Top officials named as shabu users

by Teri M. Flores

A number of government officials including those holding key positions in the government have been named by a federal agent as among the growing number of people known to be users of the illegal drug crystal methamphetamine.

Investigations conducted by a joint team of federal and local authorities reveal that these public officials, although not involved in the importation and distribution of the deadly drug, are known to be drug dependents.

Firemen, police officers, teachers and counsellors, utility workers, Department of Health and Natural Resources employees were also some of the public servants which Federal Bureau of Investigation Special Agent Paul G. Amoy named in a talk he delivered before the conferees of the 2nd Annual Drug Abuse and Substance Control Prevention Conference.

For over a year now, the attempt of federal and local law-enforcement agents to crack down on drug traffickers in the Commonwealth has resulted in the prosecution and conviction of CNMI Immigration officer, Edward Seman Iriarte.

Another case involving a Customs personnel alleged to be involved in drug trafficking reached the court however, it was settled before any decision could be made.

This year alone, authorities have arrested six people currently facing indictments in federal court on charges of drug trafficking.

The arrest of Francisco Barcinas Mendiola and David B. Evangelista of Tinian and John San Nicolas Borja, Luis Aguon Reyes, Steven Teregeyo and Manuel C. Magofna, all Saipanese, the investigation of which dates back two years ago.

Mendiola's May arrest has resulted in the confiscation of more than $2.2 million worth of

Hofschneider in very critical condition

by Rafael H. Arroyo

Tinian Casino Gaming Control Commission Chairman John U. Hofschneider is in very critical condition at the Commonwealth Health Center's Intensive Care Unit where he was rushed to last Tuesday after reports of a stroke.

Hofschneider, according to hospital sources, was brought in at around 5:30 am of that day and was wheeled right into the hospital's intensive care unit fifteen minutes later at around 5:45 am.

Doctors at the center are going on shifts in making sure that the chairman is attended to round-the-clock, but his main attending physician is Doctor Anne Bollay.

According to reports issued to the Variety by a health official, Hofschneider's condition had worsened such that he doesn't seem to be responding to any stimuli being applied by his doctors.

"He has been in critical condition. Indications are that he is about to go. But we still hope that he makes it.

John U. Hofschneider

Aside from that we can't give out information on the diagnosis. It's up to the family if they want to give out information on his condition. But what I can say is that he is gravely ill," said the

Zoning Board won't go thru poll process

by Rafael H. Arroyo

Acting Governor Benjamin T. Manglona yesterday signed a bill that would eliminate the requirement that voters of senatorial districts shall elect to retain or remove members of that district's Zoning Board.

In simple rites held yesterday at the Governor's Office, Manglona signed the bill into law, thereby abolishing provisions in the Commonwealth Code that is being seen to politicize what should have been a non-political endeavor.

According to Public Law 6-32, the directors of the Zoning Board must be reaffirmed in their positions through the electoral process. It was specifically stated that starting with the forthcoming November 1991 elections, and every two years thereafter on that date, the name of each board member will be placed on the ballot for the senatorial district.

Such a provision was met by the members with a howl of protest, and even prompted a resignation en masse of almost all members.

The disgruntled board members felt that their names on the ballot will tend to politicize their position.

The legislature in coming up with the bill that would carefully consider the board's recommendations, found out that the effective functioning of the Zoning Board, as created by Public Law 6-32, has been severely handicapped by a high turnover of its members.

The Legislature found further that among the probable causes of this high turnover are the quasi-political nature of the position which requires that a member run for election in order to be retained in office; and the limited pool in

Munson denies Mendiola's temporary release

by Teri M. Flores

Federal District Court Judge Alex Munson denied the release of Francisco Barcinas Mendiola, a Tinian man accused of the importation and distribution of crystal methamphetamine, pending his scheduled January trial.

Munson denied Mendiola's motion for temporary release after the court ruled in a late Thursday hearing that there is probable cause to believe Mendiola committed a crime.

In denying Mendiola's bid for temporary freedom, Munson accepted the arguments presented by prosecuting attorney Richard Pierce who argued that Mendiola continues to be a substantial risk to the community as he was a known drug dealer.

Mendiola had been under the custody of federal authorities since his arrest on September 5 for alleged involvement in drug trafficking.

On the same occasion, authorities also arrested David Boki Evangelista who was named as a co-defendant in the conspiracy case.

Guam-based lawyer David Lujan told the court that instead of being detained under government custody, Mendiola can be placed under house arrest pending his trial in the federal court.

Lujan also showed the court that Mendiola is not a flight risk as the government is in possession of his travel documents and that his client is willing to post a property bond in lieu of his temporary release.

Francisco Barcinas Mendiola

Lujan also argued that authorities can monitor Mendiola's activities while he is on probationary release.

Pierce argued that Mendiola had violated the provisions of his temporary release issued by the CNMI Superior Court and that he continued with his illegal activities despite being placed

The moment of truth

Campaign period is about to officially end, and the moment of truth beckons the CNMI voter.

On his shoulder lies the great responsibility of choosing the right candidates to see the commonwealth through another phase in its political existence.

The future can never be foreseen — whether the chosen ones would prove worthy of the people's trust, or whether the elected aspirants would in the end be detrimental to the well-being of the society that each and every individual moves in.

The people that are to be seated in government's lawmaking body seem to be always the ones looked upon to champion the rights and welfare of the faceless and the inarticulate, so that their voice might be heard amidst all the uproar and tension of Commonwealth politics.

Or it might be that these duly elected officials, as in past experiences prove to be the stumbling blocks to the quest for commonwealth prosperity for the people and the generations to come.

But boon or bane, the electorate has to keep in mind that they alone could be held responsible for whatever drawbacks or progress that the commonwealth realize as a consequence of their actions.

Before thinking of self gain, favors, and material benefits the future of the islands must be considered of paramount importance.

It would be foolish to collect whatever influence and advantage a candidate can offer if in return that candidate would do nothing but enrich himself in office once elected.

The acts of these unseemly candidates will not only affect the people of one generation, but will also in one way or another extend its detrimental effects to their children and their families.

Now that election time is here, we encourage everyone to vote according to his conscience, for what he thinks is right, for whom he thinks would do right.

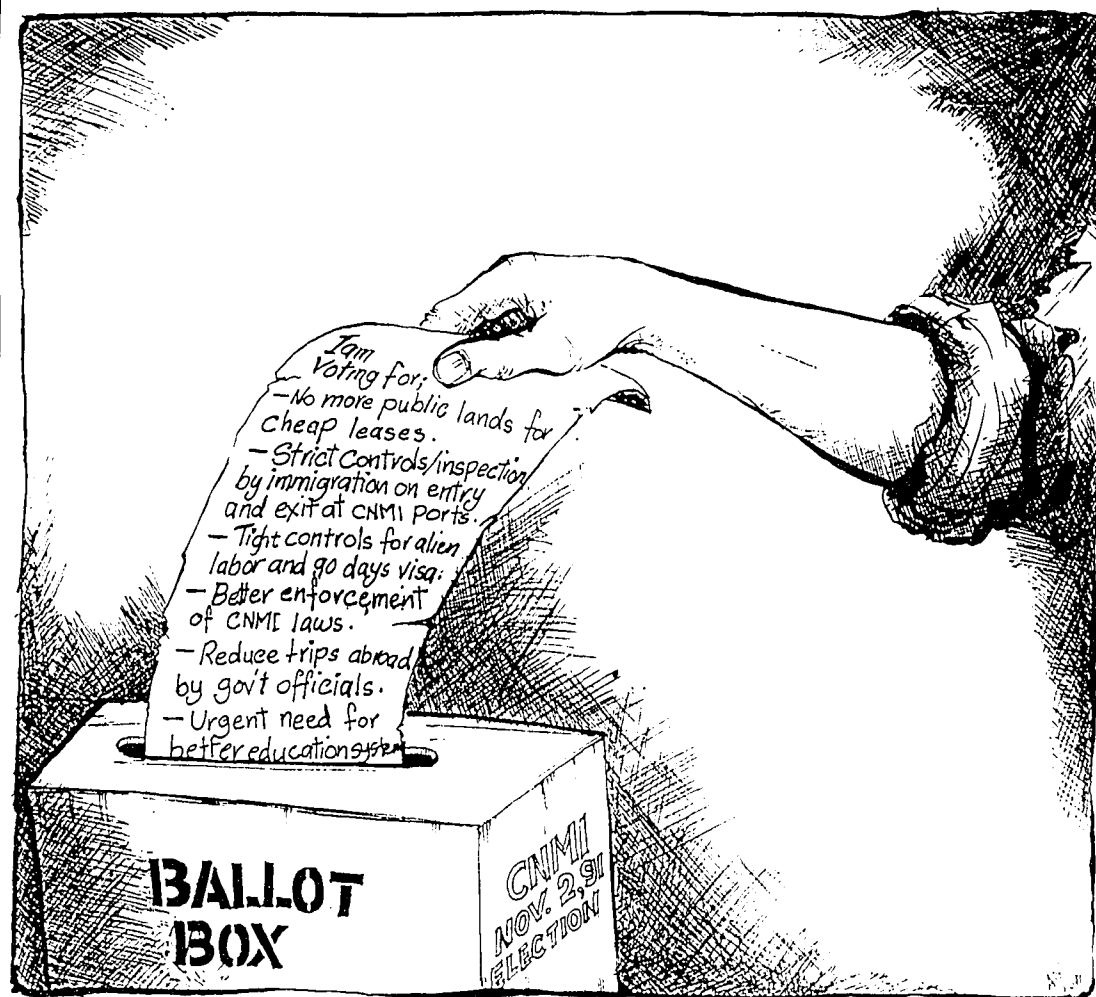

We owe it to our children and our children's children that we take part in laying the foundations of a responsive leadership in order that the foundations of good government will reap long-lasting benefits for the community.

We also would like to wish all the candidates good luck and may they be guided with the dire wishes of the people they are supposed to serve.

At the same time we would like to remind them of their campaign promises so that they may not be easily forgotten in the course of their term in office.

We must come and unite in this very important milestone in the history of the Commonwealth, as we take part in the shaping up of destiny.

Someway, somehow, the future may be decided today — election day!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

On behalf of my wife Lydia and our children, I want to express our sincere appreciation for the excellent diagnostic services our youngest daughter Lindsey received at the Commonwealth Health Center last month.

Dr. Briggs took the time to examine Lindsey more thoroughly and suspected something more than a usual case of flu. Dr. Koman did further testing and detected a Cholelithiasis Cyst. Lindsey required major surgery which was performed at Children's Hospital in San Diego, California. Fortunately, Lindsey is now recovering from an operation which had serious complications and required special attention which Dr. Hasell has continued to monitor here on Saipan.

Our compliments to Dr. Chong, Dr. Crowley, and Ned Arriola for their efforts to ensure that proper patient care is available when needed. Thank you. Cordially, John M. Romisher, Ph. D.

Dear Editor,
On September 6, 1991, and again on October 18, 1991 the publisher of the Marianas Review saw fit to publish two articles entitled "Half-Billion Dollar Agupa Project in Rota Imperilled," and "MPLC Gives Marianas Agupa a Chance," respectively.

Each of these articles featured reported interviews with the Executive Director of MPLC, William Concepcion, where Mr. Concepcion allegedly reported that Marianas Agupa Enterprises is in default on its newly acquired lease of approximately 150 hectares of undeveloped public land in Rota, and by implication characterized Marianas Agupa Enterprises as "mere speculators or project promoters." Mr. Concepcion stated that Marianas Agupa is in default for its failure to pay $126,000 for the annual rental fee and for its failure to provide bank credentials to verify Marianas Agupa's financial viability.

Mr. Concepcion acknowledges that Marianas Agupa initially paid $30,000 on the lease, (in fact $31,500.00 was paid). However, Mr. Concepcion fails to acknowledge the fact that additional payments of $10,711.05 were made on September 13th and $31,500.00 on September 30th. In fact, in his October 18th interview he states that "Other than the initial deposit they've made, we have not received any further amount." Clearly, this statement is blatantly untrue. The additional payments were made at the direction of MPLC to comply with a payment schedule they themselves set up. The lease requires annual payments of $126,000 payable quarterly in advance. MPLC asked for an individual payment for the month of June, hence the payment of $10,711.05. The other two payments made to MPLC represent under the lease. Currently Marianas Agupa Enterprises has prepaid rent through December 31, 1991.

Under the terms of the lease Marianas Agupa is required to submit its financial credentials within four months after the commencement of the lease. Under the term of the lease, the lease is not to commence until six months after the lease is approved by the legislature. Speaker Pedro Guerrero acknowledged the legislature's approval by signing the lease on June fourth of this year. As a result, the lease will not commence until December 4, 1991, and Marianas Agupa Enterprises is not required to submit its credentials until April 4, 1992.

After the first article was published, Marianas Agupa Enterprises

10,035 voters troop to polls tomorrow

by Teri M. Flores

More than ten thousand registered voters CNMI-wide are expected to cast their votes tomorrow to choose the Senatorial and Congressional leaders who will be the Commonwealth's representatives for the next two years.

Board of Elections Executive Director John Diaz said he expects things will run smoothly in this year's elections.

Board of Elections employee have been kept busy since July registering candidates and voters alike and preparing the necessary things need for the elections held every two years.

The 16 polling places all over the Commonwealth will be open starting from seven in the morning until seven in the evening. In each polling place will be three ballot boxes and two poll workers and a supervisor will be manning the precinct area. There will also be a police officer stationed in each of the polling area.

Voters are advised to bring their voter's registration card or driver's license as a means of identification, Diaz said.

For eligible voters who will be unable to leave their homes or are confined to the hospital due to illness, a request can be made to their respective polling area stating their intent to vote. Two special poll supervisors will then deliver a ballot which will be filled up in their presence.

This year's race includes the selection of three senatorial candidates, one representative from each island. On Saipan, political observers say that it is a close race between Republican candidate Juan Sablan Demapan and his Democratic contender Juan Sablan Reyes.

Rota's incumbent senator Paul Manglona remains uncontested while on Tinian, two new candidates Esteven M. King and David Cing are entering the political arena as former Tinian representative Francisco B. Evangelista has decided not to seek another term in office.

In a list of 40 Congressional aspirants of which four are running as independents, voters will have to choose 18 candidates to represent them in the House of Representatives.

The recent passage of the reapportionment statute has increased to six the number of representatives for Precincts I and III while two seats each are open for representatives for Precincts II and IV.

Three of the eight candidates for Saipan's Municipal Council and two candidates from a list of six aspirants for Board of Education will also be chosen by Saipan residents.

Tinian residents on the other hand will be choosing from a list of seven candidates three representatives to the Municipal Council while Rotanese will be choosing from a list of 10 candidates, three aspirants to comprise Rota's Municipal Council. Rota residents will also be choosing one of two candidates who are aiming for a seat in the Board of Education.

Two years ago, Tinian residents were asked if they will allow casino gambling to be legalized on their island. This year, a Rota legislative initiative which proposes to legalize casino gaming on the island will be included in the ballot.

The legislative initiatives of raising the budget ceiling for the Legislature and one seeking that additional time be granted for lawmakers to act on vetoed bills will not be included in this year's election as the legislators failed to act on the matters at a much earlier date.

The tabulation will be done in the Convention Center on Capitol Hill and Diaz said that they may announce the successful candidates a day or two after the elections.

Woman in auto accident dies

by Teri M. Flores

Police have identified the fatality of the accident in Chalan Lau-lau early Sunday morning as Raquel N. Gonzales, 24 of San Antonio.

Acting Chief Rey B. Camacho said Gonzales, employed as a domestic helper, died Tuesday morning after she was listed in critical condition at the Commonwealth Health Center.

The Sunday morning accident also claimed the life of Rudolfo P. Leon Guerrero, 29 the driver of the blue Nissan pick-up which was totally wrecked in the incident.

Police said the accident was alcohol-related however, they declined to say it may have been the cause of the accident.

Camacho said Gonzales was not wearing her seat-belt at the time the accident occurred.

In other news:

*A detainee in the Susupe lock-up had been cited for assault and battery after he allegedly kicked a police officer in the lower abdomen Monday evening.

Camacho said police officer Candido Aldan was assaulted by Lawrence Fleming, a detainee awaiting trial on similar charges, after the latter requested to use the telephone.

The Acting Chief said Aldan was assaulted for no apparent reason.

Board of Elections Executive Director Juan M. Diaz is shown while inspecting the locks for the ballot boxes to be used for tomorrow's polls.

Tough drug measure becomes law

by Rafael H. Arroyo
The much-awaited bill that would seek to eradicate the growing menace of drug and substance abuse in the CNMI was signed into law by acting Governor Benjamin T. Manglona yesterday during the closing day of the Second Annual Drug Control and Substance Abuse prevention workshop at the Diamond Hotel.

"It is with positive feelings of accomplishment and gratitude that motivates me to sign this act, which now becomes Public Law 7-42," said Manglona in a short speech before the crowd that gathered to witness the signing of the measure.

The new law, Manglona said, provides stiff penalties against users and traffickers who deal in illegal drugs, while also strengthening law enforcement capabilities and efforts by giving more flexibility to stop drugs and eradicate illegal substances at the CNMI's ports of entry and beyond.

The purpose of the act is to provide measures that will assist in the prevention of the importation of these substances.

It is also being viewed as one that would enhance the detection of illicit money laundering activities by amending the authority of the Customs Service to include the conduct of out-bound searches and requiring the declaration of $10,000 or more in currency for passengers departing the Commonwealth.

It was also seen to prevent the flow of controlled substances between islands by amending the authority of Customs to include interisland searches. It also seeks to require government planning for a drug rehabilitation program.

"This is the kind of tool we need to fight the drug problem," says Pete P. Reyes, chief of the Customs Service. "We can now go before any court and prevail. We are eager to go up there in our fight against the problem exercising unquestionable authority," Reyes said.

In a similar note, Manglona said the new law will encourage those who fail to heed the warnings and signals regarding drug abuse to seek treatment.

The acting governor, in addressing conference participants, made specific mention that the CNMI just recently had its fifteenth traffic fatality, one-third of which have been alcohol related. This is about double the normal average for such deaths — due to a totally legal drug that is affecting more and more people in the islands, Manglona said, apparently referring to alcoholic drinks.

It was also said that the average importation of more than 10,000,000 cans of beer every year indicates that the Commonwealth has a tremendous problem with alcohol abuse, and that the terrible toll of highway deaths with its related sufferings and pain it causes to our families and children is "unpardonable."

"Although the new law will require some amendments to further strengthen its intent, such as stronger penalties against marijuana use and other matters, our urgent need to take the offensive now against drug abuse compels our administration and legislature to join hands to put this new law into effect immediately," the acting governor said.

Developers adopt wait and see stance

by Teri M. Flores

Foreign investors and developers who look at the Commonwealth as a viable investment area are closely monitoring the on-going legal battle between two local residents and the owner-cum-developer of 31,830 square meters of land in San Roque, Saipan.

For a number of these developers, the case filed by sisters Teresita Camacho Dela Cruz and Estefania Cruz Chong against the management of Hotel Nikko will determine whether the CNMI is still a viable place to sink their money in.

After a rash of court cases which challenges Article XII of the Covenant to Establish a Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands in Political Union with the United States of America, investors and real-estate developers are being cautioned to proceed with care in forging land transactions in the CNMI.

The 30 Article XII disputes filed in the local court have not only local businessmen worried. Foreign investors also share the same sentiment and some of them have already started to pack their suitcases in favor of locations where benefits are sure to be reaped and where they will not have to contend with such a statute.

Local businessmen who have developed close ties with foreign investors say that the current economic situation is much more serious than what the local government and the Chambers of Commerce seem to realize.

A month after the Supreme Court issued its ruling on the Leocadio Mafnas vs. Marian Aldan-Pierce case, a number of investors have already decided to stall their projects. Many are awaiting the action of the local court on the Article XII cases, specifically the Chong vs. Nikko case currently undergoing litigation.

Nine major developments included in the Coastal Resource Management's (CRM) list of pending major siting projects are in jeopardy and several other developments including the two others under the Hotel Nikko management have been put on hold for an indefinite period of time.

The current predicament among foreign investors is that land transaction and land ownership is considerably more complicated in the CNMI than in any other nation in the world.

Developers are convinced that the Article XII disputes have frightened foreign investors and that as a result of it, foreign bankers are influenced to tighten loan processing procedures.

The rash of Article XII cases came at a time when many have already seen the economic boom on Saipan and how previous land transactions may have caused people of Northern Marianas descent to lose their birthright from unscrupulous businessmen.

Up until March of this year when the Chong vs. Nikko case were filed in the Superior Court, a great number of land disputes involved individuals.

What makes the Nikko case unique is that for the first time, a corporation is being sued. To a number of these investors, the Hotel Nikko case is the key in determining whether the CNMI will continue to its move to become economically self-sufficient.

The Nikko Case

It was in 1978 when a group of Japanese investors connected with the Nikko International chain of hotels came to Saipan to find a suitable location for their $60 million project.

The project is now known as Hotel Nikko Saipan. It is a 313 room hotel cum first class resort which has a disco, a restaurant which has a 250 seating capacity, a swimming pool with a water slide, tennis and racketball courts and a fitness center.

The hotel itself was just the initial phase of the project. The developers had also planned of adding a commercial complex, a staff housing for the employees and time-sharing condominiums and duplexes to the existing hotel structure.

All of those projects will continue to be put on hold until the time the Superior Court issues their judgement on the case.

The San Roque property was originally purchased from the Camachos by the Realty Trust Corporation, a company which was 51% controlled by locals and a 49% control by foreigners.

Court documents show that at the time the Camacho deal was consummated, 49% of the stocks in Realty Trust Corp. was owned by former Saipan lawyers Roger Gridley and Jack Layne. The other partners in the company who owned 51% of the stocks were Bernie S. Cabrera and Josepha K. Flores of Blanco Verde Ltd.

Atty. David Nevitt of Carlsmith, Wichman, Case and Ichiki said that at the time when the Realty Trust purchased the Camacho property, the Article XII amendment stipulating that land in the Commonwealth had to be 100% owned by those of Northern Marianas descent has not yet been put in place.

The amendment was introduced in 1986, three years after the transaction between the Camacho's and Realty Trust Co. and Blanco Verde was consummated, thus the investors of the later company were in adherence to the Article XII guidelines.

It was in July 1983 when the group of Gridley, Layne, Flores and Cabrera purchased the Camacho land at the rate of $300 per square meter which, according to Nevitt was a competitive price at that time.

Later, Realty Trust Corp. was dissolved with the shares of Gridley and Layne being purchased by Japanese investor Riichi Yamamoto who was now in control of 49% of the Blanco Verde stocks.

The case against the Nikko management was filed by the Camacho's for the court to make a decision on whether or not Article XXII of the Constitution was violated. Atty. Ted Mitchell, the counsel for the Camacho's in the case claimed in an article authored by Cheryl Mitchell titled Indian Givers.

Management officials of the Nikko Hotel believes that the transaction between Realty Trust Corp. and the Camachos was legal and binding.

Nikko officials were in fact, stupefied, when they learned they were named as defendants in a case filed by the land's former owners.

Foreign investors understand that the forefathers of this island-state would want their land to be protected, what they cannot understand however is that after a number of years, original owners will file lawsuits claiming they were cheated of their properties.

"This Article XII issue is a setback in the economic development of the Commonwealth. The image of the Northern Marianas is at its lowest ebb and already, investors are already wary of what the future may hold.

Investors are keeping a tight watch on the Nikko case but right now, the sentiment is that the CNMI is a high risk area for developers.

To them, there is no guarantee that they are the rightful owners of the land as there is no system of proving the actual ownership of the land which the developers might show interest on.

EXERCISE YOUR RIGHT TO VOTE

YOUR RIGHTS BEFORE AND AFTER YOU VOTE

The voter's most important right (weapon) is set forth in 1 CMC, Section 6411(a): It is the RIGHT TO CAST A SECRET BALLOT.

"Each qualified voter has the right to cast a secret ballot in private. The Board of Elections shall set up voting places to guarantee that each voter may vote in private."

What does this mean? Very simply, it means that no one knows how you vote unless you tell. Your ballot is a SECRET. Only you can tell the secret.

Many voters donate to campaigns, attend pocket meetings and work for candidates even though they don't want to. Why? Because they are afraid they will lose their government jobs if they are not seen. I call this "job terrorism".

Under the CNMI Constitution, each individual is guaranteed the right to FREEDOM OF SPEECH. What does this mean if someone asks you who you voted for? It means that before and after you vote:

1. YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO SAY NOTHING.
2. YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO TELL THE TRUTH.
3. YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO LIE.

When you are alone in the voting place, listen to your heart and to your mind. Think of your future and the future of your children. Don't be afraid to use your own judgment. You have the liberty to vote as you want. As a famous judge once said:

"Liberty lies in the hearts of men and women; when it dies there, no Constitution, no law, no court can save it."

USE YOUR LIBERTY, VOTE ON ELECTION DAY

You have six (6) votes to cast, please use one for Kenneth L. Govendo.

Tinian Commission opens up for new applicants

The Tinian Casino Gaming Control Commission announced that effective November 1, 1991, applications for casino licenses will be accepted by the Commission.

In a news release, Commission Chairman John U. Hofschneider said that over the course of the last six months the Commission has received inquiries from around the world about gaming investment opportunities in Tinian.

The release which came out on the 29th of October, was done immediately before Hofschneider was rushed to the Commonwealth Health Center after a reported stroke.

In the release, Hofschneider noted that "the initial licensing opening in September 1990 did not get publicized around the world and that many qualified companies that might have been interested in Tinian were not aware of the application process."

"As a result of this, the licensing process is being opened to reach the broadest possible spectrum of casino operators," said Gaming Consultant Fredric E. Gushin in an overseas telephone interview. "All interested parties are welcome to apply."

According to Gushin, the move to restart licensing was aimed at basically trying to have the process moving quicker, such that it could entertain more license applicants while waiting for action from the current seven applicants whose financiers and casino operators have yet to be known.

Also such a move was meant to enable the commission to adopt new fee regulations based on other casino regulations around the world.

Asked whether that means an increase in license fees, Gushin said that there is no one set fee for applicants but there's a continuing need to get more for the costs of the investigations of which the applicants will be made to shoulder.

The Commission, the news release said, has prepared an investor's guide discussing gaming opportunities in Tinian. Chairman Hofschneider stated that the combination of our geographical location, the Commonwealth's association with the United States and the tax exemption for money earned in the Commonwealth make Tinian a truly unique investment opportunity.

The Commission is extremely hopeful that this measure coupled with the establishment of a credible regulatory structure and environment will attract additional qualified applicants.

The Tinian Casino Gaming Control Act, passed by an initiative, authorizes up to 5 casino hotel projects. It is our expectation that this step will attract and encourage companies and financial sources to seriously consider either developing or associating with existing applicants to construct casino hotels, said the commission news release.

Chairman Hofschneider made it clear that the reopening of the licensing process would not impede the ongoing efforts to evaluate the existing seven applicants.

However, Hofschneider noted that "it has become clear to the Commission that some of the seven existing applicants have not been able to either enter into agreements for financing these projects or have not identified casino operators."

To date, the Commission has issued two licensing reports covering three of the seven initial applicants. Rather than wait any longer for the initial applicants to secure financing or a casino operator, the reopening is designed to facilitate the Commission's ability to find an entity that can be awarded a casino license, the news release said.

Chairman Hofschneider added that these are exciting times for Tinian and that today's announcement is another step in assuring the viability of the casino industry and further assuring that the promises made to the people of Tinian will be fulfilled.

Schoolmate lashes at Demapan for alleged false claim

by Rafael H. Arroyo

Senatorial candidate Juan S. Demapan faces what may perhaps be the toughest challenge to his candidacy after a schoolmate at the Marianas High School came out in the open and questioned the candidate's integrity apparently because of his claim of being the valedictorian of the school's class of 1972.

Mary Anne De Leon Guerrero King, in identical letters to several members of the media, lambasted Demapan, saying that he was not the valedictorian and was not even part of the class that graduated in 1972.

The letters indicated that it was King herself who was the valedictorian during that school year, and that Demapan's allegedly false claim in one way or another reflects "lack of integrity or dishonesty."

"I was totally appalled to learn that Demapan had made such an outright fabrication to the public of his past achievements as is written on his bio-data pass out leaflets. He had the audacity to self-proclaim and publicize that he was Class of 1972 valedictorian. As a citizen of the CNMI, I question Juan Sablan Demapan's integrity on this issue," said King in her letters to the editors of various newspapers.

But Demapan belied all the allegations made by her former schoolmate who, according to the mailing address indicated in the letter, currently is in San Jose, California.

Demapan showed a xeroxed copy of his secondary school record which showed him graduating on August 9, 1971, ranking first in a class of 167 beginning with 9th grade and ending with the 1st semester in 12th grade.

A glimpse of his transcript which was apparently secured prior to his admission to college, he completed four year academic requirement in three years, aside from a notation in the "outstanding activities, honors, and awards section" which read "Class of 72 valedictorian — original standing."

King in attacking the senatorial candidate said that his presentation of himself is an outrageous deceit on his behalf to CNMI citizens.

Juan Sablan Demapan

"The voting population wants facts not fiction of a candidate's accomplishments, and not Juan Sablan Demapan's concocted fabrication of his (warped) personal reality," King's letter read.

"I would rather have the records speak for itself," said Demapan when sought to comment on King's letter.

In an interview with the Variety, Demapan said that King's letter may have been a last-minute ploy to destroy Demapan's chances in the forthcoming polls.

"I see this as a last ditch effort by my opponent to discredit me. To be fair, maybe we should ask him to show his transcripts also, just like what I am doing now, so that people could see," Demapan said.

King's statements were not accompanied by supporting documents but she indicated a firm resolve that what she was saying was apparently true.

"I have no difficulty accepting a candidate over-emphasizing and publicizing his true achievements, but to fabricate what wasn't and never had been, is total fiasco, especially when a candidate makes such claim to obtain votes for such a respectable position."

"The bottomline is, if Juan Demapan, as a running candidate for the CNMI Senate cannot at least be honest to himself, can he possibly be trusted to be honest to the public he will be representing, if he obtains enough votes and eventually represents us," she queried.

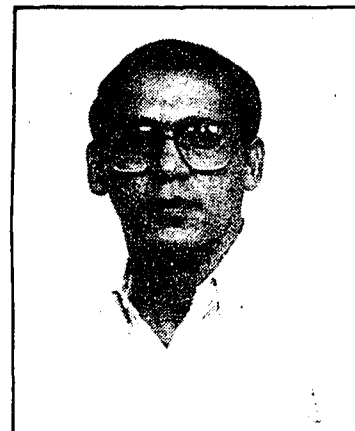

King statements were based on her own account of what she remembered during her high school days, as she provided a chronology of events in school during that time.

According to her account, Demapan started in grammar school with the class of 1972, but that he graduated from Marianas High School in 1971, and not in 1972.

In late 1969, MHS was established, with the class of 1970 being the first batch of students to graduate from that school.

TO ALL VOTERS OF THE MUNICIPALITY/SENATORIAL DISTRICT OF SAIPAN

I AM PLEASED TO INFORM YOU THAT I AM RUNNING AS A CANDIDATE FOR MUNICIPAL COUNCIL IN THE MUNICIPALITY OF SAIPAN. PLEASE GIVE ME A FEW MINUTES OF YOUR TIME AND LET ME TELL YOU THAT I AM INTERESTED IN HELPING TO IMPROVE OUR COMMUNITY THROUGH OUR MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

PLEASE GIVE ME A FEW MINUTES OF YOUR TIME AND LET ME TELL YOU THAT I AM INTERESTED IN HELPING TO IMPROVE OUR COMMUNITY THROUGH OUR MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

The Saipan Municipal Government, headed by our MAYOR, is wherein lie the heart of our community functions. It is mandated to improve our local communities and villages, and to promote community development and community action programs. It provides services to, and develops programs for, our children, young people, adults, and the elderly. Let us not forget also that, one of the most important and most difficult responsibility of the Municipal Government, is to repair, improve and maintain in good condition all secondary roads (in villages and other housing subdivisions) and roads leading to farm areas, tourist scenic sites, and other remote public areas.

As Deputy Director of Public Works and formerly Special Advisor to the former director of Public Works, I have been involved in road improvements and other physical and infra-structural developments. As former Chief of Technical Division in the Mariana Islands Housing Authority, I came to understand the need for quality housing and got involved in housing subdivision developments for the poor and the underprivileged. More importantly, I gained understanding of essential community needs, and developed good working relationships with government agency officials and our MAYOR.

With my experience, I can be very instrumental in developing programs for our island community. As a concerned citizen, I want to utilize my experiences to work with our MAYOR to achieve the goals and mandates incumbent on our Municipal government.

PLEASE GIVE ME YOUR VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN THIS COMING NOVEMBER 2 ELECTION AND LET ME JOIN THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL TO PROMOTE AND IMPLEMENT ACTIVITIES AND TO PUSH FORWARD TOWARDS CONTROLLED AND PROPERLY PLANNED COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT AND COMMUNITY ACTION PROGRAMS.

YOUR VOTE WILL PUT ME IN AN IDEAL POSITION WHERE I CAN BE MOST USEFUL AND MOST BENEFICIAL TO OUR COMMUNITY.

MHS reportedly had a 2-track educational system, plus an optional program that allows a student to graduate early if the student had accrued and met the minimal accumulated number of credits requires for a high school diploma.

This program enables a student to graduate a year or the summer prior to his actual graduation, and obtain a high school diploma dated for the same time frame.

According to King, graduating at an earlier date drops the student out of the particular graduating class he belongs to.

"Juan Sablan Demapan decided to take the early graduation path and graduated with a small group of students who elected for the same option sometime in 1971," King said.

It was said that the very small group of students that Demapan graduated with was not merged or even made part of the actual graduating MHS class of 71. His group's graduation ceremony was allegedly conducted separately.

King noted that having graduated and received his diploma sometime in 1971, Demapan was no longer an existing member of the MHS class of 72. Moreover, from September 1971 to May 1972, while the MHS class of 72 was arduously finishing the final year of high school, Demapan was reportedly somewhere in the US mainland going through his freshman year in secondary education.

Also, when the MHS Class of 72 and MHS school officials were presenting speeches and diplomas during the graduation ceremony, Demapan was a part of the audience as a spectator, and not as a participating member of the graduating class of 72, said Kings letter.

The letter came out less than a week before election day and was seen by some quarters as a direct assault to Demapan's candidacy.

The senatorial candidate, however, did not want to put weight on the issue, almost brushing off the matter, saying it was a "non-issue", since he was clearly not up to making false statements in his leaflet.

He recalled that while it is true that during that time, he had to leave for college at the University of Michigan where he reportedly was given a scholarship, the records could speak for themselves that what he said in his leaflets that he was indeed valedictorian of his class, is true.

"What I had in my bio-sketch are all true and I'm willing to prove that fact. I know a person by the name of Mary Anne De Leon Guerrero King as a former classmate, but I believe that she might have been dragged into this issue which is meant to discredit me, especially now that election day is just around the corner," Demapan said.

DPS officers ready for four day weekend

by Teri M. Flores

Police officers will be on a tight schedule in the oncoming days and in anticipation, more patrols will be dispatched to provide assistance to the public.

Police Antonio Reyes said police officers have already been placed on 12 hour shifts in anticipation of the coming events.

Already, additional patrols have been out on the streets since Thursday night as kids and adults alike took time to celebrate Halloween.

Today, police will provide assistance to those who will be trekking to the cemeteries in observance of All Soul's Day.

Tomorrow, Election Day, every eligible voter will head to the polls and in the 13 designated areas.

At least one police officer will be stationed in the polling places to maintain peace and order and assist those who may be in need of help.

The opening ceremonies of the Pacific Basin Development Conference is slated on Sunday and among the dignitaries who are expected to attend the meeting are Governors Pete Tali-Coleman and Joseph Ada of American Samoa and Guam respectively.

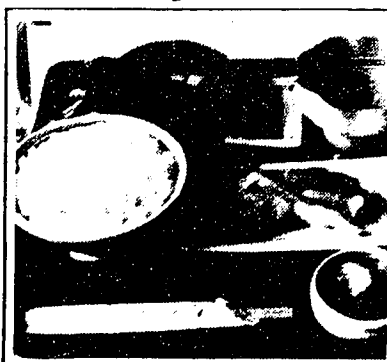

Hawaii's Governor John Waihee is also expected to attend the four-day meeting among Pacific Rim leaders and other business and government representatives.

Citizenship Day falls on a Monday which is also a legal holiday in the Commonwealth.

As an added precaution to motorists, Reyes said there are plans to station patrol cars with their beacons on to assist motorists during peak hours and at night in some of Saipan's major thoroughfares.

*WELL-DESERVED SALARY INCREASE FOR GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES; AND

FINALLY, A COST-OF-LIVING ALLOWANCE FOR RETIREES.

As a member of the House Leadership in the Seventh Legislature, I am proud to have played a major role in making these accomplishments possible.

We all know there is a lot more to be done. Our Commonwealth is a young government which more than ever needs courageous and enlightened leadership. My record clearly demonstrates the accomplishments. I have made in my two years in office. Please vote for me so that I can continue to pursue the programs and goals that our Commonwealth needs.

Over the past two years, we have watched in earnest the rise of democracy in countries where free elections are being held for the first time in many, many years. The freedom to choose leaders is a precious right which must never be taken for granted. Please vote tomorrow.

Sincerely,

MAKING THINGS HAPPEN FOR YOU!*Mayor Guerrero committed to pave village roads

by Teri Flores

The paving of secondary roads in the Chalan Kanoa and precinct II district was recently accomplished under the leadership of Saipan Mayor Jesus S. DeLeon Guerrero.

Precinct II Representatives William C. Ada and Diego T. Benavente assisted the mayor in identifying funds to make the road paving projects a reality.

"I made it clear to the people of Saipan that I will do all I can to serve them," Guerrero said.

Among the stretch of village roads that were recently paved were from William S. Reyes Elem. School in Chalan Kanoa, roads in the Chalan Kanoa Precincts I-A and B, San Antonio Village, Susupe, Tanapag and San Jose.

Roads in Koblerville, Garapan, Chinatown, Navy Hill,

Sadog Tasi, San Roque, Capitol Hill, As Teo, Kagman, San Vicente, Dandan, Fina Sisu and As Perdido are among the areas where roads are scheduled to be paved.

With a number of projects going on at the same time, Mayor Guerrero divided his heavy equipment staff into three groups. The first group is responsible for the initial stage of locating landmarks, clearing, leveling, providing coral and compacting the project site.

The actual paving of the which also includes traffic control is done by the second group while the third group comprise the auto and heavy equipment mechanic section, sheet/metal section, water delivery section and supporting staff. Assistance from the Department of Public Works is also requested when necessary.

Mayor of Saipan Jesus Guerrero goes out personally to oversee the projects his office undertake

Initiative fails to make it to the election polls

By [Name] [Address]

The initiative to amend the constitution to allow for the election of judges to the Supreme Court failed to make it to the polls. The initiative was defeated by a vote of 10-9 in the Senate on October 24, 1991.

The initiative was introduced by Senator [Name] and was supported by a coalition of senators. It aimed to amend the constitution to allow for the election of judges to the Supreme Court.

According to Diaz, he finds it impossible to include the measure in the elections because the Senate, which passed the initiative only last October 24, transmitted its request for ratification only yesterday.

Under the law, an initiative has to be submitted to the Senate at least 60 days before the election. The initiative was submitted on October 24, 1991.

In order to make a specimen ballot, a total of 12,000 copies of the initiative had to be printed and distributed to the voters.

"There's no way we could possibly do this," said Diaz, explaining the reason for the initiative's failure. "If only the Senate had passed the initiative earlier, it could have been included in the ballot."

According to Diaz, each ballot would have to carry on it a Board of Elections seal, and this sealing process alone could take more than two days, or even a week.

In addition, absentee ballots have already been sent to off-land voters since middle of October to make sure that they received their ballots on time. Adding a measure in the ballot means that the poll has to send absentee voters the specimens containing the initiative.

"If not, we may be held liable and even the suits from the affected voters," Diaz pointed out. The initiative, which was passed by both houses of Congress, requires three-fourths vote of the members present and voting of each house.

In a letter to Roman Mangiona, chairman of the Board of Elections, the senate requested that the measure go through ratification in this election.

The measure, known as Senate Legislative Initiative 7-1, H.D.I., was passed by Congress after both houses found that the constitution is silent on the length of time that may pass before it entertains reconsideration for a vetoed bill.

"The legislature finds that this was not the intent of the framers of the constitution and that a time, therefore, must be placed on such action," read the findings section of the initiative.

Under the measure, every bill or resolution passed by the legislature must be signed by the governor within 60 days of its passage. If the governor does not sign it within that time, it shall become law. If the governor vetoes it, the legislature must reconsider it within 60 days of the veto.

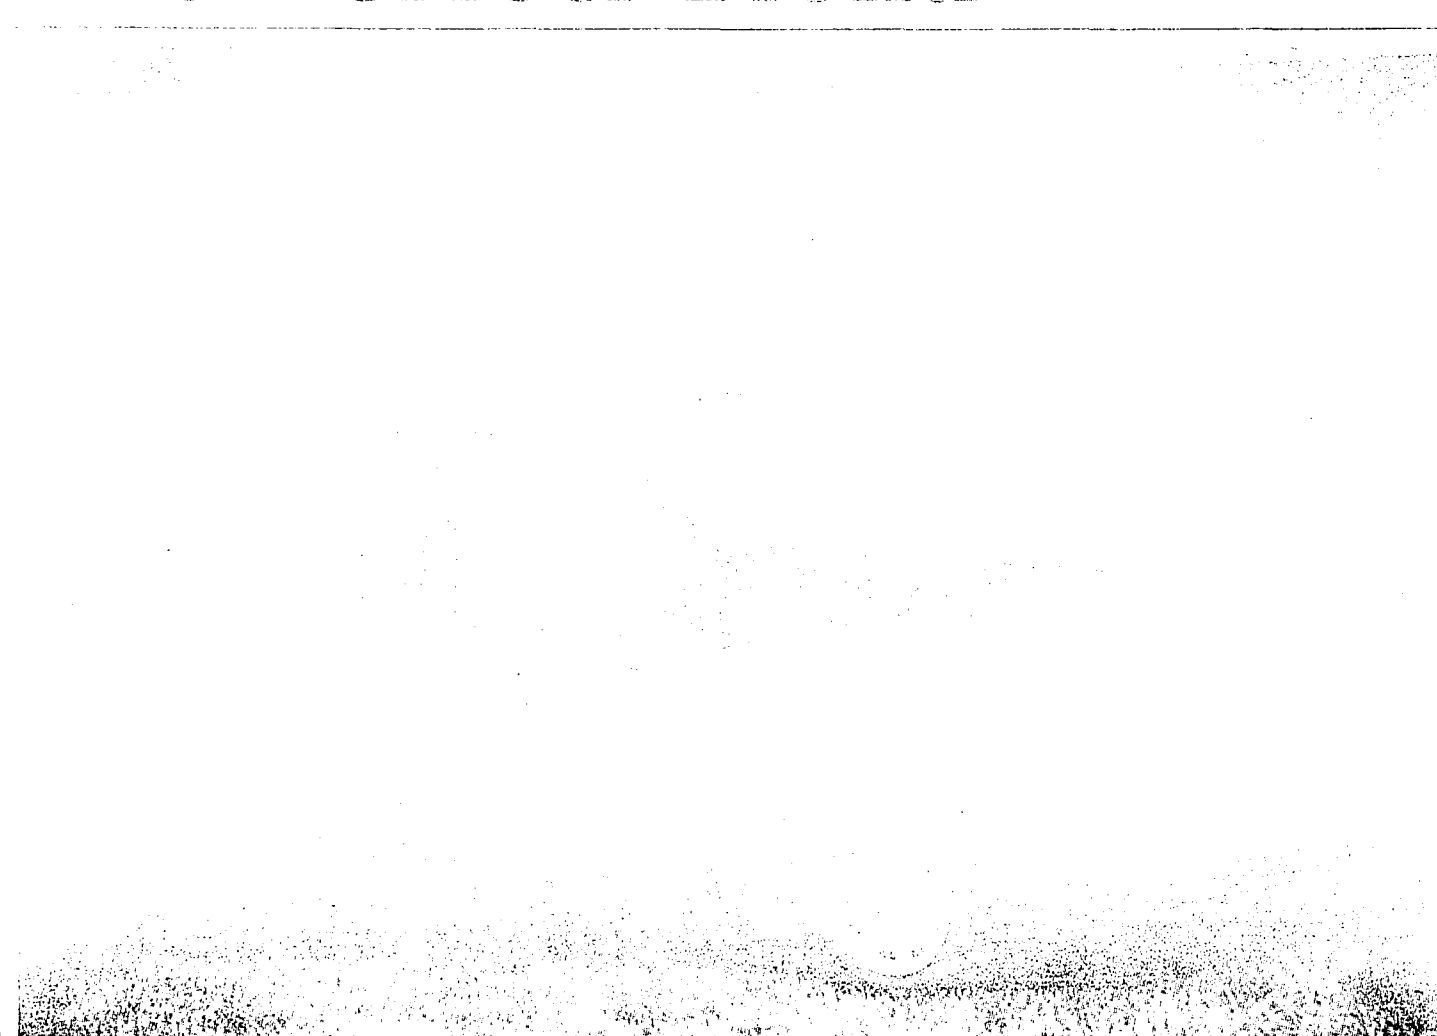

The governor may veto an item, section, or part of an appropriation bill and sign the remainder of the bill, provided that he or she must sign the item, section, or part governing the manner in which the appropriation effected by the bill is to be used.

The bill or an item, section, or part of a bill vetoed by the governor may be reconsidered by Congress within sixty days from the receipt of the governor's veto message in the house of origin of the vetoed bill, item, section, or part of a bill to reconsider the vetoed legislation.

If two-thirds of the members in each house vote, upon reconsideration, to pass the bill, item, or part, it shall become law.

Chamber adds more funding for Homework Centers

The Homework Center program is progressing well and in support of its activities, the Saipan Chamber of Commerce (SCC) recently donated a check of $1,022.68 to continue the program currently implemented at the Hopwood Junior High and at the Marianas High School.

The program is a joint effort between the Public School System and the SCC aimed at helping students with their academic load through peer tutorials.

Since its inception in February of this year, the SCC has contributed a total of $6,093 to run the program.

The recent contribution was presented by SCC Executive Director Dino Jones to Commissioner of Education William Torres who said that it is the Chamber's thoughtful contributions that keep the program alive.

At present, several teachers from Hopwood and the MHS are rotating their free time to assist the students tutors in running the program.

The tutors are members of the National Honor Society at the two schools who work for two hours after school from Monday until Thursday.

The student clients are then picked up at the schools by their parents or guardians, PSS Special Projects Coordinator Manuel Sound said.

The one-year pilot program will run until next February and plans are that it will continue in the PSS if the project turns out to be successful.

Torres said if it turns out to be a success, a permanent source of funding will be sought from federal funds or local appropriations with the possibility of establishing similar centers in other schools.

"In this way, the community volunteer support for education the Chamber has started can continue to grow throughout the public school system," Torres said.

Garapan Elementary students perform their number during the Crusade for Good Behavior held recently.

Sablan Construction aids GTC School

The Gregorio T. Camacho Elementary School in San Roque was experiencing drainage problems which left the school grounds flooded and unusable during the rainy season.

To ease the problem and as a means of helping the school, JG Sablan Construction Company management volunteered heavy equipment, manpower and material to correct the problem.

The project cost, estimated at almost $10,000 was donated to the school and to the community by the JG Sablan Company.

CIP Coordinator Alfredo Deleon Guerrero said over a series of weekend, JG Sablan Construction built four cement collection holes in the area surrounding the administration and auditorium buildings to install the drain pipes donated by the Department of Public Works.

Commissioner of Education William S. Torres and GTC Principal Anicia Dela Cruz commended the community spirit of the company owners, management and the workers and said they hoped others would emulate the efforts made by the company.

Fund raising for San Jose Church planned

by Teri M. Flores

Parishioners of the San Jose Parish are undertaking a number of fundraising activities to raise funds for the proposed renovation of the San Jose Church.

"I am already anxious to get the church renovated," Parish priest Father Isaac Ayuyu said.

The parish is targeting to raise $500,000 to fully renovate the 24-year old structure. The renovation is expected to start after the holidays and Ayuyu said the aim is to have the renovation finished in time for the church's 25th anniversary in 1993.

A committee composed of parishioners headed by parish council member Frank Diaz was organized to undertake the fundraising activities, the proceeds of which will go to the project.

The first phase of the project involves the renovation of the ceiling and Ayuyu said they are now awaiting the arrival of the construction materials to start the initial facet of the project.

Two additional extensions will be added to the structure to widen its floor space while there are also plans of remodeling the sanctuary to fit Vatican specifications. Electric bells such as those found at the Mount Carmel Cathedral in Chalan Kanoa will also be installed as part of the renovations. The project is being undertaken by the engineering firm of Henry Pangelinan and Associates.

Active parishioners, members of the Christian Mothers and the Parish Council have already started a Sunday bake sale scheduled after the 6 a.m. services. A raffle drawing for next year's May fiesta will also be launched in the coming weeks while the youth group will have a walk-a-thon to raise additional funds, Ayuyu said.

Another well attended activity which Ayuyu said received a good response from the community was the recently held Sunday brunch which netted $35,000 for the parish. He however said $25,000 have already been spent to purchase new benches for the church.

Plans have already been set to repeat the event by next year after the completion of the project's initial phase, Ayuyu said.

The reception of the community to the project has been overwhelming and Ayuyu is moved by the generosity of the business establishments who have also extended assistance to the parish.

"We have raised enough to start the project but, we still have a long way to go to finish it," Ayuyu said.

Upon completion of the project, Ayuyu plans to renovate the existing classrooms which house Catechism students.

CHC expands OB/Gyn Dept.

The Obstetrics and Gynecology Department of the Commonwealth Health Center will be expanding its functions with the addition of three physicians to its staff.

Former CHC physician Dr. James Barnard is expected to assume his post on November 1, Dr. Helen Taro-Atalig chairwoman of the department and CHC physician for 17 years announced in a press release from the hospital.

Barnard decided to return to the post he vacated last summer because of the great need for more gynecologic surgery and his love for the island and people.

Two long-term additions to the department is expected to arrive early next year. Dr. Raymond Hegarty from Ireland and Nova Scotia, will be arriving with his wife, Dr. Lesley Ruggles while Dr. Liane Mizgala from the University of Toronto Residency Program will be an additional member of the OB/Gyne team by February.

Hegarty, who will be spending a month on Saipan, aims to develop policies and procedures to guide practitioners in the overlapping areas of family practice and obstetrics.

Dr. Duncan Price, an OB/Gyne from Vancouver, Canada left after working with Taro-Atalig for the month of October. He was referred to Saipan by orthopedic surgeon Dr. Gavin Sutherland, a former physician of the Trust Territory days.

Price was involved in all aspects of patient care from the clinic to the operating room and saw a need for more full-time gynecologists in the CNMI.

The OB/Gyne Department is involved in the care of women including pre-natal care, infertility, unwanted fertility and cancer of the female organs.

*A Global Concern
In this Island of Ours.*

VOTE!

★ JUAN SABLAN REYES ★
"LILING"

PARA SENADOT SAIPAN

Our environment could spell disaster. This is an issue that I rank the top most significant issues for the Commonwealth as a whole and not only Saipan. And on a larger scale, as we all know, the environment is a global concern. Of course, this does not mean that priorities in other areas such as education, health care and social services and the like are number two, the last concern. These are just as equally important, and must be addressed with the same degree of concern. These are also my priorities, but at a larger scale, the environment must be protected because this will determine our future, especially if we are to continue to be reliant upon our major tourism industry. The environment will dictate at every corner how we shape our future; how investors will look to invest here; how we want our island to be; how tourists will perceive us. It is indeed a major driving force and should be used as a barometric gauge in how we want Saipan to be and in the type of economy we want.

The environment as an issue should not be disregarded. It is very fragile one and we should look forward to preserving it. Everyone wants clean beaches, well landscaped surroundings, clean streets, proper sanitary landfills (dumps), clean air, junk-free neighborhoods, more flame trees, well manicured lawns, especially in public areas, yet some of us oppose such regulations when government agencies try to impose even a little of some of the nice things we want.

We should understand that in order to develop and develop with maturity, that we must give up certain conveniences (like doing away without regulations) and accept a more orderly growth. For instance, in being regulated (and these will come, i.e. zoning, building code, etc.) we sometimes are opposed to such regulations, even if a regulations simply stipulates planting one tree in front of our development. It is difficult at times to accept change. This is understood, for in every move to change things, there is resistance. However, we must understand that in making our environment more liveable, we are enhancing the value of our island (even our personal properties); we are making the quality of life much more desirable; we are promoting a concern to live in harmony with nature; we are educating our children at the same time; we are creating an ambience in our island that could eventually become a model for other developing islands or island nations. This is something we can be proud of.

We have to strike a balance between keeping the status quo or moving forward with the necessary change to make our island's quality of life second to none. I am committed to this end to do just that. To improve our overall quality of life by beginning with preserving our environment first. Again, if we lose our delicate environment we will lose our economy, and the effect will be a domino effect on other industries. I also believe that once all things in life are gone or extinct, man will follow not far behind. This is why I say the environment is an extremely critical issue, not only for Saipan, but on a global scale. We on Saipan have to do our part, not only for us but for the entire world.

Marina officially opens November 4

by Teri M. Flores

The Smiling Cove Marina will officially be opened this Monday in special ceremonies which will be attended by Commonwealth government dignitaries and visiting officials attending the Pacific Basin Development Conference.

Division of Fish and Wildlife Arnold Palacios extends his invitation to the public to be a part of the dedication ceremony which will be held at 4 p.m. in the facility grounds.

The facility will be opened three years after it was prioritized by the DFW as one of those included in the boating infrastructure plan for the Commonwealth.

Palacios said the opening of the marina will surely boost sports fishing and the boat chartering business in the CNMI as it will provide local fishermen and fishing enthusiasts as well more access to water recreation.

The facility was constructed at a cost of $2.3 million in local and federal monies. The primary source of funding for the floating dock facility came from the Department of the Interior and the Sports Fish Restoration Program of the U.S. Department of Fish and Wildlife.

Around 50 22 to 60 footer vessels will be accommodated in the marina which also features other amenities such as launching ramps, a parking lot for cars and trailers and water and power services. A 24-hour security guard will also be stationed in the area.

Around 200 applications from foreign and local companies and individuals wanting to rent spaces in the marina have been received by the DFW since the project was announced three years ago.

The improvement of the marina has so far, been the largest project which involves public land.

Its architectural and engineering design was completed in 1988 after which dredging and shore protection activities which cost $1.4 million, was undertaken.

The marina had been of use since the Japanese regime when it became Saipan's docking facility.

It was later developed by the Americans who also used it as a docking area for PT boats and barges. In later years, local fishermen used it as a mooring area for boats during a typhoon.

Controversial Interior Order to be Reviewed

By: Howard Graves

HONOLULU (AP) - Palau government leaders are expected to vent their frustrations with a year old Interior Department order which has restricted their spending and borrowing when they meet next week with Assistant Interior Secretary Stella Guerra.

Palau President Ngiratkel Etipson is scheduled to head a delegation of top-level administrative and legislative leaders to the Wednesday session at Saipan, Northern Mariana Islands.

The meeting is to examine the order issued in October 1990 by Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan, Jr. to tighten fiscal management in the western Pacific island chain's government operations.

Guerra's Office of Territorial and International Affairs administers Palau's affairs under a U.N. trusteeship.

The Palau government became unhappy last December when Guerra earmarked how and where nearly $16 million in U.S. funds could be spent.

She also held in abeyance Palau's fiscal 1991 budget until the government could show it had local revenues to meet local expenditures.

The secretarial order also said if Palau wanted to borrow $250,000 or more it had to have the assistant secretary's approval. The same maximum was placed on capital improvement projects and contracts.

Palau Administration Minister Sandra Pierantozzi has called the earmarking and borrowing limitation features "the most objectionable."

She also said the limitation on borrowing "is too restrictive and does not allow Palau to seek large enough loans to pay off its creditors and (to) consolidate its debts into one manageable long-term debt."

In a September letter to leaders, Pierantozzi said the control on contracts capital projects "hinders economic development."

She also said her government should cook "complete flexibility" to seek foreign countries' economic assistance, especially from Japan.

Larry L. Morgan, OTIA's director of legislative and public affairs, said the Palau government had sought the review which Lujan pledged should be held after the first year of the order's imposition.

Guerra will be in Saipan for the Pacific Basin Development Council's annual meeting. The council's directors are the governors of Hawaii, Guam, American Samoa and the Northern Mariana Islands.

Senate acts on crime victim bill

by Rafael H. Arroyo

The bill that would seek to provide justice and assistance to victims of violent crimes was recently passed by the Senate during its sixth day, 4th regular session held in Rota.

The measure was entitled, "A bill for an act to establish an office of victim's rights within the Department of Public Safety; to require informing victims of violent crimes of their rights; to provide for compensation to said victims; to require victim's impact statements be incorporated into every felony pre-sentence report; and for other purposes."

Otherwise known as Senate Bill 7-86, the bill was approved upon the recommendation of the Committee on Federal Relations and Independent Agencies, but with amendments.

According to a committee report sent to Senate President Joseph S. Inos, there is a need for an effective criminal system to require the protection and assistance of victims in order to preserve their dignity and to encourage greater public cooperation in the apprehension and prosecution of criminal defendants.

It was specifically stated that the intent of the bill is to recognize and implement the inherent rights of crime victims and to lessen the financial burden placed upon those who suffer bodily injury or death as a consequence of such criminal acts.

According to the report, the bill's purpose is to establish an Office of Victim's Rights not under the Departments of Public Safety, but within the Attorney General's Office; to require that a victim's rights are thoroughly explained immediately after a crime is reported; to require that a victim's impact statement be solicited and considered prior to sentencing a convicted offender who has caused physical or emotional harm to a victim; and to assist in the just compensation of the victim who suffers bodily harm or death as a consequence of a criminal act.

A public hearing was held on the measure last July 16, 1991 at the Senate chamber wherein the overwhelming majority of agency representatives and professionals, involved in some aspect of victim assistance, fully supported the purposes of the bill in either their oral or written testimonies.

There was, however, a concern that the Office of Victim's Rights should not be placed within the DPS, because of the belief that the physical proximity of the perpetrator to the victim and the possibility of the victim's exposure to the him was unwanted and should be avoided.

In addition there was the belief that the duty of the DPS to serve the general welfare of the public may conflict with or at least compromise with the needs of the victim.

Most presenters during the hearing suggested that the alternative location for the victim's rights office was the Office of the Attorney General, which was apparently seen to possess the ability to best oversee the protection of victim's rights given the existing nature of criminal prosecution in the Commonwealth.

But such a suggestion was met by presenters of the AGO with little enthusiasm, saying that such a placement creates inherent conflicts of interest within the AGO.

"This does not appear to be borne out by the experience of the existing victim's rights offices in various states and countries surveyed," the AG Office presenters was heard to have said.

Another area of concern put up by the AGO was the suggestion to include "purse-snatching" under the umbrella of the bill. This was, however, rejected by the Committee, who said that remedies exist for recovery of monetary loss due to purse snatching, but that these are sorely lacking for persons who have suffered bodily injury or death as a consequence of a criminal act against them.

"Due to this, your committee felt that the bill's focus must remain at providing as much assistance as possible to a victim of violent crime," the committee, in its report, told Inos.

The mentioned intent is to send a message to victims that their needs and concerns are important to the CNMI government and that they can utilize such official assistance to regain their sense of control over their lives.

The professed goal of the office is to decrease the sense of isolation felt by most victims and to assist them economically for the violation they suffered at the hands of another human being.

Finally, there was a testimony that requiring a victim's impact statement be considered at sentencing impinged on a defendant's rights.

Article I, Section 11 of the commonwealth constitution, which ensures the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, and belongings against crime, shall be recognized at sentencing.

"Restitution to the crime victim shall be a condition of probation and parole except upon showing of a compelling interest," added the statute.

crystal methamphetamine which authorities found secured inside an oxygen tank. Federal drug-enforcement agents say that it was the largest ice haul confiscated in an American territory.

Law enforcement agents have noted the increasing popularity of crystal methamphetamine, a highly addictive substance commonly known as ice or shabu, among substance abusers in the CNMI.

Marijuana was considered as the drug of the 80's in the Commonwealth. In 1988, authorities started to encounter ice which was then smuggled in small quantities. Today, ice is the CNMI's "silent and growing menace."

The switch to methamphetamine may be due to various reasons. Among the most obvious ones noted by authorities is that unlike marijuana, ice is reusable and the chances of detecting it is almost nil.

"Ice is everywhere," a Special Operation's agent said. It is smuggled into the CNMI through boats, planes, cargo ships and, there are also fishermen who moonlight as drug smugglers. Most shipment originate from the Philippines.

Ice trafficking is a lucrative business. The price of a pound of marijuana can compare to the price of a gram of ice. Authorities say it is currently sold for $1,000 to $1,500 a gram whereas last year, it was sold at a low of $500 to a high of $700.

Authorities say the key in eradicating ice is to hit the shipment at the ports of entry before it reaches the hands of dealers and users on the islands.

Local drug prosecutors however, are hampered from effectively prosecuting drug traffickers as constitutional and procedural challenges are posed to them.

The search and seizure operations of law-enforcement agents, particularly those in the Customs, is being challenged.

Only recently, Superior Court Judge Marty W.K. Taylor ruled in the case of alleged drug trafficker Isidro Lizama that CNMI Customs personnel do not have the authority to execute warrantless searches. Chief of Customs Lt. Col. Pete P. Reyes said an appeal on the decision is forthcoming.

Prosecutors are also faced with the challenge of proving they have probable cause to file charges and that they are not in violation of a person's Fifth Amendment rights.

Government prosecutor Dennis O'Shea said law enforcement agencies are faced with the challenge of working in a system which lacks the necessary funding to hire additional staff and resources to enhance their service.

The Department of Public Safety Special Operations Division (SOD) is understaffed. There is no crime laboratory in the Commonwealth and evidence is thus, sent to Guam or Hawaii for further testing. There are only two special prosecutors who are assigned to handle drug cases.

The introduction of a bill authored by Garapan Congressman Stanley Torres proposing stiffer penalties for drug traffickers and rehabilitation to recovering drug dependents, has been a welcome move.

The surprising element to the bill however is that the punishment for marijuana traffickers remain as it was before, O'Shea said.

An SOD agent also laments their training has to be doubled to become more effective in interdiction. "Our techniques are already worn-out and those in the drug world come out with new ways of evading detection almost daily," the SOD agent said.

Lt. Joe Mafnas of the Customs said that Customs personnel are

Continued from page 40 identifying their searches particularly among cargos and passengers from minimum to high risk areas such as the Philippines and Palau.

"We are moving in the right direction. The number of arrests we have made has resulted in the confiscation of a large amount of drug shipment," Mafnas said.

The Customs have so far confiscated 5.13 pounds of ice, 25 pounds of marijuana and 1,000 dosages of prescription drugs from the Philippines, Korea and China which is forwarded to the hospital.

Canine dogs are also an important part of Customs operation. They are currently awaiting the arrival of two passive dogs and an additional two aggressive ones which will be of use on Tinian and Rota.

Law-enforcement agents have one observation in common - drug interdiction can be more effective if the public and the community, continue to show their support and assistance.

Aside from that, the official refused to divulge any further details on Hofschneider.

Mendiola's trial had been reset for January 6 as his co-defendant, Evangelista had requested for the continuance of the hearing originally set for November.

The request for the continuance of the matter was filed by Evangelista's counsel Atty. Jeffrey Hogan who will not be able to attend the November 18 trial date as he is also involved in the defense of another drug case on Guam.

Hogan's motion however, was not concurred by Mendiola who wanted a speedy disposition of the case.

NMC hosts two day "Working with Hands" Workshops

Ssm McPhetres a Hopwood student shows his artistic talent while painting the bus stop during school project.

More than a dozen artists from the CNMI and Guam will offer "che'cho kan'nai," a variety of art workshops to the Saipan community from November 9 to the 10th at the Northern Marianas College campus.

"Che'cho kan'nai" or working with hands is being sponsored by the Artists of Rota, Saipan and Tinian (ARTS) the NMC and the Public School System.

NMC Instructor Cheryl Treiber said the workshops will cover batik, beadwork, mwar-mwar making, mono printing, caricature drawing, coil baskets, quilt making, glass etching, silk and acrylic painting, aluminum tooling, tattooing, watercolor and teaching art history through the use of ninja turtles.

"This will be the greatest event of this kind on Saipan," Treiber said. Leslie Fraser of the NMC Adult and Continuing Education office said, "Che'cho kan'nai will provide a kaleidoscope of art forms for participants using island artists."

"Similar events have proven very successful, blending modern and traditional forms of expression," she said. Local artists Rob Hunter, Connie Adams, Noel Quitugua, Pat Yap, Jojo Cruz and Tony Teregeyo will be joined by Vic Chargualaf, Ron Castro, Sigrid See and other Guam artists in presenting the workshops.

The workshops will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 9-10 with on-site registration forms available from 8-9 a.m. Interested persons should contact Rob Hunter at the PSS Central Office of Fraser at the College for early registration.

Utility operation grant for Chuuk approved

A $630,000 grant will assist the Chuuk State government of the Federated States of Micronesia (FSM) with the inception of a Public Utilities Corporation (PUC), Assistant Secretary of the Interior for Territorial and International Affairs Stella Guerra announced today, according to news release from OTIA.

"This grant begins a multi-year cost-sharing program designed to improve operations and maintenance of island infrastructure on Chuuk," Assistant Secretary Guerra said.

Chuuk State will provide matching funds of $650,000 in the first year of the program.

The funds will provide preventive maintenance schedules and a repair facility inventory to help insure that operations and maintenance improvements continue over the long-term. Funding will also provide for road and public building repairs, including island schools and health facilities, the release from OTIA said.

A plan of action for the program was jointly developed by the Officer of Territorial and International Affairs, the Pohnpei State Government, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and the Louis Berger International and Barrett Consulting Group.

My Dear People of Saipan;

It is with great pleasure that I take this opportunity to openly acknowledge that my family and I, whole heartedly support and endorses the candidacy of Mr. Henry I. Sablan for Board of Education in the upcoming general election. You may recall, that during my administration, I had the rare opportunity to work closely with such capable individual in executing his duties as the Superintendent of Education.

Furthermore, under his direction and leadership for almost seven (7) years the Public School System implemented the following significant and innovative approaches to enhance our educational system for the betterment of our school children;

1. Marianas High School and Rota High School have for the first time been accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges;
2. Programs and direct special services for the education of handicapped children have progressively expanded;
3. The number and scope of Capital Improvement Projects (CIP) for the Public Schools over the past six years is unprecedented, representing the greatest construction of school facilities undertaken in any fiscal year;
4. School Principals and Key Staff are encouraged and participated in numerous training activities for the implementation of effective school practices;
5. Students have had more opportunities than ever before to participate in national and local academic and extra-curricular contests, fairs, exhibits, and programs such as the Junior Olympics, Close-up, Japanese Student Exchange, Science Fairs, Attorney General's Speech contest, Student Take-Over Day, Cultural Days and the Presidential Academic Awards;
6. Public Kindergarten for the first time has been established in three schools with plans for expansion to all schools;

Teachers/students paint bus stops

The Public School System (PSS) and the Saipan Chamber of Commerce (SCC) teamed up to brighten more than 25 bus shelters on the island as part of the activities in observance of Saipan Beautification Week.

While the Chamber of Commerce through its Executive Director Dino Jones provided the 150 gallons of paint, PSS Commissioner William Torres mobilized the whole PSS and its students for a "love time" on October 19 to clean and paint the bus shelters all over the island.

PSS students and teachers spread out to clean and paint 25 bus stops from Matansa in the north to As Lito in the south, PSS Budget Officer and SCC Vice-President Herminia Fusco said in a press release.

The bus stops have been built over the past decade and are decorated in different designs and motifs. In the past, the CNMI Council for the Arts and PSS schools undertook the responsibility of painting the murals.

The Chamber of Commerce sponsored activity had been an opportune time to clean the graffiti all over the structures, Fusco said.

It was also a means of assisting PSS while utilizing student labor and Chamber resources to improve the structures.

A San Vicente student helper paint a bus stop in the area. The activity was in observance of Saipan Beautification Week.

CONGRESSMAN TORRES' ANTI-DRUG BILL SIGNED INTO LAW

ACTING GOVERNOR BENJAMIN T. MANGLONA APPROVES HOUSE
BILL NO. 7-245, "THE ANTI-DRUG ABUSE ACT OF 1991" AUTHORED BY

REPRESENTATIVE STANLEY TUDELA TORRES

Finally, the Commonwealth has stronger penalties against the importation, possession and trafficking of hard drugs, thanks to the efforts of Congressman Torres.

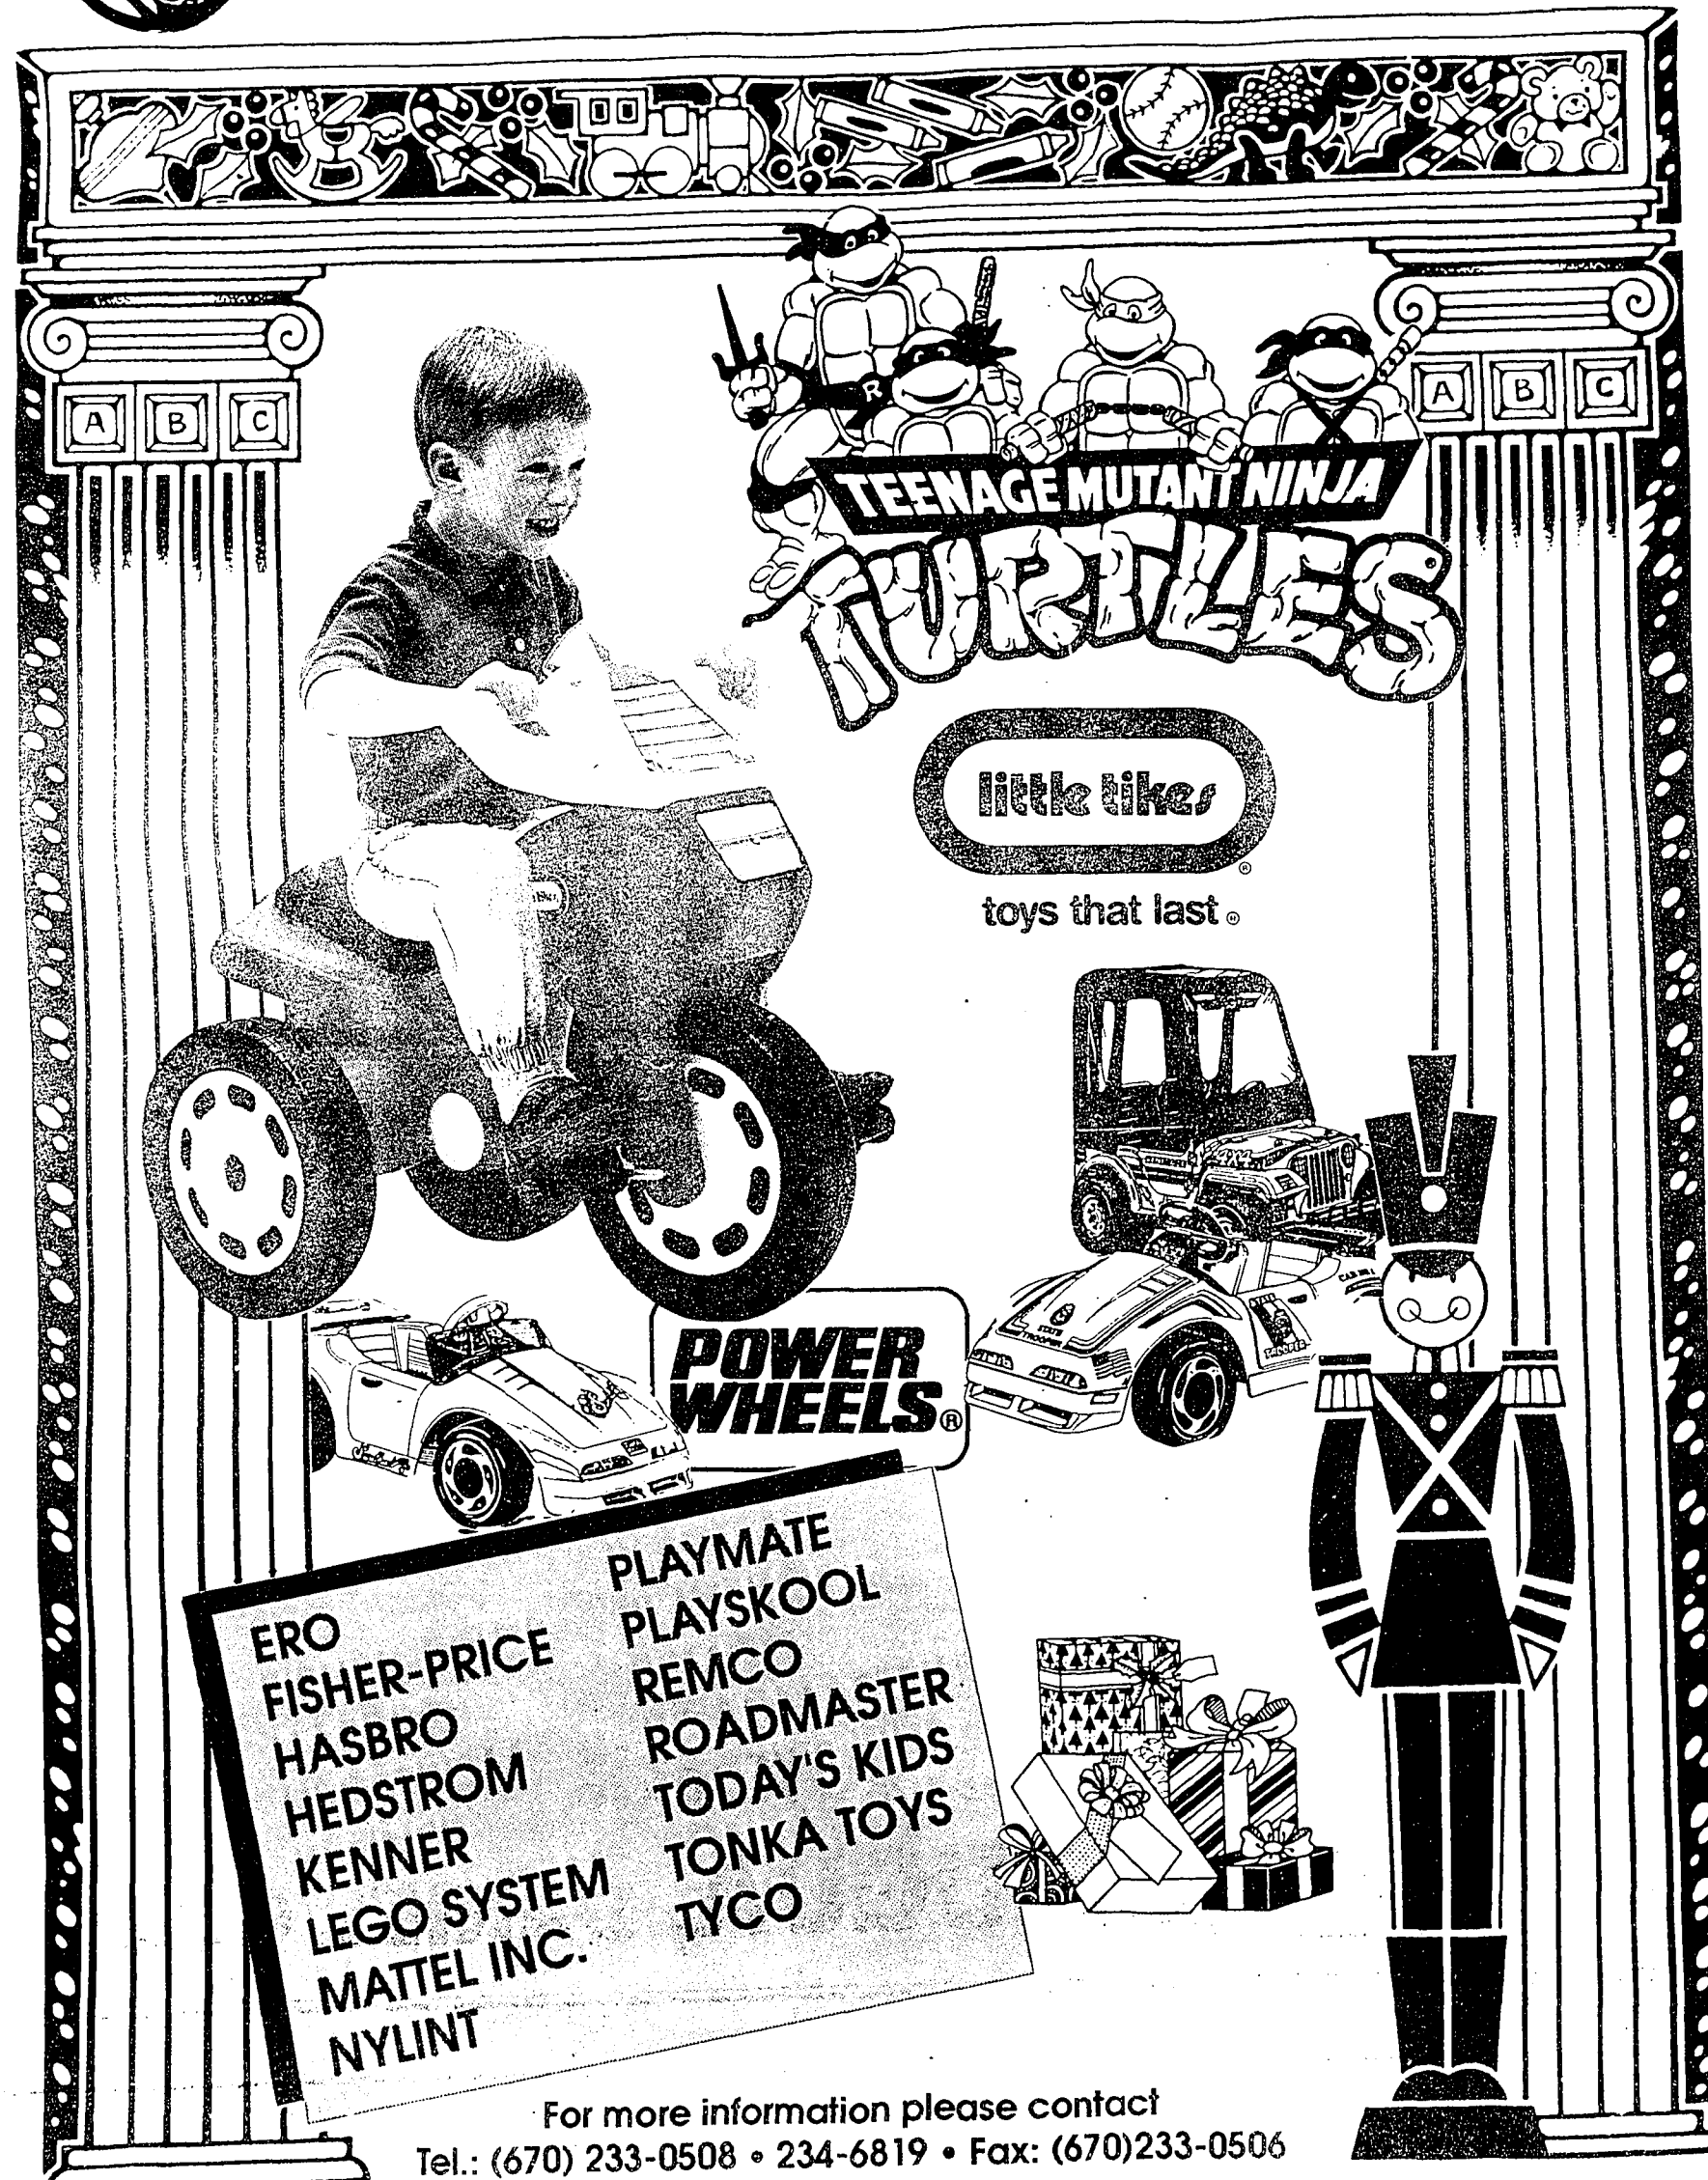

As Chairman of the Committee on House, Education and Welfare, Congressman Torres has been committed to help our law enforcement officers tackle the menace of drugs which now threatens our children and families. After consulting with the Department of Public Safety, customs Service, the Special Prosecutor from the Office of the Attorney General and the Criminal Justice Planning Agency, Chairman Torres sponsored legislation to fight the war on drugs in the Commonwealth.

Following a public hearing where testimony was strongly in support of tougher legislation, Chairman Torres pushed for the passage of H.B. No. 7-245 through the HEW Committee and the House. The Senate passed it without amendment. Acting Governor Manglona signed it into law on October 30, 1991, as Public Law 7-40.

One provision of P.L. 7-40 allows our hard-working policemen and customs officials to received overtime, so they can devote more time to the war against drugs. Congressman Torres supports our law enforcement officers.

QUALIFIED • DEDICATED • COMMUNITY PROGRAMS ORIENTED

Let's keep Saipan clean and beautiful. We can make this happen only when we concentrate our resources and energies at the village levels, such as, better village roads, street lights within the villages, construction and improve sewer system, facilities for our youths and elders alike, etc. To ignore these vital needs of our community means the qualities of life of the people are overlooked.

In the 6th Legislature, I authored and insured that the appropriations for the San Antonio Elementary School campus improvements, the police substation and the Koblerville baseball field, and the San Vicente ballfield lighting system (pending construction) are passed and in placed. The Dandan homesteaders are now enjoying the benefit of the $500,000.00 water distribution fund which I, on their behalf, testified at the MIHA for the HUD Block Grant. I urged my friends and colleagues from Rota and Tinian to support this request.

Many are forgetting the retirees and their family needs. The record shows that Antonio Muna Camacho made it possible for the CNMI employees, who were TT employees to become eligible for retirement within the NMI Retirement Program. I am not forgetting and I still believe that the retirees and their beneficiaries need a better COLA program, have the Retirement Fund pay half of the Life and Health Insurance and increase the annuity for surviving dependents. These can be done with our help and vote of confidence.

We want quality of life. Let's provide more funding for health services, education, public safety, water, power, sewer, and youth programs.

It is known that former Congressman Antonio Muna Camacho will not remain quiet until the needs of his villages are addressed.

I asked each and everyone of you to come and join me in my effort this election.

Antonio Muna Camacho was born in Saipan on September 23, 1948.

Continental Air Micronesia has announced that David Bernard is the airline's new Cargo Manager on Saipan.

Bernard was Air Mike's Kosrae City Manager prior to his appointment to the Saipan Post. He replaces Rufino Aguon, who relocated to Palau early this month.

Max Kretzers, CNMI General Manager for Continental Air Micronesia said he is extremely pleased to have someone of Bernard's calibre to become the head of one of the company's department.

David Bernard

"While we will miss Rufino Aguon, I believe we have the ideal candidate to take his place. I am looking forward to working with Dave," Kretzers said.

Bernard joined Air Mike in June 1987 in Chuuk as a Customer Service Agent. After a year and a half, he relocated to Guam where he became an Airport Sales Agent. While on Guam, he was transferred to the island's Reservation Office where he was quickly promoted as a System Reservation Control Specialist. In July 1990, Bernard was appointed City Manager in Kosrae.

Bernard was educated in Chuuk and went to college in Iowa. Before joining the Air Mike family, he was the area manager for K-Mart on the Mainland and as a management trainee in the Chuuk Continental Hotel.

Republican Party's "Last Hurrah"

Noticeably present to provide support to the Republican Party candidate was Acting Governor Benjamin Mangiona, shown here with congressional candidate Heinz Hofschneider.

by Rafael H. Arroyo

All roads led to the Garapan Basketball Court Wednesday night as the Republican Party held its final grand rally where hundreds of car-honking, whistling supporters cheered their favorite candidates for one last time before facing the electorate on Saturday, November 2, 1991.

People from all walks of life, Chamorros, Carolinians, American, Filipinos, including a few Japanese tourists, who were curious about the election process, joined the merry-making all the time hours of the evening.

Food and drinks were served by volunteers of the Republican Party, who were also helping to direct the crowd and hear their candidates' final address.

Among the special guests during the rally were acting Governor Benjamin T. Mangiona, Washington Representative Juan N. Babauta, former Governor Pete P. Tenorio, Finance Director Elroy C. Inos, Commerce and Labor Director Jack Torres, and various heads of the different branches of government.

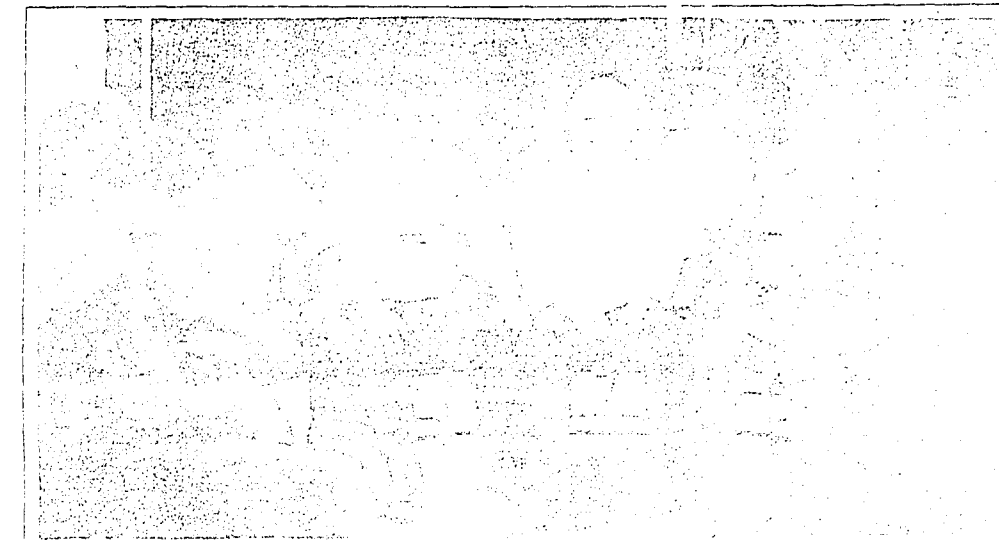

The evening was a mix of speeches, music, and dancing. The speeches were interspersed with live coverage of the event.

Also, each of them had the chance to commune with their constituents via the airwaves, as radio reporters made a live coverage of the event.

Television and print media also had a grand time recording the event which was supposed to be the culmination of collective campaigning by the said party.

A famous local band provided the fiesta atmosphere as the young and the old danced the night away to familiar local songs.

Among those who obliged island folk with a dance or two were senatorial candidate Juan Sablan Demapan, congressional candidates George Dueñas, Anicia Tomokane, Ramon Diaz, and the acting governor himself, among others.

Rota Elem. students visit Okinawa

Fifteen students of Rota Elementary School spent a week in Okinawa earlier this month for the Okinawa Baseball Goodwill Tournament.

Rota High School Principal Oscar Quitugua said the Rota students were invited by Jitsuk Nakahodo of Ginoza, Okinawa. He also provided the Rota Tatsi (Rota word for poison) Baseball players not only the logistics, hotel accommodation, transportation and daily meals but, also two big parties in their honor.

The trip was sponsored by the Mayor's Office and the Community and Cultural Affairs coordinated the events, Quitugua said.

Among those who accompanied the students to the trip were Cris Bowen, manager from Rota High, Barbara Bowen, Community and Cultural Affairs sports coordinator George Hocog and his wife.

Also in the trip were Gerald Calvo, a coach from the Aging Program, the Mayor's special assistant for Community Affairs, Jack Norita, Henry Manglona from the Mayor's Office, sponsor Ricardo Atafig and several of the students parents.

The Rota contingent were greeted by Nakahodo and his brothers along with the Rota Kai Association of Okinawa, a group of Okinawans who was on Rota during the Japanese regime.

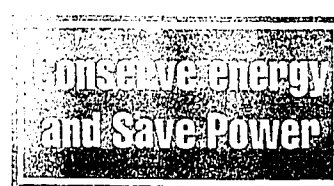

Quitugua said the Okinawans did an outstanding job in promoting goodwill and understanding between the Rotanese and the Okinawans.

Guerrero urges voluntary drug testing

by Teri Flores

Commonwealth Utilities Corp. (CUC) employees are being asked to voluntarily submit themselves to drug testing.

CUC Executive Director Ramon S. Guerrero made the appeal an FBI agent was quoted on Tuesday saying the employees of the utility company are using the highly addictive drug crystal methamphetamine or ice.

Guerrero said in a meeting of 25 division managers and supervisors that the corporation's image has already been tarnished by the recent statements of the federal agent.

"There are no other utilities except CUC. I don't want our image tarnished by employees using drugs or ice," Guerrero said.

The CUC Executive Director has asked company managers and supervisors to talk to their employees to voluntarily submit themselves for drug testing.

"I will request the CHC for testing - voluntary testing - to identify you or your staff using any drugs. I will not tolerate any drug use," Guerrero said.

Guerrero said he will be on the front line by volunteering first for the drug testing.

Letter to the Editor

prizes chose to ignore Mr. Concepcion's unfounded allegations, largely in hopes of fostering further goodwill between itself and its landlord, MPLC. However, after the second article was published Marianas Agupa feels it can no longer sit idly by and allow Mr. Concepcion to spread further untruths through the media.

Mr. Concepcion stated in his second article that MPLC would give Marianas Agupa the chance to respond to its demand to produce documents which are not due for at least another five months. Let this stand as Marianas Agupa Enterprises' response. Marianas Agupa would like to give Mr. Concepcion the chance to explain his motivation for spreading untruths as to the status of Marianas Agupa Enterprises and its lease on Rota. To quote Mr. Concepcion's statement reported on October 18, 1991: "Frankly, I don't know what the response would be. He might come out with an explanation or excuse if he'll do that." Marianas Agupa Enterprises hopes that his response will be the apology and retraction that Marianas Agupa Enterprises deserves.

Democrats flaunt power in grand rally

Senatorial Candidate Juan "Liling" Reyes shares a word with co-candidate Herman T. Palacios.

Democratic Candidates and their spouses watch the rally proceedings from the stage. From right are Speaker Pedro R. DL. Guerrero and wife; Rep. Juan Tenorio and wife; and Rep. Manny Sablan.

by Rafael H. Arroyo

If the Republican Party has the Garapan basketball court as their domain, the Democratic Party would no doubt have its own turf — the Civic Center Basketball Court in Susupe — the site of the party's biggest rally ever.

The event, which was scheduled to have begun at 6:30 pm, caused a mild traffic jam as early as as even motorists' attention were caught with all the brightly colored balloons and billboards of the party's standard bearers.

The stage which was the centerpiece of all the action was draped with red, white, and blue, reminiscent of a typical American political campaign rally.

Each candidate came up with their respective spouses who did the honor of crowning them with the traditional mwar-mwars before they were given turns to speak before the highly partisan crowd.

Not to be outdone by the Republican Party, the Democrats had their own brand of fiesta, with hundreds of cheering people drinking and partaking food to their hearts content.

But perhaps the most rewarding part of it all was the opportunity accorded to villagers to rub elbows with the very people who have been offering to represent them, hear their problems and work out solutions.

Among those who gave inspirational talks were incumbents Speaker Pedro R. DL. Guerrero, Vice Speaker Luis C. Benavente, Reps. Juan I. Tenorio, Mametto U. Maratita, Manuel C. Sablan, and senatorial candidate Rep. Juan S. Reyes.

Other hopefuls who spoke in the rally were Manases Borja, Jack Aguan, Felicidad Ogumoro, Lupe Manglona, Ben Attiao, Frank Flores, Herman Guerrero, Herman Palacios, Pedro Castro, Isidro Sablan, and David Sablan, among others.

All candidates, as they went up for their turns at the microphones were each met with thunderous applause from the very appreciative crowd.

In addition, bidders are hereby notified that all bids may be rejected if the lowest responsive bid received exceed the Government's estimate by more than 7% percent and it is determined that an award of contract would cause excessive inflationary impact. In the event all bids are rejected for this reason, this contract proposal will be modified and may be deferred to readvertising for bids until a more competitive situation exists.

A pre-bid conference for prospective bidders will be held at 2:00 p.m., local time, Friday, November 15, 1991, at the Technical Services Division, Department of Public Works. Questions concerning the plans and specifications of the Special Provisions should be submitted prior to the conference.

Marlins in 4th straight win at SAVA tourney

The J&G Marlins maintained their top spot in the young volleyball season by posting wins over the Old Time Jammers and the Ol' Aces in last week's competition at the Gilbert C. Ada Gymnasium in Susupe.

Hot Tuna also won its second game this week as they toppled the previously unbeaten Ol' Aces in straight sets 15-12 and 17-15. On Friday last week, the Beach Boys handed the Freezers their 3rd straight loss with a 15-7, 9-15 and 15-12 score. In that game, Alex Olopai led the Beach Boys as he served for a total of 13 points.

In the second game, the Marlins cruised to an easy 15-11, 15-8 victory over the Old Time Jammers for their third win in a row. Pacing the winners was Alex Germinaro who dumped in 9 points.

In the only Women's game played on Monday, the Beach Gals tasted their first win as they re-shuffled their lin-up and brought in veteran players Toni Taitano and Rose Igitol whose expertise on the game resulted in their team winning the last two sets of the game. The Beach Gals evened their record at 1 and 1 while the Slammers fell to 0 and

On Wednesday this week, the Torres Refrigeration Freezers, entering the game with a 0 and 3 record surprised the Old Time Jammers with 3-set 15-4; 13-15 and 15-8 victory to emerge from the cellar to a 1 and 3 record.

Faa' ea Tala, a big Samoan standing 6'3 grinded the Jammers throughout the match with thunderous kills most of which were unchallenged at the net. He finished the night with 8 kills.

Tinian to host three day cliff fishing derby

The 10th Annual Tinian Cliff Fishing Derby, co-sponsored by the Marianas Visitors Bureau and the Mayor's Office of Tinian and Aguigan, will be held from November 8 - 10, 1991.

The event organizers will hold a welcoming ceremony on Friday, November 8 at 5:00 p.m. at the Tinian Visitor Information Center to explain the Derby's Rules and Regulations and answer questions from Derby participants said the news release from MVB.

The actual competition will begin immediately after the welcoming ceremony and will officially close on Sunday, November 10 at 1 p.m. Throughout the tournament, Derby officials will be going around the designated fishing sites to ensure that all participants are safe and to record all fish caught entering for a prize, the MVB release said.

"We are very pleased that Continental Air Micronesia have once again donated two complimentary round trip ticket to either Taiwan, Korea, or to the CNMI depending on where the lucky winner resides" said MVB's James A. Santos.

"We expect to draw over twenty off-island fishermen from Korea, Taipei, Guam, Saipan, and Rota for this annual fishing competition" added Santos.

Deadline to submit all application forms and the $20 entry fee per applicant is 5 p.m., November 7.

Saipan senior bowlers shine in Manila FIQ

The delegation of senior bowlers from Saipan who participated in the recent FIQ tourney held in Pasig, Metro Manila, Philippines.

by Rafael H. Arroyo

Roman Cabrera, bowling like his life depended on it, taught his Asian co-participants a neat lesson on how bowling is in the Northern Marianas, putting up a 198 average before settling for two silvers and one bronze during the 1st Senior Bowlers FIQ Tournament held recently in Manila.

Cabrera, who may have proven to be one of the Commonwealth's best bowlers in the 50 and above age bracket, placed second in the master's event and in the singles event, while placing third in the all events competition.

"The guy is a master bowler," says Joe Guerrero, team manager of the CNMI delegation. "He was the one with the highest average in the all event, and was seeded first."

But entering into the masters, he was the favorite and in fact earned a bye, that would just make him wait for the winner of the match between the second and the third placer.

But in the step ladder, he got beaten by a Korean who managed to play a consistently good game.

He likewise teamed up with Tik Palacios, Rick Sablan, and Tony Guerrero to win bronze in the teams event.

"This is the very first time for CNMI delegates to come back with medals from an international tournament, and we're very proud of the achievement," said Guerrero.
