BIGS AT NINETY CENTS

Last Friday we published a letter from a man engaged in the business of raising poultry. His complaints are to the effect that it was necessary for him to sell his eggs at 90 cents a dozen. His reasons seemed to be perfectly plausible. At the time of writing this column the fact that on the same day the Territorial Marketing Division, at Honolulu, was quoting the very best, fresh eggs at 74 cents a dozen, or 97 cents a dozen less (see market report of last Friday on another page of this paper) and fresh eggs, although in some cases, when 74 cents a dozen, or 20 cents a dozen less. It is plain that Maui people could ship eggs by parcel post from their homes for something like ten cents a dozen less than they could transport them to the Hilo market. It goes without saying that something is wrong somewhere. Either the producers of Oahu, Hawaii and Kauai, who are transporting their eggs to Honolulu, permit them to be sold for 20 to 23 cents a dozen do not know what they are doing, and are losing money, or the Maui producers are away off in their calculations as to expectation. It is one of those things we do not care to argue. We feel that it is sufficient to bring the cause of our so-called "small farmers" for that.

At the same time, those are the facts, and it seems to us that somebody should get out pencil and paper and figure again.

PLEASE TRY AGAIN

We were considerably disappointed in the "questionaire" sent out by the department of education to the teachers of the Territory. It was halting as something which would bring out, in a more positive way, the facts of our troubled situation, that we cannot, after what we have said, be any longer silent.

"The department expects all its teachers to express themselves positively in teaching Americanism. Will you do this?"

It is the most prominent Hans in the country who could answer "Yes" to this question, and go right on making anything he or she pleased, with the assurance that his or her feelings were the same as that of the department.

We expected something solid in this school pledge proposition, and, in place of it, have been treated to a dose of cliabber. Let the department revert to education try again.

An illustration of how a man's work may, in after years, be called into service in places never thought of by himself and utilized in ways far better than he planned or thought of. 'Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings' we have heads upon them, and "the innocent and feeble" are having us put to shame.

The outriders on the edge of this campaign, the impatient researchers, will say, "This is wrong, something must be done." But the minds of the people are being stirred up, that is the main thing. It is as well to read what is written by those who oppose Americanism, as well as those who are for it.

The question is, what is to be done? To call a convention of the islands, and have a debate on the subject? A convention of delegates on the subject of Americanism will not save the islands. To bring in some new force to appeal to the people? Something is needed. A conference of the islands, with their governors, will not suffice. Will the Territorial administration, after the trouble it has had with the war and all the other things, be able to take in such matters?

The responsibilities of government are enormous, to say the least. The necessities of the country are tremendous. The duties which are to be performed, are many, and many are the responsibilities of the Territorial government. We are quite a change in that quarter of a century, eh?

The complaint is made that in meeting the requirements of food conservation rules on some people on Maui are trying to see just how close they can sail to the danger line without doing anything notable wrong, in place of tying their belt too tight at a safe distance and help the good work along. This is unfortunate. The present is not the time for running upon ouside liberties. It is not the time for quibbling over details. It is not the time for experimenting upon just how much of the responsibility of successful conservation we can escape. Confidence in methods we cannot escape. We have the two together. We have the work of the Territorial Fair carried out to the best advantage possible, and we want to see the same in every place and in every way. We want the work to be carried out as we have seen it at the Territorial Fair, with the same spirit.

We cannot yet see how the cooperation known as Hakkell & Company is to be Americanized if the much-talked-of controlling interest is held by the American directors for the period of the war only.

As we understand it, the ownership of the business is still German, and when the war is over and the American directors are kicked out of the arm-of-arms of Germany, over the front door, will be unconnected again. It is true that the "whiteness" has been Planter on thick, better, but somehow the outline of Kaiserism can be seen through it. There has been no improvement, yes, even if only temporary, but we hesitate to throw any fits of contusion over it until we feel better assured that it is not a sure for business reasons any.

R. A. Wadsworth yesterday retired from the office of president of the Maui Chamber of Commerce after two years of the most efficient service. During his terms of office the local Chamber has grown a great deal, has accomplished much for the good of the island and Territory and has earned a home of its own. Both the foundation and body of the organization are more solid, and the new officers coming in will have much less to contend with than had their predecessors, as the result of the good work of Mr. Wadsworth and his official associates.

Harold W. Rice, the new president, will likely bring to the Chamber a wealth of enthusiasm and aggressiveness which will keep things "humping." Firmly established, as it is, the Chamber, under such inspiration, can move only forward, so that its future looks all of promising.

We quite agree with the decision to hold meetings of the Chamber of Commerce regularly every month. The council, and the council of the directors, and the monthly meetings, and the directors' meetings, and the annual meetings, and the council of directors' meetings, and all of them, will have to be held. It is a good idea to have something more strenuous is required at this extraordinary period.

ENLISTING THE BOYS AND GIRLS IN GARDEN WORK

Good Results Already Obtained Afford Much Encouragement for The Future

TIPONY ADVISES BY A EXPERT

(By P. C. KNAUS)

Proper tillage is the most effective means of growing succulent food in space and time. It helps to dispel many of the difficulties in garden work by economical use of fertilizers and the soil. It can be accomplished by thorough cultivation before and after planting. It is possible to use only a portion of the area in one cultivation and combine with them garden compost, peat, and a variety of organic matter. The main advantage of this method is its fertility, which the chief purpose of gardening is to exploit. It is better to keep the soil in good condition, rather than to use it for grazing, which is the chief purpose of the soil. It is better to keep the soil in good condition, rather than to use it for grazing, which is the chief purpose of the soil. It is better to keep the soil in good condition, rather than to use it for grazing, which is the chief purpose of the soil.

"Of Nothing Growing, Come a Few Things"

There is no need to apologize for the fact that you cannot grow things. The temper of the soil is always the same, regardless of the weather or the season. It is not necessary to have a garden in order to grow things. The chief purpose of gardening is to exploit fertility, which is the chief purpose of the soil. It is better to keep the soil in good condition, rather than to use it for grazing, which is the chief purpose of the soil.

MARCH LESTER

Belle, Minn., January 18th.

Dear Sir,

I have enclosed my plans for the West Garden Contest, which I hope you may find interesting.

We went to the bank last Monday and made a trip around the lake and the point. We then went to the "Saloon" and had some good times.

It seems to me that the best way to make a good job of things is to have a few people who are interested in it. The more people who are interested in it, the better the job will be done.

The weather has been very nice and the ground is well watered. We have been able to make some good progress.

Sincerely yours,

The congress, which has been meeting in the Territory of Hawaii, has adopted a resolution urging the Japanese government to adopt measures to save the lives of its citizens in the war. New Judge Hall Comes to Punish the Daughters of God.

When the new Federal court was opened in New Orleans, but Jackson did not set up his headquarters in the city, under which he placed his judges, or the temple of the peculiar sect called the "Pentecostal." A most remarkable woman, not uncommonly called "a spirit," was received. This gentleman's law he had completed, and was supposed to have been adopted by the judge. The spirit was called "Mary," and she was accordingly set apart for the work of punishing the daughters of God. She arrived at her home, and told the judge Hall not to be afraid of her. The judge Hall set a guard about the house, and said: "Be not afraid of me, for I am not a spirit." The spirit then said: "You are a spirit, and I am a spirit." Legend of the Running Cove of Los Angeles Hot Springs.

The hot springs at Los Angeles, known as "Paseo del Colorado," are a popular resort for the people of the city. The springs are located in a scenic area and are surrounded by beautiful gardens. It is said that the springs possess great medicinal properties. In the olden days, the springs were used by the natives for healing purposes, and the belief that the springs were sacred caused the people to regard them with reverence. The springs are now owned by the city of Los Angeles, and the mayor of the city has been quoted as saying, "The Springs have always been a part of the nobility of the city's traditions, and this is why we have decided to preserve them for the use of the public and to ensure that they continue to be enjoyed by all who visit this beautiful city.

At the Theaters

In one of the most unique and entertaining plays that have been produced in the city of Los Angeles, the "Grand Opera House" has presented "The Chief." Frances J. Wadsworth is the leading lady in the production, and she is accompanied by a cast of accomplished actors. The play is set in the wild and woolly world of the American West, and it is filled with humor, excitement, and adventure. The audience was thoroughly entertained by the show, and many praised the acting and costumes. The play continues to run at the "Grand Opera House" and is not to be missed.

In Pursuit of a Million

"The Chief" has been a remarkable success, and it is not surprising that the audience was filled with excitement and anticipation. The play is set in the American Old West, and it follows the story of a young man who sets out to become a millionaire. The play is filled with adventure, suspense, and humor, and it is sure to delight audiences of all ages. The "Chief" continues to run at the "Grand Opera House" and is not to be missed.
