OCEAN GREYHOUNDS.

Twenty Knot Steamers Are Not Very Numerous.

The world hears so much about ocean greyhounds that break the record, and of the fierce competition to cut down the time for crossing the Atlantic, that it may readily be pardoned if it thinks steamers of more than twenty-knot speed far more numerous than they really are. A table printed in the report of the Commissioner of Navigation, compiled from Lloyd's Register of the date of July 1, 1902, sought to disabuse the public mind of its error on this point. This table takes cognizance of all screw steamers in the world of 2000 gross tons or more of twelve-knot speed and upward. Of the 1238 steamers covered by the compilation only twenty had authenticated speed records of twenty knots and over. Of these twenty, 7 were British, 5 German, 4 American, 2 French and 2 Russian. Of the 1238 steamers 460 were of 12 knots, 364 of 13 and 135 of 14. After passing 14 knots the classes rapidly diminish in number. Thus there were but 9 of 19 knots and only 18 of 18 knots. Judging from this table, 17 knots is regarded as the happy medium between speed and profit, for there were 57 of this class, of which 9 were under the American flag. From a table accompanying the one referred to it is apparent there are few commercial inducements to build very large steamers of very high speed. In the last two years there has been but one addition to each of the 20-knots, 19-knot and 18-knot classes, whereas there were at the time the enumeration was made (1902) 46 more 12-knot steamers than there were in 1900. Classified by flags, Great Britain owns more than one-half of all the 2000-ton steamers in the world, having 664 under her register. Germany comes second 127, France third with 116 and the United States fourth with 108. Japan is a poor fifth with 40.

These tables make manifest that the general tendency in steamship construction for profit is to combine great cargo capacity with the smallest coal consumption consistent with a fair rate of speed. Tramp steamers or those employed in regular freight lines are laid down on much larger dimensions, but with very little effort to raise the speed of this class. Thus we find steamers of the American Hawaiian Company, designed to carry freight around Cape Horn, though averaging nearly 6000 tons, have but eleven-knot speed.—Boston Transcript.

Suicides of Last Year.

In its annual review of the statistics of suicides in the United States the Chicago Tribune finds that they are increasing much more rapidly than the gain in population warrants. The figures for the last few years are as follows: 1899, 5340; 1900, 6755; 1901, 7245; 1902, 8291.

While the increase last year over 1901 is 14 per cent, that for the three years yields the startling percentage of 55, or more than half as many more.

Another remarkable fact is noted in the larger proportion of women among the suicides. Previous to 1902 the ratio among suicides was five men to one woman. But last year there were three times as many women as for the year before, making the ratio five men to three women.

Among the known causes for suicide despondency ranks first, about one-tenth are traced to domestic infelicity, 433 to ill health and 375 to "disappointed love." Fully one-third left no clew to the cause for self-murder, while "liquor" accounts for 136 and "business losses" for 67. Poison remains the favorite means of dispatch to the unknown, but more than one-third of the suicides shot themselves.

CURE FOR BLOOD POISON.

New York Physician Claims to Have Made a Great Discovery.

New York, Jan. 15.—Dr. Charles C. Barrows of this city has submitted a report of a case to the New York Obstetrical Society and outlined a treatment tending to revolutionize the methods of modern medical procedure in dealing with blood poisoning. It would seem, indeed, that an actual specific for this dread ailment had been discovered. Briefly, the treatment consists of the injection of formalin into the veins.

Dr. Egbert Grandin, president of the New York Obstetrical Society, after hearing Dr. Barrow's report, said: "Without further trial, and taking this case as it stands, I consider Dr. Barrows' discovery as the most important contribution to medical science of this generation." Dr. Barrows' experiments were made upon public patients in Bellevue Hospital. A patient was suffering from a violent case of blood poisoning and had a temperature of 108 degrees and a pulse of 160. It is said Barrows injected into one of the large veins of the right arm 500 cubic centimeters of formalin. The effects were almost magical. The temperature and pulse rate soon began to fall, and in the course of a few days were normal. The patient is now practically well.

Carnegie's Historical Window.

Professor Gerald Moira of the Royal College of Art has just completed a stained-glass window for Andrew Carnegie's Scottish country seat, Skibo. The window is unquestionably one of the finest productions of modern applied art, and does the greatest credit to its designer, who has known how to combine within its limited frame a number of personal, historical and allegorical allusions without making the window suffer as a superb work of art.

It is composed of five lights, the center being occupied by the figure of St. Gilbert, who made Skibo his palace when Bishop of Dornoch in 1233. To the left of him stands Sigurd the Dane, who built the castle in 946, while to the right is the Duke of Montrose, who was trapped at Skibo in 1650. The figures are flanked with views of Skibo castle and the little Scotch cottage in which Carnegie was born.

Above the latter is a representation of the sailing boat which took the fortuneless emigrant to America, while over the other view is the transatlantic liner which brought him back to his native shore.—London Mail.

Electric Light That Talks.

An electric light arc telephone, an ordinary street corner electric light which talks, has been designed in the Michigan Physical Laboratory by Assistant Professor K. E. Guthe, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. This talking electric light is the successor of the "singing arc lamp" designed in this laboratory a year ago. The "singing arc" was a mechanical toy, the light telephone is a practical advance in science. A telephone at one end of the wire and a big arc light at the other are the prime requisites of Professor Guthe's 'phone. Every one has seen a street lamp flicker and heard it sputter. The sputtering furnishes the principle on which the electric light is made a telephone. The telephone transmitter merely regulates the light's sputtering and makes it intelligible, exactly imitating the human voice. The street lamp sputters because the strength of the electric current changes. The telephone constantly changes the strength of the current in the light, thereby making the light vibrate in exact accord with the vibrations of the human voice at the telephone.

How to Stop a Cough.

A simple but effective remedy is the following:

Breathing through the nostrils, inhale a full breath as slowly as is possible without causing fatigue. Expel the breath in the same manner and repeat the operation ten times. This will stop the coughing for about a quarter of an hour. Take a dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy during this lull and the medicine will have a better opportunity to act and will speedily effect a complete cure. It always cures and cures quickly. The Hilo Drug Store sells it.

HAWAII'S EXHIBIT.
Fine Showing Will Be Made Before Japanese.
Hawaii is to make a very creditable exhibition of its products at Osaka fair. The component parts, in charge of various committees, will be sent forward in the Korea on Monday and are being carefully prepared for shipment today. The agricultural products are in charge of a committee of which W. W. Dimond is the head and the various cases are in readiness now for sending forth at a moment's notice. The Hawaiian woods are in charge of a committee of which W. W. Harris is the chairman and the photographic display, which is one of the most complete and most artistic that has ever been sent forth from Hawaii, is in charge of another committee of which W. M. Giffard is the chairman.

The agricultural exhibit as seen at the store of W. W. Dimond today, is made up of the following: Hawaiian coffee in parchment from the Maunawili coffee ranch of W. G. Irwin; Hawaiian coffee, extra prime, grown at the same place; kukui nut oil, kukui nuts, and extract of vanilla; two lots of extra fine Hawaiian sugar and another of common white sugar; bags of rice, pia or arrowroot, awa root, okra seed, taroena, and Hawaiian papaia citron; olona, a Hawaiian fibre; Hawaiian tobacco and two bunches of fine cane from the Honolulu plantation; fibre for hats and a fine exhibit of sisal.

Among the preserves are the following: 12 jars pohu jam, 12 jars of guava jelly, sugar cane, pineapples and bananas. In bags will be found coffee, hulled and unhulled rice and sugar.

Each case or bag has upon it the official label of the Osaka fair which reads as follows:
Osaka, Japan.
Exhibit..... (Hawaii)
Series No.....
Total No.....

The exhibit of wood arranged by W. W. Harris and the other members of the committee, will be accompanied by a descriptive catalogue which has been prepared by T. G. Thrum. The woods came from the forests of Hawaii and were identified by D. D. Baldwin of Hamakua, E. P. Low of Puu-waawaa and John T. Moir of Onomea plantation. Those which could not be identified by these men were identified by Mr. Thrum. The small bits of wood have been highly polished and will undoubtedly make one of most beautiful exhibits at the fair.

The full list of the woods is as follows: Plain koa, curly koa, ohia lehua, pua (or Ulupua), kopeko-kea, aalii, aalii (var.), holei, old sandal wood (ilihi), young sandal wood (ilihi), naio, kauila, kolea, koae, mamane, kou, heae, olapa (or maha), wiliwili, opiko, lamahai, pa'hi, ulei, kamani, uhi-uh, lama, alaa, alahee, (or walahee), kokio na-u (or kiele), kawai, neneleau, papaahkekili (probably same as puaniki). There is only one unidentified species in the exhibit.—Bulletin.
