MAKING FIREMEN OF SOLDIERS

POLICE RESENT WIFE-MURDER CHARGES

McDUFFIE AND THE WILY, BAD PICKPOCKET

Hing Poon's ability to take money from the pockets of another without being detected while so doing, will give him plenty of chance for the next year to study more about the art of pocket picking, as Judge Andrade found him guilty this morning of larceny in the second degree.

Poon has been practicing his profession for some time, according to the police, but until Saturday night they were not ready to catch him in the act.

Chief of Detectives McDuffie detailed a detective unknown to Poon to stand near the entrance of the Park theater with some marked money in his pocket, so that if Poon attempted to get away with it they would be able to get him before he had gone very far. The ruse worked very well, as Poon hearing the jingle of the silver wasted no time in getting busy. As soon as he had taken the good money he replaced it with some copper Chinese coins in the hope that his victim would not discover the loss until he had gone from the vicinity of the theater.

McDuffie and Minvielle watched the little farce until Poon started to skulk away, when they stepped up to him and placed him under arrest. According to reports that have come in from people who have had their pockets picked, the police think it is more than certain that Poon is the guilty man in each case. He is very clever for an amateur crook.

John Malkal, who has been selling liquor according to License Inspector Fennell without a license, had the charge against him suspended for a term of thirteen months.

Louis Saigado was found guilty of assault and sentenced to thirty days imprisonment.

Pak Yong Cha waived examination on a charge of assault and was committed to the circuit court for trial.

Six unfortunates, who had been taking too much of the wine that cheers were fined sums amounting to $28. The rest of the cases were continued.

Women Their Own Worst Enemies

The police department is indignant over the suggestion, made in several forms in the last few days in various newspapers and otherwise, to the effect that wife-beaters are condoned with and that their cases are compromised; that the beaten wives are asked to kiss and make up with their brutal and sometimes drunken husbands at the expense of justice.

There have been so many wife-murders of late growing out of the habitual beating of wives by crazy or drunken husbands, particularly among Hawaiians, that the old custom of the police in the matter of trying to settle domestic troubles out of court, of sending aggrieved wives home to the arms of their then sobered husbands for reconciliation and possible further beatings, has come in for criticism that may be just or otherwise.

In spite of the comments of the public and the press, however, Deputy Sheriff Charlie Rose, who is an active and energetic officer, somewhat resents the insinuation that any wife-murders have resulted from any clemency on the part of the police.

In support of his contention, Deputy Rose tells of how men are arrested for wife-beating and then, perforce, compelled to be set free on the representations of their tearful wives who ask that the police let their husbands go.

It is a ticklish proposition and the blame lies between the soft-hearted wives, the police and the district magistrate.

Who is to blame the most is a matter for a Solomon to decide, according to the stories told by the police.

"We arrest and prosecute wherever there is a complaint," says Deputy Sheriff Rose, "but often there is no complaint. The women come to us with the hope that we, as policemen, can settle the matter out of court, sometimes we do, and sometimes we can't, but I am speaking the truth when I say that there has never been a murder in any case in which we have brought about a reconciliation."

and we have never attempted to reconciliation where the parties were not absolutely agreeable."

It is, again, a ticklish proposition. Either the police magistrate does not fathom the significance of the occasion when a woman enters court with a black eye or a broken nose, or the police have not grasped the uttermost possibility of the family row, or the aggrieved woman herself pleads for the brute who struck her. Conditions perhaps are as much responsible as the police for the lack of discipline handed out to the curs and cowards who beat up women, but the wrong nevertheless prevails and women die and are beaten everyday or so, even after they have complained to the police.

Either the drunken or brutal men do not get what they deserve in police court or they are set free by the pleadings of their timid wives who think more of the pol and fish their married beasts will bring home to them, and of the immediate physical welfare of their offspring, than they do of their own lives.

It is the expression of unprejudiced opinion that such a condition of affairs is up to the supposedly superior intelligence of the police authorities and the presiding police magistrate to regulate, than it is up to the doubtful intelligence of the victims.

The fact remains that there is an epidemic of wife-beating and wife-murder among the more susceptible race, and that the condition might be relieved by an exhibition of more intelligence on the part of the authorities.

The hint has been made that politics has something to do with letting males who are voters go free from charges of this nature, but such suggestion is indignantly denied by some of those in police authority, a denial that may later be followed up by a just realization of the circumstances and a better administration of what is supposed to be justice in this regard.

Thought He Was Fooling

A coroner's jury for the purpose of investigating the details leading up to the death of John A. Aguilar by drowning at Waikiki yesterday afternoon was empaneled by Deputy Sheriff Rose this morning.

The body of the unfortunate boy was found floating off the Moana hotel early this morning and as soon as the police had been notified, the remains were removed to the morgue where they were viewed by the jury that had already been summoned.

According to some of his friends who were out at the beach yesterday afternoon at the time of the fatal accident, Aguilar must have been seized with cramps after they had come into the bathing house, as he was apparently all right when they left him.

This is either the third or fourth life that has been lost at Waikiki in the last year by drowning, owing to people on the beach and in the water thinking that the victim was "fooling." No efforts were made by any one yesterday afternoon, according to witnesses, to save the boy.

The inquest will be held tomorrow night at seven thirty, as a jury will hear the Kroll case tonight.

NEW LINE TALKED OF

According to Liverpool advices the White Star Line is planning to compete with the Union Steamship Company for the mail contract shortly to be awarded for the service between British Columbia ports and Australia and New Zealand as a development of the recent shipping deal whereby the White Star secured control of the Shaw-Savill and Albion fleet. It is also considered likely that the White Star Company may return to the Oriental trade. The company formerly operated a line from San Francisco to Japan and China. It is said that the White Star Line is also negotiating for the acquisition of the New Zealand Shipping Co., and it is not unlikely that word will be received soon that it has secured a controlling interest in this line.—Maritime News, N. Y.

The above is correct, according to a local business man, who has been making some investigations for the White Star Company.

"I am certain that within six months you will see some of the best ships of the White Star line competing for the passenger and freight business of the Pacific."

I received a letter some time ago from the Liverpool office of the company asking me to make some private investigations for them, which I have done and have forwarded the same to them, which I figure arrived at least two weeks ago.

"The White Star line is always looking for an increase in its business and it seems to me that, if they are satisfied, they can successfully compete with the other lines and they will soon have ships on the way out from England to place on the British Columbia-Australia and San Francisco-Oriental run."

LURLINE GETS AWAY TOMORROW

With a large passenger list and a full cargo of island produce, the Matson liner Lurline will leave for San Francisco at six o'clock tomorrow evening from the Hackfeld wharf.

On account of the Sierra leaving the next morning, the mail will be carried on the Oceanic boat as she will arrive in San Francisco at least a day ahead of the Lurline.

The Wilhelmina, with eighty-three first class passengers, two hundred and thirty-six bags of mail and thirty hundred tons of freight will arrive off port early tomorrow morning from San Francisco according to latest wireless advices. She is scheduled to sail for the coast at ten o'clock on August 17.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLE-RA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY.

There is probably no medicine made that is relied upon with more implicit confidence than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. During the third of a century in which it has been in use, people have learned that it is the one remedy that never fails. For pain in the stomach, diarrhoea or infantile cholera, this remedy has no equal. It has been used in many serious and dangerous cases and has never been known to fail. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

SOME CANDIDATES FOR STATEHOOD

The Boston Morning Globe thinks that Alaska and Hawaii lead in the race of territories, districts and "possessions" for statehood, but that Alaska will cross the line first, ahead of the island paradise. On July 15 it figured the matter out as follows:

Now that Arizona and New Mexico have joined the sisterhood of states, not a single territory remains within the expanse of the United States lying between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. What, then, will be our next state, assuming that we shall not remain stationary at 48? Let us call the roll of possibilities: Alaska, Hawaii, District of Columbia, Isthmian Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Guam, Tutuila and the Philippines. Which of these will be the next star? It is not a pressing question, but it is at least interesting.

Alaska and Hawaii are the only two that are territories pure and simple. The District of Columbia by consent, as its name implies, has always been looked upon as a district and not a territory, and it is doubtful if it will ever be erected into a state. The canal zone present peculiar possibilities, and undoubtedly within the next decade will acquire a great importance and may become populous enough to justify statehood. The other possessions, Porto Rico, Guam and Tutuila are outlying and not promising candidates at the present time and this is especially true of the Philippines, where American government is only provisional.

We come back then to Alaska and Hawaii as the strongest potential states. Either is far away, but that both will become states when sufficiently American seems probable. The time when either shall be admitted may seem remote now, but who knows what exigency may arise either through politics, diplomacy or the actual demand of the inhabitants? Alaska is large enough to be divided into several states, and she has, furthermore, been within the fold more than 40 years. With her diversified interests, those of fishing and mining in particular, it is not difficult to see how Alaska might easily yield her most populous section as a state, leaving her wildest section still a territory. For a guess, Alaska looks like the strongest candidate for the next place in the family statehood circle.

RARE SPECIMENS OF WHALES FOUND

The Fresno (Cal.) Herald-Democrat of July 6 contained the following interesting account of whale specimens secured in this ocean for the American Museum:

Advices have just been received at the American Museum of Natural History from Roy C. Andrews of the department of mammalogy. Mr. Andrews left on the Albatross of the United States fisheries bureau last August on a collecting expedition, and since then has been in the Philippines, Celebes, southern Formosa and along the coast of Borneo. Mr. Andrews left the Albatross at Yokohama, Japan. It was his intention to start for home from this place, but upon investigation he found that many important and valuable species of whales were being captured at the whaling stations in Japan so he postponed his home-

ing. He spent several weeks on Shikoku Island in Japan, but as no whales were taken he decided to return to Oshima, a small island 120 miles north of Shimidzu.

In a letter dated at Shimidzu, Japan, May 3, he says that he has now packed and ready for shipment one sulphur bottom skeleton of a whale 78 feet long; a "sei," or sardine whale, 46 feet long, a killer (Orca-Orca), 22 feet long, and another killer, 28 feet long, which he said would arrive shortly on a transport from Korea.

The skeletons will be packed in thirteen cases, with the exception of the jaws and skulls, which are too large for packing. They were to leave Japan on the Aragonia of the Hamburg-American Line about May 6 bound for New York.

Mr. Andrews had expected to pay the Japanese whalers for the fine species obtained, but when payment was offered he was told that the Oriental Whaling Company had decided to make a gift of the entire collection to the American museum, the presentation being made by letter from the president of the company.

The two killers in the collection are considered very rare specimens, and officials at the museum affirm that it is doubtful if duplicates can be found in other institutions of natural history.

MISS ELKINS TO MARRY THE DUKE

PARIS, August 7.—It is reported here that all objections on the part of the royal family of Italy to the marriage of the Duke of the Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins have been withdrawn. The Duke has persisted in his devotion to the beautiful American heiress until all family opposition has broken down, and according to a report published here today, a formal announcement of the engagement of the Italian prince and the daughter of United States Senator Elkins will be made.

The announcement, it is said, will be made by the royal family, and the wedding will be a royal event. Miss Elkins is in Europe, and the Duke has never ceased to pay his attentions to her despite the obstacles which seemed to make a wedding impossible. His persistence in the love affair which has for years attracted the attention of both America and Europe now promises to end in a happy marriage.

Miss Elkins is one of America's richest heiresses. Her father was secretary of war in President Harrison's cabinet, and has been a member of the senate since 1895, representing the State of West Virginia. He is many times a millionaire.

Miss Elkins' engagement to the Duke was first reported nearly ten years. The objections made by the royal family of Italy were reported as preventing any marriage, and Abruzzi spent several years in traveling, during which he achieved the distinction of making, in the Himalayas, the highest mountain ascent ever made. He also won fame as an arctic explorer. During all his travels the rumor of his infatuation for Miss Elkins persisted, and a recent report had it that despite all family objections he was still courting the American beauty.

TESTING THE DELAWARE.

NEWPORT, August 8.—The battleship Delaware has departed for final tests.

EDITOR PASSES AWAY.

PORTLAND, Oregon, August 7.—Harvey W. Scott, editor in chief of the Portland Oregonian, died yesterday in Baltimore, following an operation. Heart failure was the cause of death. He has been editor of the Oregonian, one of the leading papers of the Pacific Coast, since 1865, and was a part owner. He was seventy-two years old.

GORE'S CHARGES.

MCLESTER, Oklahoma, August 7.—The congressional committee which is investigating the charges of corruption made by Senator Gore arrived here today and will resume hearing at once.

THE SPANISH PLOT.

SAN SEBASTIAN, August 7.—The city is quiet today, being patrolled by troops. No demonstrations have been attempted since the arrival of the government forces, and it is stated that plans for an uprising have been abandoned.

The proposed uprising is said to have been a Carlist plot.

AIRSHIP DUEL.

PARIS, August 7.—A remarkable duel of skill was fought out yesterday between France and America, as represented by the aviators Latham and Weymann, the outcome of the contest being a draw with both navigators of the air covered with honor and sharing in the applause of thousands of people who watched the start of their duel and of other thousands who witnessed the end of it.

Latham, in his monoplane, started from Chalons-sur-Marne and sailed towards Paris, eighty-seven miles away. He made two stops en route, twice circling the Eiffel Tower after reaching the city to show the absolute control he had over his machine.

Scarcely had he disappeared from sight from Chalons-sur-Marne when Weymann, the American aeroplanist, started in his wake, following the same course to Paris and duplicating everything accomplished in his flight by the Frenchman.

Paris Press Excited.

A Paris newspaper has offered a prize of twenty thousand dollars to the aviator covering the circuit from Paris to Troyes, thence to Nancy, thence to Arles and back to Paris in the shortest elapsed time. A number of aviators have announced their intention of flying for the prize.

PARIS, August 7.—Eight aeroplanes started today, at five-minute intervals, on a 485-mile race. On account of the hazy weather, they are steering by compass instead of relying upon observations.

A vast crowd watched the starts and there was tremendous enthusiasm. After rising the machines were soon obscured in the haze, and the drivers could only tell their direction by compass. The starts were all successful, however, and the machines at last accounts were speeding at high rate. News of their records is anxiously awaited.

Following yesterday's spectacular performances of Latham and Weymann, today's start of the airships in the fog, on their race of nearly five hundred miles, steering by compass, has aroused the greatest interest. Some record breaking results are expected.

GERMANY SELLS BATTLESHIPS.

BERLIN, August 7.—The German government yesterday announced that it had disposed of two battleships, the Weissenburg and the Kurfuerst Friedrich Wilhelm, to the Turkish government, the price paid being four and a half million dollars.

The two battleships are among the oldest of the serviceable vessels of their class in the German navy, being of the Brandenburg class, of which four were laid down in 1891 and 1892, being rebolted since. Each carries four (old model) eleven-inch, forty-caliber guns, and two eleven-inch, thirty-five-caliber guns, with some smaller armament. Each cost, complete, $3,750,000.

A BLOODY TRAGEDY.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., August 7.—An upper jaw, from the body of a young man, was found on the Kendall ranch yesterday, the ranch from which a family disappeared last month, supposed to have been murdered and their bodies chopped up and burned by a Japanese servant. Near the jaw was also found a club, covered with blood, and a hoe, on the handle of which showed bloody finger prints.

BET ON THE GAME AND ARE PULLED

LOS ANGELES, August 7.—In the crusade against gambling, which includes all betting in public places, the police yesterday arrested fourteen spectators of a baseball game who were placing wagers on the result of the match.

PUBLISHER DROWNED.

DEPOSIT, New York, August 7.—W. R. Michaels, of Chicago, the publisher of the Chicago Staats Zeitung, was drowned in Aupuga Lake yesterday in an attempt to rescue his daughter, who had fallen into the water from a canoe.

STRIKE AND LOCKOUT.

HAMBURG, August 7.—The shipbuilders, in consequence of a strike among their mechanics, have decided to close down their works as a lock-out, discharge fifteen thousand workmen on Thursday next and stop all construction work on the vessels on the stocks.

MILLIONAIRE MURDERED.

CLEVELAND, August 7.—William L. Rice, the millionaire attorney, was murdered near his residence here yesterday.

THE FRUIT TRADE.

Matter of interest to Hawaii is contained in the statistics of commerce in fruits and nuts. During the past ten years fruits and nuts valued at 458 million dollars have passed through ports of the United States. Of this amount 285 million represents the value of imports from foreign countries, 156 million exports to foreign countries, 12 million receipts from noncontiguous territories of the United States, and 5 million shipments to those territories.

The value of fruits and nuts imported into, and exported from the country in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1910, was in round terms 55 million dollars, of which about one-third represented exports. A compilation made by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor states the year's imports of fruits and nuts at 36 million and exports at 19 million dollars.

A study of the commercial movements during the last decade or two develops the fact that domestic production is rapidly supplanting certain classes of fruits, formerly imported in large quantities. This applies especially to raisins, prunes and oranges. Certain other lines, in which local production is still insufficient to meet home consumption, continue to increase in value of imports; notably bananas, figs, walnuts, coconuts, and almonds.

Of foreign fruits consumed in the United States, bananas supply about one-third. The imported bananas come chiefly from Costa Rica, Honduras and Panama in Central America; the British West Indies, and Cuba. Italy supplies practically all the lemons imported into the country. Of currants, the Xante variety, produced in Greece, supplies most of the imports. Raisins, formerly coming in at the rate of two million dollars per annum, chiefly from Spain and Turkey in Asia, have practically disappeared as an article of importation, and are now becoming an important article of export.

Hawaii shipped something like one and three-quarter million dollars' worth of fruits and nuts to the United States mainland in the past fiscal year. This Territory ought to do a great deal more in bananas than it does. Once this was a promising trade, but in recent years it has fallen to negligible dimensions.

There are 112 automobiles registered on the island of Maui. This is a wonderful showing when some of the conditions are considered. Many populous settlements have no roads other than bridle trails leading to the county seat and center of commerce. Some of the principal highways traverse deep gulches and in consequence are tortuous and abound in heavy grades. A group of large sugar plantations, with many homesteads adjoining, is connected by rail with the shiretown, Wailuku, and the chief seaport, Kahului. That the island has so many automobiles must indicate a considerable degree of prosperity.

CALIFORNIA'S PRIMARY LAW.

Stating that it had favored the enactment of a direct primary law, upon the theory that it furnished the method most certain to secure the nomination of the choice of a majority of a party, the San Francisco Chronicle nevertheless examines the existing situation in California in order to obtain an understanding of the results. Mentioning that in all political nominating conventions at least a full majority of all delegates is required to nominate, while in a direct primary a plurality nominates, it presents the contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination as the best example now available from which to judge the working of the law. There are five candidates for the Republican nomination for governor and the Chronicle points out that, in a very even contest, it is possible for a candidate to be nominated by 21 per cent of those voting a Republican ticket. While probably a successful candidate would always get more than 21 per cent of the vote of his party, where there are five in the field, he is very likely to be nominated by less than 30 per cent of his party, which would mean less than 20 per cent of the whole electorate.

The conclusions of the Chronicle may be valuable for consideration by politicians in this Territory who perhaps have intention of making the enactment of a direct primary law an issue in the coming election. It will be remembered that a primary law bill was the subject of much deliberation at last session only to receive the pocket veto of the governor. To secure a workable measure without entailing expense out of proportion to benefits, as well as avoiding the undesirable results that the California law apparently makes possible, is not an easy matter. The Chronicle concludes its examination with these remarks:

Under the cumbersome law actually enacted in this State a place on the party primary ticket is a costly thing to achieve. And "bad men" can get it as easily as anyone else if they have the money. Most people think that any one who desires should be able to run for office at trifling expense. Many sincere men desire that any one who asks for it may have a place on the ticket. But if that were done, an official ballot would read like a directory, and be as much use to an elector to enable him to pick out his men. And if it were done, and a plurality should nominate, nobody could guess what infinitesimal proportion of the party voters could make a candidate the party nominee.

It is stated that a larger percentage of letters bearing special delivery stamps go astray than of other regular first-class mail matter. The postal department calls the attention of the people to the fact that the special delivery stamp has no protective value in the postal system but merely secures prompt delivery of the letter once it has reached the office of destination. Registration is the protection for valuable matter which the department provides.

Ben Burns, a former amusement caterer here, in following his occupation on the Coast is incidentally a promotion committee of one Hawaii. Under the stage name of Benjamin he is giving concerts, with an illustrated lecture on Hawaii, throughout California. One press notice quotes, as a Honolulu saying, that he "knows more about Hawaii and the Hawaiians than any white person who has ever been there."

THE MILK QUESTION.

Rashness of statement, as well as action, should be avoided by officials with respect to the enforcement of the milk ordinance. The revelations of the Territorial authorities regarding the great prevalence of tuberculosis in dairy cattle came as a sudden surprise, and the greatest of tact and patience should be exercised until the owners of

Uncle Walt

The Poet Philosopher

I am the blithe and cheerful skate who always has to pay the freight. I labor in the heat and dirt, and wear a faded flannel shirt, and eat my dinner from a pail, and pick my molars with a nail, and use my whiskers if I'd brush from off my chin the corn meal mush. And well dressed sports come up and say: "Wie gehts, my worthy friend, good day! We run for office, and we hope that you will harken to our dope, and help elect us on that day when all the voters put up hay. And if we win we'll live the tax that's burdening the worker's backs. It is our sweetest hope and dream, to fill with mince pie and ice cream and codfish balls, and pickled whale, the laborer's tin dinner pail. O sturdy toiler, vote for us, and we will raise the blindest fuss, and put up forty kinds of fights, until we've got you all our rights!" I've listened to this sort of bunc, they've loaded me with fairy junk, year after year since I was young; what working man has not been stung? WALT MASON.

dairy herds have had time to readjust their affairs. In the meantime there is no more danger to the public health than has existed at any time for years past. People whose dairymen are unable at present to show clean bills of health for their cows may protect themselves perfectly by boiling their milk. Pending a rehabilitation of dairy herds generally, an amendment to the milk ordinance should be made allowing pasteurization of milk, as an alternative to conditions of sale which may now be prohibitive. Such a provision would safeguard consumers in any contingency like the present which may arise in the future.

Any suggestion of repealing the milk ordinance is utterly silly. The community will not stand for any relaxation of reasonable protection of the milk supply in its nutritive quality and purity. Danger of tuberculosis is not the only thing against which the ordinance guards. Neither is the chief danger of tuberculosis in the milk as drawn from infected cows, but from the germs coming otherwise from the animals when strictest cleanliness is not observed. Milk is extremely receptive of disease germs of any kind, as epidemics of typhoid fever traceable to the milk supply have elsewhere proved. The immediate duty of the hour is strict enforcement of cleanliness in dairies and in distribution, as well as the weeding out of tuberculous stock as speedily as can be done.

It would be interesting to know whether Hawaiian coffee growers have either solicited or obtained like attention to their product from the Department of Agriculture in Washington to that which Porto Rico coffee is receiving. There is a long news article in a late issue of the Washington Star telling of the efforts to promote the Porto Rican coffee industry. Samples of the coffee had been distributed, through the agricultural committees of both houses of Congress, among influential men and women, and their opinions upon the article requested. It is stated that what the department has been trying to do is "to make two pounds of coffee grow in the island where one grew before, and to enlarge the market for the coffee." If the same thing is not being done for Hawaiian coffee, it must be for lack of pressing the matter upon the department from this end.

The Suburban Trolley Man

If one is not accustomed to interurban cars, riding on them seems a most novel, not to say terrifying, experience. The conductor is so friendly, so interested in his passengers, that one feels one should have brought a letter to him the better to insure one's welcome. He is asked by one woman if she has time to run into Davis's drug store; he makes a quick calculation, and says, "Yes, you'll just do it if you hurry, but you'd better leave Willie with me, he'll hamper you." Willie is left with him, and another woman asks anxiously, "Did mother move yesterday, do you know? I don't know whether to get off at her old house or her new one." She was told that mother's plans were changed and the moving has been postponed until tomorrow. Those intimate home touches make one feel a total stranger, but the feeling is supported as best it may be. A fat old gentleman swings onto the car and the conductor calls out warningly from the other end, "Say, this is 2:20 car, you know." The fat person settles himself back in his seat, calling out: "I know, I know; I want the 2:20 this afternoon." The conductor takes his fare a little grumblingly, showing plainly that he feels the change in the fat old gentleman's habits may be all right, but, not having been consulted, he suspects the wisdom of what seems to him very much like capriciousness.

To a novice in interurban cars the most noticeable thing about them seems to be the time one has to wait for the things. After standing on a corner for twenty minutes it begins to seem so unlikely that one will ever leave that corner. A meal of dates having been consumed, the next thing is to look about and see how best to adjust one's self to one's new surroundings. As this corner threatens to be one's home for a long time to come, it must be made as comfortable as possible. A bookcase would fit in very nicely between the lamppost and the telegraph pole, and when night comes on one will just have to hang suspended from the third hook on the pole. In time one might upholster the curbstone. It is a nuisance, of course, being obliged to live in so populous a spot, but we must manage to make the best of wherever our lot falls.—New York Sun.

TO A CERTAIN SWEET EXTENT.

"Do you wholly trust me, darling?" murmured the young man to the fair creature who was sitting beside him on the front seat of the trolley car.

"I do to a certain extent," she responded after a little hitch of hesitation.

"What extent?" he asked, anxiously.

"Why," she explained, "I would trust you to the extent of not being afraid of there being any poison in a box of candy you might send me by mail."

Financial and Commercial News

THE STOCK MARKET OPENS VERY SLOW

The session of the Stock Exchange today was almost featureless, unless the unloading of a lot of Brewery in small blocks may be regarded as a notable matter. Six blocks of ten shares each realized $21.75, after which 10 and 25 shares sold at $21.875. At the close of the session the stock was offered at the latter figure, while $21.75 was being bid.

On the board 10 shares Ewa sold at $33.50, after which $33.375 was bid and $33.625 asked.

Between boards 100 and 75 shares Hawaiian Commercial changed hands at $40.50. This morning $40.375 was bid for this stock and $40.625 asked.

It will be observed from these quotations that the market opens sleepy and weak. There are apparently no buying orders out. The Brewery stock sold this morning (which constituted the bulk of the day's business) was chiefly one large block, sliced up and parcelled out in "sample" lots. Although the opening is dull there is fine promise of lively doings before the week is over.

Interesting quotations without sales were: Oahu, $31.75 bid and $32 asked; Pioneer, $227 asked; Honokaa $18 bid and $18.25 asked; McBryde, $6 bid and $6.50 asked; Olua, $6.3775 bid and $6.50 asked; Waiialua, $129.50 bid and $129.75 asked.

EXAMINER PARTY TO DINE AT MOANA

The man Milne, who is piloting the Examiner's Los Angeles party reminds one of a famous painting, illustrating Franklin's theory "Take care of the pennies; the dollars will take care of themselves." In this burlesque treatment of a serious matter, the man is represented hugging a pile of pennies with both arms, while the five dollar bills are blowing through the window.

To particularize, Milne is forward with another kick. His party of tourists are to have one meal in Honolulu, and he has made more fuss about it than if the ship were to be held here a year. First he had a squabble with the hotels about the rates for the dinner, and finally stirred up the Promotion Committee and so serious a body as the Merchants' Association to take a hand in his two-bit kick. In the dilemma appeared Mr. Irwin, who has a nice place at Waikiki beach, and who offered to lunch the party at so much per. There the matter rested.

This morning, however, came a great, long cablegram from Milne, presumably at fifty cents a word, saying: "Irwin has raised rates to dollar fifty. Have cancelled arrangements with him and accepted Moana offer at same rate. Will arrive eighteenth. Milne."

"It's the little things in life that bring gray hairs," mused Acting Secretary Cooper this morning as he passed the cablegram over to the archives clerk of the Promotion Committee.

PLANTATIONS TO BUILD HOSPITAL

HILO, August 4.—As the result of a combined movement on the part of three of the North Hilo plantations, a new hospital with full accommodations will be erected at Pepekeo in the very near future. The idea is to have a central hospital for the three concerns interested, Onomea, Honoumuli and Pepekeo which will be handy for any of the three and through which cases of illness may be handled much more conveniently than has been the case in the past. A special doctor, who will spend all his time on work for the three plantations, and also a special nurse, will be kept constantly employed.

In speaking of the matter Manager Moir, of Onomea said: "The new hospital will be located about half way between the Pepekeo store and the Pepekeo school and will be used by Onomea, Pepekeo and Honoumuli plantations. The doctor has not been decided on yet but we hope to have the very best that can be obtained. A trained nurse will also be employed and a house will be erected for the doctor close to the new hospital building, so that he may constantly be at hand in cases of emergency.

"Three buildings will be erected—the hospital proper, the doctor's residence, and an isolation ward where contagious diseases may be taken care of. Bids are being called for for the material for the work. In the hospital proper there will be a large ward, with room for twelve or more beds, and also a smaller private ward which can hold three or four patients. Everything will be located conveniently and there will be the best possible sanitary scheme carried out. There will be five both tubs and the other fixtures will be carefully attended to. "The isolation ward will be in a separate building away from the others and will be used in case of contagious disease. It will also be provided with baths and will be fully equipped in every way. No, we have not yet selected the doctor who will be in charge, but expect to do so very soon."

ART SHOP TO MOVE.

Ye Arts & Crafts Shop, owned by C. G. Bockus, will remove on September 1 from Fort street to the premises in the Young building now occupied by the Honolulu Gas Company, the latter concern going to the corner of Berea and Emma streets. Miss Francis K. Morrison will continue as manager in the new place, and R. K. Bonine will be in charge of the art department.

CITY BOND RATE MUCH INCREASED

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Based upon its investigations into the question of municipal indebtedness made for the year 1908, the Census Bureau has issued a statement showing a gradual increase in the interest rate paid by cities on their funded indebtedness. According to this showing the average rate was 3.85 per cent in 1906, 3.89 in 1907 and 3.95 in 1908. These figures are on face values, and admittedly do not represent the absolute rate, as on the $187,983,286 worth of bonds sold in 1908 an aggregate discount of $484,456 was paid.

As indicated by the statement, the cities of more than 300,000 population with the best credit rating were: Detroit, 3.37 per cent; Boston 3.34 per cent, and Philadelphia 3.79 per cent. The best of between 100,000 and 300,000 were: Indianapolis, 3.49 per cent; Cambridge, 3.56 per cent; Worcester, 3.69 per cent, and Fall River, 3.79.

Cities of more than 300,000 with the highest net rates were San Francisco, 4.30 per cent, and New York 4.19 per cent. Other cities of from 100,000 to 300,000 with the highest net rates were: Los Angeles, 4.49 per cent; Memphis, 4.34 per cent and Jersey City and Omaha, 4.27 per cent each.

SOLDIERS PAY CASH.

Although he has not yet sent in a wireless, H. P. Wood, secretary of the Promotion Committee, is known to be a passenger in the Wilhelmnia, due to arrive tomorrow morning from San Francisco. He travelled from Atlantic City, via Spokane and San Francisco.

INSURANCE PAID IN FISCAL YEAR

Governor Frear's figures on insurance business for the fiscal year show that $89,361.49 accrued to the companies during the year as premiums on fire policies, while the losses and claims paid amounted to only $19,259.71. These figures would seem to indicate that the insurance companies had come out far ahead of the game. Marine insurance premiums for the same period amounted to $283,080.30, while the claims paid totaled only $8,258.04. Here again the companies "won."

Life insurance ran a great deal closer, Hawaiians showing themselves to be keener on the life than the fire speculation.

During the year $498,052.12 went out of the country on policies, and the losses returned here amounted to $464,883.36—about a half of which was on large policies.

The fire loss for the year was of course, remarkably small, as one lively blaze in the city would easily have entailed a loss of more than $11,000. The insurance companies simply played in luck, to say nothing of property owners. The same observation may be made in regard to the marine policies, as the loss of a couple of vessels might easily have balanced the premium account. In the life insurance policies paid, one on the life of the late C. M. Cooke was $110,000, or almost one-fourth of the total for the Territory.

NEW CAR SHED FOR OAHU RAILROAD

An immense, new car shed is being erected on the Ewa-mauka corner of the Oahu Railway yard, to take the place of the old one near the center of the premises. The old shed has for a long time proved too small for the purposes of present-day business, and has, beside, stood in the way of yard traffic.

The new shed will be an imposing structure, about 150 feet long and of sufficient width to carry four tracks. It will be of reinforced concrete, thus giving it a fine appearance as well as the quality of durability so much desired at this time. The capacity of the shed will be such that it will house most of the better cars of the company when off duty.

Workmen are now engaged laying the concrete foundation for the shed and preparing the cement. Large piles of the reinforcing material are already on the ground, and from now on operations will be rushed with all vigor possible.

This improvement is one section of the general scheme of enlargement now under way in the Oahu Railway Company's business. In different parts of the yard about forty new cars, of various kinds, are under construction or being planned. The additional equipment is planned in anticipation of new business in connection with Pearl Harbor operations and a natural increase of traffic all along the line.

COLLEGE PLAYERS WIN THE CHAMPIONSHIP

By defeating the Waseda baseball team for the third time, the crack team composed of ex-players from Punahou college not only won their series with the Japanese, but also the championship of the international league that was formed to play with the visitors.

Before a fairly good sized crowd at Athletic park on Saturday afternoon, the Puns had little trouble in winning the game by a 4-1 score.

Neither team played with the vim that they have shown in their other games, and taking everything into consideration the game was a listless one from start to finish. Alfred Castle pitched a good game, striking out eleven men and only allowing one man to reach first on the base on balls route.

The first game between the J. A. C.'s and C. A. C.'s ended in a victory for the former team by a 2-1 score after ten innings of very poor and uninteresting baseball.

PORTUGUESE EASILY DEFEATS WASEDAS

Much to the surprise of those present at Athletic park yesterday afternoon the Portuguese A. C. baseball team had little trouble in shutting out the Wasedas in the third and final game of their series by a 9-0 score.

Ol was batted all over the field by the players who hail from the Punchbowl district, and at no time during the game were the Japs ever in danger of winning.

Neither team seemed to care about the result, judging from the way the players acted during the entire game. Quick action on the part of the police prevented another scene like the one a week ago. Several of the Portuguese fans made themselves so objectionable by their vile gestures and language that they were forcibly ejected by Chief of Detectives McDuffie and his men before any one knew what had happened. After the trouble-makers had left the grounds the rest of the Japanese and Portuguese fans behaved themselves in a way that they should have done earlier in the game.

The Marine-C. A. C. game ended in a victory for the former team by a 2-1 score after a game that was brilliant at times with good playing and heavy hitting.

POLO PLAYERS READY FOR SERIES

The polo players representing the Kauai, Maui, Oahu and Fifth Cavalry teams are ready for the inter-island series which start on Wednesday of this week with the Kauai-Cavalry game.

The Maui, Kauai and Oahu ponies are already at Moanalua, the Cavalry mounts will arrive late this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

Judging from the talk about town, the Maui team are considered to be the ones that will win the series with Kauai a close second. The Oahu team is the weakest of the four on account of the ponies which are suffering from lameness. The string of horses that are on their way up from Lihue are considered to be very fast and are capable of lasting out the series.

Frank Baldwin has shown his good sportsmanship by lending the Oahu team the fast pony Clara H. which was used last year by Dave Fleming during the entire series. This action of Baldwin's is very much appreciated by the local players who have been handicapped by the lack of good horses.

The Wednesday games will be started at 3:00 until further notice, the Saturday games being scheduled to start a little earlier. The following players will represent the four teams in the coming series:

Maui—Frank and Harry Baldwin, David Fleming and Harold Rice.
Kauai—Maina, Arthur, Charley and Philip Rice.

Oahu—Walter and Harold Dillingham, Dr. and Sam Baldwin.

Cavalry—Captain Stewart, Lieutenants Hanson, Sheridan and Forsyth.

The following are the games and the dates for each:
August 10—Kauai vs. Cavalry.
August 13—Kauai vs. Oahu.
August 17—Cavalry vs. Oahu.
August 20—Kauai vs. Maui.
August 24—Hauai vs. Cavalry.
August 27—Oahu vs. Maui.

MANCHESTER, (Mass.), July 28.—The Seawanhaka cup stays in the States, for its defender, the Massachusetts of the Manchester Yacht club outlasted and outdrifted the Canadian challenger, St. Lawrence of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht club in the third and final race today. The race was won in three straight victories. The conditions were the best three in five. After a futile effort to follow the Massachusetts a third time round the four-mile triangle today the St. Lawrence withdrew and hauling back to the finish, helped celebrate the victory of her opponent. It was one of the few times that the losing yacht has hailed a winner at the finish line.

JEFFRIES MAY FIGHT AGAIN

CHICAGO, Ill., July 22.—That James J. Jeffries may again enter the ring is the belief of Sam Berger, his manager and Jack Gleason, who with Tex Rickard staged the battle at Reno. The promoter and manager arrived in Chicago yesterday direct from the Pacific Coast.

"I know that Jeffries feels the defeat very keenly," said Gleason, "and I should not be surprised were his friends to persuade him to again enter the ring. As a matter of fact, Jeffries was a mental wreck when he entered the ring against Johnson. I could have whipped him myself."

Sam Berger, who has been with Jeffries as much as any one since the fighter's defeat, believes that Jeffries will be himself in a short time.

"There is no good reason why Jeffries should not try to wipe out his defeat," said Berger. "My confident opinion is that he would whip Johnson any day in the week. It wasn't a question of coming back when Jeffries stepped into the ring at Reno. Jeffries was 'all in' when he went into that fight. He was a nervous wreck."

Gleason explained that before signing the fight articles Jeffries wanted a clause put in which would make him free to have a couple of fights before his meeting with Johnson. The promoters were willing, but as Johnson asked the same thing they feared that possibly the colored champion would grow reckless and either stumble into a defeat or else injure himself, so they decided to keep both out of the ring.

Berger now thinks that a real bout before the fight would have put Jeffries in far better trim than he was.

RICHARDS EASILY DEFEATS LOW

Atherton Richards, winner of the last tournament for the Wall tennis cup, easily defeated Captain Low on Saturday afternoon in the semi-finals for the same trophy on the Beretania club courts 6-3, 6-0.

By defeating Low, Richards is eligible to meet the winner of the Richard Cooke-Theodore Richards match this afternoon for the cup. If Atherton wins this time he will have won the cup twice.

The Cooper-Richards match will be played at two thirty this afternoon on the Beretania club courts.

YACHT VIKING WINS SERIES

The third and last yacht race in the series for the Myhre cup, was won yesterday afternoon by the Viking, Captain Myhre, over the yacht Ivy, Pearl, Roaring Gimlet and Uku in the order named.

The winner's time for the distance was 1 hour, 6 minutes and 10 seconds.

SECY. WILSON ON THE COAST

PORTLAND, July 23.—James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture, arrived in this city tonight from Seattle and almost his first act, after his arrival in Portland, was to make a statement of significance to the West.

The Secretary said that he had taken personal charge of the forestry service, and declared it his intention to open up for settlement all lands now within the Government forest reserves which are suitable for agriculture and do not run over 4,000 feet of timber to the acre.

Secretary Wilson is on his inspection tour of the West and will remain in Portland until Monday.

"The forest reserve withdrawals were hastily made," said Wilson, "and there is much land within their boundaries as they at present exist that is more valuable for agricultural purposes than for the timber. Five or six million acres of this class of land will be eliminated this summer as fast as maps can be prepared and the proclamations prepared for the signature of the President."

VACATION NOW.

What are you going to do to get back the energy you have lost by remaining at your desk all summer? Haleiwa offers opportunities unequalled by any hotel on this island. Sea bathing, boating, golf, tennis and horse back riding through a delightful section and over good roads. For the summer season rates have been lowered to meet the purses of the people who are not overflaw with money. Haleiwa is a place where nature affords a most delightful view and where the breeze is always cool.

STATEHOOD URGED FOR HAWAII ISLE

Under the above heading, the Washington correspondent of the Spartan-burg (S. C.) Herald says:

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Statehood for Hawaii is being boomed by Delegate Jonah Kuhio Kalaniana'ole, of Waikiki, district of Honolulu. Mr. Jonah (that is the civilized part of his name) is delegate in Congress from the Territory of Hawaii, and he is a rather able sort of fellow. His autobiography in the Congressional Directory states that he was born March 26, 1871, at Koloa, island of Kauai, Hawaii, was educated in Honolulu, the United States, and England, is a capitalist, was employed in the office of minister of the interior and in the custom house under the Hawaiian monarchy, is cousin to the late King Kalakaua and Queen Liliuokalani. In 1908 he was elected delegate to Congress, by a vote of 5,846, as against 3,947 for L. L. McCandless, Democrat, and 2,982 for C. K. Notley, Home Ruler.

Delegate Jonah expects to introduce a bill providing for the admission of Hawaii as a state, according to recent statements, and it is understood that he will expect to be transformed from Delegate Jonah to Senator Jonah when his bill becomes law. This is indicated by the fact that he writes down his occupation as a "capitalist"—the fashionable occupation for Republican Senators.

AT THE THEATERS

A very large section of Honolulu attended the theaters Saturday night, the crowds at the various playhouses being very nearly up to the record mark. The Orpheum, Empire, Art and Novelty were all full, the last three having "standing room only" for an hour or more. At the Park the four-house plan was put into effect and successfully carried out. Tickets were furnished which entitled the holder to sit through only one performance. These tickets or cards were of different colors, so that there was no difficulty in locating would-be repeaters. At the end of each performance the house was cleared without difficulty and the seats were occupied by new people who were always waiting by the hundreds outside. Sheriff Jarrett kindly came to the assistance of the management, detaching several experienced officers to the place, they handling the crowd in a highly satisfactory manner.

The patronage at the Park theater is one of the marvels of theatrical history in Honolulu. The problem seems not to be how to get the crowd but how to prevent overcrowding.

The Empire Tonight.

Manager Overend has received a big lot of new pictures and will entertain his friends this evening with some of the latest and best successes.

At The Novelty.

Tonight at the Novelty theater Wise & Milton will present for the first time here their great sketch entitled "The Ghost of a Coon." Miss Milton will also introduce her vocal success entitled "I'll keep a warm spot in my heart for you," and "Honey Lou." All of these are big features. In addition to the vaudeville program, some startling, new pictures will be shown.

The Park's Best.

Tonight at the Park the Crotons will present their original acrobatic scheme, and one of them will display some new muscles, or, rather, new muscular movements. This feature will be greater and more interesting than ever before. Miss May will appear in new songs, and the picture part of the program will be new and highly interesting.

"Confidence Jane."

How They Hoaxed Charles Dickens

Deshler Welch writes in Harper's for August of his recent journey and tells some of the stories told him by men who met the great writer over the route which Dickens made famous in "Martin Chuzzlewit," on his early visit to Ohio.

"Although I had endeavored all along this route of Dickens's to obtain some interesting reminiscence from some one who had met him at the time, I had not succeeded until one afternoon as I sat in the parlor of the historic Neil House looking out on the stately Ohio Capitol building. Then I had a talk with the venerable and much-beloved citizen, Dr. Starling Loving, now over fourscore, still 'practising'—and going around in a 40-h.p. machine. He told me of an incident that has not been in print, and is worth recording here, connected with three other well-known citizens of that day—Joseph Sullivan, Elijah Backus, and Matthew Gilbert. It happened in the Neil House, Dickens had been swallowing all sorts of border tales and wild Indian adventures that had been told with a long bow, and seemed peculiarly susceptible in accepting any statement, however ridiculous. He was also fond of mulled wine, and that and other 'fixings' being brought into his private parlor opened the way for the aforesaid committee of citizens to be sociable, and also put the author in good nature and in a receptive mood. 'Joe' Sullivan was describing the wild life back in the grizzly woods of the Scioto; Gilbert got out a stick and began whittling, with his chair tilted against the wall. 'It was very evident,' said the doctor, 'that Dickens looked upon it all as customary manners, and did not seem especially surprised when 'Lige Backus drew a knife from the back of his neck and began cleaning his nails with it.' 'Elijah,' says Sullivan, 'is that the knife you used on old Wheeler?'"

"Nope; left that sticking in him, and Hank Henshaw, the coroner, is holding it agin' me—says something about circumstantial evidence, and you bet I'm keeping still!"

"Dickens believed the whole business," said the doctor, "until the boys saw him off the next day. Sullivan told him, and the great author gave a shriek of merriment. I'm the only living man, in this part of the state at least, who shook hands with him on that famous visit."

to be put on at the Art theater this evening, going on at 7:30 and again at 9 o'clock. It is a master piece in the sketch line, and it is needless to say that its interpretation by Royal and Elliott is perfect. The Melotte sisters will again appear in their delightful specialties and the picture program will be of the best.

ISLAND TEACHER GREETED ON COAST

BERKELEY, July 28.—Miss Alice Thompson, a prominent graduate of the University of California, with the Class of 1905, at present holding the position of soil expert at the Hawaiian Agricultural Experiment Station, Honolulu, accompanied by her father, Professor Ulrich Thompson, arrived in Berkeley yesterday for a brief visit, following which she will enter Columbia University, for advanced studies in chemistry.

Miss Thompson was popular in college circles during her undergraduate period. Upon graduation she acted as an assistant chemist in the soil department at the university, under Professor R. H. Loughbridge. She later resigned her position with the university to accept the post in the Islands.

Professor Thompson, her father, is a member of one of the oldest families in the Islands, and for a number of years was principal of the Kamehameha school for girls.

HAWAII'S KNOCK AT CLOSED DOOR

Under the heading "Hawaii's Knock at the Door" the Rome (N. Y.) Sentinel, of July 13, says:

That the Sandwich Islands should ever become a state of the American union would have been deemed utterly preposterous had it been suggested thirty years ago. To many persons the thought may not seem much more reasonable at the present hour. Nevertheless Hawaii is knocking at the door and requesting admission to the sisterhood of states, and newspapers as conservative as the New York Times are ready to go as far as to assert that the islands will probably constitute the forty-ninth state, entering next in line after New Mexico and Arizona, though perhaps not for a considerable number of years to come.

When the Sandwich Islands were discovered by Captain Cook in 1778 they are supposed to have had a native population of some 200,000 and some unkind things were said of the inhabitants. The census of 1909, however, showed a striking change in the complexion of the population, then numbering but 154,000 for all the islands. Of this total only 31,019 were pure natives and 8,485 half-breeds as against 24,407 Japanese, 21,616 Chinese, 15,100 Portuguese, 3,086 Americans and 2,250 British. That the Americans formed only 2.73 per cent of the whole should be borne in mind in considering the possibilities of the islands as an American state. Their total area in 6,740 square miles as against 1,248 in Rhode Island, 2,370 in Delaware, 4,965 in Connecticut, 8,224 in New Jersey, and 8,226 in Massachusetts. The total population exceeds that of either Arizona, Nevada or Wyoming, but is considerably less than that of the city of Rochester.

The islands began knocking at the door of the United States many years ago when the proportion of races in the population was greatly different from the present day. During Mr. Cleveland's administration the American sugar planters residing on the islands, mostly sons of missionaries, gave an extra hard knock, the door was partly opened and they got a foot in just far enough so that the door was never fully closed, much as the president sought to undo what he viewed as the illegal act of the American naval commander on the spot. Queen Lili never got back her throne, and finally, July 7, 1898, partly as an outcome of the Spanish-American war, formal annexation of the islands was declared by Congress. In April of 1900 a law was enacted giving Hawaii a full territorial government with a Legislature, governor and Supreme court and a delegate in the Congress and the United States. Now comes the demand for full statehood with two United States senators and a congressman.

That the present knock will be less speedily heeded than those that have gone before it would seem certain. If the circumstance that Americans form so small a minority of the population were not enough to make Congress pause, the present well established, though by no means thoroughly defensible, policy of this government toward the exclusion of Asiatics from the confines of continental United States should be recognized as a final bar to any immediate action. Under the constitution there can be no restriction of commerce between states. The instant Hawaii is admitted as a state to this union her citizens will have free access to California and other states more or less fanatically opposed to Oriental immigration. It matters not that the whole 46,000 Japanese and Chinese in the Islands, supposing all should wish to come, would make but a drop in the bucket toward the true needs of the Pacific Coast for laborers; the Pacific states can be counted as a unit against the admission of the Hawaiian Islands to statehood.

There is yet another obstacle to Hawaii's making the forty-ninth star in the flag. If she had any valid claims in that direction, Porto Rico's are stronger. When the United States acquired that island from Spain the whole population wished annexation and their present discontent lies in the fact that they have been refused American citizenship. A very goodly proportion of Hawaii's population had no such ambitions at the time of annexation, and probably few possess them now.

As a matter of fact, however, it is more likely that a compromise will be reached, and the islands of the two seas given, for many years to come, a greater degree of home rule without a voice in Congress.

The wedding of Miss Harriet Sterling and Ensign Richmond Kelly Turner of the West Virginia will take place on Wednesday, August 2d, at the bride's home in Stockton. A large contingent from town and from

MRS. ROSA BOYER, 121 Sherman Ave., Evanston, Ill., writes: "If any one has reason to praise Peruna it is surely myself."

"Last spring I became so run down from the serious effects of a lingering cold, that several complications united in pulling me down. I could neither eat nor sleep well, and lost flesh and spirit. "I finally tried Peruna and it did wonders for me. In two weeks I was like another person, and in a month I felt better than I ever had before."

"I thank Peruna for new life and strength. I send you two pictures, so you can see what Peruna has done for me."

Better Than for Years.

Mrs. Mary E. Jones, Burning Springs, Ky., writes:

"I wish to speak a word in praise of your highly valued Peruna, as I have been blessed with the golden opportunity of giving it a fair and impartial test, and can say that I have had better health, far better, since I have been using it than for quite a number of years before."

"One of my neighbors had stomach trouble. I recommended Peruna to her, and now she is well and healthy, after having been pronounced hopeless by several physicians."

Mare Island will be present at the marriage.—S. F. Chronicle.

Miss Julia Langhorne, who has been the guest of the Misses Marion and Elizabeth Newhall at the Potter in Santa Barbara for the last two weeks, will remain until the first of August as the guest of Miss Helene Irwin. Soon after her return Miss Langhorne will leave for Colorado Springs to visit her sister, Mrs. Hammond Richards, who has a charming home there. She will be absent for many months, and may extend her visit to New York for a visit with Miss Sara Cunningham, who was a guest at the Langhorne home during a portion of her stay in San Francisco last month.—S. F. Chronicle.

From New York comes the statement that the taxicabs de luxe which are now seen on the fashionable avenues surpass in brilliancy any four-wheeled vehicles in the world, and are even more magnificently fitted than were the chariots of France's "sun king." These newest fancies of the ultra smart woman are largely composed of bevel glass, and as they are lighted with electricity and reflectors, there is no doubt but that the fair occupant will see and be seen. The upholstery is of shirred silk and the cushions of costly brocade. These are detachable so that madam can have several sets to harmonize with different gowns. And indeed, could Mladay, en route to the opera, have a more advantageous way of displaying the beauties of a Paris gown?—S. F. Bulletin.

FACTIONS IN PARLIAMENT HOPEFUL OF COMPROMISE

LONDON, July 29.—The conferees of the two dominant parties who are trying to compose the constitutional differences of the House of Lords and the House of Commons, already have succeeded in bridging several gulfs and a statement made by Premier Asquith in the lower chamber this afternoon indicates that the outlook for compromise is more hopeful, but little of an official nature is likely to be heard regarding the negotiations until Parliament reassembles November 15th.
