS IT FIGURES IN TARIFF DISCUSSION

How the Interests of Localities Are Being Reconciled—No One Can Tell What Changed Schedules Will Mean.

By Ernest G. Walker.
(Mail Special to the Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The fine art of legislative compromise attains a pinnacle in tariff building. The Aldrich-Payne bill promises to attest the fact. It is yet uncertain whether it will be a compromise upward or a compromise downward. The delicate moulders of amendments in Senate and in House have become so deft at their work that they can create differences, which permit of either outcome.

And while the new law will almost certainly be a twin brother of the Dingley law, the conference committee, which, more aptly, perhaps, could be styled the compromise committee, will have the power to make the resultant of its labors something a little lower on the average or something a little higher than the current statutes.

Adroit standpatiers in Congress probably never had so many good cards up their sleeves. It is only a question how many of them they will dare to play. They are arranging compromises daily with opponents in the Senate. But if they lower the rates as written into the bill, the layman can not know whether the maximum provision—a new fangled thing in American tariff building—by raising duties 25 per cent. to certain nations will not make many an article of popular consumption much more expensive than it is now. No one undertakes to say what new methods of valuation will do in virtually raising duties, or what will come of other administrative features, including the classification of imports.

There were compromises galore when the Dingley law was built. It contained 872 points of difference between Senate and House, when it was put into conference in early July of 1897, and sixteen conferees spent eleven days of active compromising in the work of adjustment. When their work was done any studious member of either branch of Congress could determine what a specific duty of 5 cents a pound or an ad valorem of 15 per cent. was likely to mean.

The Ways and Means Republicans framed that bill with practical unanimity. There was some compromising with manufacturers. On the whole, however, they got about what they demanded. The interests of House Republicans were not so divergent that there was much clashing. The Senate, however, had a more tempestuous time. The late Senator Morrill of Vermont was chairman of finance, but was too old and in too feeble health to perform active service. Senator Allison was acting chairman, and Senator Aldrich, now head of the committee, presided over the important subcommittee that did most of the rewriting of the bill. He rewrote much of the sugar and the woolen schedules. The Senate acceded after a big row. The sugar schedule became the great bone of contention. Senator Aldrich and Representative Payne joined issues over the sugar schedule. The conference room was filled with talk about differentials, polariscopes tests, and Dutch standards. It was all so complicated that only a few men were ever able to understand what it meant, except that the Senate stood for a higher duty on refined sugar than the House. The late Speaker Reed stood like a stone wall behind Mr. Payne for several days after the conferees had agreed upon the 571 other points of difference, which included many such little matters as punctuation and phrasing. In the end, however, the Senate won. The country had tired of the delay. It was then along in July. Business men wanted to lay their plans for fall trade. The demand for prosperity then, as now, was in full cry.

The Wilson bill, which the Democratic House passed in 1894, was something of a compromise between the interests of Congressional districts as represented in that body, although on the whole it followed Democratic principles, as then enunciated, pretty closely. The Gorman bill, as fashioned by the Senate, under the astute domination of such men as Senators Gorman of Maryland, Smith of Jersey, and Murphy of New York, was a compromise between conflicting interests in the Senate. But the Gorman-Wilson law, so-called, was hardly a compromise between Senate and House. After more than a month of attempts at a conference the House accepted the Senate bill, the conferees having reported that they could not agree.

The dickering in the Senate now is and for some weeks has been a great game of compromise, by which Senator Aldrich can adjust the demands of many Republican Senators so as to secure a majority, numbering at least forty-six votes, for the entire Finance Committee program. Senators, who want $2 a thousand duty on lumber and seeking a majority for a higher rate than $1, which the House voted, in the expectation that the conferees will split the difference and thereby something additional will be gained by the high protection advocates. The same kind of a scheme has already been well advanced over the duty on lemons. It is now one cent a pound. The House Ways and Means Committee fixed it at one and one-fourth cents as a compromise with the growers of citrus fruits in California and Florida, who demanded one and one-half cents a pound. The Finance Committee voted one and one-half cents a pound with the expectation that the result in conference would be at least 1 and three-eighths cents a pound.

The politicians of the Senate are playing with very dissimilar propositions in their eager efforts as compromisers and log-rollers. Barbed wire has been helping do the income tax to death. Some of the Western Senators, very insistent that the tariff burdens upon fencing materials shall be lifted, have agreed to yield their votes for a tax upon incomes in consideration of lower rates on nails and wire.

Compromises are quite as old as tariff bills in Congress. They used to be along sectional lines. The South, before the war, sent a very compact body of lawmakers to Congress in opposition to duties on manufactured goods. They had always to be reckoned with in tariff making. The high rates on such articles spurred South Carolina to nullification, and Henry Clay was the author of a tariff compromise which subsequently placated the nullifiers in some measure. That Southern opposition disappeared in Congress during the war, but reappeared again, and has been more or less formidable during the last forty years, in conjunction with certain northern interests whenever is a genius. There is no denying that. He is the only man in the Territory of Hawaii who can weave a proper woven wire bed. With Hilarius in "The Toymaker," he can gaze upon the finished product and exclaim, "Its my work, all my work."

No one can imitate him. The Japs have tried it and failed—and when a Jap fails to imitate, the subject can be counted very difficult.

Woven Wire Bailey employs only citizen labor. He makes the best beds sold in Honolulu, and if you don't believe it, try one. He has just opened up a depot in the Kapiolani Building for selling woven wire beds and is offering them this week at bed-rock prices.

Incidentally he is selling step ladders for 30c a foot—about half the regular price, and "perfection" kitchen tables, containing two flour bins, two drawers, two bake boards, and nicely finished, for $5 each.

Congress has been enacting tariff bills. The championship of protection in spots by the Southern Democrats is now become a novelty in tariff building, although it is offset to a degree, as a matter of voting strength, by the Republican low tariff advocates from the West. The men, who have to arrange a medium of duties between the extremes of opinion, accordingly have sectional complications to reckon with beyond anything ever before known in schedule fixing. Concessions are actually being made to placate Democratic protectionists from the South as well as Republican progressives beyond the Mississippi.

After all has been said, however, the concessions have been mainly to men who want the Dingley rates retained or raised, and while hundreds of Congressmen have been busy for many weeks adjusting differences of tariff opinion and while there have been more compromises effected to date over the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill, probably, than over any other tariff bill in history, the practical effect has been to take no bricks off the top of the tariff wall.

THE WORKER MUST BE WELL

In these days of sharp competition everyone who works should be keyed up to the highest pitch of efficiency. The rewards of business life go to the clearest thinkers, to the men and women who know and do things better than other people. But who can do his best work when the health is impaired, when the appetite fails to demand the food necessary to sustain the body, when strength is lacking and ambition gone? Surely the part of wisdom is to begin at once to build up the body to its normal condition, and this may be done more certainly by the use of

Stearns' Wine of Cod Liver Extract

than any other medicine. It checks hacking coughs, sharpens the appetite, aids digestion, enriches the blood, restores flesh to the emaciated, and renews health and vigor. It is so agreeable to the taste that its regular use is a pleasure. Get it at your chemist's and be sure you get STEARNS'—the genuine.

THE BISHOP OF OREGON ON TREATMENT OF NEWSPAPERS

SPOKANE, Wash., May 10.—"Newspaper men should be treated as allies instead of as spies and impertinent meddlers in things which do not concern them. We can take them into comradeship in the work we are doing and, by treating them as friends instead of enemies, secure their confidence, good will and cooperation."

Rev. Dr. Charles Scadding, Bishop of Oregon, said this in the course of an address on "The Secular Press as a Missionary Agency," at the biennial sessions of the Eighth Missionary department of the Episcopal church in Spokane, when high churchmen from Washington, Montana, Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, California, Utah, Nevada, New York, Pennsylvania and several other states were in attendance.

Bishop Scadding intimated that the average minister does not know news, when he mentioned that frequently an item of vital importance is concealed in a mass of matter otherwise of not the least interest to the reader. On this point he said:

"If you could hear the righteous indignation and the unrighteous abuse, and, I fear, profanity, created in newspaper offices of Friday nights when all hands are called to 'fix up the church notices' for publication, there would be instant reform in this direction. I am told that week after week and year after year there are poured into the newspaper offices these carelessly written notices, often in almost undecipherable chirography, with no regard for the style of the paper for which they are written, frequently written on odds and ends of paper and often on both sides and thrown together in a haphazard sort of way.

"The task of preparing several hundred notices has become the most detested work in the newspaper offices, and every Friday night our civilizing influence on the working staff is in a large measure undone. It is only due to the newspapers that we be courteous, even in this small matter, and take pains to secure uniformity and cleanliness and then present well-dressed and carefully prepared 'copy.'

"In preparing matter for the press you should observe newspaper rules of composition: Tell your story in the first three lines—three words are better—and elaborate afterward. Then the reader cannot 'ring off' before you have told him the gist of what you have to say."

Bishop Scadding said the value of the newspapers as a missionary agency depends upon the willingness of the ministers to go and make some effort in assisting it; "and," he added, "in considering the subject it is necessary for us at the outset to appreciate not the 'theoretical function of the secular press, but what it actually is, and what it actually does for the people. It is not the 'molder of public opinion,' often it is not even the leader; but it does supply the facts, the fancies, the fallacies, if you please, on which public opinion is based.

"It must be borne in mind that the newspaper, even though it has twenty-four pages, has not a single line to waste. It pays thousands of dollars for matter it does not print, and it is safe to say that no newspaper uses half the matter poured in upon it by the press associations, its special correspondents and the public generally. The great bulk of this news matter is bought and paid for, though never destined to see daylight, not because it is not news, but because matters which the trained senses of the editor pronounce more important news crowd it out.

"Those same trained editorial senses are constantly on the alert for the important item. Just mention in the midst of three columns of really important church reports the mere incidental fact that the Rev. John Doe has resigned and that the resignation was accepted, and be prepared to turn out of bed at night and explain to half a dozen reporters all about the affair. The next morning the line of resignation may appear as three columns, while the three columns of church news will occupy scarcely more than that many lines. The editor knows that only three lines in your article contained the real news of the day and would help the sale of his paper.

"Now, it can not be argued that we should encourage sensational doings with the views of calling public attention to the church and its work. Even to a salacious morsel the editor himself would prefer a piece of news of an entirely different character, but he has his finger on the public pulse and he knows what is required. To me it is a certain indication when a newspaper shows disinclination to give space to an article that it will not be read if published.

"We can assume a different attitude to the newspapers. We can take a generous view of existing conditions, accept the newspapers as having a right to all our news and show them that we are in sympathy with them.

"If we are to make good use of the secular press we can not overestimate the importance of the makeup of our articles and news notes. I believe that there is much of our work that could be presented in such dress that it would be attractive to the editor and, consequently, to the people. I fully believe that the establishment of a news clearing house in the Eighth department under the management of our departmental secretary, to whom missionary experiences, news notes and brief church teaching could be sent for general publication in the secular press, would be an experiment well worth trying.

"It must be remembered that the secular press is a democratic forum. The clergyman or layman who comes into this agora and mingles with the Attie demos must gird himself. The demos in its collective capacity is a juggernaut. It reminds me of what the colored porter in the barber shop said the other day, attributing his words to the 'good book.' 'The Lord,' he quoted, 'ain't got no respect for nobody.'

BALCH-SKELLY WEDDING.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—To the triumphs which it has been scoring in such rapid succession during the recent months wireless telegraphy added a new conquest yesterday. By its means courtship was carried to a successful issue, and in the marriage in this city of two persons of more than ordinary prominence the superiority of lovmaking via wireless over the slower and more conventional medium of the mails was clearly established.

The principals in this latest drama of love and adventure are John A. Balch, manager of the Wireless Telegraph Company at Honolulu, and Miss Helen Skelly of Butte, Mont. Both have a history and are a part of history.

Balch is a son of Dan W. Balch, who was connected with the famous Consolidated Virginia mine and was one of the first assayers of note of this city. Miss Skelly has been noted as being not only prominent in society in Butte, but also as being one of the most accomplished pianists in Montana. Her ability caused her to be in demand at social functions and amateur theatricals and her popularity was great.

Miss Skelly, also was once engaged to former United States Senator Lee Mantle, and in that comes the interest in the triumph of courtship by wireless. For a long period of years the wooing of Miss Skelly by the ex-Senator went on and, although no formal announcement of their engagement is known to have been made, that they were to be married was common gossip among all who knew them.

When Miss Skelly returned to this country from Honolulu, Balch kept up a running courtship by wireless messages to her, and these, as results proved, were more convincing than the letters that came from the former Montana Senator. Miss Skelly then made a second visit to Honolulu, and then the engagement with Balch was made and the one with Mantle broken off.

On Tuesday the steamship Alameda arrived from Honolulu, and on board was John A. Balch. Miss Skelly was here to meet him, and yesterday they were married in old St. Mary's church, Father Wyman performing the ceremony. W. B. Rountree acted as best man and Miss Grace Barton of Alameda was bridesmaid. The couple will take a short honeymoon and will then leave for Honolulu.

FOUND HIS HOME PEAS.

HART, Mich., April 20.—Few persons take more pride in western Michigan and the extent of its products than does ex-Senator James K. Flood of Hart. Yet he was a good bit astonished on his recent visit to Hawaii. He took a trip to visit the old volcano of Kilauea and its smaller crater, Halemaumau.

After gazing on a sea of red lava spreading and returning to a molten cauldron, smoke and steam rising with sulphurous fumes and a glare of fire shooting skyward, he took supper at the Volcano House, 4000 feet above sea level. And one of the chief dishes that there met his eye, was some Little Dot Hart Brand peas from his home town, and made hot over the never-ending fires of Halemaumau.

Army Aeroplane Tests.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The aeronautical division of the Signal Corps, which will resume the aeronautical tests and experiments at Fort Myer today, is contemplating a number of experiments in connection with the dirigible balloons and aeroplane flights that are to take place almost daily until August. General James Allen, the chief signal officer, although he places more faith in the motor balloon type of airship, intends to have the officers detailed to aeronautical work make an exhaustive test of aerial motors for aeroplanes, provided they can be obtained without much cost to the division.

Congress failed to appropriate anything for aeronautical work by the Signal Corps, and the plans for the test are therefore indefinite. It is generally conceded that the Wright brothers will be able to fulfill all the conditions of their contract with the government. They will receive $25,000 on compliance with the tests for their aeroplane.

The aeroplane which A. M. Herring has contracted to build for the Signal Corps probably will be of greater interest than the Wright machine, the privilege of viewing it having been accorded to few people.

In order to familiarize themselves with air currents, the officers of the aeronautical division have planned a series of flights in the motor balloon, Army dirigible No. 1. A flight will be made from Fort Myer across the Potomac river to the capital to impress the members of Congress with the result which would attend the attack of a foreign airship in time of war.

British Pacific Fleet.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 6.—That there is likelihood of a British South American squadron, composed of four first-class cruisers, being stationed in the South Pacific, with its base at Falkland Islands, is the news brought by His Majesty's steamer Algerine, which reached port yesterday after five months' absence off the South American coast. British capitalists, who finance nearly all South American ventures, have made a strong plea to the Admiralty for the maintenance of a squadron at Falkland Islands, and it is said that they have decided on a plan.

Evans and Former Wife.

VALLEJO, May 9.—Chagrined at the sensation his former wife is causing on the Vallejo stage, Naval Constructor Holden A. Evans visited her rooms shortly after midnight to beg her to cancel her return engagement here.

Mrs. Maud Evans' appearance at the Farragut Theater has attracted every man at the naval yards there, scores of whom show their appreciation of her performance by sending armfuls of flowers over the footlights.

She told her husband that she was in the hands of her manager and could not break her contract, which called for a return engagement in Vallejo in the first week of July.

Retirement of Major Hancock.

Major William F. Hancock, Coast Artillery Corps, commanding Fort Barrancas, Florida, has been ordered to his home preparatory to retirement from active service on account of disability. He is granted four months' leave of absence. Major Hancock is from Ohio, and was graduated from the Military Academy in June, 1883, and from the Artillery School in 1888.

French Naval Scandal.

PARIS, May 3.—Further regrettable revelations have been made concerning the facts brought to light by the committee appointed to inquire into the state of the Navy.

A large part of the Mediterranean squadron, which is the first and almost only line of French naval defense, is deficient in naval armament, and is also without full crews.

The transport and hospital department of the navy is absolutely defective and inadequate.

Danger exists on board certain warships on account of faulty construction of the big gun turrets.

The shortage of men averages about 100 on an average crew of 700. The total deficiency amounts to 15,000, but this is scarcely due to a want of naval recruits, since about 50,000 men are available for manning the fleet.

The shortage is all the more remarkable since the French fleet today is no larger than it was several years ago, the disasters to the Scully, the Jean Bart and the Jena having neutralized the addition of new ships.

One of the last and most important depositions received by the committee of inquiry was that of a retired officer who has been spending his days of retirement in making a personal and profound inquiry into the state of affairs at Toulon. According to this

Presidio Notes.

Fort McDowell is to be changed into a general recruiting depot June 5. For forty years it has been one of the principal army stations on the bay, says the Call. Now the war department has decided to abandon it as a post, remove the troops stationed there and devote it to the use of recruits. At present Companies A, B, I, K and M, Eighth Infantry, are stationed there, in command of Colonel Charles W. Mason. They will leave June 5 for Ord barracks at Monterey.

The war department has been considering this move for some time, as the present recruiting station on the east banks of Angel Island is inadequate.

The following changes of interest to the Presidio were ordered by the war department yesterday:

Three companies of coast artillery, to be designated by the commanding officer, artillery district of San Francisco, will be relieved from duty at the Presidio, San Francisco, and will proceed about August 1 to stations as follows: One company at Fort Miley, one company at Fort Baker and one company at Fort Barry, California.

The One Hundred and Fifth and One Hundred and Fifty-ninth companies, coast artillery corps, will be relieved from duty at the Presidio, San Francisco, and will sail about July 5 for Honolulu, Hawaii Territory, for station at Fort Ruger.

The following troops have been ordered to return from the Philippines: Eighteenth Infantry, headquarters band and one battalion to Fort Apache, Ariz., and one battalion each to Fort Huachuca and Whipple barracks, Ariz. Twenty-fifth Infantry, headquarters band and one battalion to Fort Lawton, Wash., and two battalions to Fort George Wright, Wash.

Thirtieth Infantry, headquarters band and eight companies to Presidio, San Francisco; two companies to Fort Mason, Cal.

Colonel Marion P. Maus, who has just received his promotion to brigadier generalship, returned from Washington, D. C., Friday morning. He first called on General Weston and then made a round of visits to the other officers.

Colonel Maus will receive his appointment May 30, the date on which General J. B. Kerr will be retired by age limit. Colonel J. A. Angur had been promised this choice billet, but on the day he was notified by cablegram he was stricken with heart failure and died in Manila.

Colonel Maus will remain in command of the Twentieth Infantry until May 20, when he will go on waiting orders.

Colonel R. R. Stevens, chief quartermaster of this department, who has been visiting relatives in the east, will return to his post May 29.

BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY IN THE UNITED STATES

United States Department of Agriculture, Division of Publications.

Washington, D.C., May 1, 1909.

In response to a resolution of inquiry which passed the Senate April 8, Secretary Wilson has forwarded a report on the beet-sugar industry in the United States. This report contains an interesting summary of facts and figures relating to this industry.

In 1896 there were six beet-sugar factories in operation and one building, having altogether a capacity for slicing 4000 tons of beets daily. In 1908 there were sixty-four factories, with a total capacity of 50,000 tons of beets daily—more than a twelve-fold increase.

From 1898 to 1906 our production of beet sugar grew from 36,000 tons to 484,000, an increase of more than thirteen fold in eight years.

In 1896 41,000 acres of beets were harvested; in 1906 376,000 acres, or more than nine times as great an area.

The price of beets, like prices of other farm crops, has risen steadily. In 1896 the factories paid $4.10 per ton; now they have to pay $5.35.

In 1898 the farmers had 264,000 tons of beets to sell to the factories, for which they received $1,564,000. In 1906, just eight years later, they had 4,236,000 tons of beets to sell, and received for them $21,604,000—a twelve-fold increase in beets and a fourteen-fold increase in money returns.

The total amount paid out by factories for beets during the past twelve years amounts to $121,000,000.

The total capital invested in beet-sugar plants in this country is about $70,000,000, and this does not include investments made by factory owners in farm lands, irrigation works, etc.

Among other things the Senate called on the Secretary of Agriculture to state how much beet sugar can be produced in the United States. The secretary replies that we have demonstrated conditions of soil and climate favorable to beet culture in an area of at least 274 million acres, and that it will only take one acre out of every 200 of this to produce all the sugar we now import from foreign sources.

He estimates "that if the sugar beet were grown throughout those portions of the United States adapted by nature and with the aid of irrigation to its culture, with a system of rotation including the cultivation of the beet every fourth year, fifteen million tons of beet sugar could be produced in the United States annually, or more than the world's total production of sugar at the present time."

It appears from this report that the people of European countries have to pay a good deal more for their sugar than we do. For the years 1904-1907 the average retail price of lump sugar in Naples and Milan was 13½ cents per pound, in Amsterdam 9.4 cents, in Madrid nearly 9 cents, in Stockholm 7½ cents, in Vienna and Budapest 7¼ cents, in Paris 6¼ cents, in Dresden and Bremen nearly 6 cents, and in Brussels 5½ cents.

The prices given are for lump sugar because that is the grade most uniformly quoted in the European statistics. This grade appears to be much more generally consumed than granulated in most countries of Continental Europe.

The Brussels Sugar Convention, which went into effect September 1, 1903, caused a radical reduction of the price of sugar in many European countries. In Belgium the fall in the retail price was 3¼ cents per pound, in the German cities 1½ cents, and in Austria-Hungary 1¼ cents.

The Secretary gives a flattering account of the progress made in developing the beet-sugar industry, and takes a very cheerful view of its future prospects. He concedes that some failures occurred among the earlier factories, but shows that the later factories have been quite uniformly successful. He says that wherever factories have been successfully operated the values of farm lands have risen very decidedly, especially lands under irrigation in the Far West. He says beet culture improves the land and educates the farmer. The operation of a factory leads to the investment of capital in many industries more or less related to beet-sugar production. The by-products—pulp and molasses—are fed to stock, and their use has largely increased the amount of livestock kept and fed in most factory districts.

Beet-sugar factories are now in successful operation in sixteen States.

Colorado leads all other States engaged in the industry, having sixteen factories. In 1907 these produced 169,000 tons of sugar, or enough, if it had been passed around, to give all the people in the United States four pounds apiece.

California and Michigan follow Colorado at a respectful distance in the race for second place. Michigan has the same number of factories as Colorado, but their product is considerably smaller. California has only nine plants, but some of the latter are very large. From year to year the production of sugar is about the same in the two States.

Utah has five factories, and they are strong producers. Idaho and Wisconsin follow with four each, and there are ten States with one factory each.

The most eastern factory is that at Lyons, New York. Hamilton City, California, has the most western factory, Los Alamitos, California, the most southern, and Billings, Montana, the most northern.

The largest factory in the United States, and one of the largest in the world, is the one at Spreckels, California, which is able to slice 3000 tons of beets in a day, or 100 carloads of thirty tons each.

The oldest successful factory in the United States is the one at Alvarado, California, which was established in 1879, and has been making beet sugar for thirty years.

VAN DINE'S WORK IN TEXAS DISTRICT

Dallas Morning News.—Because of the increasing insect damage being done to sugar and rice crops in the Southern States the government has ordered Prof. D. L. Van Dine, now of Hawaii, to make a thorough survey of the present conditions in the South, and render a report to the Department of Agriculture.

Advice to this effect was received from Washington yesterday by Dr. W. D. Hunter, in charge of the local Bureau of Entomological station. Prof. Van Dine will have his headquarters in Dallas, and arrangements are now being made at the station in East Dallas for housing his experimental apparatus.

The Hawaiian expert will be the only government man working on the problem of insect ravages on rice and sugar cane, and on account of his long experience in the islands studying entomological investigations Prof. Van Dine is expected to map out a direct course of action for the government. Dr. Hunter said yesterday that Prof. Van Dine is the only man in the world equipped for the duties.

The trouble with insects feeding on sugar cane and rice is only a late thing, and on this account there are practically no entomologists or experimenters who are familiar with the different species of insects. Nor is anything known as to what and how many kinds of insects are preying on the cane crops.

All these things are to be determined by Prof. Van Dine in his survey or investigation, and afterwards some method of attack will be planned out. The most serious damage to sugar and rice crops is now being done in Louisiana, Georgia, Alabama, Florida and some parts of Texas. The government hopes to partially check the onslaughts of the pests by the end of this year.
