A Pleasant Story.

Once upon a time—so runs the story, and a pleasant little story it is—when Louis XII. of France was at the royal castle of Plessis-les-Tours, he went one evening into the kitchen, where he found a small boy engaged in turning a spit for the roasting of a loin of beef. The lad had a peculiarly bright looking face; keen, bright eyes, and features really fine; and his appearance greatly prepossessed the king in his favor. Laying a hand upon his head, he asked the little fellow who he was. The boy, looking up, and seeing a plain looking man in a hunting garb, supposed that he might be speaking to one of the grooms, or perhaps chief riders in the royal stables. He answered, very modestly that his name was Simon; he said he came from La Roche, and that his parents were both dead.

"And are you content with this sort of work?" Louis asked.

"Why not?" answered the boy, with a twinkle in his eye, and a suggestive nod. "I am as well off as is the best of them. The king himself is no better."

"Indeed! How do you make that out?"

"Why, fair sir, the king lives, and so do I. He can do no more than live. Further, I am content. Is the king that?"

Louis walked away in a fit of thought deep and searching; and the image of that boy remained in his mind even after he had sought his pillow.

On the next day the astonishment of the turnspit may be imagined upon being summoned to follow a page, and finding himself in the presence of the king, and the king his visitor of the previous evening. On the present occasion Louis conversed further with the lad, when he found him to be as intelligent and keen-witted as he had at first appeared. He had sent for him with the intention of making him a page; but instead established him in his chamber as a page-in-waiting—really the position of a gentleman.

And Louis had not been deceived in his estimate of the boy's abilities.

The youth served Louis faithfully, and in the last years of the reign of Francis I. he was known and honored as General Sir Simon de la Roche.

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC

The closing of the liquor saloons on Saturday last, on account of its being election day, suggests a few reflections which may be considered as pertinent.

The fact is admitted that, notwithstanding the law, the natives can get as much liquor as they are able to pay for, and not from the liquor saloons either.

Good and salutary laws are out of place on the statute books, if they are constantly and notoriously broken.

The Annual Election of Engineers of the Honolulu Fire Department takes place this evening at the Hall of Engine Co. No. 2.

SECOND hand Top Buggy, Open Buggy, Break and Trotting Sulky for sale, very low, at Phil Stein's, on Fort street, above Hotel.

NOTWITHSTANDING the liquor saloons were closed on Saturday, it was evident early in the day that "the spirits" were making their influence felt on quite a number of natives in and about the Government House.

NOTICE.—The undersigned is now prepared to give lessons in Spanish or French, and any other foreign language, orally and scientifically, with the most easy method to its perfect knowledge.

THE LEGISLATURE

Did not sit on Saturday, having adjourned over from Friday until Monday, Saturday being an off day anyhow; and besides the election for a Representative took place in the Hall of Aliiolani Hale.

LATE FOREIGN NEWS.

THE Dublin assassins had been found and arrested, but subsequently escaped from jail; and the report was circulated, May 18th at Dublin, that they had escaped in the garbs of priests, and were then on their way to the United States.

On board the steamer Altnower, in San Francisco harbor, there was 63 cases of small-pox among the coolies, and some of the ship's crew had been stricken down.

The Anti-Chinese movement gathers strength in San Francisco. Employers of the labor were giving notice that they would have no Chinese.

Russia finds that the Anti-Jewish movement has cost her over one millions of dollars.

The Alta reports Hawaiian sugar at from 6 1/2 to 8 1/2 cents.

THE barkentine Ella, arrived this morning, brings San Francisco dates to May 19. We glean a few items of news, which however, is not of startling importance.

7,608 packages of sugar have come to hand since Saturday morning.

THE brigantine Vesta arrived last Saturday afternoon from New Castle, N.S.W. She brings a cargo of coal to Messrs. T. H. Davies & Co.

THE steamer City of New York is due to-day from the Colonies en route to San Francisco.

THE Consuelo, Forest Queen and Jane A Falkenberg were up for this port when the Ella left.

THE Falkenberg was to sail the day after the Ella.

Mr. H. L. SHELDON, EDITOR "DAILY BULLETIN":—Will you reprint from the Friend of yesterday, an article on page 60, "Sabbath Observance," and call attention to it, as a timely admonition from one who has the best interests of the Hawaiian People at heart.

"Late papers from the coast inform us that the people of the State of California, are determined to enforce a wholesome Sabbath Law, which closes all places of business and public amusement. This is a step forward and not backward. A similar effort is now being made in many of the Eastern States, and it is with no moderate degree of surprise and shame that, we notice an effort on the part of our legislators to break down our Sabbath Laws and open places of amusement on the Holy Sabbath.

ATTENTION is called to an advertisement in to-day's issue, calling for tenders for the construction of the new building for the Y.M.C.A.

THE steamer Likelike brought 2,100 packages of sugar and 50,000 shingles.

It sounds a little odd to report the receipt at Honolulu of fifty thousand shingles, coastwise from Mahukona. They were brought on the steamer Likelike, which arrived yesterday.

THERE was a large crowd of visitors on board H.B.M.S. Champion yesterday.

MR. JAMES KEAU was elected a member of the Assembly for Honolulu on Saturday, by a considerable majority.

THE barkentine W. H. Dimond, Capt. Houdlett, sailed from Kahului on the 1st inst. for San Francisco, taking 10,534 bags of sugar weighing 1,363,377 pounds, value $89,626.89, and the following passengers: S. T. Alexander, wife and 5 children, L. A. Andrews, D. Oliver, J. P. Smith, W. E. McDermott, and 9 in the steerage.

NOTICE to Contractors—The plans and specifications for the proposed new building of the Y. M. C. A. of Honolulu can be seen at the office of C. Brewer & Co. Sealed Tenders for the construction of the same will be received by the Building Committee up to 12 o'clock noon of Wednesday, June 21st, 1882, at the office of C. Brewer & Co. Satisfactory guarantee for faithful performance of contract must be furnished by those bidding for the job. The Building Committee reserves the right of rejecting any or all bids.

Palestine Pottery.

The biblical description of pottery are singularly applicative to the present process of manufacture. As in Bible times, so in the nineteenth century, the potter sits at his frame and turns his wheel with his foot; or, as we read in the Apocalypse: "So doth the potter, sitting at his work and turning the wheel with his feet; he fashioneth the clay with his arms. The potter had a lot of the prepared clay near him and a jug of water at his side. Taking a lump in his hand, he placed it on top of the wheel, which revolves horizontally, and smoothed it into a low cone between his hands. As it enlarged and became thinner, he gave it whatever shape he pleased with the utmost ease and expedition. It is evident, from numerous expressions in the Bible that the potter's essel was the synonym of utter frugality; and to say as David does, that Zion's king would dash his enemies to pieces like a potter's vessel, was to threaten with ruin and remorseless destruction. We, who are accustomed to the strong stoneware of considerable value can scarcely appreciate some of these biblical references, but for Palestine, they are as appropriate and forcible as ever. Arab jars are so thin and frail that they are literally dashed to shivers at the slightest stroke. Waters jars are often broken by merely putting them down upon the floor; and the servant frequently returns from the mountain empty-handed, having all his jars smashed to atoms by some irregular behavior of the donkey."
