MASS MEETING TUESDAY.

A citizens mass meeting was held in the court house Tuesday afternoon at which a large body of representative citizens was present.
The object of the meeting was to receive the report of the committee appointed to consider and report of the entertainment of the congressional party to visit Maui in the near future. Judge A. N. Ke-pokai was chosen chairman of the meeting. The chairman of the committee, J. N. S. Williams, read the report which was accepted and all of the committee together with W. J. Coelho and Philip Pali of Lahaina were appointed an executive committee with power to appoint such sub-committees as may be found necessary in carrying out the plan of entertaining the visitors when they arrive.

The report of the committee was as follows.

Report of Special Committee appointed by Citizens' meeting to consider Ways and Means for entertaining Congressmen visiting the Hawaiian Islands by invitation of the Hawaiian Legislature of 1907.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen.

Your committee appointed to consider and report upon the question of entertaining visiting Congressmen has held various meetings, and has been in constant communication with the Central Reception Committee of Honolulu and now begs to say:

That the Congressmen, to the number of twenty-six, accompanied by sixteen ladies, will arrive in Honolulu Wednesday May 8th and, according to the schedule mapped out for them by the Reception Committee in Honolulu, are due to arrive on Maui Wednesday May 15th.

The gentlemen are prominent members of committees, such as the Inter-State Commerce, Rivers and Harbors, Railway and Canals, Ways and Means, Judiciary, Education, Naval Affairs, Merchant Marine, and Fisheries, etc. These gentlemen have been invited to visit the Island for the purpose of ocular demonstration to them of how we live, what our work is, and what our pleasures are.

In considering means for entertaining our visitors, your committee feels that the question of dollars and cents can be left for settlement until after our visitors have departed.

In considering the Ways in which they could be entertained, and at the same time shown essentials, your committee believes that the only satisfactory method of accomplishing this end is to divide them up in small parties of two, three or four and hand them over to various members of committees on entertainment, (which we shall suggest hereafter should be formed,) so that those who are interested in irrigation work and wish to see the rough and difficult country through which the ditches run, may be given an opportunity. Those who are interested in harbor work, breakwaters, railroads and the operation of the same, can be given to another. Those who are interested in the staple industry of the country, farming, stock raising, etc., can be placed in the hands of a third, and so on. We believe that this is the only way in which our distinguished visitors can be adequately entertained.

It is necessary that an Executive Committee should be nominated and elected by you, and it is requested from Honolulu that the names of those composing this Committee shall be wired to Secretary Atkinson at as early a date as possible.

We think that, as the time is so limited, the Executive Committee should be clothed with powers to appoint sub-committees and to make any and all arrangements that may be necessary to carry out the program in a manner that shall redound to the credit of Maui, and satisfy your own sense of self-respect.

There should be no kicks, or growlings, or bringing up of complaints for our visitors to consider.
These gentlemen are here to see for themselves, and your committee respectfully submits that it would be in very bad taste, as well as very impolitic, for us to show anything but a united front in entertaining our visitors, who should leave us with nothing but pleasant memories. The seed thus sown will sprout and bring forth fruit at a later date.

RECARD NOT GUILTY.

District Magistrate W. J. Recard who was arrested last week on a charge of taking a bribe had his hearing before Circuit Judge Ke-pokai on Tuesday of this week.
The evidence against him was any thing but satisfactory while the evidence for the defence was clear and open and to the point.

The first witness for the prosecution was a man by the name of Callow who testified that he was the book keeper for the Pioneer stables in Lahaina. He said he had had a fight with a Chinaman and was arrested by the Deputy Sheriff on a charge of assault and battery. Bail was fixed at fifty dollars. A hack driver by the name of Okamura verbally went bail for him but there was no money put up and no bond signed.
He said he was angry with the Chinaman because he had been warned that the Chinaman was to come into the stables and when he asked the Chinaman what he was doing there he told him to shut up.
This angered him still more and he took the man by the collar and threw him around. The Chinaman struck him and then the Deputy Sheriff arrested him. On cross examination it developed that the fight had been arranged by the Deputy Sheriff and the two men and that it was only a sham fight. Under a severe cross examination he admitted that some of the statements he had made were not true but that most of them were. The witness said he was not a police officer nor a special.
Lindsay went to him after the fight and gave him five dollars and told him to try his best to bribe the District Magistrate. He said he sent a hack for the judge and asked him to come and see him. The judge came and with him were three white men. He asked the judge to go into the office with him. The door and windows were open he said he told the judge of his arrest and asked him to make his fine two dollars and one dollar costs. After this he laid five dollars on the thigh of the judge and went out. Lindsay at once came in and searched the judge but did not find the money.
While Lindsay was searching the judge he saw Frank Stark go out and stoop down. He did not know whether he picked up anything or not. Stark did not show anything to any one nor say he had found anything. After this Lindsay and the judge went away.

Board of Health Probably at no time in the history of the Territory has an able board of health been more needed than at present with the recent direct steamer route from Mexico to the islands more care is needed to guard the territory from tropical diseases unknown here but deadly in their effects and while part of the work is done by the Federal Government it is of great importance to all living in the territory to have a watchful and efficient Board and assistants to guard our shores from the dangers from without and combat the evil conditions within. Tuberculosis leads in its fatalities while leprosy, the most dreaded of all diseases, is the most loathsome and fatal in its results on those who have contracted the disease.

The present Chairman of the Board is most vigilant in his efforts to rid the territory of disease and has made an enviable record since his appointment. Few public men have been so fortunate as he as an officer and we feel that the few mistakes he has made are so overshadowed by the great good that he has done that they may justly be eliminated from his record. Conditions exist here however that are not to be found anywhere in the United States and it sometimes happens that good motives and efforts for the best of all are misunderstood and counteracted by ignorance and superstition and made void by prejudice that would not be found anywhere on the mainland. Such may turn out to be the Wallach incident. The claim of Wallach that he has a specific for leprosy made from the moss from female stones obtained ten thousand feet under the sea and from worms that are to be found in but a few places on earth is too ridiculous for intelligent persons to consider but when it is shown that an overwhelming number of the lepers demand the trial of the treatment and their friends and relatives are with them in this demand and claim it as their right to be treated by whomever they wish and too when they point out that the physicians do not claim to cure the disease with which they are afflicted and do not give them any assurance of temporary relief it would seem the better part of wisdom to allow the fakir to convince them that he is a fraud than to deny them their demand and have them believe they are to die when a cure is at hand but withheld by their guardians. Wallach will profit far more by being denied permission to go to the settlement than he would by being allowed to go while the lepers and their friends may turn against the Board and do more harm than he could do to those who insist on being treated by him.

Clean Sport A great deal of feeling has been caused by the criticism of an undue amount of noise in town after the game of base ball played by the Stars and the Kahuluis some time ago and we feel it is but fair to state the position of some of those persons at least and while we do not agree with them entirely we must admit that part at least of their contention is sound.

The game itself was the best and most exciting game ever played on Maui probably the best game ever played in the Territory. The outbursts of applause at the excellent plays and counter plays was justifiable. Any one who understands the national game and who could sit by and not feel any enthusiasm must be a fit companion to an Egyptian mummy and no longer entitled to associate with living human beings. The playing and demeanor of the teams was beyond criticism, the spectators were enthusiastic but orderly. After the game, however, a number of persons celebrated the event in a manner that deserves condemnation. There is no just cause for making the night hideous to others and especially so is this the case on a Sunday evening that many persons wish to spend in a quiet manner. While condemning the actions of these persons on the evening of the game we deny that the Association was in any way responsible for their conduct. While we admit the Association is responsible for what it allows on its grounds at the time the games are played we deny their responsibility for the actions of individuals away from the same as much so on a Sunday as on any other day in the week.

Supervisors Meeting.

The County Supervisors held their monthly meeting on Thursday of this week.

Chairman Henning W. P. Haia, and T. M. Church were present. Supervisor S. E. Kaue still being ill and owing to illness of the wife of T. T. Meyer neither of these men were present.

Chairman Henning called the meeting to order after which the minutes were read and with a few minor corrections were approved.

Mr. Church called attention to the fact that while the Governor and the County Supervisors were united in favor of a bond issue whereby the counties could carry on their internal improvements independently of the territory but unfortunately the legislature so worded the act that it was opposed by the Governor some one should be sent to lay the facts of the needs of the county before the Governor. Supervisor Haia felt the same way about the matter but chairman Henning opposed the move as he felt some of the ultra Conscientious politicians would misrepresent the matter.

County Engineer Hugh Howell was ordered to Honolulu for this purpose and to see about getting an excavator and other machinery needed in road building.

A communication was received from the county engineer relative to desired crossings for flumes and ditches under construction at Waiehu. The matter was referred to the County Attorney.

A communication was received from County Attorney D. H. Case relative to the use of the rock crusher by the Wailuku Sugar Co.

A communication was received from the Superintendent of the Leahi Home enclosing bill for care of the one patient from Maui who is still in the Home.

A communication from the Maui Publishing Co. Ltd. offering to publish in full, the minutes and all acts of the board was received.

A communication relative to the excavator was received from the Clerk of the Oahu County in which he said the matter of letting Maui County have one or more was in the hands of the Sanitation committee.

A communication was received from the Board of Health announcing the appointment of Dr. H. H. Hays as physician for the leeward side of Molokai with the understanding that the County Board pay $50 per month. J. K. Kahookole wrote the Board declining to work for $100 per month as assistant surveyor.

The salary of Kahookole has been $100 per month in the past and whenever he was away from his home he has been paid traveling expenses.

As we go to press the Board is still in session.

Ilmas Win First Game.

The unexpected happened last Sunday at Well's Park when the Ilmas from Lahaina defeated the Morning Star in a game of baseball by a score of 8 to 6.

The Stars showed lack of practice and every player in the team made one or more errors, while on the other hand the Ilmas seemed much improved, having had regular practice.

P. Espinda, who pitched in the first inning was the cause of the first four runs scored by the Stars, but in the next inning Joe Espinda undertook to twirl the sphere and did it in great style. Only two runs were obtained while he pitched.

Jim Laing, a new addition to the Ilmas, is a very valuable man. Last Sunday he started as short-stop and ended as catcher, both of which positions he held very creditably. It is said he can do good work in the box also and it is to be hoped that the fans will see him there some day.

Johnny Garcia did not come up to the mark in delivering the ball and in the eighth inning was relieved by Geo. Cummings, who in two innings struck out, three men.

The lineups were as follows:
Ilmas—D. Espinda, 2b; J. Espinda, p; Kanamu, 1b; P. Espinda, lf; J. Laing, c; Kua, 3b; W. Searle, rf; W. Miner, cf; A. Hose, ss.

Stars—J. Garcia, 2b; A. Garcia, ss; Cummings, 3b; Wilson, rf; Kaia, lf; Pokipala, cf; Bal, 1b; Jno. Garcia, p; T. Krueger, c.

There will be two games tomorrow and a large attendance is assured. The Lahainas will again try to beat Kahului and the Stars will try to hold their own against the Waikapus.

There may be some more surprises and as all the teams are well supported there will be much excitement.

Evaporation Losses in Irrigation.

Bulletin 177 of the Office of Experiment Stations, United States Department of Agriculture, just issued, gives the results of experiments covering several years, performed in cooperation with the State of California, for the purpose of estimating the losses of water by evaporation from irrigated fields and determining the effect of different methods of applying water and of cultivating fields in checking these losses. This work was done in California under the supervision of Samuel Fortier, under the direction of Elwood Mead, Chief of Irrigation and Drainage Investigations.

In southern California water has a very high value and the supply is limited, making it important to economize in every way possible. Thousands of dollars have been spent in lining ditches with cement and in putting in underground pipes for carrying water to the points where it is put upon the land, so that losses in transporting water, which in open earth channels often equal one half the supply at the head of a ditch system, have been largely eliminated. It has been realized that there are still large losses occurring when the water is applied to the soil, but there has been little or no knowledge of the extent of these losses or the exact effect of different methods adopted for checking them. This work of Professor Fortier's is an attempt to measure both by means of experiments with soils in water-jacketed tanks, each tank containing from 300 to 1,300 pounds of soil. Water was applied to the soils, and the soils were cultivated in such manner as to resemble the different methods of treating soils in irrigated fields.

In two experiments with cultivation as soon as possible after the application of water, the losses from cultivated soils were but one-half and one-third, respectively, as great as those from similar soils receiving the same quantities of water, but not cultivated after irrigation. The savings were 5 and 2 1/2 per cent of the quantities applied in the two experiments.

A second series of experiments included the application of water on the surfaces, not followed by cultivation, and the protection of the wet surfaces by placing upon them mulches of dry soil 4, 8, and 10 inches thick. In this case the losses in fourteen days following irrigation were: From unprotected soil, 23 per cent of the water applied; from soil protected by a 4 inch mulch, 6 per cent; from soil protected by an 8 inch mulch, 2 1/2 per cent; and from soil protected by a 10 inch mulch, 1 1/2 per cent of the water applied. After these fourteen days the losses from all were substantially uniform.

Another experiment included applying water to the soil at the surface and in furrows 3, 6, 9, and 12 inches deep, all soils being cultivated on the third day after irrigation began. The experiment covered ten days, and at the end of that time the losses were: From the surface irrigated soil, 24 per cent of the water applied; from soil irrigated in furrows 3 inches deep, 21 per cent; in 6 inch furrows, 17 per cent; in 9 inch furrows, 15 per cent; and in 12 inch furrows, 12 per cent, the loss in the last case being half that in the first.

These experiments relate especially to the irrigation of orchards, where it is possible to apply the water at considerable depths and to cultivate the soil to depth of 10 or 12 inches without injury to the trees. Naturally these methods can not be used in the irrigation of grain and hay, where the water must be applied at or near the surface, nor on crops whose root systems are near the surface, so that deep cultivation can not be practiced. They show, however, that where water can be applied in deep furrows, and where irrigation can be followed by deep and thorough cultivation, half the water ordinarily lost by evaporation can be saved, and that this equals 10 to 20 per cent of the water applied, making possible an extension of, say, 15 per cent in the area irrigated with a given supply of water. In other words, if land has been receiving a depth of 2 feet of water under the old system, it need receive only 20 inches under the new system, or a stream which has irrigated 100 acres can be made to serve 115 acres.

The report gives a large amount of additional information on evaporation from soils and water surfaces under different conditions.

The bulletin may be obtained of the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, at 10 cents a copy.

End of the Fourth Legislature.

The Legislature of 1907 is now a matter of history, and it can be recorded as the best since annexation. There have been over one hundred bills signed by the Governor, which has relieved the pressure of the last few days, when it has been customary to rush in about one hundred bills with the expectation that they will be carefully examined.

It has been a hard session throughout, hard upon the members and hard upon the clerical force. It is believed that better legislation has been enacted because the work has been done steadily and with regularity, each day seeing clear desks. In the matter of expenses, the $30,000 appropriated by Congress for the Legislature, has saved fully $60,000 to the Territory; because the members consequently, kept their expense bills as low as possible.

Unlike the last session, there has been little friction between the Governor and the members. The executive evidently has acquired wisdom within the last two years, adopting a more conciliatory policy, and giving heed to the rights of the representatives of the people. The past week has seen a little trouble between the Senate and House; but not of a serious nature.

The first meeting of the Conference Committee on appropriations was held April 22nd and sat till a late hour. Little progress was made however, with the items in dispute. Adjournment was taken when the salary for commissioner of immigration was reached. The present law provides that a salary must be provided and two years ago, it was fixed at $25 a month. This time the amount asked for was $200 a month, so that a man can be appointed who will give his whole time to the work, and inaugurating an active policy under government control there was danger of the salary being again fixed at $25, and a sudden adjournment was made in order to prevent this. The opponents of the increase were Senators Kalama and Kaundsen, Representatives Rice, Hughes, Pali and Kalel-opu. There was much surprise over the action of Hughes, who has claimed always to favor active immigration work. Senator Woods supported the large appropriation, and acted with Senator Dowsett for sudden adjournment so that the friends of immigration would have a chance to work upon the malcontents.

Were it not for the very large appropriations that are at the disposal of the Health Department and the Department of Education, both boards would have been wiped out of existence before the session closed. As it was members were a little afraid to leave the $600,000 voted for health purposes, or the $800,000 voted for educational purposes in the hands of any one man. A bill was introduced in the House to extinguish the Board of Education. The action taken by the Board of Health, in excluding Lor Wallach from the settlement of Molokai, aroused the members more than any thing else that has occurred during the whole session. It is a little doubtful perhaps, whether under section 80 of the Organic act, the present members of the board could be removed even if the Governor were willing that they should be, because they are appointed for four years. The few days showed a heated debate on the subject of the Board of Health, Lor Wallach, leprosy and every other plague to which flesh is heir.

Senator McCarthy's election bill, establishing the Australian ballot system, has become a law as well as the bill reducing the fee for certification on Chinese birth, from $7.50 down to $2.50. The municipal bill for Oahu is now up to the Governor. The Primary law is dead. Liquor bill No. 91 has passed and has been signed by of the Governor.

A CHANCE FOR TWO.

A Buffalo physician tells of two young friends in that city who entered simultaneously upon their respective careers of physician and lawyer.

Late one afternoon, says Harper's Weekly, the newly-made medico dashed into the room of his legal friend, exclaiming:

"Great luck, old man! Congratulate me! Got a patient at last—on my way to see him now!"

Whereupon the legal light-to-be clapped his friend on the back saying, "Delighted, old chap!" Then, after a slight pause, he added, with a sly grin:

"Say, let me go with you. Perhaps he hasn't made his will."

IRON NERVE.

"I insulted that man in the grossest way, and he is twice as large and strong as I am."

"Really! What courage!"

"Yes, I did that, and just when he was most furious I calmly hung up the receiver of the telephone and rang off."—Ill Motto per Ridere.

CONSIDERATE HUSBAND.

"Absalom," said Mrs. Rambo, "you smell horridly of tobacco."

"Nanshy, m' dear," mumbled Mr. Rambo, maintaining his equilibrium with an effort. "I came home in th' smoking car so you wouldn't smell the banquet on me."—Chicago Tribune.

While the witness testified positively that he did not receive any consideration for his services nor any promise of any it remains that Lindsay was given two five dollar pieces and but one was claimed to be used in the attempted bribery and some would like to know what became of the other five.

Deputy Sheriff Lindsay was the next witness called and testified that he and Stark were in the adjoining room and were looking through holes in the door and saw Callow place the money on the lap of the judge and saw Callow go out. Saw the judge pick up the money and heard the arrangement as to the fine and costs. He said he rushed into the room and demanded of the judge the money Callow had given him and when the judge denied having taken the money he searched the judge but found no marked money. He admitted having arranged the sham fight between the Chinaman and Callow and the details of the bribery.

Frank Stark testified about as Lindsay did as to first part of the affair but said the judge told Callow to keep the money as he would need it to pay his fine but after Callow assured the judge he could get more he said all right. He said the judge went out on the end of the veranda and stood there for a while and then Lindsay called him in and searched him. While he was searching him he, Stark, went out and saw the money on the ground near where the judge had been but did not pick it up nor tell any one that he had seen it but after Lindsay and the Judge had gone he went out and picked up the money and went down town and gave the money to Lindsay.

W. N. Farr for the defence testified that he had gone to the stables with the defendant and that he sat where he could see him all the time. After Callow came out the defendant came to the door. Lindsay was right behind him. The defendant was not at any time near mauka end of the veranda where the money was claimed to have been found by Stark.

A. A. Elias testified as the former witness did. He was positive the defendant did not go near where the money was found.

Judge Recard took the stand in his own defence and related how he had been sent for and of the three white men going with him to the stable and of the story told him by Callow and of Callow placing the money on his thigh. He said he refused to accept the money and told Callow to keep it to pay his fine. He said Callow took the money and went out. Lindsay then came in and demanded the money that Callow had given him and asked Lindsay to call Callow which he did. When Lindsay asked Callow "Where is that five dollars?" Callow said what five dollars? Lindsay then became angry and asked again. Callow then said he gave it to the judge. Recard then said you are a liar. Callow did not reply but went out. He asked Lindsay to search him but wished to have Attorney J. L. Coke present who was outside at the time. Lindsay searched him and then he sat down and asked Lindsay to search his shoes. Lindsay refused and they went away together.

Attorney J. L. Coke testified positively that the defendant did not go near where the money was claimed to have been found and proved a valuable witness as were all of the witnesses for the defendant.

While the case was ably defended by Attorney J. L. Coke who seemed to be perfectly familiar with every move of the witnesses for the prosecution and knew of the plan and every detail of it to entrap the judge he declined to argue the case as he had been a witness and submitted it without argument. County Attorney D. H. Case made a hard fight for the Territory but in consideration of the refusal of the attorney for the defendant to argue the case he made a very short argument.

Judge Kepolani reviewed the testimony and promptly discharged the defendant. In view of the testimony he could not have done otherwise.
