SCOTCHMEN WHO REMEMBER BOBBIE BURNS

Admirers of the Poet Filled Large Elks Hall Last Night.

BURNS' ADDRESS TO A DAISY Judge Estee Responds to Toast of the President of United States.

British Commissioner Hoare Speaks to Toast of King and Queen of England—R. Catton Starts High Ball Rolling and N. Kay Lets Song Birds Loose.

The night came up over the mountains big and round and bright just as scores of Scotchmen and their friends began filing up the stairs leading from the street to the capacious hall of the Elks last night, but she was far, far across the heavens and thinking about bidding her face from the earth when the two hundred and more jolly celebrators of the anniversary of the birth of Burns thought of going to their homes.

Rollickers Were Ready.

Four tables, the length of the long hall, soon seated the crowd of lovers of old Scotland who, well provided with the necessities for such an occasion in the way of tempting wines and plenty of liquid refreshment bearing labels complimentary to the land of crags and mountain dew, were ready to listen to eloquent toast, rollicking song and still more rollicking lark-pipes.

On the platform United States Judge M. W. Estee and British Commissioner W. R. Hoare sat, respectively on the left and right of Toastmaster Chief T. M. Rae.

The Stars and Stripes hung gracefully over the platform while the Union Jack beautified the desk.

High Ball Starts Rolling.

Toastmaster Rae started the high ball rolling by welcoming Scotchmen and their friends to the celebration of Scotland's Poet Burns' birthday anniversary, introducing the first speaker of the evening, R. Catton.

Local applause greeted Mr. Catton who spoke, in part, as follows:

Catton on Burns.

"We have met to render thanks for one of God's greatest gifts to Scotland, the poet, Bobbie Burns.

"God's gift to England was the immortal Bard of Avon, the poet, Shakespeare.

"Burns' songs and poems in their purity and simplicity stir the poetic nature in us all. He wrote of simple things as well of greater things."

Mr. Catton then quoted some charming lines from Burns' address to the Scotchmen and others poetic present to the beauty of the poetic feeling expressed on a subject so simple. He referred to Burns' poems on love, saying that we are all poets while we are courting. "I hope we remain poets after we are married," added the speaker. He went on to portray the gentle humor of the poet's works.

"For Scotland Burns had a mighty love," said the speaker, "desiring always to do something for his country but always fearing, it seems, that he could not do much. He seems to have formed a better opinion of himself later, however, for he told his wife once that he would be more thought of a hundred years after his death than he was."

Songbirds Let Loose.

"There was a lad born in Kyle," was then sung by N. Kay, to the delight of all. Mr. Kay was encored and sang "A Life on the Rolling Sea" with great gusto.

G. F. Davies followed with a piano selection, singing to his own accompaniment a jolly song of modern times touching on the vastness of the sea. Glasses clinked and all was merriment as the minutes sped swiftly by.

President of the United States.

When the toastmaster introduced Judge Estee those present arose to their feet with filled glasses, for the Judge was about to speak on "The President of the United States." The glasses drained and the assemblage again seated, Judge Estee made a few remarks, in brief, as follows:

"I don't know whether you want me to speak of the great office of President of the United States or of the man who now fills that position. It is a great thing to be a ruler, especially in a country where the people make their ruler.

"The ruler of England is born its ruler, but for more than a century and a half there has not been an English ruler who was not worthy of being England's ruler. And in America it is a fact that, from Washington up to the present time, there has not been a President who was not worthy of being President.

"The people are the best judges and what they say is right is generally right. This is most forcibly shown in America."

Scotland's Religious Feeling.

In speaking of Scotland Judge Estee spoke of the deep inborn religious feeling of the sons and daughters of Scotland.

"Englishmen, Scotchmen and Irishmen make good American citizens, but they never forget their native country and they never forget the great poets of their native country."

The Judge spoke of going to Hilo next week, saying that he understood that most of the English speaking people of Hilo were Scotchmen.

The Judge spoke of Roosevelt's coming to the Presidency through Mr. McKinley's assassination, saying that Roosevelt was a young man but a man worthy to fill the position, with a few happy allusions to Scottish wit, thrift and conscientiousness. The Judge took his seat amid great applause.

Fondness for Mountain Dew.

The Dillingham Quartet followed the remarks of Judge Estee, after which Stanley Beardmore mounted the platform and recited a poem entitled "McBride's System." The poem touched pathetically on the fondness of the Scots for the dew of the mountains.

Another song came after the recitation. Jas. G. Brown sang. Again the glasses rattled and applause filled the hall.

The eloquent T. McCants Stewart started in on his address on "Burns" with a poem, one of the works of Scotland's bard, reciting the lines succinctly and with careful expression.

He called Burns a high priest of nature, saying that he had given voice to the poetry of the common things of life, the good, wholesome, best things of life.

Scottish Brew Circulated.

"Flora Macdonald's Lament," a delightful song, was rendered very prettily and fetchingly by D. Clark, whose voice is most pleasantly attractive.

Those who gave Scottish quotations and who recited Scottish poems, faithfully represented the tongue of the land of Burns. The Scottish brew, which circulated generously, materially assisted those who were not natives of Scotland to venture on the use of Scottish words.

Not satisfied with Clark's first song, more was forthcoming as good as the first.

When the Highland Fling was announced the utmost enthusiasm was manifested, hand-clapping, floor-pounding, table-banging, glass-clinking and loud calling being freely indulged in.

Piper Macdonald's Fling.

Piper R. Macdonald Murray, in Highland costume, was by all odds the chief attraction of the evening. The platform was vacated by Judge Estee and Commissioner Hoare, and after the desk had been put in a corner, the piano was manipulated and Murray executed the national dance of Scotland in a manner which brought down the house. He had to do the deed twice. So nimble of foot was Murray that his bold, bare knees twinkled merrily in and out of his kilts at a rate which spoke well for their owner's dancing ability.

England's King and Queen.

"Their Majesties the King and Queen of Great Britain" was a toast that brought every man in the house to his feet. Glasses were raised high and, with one foot on their chairs, every Scotchman, Englishman, Irishman and everybody else, too, drank heartily and joined in three loud-lunged cheers.

British Commissioner Hoare responded to the toast in fitting and appropriate terms, limiting his words to a few brief remarks which called forth the utmost enthusiasm.

His Britannic Majesty's Consul spoke in laudatory language of the late Queen of England, Victoria the Good, and also dwelt on the merits of King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

Tommy Atkins.

William Thompson rendered "Tommy Atkins" in a way that stirred the spirit of every man, not considering his nationality. Thompson sang an

POLICE WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH EXHIBITION

Contestants Must Comply With the Law as it is Interpreted.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Tonight's Sparring Match Must be for Points and Not for Blood.

High Sheriff Brown Secures an Opinion Upon Which His Men Can Form Their Judgment—Officers Will be Present to See that Provisions of Law Are Not Violated.

The attempt to bring Territorial interference against the boxing exhibition, to be given by "Denver" Ed Smith, at the hall over the Club Stables this evening, and prevent the contest from being pulled off, met with failure yesterday.

The police department was apprised of the movement coming from certain quarters to have the affair called off. High Sheriff Brown immediately sent a request to Attorney General Dole, asking him to render an opinion upon the matter, in order that the officers might be guided in their actions thereby.

Attorney General's Opinion.

The Attorney General's opinion was received at the High Sheriff's office yesterday afternoon. In reference to the fight it states:

Territory of Hawaii.

Office of the Attorney General, Honolulu, H. I., Jan. 24, 1902.

Mr. A. M. Brown, High Sheriff of the Territory of Hawaii, Honolulu:

Dear Sir: My attention has been called to the boxing contests advertised for tomorrow evening, with the request that such action be taken as the law authorizes. Chapter 33 of the Penal Laws of 1897 is as follows:

"AFFRAY—An affray is the fighting of two or more persons in a public place; and includes any prize fight or other premeditated contention where no weapons are used. Whoever takes part in it, encourages, or promotes an affray, or is willfully present as a spectator at any prize fight or other premeditated contention, shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or by imprisonment at hard labor not more than six months."

Definition of an Affray.

The definition of an affray given in the statute is the same as the common law definition. Wilkes v. Jackson, 2 H. & M. 355; O'Neill v. State, 16 Ala. 65. The title of the chapter "Affray" restricts it, I think, to fighting. The words "or other premeditated contention" are clearly used for the purpose of preventing an evasion of the spirit of the law by any technical or narrow construction of the words "prize fight."

Fight is Prohibited.

The statute, in my opinion, does not prohibit an exhibition of strength or skill in boxing, although such exhibition may be of a somewhat rough nature. It does prohibit a contest, the nature and intent of which are to win victory by disabling or injuring an opponent; in other words, a contest which is a fight.

I think the department should not interfere with this exhibition, unless it is in the nature of a fight in which it is sought to disable or injure an opponent; but I think a sufficient police force in the charge of a discreet and fearless officer should be ready to stop it peremptorily in case it passes the limits permitted by law.

Very truly yours,

E. P. DOLE,
Attorney General.

Police Will be Present.

"Denver" Ed Smith, as well as the other participants in the proposed contest, will not be interfered with by the police department tonight as long as they confine their boxing within reasonable bounds, and if, in the opinion of the officers, there is no attempt to harm or injure an opponent," stated High Sheriff Brown yesterday upon receipt of the opinion of the Attorney General.

"The police department will have a capable and efficient force of officers present at the contest," declared that official. "According to their discretion, when the time arrives that they believe the boxing has reached the danger line, the police will take prompt action and stop further proceedings among the athletes.

"Prize fighting will not be permitted under any guise or subterfuge. While contestants remain within the provisions of the law, they will be permitted to proceed unmolested. We do not anticipate any trouble at the contest."

CALICO BALL TO BE GIVEN FOR CHARITY

Ladies Plan to Raise Funds for Eye and Ear Infirmary.

DRILL SHED SCENE OF FESTIVITIES

Committees Appointed Yesterday and Active Steps Were Taken.

Fitting Benefit For a Very Worthy Institution—Honolulu People Will Again Be Asked to Contribute Their Mites—Dress Suits Not Declared Essential For Gentlemen.

Honolulu people will again be given the opportunity of dancing for "sweet charity's sake."

Such was the determination reached by a committee of ladies who gathered at the home of Mrs. H. Isenberg at Punahou yesterday afternoon, and laid plans for a charity ball to be given for the purpose of raising funds for the Honolulu Eye and Ear Infirmary.

Ball at the Drill Shed.

The flattering success of the Carnival and ball held last year under similar auspices is well known. The proceeds were largely in excess of what was expected. Nevertheless the infirmary has been under a great deal of expense, and it is by a most agreeable method that the residents of Honolulu will be asked to contribute their mites to a worthy object.

The charity ball will be held at the drill shed on Wednesday, February 5th.

Masks and Calico.

The affair has been planned on the lines of a "Calico Ball" at which ladies attending are to be arrayed in fantastic costumes of calico, the gentlemen may come wearing their coolest white attire, and it will not be considered bad form should a visitor attend the party minus a dress suit. All persons are to be masked.

Decorations upon an extensive and elaborate scale have been arranged for. At the meeting held yesterday many committees were appointed whose duty it will be to look after every detail connected with the affair.

Among the ladies present at the meeting were: Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Mrs. McGrew, Mrs. H. Lewis, Mrs. Geo. Herbert, Mrs. J. S. Walker, Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. H. Stacker, Mrs. C. Grimwood, Mrs. Hamkable, Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Mrs. Mayes, Mrs. Cofer, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Brock, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Arthur Wall, Miss Bacon, Mrs. Soper, Mrs. Forster and Miss McIntyre.

The selection of an executive committee was first in the order of business. Those chosen included:

Mrs. Alexander Isenberg, chairman; Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mrs. Chas. Wilder, Mrs. John Soper, Mrs. C. Brock, Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Miss McIntyre, Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Mrs. Mary Widdfield, Mrs. Andrew Fuller, Mrs. J. S. Walker, Mrs. C. E. Cofer, Mrs. Dr. F. Mayes, Mrs. J. Hamburg, Mrs. Arthur Wall, Mrs. H. Lewis, Mrs. Geo. Herbert, Mrs. Dr. McGrew, Mrs. C. Grimwood, Miss Bacon, Miss Belle Walker, Miss McIntyre, and Mrs. Carl Du Roi. The chairman was granted power to appoint others to serve on this committee should the necessity arise.

Committee on Advertising and Newspapers—Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. J. Soper.

Committee on Refreshments—Mrs. H. Lewis, Mrs. C. Brock, Mrs. C. M. V. Forster.

Committee on Tickets—Mrs. M. Phillips, chairman, assisted by all ladies interested in Charity or the Infirmary.

Committee on Decoration—Mrs. Arthur Wall, chairman; Mrs. Geo. Paris, Mrs. L. E. Cofer, Mrs. Mayes, Mrs. George Smithies, Miss Belle Walker and others.

Committee on Finance—M. Phillips, with power to select others.

Committee on Dance Hall—Mrs. E. D. Tenney and Mrs. J. S. Walker.

Committee on Music—Mrs. C. B. Cooper and Miss Bacon.

The various committees are expected to report at the next meeting which will be held at the office of Dr. Sloggett on Wednesday afternoon, January 29th, at 3 o'clock.

The committee has fixed $2 as the price of the ball tickets, feeling that this will be within the reach of all.

RUMOR OF SHERIDAN'S LOSS IS DISCREDITED ALONG WATERFRONT

Passengers Claim Hearing of Terrible Disaster

Mohican Sailors Making Things Lively Along the Waterfront—Captain Spicer a Much Disgusted Man—Van Dyke's Spite Delays Sailing of the Florence.

The only topic of conversation along the waterfront yesterday was the reported loss of the transport Sheridan off the Japanese coast, with 1400 souls on board. Practically all the shipping men discredit the rumor.

The story was traced to Horace Cook and R. B. Hoyme, who arrived here on Wednesday night on the Ventura. They say that the story was published in the San Francisco Bulletin and that they heard of it about California street in the vicinity of the Merchant's Exchange. No details were given other than that the Sheridan had been lost with all hands aboard. One thing, however, which was positively learned yesterday was that the Sheridan was not bound to San Francisco, as reported on Thursday afternoon, but was going exactly in the opposite direction.

Not Going to Nagasaki.

The Sheridan left San Francisco, January 16, bound for Manila, via Guam. Her course therefore would not have been by Nagasaki, as the officers of the Ventura were credited with saying.

It is hoped that the Kilpatrick, which is due here at any time, may bring some later news either confirming or denying the story.

A copy of the regular edition of the San Francisco Evening Bulletin of January 16 was in possession of the Republican, but it did not contain one line concerning the fate of the Sheridan. Of course the news may have been published in a late evening edition.

The Sheridan is commanded by Captain Pierce. She left San Francisco on New Year's day and the departure was made an occasion for quite a demonstration.

In addition to the several hundred members of the crew, the following departed on the Sheridan, four companies of the Twenty-seventh Infantry, consisting of 402 enlisted men, and four troops of the Eleventh Cavalry numbering 322 men, 747 recruits, 17 Hospital Corps men, headquarters and band of the Twenty-seventh Regiment, and various line officers.

MOHICAN TARS ARE GIVING WORK TO POLICE

LIVELY TIMES ON WATERFRONT

Sailors Who Overstayed Leave Try to Drown Officers—Reward Offered for Return on Board—Large Party on Shore.

The waterfront police had a busy day yesterday rounding up a dozen sailors of the training ship Mohican who had overstayed their leave. Rewards had been offered by Captain Cowden for their return aboard and this proved a good stimulant to the local officers. The rewards being paid to the police are being taken out of the pay of the sailors, and the tars have made up their minds to give the officers a run for their money.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon six sailors in charge of a police officer left the boat landing in a row-boat, bound for the Mohican. From the time they left the boat landing until they came alongside the training ship the life of the officer was not worth an old Hawaiian penny.

The tars divided themselves, on both sides of the boat, and, sitting on the gunwale, had a little fun at the officer's expense by swinging the boat. A large crowd gathered on the wharves and for fully an hour witnessed the most exciting trip that was ever made by a boat in Honolulu harbor.

The police officer, seated at the stern of the boat, did not dare to move, and when off the Wilder's wharf shouted for help. Another officer on duty along the waterfront jumped into one of the Star of Bengal's boats and went to the help of his brother on the force. His arrival however did not simplify matters but made them worse. The boat under the swinging of the sailors rolled worse than ever and a disaster was expected at any moment by the spectators on shore.

After an hour of hard work the party finally reached the Mohican, where the sailors were turned over to the officers of their ship to be dealt with according to the rules and regulations of the United States Navy, sailors landed at the boat landing on shore leave, and it is their turn to have a good time and worry the police.

FLORENCE DELAYED BY ALLEGED SPITE WORK

MATE VAN DYKE IS ACCUSED.

Captain Spicer is a Disgusted Man. Claims that His Officer Vents Spite Because He Was Refused His Discharge.

A disgusted man along the waterfront yesterday was Captain Spicer of the ship Florence. His vessel was ready to go to sea, but was unable to do so on account of the presence of some of his crew being required in the police court.

Subpoenas were served yesterday morning on the mate, carpenter and two sailors of the Florence as witnesses in the case of J. Van Dyke, second mate of the vessel, against Olaf Olsen, John Johansen and a third sailor accused of assault and battery.

Captain Spicer claimed that the whole case was simply one of spite work on the part of Van Dyke, because Van Dyke's request for his discharge had been denied.

It appears that Van Dyke wanted to be paid off here. Captain Spicer said that he would not pay the man until after the cargo had been discharged and the ballast loaded in the ship. Van Dyke became angry and brought the charge against the three sailors who, it was alleged, had struck him because he was a union man and they were non-union sailors.

After the case had been disposed of in the police court yesterday afternoon and the sailors were released, Van Dyke was paid off by Captain Spicer and the Florence will probably go to sea today.

The flagpole for the United States naval reservation at Halawa was erected yesterday and a solemn flag raising will be held some time next week.

YEAR'S SHIPBUILDING IN THE UNITED STATES

STATISTICS OF TWO COUNTRIES

Output of Clyde Shipyards Last Year Largest on Record—Over Half Million Tons—Decline on the Atlantic Seaboard.

During the six months ending December 31, 1901, there were built in the United States and officially numbered by the bureau of navigation 717 rigged vessels of 157,073 gross tons, compared with 568 rigged vessels of 179,229 gross tons for the corresponding six months of 1900. Canal boats and unrigged barges are not included. The principal decline, 19,752 tons, is on the Atlantic seaboard, and is attributed to work on several large ocean steamers, which will be completed during the coming six months. Included in the six months figures are 38 vessels, each over 1000 tons, and aggregating 103,832 tons. Of these 14 steel steamers, aggregating 52,310 tons, were built on the Great Lakes. Four are for the seaboard, two banana steamers, Watson and Buckman, each of 1820 tons, the Hugoma 2182 tons, and the Minnetonka, 5270 tons. The Minnetonka will be cut in two to pass the canals.

On the seaboard 15 wooden schooners, of 24,964 tons, were built, five steel steamers for the coasting trade, and one steel ferry boat, aggregating 20,964 tons. Square rigged vessels are the steel ship William P. Frye, 3,374 tons, and two barkentines on the Pacific, aggregating 2,310 tons.

A London dispatch gives the shipbuilding statistics of Great Britain for 1901, which shows that 1233 vessels were launched in the United Kingdom, representing 1,797,675 tons, and 1,476,818 horse-power, compared with 1248 vessels, 1,660,709 tons, and 1,237,626 indicated horse-power in the year 1900. These launchings included 870 ships representing 857,690 tons for foreign and colonial orders.

The output of the Clyde shipyards for the past year was the largest on record. For the first time it totaled over half a million of tonnage.

Shipping News and Notes

The freighter Hyades will sail today for San Francisco via Kahului.

The ship I. F. Chapman is announced to sail from New York about April 1st.

Mr. A. Vizzavonna, French consul at this port, expects the cruiser "Le Protet" to arrive here today.

Five arrests of Mohican bluejackets were made yesterday morning and seven yesterday afternoon.

The steamer Waialeale made a special trip to Hanamaulu yesterday afternoon for a load of sugar.

Captain George Johnson of the bark S. C. Allen, was the guest of his passengers on the last trip from the Coast, at the Moana hotel, on Thursday evening, and was presented with a beautiful pair of gold cuff links as a token of the appreciation of the passengers for their treatment at the hands of Captain Johnson during the voyage.

Keels have been laid in Boole's ship yards in San Francisco for two six masted schooners, each of about 1800 tons, to be used for the Hawaiian Islands trade. They will be 315 feet long by 48 feet beam and 16.8 hold. The builder says that the masts will be called the "fore," "main," "mizzen," "jigger," "spanker" and "driver." He adds: "When the seventh mast comes we will christen it the pusher."

A novel and extremely simple life-saving device has been invented by M. George Broussel, of Havre, France. It is a sort of automatic folding buoy, and is formed merely of two boards of wood, which are joined together in the center. In ordinary weather it can be used as a seat on board a vessel, and when there is danger of a shipwreck it can be instantly turned into a life-saving buoy. Many experiments have already been made with it and they show that it can do effective work as well in a storm as in a calm sea.

The American-Hawaiian Steamship Company announces the following dates for its steamers to leave New York and San Francisco: S. S. California, to sail about January 25; S. S. American, to sail about March 15; S. S. Hyades, to sail from San Francisco February 19.

ISLAND TRADE A SPECIALTY.

AUSTRALIAN COAL CLAIMED TO BE THE BEST

R. B. Hogue, Representative of Large Newcastle Firm, Says So.

GIVES TRADE FACTS AND FIGURES

States Reasons Why Coal From the Colonies Is Superior.

Australian Supply Reaches Between Four and Five Million Tons per Annum—Is of Greater Value as Steam Coal Than Product From British Columbia & Puget Sound.

Among the guests at the Hawaiian Hotel is R. B. Hogue, of James and Alexander Brown & Company, a large coal exporting firm in Newcastle, Australia. Mr. Hogue is on his way from the coast, where he has been the representative of his firm for a number of years, to Australia, where he will take over the management of a new mine which has just been opened there by his company.

The owners, James and Alexander Brown & Company, are the oldest colliery people in Australia, being in fact the originators of private coal mining in that country. They have been in the business between fifty and sixty years.

Is Better Steam Coal.

Mr. Hogue, when seen yesterday, gave some figures and facts with regard to the shipment of coal to these islands, showing how the Australian coal holds the front rank here. He stated that while in former days, when only about 40,000 tons of coal were used a year here, this had been supplied entirely from Australia. Now the consumption of coal in these islands runs up to about 200,000 tons a year, and coal is sent here not only from Australia, but also from British Columbia and Puget Sound.

Coal is used here entirely for the purpose of creating steam power, large pumping plants and ocean-going steamers consuming the greater part of the supply. The Australian coal can be supplied here cheaper, or as cheaply as the coal from the Pacific coast, the only reason for using the latter being that it can be brought here quicker on a rush order than can be done from Australia.

Prices and Freight Rates.

The price of coal ranges from $2.50 to $2.75 in Australia. In British Columbia coal of good quality costs from $4 to $4.50 a ton, and coal of inferior quality $3.50. Puget Sound coal costs from $2.50 to $3.50 a ton. All these prices are for the coal delivered free on board ship.

The freight rates from British Columbia and Puget Sound to these islands have ranged from $3.50 to $4.50 a ton, while the freight from Australia is uniformly $4 per ton of coal.

The reason why the freight rates are not much higher for the longer distance between Australia and Honolulu is that it pays ship owners to send their vessels to Australia with lumber. This enables them to bring coal from Newcastle to this port on the return trip at much lower rates than would be the case if it was not for the lumber trade.

The Australian and the British Columbian coal of course has the drawback that a duty of 67 cents a ton must be paid on it upon its entering this port. This duty is refunded, however, if the coal is shipped on to steamers and burned outside the Territory.

Advantages of Australian.

These figures from Mr. Hogue show what a great advantage the Australian coal enjoys. It is much better steam coal than the Puget Sound coal, which is mostly lignite and in the better kinds only semi-bituminous. The coal from British Columbia is more expensive as the merchants have a good market in the States and do not care much about shipping it to Honolulu. Finally the total coal output of the Pacific coast is estimated by Mr. Hogue to be hardly one million tons per annum, while that of Australia is from four to five million tons yearly, which enables the merchants of that place to sell their coal at a much cheaper rate than would pay the merchants in British Columbia.

Mr. Hogue finally clinched his argument in favor of the Australian product by pointing out the fact that the Oahu Railroad and Land Company has had a large stock of Puget Sound coal on hand for the last twelve months without being able to dispose of it as no one wanted it, because of its low value as steam coal.

YOUNG BARRY BALDWIN DEAD

ASPHYXIATED IN HIS OWN PARLOR

WIFE DISCOVERS BODY IN THE MORNING AFTER SLEEPING ALL NIGHT.

Sad Ending to Runaway Love Match. Marie Veronica Baird Baldwin Was Heiress of Estate of Late John H. Baird—Dead Man's Father is Now in Manila.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Barry Baldwin, Jr., a very well-known young man, who was a son of Barry Baldwin, Sr., formerly of this city, and now of Manila, and was husband of Marie Veronica Baird Baldwin, an heiress of the estate of the late John H. Baird, was found dead early this morning in the front parlor of his residence, 2945 Washington street. The gas was flowing from one of the jets, and asphyxiation was the cause of death. The unfortunate young man had taken off his shoes and reclined on a sofa. He left no note, and his family believe that his death was not voluntary. There were three gas jets and only one was open, and that not fully. The window was open. Under the sofa was a book.

Young Mrs. Baldwin, the widow, discovered the body about 7 o'clock. She says that she and her husband chatted together last evening until 10 o'clock, when she went upstairs to bed. He told her that he would follow presently. She went to bed and fell asleep, and did not awake until 7 o'clock. Immediately coming to consciousness she detected the odor of illuminating gas. The pillow showed that her husband had not been in bed all night. She arose, hastily, and went through the house. In the parlor she came upon the body of her husband. It was on a sofa, in a posture partly sitting and partly reclining on cushions. She ran to rouse him, but the body was cold. The odor of the gas was strong. Fearful of being overcome, the young widow cried for help and left the room.

Mrs. Baldwin asserts that there had been no quarrel of late between herself and her husband, and that when they parted last evening they were as friendly as they had ever been. She says, further, that her husband had not been drinking. Yesterday he went out with her and the children—there are two children—and seemed contented and cheerful. The circumstance of his taking off his shoes, a common act of persons contemplating suicide, who are generally loth to have it said that they died with their boots on, is regarded at the morgue as not conclusive evidence that Baldwin purposely turned on the gas and lay down to die; but the family say that it was not unusual for him to take off his shoes downstairs before going to bed.

The young couple, on account of the prominence of their relatives, the wealth of the Bairds and the incidents attending their marriage, have been once or twice brought into public notice. Barry Baldwin Sr., father of the dead man, was formerly a broker and was United States Marshal in this district during the railroad strike. He is now in business in Manila, where he represents Macdonald & Co.

The bride's father was the late John H. Baird, who died in 1879, and left a large estate to be divided among his widow and his four children, John R., David J. and Miles T. By the will each of the children received $50,000 in stocks and bonds and a share of eight blocks of land on Haight street from Central avenue to Clayton street. The land, which includes the Chutes property, was left in trust until the young son should come of age. That event happened a few months ago. All the children and the mother, who is Mrs. Veronica C. Baird, formed a corporation, the Baird Estate Company.

The marriage of young Barry Baldwin and Marie Veronica Baird, which took place several years ago, was a runaway affair. The Bairds are Catholics and the Baldwins Protestants, and for that and other reasons, among which was the youth of both young people, the girl's mother, opposed an alliance with young Baldwin. One day, however, Miss Baird left home, went to the residence of Barry Baldwin Sr., and thence to Archbishop Riordan, who married her to young Baldwin. Two children were born of the match, a boy and a girl. The children attend St. Dominic's school.

Went Against Him.

From the Chicago News. "Oh, why did you eat that book of quotations?" asked the mother goat. "Because it was labeled 'food for thought,'" said the sick kid. "Well, you should have thought before you ate it."

KONA SUGAR CO'S FINANCE

ARRANGEMENT IS SATISFACTORY

CROP OF THIRTY-FIVE HUNDRED TONS IS READY TO BE HARVESTED.

Ordinary Stockholders Are Subscribing for a Large Amount of the New Issue, Which Was Ratified by a Three-Fourths Majority—Good Security for First Mortgage

At the meeting of stockholders of the Kona Sugar Company the issue of $100,000 of preferred stock was ratified by a three-fourths majority of the stockholders. A large portion of this issue has already been subscribed by the ordinary stockholders, amounting in all to about $50,000.

Street rumor has it that this action on the part of the stockholders will give into the treasury $100,000 of new bonds and $50,000 or more of preferred stock, which the directors are authorized to apply or use as security in connection with certain loan arrangements which have recently been made between this company and one or two financial institutions. The present capital stock is $500,000 of ordinary stock, all paid in. $100,000 of preferred stock and $300,000 of mortgage bonds.

It is said that by the time crop operations begin there will have been expended over one million dollars on the property of the Kona Sugar Company, which will be the security for the $300,000 first mortgage issue.

As near as can be gathered the estimated crop now ready to be harvested is about 3,500 tons, and as the machinery is said to have been set up and the necessary money for harvesting is procured, it may now be considered that the plantation is fairly well launched and should have a profitable career.

COMMERCIAL EXPANSION.

The Republican policy of expansion differs widely from that which controls the Democrats in their ambitions for adding territory, and especially tropical territory. What they desired, especially in the case of Cuba, was additional slave territory and additional power in Congress through an increased number of slave states. The Republican policy of expansion is to secure footholds by which our commerce will be protected and extended.

The territory which has come under the control of the Government in the Gulf of Mexico is of supreme importance in guarding that approach to the mouth of the Mississippi river and to the great isthmian canal, which the Republican party is pledged to bring into existence. The Hawaiian and Samoan islands are of equal importance in relation to the commerce of that great Pacific ocean which is now attracting so much attention as a highway of transportation between the Orient and the Occident. The Hawaiian Islands form the only way station and satisfactory harbors in the central Pacific, while the harbor of Tutuila in the Samoan group, is recognized as the finest in the southern Pacific, and probably the finest in the entire Pacific Ocean.

With these two islands as way stations for coaling, watering, repairing, and receiving telegraphic orders vessels can satisfactorily engage in commerce between the United States and the Orient, and by making the Philippine Islands a great entrepot for American products, can command the trade of the Orient as Great Britain commanded it in former years, and much more successfully than she now does by reason of greater proximity and greater facilities for producing articles which the people of that country desire.

The countries lying within easy reach of Manila as a point of distribution—China, Japan, Asiatic Russia, French Indo-China, Siam, India, and Australia—contain half the population of the earth and have an annual commerce of more than $2,000,000,000. Their purchases alone amount to $1,200,000,000 annually, or an average of $100,000,000 per month, and at the present time the United States supplies but six per cent of their purchases. Yet their wants include all the articles which we have to sell. Not only is this the case, but they are rapidly coming to recognize the fact that they can obtain more satisfactorily from the United States the articles they desire than from any other part of the world. American flour, provisions, tobacco, cotton and cotton goods, and manufactures of all kinds are rapidly making their way into the Orient and are as rapidly excluding those which the European countries have been supplying them.

This opportunity for expansion affects every producer, every individual engaged in any form in agriculture, in mining, in manufacture, in transportation, and in commerce the people of the Orient demand flour, meats, and dairy products, cotton and cotton goods, and manufactures of all kinds, and they have clearly shown in recent years a preference for the products of the United States, a preference which will give to us a large share of their enormous market, with the control of Hawaii and Manila, the opening of the Nicaragua Canal, and the establishment of American shipping with which to carry American products.

TRUST HOLDS ITS MEETING

HAVEMEYER MAKES HIS REPORT

EXISTING TARIFF ON SUGAR IS A CHARGE UPON CONSUMPTION.

Unusual Consideration of Benefits to People an Amusing Incident in Sugar Trust Talk—What Oxnard Says of Little Account—More Stockholders Present Than Usual

[Special to The Republican.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the American Sugar Refining Company January 24th, President Havemeyer, in his annual report, said:

"The stockholders know in a general way of the accomplishment of the plan to increase by $15,000,000 the capital stock of the company. The increase was authorized at a stockholders' meeting held on September 18 last. With the exception of places where there was a want of authority to subscribe, and a limited number of exceptional cases, the new stock was promptly taken up by the stockholders. The total amount of stock outstanding at the present time is: Preferred $44,068,200, common $44,246,100.

"The new stock shares in the dividend commencing with the dividend declared as of January 2, 1902.

Organized in New York.

"The stockholders have doubtless noticed the organization recently of a New York corporation to transact the New York business which was heretofore conducted by the company. For many years the legislation of New York was hostile to manufacturing enterprises. This was the situation when the company was organized, and led to its organization in New Jersey, in which State a considerable part of the company's business had been transacted. Latterly the policy of New York has changed. By its more recent legislation it has held out inducements to have manufacturing business in New York done by New York corporations. The company has reorganized and conformed to this as far as concerns the business of its New York refineries.

"This has involved the transfer to Jersey City of the residue of the business that was heretofore carried on in New York.

Tariff Not Wanted.

"It would seem that with an overflowing Federal Treasury there had disappeared any reason for continuing the existing high tariff upon raw sugar. It constitutes a charge upon the consumption of nearly two cents a pound.

"This represents on an annual consumption of 2,360,000 tons $55,000,000 a year. Of this, however, only 1,360,000 tons are imported; yielding custom revenues of $49,000,000. The balance, $36,000,000, goes into the pockets of the planters of the following States:

Table with 2 columns: State, Value. Louisiana 350,000 $12,600,000. Domestic beet 150,000 5,400,000. Hawaii 350,000 12,600,000. Porto Rico 150,000 5,400,000.

Sales Would Increase.

"Misleading statements are constantly being made about the benefits to the company of reducing the present high rate of duty. The gain would be increased sales. The lower the prices at which refined sugar can be furnished, the larger is the number within whose reach it can be brought. To this extent there would be a gain to the company, but the substantial benefit of the remission or reduction of the duty would be to the consumer and the practical question is whether the public shall continue to pay the enormous amount which the duty requires for the benefit of favored industries, which according to published statements by those who are specially interested, do not require the protection.

"Aside from the matters to which I have previously referred, the business of the company during the year has proceeded as usual."

At the special request of the stockholders present for further remarks on the matter of tariff legislation on sugar, President Havemeyer said: "Sugar is a necessity of life. Were the duty removed, the price would permit of its being used by the poorest people. The people are beginning to characterize the tax on sugar as a hungertax. This, no doubt, is due to the fact that a surplus exists in the Treasury and there is no reason for a tax on an article of food. The removal of the tax would be a great blessing to the entire community.

Oxnard of No Account.

"As far as the beet industry is concerned, the farmers have received no more for their beets since the tax was reimposed than when sugar was free in the years 1891, 1892 and 1893. What Mr. Oxnard says is of little account. What Mr. William Bayard Cutting attaches his signature to is of account. He has stated over his signature that the beet industry is profitable under conditions of absolute free trade and that the United States, being an agricultural country, the industry has nothing to fear even from the annexation of Cuba.

"During the years 1891, 1892 and 1893 sugar was made free by the Republican party then in power. It was reimposed to meet financial necessities of the government, being a sure revenue-getter of $50,000,000. An effort has since been made to tax coffee likewise an article of food. This attempt was scouted at and it failed. The tax on tea is not for the purpose of revenue, but a means of protecting the poorer people from the deleterious and poisonous cheap tea. There is no reason for the continuance of the tax on raw sugar and the hope is that it will be removed."

National Sugar Refining Co.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the National Sugar Company the retiring board of directors was re-elected. No annual report was submitted.

OUTLOOK FOR COFFEE MARKET NOT GOOD

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Willett and Gray, in their circular of today, say: The decline in all the coffee markets, which commenced with the opening of business for the new year, has continued and indications are that values must go lower. These indications lie in the facts that receipts continue large, that trade everywhere continues dull, and perhaps, what is far more significant, that information now coming out from Brazil is of a far more different character to that which the coffee world has been treated—we mean that larger estimates of the present crop are being confirmed, and the prospects of the next Rio and Santos crops are such as to indicate much bigger figures than these which sensational cables have indicated.

We don't think from all that we can gather, that there is any doubt about the present crop being fully 15,000,000 bags and allowing that some portion may be held over in the interior, such a crop is altogether too big for present prices, in view of the fact there is such a heavy surplus accumulating from this one, much more than enough to compensate for a respectable shortage on the next.

A LESSON IN POLITICS.

Imperialism.—Derived from Imperium, meaning a native of Hades, and rialisim, meaning rife the people.

A term used by the Democrats in General Grant's administration to frighten timid voters.

Obsolete for a time, but revived recently by the same party, with the same general meaning—to raise hell with the Government.

Patriot.—Derived from Pa, meaning a male parent, and triot, meaning try it.

A term originally used by children, when urging their father to run for office.

Quite generally applied to candidates.

Crisis.—Derived from Cri, meaning to weep, and sis, a foolish virgin.

When the five foolish Virgins of ancient times found themselves shut out from the feast, some one said "Cry Sis," which they did.

Now used by the Democratic party when in trouble.

Fusion.—Derived from Fusi, meaning to catch, and on, to catch on regardless.

Plutocrat.—From Plutos, a god of riches in Grecian mythology, and crate a packing case, meaning one who possesses a crate of Government Bonds.

Panic.—From Pay, to remunerate, and nick, the devil.

Literally, to remunerate the devil, but used idiomatically in 1837 and in Cleveland's administration thus:—The Devil's to Pay.

Militarism.—Derived from Meleo, a fight, and tarism to tear the shirt.

Literal meaning to tear the shirt when necessary to fight. A term used to deceive our foreign citizens.

Sixteentone.—Derived from the numeral sixteen, and toone, meaning tune. A little silvery jingle similar to the Mother Goose melodies. It was quite popular a few years ago.

Sale of Burnt Lumber. The purchase price realized from the sale of burnt lumber taken from the ruins of the Honolulu Stock Yards stables netted $37, at public sale.

DENVER ED SMITH MAY BOX

"Denver" Ed. Smith was busy at his headquarters last night, training with Attorney Brooks of this city. It was a pretty exhibition and when it was ended "Denver Ed." was jubilant over the prospects for tonight's exhibition.

"This evening," said Smith, "you will see the prettiest and most scientific exhibition in the art of self-defense that you have ever witnessed in Honolulu. I will be responsible personally for anything that happens tonight, and no one will have a right to complain."

I am in first class form and I hope that my opponent, and all those who will take part in the preliminaries will feel in the same condition.

Some people have tried to injure tonight's exhibition by writing to the High Sheriff that it will end in a regular fight. It will be nothing of the kind. Ever since I came down to Honolulu I have been a law-abiding citizen, and propose to be so as long as Honolulu is my home.

The names on the program for to-night are a guarantee that the proceedings will be above reproach. All of the local boxers are well known here with the exception of one, and one is a young man prominent in law and business circles.

C. A. Graham will referee the bouts, and Demetrius Gambinos Camarinos will be master of ceremonies. My record for clean and honest fighting speaks for itself, and if to-night's exhibition is satisfactory to the people of Honolulu, I intend to start a first class athletic club in this city.

FLORENCE CREW HAWAIIAN BOY WERE RELEASED AGAIN ARRESTED

VAN DYKE ATTEMPTS TO GET EVEN
J. WARD ENLISTS ON THE MOHICAN

O'CONNELL WAS CHARGED WITH SAILING UNDER FALSE PRETENSES.
SHIPS FOR FOUR YEARS BUT TOO MUCH PUBLICITY RUINS HIS CHANCES.

Japanese Would Bribe a Policeman—Stiff Fine For Pair Charged With Adultery—Porto Rican Found With Dangerous Knife.

J. Van Dyke, the second mate of the ship Florence, failed to present sufficient evidence against Semon A. Jacobson, Olof Olsen and Jno. Johansen, whom he had charged with assault and battery. The defendants were discharged by Judge Wilcox at yesterday's session of police court.

From the testimony, it appeared that Van Dyke had some difficulty with Captain Spicer of the Florence, and made a formal demand for his pay. The skipper refused to comply with the request, and Van Dyke was told that he would be given his money after the cargo was out of the ship and not before. Van Dyke became very much incensed over the result, and Captain Spicer stated that the arrest of the seamen was simply a put up job to cripple his available working force aboard ship.

The discharge of the men yesterday, and their return to work, caused Captain Spicer to settle with the negligent second officer, and he was paid off and discharged from further duty aboard the vessel.

Fight at Boat Landing.
Iokopa Kane and James Berrington, boat men, were fined $6 and costs each for fighting at the boat landing Thursday night.

The case of J. F. O'Connell charged with gross cheat was postponed until Monday morning. O'Connell was arrested upon complaint of Pang Lum who stated that the defendant had agreed to install eleven electric lights into the Pang Lum premises at a total cost of $11. The Chinese further declared that O'Connell claimed to have been a representative of the Hawaiian Electric Co. The police are inclined to believe that the case arises from a general misunderstanding.

Mura, a Japanese from the training ship Mohican, was found guilty of committing adultery with a woman named Kasa, both being fined $50 and costs. The case was bitterly fought, the defendants being represented by Attorneys Long and Kaulukou. Mura was also charged with endeavoring to bribe the policeman who arrested him, the officer claiming that the bribe which was refused. The bribery charge was nolle prossed.

Bad Man With a Knife.
The case of Mira Hachi, a huckman, who was alleged to have allowed his vehicle to be used for questionable purposes was nolle prossed, it being brought up in connection with the Mura complaint.

A Porto Rican named San Michael, found frequenting the vicinity of Beretania and Punchbowl streets at a late hour of night, carrying a dangerous looking knife on his person was sentenced to two months at the reef. According to the story of three Portuguese witnesses the defendant endeavored to perpetrate a holdup, but was outclassed and failed in his mission.

Authorde, a Porto Rican vagrant, was sent to the reef for six months.

The End of it.
Ah Kij, charged with heedless driving, was discharged. The man was arrested upon complaint of a Japanese cyclist who declared he had been run down by the huckman.

Horita, against whom a complaint had been filed by the board of health regarding the unsanitary condition of his premises, was granted until February 1 to remedy the existing evil.

Three Japanese, arrested on Thursday night's okolehao raid, were arraigned. They waived examination. The case will come up again Monday morning.

Not a single case of drunkenness was listed on yesterday morning's police court docket.

Parker and told him to hunt up the young man. Ward was found at the corner of Nuuanu and Hotel streets and taken down to the police station where he was locked up for the night pending further investigation by the ship's officers.

Sheriff Brown and Captain Parker sympathize deeply with the boy, and will renew their endeavors this morning to give him a chance to make a good and honest living.

"LOPES TOO BLOOMIN' IGH."

The Englishman's Only Comment When the Broncho Threw Him.

"Most Englishmen are considered pretty fair horsemen, but when it comes to riding a bucking broncho some of them are not in or on it for long," said the owner of a large cattle ranch in Wyoming to the writer the other day. "For instance, a rich young Englishman recently came out to my part of the country in quest of some good investment. He was at my ranch as a guest for a few days, and one afternoon as the cowboys were about to round up a bunch of cow ponies the young man said that he would enjoy a good ride in the saddle. He said he was used to riding only thoroughbreds, and he didn't think we had a horse good enough for him. The boys convinced him that they had one of the finest horses on the plains, and if he knew how to ride he was welcome to the animal. He was apparently insulted when questioned about his ability to ride and answered that he could ride any kind of a horse. A sleepy looking broncho was accordingly brought out from the corral and saddled. Though the beast appeared half dead, he was the worst bucker in the herd.

"'E's lifeless,' said the foreman when the pony was brought to him. The boys said the nag would wake up after the first mile, and mired got into the saddle. The first buck jump placed him on the horse's neck, and after the second he was in the atmosphere. He turned a double somersault and landed on the sharp end of a cactus plant. When he picked himself up, one of the boys asked what he thought of the thoroughbred now. The question made the Englishman turn pale.

"'E's a good 'oss,' he answered, 'but he lopes too bloomin' igh.'"

THE MYSTERY OF DREAMS.

A Case in Which the Coincidences Were Remarkable.

On one occasion during the civil war I dreamed that I was standing beside a road when there came marching along it a strong column of prisoners, with guards at intervals on the flanks. I asked one of these guards who the prisoners were and where they had been taken in an engagement with the enemy on the day before and that there were 1,900 of them. I then asked some bystander what day of the month it was and was told it was such a day of a certain month, some six weeks later than the date of the dream. The whole dream was extremely distinct, and it made a strong impression on me. I related it to a number of my comrades within the next few days and then thought of it no more.

Six weeks later, on the morning of the very day that had been mentioned in the dream as the date when the column of prisoners had passed before me, I was on picket duty distant from the point where I had dreamed to be when I saw them. It was soon after breakfast, and I was standing by the side of the road at the fire talking to the officer of the picket when an aid to the commanding general came riding down the road. He had been a schoolfellow of our officer's at West Point, and he reined up when he recognized his friend. He told us that he had good news; that there had been a sharp engagement with the enemy the day before and that our people had captured 1,900 prisoners, who had just passed the headquarters that morning on their way to the rear.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Apparently.
From the Chicago Tribune.

"Is there any water in metals?" asked the instructor of the class in physics.

"There seems to have been some in copper," responded the young man with the bad eye.

THREE O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING.

There is a time of morning
When the patient, seaborne day
And the soul time of approaching dawn
As yet seem far away.
In the eastern sky is movement,
No glow, but impending change.
The house is filled with echoes,
Familiar rooms look strange.
Step back the bolts and leave them
Stand alone in an unknown world
Of awful purity.

Stand alone with folded hands,
Wait for the gift of wings,
Wait to be lifted higher,
Nearer the heart of things!

The heavens are clear and moonlit
Though the moon is on the water;
The wind that wailes throughout the night
Drops with a sigh of pain.
A vague alarm is creeping
Over the fields and lawns;
Time passed, night is over,
And yet it is not dawn.
Away down in the pasture
The cattle turn and moan:
All living things are troubled
With a sense of the unknown.

For they with eyes may see now,
And they who question know,
Make the most of the magic hour
The east begins to glow.
The east is all in tumult,
The charmed hour is past,
For, breaking up the quiet skies,
The sun appears at last.

An Attack of Pneumonia Warded Off.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annotto Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Sold by all dealers and druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

FIFTH SUNDAY AFTER CHRISTMAS

SERMONS AND PUBLIC SERVICES IN ALL CHURCHES IN HONOLULU.

Concert at Murphy Club Hall—Meetings of Young Men's Institute and Catholic Benevolent Union. Address on China and Japan at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The religious world will soon enter into the period of Lent.

In spite of the changes wrought in the ecclesiastical discipline, Septuagesima has remained a time of haltpenitence and prayer. The Greek Church always begins her Lenten period from the week of Septuagesima, holy considerations of charity make her Western sister associate herself with her mourning.

After the sweet joys of Christmas, after the beautiful feasts of the Epiphany season and the more tumultuous ones of the carnival, could we at once enter into the penitential life without transition? Assuredly not. The evening twilight precedes the night, it is necessary to let the last echo of the feasts fade away little by little, before intoning the sad chant of mourning. Septuagesima becomes the preparation for Lent.

They expect to arrive in Honolulu during the later part of April or the beginning of May.

Prince Lubomirski, one of the Russians most popular in Paris, is about to ride, as the result of a wager from Spa to Nice on one horse, and bring the animal to the Riviera in perfect condition. The oldest physician in England has just died at Monkton, Northumberland, in the person of Dr. John Warren Edgar. He was born in September, 1803, and had, therefore, lived to the remarkable age of 98 years, most of which were spent in practice in Kirby Stephen, Westmoreland. He took his degree in 1828 and continued in practice until a few years ago.

Prof. Mommsen, the great historian, was 84 years old on November 29th. It is more than fifty years since he was appointed professor of jurisprudence at Leipzig, and at the Universities of Zurich and Breslau he held professorial chairs until 1858, when he went to Berlin as professor of ancient history. He was at one time a member of the Chamber of Deputies of Prussia.

The fact that Sir Walter Besant died with less than $30,000 to his credit has called attention to the fortunes of other British writers left. Except Sir Walter Scott no novelist has ever made such sums as would be regarded by men in the money market as wealth. Scott's income averaged for years $50,000 a year. Dickens left $400,000, Thackeray less, Bulwer Lytton, with a very keen eye for the main chance and a considerable but encumbered estate, $400,000.

The last surviving veteran of the war of 1812 is Hiram Cronk of North-western, Oneida county, New York. He is 101 years old. His aunt married Abram Depew, grandfather of Senator Chauncey Depew.

President Morton of the Stevens Institute of Technology of Hoboken announces that Andrew Carnegie, who gave the fund with which the Carnegie laboratory of engineering building was erected, will probably make an endowment of $500,000 or $800,000 for the maintenance of that institution when it is formally dedicated, February 6th.

M. Jean de Reszke has been talking to a Paris journalist concerning Wagnerian opera, and more especially, of course, about his forthcoming personation of the younger Siegfried in French. At one time the great tenor would have Wagnerian opera sung in no other tongue than German, but he has apparently altered his mind.

What's in a Name. From the Chicago Record Herald.

A Wisconsin man named Creeper has named his first born daughter Alice Virginia. When the boys get to referring to her as A. Virginia Creeper the poor girl's father may come to a better understanding of the eternal fitness of things.

He Remembered a Name. "By the way," said the man who had stopped at a farmhouse to water his horse, "15 years ago a poor boy came this way, and you took him in."

"Yes?" queried the farmer, somewhat surprised. "You were kind to him," went on the stranger; "you fed him, gave him words of encouragement and an old suit of clothes, put a dollar in his pocket and sent him on his way rejoicing. He told you at the time that he never would forget your kindness. Am I right?"

"I reckon you are," replied the farmer. "He said that if he prospered he would see that you never had occasion to regret your kindness to a poor, struggling lad."

"Land's sakes!" exclaimed the farmer's wife excitedly. "It sounds almost like a fairy tale, don't it? Why, you must have seen him."

"I have," said the stranger, "and he sent a message to you." "What is it?" they both asked expectantly. "He told me to tell you that he is still poor."

As the stranger drove away the farmer went out and kicked the pump viciously, while his wife threw a rolling pin at the chickens.—New York World.

What They Deserved. Not very long since an exceedingly well dressed man about 35 was charged in a north London court with being drunk. He promptly paid his 10 shillings fine and went away. A fortnight later a stylishly dressed woman was charged with a similar offense. As she gave the same name and address it concluded they were husband and wife. So I called on them, and my visit was repeated several times. They had a very nice home, kept two servants and had four children. I noticed a bonny lad of 8, as I saw him several times. Some months later I got a letter as follows:

Dear Mr. Holmes—You know my Jack, the 8-year-old. I am sorry to say that he has got into bad ways—steals money from us, stops out late and is very disobedient. Can you get him into any training home or institution of any kind, where his evil propensities will be cured? Kindly oblige us in this.

I could not resist the temptation to reply as follows:— Dear Sir—I know of but one cure for Jack's evil propensities, and that is a thorough application of the horse-whip to both parents.

LONGING.

In city walks where duty bids me stay
I long for woodland paths, sweet breath of pine,
To see again the distant, smiling line
Of woods, and sunny dews, I know today
How fair must be the sea, far, far away
On whose broad breast the sun wrought sapphires
And sparkles in the wind that breathes of winter,
How shafts of gold and shifting shadows play
Beneath cool groves that sing a slumber song
And clear bird notes are tingling through and through.

The peaceful heart of absence. Ah, I long
For friendly fires that brush against the blue
And each will light to watch the warrior Mars
Review the vast procession of stars!

—Herbert Bushford in East and West.

A MOMENT OF WEAKNESS.

How a Couple Obtained Consent to Their Marriage.

"What on earth are we to do?" cried pretty Lydia Darrell almost tearfully. "I won't marry old Fiebel-Jones—not if all the aunts in the world told me to."

"Marry me and defy the old cat!"

"Yes; that's just what I should like to do, but you must consider things."

"You mean money?"

"Yes; I mean money. You see, if Aunt Judith had any rational ground for objecting to our marriage, if she said you drank or were already married—of course I know you are not—but I am supposing a case—"

"Don't you think you might suppose something a little less uncomplimentary?"

"No; certainly not. What does it matter in supposing? Well, then it would be different, and I should feel that, however wrong she might be, she really meant well. But when she can only say that you are one of the most arrogant opponents of all the noblest and purest aspirations of our sex—which means that she suspects you of laughing at her bloomers—why, then, I know that it is not me that she is thinking of but herself all the time. And she wants me to marry Fiebel-Jones because he flatters her to the top of her bent and calls her a pioneer and all that sort of nonsense."

"Do you think that punching his head would do any good?"

"No; I'm quite sure it wouldn't, or I should have told you to do it long ago. But, for all that, Aunt Judy can do what she likes with all my money until I come of age, and if I marry without her consent before I am 21 all my property goes into trust, with her as trustee, and she can allow me as much or as little as she likes. If Aunt Judith were an ordinary aunt, one might expect that she would come round when she found out what a dear you really are. But I know she would be only too delighted to get the money for her movements and societies, and I should never get a penny. So we must wait till I am 21."

"If I could only get round her in some way. If this was in a novel, there would be dozens of ways. I should drop on her in a railway accident and soothe her last moments with my brandy flask."

"You forget that she is a teetotaler."

"If you had met as many teetotalers as I have, you wouldn't bet. I know one who simply wolfed down a trifle that is stiff with brandy and vermouth, though he wouldn't touch either honestly out of a glass, or I might be in the way when her horses bolted."

"Oh, she doesn't keep any?"

"She would in a novel. And I should stop them at the risk of my life, and she would fall on my neck and call me her preserver."

"I should like to see that," cried Lydia, with a delicious trill of laughter.

"Lyddy, you have no imagination," said Bob Falk, with dignity. "I am sure the scene would be most dramatic, especially if Lady Judy happened to be in bloomers. And her remorse would be so great that she would give me her consent written on a visiting card, or perhaps my shirt cuff, to prevent mistakes."

"How can you talk such nonsense! But you have given me an idea. Couldn't you save her when she is out bicycling?"

"What from? And how am I to find her at the right moment?"

"Well, really I should have thought that a man could have arranged all that in a minute."

"Seems as if the best plan would be to arrange the accident. One might bribe a tramp to attack her and allow himself to be driven off by one, and then he would probably blackmail me for the rest of my life. Or one might get a generous friend to do the tramp part in disguise, only I can't at the present moment think of any man who would be such a jay. Besides, your Aunt Judy is just the kind of energetic female who would insist on seeing the villain safe in jail after her rescue. Then I should have to give myself up to save him. The plan is not so brilliant as it seemed at first."

"No; it isn't; very far from it. But listen to me. On Monday Aunt Judy starts on a bicycle ride to Scotland alone. She wishes to show that one woman in bloomers can go through the length of England without coming to grief. Now, my idea is that you should accompany her."

"Myra! Do you think she will catch on to the elopement?"

"Oh, she is not to know. I will find out the route she goes by, and you will follow at a distance and keep her in sight. Then if she gets into any difficulties—and I feel sure she will—you can rush to the rescue and earn her eternal gratitude."

"Supposing she sees me early in the faint and smokes the trick?"

"You must take care she doesn't. If you keep behind her all the time, she won't be able to see you."

Bob Falk was very much in love with pretty Lydia Darrell, and he would have attempted anything that bore the smallest promise of advancing the date of their marriage. Besides, at that moment the young woman of the library, who, knowing them by sight and dining a love affair, had humanely left them alone in the back room for a few minutes, returned with an apologetic and at the same time decided expression.

For one of the results of Lady Judith's harsh policy in ordering that "not at home" was to be said to Mr. Falk and in exercising a strict censorship over the letters received by her niece was that Lydia had hit upon the idea of the library as a meeting place, and Bob put messages in the agony column when he wished to communicate with her. Lydia of course could write to him.

"In consequence of information received," as the police officer, Bob Falk started in pursuit of Lydia, Judith partially disguised in a set of very old clothes and a peculiarly villainous cheap hat.

By the time the quarry had passed the one hundredth milestone from London Bob was unable to resist an involuntary feeling of admiration for her pluck. She rode hills which most of her sex would have walked. She took no heed of the chaff which from time to time floated round the unaccustomed spectacle of her bloomers. She kept up a steady pace and stuck to her arranged route with an accuracy that materially helped the pursuer.

At the close of the third day, during which she had beaten her previous record, Lady Judith stopped at a wayside hostelry. Hitherto Bob had avoided the hotels which she favored with her patronage, but now there was no help for it. He must either put up in the same town, or ride on five miles to the next town.

He thought that if he avoided the front of the house and effaced himself among the people in the bar parlor she would never notice him. After all, if she did she was scarcely likely to suppose that he was there on her account.

He loitered about for some little while in order to give her time to settle down in her place and then walked into the bar. The next minute he emerged again with singular alacrity.

"What the devil am I to do? I suppose they won't have her in the best rooms in that get up, and she's too tired to go on. If I interfere, it is 10 to 1 that I do no good and 40 to 1 that she only hates me all the more for seeing her. It seems brutal to do nothing or at least not to try, but no woman could forgive a man who had seen her in such a plight. By Jove, if there were only some evidence! Ah! fair in love, especially in a case like this."

He prowled disconsolately to the back of the building, cursing his luck and wondering what he should do. There he hit upon an individual who evidently combined cycling with photography.

A brilliant idea sprang up in his brain. He engaged the amateur photographer in conversation and explained his desire. The kodak changed hands, and so did a gleaming yellow coin. There was some shuffling of his feet. Then Bob Falk took hasty snapshots of the back and front of the building in order to divert suspicion from his real purpose. After that he converted the kodak to the bar.

Some little time after her return from Scotland, Lady Judith received a very singular letter. It ran:

Dear Lady Judith—I have a dozen of the included. What would you recommend me to do with them? Yours truly,
ROBERT FALK.

The inclosure was a photograph. She removed the silver paper hastily and saw. Well, you see, when the landlady of that hotel positively refused to admit her to any of the rooms used by ladies on the ground that her costume would do harm to the establishment she had consented to take her meal in the barroom and put up with an attic rather than proceed farther in her exhausted state. She had regretted this weakness ever since. She only hoped that no knowledge of the insult which she had allowed to be heaped upon the cause would come to the ears of her strong minded sisters.

Now she saw before her eyes a visible presentment of the scene—herself in her semimilitary garments seated at a small table to the right discussing provisions, to the left a knot of common men and the apparatus of the bar. It was bad enough to be expelled from her proper place. There was the worse thought that by her presence in the bar she had given tacit encouragement to the course of drink.

Bob Falk married Lydia Darrell with her aunt's consent, and no one could ever make out why Lady Judith changed her mind so suddenly, least of all Professor Fiebel-Jones, who thought himself aggrieved.

Aunt and niece did not see much of each other after matrimony.—Madame.

Card Playing in Church.

Frequent cases of card playing occurred in churches in olden days in the high or curtained family pews that were to be found in several parts of this country. A case of card playing was mentioned by the poet Crabbe as having occurred in one of those pews in Trowbridge parish church. Mr. Beresford Hope stated that card playing was not uncommon in churches having curtained pews, where those occupying them were screened from the observation of the rest of the congregation, and that one of the Georges is credited with taking part at a game of whist in the church he attended. The church at Little Stanmore, in Middlesex, has a luxurious room pew which is approached by a special door and staircase. The old St. Paul's cathedral before the great fire of London was used by business men as a sort of exchange, and the portico was let out to hucksters, and in those days gambling and cards are both said to have been indulged in without let or hindrance within the cathedral—London Standard.

GENERAL SATISFACTION

The efficiency, brilliancy, penetrating power and general satisfaction, which our new enclosed type of ARC LIGHTS are giving recommend them to the merchant as the best light for store use.

Mr. C. C. Eakin, of the Imperial Cigar Store, has been using the new arc light for some time, and says: "I find this new light gives absolute satisfaction in every respect, and I would have no other."

We have many such opinions as this, but the light is the greatest recommendation. Can be seen at Manufacturing Shoe Co., W. W. Dimond's, Globe Clothing Store and others. For further information address

BATTLE OF BEER NOW BEGINNING

Liquor Men Congregate in the United States District Court.

LICENSES OF PRIMO ARE ATTACKED

ANOTHER ALLEGED SILVA HEIR OF FUNCHAL, MADEIRA, IS HEARD FROM.

Attorney Colonel Thomas Fitch's Fees are Questioned—Commissions Charged by Him Above His Retainer Fee are Stated—Will of Frank Brown Filed in Probate.

The beer war commenced in the United States District Court yesterday morning, the local general liquor dealers being arrayed against the Honolulu beer licenses.

The case shows every sign of being a hard fought one and one full of interest and knotty problems over which astute legal lights may vent their eloquence to their hearts' delight.

The liquor dealing fraternity was generally represented in Judge Estee's court yesterday when the case was opened. There were big dealers and little dealers, men who make it their business to see that those who have the money wherewith to pay need not go thirsty for liquid refreshment of exhilarating nature.

The combatants. Attorneys A. G. M. Robertson and J. J. Dunne appeared for the plaintiffs, Macfarlane & Company, H. Hackfeld & Company, Hoffschlaeger & Company, Peacock & Company, and L. H. Dee, while the Treasurer of the Territory, respondent, was represented by Judge Silliman of the firm of Hatch & Silliman.

The plaintiffs in the case are seeking to have declared unconstitutional the Hawaiian statute under which Territorial Treasurer William H. Wright issues licenses to sell Honolulu brewed "primo" beer at $250 per year, while other retail liquor licenses under which other beer can be sold, cost $1,000.

Treasurer Wright Testifies. The first witness called to give his testimony was Treasurer Wright. He answered the questions put to him during an almost ceaseless fire of objections.

His testimony was to the effect that the first Honolulu beer license had been issued by him on July 1, 1901. He had issued 10 in July, 10 in September, 2 in October and 3 in November, making 25 in all.

When Dunne asked Wright about the location of these 25 saloons, Silliman made objection and his objection was successful. Dunne said that he wanted to show that the places of the plaintiffs had been surrounded by small competing places licensed by the defendant, as a way of showing how the plaintiffs had been damaged.

Wright testified that he had refused $250 licenses to the plaintiffs. He said that the plaintiffs wanted to sell beer produced outside of the Territory under licenses at $250 per year. Wright claimed that under the statute he could not issue a license for the sale of any beer except that made in Honolulu, under the license sold for $250.

A. Hocking and W. C. Peacock also called to testify. Peacock went over his sales for the last three years. Peacock and Hocking were recalled in the afternoon. When court adjourned for the day L. H. Dee was giving his testimony.

Another Heir Heard From. Attorney J. M. Vivas yesterday morning filed an affidavit in the First Circuit Court made by another supposed relative of the late Jose Antonio da Silva, an old Portuguese who was poisoned by some of his own wine in November, 1900. The newly discovered relative makes a mark for his signature and claims the $1,500 left by the deceased. The affidavit is as follows:

"Kingdom of Portugal, Island of Madeira, City of Funchal. "I, Jacintho da Silva, residing in the City of Funchal, Island of Madeira, being duly sworn, depose and say as follows:

"My name is Jacintho da Silva. I am the brother of Jose Antonio da Silva, who died at Honolulu, Hawaii, on the 13th day of November, 1900. There are no sisters of my father, or brothers, or other relatives of Jose Antonio da Silva, as far as I know living.

A meeting of the Catholic Benevolent Union will be held at the Catholic Club rooms on Monday evening (7th) at 8 o'clock. The subject is 'The Spiritually I come always to all.

Vivas, given notice of motion to modify the decree of Judge Gear awarding the distribution of the property entirely to the widow also to fix the compensation which should be paid to Attorney Thomas Fitch, saying that he paid Fitch a retainer of $150 that Fitch received from the court that he also collected from the court certain sums to be paid the affiant and, besides the retainer mentioned, charged affiant twenty per cent on such sums, also charging the same rate of commission on the valuation of real estate belonging to the heirs of the deceased.

Frank Brown's Will. The will of the late Frank Brown was filed in the First Circuit Court yesterday. The nephew of the deceased, H. M. Von Holt, is named as executor to serve without bonds. Cecil Brown is made trustee. Certain items of personal property are bequeathed to employees and the remainder of the estate, real, personal or mixed is left to the widow. Monday, March 3, has been set for proving said will.

To Sell Stock in Hand. Motion for leave to sell the stock in trade of the late Frank Brown has been filed by H. M. von Holt, temporary administrator of the estate. The stock in trade is situated in the premises which were occupied by Frank Brown on Merchant street, the business being carried on under the name of the Hawaiian Wine Co. The estate of deceased is said to be insolvent and the stock in trade is said to be of the value of between $1500 and $2000. The estate including insurance policy is valued at $2500 or thereabouts.

Alimony is Denied. Motion for alimony in the divorce case of John De Greaves against Caroline De Greaves was yesterday denied by Judge Humphreys and libellant was ordered to pay libellee's attorney a fee of $50 and to pay $10 for expenses of trial, to be paid within ten days.

The February Term. Early next week a venire will be set for a grand and trial jury for the February term of the First Circuit Court, the term beginning a week from Monday. It is expected that there will be three circuit judges on the First Circuit bench during this term. The calendar will contain nearly four hundred cases in all.

Another Citizen Made. Francis J. Behr, a subject of Germany, was yesterday made a citizen of the United States by Judge Estee. Behr is a second lieutenant in the United States Army, having served three years. He is now at Camp McKinley.

Bluffs in the Directory. If you pick up that interesting annual, the city directory, you will find it filled with bluffs. Here is a man down as a superintendent. You know he is only the foreman of a labor gang. Another is designated as a general manager. Three or four men are subject to his "general" management, or, as his 5-year-old son, who inherited his propensity to bluff, put it, "he's the head man of three other fellows." Over on this page is another chap who is given as the political editor of a newspaper of some political importance. Don't believe it. He's merely a reporter assigned to gather political news, and everything he writes is carefully "edited" by another man with a title of much less importance.

Withdrawing a Juror. One particularly amusing incident characterized Congressman Burton's early experience at the bar. For some reason it became necessary to request a continuance in a case in which he was counsel. After Mr. Burton had explained why there should be a continuance the court told him simply to withdraw a juror and the case would be marked continued. For the moment the young attorney was nonplussed, but after glancing at the court to satisfy himself that the judge was in earnest he walked over to the jury box, eyed the jurors for an instant and then firmly seized a large, portly German and endeavored with no little effort to drag him out of the jury box. In the midst of the general laugh which followed, the court came to the rescue of the discomfited young barrister by explaining that the term was simply technical and need only be written on the docket.—Saturday Evening Post.

Effect of Paternal Example. Mr. Tucker, who sometimes goes gunning, was trying to teach Tommy the meaning of the word "brace" as applied to game. "Now, Tommy," he said, "if you should go hunting and kill 20 pheasants, for instance, how many would you say you had bagged?" "Fifty," replied Tommy.—Chicago Tribune.

Improving His Time. "So you were in Paris?" "Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox. "Mrs. C. and the girls wanted to go." "Did you visit all the points of interest?" "I should say so. We went to more places in a week than we could learn to pronounce the names of in six months."—Washington Star

Some English Laws. If you deposit money in a bank and leave it there for over six years without adding to it, drawing on it or dealing with it in any way, it comes under the statute of limitations and is lost to you forever.

Suppose you bought a gold ring and without saying anything about payments or delivery you turned round to examine a clock and a mangle few in and carried off the ring it would be your loss. You would have to pay the jeweler, while he need not give you another ring. If you bought a horse and said you would call for him in the evening and if the stables were burned and the horse destroyed before you called, you would have to bear the consequences. But if anything remained to be done to the property purchased the seller would be responsible. Suppose he undertook to put a nail in the horse's shoe or suppose the jeweler said he would polish up the ring, then the loss would fall on him, not you.

If you wrote from London to a miller in Bristol offering to sell him a cargo of wheat at 30 shillings a quarter and he wrote a letter accepting your offer and posted it the same day, the contract would be completed. Suppose, now, the letter got lost, you concluded that he was not going to buy and you sold the cargo to some one else, you would be liable for damages to the first buyer, and the worst of it is you could get nothing out of the postmaster general.—London Answers.

He Prayed Hard. An old man in Georgia named Jack Baldwin, having lost his hat in an old dry well one day, hitched a rope to a stump and let himself down. A wicked wag named Neal came along just then and, quietly detaching a bell from Baldwin's old blind horse, approached the well bell in hand and began to tinkle.

Jack thought the old horse was coming and said: "Hang the old blind horse! He's coming this way sure, and he ain't got no more sense than to fall in on me. Whoa, Ball!"

The sound came closer. "Great Jerusalem, the old blind fool will be right on top of me in a minute! Whoa, Ball! Whoa, haw, Ball!"

Neal kicked a little dirt on Jack's head, and Jack began to pray: "Oh, Lord, have mercy on—whoa, Ball!—a poor sinner—I'm gone now; whoa, Ball. Our father who art in—whoa, Ball!—hallowed be thy—gee, Ball, gee! what'll I do—name. Now I lay me down to sl—gee, Ball!" Just then in fell more dirt. "Oh, Lord, if you ever intend to do anything for me—back, Ball! whoa!—thy kingdom come—gee, Ball! Oh, Lord, you know I was baptized in Smith's mill dam—whoa, Ball! ho! up! murder! whoa!"

Neal could hold in no longer and shouted a laugh which might have been heard two miles, which was about as far as Jack chased him when he got out.—Atlanta Journal.

Bluffs in the Directory. If you pick up that interesting annual, the city directory, you will find it filled with bluffs. Here is a man down as a superintendent. You know he is only the foreman of a labor gang. Another is designated as a general manager. Three or four men are subject to his "general" management, or, as his 5-year-old son, who inherited his propensity to bluff, put it, "he's the head man of three other fellows." Over on this page is another chap who is given as the political editor of a newspaper of some political importance. Don't believe it. He's merely a reporter assigned to gather political news, and everything he writes is carefully "edited" by another man with a title of much less importance.

Withdrawing a Juror. One particularly amusing incident characterized Congressman Burton's early experience at the bar. For some reason it became necessary to request a continuance in a case in which he was counsel. After Mr. Burton had explained why there should be a continuance the court told him simply to withdraw a juror and the case would be marked continued. For the moment the young attorney was nonplussed, but after glancing at the court to satisfy himself that the judge was in earnest he walked over to the jury box, eyed the jurors for an instant and then firmly seized a large, portly German and endeavored with no little effort to drag him out of the jury box. In the midst of the general laugh which followed, the court came to the rescue of the discomfited young barrister by explaining that the term was simply technical and need only be written on the docket.—Saturday Evening Post.

Effect of Paternal Example. Mr. Tucker, who sometimes goes gunning, was trying to teach Tommy the meaning of the word "brace" as applied to game. "Now, Tommy," he said, "if you should go hunting and kill 20 pheasants, for instance, how many would you say you had bagged?" "Fifty," replied Tommy.—Chicago Tribune.

Improving His Time. "So you were in Paris?" "Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox. "Mrs. C. and the girls wanted to go." "Did you visit all the points of interest?" "I should say so. We went to more places in a week than we could learn to pronounce the names of in six months."—Washington Star

Social Philosophy. From the Philadelphia Bulletin. It is not good form to wear rubbers in a parlor. Don't be afraid to tell your wife when you regard her expenses as a trifle extravagant. It is well to forget a snub administered by an underbred person. Did you ever notice how chilly a woman can be when another woman assumes a patronizing air. It is difficult to understand why so many men regard brusqueness as dignity. It costs little to assume a sympathetic attitude toward one in misfortune. It is amusing to see men pose when forming part of a theater box party. Did you ever notice how many men discuss music as an evidence of intellectual superiority? It is well not to notice the innumerable of a self-constituted moral censor. There is no use trying to argue with a woman who is pedantic.

A Little Boy's Life Saved. I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere of Goodwin, S. D. U. S. A., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—Joel Demont, Inwood, Iowa.

BATTLE OF BEER NOW BEGINNING

Liquor Men Congregate in the United States District Court.

LICENSES OF PRIMO ARE ATTACKED

ANOTHER ALLEGED SILVA HEIR OF FUNCHAL, MADEIRA, IS HEARD FROM.

Attorney Colonel Thomas Fitch's Fees are Questioned—Commissions Charged by Him Above His Retainer Fee are Stated—Will of Frank Brown Filed in Probate.

The beer war commenced in the United States District Court yesterday morning, the local general liquor dealers being argued against the Honolulu beer licenses.

The case shows every sign of being a hard fought one and one full of interest and knotty problems over which astute legal lights may vent their eloquence to their hearts' delight.

The liquor dealing fraternity was generously represented in Judge Estee's court yesterday when the case was opened. There were big dealers and little dealers, men who make it their business to see that those who have the money wherewith to pay need not go thirsty for liquid refreshment of exhilarating nature.

The plaintiffs in the case are seeking to have declared unconstitutional the Hawaiian statute under which Territorial Treasurer William H. Wright issues licenses to sell Honolulu brewed "Primo" beer at $250 per year, while other retail liquor licenses, under which other beer can be sold, cost $1,000.

Treasurer Wright Testifies. The first witness called to give his testimony was Treasurer Wright. He answered the questions put to him during an almost ceaseless fire of objections.

His testimony was to the effect that the first Honolulu beer license had been issued by him on July 1, 1901. He had issued 10 in July, 10 in September, 2 in October and 3 in November, making 25 in all.

When Dunne asked Wright about the location of these 25 saloons, Siliman made objection and his objection was successful. Dunne said that he wanted to show that the places of the plaintiffs had been surrounded by small competing places licensed by the defendant, as a way of showing how the plaintiffs had been damaged.

Wright testified that he had refused $250 licenses to the plaintiffs. He said that the plaintiffs wanted to sell beer produced outside of the Territory under licenses at $250 per year. Wright claimed that under the statute he could not issue a license for the sale of any beer except that made in Honolulu, under the licenses sold for $250.

A. Hocking and W. C. Peacock also called to testify. Peacock went over his sales for the last three years. Peacock and Hocking were recalled in the afternoon. When court adjourned for the day L. H. Dee was giving his testimony.

Another Heir Heard From. Attorney J. M. Vilvas yesterday morning filed an affidavit in the First Circuit Court made by another supposed relative of the late Jose Antonio da Silva, an old Portuguese who was poisoned by some of his own wine in November, 1900. The newly discovered relative makes a mark for his signature and claims the $1,500 left by the deceased. The affidavit is as follows:

"Kingdom of Portugal, Island of Madeira, City of Funchal. "I, Jacinthia da Silva, residing in the City of Funchal, Island of Madeira, being duly sworn, depose and say as follows:

"My name is Jacinthia da Silva. I am the sister of Jose Antonio da Silva, who died at Honolulu, Hawaii, on the 13th day of November, 1900. There are no sisters of my name, or brothers, or mother, of Jose Antonio da Silva, now living.

"I, Mark DA SILVA, and sworn to before me on the 13th day of November, 1901, as my attorney, J. M. Vilvas, given notice of motion to modify the decree of Judge Gear awarding the distribution of the property entirely to the widow also to fix the compensation which should be paid to Attorney Thomas Fitch, saying that he paid Fitch a retainer of $150 that Fitch received from the court the share belonging to the widow and that he also collected from the court certain sums to be paid the affiant and, besides the retainer mentioned, charged affiant twenty per cent on such sums, also charging the same rate of commission on the valuation of real estate belonging to the heirs of the deceased.

Some English Laws.
If you deposit money in a bank and leave it there for over six years without adding to it, drawing on it or dealing with it in any way, it comes under the statute of limitations and is lost to you forever.

Suppose you bought a gold ring and without saying anything about payments or clock and a maple leaf in and carried off the ring it would be your loss. You would have to pay the jeweler, while he need not give you another ring. If you bought a horse and said you would call for him in the evening and if the stables were burned and the horse destroyed before you called, you would have to bear the consequences. But if anything remained to be done to the property purchased the seller would be responsible. Suppose he undertook to put a nail in the horse's shoe or suppose the jeweler said he would polish up the ring, then the loss would fall on him, not you.

If you wrote from London to a miller in Bristol offering to sell him a cargo of wheat at 30 shillings a quarter and he wrote a letter accepting your offer and posted it the same day, the contract would be completed. Suppose, now, the letter got lost, you concluded that he was not going to buy and you sold the cargo to some one else, you would be liable for damages to the first buyer, and the worst of it is you could get nothing out of the postmaster general.—London Answers.

He Prayed Hard.
An old man in Georgia named Jack Baldwin, having lost his hat in an old dry well one day, hitched a rope to a stump and let himself down. A wicked wag named Neal came along just then and, quietly detaching a bell from Baldwin's old blind horse, approached the well bell in hand and began to tinkle.

Jack thought the old horse was coming and said: "Hang the old blind horse! He's coming this way sure, and he ain't got no more sense than to fall in on me. Whoa, Ball!"
The sound came closer.
"Great Jerusalem, the old blind fool will be right on top of me in a minute! Whoa, Ball! Whoa, haw, Ball!"

Neal kicked a little dirt on Jack's head, and Jack began to pray:
"Oh, Lord, have mercy on—whoa, Ball—a poor sinner—I'm gone now; whoa, Ball. Our father who art in—whoa, Ball—hallowed be thy—gee, Ball, gee! what'll I do?—name. Now I lay me down to sl—gee, Ball!" Just then he fell more dire. "Oh, Lord, if you ever intend to do anything for me—back, Ball! whoa—thy kingdom come—gee, Ball! Oh, Lord, you know I was baptized in Smith's mill dam—whoa, Ball! ho! up! murder! whoa!"

Neal could hold in no longer and shouted a laugh which might have been heard two miles, which was about as far as Jack chased him when he got out.—Atlanta Journal.

He's merely a reporter assigned to gather political news, and everything he writes is carefully "edited" by another man with a title of much less importance. This man down in the book as a merchant sells shoe strings and collar buttons in a cubby hole between two buildings made available when an alley fell into disuse.

"Mme. Blanche, modiste," is merely Mrs. Blank, dressmaker, making a French bluff for which she collects after the cutting off and fitting are done. But what is the use of picking them out? The directory is filled with them.—Pittsburg Press.

Withdrawing a Juror.
One particularly amusing incident characterized Congressman Burton's early experience at the bar. For some reason it became necessary to request a continuance in a case in which he was counsel. Frank Brown's Will.
The will of the late Frank Brown was filed in the First Circuit Court yesterday. The nephew of the deceased, H. M. Von Holt, is named as executor to serve without bonds. Cecil Brown is made trustee. Certain items of personal property are bequeathed to employees and the remainder of the estate, real, personal or mixed is left to the widow. Monday, March 3, has been set for proving said will.

To Sell Stock in Hand.
Motion for leave to sell the stock in trade of the late Frank Brown has been filed by H. M. von Holt, temporary administrator of the estate. The stock in trade is situate in the premises which were occupied by Frank Brown on Merchant street, the business being carried on under the name of the Hawaiian Wine Co. The estate of decedent is said to be insolvent and the stock in trade is said to be of the value of between $1500 and $2000. The estate including insurance policy is valued at $3500 or thereabouts.

Alimony is Denied.
Motion for alimony in the divorce case of John De Greaves against Caroline De Greaves was yesterday denied by Judge Humphreys and libellant was ordered to pay libellee's attorney a fee of $50 and to pay $10 for expenses of trial, to be paid within ten days.

The February Term.
Early next week a venire will be out for a grand and trial jury for the February term of the First Circuit Court, the term beginning a week from Monday. It is expected that there will be three circuit judges on the First Circuit bench during this term. The calendar will contain nearly four hundred cases in all.

Another Citizen Made.
Francis J. Behr, a subject of Germany, was yesterday made a citizen of the United States by Judge Estee. Behr is a second lieutenant in the United States Army, having served three years. He is now at Camp McKinley.

other song or two, so well was his singing received.

J. Rosean next entertained with Scottish melodies on the violin. He made the instrument speak most switchingly and proved himself worthy of the applause he received.

"The Land o' Burns" was responded to by Dr. Sinclair. In speaking of the land o' Burns, he said it possessed the most beautiful scenery on the face of the globe. He amusingly related many charming anecdotes of Scotland and the Scots, closing with a poem so very Scottish that none but Scotchmen could understand it.

A song by John C. Brown, "Scotland Yet," was next enjoyed, as were also several encores.

D. Clark again delighted with a vocal performance, after which R. Anderson recited "Tam o' Shanter," a longish poem which had been thoroughly mastered.

The bagpipe selection by Piper R. Macdonald Murray, he who so well executed the Highland Fling, was an immense success, the gathering simply going wild with patriotic and commemorative enthusiasm.

Land We Live In.
The Rev. Alexander Mackintosh responded to the toast "The Land We Live In," saying that there was much in Hawaii to remind one of the beauties of Scotland. He dwelt on the opportunities and advantages of these islands, what they were and what they meant to Scotchmen far from their native land and what Scotchmen had done for the Paradise of the Pacific.

Attorney General E. P. Dole responded for "The Bar," after several merry songs by D. W. Anderson and W. H. Soper had been enjoyed. Mr. Dole spoke feelingly and to the point, touching on great advocates of Scotland who had helped to make their country famous and who had helped along the cause of humanity by their fearless fight for right. The songs of J. L. Cockburn and W. Goudie were greatly appreciated, as were also the violin selections of J. T. Rosean. Daniel Logan responded for "The Press" amid much applause, and T. H. Lillie responded for "The Ladies."

The celebration broke up at a medium-sized hour this morning to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne."

In spite of the changes the ecclesiastical discipline has remained a penitence and prayer. Church always begins period from the week of ma; holy considerations make her Western sin herself with her most spouse of Jesus Christ, motive which reveals a found knowledge of the a mother full of solicitude all its weaknesses.
