Ulster Members Stage Walkout House Commons

Cloture Rule on Irish Free State Bill Cuts Off Amendments; Southern Parliament Dissolved.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

LONDON, March 7.—All members from Ulster walked out of the house of commons yesterday when a cloture rule was adopted on the operative provisions of the Irish Free State Bill which declare that the treaty shall have the force of law.

After the walkout, the commons adopted the operative provisions of the bill and, by a vote of 217 to 26, adopted the amendment dissolving the southern parliament and providing for elections within four months after the passage of the Free State Bill and the committee stage was concluded amid cheers.

The cloture rule eliminated consideration of 14 proposed amendments and was vehemently resisted by Capt. Charles Craig of Ulster who declared that the government had refused to alter a line of the bill at the request of Ulster but when Dublin people passed a resolution in favor of changes the government immediately acquiesced.

Dispatches from Belfast say that border troubles are expected to result from the sentencing of Republicans by the County Down assizes. James Monaghan, commandant of the republican army was sentenced to a prison term of seven years and his two brothers to terms of one year and six months respectively.

Bloodshed Continues

This morning's dispatches from Belfast said gunmen were busy in the Sinn Fein district despite efforts of police and military patrols. One was killed and one injured in the firing which continued throughout the night.

The military surrounded the district and swept it with machine gun fire. In Limerick the situation was reported as quiet but tense. The city is occupied by three distinct factions: British troops which have not yet evacuated, Free State troops and the republican army.

Several detachments of Free State troops are reported to have left Dublin in dispatches from there, destination being unannounced but believed to be Limerick.

After 33 Years on Maui E. B. Carley Is Away To Honolulu

E. B. Carley, for 33 years a resident of this island and during much of that time one of its best known residents is about to leave Maui for Honolulu. Mrs. Carley and their daughter Florence went over to the capital city on Saturday night while Mr. Carley remains to dispose of their household belongings which are to be sold at auction on March 18.

It was E. B. Carley who installed the first telephone central on Maui and as superintendent in those early days he did much to popularize the Maui Telephone Company. At election times he would invite the public in to receive the returns as was told in the columns of this paper and retold in "Twenty Years Ago" only a few months since.

In their long stay in the Valley Isle the Carleys made many friends who sincerely regret their departure and wish them all possible good fortune.

"There are many reasons why I hate to leave Maui," remarked Mr. Carley last Saturday. "After being in one place so long, one becomes sort of rooted to it and the tearing up and cutting off of the roots is painful. We shall miss Maui and our Maui friends greatly."

According to the arrangements announced the Saturday afternoon bridge party will begin at 2 o'clock. Murphy Moves To Have Substitute Named In Absence of Sheriff

Upon the application of Eugene Murphy an order was issued from the circuit court by Judge Burr Friday afternoon directing Sheriff Clem Crowell to show cause why an elisor should not be appointed to conduct the business of his office.

Murphy in his application for the order alleged that Sheriff Crowell has left the county and gone to Kaual to campaign for Baldwin for delegate assents such absence is illegal and leaves the office with no one to conduct it and perform the sheriff's duties. He asserted that the interests of a client of his was injured as there was no one to carry out the proceedings in an attachment asked in such case. Judge Burr made the order returnable Saturday morning.

In Court Saturday morning County Attorney Bevis filed a reply to Murphy's application for Sheriff Crowell by George Cummings, deputy sheriff of Wailuku and ex-officio deputy sheriff of Maui. The reply says that the duties of the office are being properly conducted by the ex-officio deputy sheriff and other deputies in Crowell's absence and in the specific instance complained of by Murphy the papers were properly signed by him and sent to the Makawao deputy for service. He alleges that Crowell is absent either with the permission of the Chairman of the board of supervisors or on vacation permitted him by the territorial laws and is not absent illegally or without authority.

When the case was called up in court Saturday morning Murphy asked for a postponement for a week, which the court granted over the objection of the county attorney, the court saying that the complaint came from Murphy, if any one was being injured it was the client of Murphy and if the applicant for the order was willing under those circumstances to postpone the hearing he could see no reason why the request should not be granted.

Murphy's reasons for asking postponement were that the reply was served as he was coming into court and he had not had time to read it.

Soldiers' Bonus Is Meeting More Snags

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Republican members of the ways and means committee have encountered some unexpected difficulties which will delay presentation of the proposed soldiers' bonus measure for several days.

It is understood that an unsuccessful effort was made to confine the bonus largely to adjusted service certificate options and that other difficulties met are not serious. The Republican members will resume consideration of the measure and hope to complete it some time today after which it will be submitted to the Democrats.

The senate yesterday by a vote of 63 to 14 adopted the change in rules which centralizes appropriation powers in the appropriations committee thus completing congressional coordination with the budget system. The house acted similarly at the last session.

Later today it was announced that an agreement has been reached by a compromise. Fordney announced that the measure will be formally presented to the House on Saturday. The measure carries four portions, a provision for a bank loan, on adjusted service certificates, vocational training, home and farm aid and land settlement with an added provision for an immediate cash payment to former service men entitled to not more than $50 on adjusted service.

Hawaii Reports Baldwin Strong

Candidate Returns Home Friday but Sam Kalama and Others Continue Until This Evening

On the Big Island Senator Baldwin ended his personal speaking campaign Friday night but the campaign is being conducted by Sam Kalama and other leaders in his absence and Kalama will end his visit tonight. Senator Baldwin had expected to return to Hawaii on the Kilauea this morning but was unable to do so.

Senator Baldwin returned home because of the illness of Mrs. Baldwin who suffered an attack of throat trouble and was ordered back to Maui by her physician. He then expected to return to Hawaii today but on reaching home he found business would prevent.

It has been a busy ten days campaign on Hawaii and one which is highly encouraging to the Republicans for the tide is reported as flooding to the Maui man from all directions. Senator Baldwin participated in the campaign for five days.

Opens on Arrival

On Sunday the speaking campaign was opened with an early start at Pahoia, Kalapana, Ophihikao and Kapoho. John Wise, Norman Lyman and others as well as Baldwin spoke, and the Republican candidate is reported to have made a splendid impression on his hearers. At Pahoia he said in part: "While I did not personally lead the fight for this position," said Senator Baldwin, "now that I have been selected as the candidate of the Republican party I welcome the opportunity. It was represented to me by the delegates to the Republican Convention that my services were required for the benefit of all, but particularly for the Hawaiians. I am running as delegate to Congress for the unexpired term of the late Prince Kuhio Kalaniana'ole, and my platform will be in every respect, identical with that of the late Prince. It will be my endeavor to complete the unfinished work of the late Prince."

Many Meetings Held

Monday night there was a big and enthusiastic meeting at Olaa with speeches by Baldwin, Sam Kalama, Wise, Lyman, County Attorney Beers, County Treasurer Swain, Charles Makekai, Mrs. Saffery, Henry Lyman and Joachim Z. Jeremiah, formerly of Maui, now a Wailuku homesteader. After the meeting the party which included Rev. Stephen Desha and Supervisor Julian Yates proceeded to the Volcano House for the night. Accompanied by Desha and Yates the party proceeded to Pahaia for an afternoon meeting and to Waiohinu for an evening meeting, Tuesday and Wednesday saw them at Hoopuloa, Kukulopae and Kealia. Thursday took them to Keel, Napoopoo and Kaimali. On Friday after the departure of Baldwin the other continued and there were three meetings, also, at Keaehou, Kailua and Kaloa. Saturday the speaking was at Makapala and Kaupao and Sunday the party visited Wailuku, Kukulopae and Honokaa. Yesterday the meetings were at Laupahoehoe and Hakalua Theater and this afternoon and tonight, respectively, the meetings will be at Honomu Theater and Papaikou armory.

Glowing Reports Made

Reports from every district the party has visited coming to the Hilo papers show an enthusiastic greeting for the candidate and Hawaii party leaders are growing more and more confident of a sweeping victory on the Big Island. Other advices show that Sam Kalama and Charles Makekai are doing splendid work among the Hawaiians ably assisted by the Hawaiians of the Big Island and a splendid demonstration of harmony is being made.

Mrs. Herrscher Calls Mayor Wilson's Hand At Honolulu Meeting

Recently, in Honolulu, as has been mentioned in editorial comment in this paper, Mayor John H. Wilson spoke at a meeting held under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's Club, advocating the election of McCandless and saying that on sugar and pineapple incomes and representative than those of Baldwin who had "all his eggs in one basket," was interested only in sugar and pineapple industries. Mrs. Joseph Herrscher of Hana, according to information coming to Maui News, challenged Mayor Wilson and inquired if Hawaii had many important manufacturing enterprises. When Wilson replied "No," Mrs. Herrscher continued:

"Then, doesn't Hawaii depend on its sugar and pineapple; and furthermore isn't it a fact that many widows orphans and children are dependent on sugar and pineapple incomes and dividends as to their investments? If we fail to elect Harry Baldwin as our representative to congress, what chance would or could we have under a Republican President, senate and congress for a relief in this present state of affairs confronting us?"

"Both my husband and myself know what our people need, and especially my husband who has held many political positions, is out for the election of Mr. Baldwin. We are heavily interested here and have the success of the Hawaiian people at heart, and we ask of you ladies not alone to cast your vote for Mr. Baldwin, but induce your friends and neighbors to save us from a defeat, which would mean a disgrace to our people."

"My stay in Honolulu will be brief, but I feel assured that Mr. Baldwin will carry the day."

Trip To Haleakala Described By Hunter

"Goat hunting is lots of fun." So said L. L. "Buzz" Roberts, manager of the Maui Drug Company, when relating the experiences of himself and party occasioned by their trip to the Ulupalakua ranch over the last week end.

The party consisting of A. Doran, J. Harvey Raymond and Roberts left Wailuku Thursday afternoon and went by automobile to the Raymond ranch. They spent the night as the guests of Harvey Raymond and early the following morning started on horseback for Kahikini a distance of about 15 miles from the ranch house. They reached there at noon and spent the remainder of the day in hunting. Concerning the marksmanship of the party the bag of the afternoon, four goats and two wild turkeys, is "nuff sed." A Friday night was spent in an old, deserted house at Kahikini and Saturday morning a trip to the crater was begun. Hunting consumed the entire day and before night fell upon the party three more goats had fallen before their fire.

Roberts told of a laughable incident that happened on Saturday and furnished the amusement during the trip. He said "We were working our way up a slope when suddenly we came upon a band of goats. Raymond picked one as his particular quarry and I designated one for Doran to shoot at and I picked another. When we fired, Doran and I found that we both were shooting at the same goat but our shots apparently had no effect upon it. The goat turned and looked at us and we shot again. Again we missed. Then the goat started slowly away walking towards a cliff. Doran shot at it again, the bullet entering the goat's hind quarter and with a leap the goat jumped clear of the cliff and down into the chasm below. Doran was a good shot but could not get the goat."

McCandless Comes and Proceeds On To Hana

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

L. L. McCandless brought his campaign to Maui from the Big Island last night and today it is in transit to Hana. McCandless arrived in Lahaina on the Mauna Kea last night, accompanied by Charles K. Noisy, Robert Ahuna and Jesse I'uhiki. They motored across to Wailuku and spent the remainder of the night at the Wailuku Hotel. Short rations of sleep were in order for they had to rise early to board the Kilauea.

It is expected the party will return to Kahului tomorrow on the return trip of the Kilauea and then meetings in Central Maui will be in order.

New Angle Presented In Taylor Mystery; Letter Confesses

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—Another new angle in the Taylor murder mystery developed when the police department yesterday made public a brief part of a ten page letter purporting to be a confession received from Atlantic City. The letter purports to have been signed by a person prominent in the movie world.

The letter says in part: "We South Americans always take care of our women. I killed the * * *, which is a mild description of the man who, hiding behind a polished manner, won the regard of many women only to cast them aside."

The police department said the letter purports to be from a man who asserts in it that his wife was wronged by Taylor, that a person of the name signed to the letter left Los Angeles about the time of the murder and has previously been considered in connection with the investigation.

Children's Night At Hipp Is Here To Stay

No doubt of the success of "Children's Nights" at the Wailuku Hipp remained before the performance of last Friday evening was half over. At its close certainly had been made more sure. The children liked the program and said so vociferously and the grown ups who were there added an emphatic approval. The evening was half over. At its close certainly had been made more sure. The children liked the program and said so vociferously and the grown ups who were there added an emphatic approval.

It was a different program that was offered. There was a News Weekly, a Burton Holmes Travelogue, comedy and vaudeville stuff. The youngsters said they liked it and the adults liked it because it was something different from the usual run. Success of the first effort means a continuance of the project, so Friday night is Children's Night at the Hipp. Manager Harris promises a good program for the coming Friday and at that time the children whose names were published last week as prize winners will receive the free tickets offered for the best essays.

Threat of Death Followed by Fire; Woman Flees

Blackmailing Letter Received By Occupant of Lahaina-Cottage Which is Later Burned

Attempted blackmail and incendiarism appear to be connected with the fire that destroyed a cottage at Lahaina School last Friday evening. The police and others are investigating but thus far without any resulting arrests. The burned cottage was near the old stone building used as a machine shop and was occupied by Mrs. Hillner, the matron of the school.

Mrs. Hillner, according to the stories the police have developed, was lying down in her room, clad in a kimono, resting after her duties of the day when her attention was attracted by something fluttering through the transom over the door of the room and falling on the floor. At first she paid no attention to it but later rose to see what it was. Opening the paper Mrs. Hillner says she found it was a letter, well written in a flourishing hand writing. As she read it she found a demand for $75 with a threat to kill her if she did not give it to the writer and in any event, whether she paid or not, to kill her if she told of the letter.

Flees From House

In a panic, Mrs. Hillner decided to take refuge in flight. She slipped off her shoes and put on a pair of Japanese sandals so as to move noiselessly and not be heard by any one lurking near the house and decided to slip out the rear door, the other side of the house from which the note came. She did not, however, in her haste, take the note with her. It was then, as she recollects it, about 7:30 o'clock. Carrying out her quickly formed plan she fled to the house of George Putnam, the principal, and reporting to him. The two of them proceeded to the house of Samuel Mookini, one of the teachers, and it was decided to see whether all the scholars were in the dormitories, considering the possibility of a practical joke. At the dormitories all of the scholars were found except the members of the basketball team who had been given permission to go down town.

Fire Discovered

About 8:20 scholars discovered the cottage was on fire. William Makana, another of the teachers, hurried to the building with only garden hose to fight the blaze. He tried to enter the kitchen but found it too hot. It is said the cottage was then blazing fiercely in several parts. Down in Lahaina the blaze was seen but it was thought it was came burning and at first no attention was paid to it and it was after 9 when the mill whistles blew.

Fortunately there was little wind blowing Friday evening and so the flames did not spread to other buildings but they had gained such headway when discovered that it was impossible to save the building. It is regretted that Mrs. Hillner did not take the letter with her as, though it was unsigned, it might have afforded some clue to the writer.

Only Other Theory

The only other theory than incendiarism, the police say, is that there was an oil stove in the building reported to have been burning when Mrs. Hillner went out, but connected with the letter the theory of incendiarism with intent to burn the inmate would seem to carry more weight. Deputy Sheriff Philip Pali of Lahaina was ill with grippe so George Cummings as ex-officio deputy sheriff of Maui went over to Lahaina Saturday. P. H. Ross, representing the insurance company, went over Monday to adjust the loss.

Junior League Opens Its Season With Two Hard Fought Games

With George Cummings on the mound and Bill Bai receiving, Joaquin Garcia, swinging a mighty club and with a determined expression on his face stepped to the plate and drove the first ball pitched far out into the field for a safe two bagger. Thus opened the junior baseball league at Wailuku field Sunday afternoon.

Prior to the first ball being pitched, opening ceremonies took place in the shape of a parade led by a jazz orchestra and wended its way up and down Main and High streets. Each of the six teams took part in the march through Wailuku. Starting at 1:15 the parade lasted until close to 2 p. m. and then marched on down to the field. Immediately following the ceremonies held there the Sports and Asahi's took the field.

Sports Win First

The first game was marked by heavy hitting and frequent scoring by both teams. The Asahi's led off with two runs in their half of the first inning but in the second half of the frame the Sports rang the bell five times.

In the third canto each team secured two more and the Sports added one in the fifth and sixth. The Asahi's rallied in the seventh and three men crossed the rubber, the Sports retreating in the eighth scoring two. With the score at 11-7 against them in the first half of the ninth inning the Asahi's began hitting the ball all over the field and when the third man had been retired had tied the score. Nothing daunted the Lelandites romped in from the field and scored two runs winning the game.

Called in Ninth

Mauli Hi and the Sakura nine played to a 6-6 tie at the end of the ninth inning and the game was called on account of darkness. Owing to the initial ceremonies a late start was made on the first game.

The Sakura's lead off and scored a run in the first canto. From then on until the third inning neither side was again able to force a run across the rubber. In the first half of the third Hi school evened the score.

In the fifth Hi school went on a slugging rampage and Tajiri who had been occupying the mound for the Sakura's was relieved by Toshi but the best efforts of the fresh twirler were knocked around until five men had scored. The last half of the seventh canto however, saw a repetition of the performance and the Sakura batsmen knocked Shimada the Hi school star out of the box. He was replaced by Rego but when the third out was made the score was again tied. Neither team was able to score in the last two innings. Hi school tried desperately to win in the ninth and succeeded in getting two safe hits. Good work by the Sakura infield was responsible for their failure to score.

The Minumus annexed the championship of the Midget league by defeating the Dodgers Friday afternoon at the local gym. A pennant with the team name will be presented them as the championship trophy. The Minumus are a St. Anthony aggregation and have followed in the footsteps of their senior brothers the Alerts, going through their league series without a defeat.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock Teams 1 and 2 of the Public School will meet in the last scheduled game of the league and decide who are to be the permanent occupants of the cellar.

Alerts Leave Tomorrow For Basketball Tourney

The Alumni Alerts, champion basketball quintet of Central and East Maui, under the guiding wing of Leland Lewis will leave for Honolulu on the steamer Kilauea tomorrow evening to compete as Maui's entry in the Inter-Island basketball tournament to begin Saturday.

Brother Stephen the Alerts coach and manager will be unable to accompany the team, he says, and the honor was voted to Lewis at the last meeting of the Central Maui league. Eight men have been picked that are to go with the team and consist of the following named, L. Lucas, James Akina, Shige Hangai, A. T. Kam, T. Silva, Louis Sequeria, J. Ah Chong and John Kahohanoano.

Each of these players has taken an important part in leading the Alerts through the league season without a defeat and are felt to be worthy of the chance given them. No thoughts of sweeping victory are entertained by the team nor its supporters here but that they will do their utmost to uphold the traditions of Maui is assured.

Aloha, Alerts. All Maui is squarely behind you.

Spring Football on Mainland Starting

CORVALLIS, Ore., Feb. 23—(Associated Press)—Spring football practice of the Oregon Agricultural College here will start the first week in March. Nine of last year's letter men will be back in college next fall to develop much material from last year's freshmen.

All of the fundamentals of football will be taken up, with regular scrimmaging in uniform. Two or three teams will be made up to compete against each other, said Coach Dick Rutherford. A team that will be in good condition next fall is the aim of the coach. Tryouts for positions will be held and special training will be given those who will try for the line.

Captain-elect Loece has reported and is eagerly waiting the time for spring training. Last year's freshman eleven is expected out, and also a few new men who have entered college since the last football season. Competition for passing, kicking and tackling will take part of the time during the training period.

A survey of all likely candidates' scholastic standing is being made, as is the desire of the coaching department to have all athletes' averages above those of other students. Several football men who have declared their intention of turning out for spring football are training now in the wrestling classes.

Powell, Kasberger, Hughie McKenna, Hayden, Stewart, Crowell, Christianson, Summers and Daigh are the veteran men who will not be in the races next fall. Speed will be one of the most important factors worked for, said Coach Rutherford. The Aggies have only three open dates from the time they open the season in October until their last game, December 9. Besides the conference schedule a post-season game with some mid-western eleven is tentative.

Rivalry Close for Oregon Eleven Head

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 22—(Associated Press)—University of Oregon is the only member of the Pacific Coast Conference which has not elected a football captain for 1922 and Coach "Shy" Huntington makes no mention of calling the squad together for an election.

Campus discussion of the situation recalls the football days of 1916 when Huntington, then a player on the team, was competing with another member of the squad for the position of captain. Rivalry was so keen that Hugo Bezdek, Oregon's famous coach of the early days, was afraid an election might split the team, so he refused to permit any choice, saying that he thought football captains were superfluous and generally useless.

Perhaps Huntington remembers those days now, for there is close rivalry between two players, "Tiny" Shields and George King, for the post of 1922 leader.

Fridays Results.—Wacs 20; HI School 12. L. D. S. 26; Sports 5.

Wacs Victorious

Predictions of the wise were dragged in the mire on Friday night when the Wacs walloped the HI School in the first game of the evening. The score was 20-12.

A battle royal, it was. Marked by football tactics it proved of great interest to the scattering crowd of fans that turned out to witness the contest. The walls of the gym served as bumpers to slacken the impetuosity of the modern "Comanches". Nose dives along the floor, somersaults, neck and leg tackling and in one or two instances pyramids of human flesh resulted from mad efforts to secure a goal. Several players left the floor at the end of the game with bruised or bleeding noses, cut above the eyes, or limping from injuries received by being thrown against the walls or upon the floor.

No one team nor any one player were the offenders but practically every man on the floor and the referee and umpire were powerless to prevent the melee.

Nip And Tuck Start

HI School lead off with the first score. Rego getting a long pass which he easily converted to a field goal. The Wacs came back with a rush that threatened to take the HI lads off their feet and scored four points. Rego converted a free throw and a moment later ringed the casaba from the field again placing HI in the lead. That ended the HI scoring for the quarter, but not so the Wacs. Medeiros scored on a throw of easily 25 feet and shortly after Cummings duplicated the feat. The quarter ended Wacs 8, HI 5.

In the second quarter each team added four points to their total. Both aggregations were fighting hard and apparently all thoughts were for team victory and no individual honor work was noticeable. The half ended Wacs 12, HI 9.

The third quarter was the scene of the great melee. HI School was hopelessly beaten during that period. The East Maui team seemed paralyzed. All accuracy and team work was lost in the battle that followed. Three field goals and held the HI's scoreless throughout the quarter. When the whistle blew the score stood Wacs 18, HI 9.

Wild throwing and vociferous comment were the features of the last frame. Neither team was able to get to working smoothly and Rodrigues was twice penalized by referee Wilmington for delaying the game. Towards the last the HI School attempted a rally but were able to score only three points. Final score Wacs 20, HI School 12.

Saints Swamp Sports

Simultaneous with the blowing of the starters whistle the Saints began their rolling out of the Sports. Victory being very nearly a certainty the Mormon aggregation passed at all times to Sanders to enable him to improve his score in the cup race. At no time was the game in doubt and at the first quarter the Saints held a 6-1 lead over the midget team. At the half the score stood Saints 10, Sports 3.

During the third quarter Sanders work was the feature of the game. The Saints leader netted the ball with an uncanny accuracy and he alone added 10 points to the Saints score. The Sports were held scoreless during the period.

Harry Chee who entered the game at the third quarter was the feature star of the last frame. Seemly he was always at the right place at the right moment and his excellent work at guarding caused Sanders to fall in several attempts at goal. The final score was Saints 26-Sports 5.

Cup Race Warmer

The two remaining contenders in the high score cup race are Rodrigues the Wacs captain and Sanders the leader of the Saints. Rodrigues was able to secure only 12 points during the game with the Maui HI and Sanders is credited with 22 in the fray with the Sports. Rodrigues still leads the contest with total score of 167. Sanders is still in the running however and his total aggregates 157. Tonight's games will decide the race and bring the league to a close. The feature of the games will be the contest Wacs vs Saints which game will at the same time be Rodrigues vs Sanders.

Tonights Games

Tonights games will bring to an end the schedule of the Central league.

The Wacs meet the Saints and Kahului winds up with Puunene. Two events of great interest will be decided in the Wacs-Saints go. If the Saints defeat the Wacs then Maui HI and the Wacs will be deadlocked for second position in the league. If the All Maui championship series is to be played by the two highest teams in each league a Saints victory over the Wacs tonight will cause an extra game to be played by HI School and the Wacs to decide who shall contend in the championship series. The second feature will be the cup race in the high score event. In most quarters it is not considered probable that Sanders will be able to overcome a 10 point lead during a game in which Rodrigues will be his direct opponent. Further Rodrigues is strengthened by his position at quarter while the Saints star is handicapped at playing center.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 4—(Associated Press)—The Yale relay team swam the 250 yard relay event in 2:4 3-5 which time established a new intercollegiate record. Yale won the swimming meet held with New York State College.

Mongoose Pelts Down But Still Too Costly

John F. Fleming and Bruce Fleming are the champion mongoose slayers of Maui, the two prize winners from the fund appropriated last year by the board of supervisors. Incidentally it may be said that the value of mongoose pelts has dropped since the awarding of prizes before. The reason is that the winner slaughtered more of them than was necessary to take first money previously.

John F. Fleming had a record of 46 pelts for the season and his prize of $25 would establish a value of 54 cents. On the other hand Bruce Fleming took second money, $20 but got only 13 mongoose in the contest which made a pelt worth $1.62 to him. On Oahu the price per pelt varied from 75 cents to $1.26, the Advertiser says. However the Honolulu board of supervisors considers results too small for the prizes offered and has withdrawn its offer and is out of the mongoose slaying campaign so far as county funds are concerned. But the fish and game commission insists that a mongoose averages $5 damage a year on the average so that the counties could well afford to pay $2.50 a pelt or more and still be making money.

"Billy" Sunday's Son Is Manager of Boxer

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

HONOLULU, March 3—W. A. Sunday, Jr., son of "Billy" Sunday, one time the admiration of baseball fans and since one of the greatest of the country's evangelists, is to manage "Kayo" Morris who is soon to meet Andy Biddle in the squared circle in the main event at the Wanderers Athletic Club's bouts, the Advertiser says Morris' manager was called away.

Young Sunday said yesterday: "I'm not exactly managing a boxer but when Morris was left without any one to look after his interests, I decided I might be of service."

"Of course neither Dad nor myself is prejudiced against any form of sports. Personally, I think boxing is one of the best."

SWIM MEET POSTPONED

The women's swimming meet that was to have been held in Honolulu on March 18 has been postponed until the last of April. That it is inconvenient to have the use of the pool at the present is given as the reason for the postponement.

CLAPHAM WINS BOUT

HONOLULU, March 5—(Associated Press)—Sam Clapham won from the Japanese mat artist Professor Takahashi in two straight falls in their bout here Saturday night. The first fall came in 42:06 and the second in 2:32. At the close of the event Takahashi announced that he would like to meet Clapham in the jiu-jitsu fashion letting Clapham use catch-as-catch-can methods. Clapham accepted.

DEMPSEY VERSUS WILLS

NEW YORK, March 5—(Associated Press)—Harry Frazee, owner of the Boston American League Club, today announced that he had offered Jack Dempsey $350,000 to fight Harry Wills for the heavyweight championship some time in September. For preliminaries he wants a Leonard-Tendler go and Buff-Wilde bout.

Dog Feasts Held by Igorots Frowned On

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 10—(Associated Press Mail)—In order further to discourage the Igorots who inhabit the mountain province, from the use of dog meat as a part of their diet, Governor General Wood has ordered discontinued the practice of feeding puppies to the reptiles confined in the aquarium. The governor general learned from the director of the Bureau of Science that the dogs were condemned at the city pound and in order to dispose of them, they were utilized as food for reptiles in the aquarium. Hereafter rats, other rodents and chickens are to form the diet for the reptiles.

The fire was ignited near the old Temple of Agriculture in the Chinese city under the auspices of representatives of the various organizations opposing the use of drugs.

Communist Invaders Wear Women's Attire

BAKU, Azerbaijan, Jan. 25—(Associated Press Mail)—One of the recent Communist attempts to invade Persia and capture Teheran, its capital had most of the elements of a comic opera. The little army of 200 Georgian invaders masqueraded as Persian women by wearing loose veils and other clothing of women over their uniforms.

The queer appearance of the expedition aroused the suspicions of the "Cheka" when it reached Enzeli, a Persian Sea, and the whole outfit was arrested and taken back to Baku for examination.

Released, the invaders set out fresh and advanced into the mountains half way to Teheran where the peasants arose against them and drove them out.

The exploit is celebrated even here among the many mad political and military adventures which characterized the struggle of the British and Russians to capture the Persian capital.

It was headed by Simoyak Phakadze who conceived the brilliant idea of the masquerade and who still maintains that his plan was a good one. He is a son-in-law of Rasputin, the once celebrated Russian monk who was murdered after having attained ascendancy over the Russian court.

A Georgian by birth, he was for a time a hanger-on at the Petrograd court but joined the Communist movement in 1916 and thus escaped the fate that he might otherwise have suffered because of his favor in imperial circles.

He came here with the red tide in the spring of 1920, helped to overthrow the Azerbaijan republic and then undertook his wild scheme to invade and subdue Persia with a disguised army.

Mary Pickford Need Not Pay Commission

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

NEW YORK, March 2—The jury in the federal court has decided that Mary Pickford need not pay any part of the $108,000 demanded by Mrs. C. C. Wilkerson as commissions alleged to be due for getting Mary a raise in salary to $1000 a week.

Mary Pickford said: "I have not had an agent since I was 11 years old. When I want a salary raise I ask for it myself." This is the third trial of the case and Pickford is reported to have spent a fortune in defending it.

Japanese Disinclined Toward South America

TOKIO, Jan. 25—(Associated Press Mail)—Japanese emigrants have shown a decided disinclination to seek their fortunes in South America in the past two years despite the "over-crowding" in Japan and offers of bonuses.

The Brazilian government pays £15 to each Japanese emigrant but, nevertheless, Japanese labor contractors have found it impossible to fulfill their contracts with Brazilian coffee planters to furnish 5,000 Japanese laborers each year.

Last year the number of Japanese emigrants to Brazil estimated at 900. These figures are given by an official of the Commercial Bureau attached to the foreign office.

The reason assigned for this disinclination to transmigrate to South America is the improved status of the labor market at home. Officials of the bureau predict that the coming year will see a greater exodus from Japan than for some years past.

The total Japanese population in South America in 1920 is estimated by Japanese authorities at about 40,000, of whom 31,000 are in Brazil, 6,000 in Peru, 2,000 in Argentina, 800 in Bolivia and 400 in Chile.

Emigration is being encouraged by the Japanese government, says Mr. Akamatsu chief of the commercial bureau. Railway fares to ports of embarkation are reduced and special steamship rates offered.

Last year the government advanced $50,000 to one company to promote emigration by means of moving pictures showing conditions abroad.

Comparative statistics show that Japan proper is just about as thickly populated as England. Japan has 376 persons to the square mile against England's 372, Holland's 539 and Belgium's 664.

Social Vice Is Less Common in Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Jan. 10—(Associated Press Mail)—The number of outstanding licenses for disorderly houses in Shanghai will be reduced from 557 to 419 on March 31, in accordance with a scheme in the International settlement to remove these establishments from the district within five years.

The plan put forward by a vice commission two years ago was authorized by the tax payers of the settlement when more than a thousand establishments were operating. Licenses for all of these were issued with the understanding that the total number of licenses would be reduced by one-fifth annually by means of public drawings. On the second annual drawing last December it was found that many licenses had lapsed in the year. The scheme does not affect the French concession or Chinese territory adjoining the International Settlement.

MAUI TWENTY YEARS AGO

(From Maui News of March 8, 1902)

Whales seen gamboling in the ocean off the pali were a true forecast of bad weather as seen by the storm that broke from the north Thursday night of last week and it has been raining practically ever since. The worst damage reported was to the railroad track at Pala which was badly washed out, a torrent coming down from the mountain cutting a channel through the right of way near the depot. In Makawao much more rain has fallen than in Wailuku and the Iao River though high has done no damage.

Kahului has been hard hit by the kona storm. The lake overflowed and sought an outlet into the sea through the channel washed out last year. The bridge on Puunene avenue is entirely submerged and Ah Kip's coffee house stands in a lake. The bridge across the outlet channel on the Wailuku side from Kahului is still intact but the railroad bridge below it was so badly washed out that trains could not cross until piles were driven.

Olowalu was drenched by the rain and the bridge between Olowalu and Lahaina is practically destroyed.

High winds did considerable damage to trees in Lahaina and the rain made little ponds in all parts of town. Main street was overflowed and in some places the water was so deep that persons were afraid to leave their homes.

Telephone communication has been demoralized for the past several days and it has been impossible to restore poles and wires.

Mail is being carried on horseback between Wailuku and Lahaina.

Joe de Coito a teamster and rancher who lived beyond Kokomo was returning from Makawao Thursday on horseback and in attempting to cross

Maliko gulch near Kaluanui his horse stumbled and fell and horse and rider were carried down by the stream and drowned.

Fine plover shooting is reported in the Kula and Ulupalakua districts.

Huelo sugar mill will be completed and ready for grinding in April.

Hoodlumism prevails to a serious extent in Wailuku and the police are beginning to take notice of it.

School was suspended for several days this week because of the storm and the rickety condition of the Wailuku school building.

The Japanese on Maui are great admirers of horses and every one of them who can afford it owns a dapper sleek little pony.

The heavy weather has greatly delayed shipping recently and the mails are badly demoralized.

REGULAR REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR DELEGATE TO CONGRESS

HARRY A. BALDWIN

ARTFUL DODGING.

He who writes under the nom de plume of "Artemas" in New Freedom is skilled in the art of dodging, even of dodging through a loop hole to avoid the libelous, for, after attributing certain things to this paper in an early paragraph of his last emanations he makes the "confession" that what he attributes to Maui News has not appeared in it. However, there are one or two points that Artful (Pardon, Artemas) makes that may be commented upon.

Will Artemas please inform the readers of New Freedom since when delegates to congress became privileged to participate at will in the debates on the floor of the house of representatives. He'll be giving them votes next.

It may be timely to remind Artemas that Hawaii is to choose a delegate to Washington not a member of a brass band nor a speaker on a Chatauqua circuit so that wind and words don't count for so much. If he will look over the records of the members of congress he will find that the great workers, the men of achievement, have more often been the members who were important in committee than those who have shone in debate or filled columns of the Congressional Record with bombast. If Artemas will look into the record of Senator Baldwin in the territorial legislature he will see that the Maui senator has done his most important and valuable work in the committee rooms and not on the floor of the house. What Hawaii is to achieve in Washington must be through departments and through committees and cannot be secured by flowery rhetoric, whether gramatical or ungrammatical, spouted, if opportunity be secured, on the floor of the house. Does he seek to picture Link swaying the members of congress to his will by an oratory never equalled by William Jennings Bryan or "Silver Tongued" Grady? A pretty picture, that requires vivid imagination.

Records of the past 30 years will show the most influential delegate to congress in that time came from Arizona and was a man who, despite the fact he had no vote on the floor, was made a member of some of the most important committees of the house. He served not only his constituents as their delegate but was of real service in his committee work to the nation as a whole. It is only necessary then, to remind Artemas that Baldwin is essentially a committeeman by training and by preference, a man of deeds not of words.

If Artemas had the issue of Maui News of July 30, 1920, before him he would not have made the false assertion that Senator Baldwin said Maui had been double-crossed by John Wise. In an interview at that time he specifically said John Wise had admitted making promises and had also admitted his inability to keep them because of the actions of others during Wise's absence on the Mainland. Artemas is mixed in his data on that point as well as on others.

As to misstatements as to Baldwin's attitude on votes for women the senate journal of 1919 shows that Baldwin and Artemas' co-Democrat, M. C. Paehoon, presented a report favoring the extension of suffrage to the women of the Territory to be effective July 1, 1919, and that their report was adopted by the senate, Baldwin voting for the report and later for the measure. Nor does Artemas remember that in the last session of the legislature Senator Baldwin introduced a resolution requesting congress to amend the Organic Act so as to extend the right to hold office to women, the resolution upon which is based that other resolution which was passed by the recent Republican convention.

Artemas has written a perfectly good article except that he has not bothered about such inconsequential matters as facts.

CALLING ON COUNTIES.

Proposals are about to emanate from the department of public instruction, according to a news article in the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, whereby counties would be asked to make up the difference in payroll so that reductions in teaching staffs of the schools of the Territory might be avoided. Any proposal asking this county to contribute more to the schools of the Territory will be likely received with scant sympathy, especially at a time when the county is put to it to raise funds for its conduct and for the care of the indigent and assistance of those in great need of help, child welfare work especially.

Maui has long contended that the method of distribution of school funds is wrong and unfair. Funds are collected on a per capita of population and property value basis but are distributed back into the counties on a basis of school attendance, not based on the population of school age even, it is asserted. As result of such an arrangement those who have studied the question closely here and have analyzed the reports of the department of public instruction assert that for years past Maui has been paying varying amounts from $20,000 to $80,000 a year more to the educational funds of the Territory than she has received back from the department of public instruction. Such sums have gone to Kauai and Hawaii which have been paying less into the school funds than they took from them.

Repeatedly this Island has sought a correction of methods but has met with opposition from the Garden and Big Islands while Honolulu, though in a similar position to Maui, has been apathetic. It is Maui's contention that her educational facilities would have been greatly enhanced had she received a fair distribution of school monies, permitted to take out as much as she put in, less her pro rata of the overhead department expenses and of the normal school expenses. Figures are not available as yet this year to show how much Maui is contributing to the support of the Hawaii and Kauai counties schools. In the absence of those figures it will be inquired whether Maui is not contributing more than enough, if all her share

THE OPTIMISTIC PESSIMIST

Persons are prone to blame providence when they suffer a mishap and yet every one is subjected to hundreds if not thousands of chances for injury each day. Providence seems to look after its job pretty well after all.

Every act of conduct is due to the directing by the mind, the mind shapes conduct and in so doing ever strengthens or weakens itself according to the manifestation of will power.

The cure for disease or for crime either for that matter is not to be found in treating the effect but in discovering and eliminating the causes.

Man is often solely a pleasure seeking animal, lazy and ready to postpone thinking for himself and it destroys pleasure to accept responsibility so he seeks to shift the blame but, if he will, he may develop individuality for everything depends on his thoughts.

It is proper that the knocker should be on the other side of the door. It is a cinch the fellow who wrote poetry about rain pattering on the roof had not left his umbrella at the office and was facing a drenching to get there. Nor did the author of beautiful snow have to shovel a path to the woodshed or go without his matutinal coffee.

It is so difficult to write really good prose that it is not surprising so many persons are satisfied to write bad poetry.

Bernard Shaw advances the theory that the naughty-naughty books should be placed in the public library. He thinks more people would then be satisfied to read the naughty stuff than in its doing. Some logician is Shaw!

The office of the postmaster general is now more than ever full of work.

of payments were returned to her, to pay the salaries of a staff considerably larger than she had at the outset of the present school year.

In this county there are eight schools that do not teach above the fifth grade, eight that do not teach above the sixth grade, three not teaching above the seventh grade and only 12 teaching the eighth and higher grades. In other words it would appear that because of the situation here Maui is deprived of its pro rata of funds from the territorial school taxes on all children capable of sixth and higher grade work in 16 school districts, of seventh and eighth grade capacity in eight school districts and secures its full pro rata under a basis she would consider fair in only 40 per cent of her school districts.

Repeatedly in past years Maui county has taken from her general tax funds to help out scanty allowances for the purposes of the schools, her officials all the time feeling that while they were taking county money from other county needs, money paid by Maui was going to Hawaii and to Kauai.

Perhaps the board of supervisors may be brought to see justice in the proposal that is reported to be forthcoming from the department of public instruction but it is more likely they will hold the views outlined above which have frequently been heard voiced by members of the board or other county officials at the board meetings.

Honolulu has returned 24 percent of the contributions for the entertainment of the Press Congress there and there remains unexpended of the $25,000 territorial appropriation $5,967.12. Entertainment expenses were remarkably low for the results obtained and the Islands never expended any money to better advantage.

Without becoming a calamity howler one can forecast that constant violations of the newest traffic ordinance which prohibits turning in the middle of the block on Main street between Market and High, will result in serious accidents ere long.

There is no more beautiful drive on Maui than that enjoyed over the new road up Iao Valley. It is a worthwhile attraction for home folk and visitor alike.

A Bath Tub Doesn't Have To Go Anywhere

Did you ever wonder why there are four feet on a bath tub? It doesn't have to go anywhere.

Four Years of Court Work Is Told Of By Judge Leslie L. Burr

Today, March 7, is the termination of the term of office for which Leslie L. Burr, judge of the circuit court of the 2nd circuit was appointed, his commission being dated March 7, 1918, and being for a period of four years. As to what the department of justice intends to do concerning the appointment of someone to the position which becomes vacant by the termination of Judge Burr's commission is not known though it is expected D. H. Case will be named. Judge Burr states he is not a candidate for reappointment and is, therefore, a disinterested party to that extent. However, in view of the fact that the Organic Act provides that a circuit judge shall continue in office after the expiration of his commission until a new judge is appointed and qualified, Judge Burr will continue to be judge of the second circuit court until some action is taken at Washington. As to whether he has any idea when action will be taken, he says that in view of the fact that the commissions of certain members of the supreme court also terminate today and that, according to newspaper reports, the chief justice has asked that a successor be appointed as soon as his commission expired, the department of justice would probably make the appointment for the second circuit court when the supreme court appointments are under consideration.

Four Year's Work

As to the amount of work that has been disposed of during Judge Burr's term of office, during the past four years, figures compiled by the clerk show that there have been some 215 criminal cases, 319 libels for divorce, 24 equity suits, 177 law matters, 115 probate matters and 62 juvenile cases making a total of 911. As to matters undisposed of, there is about the same number of cases pending and undisposed of now as pending four years ago.

Court Records

In the matter of the condition of court affairs, Judge Burr says that the clerks of the court have done considerable additional work in getting the records in shape, such additional work having been necessitated by reason of the fact that in years gone by many matters pertaining to the making of proper court records were either neglected or omitted entirely, and that when he came into office, four years ago the only court minutes that were being kept were pencil minutes made on scratch pads, and in addition to the fact that especially as to the records of years back such records as were kept had not been indexed and so it was often rather difficult to ascertain what had taken place at the hearing of cases and that the only complete court minutes date from four years ago. As to who in his opinion was at fault for the records not having been properly kept in the past, Judge Burr says that it was not unusual to find court records improperly kept, that unless the court clerk has had the proper instruction he often is unaware of just what the court records should contain; that, also, many of the judges have little or no knowledge as to the proper manner of keeping court records—as with most lawyers no necessity arises for their becoming cognizant with the proper manner in which court records should be kept. He further says that his knowledge as to the manner of keeping court records and the value of proper court records was obtained during a period of several years when he was connected with a firm of attorneys doing little work for one of the large title guarantee companies on the mainland; and that in the course of such work he had found it necessary to examine many hundreds of court records, some of them going back to a time antedating the general use of the English language in the California courts and so was familiar with the methods in vogue in the keeping court records, and fully aware of the trouble that can arise by reason of a lack of proper court records. For a court can only speak from its records, and a lack of proper records can often cause grave injustice, especially is this true in matters pertaining to title to real property, naturalization, etc.

Library Built Up

In addition to the satisfaction he feels as to the manner and manner in which the court records are now being kept, the judge says he has a feeling of pride in the work he has accomplished in the matter of improving the law library. Prior to 1918 the library had but a portion of the reporter system a set of law reports that covers all of the states of the union. The completion of this system was made possible by having legislation passed by the legislature, Senator Harold Rice being largely responsible in the matter of securing the passage of the bill. In addition to the completion of the reporter system and the addition of the federal cases that makes the United States courts decisions complete, the Illinois reports being particularly valuable by reason of the fact that Illinois is one of the few common law states of the union the common law (when not supplanted by legislative act) being the law of Hawaii. As to the value of the additions secured to the library, he considers the improvements added during the last four years increased the reference value of the library more than 50 per cent; and that while it was a long way from being a complete law library yet it is now a good working library, and the equal of the best libraries generally to be found in the offices of the big law firms on the mainland.

Court Officials

In the matter of the officers who hold under the judge of the second circuit court, Judge Burr says that as he is a democrat and was appointed as such, naturally a democrat would have the preference in the matter of receiving appointments, other things being equal, but in view of the fact that he considered efficiency to be the first essential, he has never been able to use any discrimination in the matter of appointing the court officials, that, as a matter of fact, he has never had occasion to make any inquiries as to the politics of any of the men now holding office. He says that in the matter of the present clerk of the court, Manuel Asue, he had, following the resignation of Harry Mossman borrowed Asue from the county clerk's office, and that he had developed into a very efficient court clerk and was a very valuable man, especially so in view of the fact that Asue speaks Chinese, Portuguese, Hawaiian and Spanish in addition to saving to the county in the matter of interpreter's fees—this being especially true in juvenile cases.

As to the probation officer, which position is filled by Mrs. R. V. White head, he says the work of that department has been very satisfactory, and that he is still of the same opinion as he was when he appointed her in that he knew of no person on Maui better fitted for the position. He added that, of course, she being the first person to occupy the office and there being no established precedent as to what the probation officer should do, it was to be expected that a probation officer under such circumstances would make some errors.

As to the deputy clerk and the court reporter, he says that in these as in other cases the men had been picked for their qualifications and not because of their politics he not knowing what their politics were and that the men in question were, in his judgment, the only competent men available and that politics had not an opportunity to enter into the making of the appointments.

Asked as to his future plans Judge Burr says he has not made any definite plans as yet, adding that he expects to make a visit to the mainland when it is convenient to do so; and that, as a matter of fact, the department of justice had granted him a leave of absence last January for the purpose of making such a trip, he being entitled to a vacation having taken but two in four years, but that he had been unable to take advantage of the leave of absence granted him by reason of the condition of the work of the second circuit court in his opinion did not permit him to do so.

American Farmer Has Smallest Income for Period of Ten Years

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—(Associated Press)—The American farmer, who rose to unprecedented heights of prosperity in 1918 and 1919, earned less in 1920 than he has earned in any year of the last ten, if his income is reckoned in dollars having the same purchasing power as in 1913, according to estimates made public today by the National Bureau of Economic Research.

Reckoned in actual dollars paid to him in 1920, the farmer's income, as shown by the report, was less than in the three previous years; but was greater than in the seven years from 1910 to 1916 inclusive.

The figures, taken from a detailed report of an exhaustive, nationwide survey, showed that the country's 6,450,000 farmers, in 1920, earned approximately $7,300,000,000—a drop of $3,650,000,000 from their income for the year before.

The farmer's share, in billions of dollars and percent of the total, is estimated by the Bureau to have been in each year beginning with 1910, as follows:

Year	Aggregate of Individual Income (Billions)	Farmers' Income (Billions)	Percent of Total Received by Farmers
1910	$20.2	3.95	19.5
1911	30.2	3.70	12.3
1912	31.5	4.00	12.7
1913	32.5	4.20	12.9
1914	32.2	4.20	13.0
1915	34.3	4.70	13.7
1916	41.8	5.80	13.9
1917	50.7	8.80	17.4
1918	60.2	10.45	17.4
1919	64.7	10.85	16.8
1920	65.8 (approximate)	7.20	10.9

The final figures for the total income in 1920 can only be approximated, owing to the delay in publishing the income tax returns.

"When these figures are translated into terms of the purchasing power of 1913 dollars," it is again seen that the purchasing power of the farmers was at its lowest ebb in 1920," says the report. Here are the comparative figures in billions of dollars:

Year	Farmers' Income in Dollars at the Uniform Purchasing Power of 1913	U. S. Patent No.	Date Issued
1910	$4,010,000,000	1,196,219	August 29, 1916
1911	3,780,000,000	1,227,898	May 29, 1917
1912	4,040,000,000	1,249,355	December 11, 1917
1913	4,200,000,000	1,274,527	August 6, 1918
1914	4,170,000,000	1,276,887	August 27, 1918
1915	4,200,000,000	1,287,267	December 10, 1918
1916	4,170,000,000	1,296,173	March 4, 1919
1917	5,100,000,000	1,372,995	March 29, 1921
1918	4,590,000,000	1,372,996	March 29, 1921
1919	5,100,000,000	1,372,997	March 29, 1921
1920	3,500,000,000	1,372,999	March 29, 1921
		1,382,566	May 10, 1921
		1,396,269	June 21, 1921
		1,396,269	November 8, 1921
		1,396,269	November 29, 1921

The per capita income of the country as a whole, and the per capita income of the farmer, both measured in dollars of 1913 purchasing power, are given as follows:

Year	Average Income of all gainfully employed in 1913 dollars	Average Income of farmers in 1913 dollars
1910	$ 940	$ 631
1911	923	593
1912	939	624
1913	955	657
1914	932	652
1915	1005	717
1916	1068	795
1917	1025	1004
1918	941	1011
1919	938	947
1920	850 (approximate)	543

An official summary of the report adds:

"It will be seen that in 1920 the farmers fell faster than the rest of those gainfully employed. They had further to fall.

"What the results may have been in 1921 cannot yet be determined because while farmers again suffered heavy losses, the rest of the country also ran into a period of severe depression."

New Conference of Middle West Schools

BROOKINGS S. D. Feb. 28—(Associated Press Mail)—Formation of a new athletic intercollegiate conference in the middle west, to be known as the "Big Nine," has been proposed by C. A. West, director of athletics at South Dakota State College here.

In letters to nine institutions, Mr. West proposed a meeting to be held in St. Paul, Minnesota, probably February 29 or 21, for the purpose of discussing a constitution for the conference.

The schools invited to send representatives are: Michigan Aggies, St. Thomas of St. Paul, Creighton of Omaha, Marquette of Milwaukee, South Dakota State, South Dakota University, North Dakota University, North Dakota State and Morningside of Sioux City.

"Several of these institutions have expressed a desire for a new conference," Mr. West said today. "Many of them have games scheduled with each other for the next football season and have had many contests with each other in the past."

In his letter to the schools, Mr. West asks if each will send a representative to the proposed meeting in St. Paul.

"I feel sure that if we can once get together that we can agree on details of the organization. It will facilitate the making of schedules and increase the interest in athletics among students and alumni. In short, it will do for us what the Big Ten does for its members."

With the Alert Boy Scouts of Maui

(W. H. HUTTON, Executive)
Scout Movement Educational

"Speaking as the head of the board of education and not as a member of the Ad Club, I want to say that the Boy Scout movement is educational and much of the useless work in our primary grades will be crowded out as a result." These remarks were made by Vaughan MacCauley at a Boy Scout luncheon given by the Ad Club at Honolulu.

Honolulu council is putting over a drive to get $8,000.00 more for their work on Oahu. They will get it in an assured fact. The scout movement needs no boosting on Oahu as every one there is conversant with the work of the scouts.

The Maui Council is struggling along at present on very short rations and if something is not done in the near future to raise the balance of the budget our scouts will have to—well we are sure the public will come to the rescue when they know the real needs of the work here. The printed Yearly Report and the Scouts News published in this paper shows what has been done on this island by our boys.

"Tuesday night was the jinks night for the Bronco Busters of Makawao. "In spite of a heavy rain storm Commissioner Hutton and Scoutmaster Langa appeared on the scene with a number of scouts from Troop No. 3, Wailuku. We had games in which apples were hung on string and it was some job to catch them in your teeth. Then bags of nuts and candy were hung up and we hit them with a stick. Then Pop fooled us by hanging up a bag of—and scout Brown got most of it down his neck. Then we went out on the front porch and had a shallow dive for apples in a pan of water. Scout Estrella won the sewing kit as first prize also a dime. Others won nickels as well as apples. We had songs and games and altogether had a jolly time.

"This was in celebration of our year old birthday.

"LOUIS DE COSTA, Scribe."

Troop No. 3 Wailuku

"Monday night, February 27, was a gala night for troop four. This was the night on which they staged their first jinks. The troop was one year old in December but so many things were going on that the celebration was put off until that date.

"After the regular opening the scouts adjourned to the lawn under one of the big trees. Pop hung up a bag of mixed nuts on one of the limbs of the tree and a scout who was blindfolded was placed underneath with a stick in his hands. After three swipes he was replaced by another scout who had better luck. As soon as the bag burst all scrambled for the contents. Then followed a bag of candy, and then. Well it was—The bag fell to the ground and Opil Wilson grabbed it and best it for the highway. After a long chase he was caught and brought back. When the bag was opened it was found to contain—Then we dove for apples in a pan of water. Nickels and dimes were inserted in the apples. The scout getting the dime apple was presented with a compass. Then games in the Town Hall and thus ended a happy night.

"C. CROWELL, Scribe."

Thursday night the Spreckelsville Troop No. 7 gave a fine scout exhibition and picture show at the Spreckelsville picture house. The troop and committeemen and scoutmaster were sworn in with a very impressive investiture ceremony in which candles and a large scout emblem were used. Committeemen C. C. Campbell and John de Cambra were present and a very good number of people were also present in spite of the rain. After the ceremony Pop sang the scout song written by Jimmy Wilder and then the troop gave an exhibition in first-aid and life saving also lifts carries and stretcher work. At the close of this part of the program the scouts rendered some of their snappy songs assisted by Scouts Kaumeheiwa and Wilson of Troop No. 3 Wailuku. Then some dandy films and at the close the audience stood up while the troop pledged allegiance to the flag and sang the national anthem. The proceeds of the show will be used to help equip the troop. Wednesday night was given over to rehearsal of the show program.

Troop No. 5 Lahaina

"The scouts assembled at the armory hall somewhat late. The meeting was quite interesting. During the two hours much of our time was devoted to the reorganizing of the patrol formation, nominating new patrol leaders, each patrol having a patrol leader and assistant; reducing the patrols from five to four in number. This was due to the fact that many of the older or former members are at work on night shift in the mill and some dropping from the troop. During the voting a very peculiar incident occurred. Eight boys were nominated as patrol leaders and the scouts were told to vote for four. Results were as follows: 1st, 26 votes; 2nd 19; 3rd and 4th, 17 and so on till the last scout who was found had 200 votes. On investigating it was found to be 2 instead of 200. No wonder his name was "Makule."

"Talking of the Near East Relief Fund the scouts are an alert bunch of fund collectors. Only four scouts were appointed to solicit funds and they collected $45.00. Scout Tauda was at the head of the list with $23 to his credit.

"Coedially yours,
"HAL OKITA, Scribe."

An investiture ceremony was held during which commissioner Hutton presented seven tenderfoot badges and one second class badge. The prizes offered by our scoutmaster to the best composition. "The Overnight Camp at the Beach House" were also presented. Henry Smythe received a scout knife for first prize, Toshi Enemoto received a fine large compass and three other smaller compasses. Henry Smythe passed his signalling test second class.

"TOSHI ENEMOTO, Scribe."

Puukoli is struggling to get a good troop formed. On Friday night the commissioner was present and assisted the principal of the school in organizing. This is a snappy little bunch and they are keenly interested in the work. It looked pretty dark for the troop at one time. The lights went out, but flash lights were used (we were prepared) and soon the current was turned on again. Back splicing is one of the strong forces. Jolly songs were sung and then the oath to the flag repeated.

A large number of test slips were forwarded to headquarters from Kipahu and Hana the past month. Our brothers from the other side of the island are certainly wide awake. This comes of having two live wide awake scoutmasters who are deeply interested in their boys. Congratulations.

Japan is Divided on Results Conference

TOKYO, Jan. 30—(Associated Press Mail)—The thinking element in Japan is divided today into two camps, says a staff correspondent of the Kokusai News Agency, who declared that this is made more ever every hour in discussion of the results of the Washington conference.

The conservatives view the results of the conference with a sense of easiness and feel that Japan has fallen a prey to the designs of the United States and the European powers. This body holds the general belief that the country should follow the path of the past fifty years, well conveyed as it were by the military and navy. Contrary to this sentiment is that of the progressives who believe that Japan has her golden opportunity to become one of the leaders of the uplift of civilization and find an international haven of peace and security without spending half her income for armaments. The latter school holds that Japan's future is bound up in the questions of the disposition of the ever increasing population; the discovery of a source of a sufficient quantity of food and a source of raw materials.

China is the natural place of supply, but even China has her grain laws and Japan must search elsewhere. Emigration would be one way out, says the economist. But practically all powers bar Japanese immigrants. Also, while recognizing the right of Japan to a supply of raw materials, all nations are disinclined to give them because they fear the inducement of Japanese industry on the trade of the world.

The progressives contend that the answer to the questions lies in Japan's maintaining the friendliest relations with other powers and securing a hearing by peaceful means on the problems facing Japan. They even go so far as to say that an international arrangement might be effected by which Japan would purchase Mongolia and Manchuria from China, settling all three questions for all time to come, they declare.

The progressives of the Osaka and Shimada type declare that what is happening now is just what happened when Commodore Perry forced open the doors of Japan to the rest of the world. Now the United States through the Washington conferences, with the other nations, is forcing Japan to abandon the militaristic policy. There are some, these leaders say, as there were in Perry's time, who fear the policy of the rest of the world toward Japan, and their fears are just as groundless today as the fears of their predecessors 60 years ago. It is the duty of Japan to assume her position as one of the leaders of civilization and aim at the happiness of mankind disregarding for the time the immediate question of the small national interests, they contend.

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

The Hungry Crocodile By DADDY Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger Co.

Jack and Janet, while with Dame instinct seeking a summer bird that sings spring songs in the winter time, are turned into Slumber Sprites. They go with Sleepy Woodchuck and others on a trip to Egypt.

CHAPTER 1

Old Gray Rat Bites

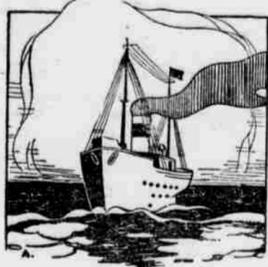

JACK and Janet, turned into Slumber Sprites, were on the steamship, Warmland bound for Egypt, where summer never ends.

The Kindly Captain, the two orphans he had adopted and the crew were very happy. Jack and Janet, through a trick, had freed the ship of all but a few of the thousands of rats which had swarmed the decks and holds so they had nothing to worry about except storms they might meet at sea.

Jack and Janet felt queer thrills as they saw the shores fade away as the steamer sailed out to sea. They found it jolly fun sailing the ocean blue, and as they were Slumber Sprites they did not suffer from seasickness.

"How soon shall we get to Egypt?" they asked Sleepy Woodchuck.

"Just as soon as you want to," was Sleepy Woodchuck's strange answer. Sleepy chuckled as he saw how puzzled they appeared over his reply. "You know you are Slumber Sprites now," he explained. "Slumber Sprites can close their eyes and wish time to fly, and fly it will."

Jack and Janet, turned into Slumber Sprites, were on the steamship Warmland bound for Egypt

Jack and Janet thought it would be nice to get to Egypt all in a hurry, without the long sea voyage and were just about to close their eyes and wish when they heard an angry squeaking behind them. There was Old Gray Rat wriggling his bristly whiskers at them.

"Eek-eek! You thought that a smart trick telling us this ship would sink so we would flee from it," squeaked Old Gray Rat. "We are going to pay you for that."

"Huh! Huh! Huh!" barked Sleepy Woodchuck. "You ought to be glad we scared those other rats ashore. You will have more now to feast on."

"Yes, but we will not have so many jolly companions to feast with," snarled Old Gray Rat. "Speaking of feasting, I'd like a nice fat woodchuck for dinner." Old Gray Rat scowled greedily at Sleepy Woodchuck, while the other rats of his gang glared at Jack and Janet, and Chip and Chipper Chipmuck, and Colonel Croaker, the frog.

Sleepy Woodchuck chuckled. "Have a leg," he said to Old Gray Rat, just as though he were offering a helping of Christmas dinner. He held out his paw toward Old Gray Rat. Quick as a flash Old Gray Rat snapped at it. And as Old Gray Rat snapped, his teeth came together so hard they hurt him. At the same time the other rats leaped at Jack and Janet and Chip and Chipper Chipmuck and Colonel Croaker. But the same thing happened to them that happened to Old Gray Rat. Their teeth clashed together so hard they got a toothache. Old Gray Rat was mad. He glared at Sleepy Woodchuck. "Have a bite of tail," chuckled Sleepy Woodchuck. He held a tail out at Old Gray Rat. But it wasn't his own tail. It was the tail of a rat he had snatched up. Old Gray Rat didn't notice this. He just grabbed the tail and bit hard on it.

Old Gray Rat was in a fury. "I know you now," he raged at Sleepy Woodchuck and Jack and Janet. "You are Slumber Sprites. We can't bite you, as you are only air. But you are friends of the Kindly Captain and his two orphans. We will hurt you by eating their food or spoiling it."

The Daily Fun Hour

Blind Music

One-half the players are counted out to be blind listeners, and each of these has a handkerchief tied about his eyes, and is seated in a chair. The chairs are arranged in a large circle, with a vacant chair next to the one occupied by every blindfolded player. Then the other players—the Musicians—come in very softly and stand together in the center of the room, until the leader indicates, by pointing, which chairs they are to take. They seat themselves very quietly, one beside each blind listener. The leader plays an accompaniment on the piano, and all the Musicians at once sing the same song, say "Suwanee River," disguising their voices as much as possible to prevent the blind listeners from guessing their identity. Suddenly the leader stops playing the piano, whirls around suddenly, and ordering silence asks each blindfolded player, "Blind listener, who is your righthand neighbor?" If the blind listener guesses correctly, he is permitted to take off the bandage, which is then tied over the eyes of the detected musician. Any one failing to guess the identity of his musical neighbor must keep his bandage on for the next "concert."

This a most amusing old game. Vocal ability has nothing to do with it; the more absurd the singing, the greater is the confusion of the blind listeners. The change of players at every round should be accompanied by a change of vocal and instrumental music.

ANSWERS TO FRIDAY'S QUERIES

William Makepeace Thackeray wrote "Vanity Fair."

The phrase "mad as a hatter" comes from the Anglo-Saxon "atter" or viper, "mad" being used in the sense of angry, rather than insane. A bittern is a small heron that utters a booming note in the breeding season.

A man is said to reach his majority when he is twenty-one years old.

The spleen is an organ near the stomach that produces certain modifications in the blood.

Molokai Notes

Trail and Mountain clubbers who arrived on Molokai on the 22nd and took in the sights have expressed themselves as delighted with the island. Those in the party were: Miss Rona Meldru, Frank J. Kearns, Miss Dorothy Phillips, Miss Adele Wickman, H. A. Lincoln, D. M. Little, H. H. Yost, Lieut. Ytreulein, Emil Baake, Miss Hallacy, Miss Krauter, Miss Lillian McKeown, Miss Bertha Thom, Mr. Warren, Miss Hansen, R. O. Ernst, and Miss Deall.

Mr. Kelli's sampan out of Keawau went on the rocks off Lanai and is in Lahaina for repairs.

Ah Ping is building a new house at Ualapue.

Mr. Lyman, agriculturist of Kalae went to Honolulu on the 27th.

Many women and several new voters were registered at the different precincts among them Miss Kelli Duvauchelle, M. S. Goodhue and Mrs. E. S. Goodhue by County Clerk Kaee and T. B. Lyons.

M. S. Goodhue and John Duvau-chelle have formed a partnership for the sale of Ford cars, Ford parts and appliances on Molokai. They will run a repair shop in connection with their sampan "Lelanai," which latter will carry freight and passengers between Molokai. They also will make a specialty of excursion parties.

Another case of alleged forgery has turned up. A native woman of Keawau is said to have turned a ten dollar check into one for forty. The deputy sheriff has her in charge. This is the third in two months, a boy of Halawa for forging two checks in Mrs. Humphries' name (placed on probation, a girl two checks in Mr. O. Lightfoot's name (Reform School) and the last named.

World Parity Sugar Hits Fiji Islands

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Feb. 7.—(Associated Press Mail)—The world's parity in sugar appears to give the sugar companies of Fiji the choice of only two courses—reduction of wages to decrease production costs or suspension of mill operations, according to opinions rendered by experts.

Leaders of the Indian coolies, however declared that the companies have made large profits in the past few years when sugar prices were high, and it is only equitable that during a "lean year" they should maintain operations, even at a loss to keep their labor in food and clothing.

The Fiji-Vancouver company already has given notice that it will close at the end of 1922. The company of Melbourne is considering shutting down according to officials and the Colonial Sugar Refinery which operates the four largest mills in Fiji, has announced that wages must be reduced or it will be impossible to continue operations.

It has been intimated in the New Zealand parliament that the Dominion may consider taking over the Colonial Refinery interests in Fiji and a suggestion has arisen from government circles in Fiji that the Imperial government should finance the Fiji administration in taking over the business. Representatives of the company have held conferences in Suva with government officers and later with the planters' council, but no decision was announced.

Ramshackle Taxis Taken From Streets

PARIS, Feb. 3.—(Associated Press Mail)—The veterans of the Marne, those ramshackles broken down taxicabs which every American visitor to Paris has had to dodge on the Paris boulevards, have been permanently retired and replaced by 3,200 modern comfortable taxicabs.

The forbidding appearance of the old "cruisers" seemed to have an ill effect on the drivers and hope is expressed by many Parisians that the new machines would also mark the passing of the disreputable chauffeurs who are considered as ill-mannered as their machines are old.

The taxicabs were placed in service in 1905. In 1914, they were mobilized by General Gallieni, then Military Governor of Paris who crowded his army into them and rushed them to the battle of the Marne where they aided in the success of the famous flanking movement that saved Paris and defeated the Germans.

These hardy pioneers of the streets have been dashing about Paris for 17 years.

MEXICAN OIL WELLS

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6.—(Associated Press Mail)—Mexico has 225 producing oil wells with a daily capacity of 5,905,453 barrels, according to a recent statement by the Department of Commerce and Industry. More than 575,000,000 barrels of oil were produced in Mexico in the year 1921, the department reports.

CLEVELAND, March 2.—(Associated Press)—Construction on buildings valued at approximately $25,000,000 has come to a halt owing to the failure of the Building Trades Employers Association and the Building Trades Council to reach an agreement. The council represents 25,000 union workers.

Gandhi Big Figure In Indian Affairs Warns Great Britain

AHMEDABAD, INDIA, Jan. 20.—(Associated Press Mail)—Mohandas K. Gandhi warned the British government in the meeting of the Indian National Congress just held here of danger that it would alienate the people of India by its present policy. "Think hotlines and take care what you are doing. Three hundred and fifty millions will be your enemy," he said. Yet Gandhi was speaking as the leader of the moderates of the Congress. Clad only in a loin cloth, Gandhi was the central figure among the 12,000 people, including many women, who attended this 36th annual session of the Congress.

Resolutions were adopted condemning the recently inaugurated policy of the British government which was characterized as a "policy of repression"; reaffirming the non-cooperation movement and calling for more National Volunteers.

Besides voting the suspension of all other activities and "concentration upon civil disobedience" as cabled at that time, the Congress appealed to all its supporters to "quietly and without any demonstration offer themselves for arrest by belonging to the volunteer organization to be formed throughout the country."

The congress called upon all students of 18 years old or more to join the Nationalist Volunteer Corps but stipulated that they must sign a pledge promising to "remain non-violent in word and deed". They were required also to endeavor always to promote the unity of all races in India, to sign a pledge asserting their belief in swadeshi (use of home goods only) and to use hand-spun and hand-woven cloth only.

Gandhi's passionate dislike of the caste system in India was incorporated in a demand that the National Volunteers should promise to endeavor to remove the "evil of untouchability" and to come into personal contact with and render service to the submerged classes.

Mohandas K. Gandhi has become a more dominating figure than ever in the Indian independence movement in consequence of the action in the annual session of the Indian National Congress recently held here.

Not only did the congress appoint Gandhi as its sole executive authority as cabled at that time, but it authorized him to appoint his successor in event of any emergency.

This action was taken when the Congress voted to suspend all other activities in order to concentrate attention upon civil disobedience.

Given Wide Powers

The resolution conferring increased powers upon Gandhi declared: "This congress hereby appoints, until further instructions, Mahatma Gandhi as a sole executive authority of the Congress and invests him with the full powers of the All India Congress Committee, including the power of convening a special session of the Congress or of the All-India Congress Committee or the working committee and also with the power to appoint a successor in an emergency."

"This Congress hereby confers upon the successor and all subsequent successors appointed in turn by their predecessors all his aforesaid powers."

The Congress not only stipulated, however, that Gandhi should not be authorized to conclude terms of peace with the British or Indian governments without the previous consent of the All-India Congress Committee but it also declared that the present creed of the Congress was in no case to be altered by either Gandhi or his successors without first having obtained permission from the Indian Congress.

Floating Dry Dock Dewey Not To Be Moved to Cavite

MANILA, P. I. Jan. 21.—(Associated Press Mail)—The floating drydock "Dewey" which was towed across the Pacific ocean with great difficulty and located at the Olongape naval station will not be moved to Cavite with the other equipment, for the present. The navy department has decided to abandon the Olongape station and transfer of the equipment to the Cavite station has already begun but it is said a considerable amount of dredging will be necessary in order to provide the required depth of water for the Dewey drydock. For more than fifteen years the Dewey has been used for docking naval vessels and at times was available for the docking of merchant ships.

Can Food Week Well Observed by Stores Of Hawaii's Capital

(ASSOCIATED PRESS) HONOLULU, March 4.—The celebration of National Canned Food Week in Hawaii is earning for the Territory a great deal of mainland publicity, according to reports received by A. H. Tarleton, secretary of the Hawaiian Pineapple Packers' Association, head of the local campaign. Mr. Tarleton is at present entertaining as his guest Frank A. Gorrell, secretary of the National Canners' Association who is in Hawaii for the first time since 1915. Mr. Gorrell came here at the request of local members of the National Canners' Association and will remain only a short time. He says Hawaii has already received much publicity on the mainland from the fact that a contribution from the Territory went to national headquarters of the Canning Association to help defray the expenses of national advertising during the week. Since his arrival here he has expressed himself as very well pleased with the way Hawaii is taking up the Canned Food Week campaign and has wired to the New York office asking if the big city is going after the business with the same spirit Hawaii is showing. Honolulu merchants in nearly every line of endeavor have put canned food displays in their windows and a prize of $25 is being offered for the best window outside of the grocery business. Prizes of $15 and $10 have been offered for the best and second best grocery store windows. Several merchants have started contests of their own accord in connection with the week and are getting much valuable publicity for their trouble.

Norway Strikes Snag In Seas Extension

(COPENHAGEN, Feb. 2.—(Associated Press Mail)—Norway undertook a short time ago to extend her territorial waters to ten miles (instead of three miles) in an endeavor to cope with the organized and ever-increasing smuggling of spirit into the country. The extension meant that all ships venturing inside the territorial waters were subject to search by Norwegian customs officers empowered to confiscate any cargo of spirits and under certain circumstances, authorized to seize the ship. Both Denmark and Sweden have protested against the Norwegian extension of her territorial waters, and certain other powers have notified the Norwegian government that they will not tolerate any search of ships flying their flags and engaged in bona fide trade. These protests have resulted in an amendment to the new Norwegian law on territorial waters to the effect that only ships anchoring within the ten mile limit are subject to search.

Penny Wise and Pound Foolish Some concerns think it economy to send orders to Honolulu or to the mainland when they could be filled as well or better at home. They figure they save a few cents on the dollar by doing so and grasp at the nickel in sight. BUT Every dollar spent with Maui concerns passes from hand to hand, in wages, to the store, to the bank and out again into circulation, back to the concern that sent it out, again to be sent forth on its rounds. The profits accruing from the dollar kept in home circulation are many times larger than the small saving in the dollar sent away. HAVE YOUR PRINTING AND RULING NEEDS FILLED AT HOME.
