ALL THE SCHOOLS OPEN

STUDIES RESUMED AT THE DIFFERENT COLLEGES.

Educational Classes at the Y. M. C. A.—Inspector Townsend Talks on School Matters in Honolulu.

This morning the scholars at Oahu and St. Louis colleges and Kaneohe schools resumed their studies after a three weeks' vacation, extending through the holidays.

Tonight the Y. M. C. A. classes will enter on the last term of the present course. The classes are organized for a term of six months, beginning in September and closing in April. There are no classes during the summer months.

It is the earnest desire of the Y. M. C. A. management that those who intend joining any of the classes, will do so this week in order that they may have the full benefit of the three months' teaching. The instructors of the different classes report considerable progress in their work during the first half of the term.

The elementary class will meet tonight. Henry Wells is headmaster. On Tuesday evenings, the bookkeeping class will hold forth under E. P. Chapin. Editor J. M. Poeppoe teaches Hawaiian on Wednesday evenings. Professor E. Cook vocal music on Thursdays. T. H. Petrie and Secretary Bluxome give instructions to two short hand classes on Fridays and Secretary Bluxome has the typewriting class on Saturdays.

The Government schools opened on last Monday after the holiday vacation. Inspector General Townsend, in speaking of the attendance says: "We have received reports of attendance from all the schools in the Honolulu district and also from the other islands. They show almost invariably a much larger attendance at this term than at the beginning of either the June or September terms. I find that there is but a very slight increase this month over the attendance at the close of the fall term in December. In the Honolulu district the schools are still overcrowded, notwithstanding that nine rooms have been added during the term."

HOTEL ARRIVALS.

At the Hawaiian—Theodore F. von Ploten, Haarlem, Java; Miss Mary Hall, London; Capt. A. Ahlborn, Lahaina; Paul Isenberg, Sr., and family. At the Arlington—A. G. Dickens, Kahala; William Kinney, Hilo; Mrs. A. T. Linder, Oahu, Hawaii; E. K. Bull, Heeia.

NO MIDDLE PROFITS.

That is the reason why L. B. Kerr is able to give you your goods for so little money. The public has caught on to this fact, causing a general rush of business.

SACRED CONCERT THAT VIOLATED BOSTON'S SUNDAY LAW.

Sung Yat Sen Is Still Plotting—Great Disaster on the Island of St. Michael—Reciprocity Wanted.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—The Sabbath Protective League claims that Eugene Tompkins, proprietor of the Boston Theater, Col. Mapleson, late impresario of the Imperial opera company, and all who attended as well as who took part in the grand concert in Boston theater last Sunday evening for the benefit of Col. Mapleson, are law-breakers.

The law provides that if a concert on Sunday where an admission fee is charged is not sacred, or if the entertainment is not given by a charitable or religious society, then not only are the promoters guilty of a breach of the law, but those who attend are also guilty, and liable to a fine not exceeding $5.

Among those who attended Sunday night was ex-Queen Liliuokalani, who occupied a box, and under the law she would be equally guilty with the performers in case it was found that the concert was not sacred. The programme was submitted to the court, but there the matter rests for the present.

CHINESE JUNTA.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 29.—A morning paper prints the following: According to versatile Wong Chin Foo Chicago is to become headquarters for the Chinese revolutionary junta. This body plans the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty now regnant in the Flower Kingdom by an armed invasion from a convenient South Sea Island.

Rooms for the Junta have been engaged at 329 South Clark street, and the Mongolians who dwell in that vicinity await the coming of Sung Yat Sen to set the machinery in operation, which is to open China to Western civilization.

Sung Yat Sen is the Celestial revolutionist who recently was kidnaped in the streets of London and whose release was effected by Lord Salisbury. He now is collecting money and organizing his followers in England. He will sail for America within two or three weeks, where he will confer with Wong Chin Foo of Chicago and other leaders of the Chinese reform party in this country.

Wong Chin Foo at present is hard at work on magazine articles on Confucianism and in the preparation of Confucian missionary lectures to be delivered in Illinois and adjoining States. But he is not neglecting his duties as attorney for the revolutionists.

The revolutionary societies in this country and England number, it is said, thousands of Chinamen who have amassed wealth, which is to be used when the time ripens for the overthrow of the hated Manchu dynasty.

DISASTER AT ST. MICHAEL.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—The Portuguese consulate in this city has received a petition from the Island of St. Michael, in the Azores, signed by a representative of the Portuguese Government and nineteen other of the principal citizens, asking aid for the sufferers by the bursting of a giant waterspout on November 2 over the city of Povoacao. The petition states that there is much suffering for food, clothing and shelter, and gives some particulars of the calamity, than which it states none has been more devastating in the history of the island.

Tons of water poured down upon the city, which was of about 25,000 inhabitants, mounting above the roofs of the houses, ripping up the streets and carrying destruction everywhere in its path. The torrent rushed down the slopes to the sea, tearing a wide channel through nine miles of country and carrying with it the homes of thousands of people.

The flood also destroyed the town of Ribeira Quente, of 3000 population, and several outlying parishes. All along the coast the fishermen lost their boats, and the shore was littered with corpses of those who perished in the floods.

RECIPROCITY WANTED.

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, Dec. 29.—The Newfoundland Legislature will attempt to secure reciprocity with the United States when it meets in February. The Cabinet is now discussing the question.

ANNEXATION CLUB NEWS

PREPARING FOR THE MEETING TOMORROW NIGHT.

Encouraging Reports Coming In from the Other Islands—Club Wanted at Lahaina—Lists Sent Out.

The first regular monthly meeting of the Annexation Club since the reorganization will be held tomorrow evening at the drill shed. There promises to be a large attendance and a most enthusiastic meeting is anticipated.

Brief talks will be made by several prominent Honolulu speakers. The committee having the program in charge has extended an invitation to a couple of staunch annexationists to address the meeting, and if they consent, some good annexation news may be expected.

The officers of the club will have a report to make of what they have been doing during the past month.

The club will also have up before it for discussion, the matter of an executive officer. The duties attached to this position are quite important, inasmuch as this official is in charge of the headquarters of the club and is responsible for numerous matters which are quite essential for the welfare of the club. Mr. C. A. Brown is filling this position at present. It will be a salaried office.

As each week passes by annexation looks brighter and brighter. Interest in the movement is not confined to Honolulu and Oahu alone but it is spreading throughout the group. From Kauai and Hawaii most encouraging reports have been received during the past fortnight. In the Lahaina district on Maui, those in harmony with the annexation movement are urging the formation of a club. At Wailuku John W. Kalua has issued a call for a meeting of the annexation club for this week.

The membership rolls were sent out to the various districts in the group from headquarters last week. Quite a number of men have signified their intention of signing as soon as the lists are opened.

In Honolulu and surrounding district the new converts to the cause are numerous as a glance at the lists will testify. The names of Hawaiians are conspicuous. One prominent native leader said today: "There will be many more of my countrymen in the ranks when they acquire a full meaning of the word 'Annexation'."

At 3 o'clock this afternoon it was learned that Minister Cooper would address the meeting. H. F. Glade will probably speak also.

DR. RYDER ENTERTAINED.

The Kawaiahaeo Seminary Girls Serenaded on Saturday.

Since coming to Honolulu Dr. Emily B. Ryder has very kindly favored the Kawaiahaeo Seminary with interesting talks on her observations while traveling in India and other parts of the world. To show their appreciation of this kindness about sixty-five of the seminary girls and three of the teachers serenaded Dr. Ryder Saturday afternoon at the Arlington hotel. The big hotel lawn was occupied by the serenaders and a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon was made of it. Refreshments were served, after which Mrs. Ryder's callers departed.

LEAVE ON THE AUSTRALIA.

Capt. Bray, R. H. Stout, W. T. Porter, Mrs. Geo. H. Paris and child, Geo. C. Beckley, H. J. Miller, W. E. Schmidt, Mrs. P. Umbsen, Mrs. Maguire, Miss Maguire, Albert Willis, G. H. Umbsen, Mrs. A. S. Willis, Miss Dulaney, Miss Briggs, Jas. Bishop, S. Clementson and wife.

OFF FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

Purser Beckley of the Kinau expects to leave on the Australia for San Francisco to bring back the new Wilder steamer Helene. He hopes to return by the last of February. His place as purser on the Kinau will be filled by K. R. G. Wallace.

THEY HAVE NEW BIKES.

The Australia brought a large consignment of wheels to the city. In the number was a '97 Cleveland for Contractor Cornell. Dr. High has a Westfield; Charles K. Hyde, a Walker Special and Inspector W. H. Storey, of the customs guard, a '96 Cleveland.

BEST FOR WHEELMEN.

Careful wheelmen are never on the road without Reading's Russia Salve. It is the best thing extant for bruises, sprains and cuts. Sold by Hollister Drug Co.

WILL PASS THE SENATE

VICE-PRESIDENT TALKS ABOUT THE CAMERON RESOLUTION.

Denials from Madrid As to the Settlement of the War—Cubans May Have Home Rule.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 29.—A special to the Herald from St. Louis says: "The Cameron resolution, recognizing the Republic of Cuba will, in my opinion, be sure to pass the Senate," declared Vice President Stevenson: "I am not so sure about its fate in the house, but I believe that it will go to the President. I would like to say more, but I am not President. I have no opinion to give of Mr. Cleveland's probable action, because I have not talked with him. You know, all the papers know as much about the President's ideas as I do. I think he has sufficiently indicated them. I cannot say until after March 4 whether I thing recognition of the Cuban Republic would be the cause of war or not."

MADRID, Spain, Dec. 29.—An emphatic semi-official denial is given to the statements cabled here as coming from the Washington Post to the effect that Secretary of State Olney and Senator Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish Minister to the United States, had practically terminated their negotiations on the Cuban question and detailing the extent of the reform that Spain would grant to Cuba under the guarantee of the United States.

It is also semi-officially denied that the Government has questioned Great Britain, France and Italy, regarding their attitude in the event of a war with the United States.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—While it is not true that the Spanish Government will accept the mediation of the United States in giving autonomy to Cuba, it has been known for some weeks that the Spanish Ministry propose giving the Cubans a larger measure of home rule than they have heretofore enjoyed.

President Cleveland has been repeatedly assured that these reforms would be inaugurated when the province of Pinar del Rio had been pacified. It was in this province that Gen. Maceo and his followers have been located for the last year, and since Maceo's death the work of pacification has been considerably expedited.

The time is not far distant when the home rule reforms will be instituted there and also in the provinces of Matanzas and Havana, where the insurgents have never secured a foothold. It has been frequently asserted that Spanish intended reforms would have been put in operation two years ago but for the insurrection and that the insurgents started the rebellion in order to prevent the reforms.

These reforms embrace the election of a Cuban Congress, instead of a mixed Congress of fifty elected members and fifty appointed by the Queen Regent, and also a complete control by Cuba of her tariff.

The Spanish ministry are understood to be engaged in drafting the proposed reforms, but thus far the only knowledge regarding them is of a general nature. It is believed that they would be completed within the next fortnight, and it is not unlikely that a copy will be cabled to Secretary Olney, by permission of the Spanish Government.

COLBY'S ARMY FOR CUBA.

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 29.—Gen. L. W. Colby of Beatrice, who has taken upon himself the task of forming an American army to fight for Cuban independence, will start for the East in a few days, stopping at Chicago, Cleveland and New York. From the latter place he will sail for Cuba in an individual capacity to look over the ground. In the course of an extended interview he said:

"The organization is progressing; companies have been formed and enlisted in many of the States and Territories, and there is no question about obtaining from 10,000 to 20,000 able-bodied volunteers. And let me tell you that when once an armed legion of from 10,000 to 20,000 American volunteers lands in Cuba with the necessary subsistence for thirty days a public sentiment will be created that will place 50,000 re-enforcements in condition to follow in a few weeks."

FIRST 1897 IMPORTATION.

Consists of one hundred and forty six packages of staple dry goods, including white and brown cottons, sheetings, bedspreads and blankets. This lot will be thrown away at Kerr's.

FLAG FOR THE HELENE

A PURSE FULL OF GLITTERING GOLD FOR THE COLORS.

To Float from the Mast of the New Wilder Steamer—Tribute to George Beckley.

On board the Kinau this noon Geo. C. Beckley, the purser of that boat, was presented with a purse of glittering gold. With this he is asked to purchase a Hawaiian flag to float from the mast of the new Wilder steamer, Helene, which he will bring down from the coast the early part of next month.

"Diekey" H. Davis made the presentation speech with reflected credit to his oratorical propensities. The following letter, which was neatly engrossed by Viggo Jacobson, accompanied:

"On the eve of your departure for the Pacific Coast, we, the undersigned, employees of the Wilder Steamship Company, would ask your acceptance of the accompanying purse, the contents of which has been intended to apply for the purchase of a Hawaiian flag as a slight token of our good will and as a souvenir of the uniformly pleasant relations with you which it has been our privilege as your fellow workers to enjoy in the past whilst in the performance of our several duties. Much happiness, health and prosperity continue to attend you and wishing you a "Bon Voyage" and a safe return, we beg to subscribe ourselves, Capt. T. K. Clarke, Capt. E. F. Cameron, Capt. W. Weir, Capt. J. Fitzgerald, Capt. Robert Andrews, Capt. W. Freeman, Capt. L. Everett, H. S. Rickard, J. Galbraith, Aumg, J. Merseberg, Louis Self, G. H. Dunn, K. R. Wallace, D. H. Davis, W. Hookunui, William Conway, Kahooloie, I. Schoen, Joseph Fern, Puakela, Saymonek, Frank Mannel, C. J. Falk, J. Wagner, Joseph Little, Kawika, C. A. Kibling, A. Inman, J. Devlin, Solomon, Charles Krueger, W. A. Beckley, Ah You, Baptiste, Keikaihua and Guerrero.

Capt. Beckley has been seafaring for the past 35 years. He has been with the Wilder Steamship Company from its inception and today is one of the most trustworthy employes in the company. He brought the Lehua to this country and has been in command of two of the ships in the Wilder fleet. Capt. Beckley is a director of the company in which he is employed.

NOT Y. H. I. BOYS.

Editor Star—The P. C. Advertiser of this morning's issue states that members of the Y. H. I. will sing solos and choruses at the band concert this evening. On behalf of the Y. H. I. I would state that none of the members of that chorus belong to the Y. H. I., except the leader, Mr. W. J. Cuelho. I am called upon to make this statement at the request of several members of the institute who wish to give Mr. Cuelho all the honor for his efforts, but the fact remains, his glee club is not under the auspices of the Y. H. I. at all.

IMPROVEMENTS IN ALL DEPARTMENTS OF KINDERGARTENS.

Some Schools Are Overcrowded—Generous Gifts from Friends—Progress in the Training Class.

Within the past month improvements in all departments of the Kindergarten association have been made. This is evidenced by obedience, interest, understanding, and, in general, increased attendance. Some schools are in the chronic state of overcrowded rooms.

The Palama Kindergarten has opened hopefully under the direction of Miss Buckie. Miss Lawrence, who is in charge of the work at Queen Emma Hall urges the members and friends of the association to visit this new kindergarten.

Generous gifts from friends have been received during December. Among them was a much needed piano for the Japanese department. Second hand pianos can be of much use in kindergarten work, as those who have such to dispose of may be glad to know.

The financial secretary states that she has received good response to her circular letter asking for renewed or new pledges for this year. There is still opportunity for giving aid.

A Japanese father of two or three children, who, in prosperous days, was a generous contributor to the association, has now not only withdrawn his support of the work, but left a destitute family in the community while he serves a term of imprisonment for smuggling watches into the islands. "The way of the transgressor is hard"—especially for the innocent co-sufferers.

The Kindergarten club made an attempt to interest Chinese mothers through general meetings, but found the results to be unsatisfactory. Froebel's method of house visiting have been substituted.

Progress has been made in the Training class. The trainer wisely adopts methods to the particular needs of the class. Thus and thus only real and not superficial results will obtain.

Ewa plantation now has a kindergarten nearly ready for opening. Mr. W. J. Lowrie, manager for Ewa plantation, deserves praise for his earnest and faithful attention to all the detailed preparations for this institution. The direction of this kindergarten will be given to the Free Kindergarten Association, while all its expenses will be met by the plantation.

THE STEAMER SCRAY.

Handsome Addition to the Inter Island Fleet.

The new Inter Island steamer, the Scray, arrived yesterday morning from San Francisco. She came down under command of Capt. Thompson, formerly master of the S. C. Allen. She left the Bay City on the 30th ult. at 10 a. m.; it took her eleven days to make the trip. The vessel can travel much faster, but Capt. Thompson did not care to push her on account of her new engine. The bar was breaking when the Scray left San Francisco, which tossed her about considerably; otherwise the voyage was pleasant.

The new boat is practically a sister to the Ke Au Hou. She is 132 1/2 feet in length, 28 foot beam, same tonnage, but draws seven inches more water. She was built by Hall Brothers, at Port Blakely. Her engines were made in San Francisco. The Scray will be renamed and registered under the Hawaiian flag; she will probably be placed on the Kauai route.

A CURE FOR LAME BACK.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Loudon Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by all druggists and dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale agents, H. I.

SLIGHTLY MIXED.

A pupil in the lower grades at the South school brought down the horse the other day. His father was questioning him about his geography lesson, and in the course of questioning asked what is the highest mountain in this state. The boy answered with a flash: "Rainier beer, pure and invigorating and 14,444 feet high." On tap or in bottles at the Criterion.

THAT WATERMELON.

"No," said the cowboy, with a smile, as he pushed away the plate holding a segment of dewy, pinky fruit, "I don't eat watermelon, and I'll tell you why."

"I was quite a youngster when I got the ranch fever and started out with a cousin of about my own age for a big cattle ranch in Texas in which my father was financially interested. It was our first trip of the kind, and we were both young and pretty green—typical tenderfeet, in fact."

"The ranch was 95 long, weary miles from the nearest town and railroad, and you can fancy our feelings when, after riding over this distance on two of the most singular little Texas bronches ever given to equestrian novices, we arrived at our destination, to find no one at home but the caretaker and a couple of men, all the rest having gone off on a long round up. It was early autumn and fine weather, but the place looked dismal enough, not a suggestion of civilized comfort. The caretaker advised us to remain. Said we might be sent for any moment to join the outfit, as there was a short count of men just then, but told us frankly we would have to rough it, as provisions were pretty low."

"It wasn't precisely what we had anticipated when we made our gilt-edged plans at home, but we couldn't turn back at once, and, to tell the honest truth, we didn't want to strike that return trail to the railroad until our bruises had healed up a little. We did rough it for sure. Our diet was principally beans and tallow, not appetizing, although we were hungry enough at most times to eat shoe leather. We generally practiced riding and roping all day under the tuition of the caretaker in order to fill the bill if sent for suddenly to join the outfit, and we took a general lesson in caring for the stock and working round the place."

"After about three weeks of it my cousin gave out; said his stomach wouldn't stand any more beans and he was going to start for civilization. He had had enough of ranching to last him a lifetime. So he left in disgust, but I staid on. I had come to stay. I expected to rough it a good deal, and, although I didn't altogether enjoy it, I wanted to see the thing through."

"A week later word was received at the ranch that one of the boys had been hurt, and as I was the most available of the home force I was notified to start off and take his place. Perhaps you can imagine my importance. I fairly bristled with youthful pride. The outfit was about 150 miles to the south of us, and on my way there I was obliged to pass through the little town where my cousin and I left the railroad on arriving in Texas. It occurred to me that under the circumstances of the past month, and presumably of some future months, a good, square meal would gild the present moment and possibly lead a halo to both past and future, so I proceeded to look up the best restaurant in town—sort of feeding trough in the slough of civilization, it proved, with the queerest old duffer standing in the doorway."

"He was using a toothpick upon the one tooth which graced his jaws, had jeans trousers stuffed into cowhide boots and a dirty sombrero on the back of his grizzled old head, but his responses to my plea for dinner gave him for the moment an importance and attractive personality not possessed by the governor of the state."

"Have you any nice beefsteaks?" I asked. "You bet." "Can you broil me a good big one?" "You bet."

"Can you fry me some nice potatoes, crisp?" "You bet." "And coffee?" But I didn't wait for another "You bet." I gave the order and sat down in the bar, my mouth fairly watering in anticipation of a real dinner once more. After a month of beans and tallow, you can fancy what visions of juicy steak and nicely browned potatoes flitted through my brain. I could just catch the fumes of the onion and pork frying deliciously and fancied I could hear the little sizzle as the potato slices were dropped in."

"I was so intent upon the thought of my coming feast that I never noticed a great hulking fellow who walked into the bar, and ordering a large watermelon, cut it open and began to eat. Presently I heard him say in very mild tones: 'I should have taken warning from that very nuttiness, but I hadn't sense enough—Have some melon, sonny?'"

"No, thanks," said I carelessly. "Oh, do. It's fine." "Thanks, but I've ordered my grub." "Really, yer better try just a little." This rather insinuatingly.

"If I had not been so infernally green, I might have taken warning. As it was, what with my swelled head at the prospect of becoming a full fledged cowboy and those dinner air castles, I lost my temper. "I've already told you my grub is ordered. I don't want your melon." "Waal, now, I reckon ye'll change yer mind, sonny, now, won't yer?" and the first thing I knew I was looking down the mouth of his gun, pointed right at my nose and not a foot away. Talk of cannons! Why, that revolver barrel looked big enough for me to crawl into. I think I must have turned green instead of white."

"I reckon yer changed yer mind now, hain't yer, sonny?" "If ever any one felt like murder, I did that moment. But I tell you I was scared. I begged. I pleaded with the old ruffian. I told him I had been filling up on beans and tallow for a month and just had the chance of one decent meal. I urged him to join me, bribed him with drinks. It was no use. 'Jest a little bit, sonny; jest a little bit more,' he drawled, when I finally concluded it best to sail in, and 'jest a little more' it was until I had finished every morsel of that wretched melon, while he—blamed old beggar—held his gun at my head."

"Talk about records! I must hold the championship easily. When I found I had to eat, I went at it double quick. I didn't like the look in the old sinner's eye. I didn't know what other scheme might be working in his fertile brain. And, of course, when my steak and potatoes arrived there I sat, so full of watermelon I couldn't eat a word of them. You can scarcely blame me for never having touched watermelon since."—Exchange.

Visitors From Abroad.

In Nantucket visitors from the continent are classed as "off Islanders," while at Block Island they are "from abroad." It rather astonished a recent visitor to the latter place to hear that the guests were all "from abroad," but his surprise was somewhat modified when it was explained that these people from abroad were mostly from New Bedford and Fall River.—Boston Transcript.

THEY STAND THE TEST.

YOU SEE THEM EVERYWHERE.

"The popularity of the Cleveland bicycle is ever on the increase and every day sees some crack racing man dispose of his old mount in order to become mounted upon the speedy Cleveland. More races have been won upon Clevelands in recent meets than upon all the other makes put together. Among the Cleveland riders who have ridden their popular mount to victory are the following: Champion Terrill, Chas. Wells, Harry Terrill, Whitman, Mott, Crafts, Vincent, Russ, Williamson, the Noonan Brothers, and many more too numerous to mention."

SALUTATORY.

In taking the editorial chair of The Star the present editor feels deeply his responsibility. He will try to be honest and true to the principles of good government and will do everything in his power to foster the growing industries of the country.

The present editor thoroughly appreciates the work of his predecessor and trusts that he may not fall below his ideal. He carried on his work as an honest worker in the field of journalism. The hopes of the present editor are that he may do as well.

In full confidence that the changes which have come over the political fortunes of Hawaii are for the best and that eventually they will be so regarded, even by those who have taken them with bitterness of spirit, and that annexation to the United States of America is the most desirable thing to strive for, the present editor once more makes his bow to a public for which he has written more or less since 1880 and signs himself ALATAU T. ATKINSON.

ANNEXATION—PURE AND SIMPLE.

The policy of this paper under its present management may be at once laid down. It will advocate the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States in season and out of season. There is no other great issue before us. It is either annexation or a feeble state that is any body's meat. We do not lack for brave men who support the present state of affairs. We do not lack for wise heads who can guide affairs in their present condition. But we do lack for size of population. Not to put it too strongly we are inherently weak. Compare our population of 109,000 with the population of the cities of the United States and there will be found twenty-five of them each of which exceeds the total population of these islands. Compare it with the cities of the world and the list is three columns long in the World's almanac. No state of such small size can go on indefinitely as an independent state. It may escape for a while, but it will be gobbled some time.

Now it seems a very fair proposition that we should strive to protect ourselves. If our position is such that we are anybody's meat, why let us decide whose meat we shall be. As Anglo Saxons we certainly don't want to go into the maw of the Chinese dragon nor help to fertilize the flower pot of the Chrysanthemum. We want to become a part of a great nation, whose laws, whose religion, whose family ties, whose aspirations are like our own. There is only one such nation that we can look to and that is the United States.

Therefore, apart from all sentiment, apart from all national feeling, the cause of annexation to the United States must present itself as a true issue and one which every man, woman and child in this country should strive after with the utmost effort. Some come to us and say, "You can ask the United States as long as you please, and you will never get annexation, it is against their policy." No! It may be hard to convince some statesmen of the United States as to the wisdom of the annexation policy, but it can and shall be done. Hawaii has knocked at the door and by President Cleveland has been refused admission. Though President Harrison had held it half open, President Cleveland quickly came along and shut it in our faces. But Hawaii can keep and will keep on knocking and it will in the end obtain what it desires.

From the position of the United States Hawaii is as important as the Janiculum was to Rome, and all can remember Macaulay's lines: "The bridge must straight go down, For since Janiculum is lost, naught else can save the town."

The Hawaiian Islands are the outpost of Western civilization in the Pacific. The traditions, the civilization of the West and of Christendom are here, well established, flourishing. Can it be possible that the United States will leave an outlying fort unassisted? For the battle of the Eastern and the Western civilization is sure to come, and come much quicker than many people foresee. Where will the United States be if they leave so strong an outpost at the mercy of an enemy? Held in other hands Hawaii would be a constant menace to the commerce of the United States in time of war. Held by the United States the practical command of the Pacific is obtained.

Thus, for her own good, Hawaii will continue to knock at the gates of the Great Republic and, for the sake of the United States, she will also knock, giving a warning as a mouse might do to a lion. Tennyson says: "There is no rock so hard But what a little drop will gain admission." So the "little drop" of Hawaii will gain its end in time and the flag of the American Republic will wave over these islands and assure the inhabitants, be they rich or be they poor, that under its folds they shall have peace, prosperity and above all—safety!

The Coast papers are very busily engaged in a row over who shall represent California in McKinley's cabinet. The list of candidates, according to the "Argonaut," is as follows: Horace Davis, ex-president of the State University; Judge Waymire, of Alameda; Edward Cooper of Santa Barbara; Judge de Haven of San Francisco; Judge Joseph McKenna of San Francisco; Senator Perkins and lastly M. H. de Young. Each of these propositions meets with bitter objections from opponents. The advice is given to the press of the state not to attack opponents, but to put forward the claims of its special candidates. The fact is, nothing is definitely known about President-elect McKinley's cabinet and many causes will act upon the formation of it. States are as thick as leaves on Valombroso, but nothing will be assured for a month or more.

A letter written by Mr. C. A. Spreckels has been shown to The Star, in which he asserts that on the whole he has come to regard annexation as the best thing for Hawaii, and that such is the opinion of his company. This means that a large portion of the sugar planting interest of this country, which is not connected with the sugar refiners trust and heretofore opposed to annexation, is ready to cast in its lot with the United States. There can be no doubt that this fact will have great influence on many others who have heretofore doubted the wisdom of annexation.

INTERNATIONAL MATCH.

Timely Topics.

JANUARY 6, 1897.

The severe and constant rains that have prevailed in the Islands the past few days have given us a set back in some of our lines, especially so in garden sprinklers. Garden sprinklers are not a new thing by any means, but there is always room for improvement. One particularly to which we wish to call your attention is the Ball Nozzle Sprinkler. This is one of the neatest and best little fountains ever introduced. It is so simple in construction that it cannot possibly get out of order. When the force of water is once turned on the sprinkler does the work in a most satisfactory manner. There being no back pressure, there is nothing to break, and a natural steady rain is the result.

We have been forced by the damp weather to reduce the price of this unique and useful garden article to $1 and $1.50. We don't feel like doing it, but at any rate you are the winner. If you don't want this one we have various other makes—several of them—notably, the California.

We have the best and cheapest garden hose in the city in 3/4-inch or 1-inch—25 or 50-foot lengths, and in two grades.

We feel confident that it is impossible for you to better yourself more than we can for you. A trial will be sufficient.

By the Miowera the other day, we received direct from the factory, a magnificent assortment of French China. Among the lot we have two new stock patterns, from which customers may select either one piece, or ten dozen. In this way customers may replace any breakage at the lowest possible cost and without the necessity of purchasing an entire new set.

In this same invoice we have some of the most beautifully decorated toilet sets ever shown in Honolulu. These are made of fine crockery and will ornament any wash stand.

A fad among Honolulu people is decorating china. At the exhibition by the pupils of Miss French at Oahu College a short time ago, some beautiful specimens, the work of her pupils, were shown and will stand comparison with the work of professional artists abroad. Our stock which was opened a day or two ago contains all sorts of pieces and in many sizes. They are made especially for decorating and are inexpensive.

GOOD THINGS ALL!

The quality of groceries and specialties made in England has never been surpassed; some of the lines have never been equalled even by our good friends in the States. There's a knack in putting up certain goods which the Yankees have never fathomed, consequently English manufacturers hold the palm.

Wilder Steamship Co, Ltd.
Libel for Salvage.

Brigantine "Lurline,"
Order to the Marshal.
REPUBLIC OF HAWAII.

To Arthur M. Brown, Marshal of the Republic, GREETING:

Whereas a Libel has this day been filed in the Circuit Court of the First Judicial Circuit by Wilder Steamship Company Limited against the Brigantine "Lurline," her tackle, apparel, furniture and ballast for reasons and causes in said libel mentioned, praying that process in due form of law according to the course of this Court in cases of Admiralty and Maritime Jurisdiction in that behalf be made and issued and that all persons interested in the Brigantine "Lurline," together with her tackle, apparel, furniture and ballast may be cited to answer the premises and all due proceedings being had that the said Brigantine "Lurline," together with her tackle, apparel, furniture and ballast may for the cause mentioned in said Libel be condemned and sold to pay the salvage therein claimed and that the Libellant may have such other and further relief as in law and justice they may be entitled to receive.

Now therefore you are hereby commanded to attach the said Brigantine "Lurline" together with her tackle, apparel, furniture and ballast and retain the same in your custody until the further order of this Court respecting the same, and to give due notice to all persons claiming the same or having any interest therein or knowing or having anything to say why the same should not be condemned and sold according to the prayer of said Libel, that they be and appear before the said Court on the 13th day of January, 1897, at 10 o'clock a. m. then and there to show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

And of what you shall have done in the premises do you then and there make due return together with this Writ.

Witness the Honorable A. Perry, Second Judge of the First Circuit at Honolulu this 7th day of January, 1897.

(Signed) GEORGE LUCAS,
Clerk of the Circuit Court of the First Circuit.

I allow this Writ this 7th day of January, 1897.

(Signed) A. PERRY,
Second Judge Circuit Court, First Judicial Circuit.

NOTICE.

All parties interested in the above proceedings are notified to be present at the time and place above stated to show cause why the prayer of the above stated libel should not be granted and why the said Brigantine "Lurline" should not be condemned and forfeited according to the statute in such case made and provided.

ANNIVERSARY SERMON

One year ago yesterday the Methodists opened their church for worship. It will hereafter be an anniversary occasion. The subject of the pastor's sermon was "God's Love for the Children." Five persons were received into full membership and sixteen others were admitted upon probation.

The fifth of the series of illustrated Bible talks was given in the same church last night. The "Talk" was on the Bible story from the time of Naomi and Ruth down through the lives of Samuel, David, Solomon, Elijah, Elisha and the Kings. A large audience was present and gave close attention.

At the Christian church the pastor's subject was, at the morning service, "Christ: The Manifestation of Divine Benevolence." He said, nature reveals a God of wisdom and of power. The Old Testament reveals the justice of God; but neither of these reveals the mercy of God. It remained for Christ to reveal God's mercy.

All mythological notions, as well as all pagan ideas of the Deity, represent Him hurling the thunderbolts of his wrath upon humanity. Catholicism as well as Mohammedanism teaches that the wrath of God can be averted and his favor purchased by penance, physical suffering or by money. If man sins against God he can not only pay off the debt by penance and by money, but he can purchase a surplus of grace upon which he can draw at pleasure either in this life or the next.

Christ reveals a God who freely forgives the debt, as an act of mercy. Man cannot pay off, or suffer out the penalty of his sins, but may appropriate salvation by faith and obedience.

Any theory of conversion that contemplates the reconciliation of God to man is alike unnatural and unsatisfactory. No time need be spent by the minister or the church in beseeching a throne of grace to secure its favor in behalf of the sinner. But all effort should be directed to the sinner to reconcile him to God. God is reconciled to the sinner and in mercy waits for him to surrender. All who will accept and appropriate salvation may have it.

In the evening Dr. Emily B. Ryder gave one of her interesting talks. She spoke on "The Fire Worshippers and Mohammedanism in India." Rev. D. P. Birnie preached before two large congregations yesterday from the pulpit of the Central Union church. The choir music was excellent.

TAX APPEAL CASE.

The Inter Island Steamship Company tax case occupied the attention of the Supreme Court this morning. The case was appealed by the steamship company from the assessment on its property for the year 1896. Kinney & Ballou represented the Inter Island Company and Thurston & Stanley, the Government.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." For sale by all druggists and dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale agents for H. I.

Merit Talks

"Merit talks" the intrinsic value of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Merit in medicine means the power to cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses actual and unequalled curative power and therefore it has true merit. When you buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, and take it according to directions, to purify your blood, or cure any of the many blood diseases, you are morally certain to receive benefit. The power to cure is there. You are not trying an experiment. It will make your blood pure, rich and nourishing, and thus drive out the germs of disease, strengthen the nerves and build up the whole system.

Severe Case of Dyspepsia
"I suffered from dyspepsia 20 years. I had a feeling as though there was a lump in my stomach. I did not dare to eat meat or warm bread, very few vegetables, for fear of the great distress food caused me. I experienced relief right after commencing to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. My appetite increased, I gained in general health and strength. I can eat almost anything now without discomfort. Although I had been an invalid for twenty years, I can truthfully say that I am better than for a long time. I never weighed so much in my life." Mrs. EMILY F. BUMP, 45 Portland Street, Middleboro, Mass.

REMINGTONS FOR 1897.

The new '97 models show an improvement throughout in detail. 1 1/2 inch tubing having proved eminently satisfactory, its use is continued. Among the principal features are "flush joints"—with 5-inch mitered reinforcement on the inside. The fork seat bands are reinforced 3 inches from the crown, the style of crown being the same. The neck tube is reinforced both top and bottom. Laminating rims of the best quality made by the Boston Wood Rim Company are used. The principle employed in the crank handle is a striking feature of the wheel. By removing the left crank and loosening a set screw on the underside of the crank handle the entire bearing is removed intact. The most radical improvement lies in the sprockets, which are cycloidal, and have flanges to carry the chain, of the American-Perry-Humber pattern. A 7 or 8-tooth detachable rear sprocket is furnished. A liberal choice of handle bars and saddles will be given as options.

Hawaiian Electric Company.

The cleanest, brightest safest and really, in the long run, the cheapest and best light for use in the family residence, is the incandescent electric light. Safe; nothing could be safer. A few days ago a prominent gentleman of Honolulu came rushing down to the office of the Electric Company and said: "Give me figures for wiring my house, and I want it done at once; no more lamps for me. Last night a lamp tipped over and it came so near setting fire to the house and burning my children and I take no more risks." This is the sentiment of quite a number in the past few weeks, who have ordered their houses fitted with the perfect light. Just think it over and make up your mind that you want the best and safest light; send for the Hawaiian Electric Company and tell them what you want. We have a complete stock of everything in this line and have just received a lot of the very latest designs in chandeliers.

Read what Ayer's Sarsaparilla did for the Rev. Z. P. Wilds, a well-known city missionary in New York and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds: "I was for many years a sufferer from boils and other eruptions of a like nature, caused by the impoverished state of my blood. My appetite was poor and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by observation of the good it had done to others, I began taking it. My Appetite Improved almost from the first dose; then my general health improved, and now it is excellent. I feel a hundred per cent. stronger, and I attribute this result to Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised."

OPIUM IN MEAT BLOCK KAAPA WAS TOO CLEVER FOR A WILY CHINESE.

One Way of Hiding Opium—A Chinese Dive Raided by the Police—Two Men Arrested. Everybody who knows Detective David Kaapa is well aware that he is a natural born sleuth but that he possessed the faculty of looking clear through a man, is a trait which greatly surprised even his most intimate associates. It was in this way. For several days reports kept coming in at the police headquarters of the "prevalence of opium" in a Chinese dive on Maunakea street. Each time the rumor had been carefully investigated by Kaapa's men. It was not until Saturday night that Kaapa decided to include the reported dive in his usual night raid on evil doers in Chinatown.

The place was invaded during the earlier part of the evening. The moment that the cunning eyes of the Celestials caught sight of Kaapa there was consternation among them. Kaapa remained motionless in the center of the room with his eyes riveted upon a Chinaman who had the air of proprietor. The scrutinizing look of the detective worried him. He began to get fidgety and nervous and at last picked up a heavy block of wood and flung it out of the window. Kaapa went after it. Upon investigation he discovered that there was a false door on one side and that the inside was filled with opium. The block was used as a meat cutter. Two of the Chinamen were taken into custody. At the police station they gave their names as Ah Fat and Huhul. They were booked for having opium in possession.

BETSY'S FREAK.

"Yes, miffis, I gwine tell you now. Der was a big pine knot fire fallyin' roarin' in de chimney, an' a Granny Betsy had all her chilluns in dar, an' she had hol' ob Lige an' Prissy an' was souse 'em in a big tub ob water, an' a scrubbin' 'em same's if dey be a greasy floor. Jake an' Bill, dey was done scrubbed an' had on da'ir clean clothes, an' was stannin' by lookin' on as solars' 'n' if massa done kitched 'em t'ill dat cold agin, an' Lucy an' Marriah dey done all dress up in da'ir finery, wid a red ribbon bow at da'ir fronts an' da'ir Sunday head hankechers on. Dey nebber look nor take no notice ob me, so I jus' walk rite in an' say, 'For de Lawd sake, Granny Betsy, what is you doin' sidd ob gittin' breakus for de white fokes?' When I say dat, Granny Betsy, she riz herself rite straight up an' say: 'I done cook my las' breakus for white fokes. De Lawd tole me to get ready, me an' my chilluns, an' be gwine sen a gold carriage by sun up, 'n' take me up to hebbin, whar we'll git a good breakus done cook for us. He say de gates ob hebbin gwine to op'n wide for de gold carriage to ride us straight froo, an' de snow white garmen's is all made an' a-waitin' for us to put 'em on, an' walk 'bout de golden streets wid nuffin to do but sing, jus' like quality fokes.' 'Den she grab up Lige an' 'gin to scrub him agin, an' got outen dar quick 'nuff, for seem like Granny Betsy done gone crazy or de debil's in her shore. Den I come to wake you up, miffis, an' say, 'You did quite right, Tom. Tell your master to send Yellow Jane down to take Betsy's place.'"

This old negress' religious ideas were in a fearful jumble. She had doubtless heard the Bible read, and the portions that made most impression on her mind took such hold of her vivid imagination that the incidents became a part of her life and experience. From the history of Joseph she became an interpreter of dreams and was considered an oracle among the other negroes. She had also heard of the conversion by Paul, and Elisha's translation gives the clew to the freak which is the subject of my narration.

After a little while I went into mother's room. She had begun to dress herself hastily as soon as Tom had gotten far enough in his story for her to understand the state of things in the kitchen and was now ready to go with Libbie, the house servant, and superintend the cooking of breakfast. My curiosity prompted me to follow her into the kitchen.

When we entered the door, we found Betsy and her family in the parlor and the room. The youngest child was on her lap, and the others were seated around on chairs and boxes. "Well, Betsy," said my mother pleasantly, "I thought your carriage would have come before this."

The negro raised her head defiantly when mother began to speak and turned her face half away from her, but the tone and words were so different from what she expected that the rigid expression of her countenance softened as she replied, "De Lawd 'n' take his own time, miffis."

Another said nothing more, but ordered Libbie to prepare the dinner and then it oved quietly around showing her what to do and apparently taking no further notice of Betsy and her family.

I took a stand in one corner of the broad fireplace and furtively watched the group at the other end of the room. The older girls seemed to be in perfect sympathy with their mother, but the younger children, who had been kept in subordination by the novelty of their mother's actions, were now fast becoming restive. The youngest soon yielded to the soporific effects of his warm bath, but I could hear Libbie and Jack begging to be released, to which their mother would reply: "Not still, won't ye? The carriage must come; den whar wud yo be?"

When my mother had the breakfast cooked, she very considerably left enough hominy, potatoes and gravy for the hungry children, and from the rush of footsteps toward the fireplace after we left the kitchen we concluded that either the mutiny was beyond control or Granny Betsy was not so far removed from sublimity things as to refuse a savory ready cooked breakfast, even if it must be eaten outside the gates of heaven.

Such was her faith that she remained waiting at her post all day, but the children got beyond her control. The girls began to show signs of doubt when dinner was just and their mother's hopes not realized. They became sulky and at last ventured to leave their seats and go about their usual duties. By this time the smaller ones had lost all trace of their morning's ablutions, and with faces begrimed with dirt and grease and their clothes soiled were in a sad plight to begin a journey heavenward.

My mother bore with Betsy's whim with the greatest patience. Yellow Jane came and prepared dinner and did all the work just before the sun went down my brother put his head inside the kitchen door and called out, "Say, Granny Betsy, how about that 'golden carriage' now?" Betsy, who never lacked an answer on ordinary occasion, was not forsaken this time by her ready wit. "De Lawd has been tryin my faith, marse Jorge," she replied; "he's jus' done it to see if I 'ze trus' in him."

She sat patiently waiting till the sun was quite down, and then, as I was standing near a window through which I had a view of her, I saw her rise hastily, pull off her best clothes, and quickly put on her work dress and begin to hustle around. I heard her say to Yellow Jane, who had commenced preparations for supper: "You git outen dis kitchen, nigger. Da'ir no body but Betsy kin make coffee an' biskits 'fitten for marster's supper. You kin cook for niggers and pore white fokes, but I dus de cookin' in dis kitchen for shore." And then I knew Betsy's dream was over. —New Orleans Times.

Where Don Quixote Was Knighted.

The ruins were of an important Venta, such a caravansary as was found every few leagues when all traveling and traffic between Madrid and Seville passed on this royal highway. Should the ingenious surmises of the learned, who have laboriously erected their ponderous commentaries around Cervantes' romance be true, this Venta had the rare good fortune of being visited by Don Quixote in the beginning of his wanderings. He kept his night vigil at arms in its courtyard, and on the morning following was by the rowdy, canny innkeeper made a knight. To me let it be only what it surely is, and that is enough—one of the rare pages of the days of old, the mute witness of the comedies and tragedies, of the pleasures and troubles, of some of our precursors in the human procession. —August F. Jacquet in Scribner's.

The Doleful Bachelor.

"Why," asked the sweet young thing—"why do they say that love is of the heart?" "To show," said the doleful bachelor—"to show that the brains have nothing to do with it." —Indianapolis Journal.

A QUICK RUN.

When I was a youth of 19 and lived with my parents in a Pennsylvania town, I had a taste for railroading and a boyish ambition to become an engineer, although I had been educated for loftier pursuits.

During my college vacation I lunched about the station almost constantly, making friends with the trainmen and especially with an engineer named Silas Markley. I became much attached to this man, notwithstanding he was 40 years old and by no means a sociable fellow.

When Markley's fireman left him, I induced him to let me take his place during the remnant of my vacation. So I became an amateur fireman and liked it exceedingly, for the excitement more than compensated for the rough work I was required to do. But there came a time when I got my fill of excitement.

Mrs. Markley one day formed a plan which seemed to give her a good deal of happiness. It was her son's birthday, and she wanted to go down to Philadelphia in his train without letting him know anything about it and there purchase a present for him. She took me into her confidence and had me to assist her.

It was a midsummer day, and the weather was delightful. The train was neither an express nor an accommodation, but stopped at the principal stations on the route. On this occasion, as there were two specials on the line, it was run by telegraph.

We started without mishap and easily reached the first station in the time allotted to us. As we stopped there the boy ran alongside with the telegram, which he handed to the driver. The next moment I heard a smothered exclamation from Markley.

"Go back," he said to the boy, "and tell Williams to have the message repeated. There's a mistake."

The boy dashed off. In ten minutes he came flying back. "Had it repeated," he panted. "Williams is storming at you. Says there is no mistake—and you'd best get on." He thrust the second message up as he spoke.

Markley read it and stood hesitating for half a minute. There were dismay and utter perplexity in the expression of his face as he looked at the telegram and then at the long train behind him. I was watching him with considerable curiosity. I ventured to ask him what was the matter and what he was going to do.

"I'm going to obey," he replied curtly. The engine gave a long shriek of horror that made me start, as if it were Markley's own voice. The next instant we moved out of the station and dashed through low lying farms at a speed which seemed dangerous to me.

"Put in more coal," said Markley. I shoveled it in, but took time.

"More coal," he said. I threw it in. The fields and houses began to fly past half seen. We were hearing Dufrene, the next station. Markley's eye went from the gauge to the face of the timepiece and back.

"More!" he said without turning his eye. I took up the shovel—hesitated.

"Markley, do you know we are going at the rate of 60 miles an hour?"

"Coal!"

I was alarmed at the stern, cold rigidity of the man. At least we must stop at Dufrene. He told me that was the next halt. The little town approached. As the first houses came into view the engine sent its shriek of warning; it grew louder, louder.

We dashed up to the station, where a group of passengers waited, and passed it without the halt of an instant, catching a glimpse of the appalled faces of the waiting crowd. Then we were in the fields again.

I heaped in the coal at intervals, as he bade me. I did it because I was oppressed by an odd sense of duty, which I never had in my ordinary train work.

He did not move hand or foot, except in the mechanical control of his engine, his eye going from the gauge to the timepiece with a steadiness that was more terrible and threatening than any gleam of insanity would have been.

"Twenty miles," he muttered. "Throw on more coal, Jack. The fire is going out."

I did it. Yes, I did it. There was something in the face of that man that I could not resist. I climbed forward and shook him by the shoulder.

"Markley!" I shouted. "You are running this train into the jaws of death!"

"I know it," he replied quietly.

"Your mother is aboard the train."

He staggered to his feet. But even then he did not remove his eyes from the gauge. "Make up the fire!" he commanded and pushed in the throttle valve.

"I will not."

"I could throw you off this engine and make short work of you," he said. "But, look here. Do you see the station yonder? I was told to reach that station by 6 o'clock. The express train meeting us is due. I ought to have laid by for it at Dufrene. I was told to come on. The track is a single one."

I said nothing. I threw on coal. If I had had petroleum I should have thrown it on. But I never was calmer in my life. Markley pushed the valve still farther. The engine began to give a strange panting sound. Far off to the south I could see the bituminous black smoke of a train.

I looked at Markley inquiringly. He nodded. It was the express!

I looked across the clear summer sky at the gray smoke of the peaceful little village and beyond that a black line, coming closer, closer, across the sky.

In one minute more—well, I confess I sat down and buried my face in my hands. I don't think I tried to pray.

There was a terrific shriek from the engine, against which I leaped, and another in my face. A hot, hissing tempest swept past me.

I looked up. We were on the siding, and the express had gone by. It grazed our end carriage in passing.

Yes, gentlemen, I have been in many a railway accident, but I have always considered that the closest call I ever had.

What was the blunder?

I don't know. Markley made light of it and kept it a secret, but no man in the line stood so high in the confidence of the company after that as he. By his coolness and nerve he had saved 100 lives.—London News.

The Larder.

The importance of the larder in every household is not always analyzed as it should be, and consequently the health of the whole household suffers. In a well arranged house the larder should be thoroughly ventilated, dry and airy, and, where possible, should be on the north side of the house.

A Safe Rule.
