Rehabilitation is directly proportional to the number of visits and attention given the natives by Military Government. The impetus given this phase by recent surface transportation assignment to this area should produce desired results within the next few months.

The Marshallese, as a rule, are relatively well off financially. A more varied stock of cloth and sewing material, nails, paint, and similar items should be placed in trade stores by USCC as soon as available. This is not only an important morale factor but an essential incentive towards the promotion of copra and handicraft production.
