The Marshallese of the Kwajalein District are taking slowly to the democratic ideas of political affairs. They manifest an interest in local affairs. As has been previously mentioned the trends toward aristocracy remain and officials are often chosen from the hereditary leaders.