Party Found on St. Mathew's Island Before Had Suffered Privation

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles)
 ABOARD COAST GUARD CUTTER M'COLLOCH, BERING SEA (Wireless to Seattle), Aug. 26.—The power schooner Great Bear, carrying the Arctic expedition of the Chicago millionaire, John Borden, for the relief of Explorer Stefansson, was wrecked and lost on Pinnacle Rock, Bering Sea, on August 10.

The expedition, which was under the active direction of Capt. Louis Lane, the explorer and naturalist of Seattle, succeeded in making its way to St. Mathew's Island, where the McCulloch found the members yesterday. The party had a tent and provisions enough to spend a comfortable 15 days.

The McCulloch is now headed for Nome. The failure of the Great Bear to report caused uneasiness and the McCulloch was sent to look for the schooner, which carried a cargo of supplies for Stefansson.

Mimic War Game on East Coast Carried Out With Large Fleet in Action

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles)
 WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 26.—With the great Red and Blue fleets of the United States engaged in sham but impressive battle and maneuvers off the Atlantic coast for the past three days, the eastern seaboard for hundreds of miles has heard the detonation of the exchanges far at sea. The fleets got into contact early today and from 5 o'clock on the firing was heard. The battle is expected to continue until sundown.

Among the vessels which the uniforms declare "lost" are the battleships Nevada and Texas and the destroyers Wadsworth and Tucker of the enemy fleet, while the scout cruiser Birmingham, the destroyers Benham, Fanning, Balch and Drayton of the defending fleet have been ruled lost.

It is believed that the verdict will be that the torpedo attack of the defenders was repulsed by the enemy fleet.

He was the author of several books dealing with labor topics, and also wrote several works on religious questions.

Remarkable Photos of Big-Gun Target Practise By Huge Rifles Which Will Defend Shores of Oahu

Pictures of the recent annual target practise, Coast Defenses of Oahu, taken by 2nd Lieut. Harold De F. Burdick, Fort Kamehameha (Pearl Harbor).

Lower left—Shell of one of Fort Kamehameha's 12-in. disappearing rifles being placed in the big weapon.

Upper right—Weapon at the instant of firing.

Center—Shell striking target and shattering it to splinters.

This is conceded to be one of the most remarkable photos of target work ever taken, the pieces of target being shown in the column of water driven high in the air. It was taken from the tug towing the target and photographers may be interested in knowing that an exposure of 1-1500th of a second was given.

Fort Kamehameha is one of the best-equipped coast defense forts on Oahu as concerns variety of ordnance. Its armament includes a battery of 12-inch disappearing rifles, a battery of 12-inch mortars and a battery of 6-inch rifles.

Fort De Russy, in this city, has two 14-inch rifles, but no mortars. Kamehameha is the only fort on this island having both large caliber disappearing rifles, mortars, and small caliber rifles.

HUGE PIER FOR LUMBER VESSELS IS BIG PROJECT

Plans for Structure at Pier 2 900 Feet Long and 300 Wide to Be Drawn

LEGISLATURE WILL BE ASKED FOR $200,000

Army Approves Exchange of Land; Wharf to Unload 3 Schooners at Once

One of the biggest improvements made to Honolulu Harbor in recent times, a concrete pier 900 feet long by 300 wide, big enough to enable three lumber schooners to discharge their cargoes quickly at the same time, will be erected at Pier 2, makai of the present Channel wharf, provided plans for a transfer of War Department land to the territory recommended by the Hawaii Department are approved by Washington, and an appropriation of $200,000 which will be asked of the legislature by the board of harbor commissioners is granted at the coming session of the legislature.

Details of the plans for this big project, which will mean a great deal to all lumber dealers of Honolulu and should reduce by half or two-thirds the cost of unloading ships and hauling lumber to the yards, this decrease meaning a similar reduction in retail lumber prices here, became known today.

According to Charles Forbes, superintendent of public works and chief man of the board of harbor commissioners, work drawing up plans for the big project will be started next week.

The huge pier will have no roof over it, and will be equipped with the most modern and efficient, time-saving lumber conveyors, by which

 PARIS, France, Aug. 26.—Champagne is the latest district of the west front torn by a furious bombardment which portends a possible new drive.

After several days of comparative quiet on this sector, the Germans today carried out a tremendous bombardment and then with infantry and hand-grenade attacks penetrated the French lines west of Tahure. The French expelled them soon after.

Attacks were also made on the Somme front and at Verdun and both were repulsed.

BERLIN, Germany, Aug. 26.—(Official)—Attacks by the British at Thiepval and by the French at Maurepas, on the Somme front, were repulsed.

WORK ON MANOA IMPROVEMENTS BEGINS SEPT. 6

Contractor Sets Time When He Will Make Start on Big Project

Work on the Manoa Improvements will start Tuesday, September 6. W. G. Allen, Honolulu representative of F. R. Ritchie, the contractor, declares that as soon as he can get men and materials together the work will go ahead with a rush. Tuesday noon the tenders for Manoa bonds will be opened by the city treasurer, D. L. Conkling, and Tuesday night the supervisors will undoubtedly award them to the highest bidder. Bishop & Co. and the Bank of Hawaii have already signified their intention of bidding for the whole issue and there is a possibility of a mainland firm bidding. Thus the sale of the bonds is assured.

As soon as the resolution awarding the bonds to the successful bidder has passed the board, another ordering the contractor to start work within 15 days will be introduced and passed. This will give him until September 13. "It has cost us several thousand dollars while waiting for a chance to get to work and I plan not to lose another day," said Allen this morning. "I have my organization practically all planned now and by the end of next week will be ready to go to work. Saturday, Sunday and Labor Day will intervene and then the dirt will begin to fly."

He plans to have about 300 men on the job within a few weeks, he says. A year is allowed for the completion of the contract by its terms, but every effort will be made to cut the time down.

Mayor Lane and the supervisors are planning a short ceremony to mark the beginning of the work, the first big improvement scheme to be started by the city under the frontage tax laws. The band will be there and there will be speeches. Then the mayor will turn the first spadeful of earth, or knock the first piece of old curbing out of place to make way for the new, or cut the first guava bush where a street is to be widened—whatever the first step in the work is to be. The supervisors will follow, each taking their turn at the work.

It may be that the ceremony will be held on Labor Day to give all the residents of the district an opportunity to be present at the start of the work which is to be of such much benefit to them.

THREE FALL 40 FEET, INJURIES FATAL TO ONE

Navy Ambulance Meets Truck on Way to Hospital and Transfer Necessary

John Galbraith, a mechanic employed by the Hawaiian Dredging Company, died this morning from injuries sustained from a fall about 9 o'clock at Pearl City. Two fellow workers, Robert Kanul and William Noeau, were injured.

The men were taken in the naval ambulance to the Queen's hospital, where Galbraith died shortly afterwards. Noeau sustained a lacerated scalp. He will probably be out of the hospital in a few days.

Kanul broke his arm and will be confined for several weeks. The men were working on a timber bracing in the coffer dam when it gave way, precipitating them about 40 feet.

Galbraith's jaw was broken and skull fractured. Queen's hospital authorities say he died from the shock. He was about 30 years old, unmarried, and has several relatives here. He lived at Helen's court.

Deputy Sheriff Julius W. Asch has taken charge of the body and Police Surgeon R. G. Ayer will make a post-mortem examination this afternoon.

On the way to the hospital the navy ambulance collided at the corner of Fort and King streets with a Fort Shafter motor truck and was disabled. The police emergency ambulance was called to carry the injured men on to the hospital.

Officers of the dredging company say that all three men had been employed for some time and were good workmen. They state, however, that the timber which fell should not have been mounted until secured and that the men were given no orders to do so.

SEES HOPE FOR CHEAPER LIVING AFTER BIG WAR

Alfred F. Pillsbury, Flour King, Shows Influence of Great Conflict

Stop the European war; down goes the price of wheat, coincidentally flour also tumbles— presto, the high cost of living is reduced!

In this inflated age of high-flying figures the foregoing, gleaned from an informal talk with one of the greatest flour mill men in the world, is pleasingly pertinent.

The flour king who talked is no other than Alfred F. Pillsbury, president of the Pillsbury Flour Mills Company of Minneapolis, which boasts the "finest flour manufactured in the world, Pillsbury's Best."

Mr. Pillsbury is visiting in Honolulu with Mrs. Pillsbury for the first time, for a real vacation. They are very comfortable in one of the Moana Hotel cottages near the Seaside Hotel and will be here about a month.

Although quite hospitable and congenial, Pillsbury explained to a newspaper man that he had never been interviewed. It is against his principles, he says. But he did not object to talking quite informally and unofficially of the wheat crop, the Pillsbury mills, the fluctuating price of flour and other things of interest.

His impression of the islands' attractions the flour magnate wishes to reserve until he has seen more of them.

"I have marked some of them very high and some low, already," he says. Mr. Pillsbury explains that his company keeps a very small supply of wheat on hand—a bare three million bushels—which is truly a meager

M. FUJIMOTO NOT EMOTO'S SLAYER, HE TELLS COURT

Pleads Not Guilty to Indictment Charging Him With Murder in First Degree

"I am not guilty!"

In a steady voice, and with a smile, M. Fujimoto, alias Walchi Fujimoto, gave this answer in Circuit Judge Ashford's court today in reply to an indictment charging him with first degree murder and alleging that it was he who killed Hiroki Emoto, a chauffeur, at the residence of J. B. Castle, Waikiki, about two weeks ago.

The indictment was returned at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. It is signed by W. H. McClellan, foreman, and W. T. Carden, deputy city attorney. It holds that the crime was committed on August 11 and that Emoto died as the result of wound inflicted with a knife.

Fujimoto, smiling, stepped forward with alacrity when his name was called by the court. He continued to smile as Attorney Carden read the indictment containing the serious charge. When Chester A. Doyle translated the indictment into Japanese and came to that part accusing Fujimoto of the actual killing, the latter laughed outright. Throughout the arraignment he maintained himself with apparent ease. There were no visible signs of nervousness or fear. He even went as far as to ask Doyle about certain parts of the indictment.

Fujimoto told the court that he fully understood the indictment and then pleaded not guilty. He was represented by the law firm of Andrews & Pittman and the attorneys did not ask for an order fixing bail. The Japanese was taken back to jail.

CONVICT GARB SOON TO BECOME THING OF PAST

Jarrett Hopes to Have Uniforms Abolished at Meeting of Prison Board

Stripped convict uniforms may soon be a thing of the past in Hawaii if the hopes of High Sheriff William P. Jarrett are realized.

Jarrett has just returned from an inspection of the prison camps on the island of Hawaii and will take the plain uniform matter up with the board of prison commissioners at the first meeting, probably next week.

During his extended trip on the mainland Jarrett inspected many prisons and found that the conspicuous prison apparel is being gradually discarded. He believes this practice should be followed here, but says the action must come from the board.

On Hawaii where there are about 60 prisoners doing road work, Jarrett says he found camp and discipline conditions excellent. He was unable to visit the Jauli camp on account of the recent quarantine there for various reasons.

HAWAII OFFICERS OF GUARD GIVEN PROMOTION HERE

Orders issued today by National Guard headquarters announce the promotion of a number of Hawaii officers. 1st Lieut. John P. Curtis and Henry K. Kapea are promoted to captains, their rank dating from August 26, and are assigned to the 2nd Infantry, on Hawaii. 2nd Lieut. James W. Russell and Thomas C. White are promoted to captains and assigned to the 2nd Infantry.

Another order directs that as next Saturday, September 2, is the birthday of Her Majesty Queen Liliuokalani, officers of the National Guard of Hawaii stationed on Oahu, whose duties permit, will call officially at 10:30 a. m. assembling at the armory at 10-15. Uniforms worn will be white with sash arms, and aquilettes for those authorized to wear them.

SEES HOPE FOR CHEAPER LIVING AFTER BIG WAR

The cost of flour varies directly as the price of wheat, he explains, and is as changeable as the breeze. The price is now about the highest in history.

Declaring he was not in direct connection with the market at present, Mr. Pillsbury would hazard little on the possibility of the war's duration, but admitted that once peace was declared, or even noticeably suggested, flour and wheat would probably go tumbling.

He adds that in spite of the wheat deteriorating black rust, which has invaded the Dakotas, the Northwestern farmer is especially prosperous.

PROST SALOON IS GIVEN REPRIMAND FOR IGNORING TABU

At a meeting of the liquor license commissioners late Friday afternoon the Prost Saloon has been reprimanded for selling liquor to a man on the tabu list, application of William A. McTigue to transfer saloon to 10 Hotel street was denied; permission was granted the sake brewery to erect cut-buildings and the matter of transferring Fred Johnson's Honolulu license to a Japanese was referred to Inspector W. P. Pennell. The latter will also investigate and report on an application made by Yusai Matsushima for a liquor permit in a Pauahi street tea garden.

WARRANT OUT FOR GAY; ASSAULT IS CHARGED

A warrant has been sworn out for E. J. (Sonny) Gay, former police officer, who is said to have assaulted Policeman Theodore Ferdinand on the street Friday. It is thought that Gay was looking for Policeman O. S. Weltzell and got the wrong man. Weltzell is supposed to have furnished information to the sheriff which resulted in Gay's discharge recently. Gay will probably be arraigned in police court Monday.

Isidor W. Brandt, Louis Friedman and Leopold Samuels have been elected members of the New York Consolidated Stock Exchange.

ROBERT HIND IS CANDIDATE FOR SENATE HONORS

A land office business was done this morning by the office of the secretary of Hawaii, as concerns receipt of nominating petitions from candidates for the coming election.

Robert Hind is going into politics for the first time. He filed a petition as a candidate for the senate from the first senatorial district on the Republican ticket, giving his address as Kouwaawaa, North Kona, Hawaii.

Hind has an opponent, George P. Kamaucha of Napoopo, North Kona, Hawaii, who late Friday filed a petition as a candidate for the upper house on the Republican ticket from the first senatorial district. In the last campaign Kamaucha ran on the Progres sive ticket and was defeated.

A. F. Tavares filed a petition as candidate for the legislature from the third senatorial representative district. He lives at Makawao, Maui, and was a member of the house last session. Tavares has been in the legislature several times, and for the last several sessions has been chairman of the accounts committee of the house.

Moses Mabeleona has his hat in the ring, from the second representative district, running for the legislature on the Republican ticket. He lives in North Kohala, Hawaii.

The only Democratic petition to be filed today was that of S. W. Kaleihou, sergeant-at-arms of the house last session. He is a candidate for the senate from the first district, and gives his residence at Hilo.

According to Superintendent Forbes and Harbor Board Commissioner C. J. McCarthy, the pier will begin south of the present channel wharf, and will be built paralleling Channel street, and continuing makai almost to Fort Armstrong. The Channel wharf will remain the pier just having spent $5000 repairing it.

The project has been discussed for some years and has been urgently needed because of the growing lumber business at this port, but not until this week has sufficient headway been made to make actual construction probable in the near future.

The harbor board has sufficient money on hand to make plans and drawings for the wharf, but not enough to build it. As soon as approval is received from the War Department the coming session of the legislature will be asked for a $200,000 appropriation so construction can begin without delay.

By having all lumber schooners un-loaded at the new pier other piers can be kept clear for freight and passenger steamers in the harbor, acute at times, greatly lessened.

FIRE LOSS IS SAID TO REACH ABOVE $12,000

Although police, fire department and insurance officials are investigating several rumors, they report no definite determination of the cause of the fire which destroyed the Stanley Cutter home on Dewey road, Wai-kiki, early Friday morning.

William Simpson of the Bishop Trust Company, which has the place in charge, says the origin of the fire is a mystery to him.

Mr. and Mrs. Cutter returned this morning from Molokai but can shed no light on the burning. Mrs. Cutter says the house, furnishings and personal effects were worth about $12,000 but she does not know how much of this is covered by insurance.

Mrs. Cutter says a Japanese cook was in charge of the place but she has not talked to him since her return.

There was a rumor on the beach Friday that a neighbor saw the fire start simultaneously at the four corners.

Some have expressed the opinion that the shock of the big guns jarred loose the electric wires, causing a short circuit. This is scouted by army officers.

Acting Fire Chief W. W. Blaisdell says the place was so far gone when he arrived that there was no telling how or where the flames started.

POLO AND RACING CLUB MEMBERS HOLD DRAWING FOR SEATS AT MEETING

Drawings for boxes for the autumn race meet at Kapulani Park were made today at the Hawaii Polo and Racing Club office at 201 Kauikeoluani building. Members of the club secured a number of seats in the drawing, but there still are a number of box seats left which will go on sale at E. O. Hall & Sons on Monday morning.

Reserved seats will be sold and automobile spaces will be also on sale all next week. The committee expects every seat in the grand stand to be sold before the races begin, and bleacher seats have been arranged for. A practice polo match will be staged this afternoon in preparation for the big polo game on September 2.

GIRLS' REFORM SCHOOL TO HAVE NEW COTTAGE

Pioneer Mill Co. Will Pay Three Per Cent Extra

Pioneer Mill Company, in meeting this morning, declared an extra dividend of 3 per cent payable September 1, in addition to the regular monthly dividend of 2 per cent, making a September dividend disbursement of 5 per cent, $200,000 in cash.

Good things have been expected from Pioneer Mill for weeks past and the action of the directors today bore out the prophecies which have been frequently made that there "was to be something doing in Pioneer."

At the office of Hackett & Co., agents, it was said that the other business before the directors was of a routine character.

where he has been confined since the tragedy at Walkiki.

Attorney L. Andrews told the Star-Bulletin today that, although he had an agreement with Deputy City Attorney Chillingworth, Fujimoto's witnesses were not allowed to testify before the grand jury investigation, although all the witnesses were on hand.

"Attorney Chillingworth told me that if I would not urge a hearing of the case in the police court the case immediately would be put before the grand jury," says Andrews. "Therefore we put off the hearing for two weeks and did not apply for bail. I told Gorden that my witnesses were in court. He told me that that was a matter for the grand jury. I also told the foreman that my witnesses were in court and of my agreement with Chillingworth. But the witnesses were not called."

Asked if any protest would be made because the defendant's witnesses were not called, Attorney Pittman said no, for the reason that the defendant would have no legal redress.

The Fujimoto case has been placed on the calendar to be set for trial.

HUGE PIER FOR LUMBER VESSELS IS BIG PROJECT

almost a carload of lumber can be loaded at a time. The plans will include space for railroad tracks, and the present great expense of hauling lumber from territorial wharves a mile or more from the lumber-yards will be eliminated, which should result in cheaper lumber for the retail buyer.

The following communication, from Hawaiian Department headquarters, stating that the plans for the exchange of War Department land needed for a portion of the wharf in return for territorial land nearby, have been recommended by Brig-Gen. R. K. Evans, commanding-general of the Hawaiian Department, was received several days ago by the public works department:

"Referring to your letter of August 1, relative to the proposed exchange of land between the War Department and the Territory of Hawaii approved by his excellency the governor of Hawaii, the commanding-general directs me to inform you that all papers on the subject have been forwarded to the War Department this date approved and recommending the exchange." The letter, dated August 16, is signed by Lieut.-Col. J. H. McRae, department adjutant.

H. A. Smith, a member of the Honolulu fire department, has been arrested on a statutory charge which involves a 15-year-old girl.

One charge against George Wilson of stealing a bicycle was dismissed by Judge Mousarrat but another of betting a board bill brought a 30-day sentence.

Thomas Kell was arraigned in police court on a charge of embezzling $300 from George D. Kahaokamoku about August 25. His trial will be August 30.

Ton Kai paid $25 in police court for having opium in possession. He pleaded not guilty to another accusation of selling opium and it was dismissed. Chong Won Doe, arraigned on similar charges, got a suspended sentence. He testified for the prosecution.

CONFERENCE IS HELD RELATIVE TO AERO PLANS

Following a conference this morning between Brig-Gen Robert K. Evans, commanding general of the Hawaiian department, and Brig-Gen Samuel I. Johnson, commanding the National Guard of Hawaii, both said the date for an aviation meeting, at which the first steps toward the organization of an Aero Club of Hawaii will be taken, has not been definitely settled, but will be some day next week.

It is the plan of Gen Evans not to hold the meeting until all interested have signed application blanks for membership in the organization. Applications are now coming in finely and today a number of prominent Honolulu business and professional men signed up.

After the club is organized steps will be taken to form an aero corps or aero squadron, in connection with the regular army, so that training in aviation can be given members. Gen. Evans, as previously announced, has requested the war department for 24 aeroplanes of the most modern type as a basis for the aero corps of civilians the club will organize.

PENSACOLA ST. EXTENSION BIDS ARE SUBMITTED

Six contractors, the greatest number which has bid on city work in many months, submitted tenders for the improvement of Pensacola street extension. They were opened at noon today by the city and county clerk.

J. L. Young Engineering Company, with a bid of $3565, was low. Other bidders and the amounts follow: J. Picanco, $3629; L. M. Whitehouse, $3727; William Cullen, $4125; Lord Young Engineering Company, $5100; Harry S. Sands, $4887.

The work is to be done with funds turned over to the city by the territory for that purpose.

CANDIDATES OUT ON VALLEY ISLE

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) WAILUKU, Maui, Aug. 26.—While it is understood that the Democratic leaders of Maui expect to have a full ticket in the field for the primary election, now about six weeks off, they are taking their time about it, for as yet but a single Bourbon has turned in his nomination papers, so far as is known. This is M. Picanco of Wailuku, a well known stone contractor, who is willing to take a seat in the lower house of the legislature if the electors of the county see fit to send him.

The Republican list seems fairly full. W. F. Pogue, whose name was mentioned last week, has gotten in the same from Makawao district, together with A. F. Tavares, who wants another term in the house. Although it is understood that G. P. Cooke of Molokai is to run for the senate, nothing has yet been heard definitely from him; though he may have filed his nomination papers directly in Honolulu. H. A. Baldwin seems about certain of succeeding himself in the senate, while the wise ones think that Peruvia Goodness will have no trouble in defeating Waiaholo for a senate seat.

HALF A TON OF NEW LAW BOOKS RECEIVED AT FEDERAL LIBRARY

Half a ton of new law books—978 pounds, to be exact—were received by Federal Judge Charles F. Clemens on the Lurline and are now being arranged on shelves in the federal court library. The volumes are intended to fill out the sets of reporter systems, including Atlantic, Pacific and North-eastern reporters, and will also complete the American digest reports to date. Attorneys are at liberty to refer to the new books at any time.

Tourists Keep Just Ahead of Many Troubles

Dr. Metheny and Wife Seek Rest in Orient and Find First Real Quiet Here

Leaving the East directly ahead of the infantile paralysis epidemic, jumping out just in front of the cholera plague in Japan, missing the assassination excitement in Mukden, China, by a bare margin and escaping a quarantined ship here because of first class passage, Dr. David Gregg Metheny of the University of Pennsylvania made a bee line with Mrs. Metheny from the Nippon Maru gangplank to the Moana hotel to really rest after a summer's search for quiet and repose.

"We have been on the jump since the latter part of June," says the doctor, "and the good old U. S. A., which loomed up in the form of Hawaii, looked mighty good to us. We didn't touch the Philippines, so this is the first American land we have seen since we left the Pacific coast. Our first visit here will be made more enjoyable from the fact that we can truly settle down in Honolulu for a while and loaf."

Dr. Metheny is professor of anatomy in the Jefferson Medical College, a part of the University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia. He is one of those "Eastward Ho" travelers who have been forced west on account of Europe's turmoil, and he took to the Orient "just to look around," he says. He forgot all about medicine and surgery and refused to inspect hospitals and the like.

"I could do all that at home," he explains, "during this trip I forgot shop and turned my eyes to other things."

The doctor was glad to find that the Chinese generally are proud of Americans and are friendly toward them. This, he says, also seemed to be the case with the Germans.

All the deprecations which took place during the Boxer uprising have been blamed on the Japanese and the English," he laughed, "while I understand that the Germans were the greatest looters of the lot. But so far as I could find out Germany and America are now at high and Japan and England deuce low in China."

In spite of the good feeling expressed for the United States the university man saw some ferocious appearing soldiers whom he says he would not care to meet on a dark night in a lonely lane, regardless of their expressed intentions.

Speaking of university work in the medical branches Dr. Metheny said research work has been seriously hampered by the remarkable leap in the cost of drugs. He tells of carbolic acid going from 10 cents to over $2 a pound and the price of glycerine jumping out of sight.

"The drug companies of the East cannot supply the foreign demand as it is," he says, "for carbolic acid is needed for disinfecting purposes in battlefield hospitals and glycerine is almost unobtainable because of its great demand for explosives."

STAINBACK SECURES INCREASES IN TAX APPEALS ON HAWAII

Nine tax appeals were stricken and one withdrawn, says a letter received this morning by Deputy Attorney General Arthur G. Smith from Attorney-General I. M. Stainback, who is on Hawaii settling up minor tax appeal cases on the Big Island.

On all the others, the letter states the attorney-general secured substantial raises over the returns which had been made by the taxpayers. Stainback does not say when he will come back to Honolulu. Mrs. Stainback is on Hawaii with him.

TWO YEARS FOR BOYS WHO TOOK PROSSER'S CAR

"Society Must Be Protected," Says Circuit Judge Ashford, Pronouncing Sentence

Not less than two or more than 14 years at hard labor in Oahu prison was the sentence meted out by Circuit Judge Ashford today to August Kekona and Dan Kamaha, convicted of first degree larceny. They stole Attorney M. F. Prosser's automobile and, after riding about town, abandoned it on the other side of the Pal.

Kekona told the court that he had been an inmate of the reform school but had run away. He is 19 years old, he said, and had been sent to Waialae on three occasions for burglary and twice for larceny. He first went to the school, he added, when he was seven years old, and has been on probation three times.

Kamaha also has a reform school record, making his initial stay there because he refused to stay at home nights. He has been before Juvenile Judge Whitney on many occasions, he added.

Judge Ashford, in sentencing the boys, said that society must be protected.

"The object of my sending you to prison is not so much punishment as it is reform. I don't think much of either the prison or the school as a place for reform. I regard the reform school largely as a preparatory school for crime."

The boys will not be required to pay the costs of court.

Fridge Contract Let.
At a meeting of the Loan Fund Commission, tenders were opened for the construction of the new concrete bridge over the Ohelo stream, near Kipahulu, and the contract awarded to E. C. Mellor at his bid of $6000, time of work, 75 days. Three other tenders were submitted as follows: Hugh Howell Engineering company, $5580, time 70 days; J. C. Foss, Jr., $7673, time 35 days; Harry Sands, $7887, time 55 days.

Honor Young Visitors.
The H. A. Baldwin home at Hamakua will be the scene of what promises to be a most jolly party and dance at which Miss Frances Baldwin and Miss Ruth Lindsay will do the honors as hostesses to some 50 of their young friends. The affair is in the nature of a farewell to Frances Baldwin's cousins, Louise, Henry and Fred Baldwin of Cleveland, who have been visiting in the islands for some months past, and who leave next week for their home.

Mammoth Papaia Grown.
D. H. Case, chairman of the fruit and vegetable committee of the Maui country fair, returned on Wednesday from a trip to Molokai, bringing with him one of the largest specimens of papaia ever seen in Wailuku. It is now on exhibition in the window of the Maui Drygoods & Grocery Company. The fruit, which was grown by J. M. Hennessey at Kulaaha (the old mission premises) Pukou, weighs 17 1/2 pounds, is 20 inches long and has a girth of 30 inches.

Pleads Guilty to Forgery.
Demas Pacheco of Kahului was fined by District Magistrate McKay on Wednesday on his plea of guilty to a charge of forgery. The fine was paid. The young man, who had been employed by Contractor J. Emmesley, signed his employer's name to a check for $50 which he later had cashed by L. Apana, a Kahului tailor. Pacheco's plea for mercy was based on the ground that he was drunk.

Lahaina Store's New Home.
The fine new concrete building for the Lahaina Store which has been in course of construction by the Lord-Young Company for the past six or eight months is now finished, and the formal opening has been set for September 1. The new structure is probably the finest store building on Maui, being unusually commodious and attractively arranged, as well as of most substantial construction.

Takes Lease of Theater.
Alfred Nunes of Paia, has sub-leased the Paia Orpheum from the Weller & Vasconcellos syndicate, together with the film rights of the larger company throughout the Makawao district. The new arrangement will go into effect on the first of September.

The entire prison gang working on the roads in Kula has been tied up hard and fast in its quarters for the past week on account of the development of a case suspiciously like smallpox in one of the men. 3RD BATTALION WILL USE RANGE TOMORROW

Honolulu Star-Bulletin

RILEY H. ALLEN EDITOR SATURDAY AUGUST 26, 1916

Hilo Civic Convention And Hawaii County Fair Edition

With its regular edition next Saturday the Star-Bulletin will publish a large illustrated Civic Convention and Hawaii County Fair issue.

Material for this issue was gathered by the editor of the Star-Bulletin on a recent trip, and prominent citizens of Hilo and interested Honoluluans have cooperated in making much other material available.

The advertising columns of the special issue will be found to be a splendid directory to Hilo and Big Island business. The visitors to Hilo during the convention and county fair will appreciate the shopping advantages of the Crescent City as set forth in the advertising of leading and representative firms and individuals.

THE OBSTRUCTIONISTS.

L. I. McCandless may claim consistency with the Democratic territorial platform in his fight against the Beretania street improvement.

The Democratic platform as adopted by the Bourbon territorial central committee says:

"We favor the general principle of assessing the cost of public improvements when practicable against the property benefited."

With this big loophole "impracticable." Democrats like McCandless may fight to obstruct public improvements and still claim to be carrying out party wishes and pledges.

The supreme court of the territory has upheld the frontage-tax law and laid down the broad ruling that "the statute of this territory . . . is fair on its face and by no means necessitates the making of unfair or unequal assessments."

The principle of the local assessment method of securing public improvements has been upheld in Hawaii as it has been upheld elsewhere. The Democratic party organization, dominated and inspired by McCandless, is, like McCandless, attempting to stand in the way of needed public improvements.

Ordinary rebuke seems to affect neither of them. The only rebuke they can understand is that administered at the polls. And McCandless is again a candidate for public support.

MILITARY TRAINING FOR THE YOUTH OF AMERICA.

"An inadequate defense force is an absurdity. If defense is necessary, it should be made effective; if defense is unnecessary, it is sheer waste to spend money upon inadequacy and inefficiency."

As a whole, the article here cited was an argument for universal military training, under mandate and regulation of law, for the males of the nation beginning in youth.

Hawaii has won nation-wide fame in the enlistment of a national guard larger, in proportion to its citizen population, than that of any of the states in response to the call for preparedness, but it would do an even greater service to the nation by setting an example of rationally effective military training of its youth. The next legislature will have an opportunity to consider a subject much more to the front than when the military training bill of 1915 was defeated.

U. S. NEUTRALITY VINDICATED.

Captain Koenig of the German submarine Deutschland upon reaching Bremen gave out an interview praising the efforts of the United States to preserve neutrality.

This should silence some of the professional agitators in America who have tried to convince neutrals and subjects of the Central Powers that every move Uncle Sam made was a move biased in favor of the Allies; that the administration was pro-Ally, and President Wilson anti-German.

It is these agitators, and the plotters whom they encouraged that caused most of the criticism against German-Americans. It is quite true that a great deal of the criticism was entirely unfair, but quite as unfair and even more dangerous to American peace and American unity was the clamor against Uncle Sam's determination to uphold international law in the face of German violation.

Uncle Sam's good faith was shown when the federal officials ruled that the Deutschland was a merchant vessel, entitled to the privileges and the protection of a merchant vessel in a neutral port. With that ruling, Germany was afforded the protection which Uncle Sam had insisted merchant vessels were entitled to—the protection which in the case of the Lusitania, in the case of the Sussex, in numerous other cases, Germany had violated.

While the war-gripped nations were tearing at international law and threatening to destroy it, Uncle Sam was fighting for its principles. Uncle Sam preserved it in a frightful maelstrom of conflict, and the German submarine Deutschland reaped the benefit by sailing into a neutral port and finding haven and security.

Happily there is not a great amount of vandalism in Honolulu but occasionally there is a piece of unusual ruthlessness or stupidity. The Outdoor Circle, which had posts set along Wilder avenue as a guide to planted trees, has found half a dozen or so missing.

Judge Monsarrat intimates his belief that the tired Chinese businessman is entitled to his neighborly little game of pai-kau or che-fa. By the way, what is the use of maintaining a police force, anyhow? Why not let the tired Filipino gun-toter shoot up a few victims in peace, and the tired Japanese hatchet-wielder carve his initials upon an offending countryman when the spirit and sake move him?

The Japan Advertiser prints the news that Japanese troops have taken charge of the sections of the Peking-Mukden railway line formerly guarded by the French troops. Japanese soldiers are now stationed at the new station at Tientsin and the station at Yangtsu, both of which were formerly guarded by the French, who, it is supposed, have been sent home to do duty on the west front.

Accepting as gospel truth the statements of the both the British admiralty and the German admiralty, there are very few battleships of either nation left afloat and most of those are badly crippled.

Greeks have been caught napping off one base and were forced out at another. About time to warn up a new pitcher, and Souhjaw Venizelos is anxious to step into the box.

Hawaii will hear no presidential candidates on the stump but several local orators undoubtedly will point out the necessary ways to save the country.

The frontage-tax law having been upheld, we need no longer have a moral hesitation about coming through with the big assessments.

As a nice, quiet vacation trip far from the maddening crowd, we recommend a voyage in the Deutschland.

Another batch of non-combatants has been successfully bombarded by a Zeppelin squadron.

Latest bulletin from the bedside of the army appropriation bill is that it is out of danger.

Before long it ought to be Austria's turn to make the official announcement.

Canned pineapple and canned music are a great pair of drawing-cards for Hawaii.

The McCandless platform appears to consist of hicks, bricks and kicks.

Congress may adjourn next week but many a citizen fears not.

"Safety First" counsels us to close that Danish West Indies deal.

Poet P. M. McMahon Flays "Prudes" Who Objected to His Bathing-Trunks

Waikiki Incident Done Into Rapid Verse Under Inspiration of "Bawling Out" Upon the Beach

P. Maurice McMahon, poet, court stenographer and philosopher, has made good his declaration that he would flay in stinging verse the "prudes" who object to his appearing at Waikiki beach clad only in short bathing-trunks.

The incident when McMahon was "bawled out" on the beach happened Wednesday. On Thursday McMahon told the Star-Bulletin that he would treat the subject fittingly in verse. On Friday afternoon he telephoned that the Muse had made good and the poem was complete. This morning the finished copy was in the editor's hands.

THE PRUDES.

The Prudes are sprinkled everywhere, in every land on earth. With looks so wise, and searching eyes possessing little mirth; Straddled they pass upon their way, of God the chosen few! Without their aid they're much afraid He can but little do.

The customs of the little spot, where in they chance to bide, They deem the universal law—so high, so vast and wide! And if from home they journey forth, what people say and do They measure by the standards which they are accustomed to.

They belong to many churches, but the one each sect attends Is the only one of all on earth, which meets salvation's ends; For their blessings, on the sabbath, they just "give God all the praise," And the balance of the week feel free to go their selfish ways.

There's naught but vile suggestion in the nudity of art In statue and in painting and but evil they impart; On statues that are in the nude they put a flowing dress, For all that's most immoral 'tis this awful nakedness!

Yet they never seem to think at all—at least so I suppose— That when the great God fashioned us he made us without clothes; But simply take it on themselves to judge of everything, And of all that's right and all that's wrong do the interpreting.

If there's wrong in our anatomies, there can't be any doubt God didn't know in making us just what he was about; And if 'tis true we're moulded in His image, then I pray They tell me, for poor Reason's sake, what'er they have to say.

Oh, they're on the hunt for villainy on the earth in every place, And would scrape the thoughts and manners of the entire human race; Escape them to the measure of their own warped little minds, Where nothing that is generous or beautiful one finds.

A lady crossing o'er the street, passing through the mud, Must be careful of her modesty, else she isn't good; She mustn't wear her dresses short, and must not bare her arms, For fear she'll call attention unto any of her charms.

But God help the poor unfortunate who may chance to slip or fall, Her destiny is settled, and she's fixed for good and all, For the Prudes will not forget her and her record of the past, And be sure they'll make it known to all as long as life may last.

And God help the male offender if he only once gets "tight" And they spot him with the "jag" on, with him it is "good night!" Even though his mind is beautiful and filled with common sense, They'd put their tag upon him for that little one offense.

Yes, the Prudes are ever with us, far away and here at home, We are always bumping into them wherever we may roam; And they hunt the bathing places in the summer by the sea, Where Youth in all its gaiety is holding revelry.

"Such wantonness," you hear them say, "in these young and hardened Brits— These women wearing bathing suits without the hanging skirts!" Say, stockings, sleeves, and worst of all their rank immodesty— Their legs are bare of coverings high up above the knee!

The men, of course, are next in line (for it's always "ladies first!") Or whom—if they should dare offend—to wait their moral thirst; May the gods hold out a helping hand to them in their distress Should they appear upon the scene in abbreviated dress.

And even to the little tots they give their good advice: To be sure and wear their bathing suits, or else it isn't nice; Suggesting to the baby minds the evil in their own, So no wonder in a million years but little man has grown.

Thinking badness where it doesn't lie is not the wisest thing, And nothing of unkindness to this grey old world 'twill bring; And the one who points to evil in man's God-like human form Deals to the mind of innocence a cruel and lasting harm.

'Twas God Himself who made it in His image most divine, And if we see evil in it 'tis in your mind and mine. But the Master's still the Master, and His work is surely grand, But the trouble is the work of God we do not understand!

A CHANCE TO SAVE MONEY

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin. Sir: As the territory has a representative on the Public Utilities Committee, why not the city of Honolulu? Would it not be to the interests of the public that the city be represented on this board rather than against it? When the interests of the city and the board conflict Carden would represent the city. Simply reduce his salary as a deputy county attorney and let him draw pay as a Utilities commissioner. Less time, less money. M.

ANGLO-GERMAN ALLIANCE MAY BE NEXT MOVE

Japanese Author Now in Honolulu Says Germany and England May Join Together

"Germany may form an alliance with England after the war is over," said Kazan Kayaara, noted Japanese author, sociologist and philosopher, who is visiting Honolulu. "This may appear to be a statement far from credence at present, but it is not at all impossible that this will come about."

"After the European war everything will be changed. They will all start on a new road. Then the nations of the world may turn to the Orient, England and Germany for their own safety may decide that it is best for them to form an alliance. The Russian-Japanese alliance in the Orient is a much discussed question these days. "There are many who believe that the Russian-Japanese alliance means that Russia is England's enemy, and that the United States is Japan's enemy. Then it may come that England, Germany and the United States may form a triple alliance to guard and protect their interests in the Far East."

"History has proved that warring nations have changed their views. Today Russia and England are fighting together. Only a few years ago the friendly nations were flying at each other's throats."

"This alliance looks more like a reality when one looks over the situation in the Orient. The Russians and Japanese have formed a treaty which means that no one country can afford to combat their interests. At the end of the war a triple alliance for the Far East is looked upon as the logical answer to the Far Eastern question."

"It was an unwise thing for Japan to attack Tsing Tao and make of Germany an enemy. The Germans have always been friendly toward Japan, while England at present is not overly favored despite the Anglo-Japanese alliance. Japanese are beginning to realize to some extent already that the offensive movement against Germany was not a diplomatic move."

"England has not done much for Japan, and there has been much talk of abandoning the treaty with Great Britain after the war. Should this be done then Russia and Japan on one side and England and on the other will decide the questions of diplomacy. It may come to pass that Japan will be left alone," he concluded.

JOSEPH CABLES HE WILL BRING ELEPHANT BACK ON S. S. NIAGARA

Honolulu's elephant will arrive on the Niagara, September 6. That is sure now. Supervisor Ben Hollinger, who solicited subscriptions to pay for the pachyderm, has received a cable from Ellis S. Joseph, who owns it, saying he would return with it on the boat it left on.

Hollinger has no black and white agreement with the animal man for the purchase of the elephant. He told him a few minutes before the boat sailed that if he would bring it back he would buy it. Joseph agreed.

Thursday Hollinger cabled Joseph asking him if he would return on the Niagara. Last night he heard from Joseph. "Will bring elephant back on Niagara but not responsible for duty," the message said. "No duty," Hollinger replied.

Before he left Joseph agreed to stay a week in Honolulu to instruct the elephant's future keeper in his duties. He also promised to present a pair of kangaroos to the city zoo, Hollinger says.

SAY CONSPIRACY ENTERED INTO BY LOCAL JAPANESE

Territorial Grand Jury Indicts Two for Alleged Attempt to "Beat" Receiver

On the allegation that they attempted to "beat" a receiver appointed by the court to the custody of their property pending the settlement of an action brought by creditors; that they sold the goods in violation of a restraining order and that one of the defendants was sent out of the country, supposedly taking with him the receipts of the sales, Seizabara Sakan and K. Hirata were indicted by the territorial grand jury Friday afternoon on a charge of criminal conspiracy.

The action of the grand jury arises out of a civil case, brought by the creditors of Sakan and Hirata, which has been pending in Circuit Judge Ashford's court for several months. The prosecution alleges that, while in Japan, Sakan purchased on credit certain goods valued at from $11,000 to $50,000, and that, when pressed for payment, shipped the goods to Hawaii and then came to Honolulu himself. Suit for the recovery of the alleged debt was begun shortly after Sakan's arrival.

It is further alleged that the defendants, in spite of the appointment of the receiver and issuance of the restraining order, sold all or a portion of the goods, and the indictment further charges the Japanese with "removing, concealing and transporting the body of the said Seizabara Sakan away from out of the jurisdiction of the Hon. C. W. Ashford and from and away from and out of the territory of Hawaii with intent in them and each of them... to do what is and was obviously and directly wrongfully injurious to another; to wit, the receiver... and with intent... away from and out of the jurisdiction to cause of justice."

Bench warrants for the arrest of the defendants were issued out of Judge Ashford's court Friday afternoon. The one for Sakan was returned unserved, it being the belief of the process server that he is on the mainland.

Hirata was in court this morning and arraigned. He was represented by Attorney J. Lightfoot. The court continued the case until 9:30 o'clock next Saturday morning for plea. Hirata's bail was fixed at $150.

SPRAY FOR PINE FIELDS PROVES STRIKING VALUE

Proof by eye-sight and first-hand investigation of the value of the pineapple experiments of Chemist M. O. Johnson of the U. S. agricultural experiment station is furnished by a party of Honoluluans who went to Wahiawa last Thursday. The party includes Chemist Johnson, H. E. Savage, chemist of the Hawaiian Pineapple Association, A. R. Jordan, chemist of the Hawaiian Fertilizer Company; Valentine Hoyt, horticulturist of the U. S. station, and C. G. Owen, superintendent of the Hawaiian Fertilizer Company.

The spray at Wahiawa was put on last April, and where it was applied an enormous difference in plants and fruits was shown. The indications are that if the spray had been discovered and applied earlier, using it shortly after planting, still better results would have been obtained.

The two fields, side by side, one sprayed and the other unsprayed, show conclusively the value of the spray," declares Owen.

The Hawaiian Fertilizer Company, realizing the value of the treatment, has secured a big stock of the necessary chemicals and is preparing for wide distribution of the spray so that pineapple growers may get the greatest possible benefit from it.

Plans for establishing Federal labor clearing houses in every state were announced by Commissioner Cammette if the Immigration Bureau at Washington.

BOAT ON KAILUA REEF OWNED BY SHIPPING FIRM

That the 35-foot boat which was washed ashore on the reef at Kailua, windward Oahu, and was thought for a time to be the craft in which the five enlisted men of Company I, 3rd Battalion of Engineers, were lost at sea, until inspected by the engineers and found not to be that craft, is the Waimanalo workboat of the Oahu Shipping Company, was told the Star-Bulletin today by Superintendent Eben P. Low of the firm.

"I sent a wrecking crew over there yesterday," said Low, "and they recovered the boat and brought it back to Honolulu. It is too badly battered to be repaired, however, so we are out $600."

Low said that the boat had been at Waimanalo for the last 20 years. It is a heavy, wooden work boat, formerly owned by the Waimanalo Sugar Company. When that concern sold the power schooner J. A. Cummins to the Oahu Shipping Company the work boat went with the craft.

The J. A. Cummins was towing the work boat to Honolulu when the stern line parted and the boat went adrift. The sea was running too high then to make its recovery possible, so the boat drifted until it struck the reef, two days later, and was stove in by the coral.

GET YOURSELF RIGHT INSIDE AND THE WORLD WILL BE O. K.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—A modern Moses is at the Waldorf-Astoria. He is Rev. William J. H. Boetcker, from Pittsburg, president of the National Inside Association of America.

Dr. Boetcker is an exponent of the theory that if the good within every individual is brought out and developed, every social, economic and industrial problem now confronting the country will be solved. He believes in working from the inside out—hence the National Inside Association.

"If you people of New York want to solve your labor question, the high cost of living and other things, don't try it from the outside," said Boetcker. "Go deeper, beneath the surface. Work from the inside out. I call for 1,000,000 volunteers to live for their country and their country's good."

IRISH EMIGRATION DECREASES.

DUBLIN, Ireland.—The Irish emigration returns for the first half of 1916 show a still further decrease on the 1915 figures. In the half year there were 3073 emigrants, which is 588 less than for the corresponding period last year. The decrease is solely due to men, as emigration of women increased by over 600. One hundred and fifty-two emigrants had their passage prepaid to America. As usual Ulster has most emigrants and Munster least.

CHILDREN SHOW GOOD RESULTS OF PLAYGROUND

Boys and Girls Demonstrate Fine Results of Vacation on, Kaiulani Grounds

The big event of the summer for the Kaiulani playground promoters comes this afternoon when hundreds of boys and girls who profited by the last seven weeks' instruction and recreation will turn out en masse to show their appreciation. Everyone has been invited, parents and friends especially.

From 3 to 4 o'clock a regular program, consisting mostly of the children's various games and amusements, will be followed. Mayor John Lane is to address the youngsters and Queen Liliuokalani has been invited to review them as they march in step with the Hawaiian Band to present the mayor and herself with a lei.

Mrs. Mary T. Moore has arranged attractions in the following order:
March—Hawaiian Band.
Presentation of lei.
Mayor John Lane's speech.
Folk dancing.
Band.
Songs—Band's double quintet.
Twenty minutes of stunts.
Band.
Sailors' dance.
Five minutes' playing.
Song—"Hawaii Ponoi," band and children.

"America"—Band and children.
"Good-by, come again next year."
The folk dancing by the girls will include five varieties, the Dainty Step, Ace of Diamonds, Seven Jumps, Butterfly and the Chimes of Dunkirk. The only costume dance is the sailors' dance, girls from 6 to 12 years of age participate. Practising has been in progress for some time.

In "20 Minutes of Stunts," under the direction of Charles A. Pease of the Y. M. C. A., four individual prizes have been offered, two by the Y. M. C. A. and two by Samuel W. Robley of the Y. M. C. A. The prizes are: An indoor baseball for the winner of the sack race, open to all big boys; an indoor bat to winner of 200-foot race, open to all small boys; an outdoor baseball to winner of 100-foot Honolulu crawl for big boys; an indoor baseball to winner of crab race (100 feet), for small boys, and ice cream will be given by Mrs. Moore to each of the 10 winners of a mixed relay team.

The only competitive contest for the girls will be a relay race of 100 feet each, the 10 winners of which will also be awarded ice cream by Mrs. Moore.

The five minutes of play promises to be the most interesting feature of the day's affair. During that time Mrs. Moore hopes to see every recreational device in the playgrounds utilized by some of the children. Captains have been appointed to escort a group of boys and girls to each swing, merry-go-round and so forth as soon as the signal is given.

Although this afternoon's program officially marks the close of a happy summer, there will be one more week of play on the Kaiulani grounds for

FRIENDS ATTEND FUNERAL RITES WILLIAM G. OGG

At the John Watt home on Thurston avenue many friends of the late William G. Ogg gathered at 2 o'clock this afternoon to pay a parting tribute to his memory and as a mark of the high respect and esteem in which they held him and the warm liking which they had for him. The services were conducted by Rev. Henry Pratt Judd, secretary of the Hawaiian board of missions. Interment of the ashes will occur later in Nuuanu cemetery and will be private.

It is not often that a community is called upon to mourn the loss of a man held in higher or more general respect not only by friends and close business associates but by all who came in contact with him in business or social life. This has been attested to ever since the news of Ogg's death reached here by the kindly remarks and expressions of regret heard on all sides.

ARMY & NAVY EQUIPMENT WILL SOON COME FOR NEW NAVAL BAND

Complete equipment for the Pearl Harbor naval station band has been ordered from New York by Lieut. B. F. Tilley, aide-de-camp to Capt. George R. Clark, the new commandant, and Bandmaster Carl Baker is busy getting the recently enlisted bandmen, all native Hawaiians, together. He wants several more to bring the band to full strength.

"This is a great chance for local musicians," said Bandmaster Baker to day, "as the new naval reserve bill has just passed Congress and provides that after 16 years of service a navy bandman may retire on one-third of his pay, plus all permanent allowances, increasing 25 per cent every four years until 30 years. Government positions are always sure, while in other bands the period of employment is never certain."

The bandmaster added that owing to the physical examination rule in effect with navy bandmen there are numerous vacancies yet to be filled, and those wishing to join the naval band may consult with him at the Pearl Harbor naval station from 8 to 12 in the morning, and at the Biadell Hotel in the afternoon. A bandstand is being built at Pearl Harbor, near the residence of Capt. Clark, the commandant, whose efforts secured a band appropriation.

Fort Shafter Notes

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
FORT SHAFTER, Aug. 26.—The name for the "musician" attached to each company or company organization has been changed to "bugler" by the law recently enacted in Congress in relation to the army. It is a much better name, more properly descriptive of the instrument used, and the word "musician" was frequently a decided misnomer.

Some officers of the army have stated that the enactment in relation to "buglers" on the point of pay is subject to readjustment, inasmuch as they will receive the pay of "privates" instead of "privates, first class," a difference of $3 in the monthly pay, and still are classified in the bill above mechanics and privates, first class.

The position of the bugler in the modern army is a difficult and important one, in which the soldier can perform most excellent service and reap invaluable knowledge of military affairs. There are at least two most excellent officers in the army today who owe a large part of their efficiency to their work as buglers, one of them is probably the ablest ballistician in the service.

It will be learned with regret that Naval Cadet Frederick Rosenbaum sustained a broken arm August 1 at the Naval Academy, Annapolis, Mr., but is improving as quickly as the nature of the injury will permit. Cadet Frederick Rosenbaum is the son of Maj. Otho B. Rosenbaum of Fort Shafter and entered the Naval Academy in the spring of this year.

Mrs. Clyde R. Abraham, formerly of the 2nd Infantry, who has been convalescing at the department hospital, Fort Shafter, will be able to leave tomorrow for her new home at Fort Schofield. The quarters occupied by Lieut. Abraham were vacated yesterday and his household effects were transported to his home with the 32nd Infantry.

Pvt. First Class Rufus R. Biggs has been transferred from M Company to the supply company of the 2nd Infantry.

The chief reasons for such a decided preference are based upon actual service tests which prove the value of long experience and constant improvement in the manufacture of (Willard) Batteries.

3. Ability to Maintain Output Over a Long Period of Time.

Corps, who was formerly stationed at Fort Shafter, and was ordered to the Mexican border at the time of the Carrizal trouble, has been heard from recently by some of the members of the detachment of the Signal Corps remaining at Shafter and the sergeant states that they are stationed in part at Fort Bliss, Tex., as headquarters, but that the majority of the men are scattered all along the Mexican border, and he further assures his comrades here that all are in excellent health.

Bugler Hutchin of H Company, 2nd Infantry, and Sgt. Adams, 2nd Infantry, on duty at department headquarters, have finished their examinations for commissions in all branches except practical horsemanship and tomorrow they will undergo this test. Their final marks in all branches will be sent to the war department, together with the report of the board, as the examination is competitive for the enlisted men going up for commission, and the results will be announced at a later date by the war department.

The field service shoe formerly supplied through the quartermaster department has proved so inadequate under the strenuous tests of border campaigning that a new shoe has been devised as a result of the experiences of the European war, which, it is understood, can already be secured in some quantities, and advance notice has been received recently from the war department that the price to be paid for the new shoe will be slightly less expensive than the present shoe for similar uses.

The refreshing water from the artesian well in the old rice field now used as an athletic field at Shafter is a source of comfort on these warm days, not only to the baseball players, but to almost every traveler along the old King's highway to Honolulu. This well still pours forth its cooling stream, notwithstanding the efforts of all expert hydraulic authorities, civilian and military, to curb its leakage.

The well is reputed to be the oldest artesian well in Oahu and was well known in the early days as the source of the most delicious water on the island. It is said to be over 75 years old, and only three years ago its torrent supplied the extensive rice fields from the road to the sea waters on the south with the necessary irrigation.

In these days of rapid transit and improvement it is often stated that the days of the army mule are over, but one needs only visit Fort Shafter to see the important and constant need of this invaluable and historic quadruped. For engineer and signal detachments the days of the pack mule are far from numbered and it is as valuable for certain work as it ever was and always will be; also in the transportation of the machine guns and equipment for small gun organizations it can never have an equal substitute.

ENLISTED MEN WILL ARRIVE FROM MANILA

In the U. S. army transport Sheridan, due September 4 or 5 from Manila, are coming 60 enlisted men from the Philippine Department, to be assigned to Company D, 3d Regiment of Engineers, Fort Shafter, to complete the company's organization.

COLONEL SNOW WILL ARRIVE ON SHERIDAN

Coming to Honolulu September 4 or 5 on the U. S. army transport Sheridan from the Philippines will be Lieut. Col. William J. Snow, Field Artillery. The colonel will be attached to the 1st Field Artillery with a view toward his assignment as commanding officer when he receives his promotion to a colonelcy.

The 1st Field Artillery's former commanding officer, Col. Lucien G. Perry, now at Columbus, New Mexico, with Gen. Pershing's expeditionary force, has been relieved of command of the Oahu regiment, and Col. Snow will succeed him. Prior to the passing of the National Defense Act he was a major, but the act has made it possible for him to be promoted twice, to lieutenant-colonel and then immediately to colonel.

REGULAR DANCE WILL BE HELD IN ARMORY

The regular weekly Saturday night dance held under National Guard auspices will take place this evening in the armory, Hotel street. Dancing will continue from 8 o'clock until midnight, and popular Hawaiian music will be furnished. Ladies will be admitted free of charge. The dances are for the enlisted men's clubroom fund, and attendance is increasing steadily.

EMPTY TRUCK CAUSES PAINFUL INJURIES TO CONTRACTOR MARSHALL

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
HILO, Aug. 25.—Through an unfortunate accident, which happened at Waipio on Wednesday afternoon last, Contractor George Marshall sustained a compound fracture of his left leg and is now confined in the Hilo hospital. The accident was caused by an empty truck crushing the contractor's leg on the wharf at Waipio.

Mr. Marshall was standing on the wharf at Waipio superintending the loading of the huge rocks that are shipped to Hilo for the breakwater. He stood behind some empty trucks on a side track as a train of loaded cars came down to the wharf. The train took the right track, but a huge rock that protruded from the side of one truck just managed to bump the empty truck on the siding and sent it pushing down on Marshall. He saw it coming and jumped to escape the knock. His foot, however, got caught between the ties on the wharf and he was unable to get entirely clear of the truck. His left leg was mangled badly. Both the bones between the hip and the knee were fractured and the ends protruded through the flesh.

PERILS ARE FACED TO BRING WRECKED AUTO OUT OF CRATER

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
HILO, Aug. 25.—What remains of the automobile that was once the property of Frederick Snow and which was thrown into the extinct crater of Kilauea-iki some time ago by a bunch of Kona men, who are now under indictment for the offense, was hauled out of the pit on Sunday last by three enterprising men, headed by E. E. McClure, the man who first discovered the machine at the bottom of the crater.

The party brought up the engine, transmission and differential of the car, but the body, which is of no use, being badly smashed, was left in the crater.

It was a tough job that the three young men tackled and it was something of a feat to make the numerous journeys they did into the crater. No less than 14 trips were made down and up the steep sides of the crater before the final instalment of the engine was landed at the edge of the crater, 500 feet above. A long rope was utilized in climbing up and down the sides of the crater and in most cases one man was laden with pieces of the engine while the other two hauled him and his load to the top.

Mrs. Adeline Dowsett died Friday afternoon at her home, 1710 Young street. The funeral will be from Williams' undertaking parlors this afternoon and burial is to be in Nuuanu cemetery. The body will be cremated. Mrs. Dowsett was a sister-in-law of Representative Archie S. Robertson.

SOCIETY

SOCIETY has evidently "taken to the far hills" like the wallabies, for it has been "dead" socially this week in Honolulu.

The smart set has not let up but their affairs have in nearly every case been so small that they are not important enough for extended mention. People who have country homes have them filled always, for they keep open house and as soon as one set of guests departs another arrives.

Next week much will be doing for the people interested in polo and horse racing will commence coming in from the other islands and there will be great activity along social lines. Such a lot of the younger set attending mainland schools remained away this summer that much of the snap of affairs is lacking. However, next summer will be a "corking" one for everyone is coming home and gala will be the days and the nights as well. Youth with its untiring energy surely can set a pace that appeals the older set.

The youngsters here often start at dawn with a horseback ride, then a swim, then into a motor and down to one of the far beaches for a bacon or steak "bat," another swim, back into town for luncheon, two or three teas in the afternoon, then a dinner-dance winds up the day, and that is only one day in the 12 weeks' vacation. Each day varies a little but is full from long before sun-up until almost time for sun-up again. It is a merry time for the younger members of the smart set. When the last of the boys and girls leave for the East, their fond parents need a vacation indeed.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD D. TENNEY'S TENNIS AND SUPPER PARTY

On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Tenney entertained friends with a tennis afternoon and later a swim and supper. It was a very delightful affair as the Tenneys' parties always are. After several exciting sets of tennis a swim in the pool attracted the Tenney guests, who were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ivers, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Allison Jordan, Mrs. Francis Gay, Madame Mariska Aldrich, Mrs. Agan, Mrs. Edith Simmonds, Mrs. Helen Noonan, Miss Wilhelmnia Tenney, Miss Lois Brunndred, Miss Laura Low, Miss Alice Hastings, Mr. Frederick Wichman, Mr. George Wilder, Mr. George Fairchild, Mr. Ernest Galt, Mr. Covell, Mr. Harry Macfarlane, Mr. Bob McCornist and Mr. Vernon Tenney.

The dining table was uncovered except for the handsome lace runner and doilies. Every variety of hibiscus was used. The candies were shaded in the pastel tones, the whole being most effective. After supper Madame Aldrich's lovely voice was listened to by a most appreciative audience. Mrs. Aldrich has made a splendid impression during her brief visit here. Mr. Ernest Gay sang several numbers in a very charming manner, while Mr. Vernon Tenney gave several of his own piano compositions. He plays with a skilled hand and last week played for Queen Liliuokalani, who has always been regarded as a critic, and she was much delighted.

MISS MATILDA MADSEN GIVES A DANCING PARTY

Miss Matilda Madsen was hostess at a dancing party on Friday evening at the home of her father and mother, Capt. and Mrs. M. A. Madsen, at 1025 Green street. Golden showers and streamers were profusely used to decorate the rooms. Late in the evening refreshments were served. Miss Madsen's house-guest, Miss Gertrude Lanzer, and Miss Dagner Madsen were the motifs for this delightful party. The young ladies honored have just arrived from San Francisco.

Miss Madsen's guests were Capt. and Mrs. M. A. Today Judge and Mrs. Sanford B. Dole are entertaining some of the younger society set of Honolulu for a beach luncheon. Many of these guests are home from college. There is no couple in all the islands who have a greater aloha for the young folks than Judge and Mrs. Dole.

An invitation from Judge Dole to any of the younger set for a tramp in the hills is always a joy to the ones bidden.

MR. AND MRS. ALEXANDER G. HAWES' THURSDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander G. Hawes entertained on Thursday evening at a bridge dinner. The table was very dainty, with a silver basket filled with white daisies and maiden-hair fern. Long strands of brilliant green and white tulle were most effective. After dinner the guests played bridge.

MRS. A. B. INGALLS HOME FROM YEAR OF STUDY

A new and very valuable element is brought into the music of our community this year by Mrs. A. B. Ingalls, Honolulu's pioneer violin instructor. Mrs. Ingalls is always a student, (as well as a rare teacher) as her numerous trips to the states and Europe for further study have proved. Mrs. Ingalls spent the past year in New York City, taking a course at the Institute of Musical Art, of which the famous Frank Damrosch is director. Outside of the few national conservatories of Europe where entrance is gained only by very severe competitive examinations, there are no institutions maintaining the standard of the Damrosch school; therefore Mrs. Ingalls comes well qualified to inaugurate this new branch, which is called ear-training, harmonic and melodic.

In all the conservatories and music schools, and in the universities, great and small this branch is now considered of very great importance, and is compulsory for all students of music, vocal or instrumental. Mrs. Ingalls will open these classes at her studio, 1252 Kinau street, after the first of September. Instruction will be given only in classes, which will be open to beginners and advanced music students of piano, violin or voice, adults or children, and even those who are not taking an active interest in music would find these classes helpful in their listening to, and appreciation of, all music.

MADAME ALDRICH TO BE HEARD IN CONCERT

On Thursday, the 7th of September, Honolulu music-lovers are promised a treat for Madame Mariska Aldrich, who is here as the guest of Mrs. Francis Gay. It is to be heard in concert at the Opera House. All of the songs on her program are ones that Madame Aldrich has been requested to sing. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Edith Simonds, who is a composer of songs and talented musician. Mrs. Simonds will play several piano solos. Without a doubt a full house will greet these talented women.

Mrs. Gay and her guests will be in Honolulu until the middle of September.

NARRAGANSETT HAS HAWAIIAN BALL

Things Hawaiian have taken the mainland by storm. Almost every big Sunday newspaper has a Hawaiian or near-Hawaiian dance pictured in the photo section. On the society pages one reads continually of Hawaiian affairs.

At the famous Narragansett pier, Rhode Island, there occurred a big Hawaiian ball on August 13 which proved perhaps the most attractive affair of the summer season at this resort.

The outer portion of the Casino ballroom was converted into a cocoanut grove, with real grass and artificial cocoanut trees. The top of the ballroom was covered with grass matting. In the center of the ballroom was placed an electric fountain amid a grove of cocoanut trees.

Two performances of hula dancers were given by native dancers, and the song, "Hello, Hawaii," was sung at each table through wireless telephones. A number of tables for the entertainment were reserved for the cottagers for the cocoanut grove. Polo continues to be a popular "attraction" at the Pier, and the recent return of Harry Payne Whitney and

MR. AND MRS. AUGUST DREIER'S CHRISTENING POI SUPPER

This morning at 10 o'clock the young son of Mr. and Mrs. August Dreier was christened by Father Valentin in the chapel of St. Augustine, at Waikiki. The godparents of the young man are Mr. and Mrs. George Beckley. The name "Alexander McDuff" was given the baby. This evening a poi supper is to be given at the home of "Mother" Dreier in Punui. The table is to be decorated with red ixoras and ferns. The room where the guests will be seated will be profusely decorated with palms, hanging baskets and stalks of fragrant white ginger. A lei will be worn by each guest and that will make a pretty picture. "Dude" Miller's Hawaiian quintet will furnish music for dancing and a very happy informal evening is anticipated.

Mr. and Mrs. Dreier's guests are to be Mr. and Mrs. George Beckley, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Macfarlane, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shingle, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Hobby, Madame Dreier, Mrs. Mary E. Beckley, Mr. Mucov, Rev. Father Valentin, Mr. and Mrs. Albert N. Campbell, Prince and Princess Kalaniana'ole, Mr. John Markham and Mr. Ernest Parker.

A DUTCH SUPPER

On Thursday of last week Miss Ruth and Miss Martha McChesney gave a Dutch supper honoring Mr. Foster Horner, who left later in the evening on the steamer for the states to reenter college. After supper the party went to the steamer to bid the popular young man adieu.

Those enjoying the Misses McChesney's hospitality were Miss Catherine Lenihan, Miss Marie Ballentyne, Miss Hazel Buckland, Mr. Watson Ballentyne, Mr. "Jack" Horner, the guest of honor, Dr. Walter Reesman and Lieut. Charles Lyman.

MRS. A. G. M. ROBERTSON HONORS MRS. W. H. HISERMAN OF HILO

Mrs. William Haley Hiserman of Hilo was the honor guest at a bridge tea given by Mrs. Alexander G. M. Robertson at her home on Friday afternoon. After several exciting rumpers of bridge, refreshments were served from a lace-covered table, with a rock crystal bowl filled with American beauty roses. In the music and drawing rooms were tall vases filled with the pink hibiscus. Guest towels were the gifts and as a guest of honor gift a handsome linen embroidered centerpiece was bestowed on Mrs. Hiserman.

The guests invited by Mrs. Robertson to meet Mrs. Hiserman were Mrs. James Dougherty, Mrs. Anne Lackland, Mrs. Fred Damon, Mrs. Harry Gray, Mrs. Arthur Davidson, Mrs. Raipa Clark, Mrs. Hugh Harrison, Mrs. William B. A STUDIO TEA

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Patterson were "at home" to a company of guests on last Thursday afternoon. The studio is attractive with its quaint drapes, low seats and benches. Miss Edith Williams assisted Mr. and Mrs. Patterson. Tea was served at 4:30. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson are so charmed with Hawaii that they have decided to make this their home. Mr. Patterson is enthusiastic over the wonderful coloring and scenic beauties of the islands. He has done some unusually good things here. A very attractive picture is one showing tall, stately coconuts growing near the edge of a sandy beach, bending over seaward, with the blue of the ocean as it is only in Hawaii. Another extremely pretty picture is a scene near the Peninsula at the setting sun hour. It has a lavender-blue, misty effect. A futurist picture of Miss Edith Williams is a fascinating picture.

The new studio is in a huge barn on the E. M. Allen place on Richards street. But it is no longer a barn, for it has been turned as if by magic into a Bohemian studio.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson's guests on Thursday were Mrs. Bruce Cartwright, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Judd, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Campbell, Mrs. Ernest Waterhouse, Mrs. William Haley Hiserman, Mrs. Augustus E. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. John Dominis, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Marx, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Norton, Mr. George Bennett, Mr. H. Tucker and Mr. and Mrs. James Dougherty.

AMERICAN SINGER OF NOTE IS MME. ALDRICH

Mme. Mariska Aldrich, who is to appear in concert here at the Opera House on the evening of September 7, won high praise from the metropolitan critics this year upon returning to New York from Europe. "After a prolonged absence in Europe, where she found better opportunities for practicing her art than she did formerly in the Manhattan and Metropolitan opera houses of New York, Mariska Aldrich gave a song recital last night at the Princess theater before an exceedingly friendly and sympathetic gathering of music-lovers.

"Evidently the tall and stately American singer had a personal acquaintance with many of the men and women who applauded her so enthusiastically. Among those whom she greeted with a nod and smile were Julia Culp and Caruso. The Dutch mezzo-soprano and the Italian singer occupied a proscenium box with Dr. Marafioti.

"In stature Mme. Aldrich is a veritable Clara Butt. Her voice differs distinctly from the baritone organ of the English contralto. She calls herself a mezzo-contralto, and the name seems well-chosen though unusual. There is much power and beauty in her middle register and her studies abroad have added several effective notes to her compass."

DINNER AT WAHIAWA

Haynes, Miss Hazel Haynes, Mr. Ward, Mr. E. F. Mosely and the host and hostess.

REPRESENTATIVE AND MRS. BROWN'S DINNER

On Monday evening of this week Representative and Mrs. Charles Henry Brown entertained at dinner in their artistic Manoa home, honoring Governor Lucius E. Pinkham and Capt. Charles Peterson, commander of the Matsonia.

The table was beautiful with its decorations of dainty Cecil Bruner roses and lacy ferns, arranged in a low crystal bowl—some of the tiny rosebuds resting on the damask. The occasion was the celebration of Representative Brown's natal day. He had said, one month ago, he did not believe he should live to see it. It will be remembered he spent the greater part of this year in a hospital in San Francisco in search of health, the physicians there holding out little hope for his recovery. Two weeks after his arrival home he was able to be about and for the past several weeks has spent the greater part of each day at his office. He related to his guests that home was undoubtedly the place for him and that, on this happy occasion, his birthday, he felt better than he had in years past and had, he knew, as long a lease on life now as anyone.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

A number of friends were invited to a farewell reception and dance given at the McTighe home as a farewell to Mrs. W. E. McTighe and Miss K. McTighe, departing guests on the Matsonia. Dancing was kept up to a late hour to the music of a Hawaiian quintette.

The table where supper was served was a bed of soft massy greens. It was decorated with hibiscus blossoms and ginger. Great stalks of ginger were most artistically used about the room. FT. SHAFTER SOCIETY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
FORT SHAFTER, Aug. 25.—The changes and chances of life are nowhere so perfectly depicted, as in the army, and not only in time of war, but even in days of peace, your next door neighbor one day may be planting flowers or easily entertaining, and the day after, the noise of the "jackers" fills the air. Old familiar faces are gone, and new ones become the cynosure of all eyes.

Thus the army exists, it is like a great school with constant graduations and departures and these evanescent changes bring the joys and sadness of life as a consequence; so now the friendships, made during several years by 2nd Infantry officers and their families, have been blasted by the chilling frosts and changes of recent orders, and the readjustment of quarters—it is like walking in a dream—new faces, new names, all has been changed.

Thus the army exists, it is like a great school with constant graduations and departures and these evanescent changes bring the joys and sadness of life as a consequence; so now the friendships, made during several years by 2nd Infantry officers and their families, have been blasted by the chilling frosts and changes of recent orders, and the readjustment of quarters—it is like walking in a dream—new faces, new names, all has been changed.

Hobly.

Covers were laid for Lieut. and Mrs. Jack Lewis of the navy, Miss Mustow, Lieut.-Col. William Weigel and Mrs. George M. Haloran, the host and hostess. After dinner Capt. and Mrs. Hartshorn and their guests, motored to the roof garden of the Alexander Young hotel, where they enjoyed the dancing and music rendered by the Russian orchestra.

Mrs. Willis of Asheville, North Carolina, is the house-guest of Lieut. and Mrs. Thomas J. Camp.

Lieut. Adrian K. Polhemus, was the host, who greeted the guests and members of the Bridge Club, when it met on Tuesday evening. The prize which was most attractive, a Chinese lantern, was won by Lieut. Ralph C. Holliday. Those playing during the evening were Maj. and Mrs. William R. PARASOL HANDLES.

Parasol handles are very neat and in conservative style—all the gaiety is in the cover. The handle usually matches the cover in color or it may be polished black wood. Big knobs of colored bone finish many of the parasol handles, and some of the models designed to accompany dressy costumes have bracelets of ribbon or tulle to which are attached little bouquets of artificial flowers. A pretty parasol of this type is of shirred white net, with a double frill of net at the edge; A stiff little nosegay of pink roses and hellebore is attached to a white tulle bracelet on the handle and the companion nosegay nestles in the net shirring of the cover.

IN CASE OF ACCIDENT.

A crushed finger should be plunged into water as hot as can possibly be borne. The application of hot water causes the nail to expand and soften and the blood pouring out beneath it has more room to flow; thus pain is lessened. The finger should then be

THEATRICAL OFFERINGS

AUTHENTIC WAR SCENES AT BIJOU

Everybody in Honolulu, no matter where their sympathies lie in the present European war, or even be they neutral, will be called to the Bijou theater during the next few days to witness the great war picture, entitled "Somewhere in France," and heralded as the biggest and best authentic film of the titanic struggle which has rent the civilized world. This feature film commences tomorrow night for a limited engagement only.

"Somewhere in France" is a series of actual battle scenes obtained by Donald C. Thompson, the daring camera man for Paramount news pictures. Illustrated London News, Leslie's Weekly and L'illustration of Paris. The great war is shown in all its hideousness, its patriotic sacrifices its chivalry and daring, its awful toll of blood, its romance and pathos. It is a picture that should fascinate and at the same time horrify.

For tonight the Bijou program will see Charlie Chaplin for the last time in "Charlie's First Vacation," one of his banner feature programs. In addition, tonight's program will include "Kennedy Square," a feature with a punch and one that has a deep interest for young and old.

RICHARD BUHLER STAR AT HAWAII

An old-time favorite with Honolulu audiences, both in the flesh and on the screen, returns to the Hawaii theater tomorrow night. It is none other than Richard Buhler, who was seen here a number of years ago in "stock" and has more recently made a number of appearances in the films.

DEUTSCHLAND IS MET AT BREMEN BY GREAT CROWD

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) BREMEN, Aug. 26.—Amid the cheers of thousands of his countrymen and the screaming whistles of hundreds of decorated vessels in the harbor, Capt. Koenig yesterday piloted the merchant submarine Deutschland up the Weser and docked his undersea craft at the government pier at noon.

The citizens of the famous free port on the German coast have not since the beginning of the war given themselves up to such an outburst of patriotic demonstration.

Skill and Daring Triumph. In the return of the big submersible after escaping the perils of hostile warships in a cruise of more than 4000 miles across the Atlantic they saw the triumph of German skill and German daring. Not even the return of the fleet after its battle with the British in the North Sea stirred the German people more than the completion of the successful voyage of its first submarine merchantman.

Awaiting at the landing were scores of government officials. The mayor and a committee of prominent men in Bremen formed themselves into a reception committee to welcome Capt. Koenig and his gallant crew. A holiday was declared and the entire city gave itself up to celebrating the unique naval feat.

BARRYMORE BACK IN FINE COMEDY

Returning to the Liberty theater tomorrow night is one of the prime favorites of Paramount Pictures and probably the leading refined comedian of the films. Almost everyone would guess Jack Barrymore, and the guess would be correct. Barrymore returns in "The Lost Bridgroom" and judging by the title it should be a vehicle that is par excellence. Another point that should lend strength to this offering is the author. Willard Mack is responsible for "The Lost Bridgroom" and Mack has written and acted some of the best comedy sketches extant.

This offering was written expressly for Barrymore and shows him in an entirely new role—he appears as a crook. He is a young society favorite who receives an injury to his head and thereby loses his memory. He becomes a thief and attempts to rob the home of his fiancée. This is the gist of the story and shows the possible scope for the Barrymore brand of comedy.

Constance Collier in "The Code of Marcia Gray" will be seen at the Liberty for the last time tonight.

"The Rights of Man," a Lubin feature, founded on the present war, is the Buhler vehicle. In the supporting cast are such stars as Rosetta Brice and Francis Joyner.

A thrilling drama has been evolved around the many war stories that have sifted through from the battlefield and the pen of Louis Reeves Harrison has been employed to excellent advantage in preparing something for the screen that cannot but entertain and at the same time carries a lesson to humanity on the inhumanity of warfare. It is billed as "a story of war's red blot" and that sentence is as expressive as a volume.

For tonight William Farnum remains the attraction in "The Broken Law."

RUMOR HAS IT THAT BREMEN IS BRITISH CAPTIVE

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Newspapers of this city are quoting an officer of the British naval service on the authority of the City News Association, as declaring that he has authoritative information to the effect that a British patrol of cruisers and torpedo boat destroyers effected the capture of the German underwater freighter Bremen, sister ship of the Deutschland, in the Straits of Dover, on the second of this month.

The officer who is said to be responsible for the report has just arrived from the Baltic sea. He says that more than three weeks ago the Bremen, while passing by Beachy Head, was sighted and chased by a detail of the British navy patrolling the straits for the express purpose of apprehending the great seawasp, should she make an appearance in those waters. He does not state, as far as the information given out by the City News Association is concerned, where the Bremen was bound or whence she was coming, but emphatically alleges that the craft was made captive by the war vessels of the British, without injury to the submarine.

Thirty-three men were taken prisoner, as the story is told by this English agent of the admiralty, and the vessel, laden with cargo destined for the United States, was made a prize.

summer maneuvers with his regiment. Mrs. H. C. Adams, who was arrested and charged with the murder of the militia officer, declares that she shot Sprattling, who is a physician, because he had insulted her in his office where she had gone for a consultation.

MARKET HALTS WHEN STRIKE NEWS TAKES MORE SERIOUS APPEARANCE

Trading in Sugar Stocks Becomes Light; Pineapple is Strong on Merger Rumors

Sugar stocks have all been unfavorably influenced during the week by the unsettled conditions that cloud the mainland transportation lines. General dullness in sugar stocks resulted, but prices held reasonably well and there were lapses from inactivity into a semblance of semi-activity on two or three occasions. Price changes for the week are generally unimportant, though the general trend during the week was toward slight recessions.

In contrast to sugar stocks was Hawaiian Pineapple, which advanced sharply to 50 on Thursday and maintained that figure Friday. This advance was said in some sources to be almost entirely occasioned by the known improved business conditions of the trade and especially of this company. Other sources attributed the demand for the stock at higher prices to reports from the mainland that told of a prospective merger of canning concerns and included in it Hawaiian Pineapple Company, James D. Dole would neither directly affirm nor deny these reports. They contain little of detail as to what the terms of such merger would be but have met with considerable credence and a belief that such a merger would be of direct benefit to the local concern. That the arrangement would involve any change of ownership is not generally surmised, but on the contrary the prevailing idea is that it would have to do almost entirely with profitable marketing of the product.

Of much interest to the sugar industry but of less interest to the stock market is the intended increase of the capital stock of Lihue Plantation Company and approval by the governor. This comes at the time when it is reported that an agreement for the purchase of the Lihue property is practically completed and has been taken by Merchant street as confirmation of the deal.

try but of less interest to the stock market is the intended increase of the capital stock of Lihue Plantation Company and approval by the governor.

All of the local developments as to companies the securities of which are listed on Honolulu stock exchange have been favorable and some extra dividends have been declared, the most notable being 3 per cent regular and 7 per cent extra dividends for the next two months by C. Brewer & Company.

Proposed rate changes by the Inter-Island Steamship Company and a hearing thereon by the utilities commission also have a bearing of some importance on the business community. Announcement that there will be no extensions of importance of Rapid Transit lines pending a new charter, while not unexpected, also has its bearing on business conditions in general.

Honolulu Oil was the weak feature of unlisted securities. It declined in Honolulu on lower quotations in San Francisco. No definite reports as to the cause reached here, but local brokers surmised that there had been a refusal in Washington for the time being to issue the expected patent on the eve of a presidential election when what might be termed as concessions to oil interests would have a possible effect on the vote in November. Other unlisted securities have fluctuated some, and there have been some declines but none of a sensational nature.

PROPOSED PURCHASE MAY LARGELY AFFECT AMERICAN SUGAR MARKET

That what New York and the east generally are pleased to call the "Sugar Trust" will benefit materially from the purchase of the Danish West Indies is the burden of an article which R. Insley Casper has written for the New York World. In part he says:

The sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States for about $25,000,000, officially reported from the White House, the treaty for which was signed by Secretary Lansing and Minister Brun in New York on Friday, can be looked upon as a business proposition in which the American sugar trust has taken an active part, and the financial secretary in the Danish cabinet has utilized an opportune moment in international political affairs to drive a hard bargain for his country.

During the civil war President Lincoln and Secretary of State Seward became convinced that the acquisition of the Danish West Indies should become part of the program of the state department, as an adjunct to the Monroe doctrine. England, France and Spain, then the principal masters of the West Indies, had recognized the confederate states as independent. Privateers and blockade runners from the South made the ports of the West Indies their chief storehouses for arms, ammunition and food. The harbor at St. Thomas, administered by the Danish king, was the only one in the West Indies which was open to the ships of the North and where the flag of the United States received friendly greeting.

The mercantile marine lying the stars and stripes had almost disappeared from the seas through the operations of the great European powers, principally Great Britain, acting in the West Indies in conjunction with the confederacy, when Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Seward were aroused to the necessity of taking action. Before recommending to Congress the purchase of the Danish group they obtained from Vice-Admiral Porter his report on the subject, which has been incorporated into the official documents relating to this matter at the state department. Porter stated:

"St. Thomas lies right in the track of all vessels from Europe, Brazil, the East Indies and the Pacific Ocean bound to the West Indian islands or to the Atlantic states. It is the point where all vessels touch for supplies, when needed, coming from any of the above stations. It is a central point from which any or all of the West Indian islands can be assailed, while it is impervious to attack from landing parties, and can be fortified to any extent. The bay, on which lies the town of St. Thomas, is almost circular, the entrance being by a neck guarded by two heavy forts, which can be so strengthened and protected that no foreign power can ever hope to take it.

"St. Thomas is a small Gibraltar of itself and could not be attacked by a naval force. There would be no possibility of landing troops there, as the island is surrounded by reefs and breakers, and every point near which a vessel or boat could approach is a natural fortification and only requires guns, with little labor expended on fortified works. There is no harbor in the West Indies better fitted than St. Thomas for a naval station. Its harbor and that of St. John, and the harbor formed by Water Island, could contain all the vessels of the largest navy in the world, where they would be protected against an enemy. In fine, St. Thomas is the keystone to the arch of the West Indies. It commands them all. It is of more importance to us than to any other nation."

Proposed Purchase.

It took the United States minister at Copenhagen a long time to get the consent of the Danish king and his government to the sale of the islands. The delay was caused by Denmark's loss of Schleswig-Holstein through her war with Prussia and Austria in 1864, which made her reluctant to part with any more of her territory, and in addition the United States had to overcome the determined opposition organized at Copenhagen by Great Britain and France. When the king of Denmark, July 31, 1868, put his signature to the treaty confirming the sale, the price having been settled at $7,500,000, he had waited so long that the interest had died down in Washington and Seward was no longer there to revive it. And Horace Greeley in the New York Tribune, condemning the purchase, in the meantime had published Mark Twain's humorous description of St. Thomas as "an ocean volcano," the publication being followed in a few days by violent upheavals and hurricanes on the islands. The sugar trust was in its infancy.

In 1898, just before the United States went to war with Spain, Washington negotiated again with Copenhagen to buy the Danish West Indies. The sugar trust by this time had become a source of abundant import revenue, paying annually a large sum on sugar imported from the Danish West Indies. If these islands were incorporated into the United States the sugar would come in free. But this time the sale did not go through, owing to its rejection by the Danish parliament, acting under strong pressure by the king and the royal family. English statesmen have placed upon Germany the responsibility for Denmark's refusal to sell her three islands in the West Indies in 1898. At that time, however, the breach made over Schleswig-Holstein was still an open sore, and no European diplomat or his sovereign had less influence in the international affairs of Denmark than Germany. England, on the other hand, whose future Queen Alexandra was the daughter of the Danish sovereign, spoke with authority in the councils of state at Copenhagen.

In 1900 the project was again broached between Denmark and the United States to buy St. Thomas, St. John and St. Croix, the three islands forming the Danish West Indies. It was again defeated, this time at Washington, and Russia has been given the credit in an extraordinary story that the Standard Oil Company played the Russian game at Washington, accommodating the czar's government to obtain petroleum concessions in the Russian empire. What objection Russia could have to American ownership of the Danish West Indies is not easy to discover. The sugar trust and its antagonists could, doubtless, explain the failure to buy the islands in 1900.

RENTAL HOUSES SCARCE; BUILDING SHOWS INCREASE

Leasing Lots to Home Builders at Monthly Rents is Novelty

Leasing at small monthly rentals lots upon which homes may be built by prospective builders is a plan which has the favor of novelty to Honolulu. Long term leases have been common enough but now comes the real estate owner to the home seeker with an offer of a lot or lots at a monthly rental of $5 to $10 a month for each lot. It is a plan which is being presented in Waikiki and already eight houses are either building or planned to be built upon rented lots.

All summer real estate agents have said that there has been a scarcity of desirable houses for rent. More recently that scarcity has become accentuated and emphasized. It has been a season of phenomenal tourist business for Honolulu and if the winter business be proportionate homes are going to be at a premium. And it is not all tourist business that is creating the demand. The growth of population is in excess of the amount of new building which is under way and housing them becomes more and more of a problem.

During the week there were 34 building permits issued and the cost of the building to be done will aggregate $30,801. The largest of the contracts under these permits is an ice cream factory for the Rawley Ice Cream and Dairy Products Company. Emory & Webb are architects, the Aloha Building Company contractors and the cost is estimated at $11,000. Fifteen of the permits are for residences, none being of especially expensive type.

Arrival of building materials has temporarily at least relieved the shortage of supplies to an appreciable extent and the inclination to await the end of the war for building is less manifest, that came being about as indefinite as the location, "Somewhere in France." With the arrival of further builder's supplies a steady increase in building is now anticipated by both architects and builders.

Permission has been granted by the Federal Reserve Board to the National City Bank of New York to open a branch at Petrograd, Russia.

INTEREST IN BUILDING LOTS ON INCREASE

Growing Inquiry From Prospective Builders Reported; Deal for Business Property

Easily the most important transaction in business property heard of during the week is the reported deal for the makai Ewa corner of Alakea and King streets. Real estate dealers had a report that this property had been sold early in the week. Inquiry at the office of the agent brought no denial, but the statement that the matter was "not yet in shape to furnish the particulars."

Another transaction which should have its influence on business property is the leasing of the building formerly occupied by the Star-Bulletin on Alakea street to the Van Hamme Young Company for an automobile salesroom.

Active inquiry for reasonably priced lots and low priced lots for homes is reported by several of the local dealers and an active autumn and winter with increasing demand for lots in choice locations is expected.

During the week the following conveyances affecting Honolulu and Oahu island lands were recorded.

- Kaimuki Land Co. Ltd., to Thomas Kahl, 7000 sq. ft. of lot 1 blk. 51, Kaimuki tract; $175.

Reno Horses Certain to Cut Big Figure in Hawaii

Furlong, Florence Roberts, Mary Jay, Fair Mary and Lahontan Water Now at Quarantine Station Should Show Something Here—Splendid Accommodations at Quarantine Station for Blooded Stock—Recent Arrivals All Have Good Records

Down on the Ala Moana, where the sea breeze blows ever freshly and the tide incessant comes and goes over the mud-flats and sandy shallows, is stabled a quintet of equine celebrities which seem destined to play a considerable part in the making of local turf history for the next year or so.

The animals in question are those which recently arrived from the coast in charge of John O'Rourke and H. M. Ayres, who purchased them for local owners. That the sporting public is interested in the newcomers is evidenced by the number of visitors to the animal quarantine station. As a general thing callers at the quarantine compound are few and far between. Ever since the arrival of the five horses, however, this order of things has been changed and every day has been reception day down by the beach.

Excellent Accommodations. And it may not be out of place to mention here that aside from the pleasure afforded by a glance at the thoroughbreds, visitors have had an opportunity to see for themselves the splendid accommodations provided at the quarantine station for blooded stock, and the excellent care which temporarily "interned" animals, whether horses or dogs, receive at the hands of those responsible for the conduct of the station.

The breeding, sex and age of the recently arrived runners is as follows:

Furlong, ch. m., 7 years, by General Roberts out of Janice Marian.

Furlong, bah., 8 years, by Ben Howard out of Georgia M.

Mary Jay, b. f., 3 years, by Hippodrome out of Calyx.

Fair Mary, ch. f., 2 years, by Fair Play out of Argon Esher.

Lahontan Water, b. g., 3 years, by Col. Wheeler out of Shasta Water.

Florence Roberts is the best known performer of the lot, having won on every track where she has been started. As a three-year-old she ran five furlongs in 59 4-5, packing 164 pounds, at Minoru Park, Vancouver, B. C., a Canadian record which stands today. The date of this performance was August 12, 1912.

Furlong is game. Furlong has proved himself to be a game, consistent horse, and was a great favorite with racers at Tinian and Reno. His grand sire, Ben Stone, numbered among his get the famous Rosebush, which on August 16, 1906, at Belmont Park, New York, packed 126 pounds home at the head of a crack field in a seven furlongs race in 1:22, a world's record which stands today.

Mary Jay is a good, game mare, which can go a route and doesn't know what it is to quit. She was taken sick at Reno, and for several days her life was despaired of. As she had time and time again refused to quit when challenged in a grueling race, so she can true to form when death looked her in the eye, and weathering the crisis stood the trip from San Francisco as well as any of her stable companions.

Well-Bred Filly. Fair Mary is a neat-looking two-year-old and a maiden. Exceedingly well-bred, she promises to develop into a splendid three-year-old and her two-year-old form is most likely to be eclipsed by her performances next year.

Lahontan Water, named after a spring near Reno, is a full brother to Bubbling Water, and although a mere pony, possesses considerable speed. The gelding has yet to break his maiden, notwithstanding the fact that he has started several times. His chances, however, have always been discounted by his inability, on account of his size, to rough it through a big field of horses. Lahontan Water might well make a skookum polo pony.

With these five fine animals on the ground, and chances bright that several of them will be seen under silk at the coming race meet, interest in the meeting has very naturally received a tremendous stimulus.

FOOTBALL PLAY WILL BEGIN IN NEXT FEW WEEKS

Gridiron Stars Will Report for Practise Early in September This Year

Although it is a difficult thing to realize in these days, the beginning of another college football season is little more than a month away. At many of the leading institutions much good material has been left over from last year, but it will be the task of the coaches during the first weeks of September to get a line on the new possibilities. The senior stars of each season's eleven leave big holes to fill, but in some instances the right players come along to stop the gaps.

The Harvard squad will report at Cambridge about September 4, when Len Looney, who has been Haughton's right tower for many seasons, will take charge, with several assistants. Just how much actual attention Haughton will give the eleven is a matter of doubt. His duties as president of the Boston Braves keep him busy and if the Braves come through and win the National League pennant, as they seem to have a chance to do, Haughton may be able to be only of aid to the Crimson coaching staff in an advisory way. At Yale, Tad Jones, the new coach, who is looked upon as just the man for whom the blue has been looking for many seasons, had only a short time last spring to analyze the material. He will have for his assistants Arthur Brides and Clarence Alcott.

At Princeton, Speedy Rush will have as his right-hand men Phil King and Hildebrand, while Cornell will retain Al Sharpe, who turned out the country's best eleven for the Ithacans last fall. Bob Folwell, who produced some great teams for Washington and Jefferson, will try to patch up Pennsylvania's football troubles in the fall. He has a considerable task before him. Succeeding Folwell at W. & J. will be Sol Metzger, the old Penn star. Bill Hollenbach, another of Penn's former football heroes, will try his coaching talent with Syracuse, while Glenn Warner will again have full sway at Pittsburg. Foster Stanford will coach Rutgers again. Generally, judging from the array of coaching talent which gets under way in September, football should reach a higher form of development than last year, when the game probably reached its most attractive form.

'ECKIE' CLAIMS NEW RECORD FOR CHICAGO SWIMS

By Walter H. Eckersall. CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—A world's record for the women's quarter-mile swim and a national mark for interscholastic swimmers for 100 yards were established yesterday at the South Shore Country Club in connection with the three National A. A. U. championship events, held under the worst conditions imaginable.

In the National A. A. U. quarter-mile championship for women Miss Claire Galligan of the National Women's Life Saving League of New York won the verdict over 12-year-old Thelma S. Darby of Indianapolis in the fastest time of 7:43.15. This is the fastest time that a woman has ever swum the distance in open water, but the easterner had to paddle all the way to win. Swims 100 Yards in 1:00 2-5.

Abe Siegel of the Hyde Park high school won the interscholastic 100-yard swim in the fastest time of 1:00 2-5. This mark will stand as a national record, as the event never before has been held in open water. The White and Blue swimmer had to stroke all the time in the rough water to defeat F. H. Town of the Lane Tech. high school. Third place went to O. L. Jones of Harrison Tech.

The former All-American quarter-back announces that Miss Claire Galligan made 7:43 1-5 for the 400 swim. Ruth Stecker swam the quarter-mile in 7:08 3-5 on February 21, 1915. This was in open water and the Honolulu girl still has the record for the distance in America.

Abe Siegel won the 100-yard interscholastic swim in 1:00 2-5. Clarence Lane is still in grammar school, and when he reaches the interscholastic class, should be making the distance around 55 seconds at least. He has made the 100 scores of times under 59, and in the last meet had better than 57 to his credit.

ATHLETICS WIN GAME AT Y; GRIFFS VICTIMS

The Athletics won a game. It was in the evening, though, and not a regular American League game. Last night they trampled upon the Washington team by a score of 11 to 7 at the Y. M. C. A. in a fast indoor game. The Griffins started a rally in the eighth inning, but failed to score more than a duo of tallies. This was the first of the championship games.

PACER DENERVO HAS NOT BEEN SOLD TO LOCEY

Angus McPhee Says Money Could Not Buy Horse; Will Race Here

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) WAILUKU, Aug. 24.—Denervo has not been sold. Refuting in positive terms the report current last week that he had disposed of the fleet Maui pacer to F. H. Locey, Angus McPhee continued: "Money couldn't buy that horse. He's not been sold, and he's not for sale. But I shall probably never race him again personally. I have let Locey enter him in the Honolulu races next month, but Locey is putting up the entrance money and will get the purse if he wins. I'm out of the racing game as far as Denervo is concerned."

McPhee says the varying fortunes of Denervo in his contests with Hollinger's Welcome Boy are the cause of his decision. The apparent inability of either of these horses to win two races in succession has begun to look suspicious to some people, he thinks, and he doesn't care to go any further as a consequence.

Denervo has been at the Kahului track for several weeks, being worked out by Locey, who is confident of winning from Welcome Boy a week from Saturday. In any event, the Maui horse made his easiest winning on the Kapiolani track and there are a good many who believe he will again.

Ypres and Miss Officious Entered. But if Angus McPhee disclaims any responsibility for Denervo, he does not as regards his two runners, Ypres and Miss Officious. These two went down to Honolulu last Saturday and he believes they will give a good account of themselves against the Honolulu horses and against the Nevada horses which have lately been brought down from the coast by John O'Rourke and H. M. Ayres.

REACH TEAM WILL NOT PLAY AT ATHLETIC PARK; LULUS TO MEET SAINTS

The Reach baseball team will not play at Athletic park on Sunday. This announcement was made today by Sam Noll, manager of the team. Noll states that he had made no arrangements with the Oahu League for a game, and that the statement that the team would play was issued without his authority.

The Shafter team will not play at Athletic park on Sunday afternoon. After the announcement was made that the Shafter team would play, Manager Brush received word late in the week that the Shafter game had been cancelled, and the Oahu League officials had written him at a late hour that they believed that a game between two other teams would be a better drawing card. So Brush immediately scheduled a game with the 25th Infantry at Schofield.

BRUSHERS WILL MEET RUGERITES FOR SIDE ARGUMENT ANY TIME

The Brushers of Fort Shafter have announced that they will meet the Fort Ruger team in a series of five games for the title. According to their statement they will play the Rugerites for a full set of uniforms, valued at $50 or $75.

Lower—Jay Gould ready to begin a hard practice match. With the addition of Gould the Kauai team promises to make a hard fight for the polo championship.

ENTRIES FOR BIG SWIMMING CLASSIC CLOSE AT 5 P. M.

Swimmers who wish to compete in the big swimming carnival on the harbor September 1, 2 and 3, must make their applications at the Hawaiian News Company before 5 o'clock this evening. Up to noon there were very few who had entered, and unless the applications are turned in at once the entry will not be accepted.

The big swimming carnival, which promises to be an event of national interest, is well along in arrangements and the committee has done everything possible to make it a big success. The reception committee composed of Charles Stillman, Jack Phillips and Glenn Jackson has arranged an ideal program for the reception of the visiting swimmers, and Mayor John C. Lane has consented to hand the trio of nators the key of the city upon their arrival. The big banquet at the Y is certain to stir up enthusiasm and without doubt will mark an epoch in the history of swimming here.

FINAL STANDING OF FINAL SERIES. Table with columns for Company, W, L, and Pct.

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) FORT SHAFTER, H. T., Aug. 26.—The game played between M and A Companies, 2nd Infantry, this week, will not count in the final standing as A Company played on its team certain players since declared ineligible by the rulings of the committee. The above standing is accurate to date.

The game today had two good omens to start with for a Shafter game, first, the diamond was fixed up, and secondly, the sun was out and registered baseball temperature. If it had been its mite and wanted to add a victory in their favor in the very first inning so that they could count two games lead over those Engineers, the game would have been much easier. But that hope about Schaezel pitching with Odell to coach him was tried today, and certainly somebody either did not coach right or else some one had his fingers crossed on the bleachers. For that first inning attempt of H Company, with Schaezel as the mound artist was disastrous, and as Odell during the game struck out four times and barely touched the ball once, his advice as a coach was apparently no good. Look at this record, Schaezel threw a couple of curves, then Odell made an error. Schaezel threw a wild one and McGary hiked from first to second, Burns was given a free pass, Rowland made a hit after two passed balls by Morgan, and so on; that inning, with two hits, a base on balls, three passed balls, a wild throw and two men struck out, could well be called a waltz, wallaby, willow-tee, whiff—that means a hop, skip and a jump with the willow used and not used in baseball.

Errors Not Costly. That inning really won the game as the score shows, for H Company was only able to count up three tallies in the full nine innings. The reason for this is evident, Simmons was not hit at the right time, and while his fielders had four errors they were not costly, the only men who battled with any consistency for H Company were Lindsay with two hits, Morgan with a three sacker, and Schaezel, Parell and Morgan with pretty singles, while for that E Company detachment Rowland and Thomas had three hits alone, and McGary was a close second with two hits and the team had a total of a dozen good swats and bangs.

McGary in the sixth inning came to the bat, he is a little man and modest, but he knocked a mighty one for a mighty little man to right center, it rolled and it rolled, but it was picked up and a mighty heave landed it at the home plate, but our McGary soldier around those bases, just touched them and beat the throw home, making one of the best earned home runs probably ever seen on that diamond. That's the way to play, make the coaches watch the ball, kick the molasses off your shoes and don't feel as if you had to rent the bags for a year and take a grand stand at each leg to watch the fielding. More games are won by digging the spikes into the ground as fast as you can

Girls Will Row in Big Regatta on September 16

Kunalu Club Enters Two Crews for Big Rowing Event on Harbor—Girls Will Use Heahali and Myrtle Sliding Barges—Practise Brings Out Good Races Among Members of Fair Sex—Committee Suggests Change in Senior Course

Not to be outdone by their brothers of the sweep, the girls of Honolulu have decided to hold a large race on the harbor as one of the big features of the regatta. Two crews from the Kunalu Boat Club, the girls' rowing organization, will compete in a six-oared sliding barge race on September 16.

An attempt was made last year to hold a boat race among the feminine crews, but at that time there was not so much interest in the sport, and the decision to hold a girls' race was abandoned, but this year there is more interest than ever, and the Kunalu crews have been out on the harbor each evening preparing for the coming meet.

Trained Oar-women. Many of the members of the club have been rowing for more than two years, and it is certain that the race will not be lacking in interest to the spectators. This announcement means that the feminist movement is on in athletics, and with polo, swimming, tennis, golf and other sports, the ladies of the city are taking a forward step.

E. J. Hardesty has consented to coach the crews for the coming meet, and among the members of the club all are awaiting the preliminary practise which will be initiated next week. The Heahalis and Myrtles have granted the feminine crews the use of their barges for practice, and the two barges will be used in the coming race.

Good Exercise. Without doubt the entrance of the girls into the races will be an incentive for more crews in the future. The exercise has been invaluable to jump and biting your teeth into your gums than any other way.

Blocked at Pan. In the second inning Braut was out third and came quite a distance off the base, when Thomas, the catcher for E Company, let an easy ball hit his mitt and roll away a few feet, Braut came in like a flash and there stood Thomas with a smile on his face and the ball in his hand and he easily tagged the deuded runner out before he could regain third; a little better coaching will prevent such amateurish exhibitions, it was all right to run if the coach said so, but to run on one's own knowledge in a case like this is criminal, and fatal as far as baseball results are concerned.

The game was well played and drew a larger crowd than has been present for some time, and this helps to incite the players to greater efforts. Let us all show a little more interest in the game. A little more "company" spirit and a brighter, keener interest in the great American game will make a better man of you and make the good red blood flow a little faster toward health and happiness.

them, and if the plans which have been advanced are successful the young ladies will have a larger club house in the future. Prominent citizens of Honolulu interested in athletics have signified their intention of supporting a movement toward providing more commodious quarters for the ladies.

The Crew Members. The crews at present working out on the harbor in the Kunalu boats, which by the way are not sliding barges, have been meeting with success. Those who will take a seat in the barges are: Reds—Mrs. Oswald Lightfoot, Misses Margaret McCarthy, Violet Lucas, Florence Lee, Agnes Dunne, Mele Williams, Esther White, and Lillian Fennell.

In the other barge will be: The Misses Louise McCarthy, captain, Margaret McLennan, Evelyn Scott, Bernice Gustine, Matilda Madsen, Gertrude Mason. Neither crew is expected to be a favorite, as in a recent trial the crews finished together.

At a meeting of the Hawaiian Rowing Association held last evening the members voted favorably upon the girls' race, and the delegates from the Heahalis and Myrtles suggested that the young ladies use the boats belonging to the two clubs.

Change Senior Course. Another matter that was discussed last evening was the decision to change the senior course for the coming regatta. The point was discussed freely, and will be considered at the next meeting. A suggestion was made that the course be laid out the same distance as the freshman and junior courses, and in view of the spectators started down by the slip, and the spectators have missed the first spurt, which is one of the most interesting features of a crew race.

At the time the crews reached the judges' boat, the crews have always been in their even stroke, and many of the spectators have stated that the race lacked the snap that was noticeable in the other races.

From the standpoint of the spectators, the changing of the course from a little over two miles to two miles would be a benefit, as in the way those on shore could witness the entire race. Then on the other hand it would give the rowing enthusiasts an opportunity to judge the time made by the freshmen, juniors and seniors. If the juniors could show time close to that of the picked crew it would naturally increase the interest in rowing, and better oarsmanship would be the result of the competitive fight.

What healthy Nerves Mean to You

A strong, vigorous nervous system means health, strength and ability to endure hardship and also to enjoy the full pleasures of life. The man with healthy nerves accomplishes greater tasks with less fatigue. He has a clear eye, an active brain and a sound body. He is enabled to think better and work faster. He overcomes the hardest competition successfully and gains wealth.

The woman with healthy nerves never listless, weak or hopeless; she is not irritable, she never suffers from hysteria, she has a reserved surplus of endurance. Healthy nerves prevent the sleepless mother, although worn with care and nursing, from a "break down" caused by her doubts or treble duty.

All men and women who suffer from these forms of nervousness, known as Neurasthenia—who are "gone to pieces," who lack energy, who have insomnia, who have succumbed to nervous prostration or nervous exhaustion, either mental or physical, whose condition is one of irritable weakness, will find ready relief and cure in the peculiar properties of SENSAPERSA.

SENSAPERSA

(Formerly called Persian Nerve Essence.) These wonderful little tablets contain no mercury or other injurious drug. They act like magic. The bright eye, the elastic step, the clear and active brain, the courage and strength and comfort they impart are noted most from the first day they are taken. One box of SENSAPERSA will do a great deal of good, the full course of treatment of six boxes is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or the money will be refunded. The proprietors earnestly ask every sufferer to give SENSAPERSA a good fair trial at their risk. Delay, however, is today. BEST MEATS ARE BEING PACKED AT CHICAGO FOR UNCLE SAMUEL

Finest Beef, Bacon and Hash Going to Border Now to Give Troops Strength

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—The regular army and the militia regiments on the border are securing the best meats and canned goods that money can buy in the great Chicago packing houses. The inspection is a marvel of thoroughness, surpassing that of the British army buyers, who are purchasing vast quantities here for the allied armies. Cans of "commercial beef" packed for the federal government and for European orders were opened and compared. In every instance, the appearance and quality of the meat which goes to the United States army now on the border or in Mexico was better than that sent across the Atlantic.

When the food now ordered leaves the stockyards it is of the quality ordered by the government and prepared in a scientific manner to meet all requirements of climate and conditions. As to how it reaches the mess tables—that is another story. Much depends upon the company cook.

Bacon by the Million

That the food is first class when it leaves Chicago was verified today by a visit to the big packing plants at the stockyards, where government orders for 3,000,000 pounds of bacon, 480,000 pounds of corned beef, 240,000 pounds of roast beef and 240,000 pounds of corned beef hash are being prepared and rushed to the border posts.

"Uncle Sam is buying the best meats to be had," declared Col. Knisker. "If there is any criticism as to the quality of supplies or the manner in which they are prepared, then the fault lies entirely with the government officials, for the packers prepare the foodstuffs from formulas furnished by the government; they pack it in manners prescribed by the government, and during this unexpected demand occasioned by the calling out of the militia of all states the packers have held up other orders and have gone out of their way to get government foods out first."

From Carcass to Can

The entire process of preparing food for the boys in khaki from the time the carcass was picked out in the cooling rooms to the sealing of the packages and the loading into the cars that rush the food to the border was followed. The meat was cooked on a large scale. It was cooked for the entire world-side by side with the government's orders. On one side was the bacon picked by the inspectors for the use of American soldiers and sailors. Over on the other rose tier after tier of British bacon, and in still other rows was piled "commercial" bacon, the bacon which is seen hanging in every butcher shop.

That designed for Uncle Sam stood raised several inches from the floor to permit perfect drainage. The others were piled directly on the cement floors.

Streaks of Lean Required

Uncle Sam's specifications for the curing of bacon say that the slabs must not weigh less than ten pounds nor more than twenty when laid down green. They average from sixteen to eighteen pounds. The strips must contain a good streak of lean in each piece, and be not more than three inches thick at the shoulder. They must be allowed to dry out at least one day before being submitted to smoking with hickory wood for a period of eight days or more. The excess salt must be brushed from the slabs instead of being washed off with water.

Hash Well Prepared

The roast beef is prepared from the same grade of fresh meats. The meat is subject to inspection on the carcass and at any other time the inspectors may desire. The beef is first soaked in water to remove blood clots and is parboiled a few minutes to remove excess of water. It is then placed in the cans and the cooking is completed after being sealed.

The hash requires an equal quantity of meat and vegetables, properly seasoned, and is as tasty a dish as can be served anywhere. Every bit of gristle, bone or objectionable fat is cut away from the "trimmers."

Each can is stamped so that it can be told at a glance when it was packed and by whom. The government saves out several cans of each batch prepared, so that in case criticism arises they will have proof at hand to determine who is at fault.

How Zeppelins and Aeros Are Shot Down

Here is an unusually clear and graphic photo of an anti-aircraft gun with its crew getting ready to send explosives high in the air at a Zeppelin overhead. The complex mechanism used in figuring the distance and height of the soaring flying-machine are shown to good advantage in this photo, which is of an Allied gun and crew. Both sides have developed the anti-aircraft defense to such perfection that few aeros or Zeppelins care to come lower than 10,000 feet on a clear day, unless they are speeding across the field and away from the ground-batteries.

BELGIAN COAST IS NOW MASS OF GERMAN STRONG FORTIFICATIONS

Visitor From Holland Tells How Teutons Have Wired and Entrenched Army

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands.—A correspondent who has just been permitted to visit the Belgian coast reports on the formidable defenses that have been raised there. A long line of barbed-wire entanglement stretches along the coast and an endless series of long, slender ship's guns protrude from the coarse grass of the dunes and behind the dunes crouch the heavy howitzers.

Underground dwellings of bomb-proof concrete form part of the great trench along the entire coast, he says. "No spot is unguarded. Everywhere the endless line is occupied by sailors, who endeavor to find relief for the monotony of their life in gardening and in the care of their pigs, goats, rabbits and birds.

"Here and there one comes across an enormous unexploded shell, hurled ashore by one of the big British warships, and which now forms the ornamental center of a flower garden. I saw a big fellow among them, some of 38 centimeter caliber.

"What one sees in the way of destruction is the work of the fast torpedo destroyers, which have on occasion hauled smaller shells on the coastal towns with their quick firing guns. The corners of houses are gnawed away; here and there a gable exhibits great holes. But the damage is not very bad, at least not in Ostend and Zeebrugge, much less than one would have supposed. Even on the seaside the towns appear to be little damaged. The big bath hotel at Ostend is untouched and the great glass Kurhaus shows no breakage in its innumerable panes. A few big buildings by Zeebrugge have been leveled to the ground, but that was the work of the Germans, owing to the fact that these buildings helped to direct the enemy's fire on the occasions when he sought to destroy the most susceptible feature of the harbor, the big lock.

able to have their say. Middelkerke is a mass of ruins. It is a remarkable fact that 600 people continue to crutch there. The school is even still attended by 80 children. But every house has its underground refuge, such as the soldiers construct in the front lines. Shells still fall in the place almost daily.

"Middelkerke is now in such a state that the Germans no longer take up quarters there, but prefer to live in dwelling holes burrowed in the dunes. Some streets always lie open to the French observers and gunners. Long walks can be taken in the southern part of the place by winding cover ways that have been broken and dug out, half in, half under the earth, through garden walls, houses and cellars. A deep trench is the only safe communication with the Westende watering place, where no house remains standing in the village of Westende, which is if possible even more thoroughly knocked to pieces than the watering place. I noticed that the enemy's shells had spared the part of a wall of an inn which was inscribed its name, "In den Vrede" (the Peace Tavern).

SO-CALLED BULLET PROTECTOR PROVES IN REALITY HARMFUL

VIENNA, Austria.—The Austrian authorities have been making an apparently ineffectual fight against an alleged "bullet protector" that is widely sold, but which it is claimed is dangerous rather than helpful in any way.

The "protector" is nothing but a curved piece of metal that is hung about the neck inside the tunic, and which, its producers claim, will stop or lessen the force of a bullet fired at long range. In practice, the authorities claim, it is merely a menace because a bullet at short range—as most of them are—will not only pierce it easily but flatten out in the process and often carry bits of the metal on into the body.

Some half a dozen dealers in the "protector" were haled before the

WORDING PUT IN ARMY BILL WAS CAUSE OF VETO

Copies of the Army and Navy Register of August 12 reaching Honolulu this week throw light on the new Articles of War which caused the army appropriation bill to be vetoed by President Wilson, so that it had to be reintroduced with the objectionable features removed in order to be signed.

Honolulu army officers say that the changes were made in conference committee in Congress, and that the recommendations of the War Department were not followed. The clause in the articles which made the president veto the bill was that which by inference exempted retired officers and enlisted men from court-martial.

Article 1 of the old Articles of War read as follows:

"Every officer now in the army of the United States shall within 6 months from the passing of this act, and every officer hereafter appointed shall before he enters upon the duties of his office subscribe to these rules and articles."

In the new articles, the corresponding section reads:

"All officers and soldiers in the active military service of the United States, or in the regular army reserve * * * are subject to military law."

This clause, by inference, say local army officers, exempts retired army officers and enlisted men from military law. It is this to which President Wilson objected, vetoing the army appropriation bill, of which the new Articles of War had been made a part.

According to a news story in the Register, Congress enacted the revised form, not, however, according to the recommendations of the War Department and General E. H. Crowder, judge advocate general of the army.

"The sentiment of Congress," says this publication, "led to an important change limiting the application of the articles to all officers and soldiers in the active military service of the

PALMER FOLLOWS BLUE AS CHIEF OF NAVIGATION

Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, says the Army and Navy Register of August 12, has designated Cmdr. Leigh C. Palmer, U. S. Navy, as chief of the bureau of navigation of the Navy Department to succeed Capt. Victor Blue, whose detachment from that important billet has been pending for some weeks and who has now been assigned to the command of the U. S. S. Texas.

Cmdr. Palmer, who, of course, will have the rank of rear admiral during his tour of duty as chief of the bureau of navigation, was born in Missouri January 11, 1873; graduated from the Naval Academy in 1896, and served on board the U. S. S. New York, flagship of the North Atlantic fleet, which destroyed the Spanish fleet in the battle of Santiago. He was promoted to lieutenant (junior grade) May 6, 1901; to lieutenant March 3, 1903; to lieutenant commander December 23, 1908, and attained his present rank of commander July 11, 1915.

The new bureau chief was inspector of target practice from April 1, 1909, to February 2, 1911, and director of target practice from the latter date to January 1, 1912, at which time he was detached and assigned to duty as aide to the Secretary of the Navy. He continued on this assignment until August 25, 1913, when he was detached and assigned to command of the destroyer Aylwin. Subsequently he commanded the destroyed McDougal, served as executive officer of the U. S. S. New York, and June 19, this year, was made chief of staff under Vice Admiral Coffman of the Atlantic fleet upon which duty he is now serving.

United States, including those of the reserve and volunteers and all other persons who were ordered or called to military service. In other words, people who were subject to civil law were not at the same time, while not a part of the military personnel, to be subject to the Articles of War.

The effect of this has been to exempt from the Articles of War the officers and enlisted men of the retired list, as well as, of course, officers and enlisted men of the reserve corps so long as the latter remain in civil life. This change was not suggested by anyone on the retired list, and it does not operate to their advantage particularly."

COALING SHIP ONE OF FRABJOUS TASKS ENJOYED BY OREGONIANS

Cruise Aboard Marblehead Not Life of Leisure, But Naval Militiamen Were Game

Copies of the Portland Oregonian of August 1 reaching Honolulu a few days ago give members of the Naval Militia of Hawaii an excellent preview of what they will experience when the cruiser St. Louis is coaled by them next month at the conclusion of the cruise on which they are to leave September 14.

According to the Oregonian, if there is any one thing members of the Oregon Naval Militia have learned well during the recent cruise aboard the Marblehead, it is the art of coaling a ship—and it is some art, to hear their story of the job they did in the harbor of the navy yard when the cruise ended.

If anybody has a notion that life in the navy is one big long snafu after another they should go aboard a ship while she is being coaled, if anybody has a notion, either, that the Oregon militiamen are "tin soldiers" they should have seen them doing their coaling. Their speed and willingness to work would put a shipload of regulars to shame.

When the Marblehead dropped her anchor in Bremerton harbor and a navy tug shoved two large barges of coal alongside, the job didn't look so very big. The barges had 260 tons. Along about 12 o'clock that night, however, after 11 hours of the hardest work in the world, the militiamen were convinced that it was a bigger job than it looked, but they finished it up in ship shape.

Method is Primitive

To the casual observer the government is far in arrears with modern work. They were notified that they should leave the ship to go and come as they pleased as soon as they finished coaling and cleaning. They got the ship cleaned up in good shape Friday morning and earned a good time.

the ship's crew, including officers, turned out in white duck trousers and stripped down to their undershirts above the waist and manned the sacks and baskets.

The sacks, each capable of holding 600 pounds of coal, were filled by the men on the barges and then hoisted aboard by an improvised winch. Hauling the sacks through the air until they were over the deck they were lowered to large flat wheeled carts and dragged off to the coal holes, where they were emptied and returned to the barges.

This process was used in one end of the barce, while baskets were used in the other. The baskets, holding about 150 pounds of coal each, were passed along by hand across the barge to the ship and carried by two men from there to the coal holes.

Work Done to Music

Within an hour after the coaling was started the men were as black from head to foot as the coal they were heaving, and the ship was as black as the men.

During the day and night of work the band played lively music. At intervals the air resounded with marches and dances that added zest to the work. For 11 hours the bandmen puffed away, while the men heaved to the strains.

The evening mess call was most welcome to the men. Without stopping to wash off the dirt, they pitched into the beans and sausage and made quick work of it, then returned to the coal. Searchlights from the masts lighted up the barges and the ship for the night work. Occasionally refreshments were served.

There was a rush to get the Marblehead coaled and that is why the men chose the long hours and the rapid work. They were notified that they should leave the ship to go and come as they pleased as soon as they finished coaling and cleaning. They got the ship cleaned up in good shape Friday morning and earned a good time.

ARMY WILL HAVE COMPASSES GOOD FOR NIGHT USE

There is need, says the Army and Navy Register of August 5, in the military establishment of a compass that is so illuminated to make it possible to use it at night in field operations. The difficulty has been lately in obtaining satisfactory illuminating material in this county, that article being one of the many which have been derived from Germany.

As in other cases of this sort where the supply has been shut off by the European war, it is proposed to encourage the domestic production. With this end in view, the War Department has approved of an allotment of $100 from the funds of the board of ordnance and fortification for the purchase and test of material that will contribute to the solution of this problem.

Some effort has already been made in that direction by using radium, but has proven unsatisfactory because it does not sufficiently adhere to the enamel of the compass. It is believed that with the encouragement which is now rendered under the auspices of the War Department it will be possible to accomplish some results in the direction desired and, at the same time, develop a new American enterprise.

MOTHER-SHIP IS OF NEW DESIGN FOR SUBMARINES

The Pacific Marine Review says the new type parent ship for submarines designed by Maj. Laurenti for the "Flat-San Giorgio," Spezia, Italy, is attracting considerable interest. The latest craft, the "Caera," is 328 feet long, 51 feet beam and draws 12 feet 11 inches ready for sea with all stores aboard.

The "Caera" is designed to discharge manifold duties, being a mobile supply and repair base, and containing a tubular testing dock capable of salvaging any submarine within the reach of divers.

When mothering a flotilla of submarines of three boats of 400 and three of 650 tons submerged, the "Caera" is capable of filling the fuel tanks of these craft four times and in addition maintain her own cruising radius at 4000 miles.

Propulsion is supplied by two heavy oil Flat-Diesel two-cycle reversible engines, each of six cylinders, and

On August 1 that part of the Naval Militia of the states of Massachusetts and Maine who were not in the cruise of the Naval Militia on the nine battleships of the Reserve Force, Atlantic Fleet, July 15-23, began a cruise on the U. S. S. Kearsarge, which continued until August 12. Approximately 23 officers and 220 men from Massachusetts, two officers and 40 men from Maine reported for the cruise. The Massachusetts contingent embarked at Boston. The Kearsarge then left for Portland, Me., taking aboard the Maine contingent on August 2, and started for a cruise in Cape Cod bay and vicinity until August 11. The Massachusetts Naval Militia disembarked August 11 at Boston and the Maine contingent on August 12 at Portland. During this period officers and men were ordered drilled and trained as follows:

Drills at general quarters day and night, battery drills, handling and treatment of wounded, fire (day and night), collision drill, abandon ship, man overboard, boats under oars and sails, and signals. All officers and men were instructed in their respective duties as follows: Naval customs, routine in port and at sea, aim and object of all drills, marking clothes, floats, marlinpike seaman ship, ground tackle, duties of a lookout, deck seamanship, steering and gunnery. The officers and men were ordered assigned to definite duties. Officers for line duties only were instructed in navigation, use of navigational instruments, taking of sights for computing positions, and in executive and deck duty. Officers for engineering duties only were assigned to a watch in the engine and fire rooms and instructed in marine engineering and electricity, including radio. The Naval Militia was considered as forming a part of the complement of the ship and the sea militiamen were required to perform all the duties of regular man-o-war-men.

capable of developing 3200 BHP. The operating crew consists of 140 men and there are spare accommodations for 150 personnel of submarines.

In the San Francisco Examiner of August 15 is a news story that the keel of the big superdreadnought California will be laid September 30 if the necessary material can be brought out from the East in time. A request was telegraphed to the New York navy yard the day before by Mare Island officials asking that detailed plans be rushed West and that work on the keel bars be hurried.

Woodmen of the World living in or near Honolulu will doubtless be interested in knowing that Head Council I. I. Boak of the Pacific Jurisdiction will shortly be a visitor in Honolulu.

Private advices received from his chief clerk, Mr. J. W. McHenry of Denver, inform that the head council will leave San Francisco the 5th day of September for Honolulu, where he expects to remain for a short time. There is no branch of the Woodmen of the World in Honolulu, but members of the order desiring to meet Neighbor Boak are requested to call on or telephone to Mr. Frederick Donnelly, room 70, Young hotel building, or send him a note, giving name and address, so that later arrangements may be made for the head consul to meet the members of the order who are residents of Honolulu. It is not known whether the coming visit of the head consul is in connection with the order, but it is believed that the trip is intended as a vacation for the head official of the Woodmen of the World. In any event, Mr. Donnelly is anxious that as many Woodmen as possible meet the head consul while he is in Honolulu.

Frederick Donnelly, chief clerk of Hawaiian headquarters, is one of the numerous Woodmen of the World in Honolulu who are planning to welcome Head Consul Boak with a big aloha.

It is believed the head consul may be coming to Hawaii not to organize a Woodmen of the World camp in Honolulu, as there are sufficient members of this permanent fraternal organization, one of the strongest in the Western states and Pacific slope, to form a good-sized camp here.

Donnelly himself is almost a charter member of the Woodmen of the World. He joined the Ajax Camp of Denver, Colorado, 21 years ago, and although now a long distance away, still keeps in touch with the camp's activities, and is active in looking after the interests of Woodmen on Oahu.

Court Camoes, A. O. F., has abandoned the idea of having a picnic or an excursion on Labor Day. The matter was discussed at the last two meetings. At first the idea seemed to meet with considerable favor but later it developed that sports planned and other events would conflict so that it was deemed best to drop the matter, at least for the time being.

George Pulsifer recently gave a dinner to the class to which he communicated the Scottish rites degrees. Masters and coordinate officers of the Honolulu bodies were also invited. Many traveled in their machines to Haleiwa and about 50 sat at table and enjoyed a really delightful affair.

With the exception of Monday and Saturday the Masonic calendar was open this week. Leahi Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, held a stated session Monday evening and this evening work in the first degree will be put on by Schoffield Lodge.

CARDINAL GIBBONS ON HIS 82D BIRTHDAY URGES UNIVERSAL DRILL

Aged Prelate Declares Americans Need Thorough Disciplining

BALTIMORE, Md.—Cardinal Gibbons on July 24 marked his 82d birthday, spent at the home of T. Herbert Shriver at Union Mills, Carroll county, by declaring for universal military training as the best possible thing for America. He was in fine spirits and excellent health and expressed his views with vigor, brushing aside reminiscences and Mexico to tell exactly why military training would safeguard the nation, keep it at peace with the world, uphold its manhood, fuse its many foreign strains into one patriotic people and make it a nation among nations.

The deep-reaching effect of discipline upon the American character came first in the Cardinal's mind. As he sank back in the deep armchair and looked out over the quiet village, where he had spent his birthdays since a young priest, he recalled his school days—but only to state that the greatest lesson he learned was obedience to authority, the greatest benefit he received was discipline. "Order is the first law of Heaven," he said, "and order comes from authority and obedience. Obedience to proper authority is the first lesson in military tactics. It teaches the man that there is something higher than his own desire. It is not slavishness, but obedience God bids us give to those in authority over us."

The difference between savagery and civilization, he said, lay in development of the will, and discipline was the best developer. "The Lord says that he that ruleth himself is greater than he that taketh a city," he continued, "and so it is with a nation. These camp schools make him more stronger, broader. They make him more patriotic and more fit physically, morally, socially and intelligently. They take him from temptation of passion and vices and sin. They throw him in touch with men of other circumstances from other. They make him feel there is something out there in the nation which demands his loyalty and service."

LONDON.—The report on prisons in Scotland for 1915 just issued, reveals a remarkable decrease in the number of criminals dealt with, the lowest since 1869, notwithstanding the fact that the population of the country has increased since then by 45 per cent. The decrease is attributed chiefly to the growth of the temperance movement, increased facility for finding employment and the recent mobilization.

Maine Learns Lesson On Good Road Problem

Tourists Who Formerly Visited Pine Tree State Now Visit Other Selections Where the People Have Taken Advantage of the "See America First" Crusade—Hawaii Loses Many Tourists Each Year on Account of Lack of Good Roads on Islands.

Maine is learning a lesson. Perhaps Hawaii will take advantage of the fact that bad roads are not only a poor investment but cost real money. Maine has been dependent for a number of years to a certain extent on the tourist traffic to that state in the summer. The tourist traffic in Maine has fallen off. The reason is bad roads.

Before the automobile had grown to be a necessity Maine entertained thousands of tourists who were in the habit of spending weeks and months in that state hunting and fishing. The hunting and fishing are still there, but the people have become used to good roads and the tourists now look for some summer playground where they can get around easily. When the time comes to think of the itinerary for the summer the motorist and wealthy tourist passes up the sections where the roads are poor.

More and more the automobile is becoming a factor in tourist business. Good roads naturally become of increasing importance to those who would profit by the tourist's trade. It is of importance that points of interest should be backed by good roads. California has captured much of the business, because that state has realized the advantages of building perfect highways.

The trips of the Great Northern to Honolulu last year proved that tourists wanted to come to visit a place where the things of interest could be found. But statistics showed that the Great Northern carried fewer automobiles on the last two trips than on the first two voyages. This may be laid to the publicity given the roads in Hawaii. Tourists on returning advised their friends not to take their automobiles here.

Maine, after the awakening, is now making every effort to accomplish, through agitation fostered by commercial bodies in the various cities, that which they had overlooked before. At the present time a bond issue of $2,000,000 is being expended to catch up before it is too late.

Since the European war many states on the mainland have begun to realize that the tourist travel is one of the big assets, and this fact has stimulated road building in more than one section of the country. "See America First" has been the slogan, and many wide-awake communities have been prepared for the march of travel that was diverted on account of the European struggle.

Preparedness has been the topic of much discussion, and in many communities preparedness on the road question has brought millions of dollars into the state. Maine is beginning to realize that with many of the industries weakened the tourist travel was worth real money. Hawaii has the same opportunity.

Dan Beck, a prominent merchant of Manila, who is in the city, said the other day that the roads of Hawaii were the one thing that marred a pleasant visit here. Then he began to tell of the system in effect in Manila. There any motorist who finds a bump or rut in the road calls the nearest policeman and draws the officer's attention to it.

Upon returning to the office the police officer reports the rut, and immediately a man is sent out to make the necessary repairs. In that way, says Beck, the roads are always kept up and the motorist does not find the same bump in the road day after day. "Given good roads Hawaii would be the liveliest community in the Pacific," says Beck.

SEES NO SLUMP AT END OF WAR

"I know we are now enjoying—in fact, reveling, in prosperity that is abnormal, but I can't see why that prosperity should not be permanent," says Sales Manager Rueschaw of the Reo Motor Car Company.

"It is possible, you know, to keep the money after we have made it. Europe has poured more than three billions of dollars into American purses in the last 12 months, and since all munitions contracts are for three years, will continue to pour in for some time.

"That money is here and there's no reason why it should not stay here. Europe is in dire necessity for certain things we could make and sell, and she is paying us for them. There is nothing Europe makes that we must have, therefore there is no valid reason why that money should go back.

"We are told, of course, that a number of factories formerly idle, now are prospering on European business, and that a great many other factories are making abnormal profits from the manufacture of articles outside their regular product.

"I have in mind several concerns and one in particular, whose business was making automobile parts. That concern took on a large contract for fuses and let the regular business go for the time being. But today the head of that concern says the plant would have made twice the money had it continued to supply regular customers with its standard product.

"Now, in this case, the cessation of the strife on the other side will not mean a slump, but simply a return to normal conditions and normal profits.

"The very fact that everybody feels keenly the shortage of certain articles of every day use, is the best indication that the factories which formerly made them have been diverted to the making of war munitions.

"The fact that there is such a shortage shows that there is waiting plenty of demand for the staple articles from these plants.

"Summing it up in a word, I'd express it this way: We have enjoyed a five years' demand in one year's time. That has resulted in empty shelves. And empty shelves is the best possible preface to prosperity."

WAY TO MORE MILEAGE FOR OWNERS AND THOUGHTFUL DRIVERS OF CARS

IN 24 CHAPTERS—CHAPTER 11

Knowing how to stop, when necessary, is considered of more importance than a knowledge of how to start the engine, therefore, the use of service and emergency brakes is taught to the new car owner early. Being somewhat nervous and timid, the driver may apply the brakes very hard with the result that one or both rear wheels receive tread damage. Locking the wheels will not, under all conditions, bring the car to an immediate stop; the momentum and weight will frequently cause the rear wheels to slide along for a considerable distance and grind off the tread of the tires in the same manner that street car wheels receive flat spots. When ground down to the fabric in this way the tread should be given early attention to protect the fabric from decay and weakening effect of moisture, and to prevent dirt from working under the rubber with probable separation of other tread portions. It is well to inspect inside of case and repair any threads or piles of fabric broken from strain.

Sharp, quick turns or fast driving at curves, usually causes rear wheels to slide and skid sideways. This not only wears off the tread rubber quickly but, on account of the unusual strain, is particularly harmful to the fabric of the tire.

It is recommended that the service (foot) brakes be given occasional inspection. Any difference in adjustment of brake drums can be discovered by jacking up rear axle so that neither wheel rests on the ground; then start engine and engage clutch. If, upon application of foot brakes, one rear wheel revolves and the other does not, or if one wheel revolves faster than the other, the tire on the one turning slower receives more strain and, under the circumstances, excessive wear to the tread rubber may be expected.

The clutch plays an important part in the efficiency of the car and in the service of the tires. It is essential, therefore, that same be kept in good order so that it will take hold smoothly when gears are engaged. Usually the taking up of loose bearings and frequent lubrication will insure the desired results. Avoid letting in the clutch quickly while the engine is running fast—such treatment is not good for either car or tires.

FORD TOURING CAR MAY BE CONVERTED INTO TRUCK

The newest automobile motor truck to enter the market is the Huford. The Huford is a unit for converting the Ford touring car into a one-ton truck. It consists of an auxiliary frame, an internal gear-driven rear axle, with semi-elliptic truck springs and a heavy pressed steel channel-section auxiliary frame which entirely replaces the rear construction of the Ford car. It surrounds and is attached by cross frame members to the car frame, so the original frame becomes virtually a subframe carrying the engine, while the main frame is that of the Huford unit which extends fifty-six inches beyond the original frame, giving the car a total frame length of ten feet eight inches, and a wheel base of 112 inches.

The drive is by large tubular propeller shaft with extra universal joint at front end to take care of action.

Charles E. Miller, the New York accessory jobber, has guaranteed leave of absence with full pay to all his employees compelled to go to the front by the mobilization order.

CUBAN STANDARD SERVICE STATION FOR TIRES QUEER OPENED BY SMOOT & STEINHAUSER CO.

American motorists have become so accustomed to reckoning the life of their tires in terms of miles that the Cuban motorist can tell you the mileage of any of his tires, as the worth of an automobile tire is based almost entirely on the length of time it has been in service.

"This unusual manner of determining tire satisfaction is well illustrated in an experience which one of our representatives has just reported," says Harry Parker, manager of the Auto Service and Supply Company, local distributors of Goodyear tires.

"Our representative recently called on a Cuban motorist who had been using Goodyear tires, with the object, of course, of keeping him supplied with them, but was met with the frank statement that no more Goodyear would appear on his car. The last one had lasted only three months.

"When asked concerning the mileage secured he merely gestured toward the speedometer, stating that the tires came with the car. The Goodyear man might see for himself. The speedometer registered 13,000 miles. But when this remarkable mileage was explained to him he remained as unmoved as Mount Olympus, declaring with a shrug of the shoulders, 'The Goodyear did not last long enough.'

"When it became known that he had purchased a tire of other make, a Goodyear tire was offered him free if the new tires would show as great

Smoot & Steinhauser have announced the opening of their new service station. They are territorial agents for the Willard storage battery and have kept pace with the convenience of the motorists of Honolulu.

At present they are able to do all kinds of battery work, recharging, repairing and refilling in addition to changing old batteries. They carry a complete stock of Willard batteries and parts, and will operate the service station for the convenience of the public.

The station will be used to test any batteries, and all batteries will be filled free of charge. The company has in its employ several men who have had much experience in electrical work, as well as in battery work, and as about 85 per cent of the cars manufactured are equipped with Willard batteries the service will be appreciated. According to the latest statistics there are more than 1,000 cars in America using the Willard storage battery.

mileage as the Goodyears just taken off.

"This is but one of the many problems which the introduction of American-made tires has encountered in other lands, and emphasizes the need of studying the consumer's viewpoint, and at the same time point out the standards by which tire satisfaction should be computed.

Keep the car, and particularly the drip-pan, clean and free from oil.

LET'S BE COURTEOUS WHILE ON THE ROAD

Courtesy on the road is a negligible quantity with some motorists, and the average man driving a car and trying in every way to obey speed laws receives scanty courtesy. In fact, some motorists who are openly breaking the laws revile the men who are doing their best to observe the letter of the statutes.

In some sections, and in fact along many of the main traveled highways that old gag of "four miles an hour" or "eight miles an hour," or some other nonsensical ruling regarding the speed that shall be maintained, has given way to a politely worded request that the tourist drive in a safe way at all times. There is no stipulation regarding speed, no threat to arrest any one caught breaking the foolish speed laws, and the tourists are placed upon their honor.

In spite of this thoughtfulness on the part of the municipalities there are tourists who will go through a town or city like a cyclone and then hide behind the claim that no limit of speed was named. The tourist who is trying to earn his welcome by going at moderate speed is reviled by those thoughtless speed fiends who do not appreciate the fact that they have been supposed to have some honor.

After tourists have passed through such cities as have placed them on honor they find a large sign, "Thank you," and the man who has done right, according to his way of thinking, will take the sign literally, while purposely gone through the town in any but a safe manner will see the sarcasm of it, providing he is able to see anything.

On the road in the country the man who desired to tour at a leisurely pace and enjoy life will be made the butt of violent horn blowing and signaling and indignant looks will be cast back at him as long as the car goes rushing by. Other tourists who do go slow will be guilty at times of acts that are far from fair, for such men will pay no attention to a polite request as exercised by a horn blown modestly. The horn speaks to the tourist, either of anger or toleration, and when the latter is the case some who tour will pay no heed, requiring a harsh sound to move.

TESTING WHEELS.

Wheels should be tested for side play a few times during the year. Side play will not only cause excessive bearing wear, but tire wear as well. Jack up each wheel and by grasping it firmly and pulling and pushing one can usually feel any side motion. In many cases the wheel bearings are adjustable.

SOUND FACTS PER TRAINING TO YOUR ELECTRICAL SYSTEM, MR. MOTORIST

P. M. Smoot Tells of Electrical System in Plain Language—What Starts the Starter? is One of Questions Answered—Where Current is Made and Where it Goes Are Things Worth Knowing—Things to Avoid and How to Get Results

BY P. M. SMOOT
Manager of Smoot & Steinhauser, Ltd.

"Knowing how" is the greatest trouble-preventive to be found.

In operating the electric lighting and starting system on your motor car, there are certain things you should know about if you want to get the most dependable performance from it.

It would be folly to go into the technical details of your electrical system. But there are certain simple things which every car owner will find it paying to know.

Putting It in Plain Language

Perhaps the best way to learn about your electrical system is to see just what happens when you operate it. From your place at the steering wheel, you press a button. Immediately your storage battery becomes alive, sending a powerful current along the wires to the starting motor. The hot spark inside the cylinders explodes the mixture of gas and air, and your engine throbs with life.

As soon as the engine has started it begins to turn the electric generator which puts back into the battery the current which the starting motor and ignition have taken out.

Thus we have an endless chain whose component links must have attention if they are to perform properly.

What Starts the Starter?

The starting motor is probably the one part of your electric system which requires least attention. It is nothing more or less than an electric motor, deriving its power from your storage battery. This power is transmitted to the engine, either by a chain or rear drive on the starting motor.

With automobile engineers, the chief requisite of a starting motor is that it must turn over the engine at a good rate of speed whether the engine be hot or cold. This is in order to protect the car owner against poor starting in cold weather.

Without a storage battery in good condition, the starting motor is useless. Therefore, it behooves every car owner to avoid starting troubles by keeping his battery in working order all the time.

Where the Current is Made

All the time your engine is running, it is driving the generator which supplies your battery with current. The great difference in generators is the amount of current they deliver at different car speeds.

The ideal generator is one which will keep the battery fully charged by supplying it with plenty of energy at a slow driving speed. The high speed always produces enough and sometimes too much.

A generator which charges at too low a rate at low car speed will starve your battery and one which charges at too high a rate at normal and high speeds will overheat the battery and cause considerable damage.

On some cars a single unit system is used instead of the two unit as described herein. In the single unit system the generator and starting motor are one instrument. When the battery furnishes power to charge the battery, the same armature revolves at a higher speed and generates current.

The Brain of Your System

Just as the brain of a human being controls his body, a storage battery is responsible for the action of a starting and lighting system.

Your battery is constantly changing its form. As it is called upon to supply currents for lights, starter or ignition a chemical change goes on inside. Likewise, when the battery receives current from the generator, the plates are changed back to their former condition and the battery returns to a charged state.

This process of "give and take" must be uniform. If starter and lights consume more current than the

ASSEMBLES CAR ON STAGE IN NEW VAUDEVILLE STUNT

Assembling an auto with a stop watch is the latest vaudeville act. It is also the busiest act on the stage. As it is staged, two machines are lying around loose—wheels, tops, mudguards, lanterns and all the rest—just as if a collision had occurred, only the chassis and engine of each car are intact and mounted on props.

The two crews take their places and at a signal begin to build their machines. Monkey wrenches, screwdrivers, hammers and all the rest of the tools in the kit are out and in motion.

Longfeather, who is a Shoshone Indian, has trained his team to work on a system. The man with No. 3 monkey wrench never gets in the way of Screwdriver No. 4.

Number 2, running around the end with a mudguard, dodges just in time to permit No. 5 to jump over a headlight and turn a screw on the hood.

Two of the championship team take just four breaths apiece during the contest. They are short breaths, for there's no time for a long one.

A Jersey City crew beat the champs several nights since just because the man on the spark plug was half a second late in getting the car in motion to run off the stage.

The best time thus far made in assembling a car is one minute and 22 seconds.

There is talk in vaudeville circles of putting on a "find-the-engine-trouble" act. Any crew that can get some auto engines out of trouble in less than an hour would be sure to be booked solid for 40 weeks over the "big time."

ANOTHER RECORD FOR CHALMERS

system to an amateur.

When touring or doing a great deal of continuous day driving in the summer season, the battery should be watched very carefully to avoid possible over-heating and serious injury. For this purpose a small dairy thermometer should be carried, and if at any time a temperature of 100 degrees is noticed, it shows that the battery is being over-heated. The remedy is to burn all the lamps or to stop the charging of the battery entirely, if the equipment includes a device for shutting off the generator supply.

Never blame any one part of your electrical system until you have found out the real cause of the trouble.

How to Make Sure of Results

Inasmuch as the storage battery is the very heart of the electrical system, it must be given good care to perform its functions properly.

This care consists of:

First—Keep all cells filled with distilled water, or clean rain water that has not touched metal, to a level 1/2 inch above the top of the plates. Never fill the cells full.

Second—Test the gravity of all cells with a hydrometer syringe on the first and fifteenth of every month. If any cells are below 1.275 on two successive testing dates, take the battery to a Willard service station and have it fully charged.

Third—Never use a battery in a leaking condition. Take it to a Willard service station immediately.

Fourth—Never allow the battery to become heated in service above 110 deg. Fahr. Watch the battery for heat on one or more times every day in warm weather. If the top connectors feel more than blood warm to the touch, take the temperature with a dairy thermometer. If the temperature registers near 100 deg. burn all the lamps on the car while driving. If the temperature reaches 120 deg. the battery may be ruined.

With Willard service at your disposal at our new service station, Alameda and Merchant streets, battery care becomes simple. Willard service means expert battery attention, as well as valuable suggestions. It includes free inspection of any battery at any time.

MOUNTAINS OF POTASSIUM NITRATE EXPLORED BY OREGON OFFICIALS

Traveling almost continually for six and a half days through the blistering heat of the great alkali wastes of southeastern Oregon, with but a few hours at noon and at night to break the monotony and relieve the strain of the tedious grind, three Cole motor cars set a new pace of travel through the arid West by successfully completing in less than a week a journey of 920.7 miles from Caldwell, Idaho, to Portland, Ore., that formerly required almost 60 days by stage.

In a country where heavy cars find the going so difficult that to attempt the journey with them has been deemed impracticable—in a section where even Fords are forced to run with the hoods removed in order to keep the engines sufficiently cool—these powerful 70-horsepower eight-cylinder Cole cars experienced not a moment's difficulty. Not once were the bonnets raised. Not once did they experience any trouble because of improper cooling.

Though miles from any source of water supply, and still farther from gas and oil, they plunged forward, cutting their own way through this labyrinth of sagebrush, desert and mountain.

The cars in question were those which participated in the recent research tour which took the officials of Idaho and Oregon into the very heart of the Beaver State—a section of which little before has been known. Only about 40 per cent of the State of Oregon is state land. The remaining 60 per cent is held under federal jurisdiction as forest and game preserve.

In the less than half of the territory belonging to the state, however, there are vast mountains of potassium nitrate that tower hundreds of feet in the air; great lakes covering thousands of acres of fertile soil, which, when drained, will open up vast areas that are ideal for farming and fruit raising; mines tunneling under the earth for miles that contain unlimited mineral lodes; caves where ice is manufactured by a natural process in greater quantities than ever can be used; hot springs that could furnish hot water and heating facilities for miles around.

Even to the sagebrush, the country holds a treasure store of which few ever dreamed. For the prospectors out there have found that by charring the sagebrush and mixing it with the scrapings taken from the rocks that lay near at hand they can make an explosive as powerful as gunpowder. The sagebrush is limitless and needs cultivation. This is said to be the only place in the world where potassium and nitrate exist in combination and is so plentiful that it is doubtful whether the supply can be exhausted. How extensive and profitable this one feature is destined to be can be readily imagined when it is understood that in the past it has been necessary to import potash from Germany and the nitrates from South America and mix the two by a chemical process. And since the war it has been impossible to get either into this country.

And it was for the purpose of fathoming the wealth of this great but little explored section that the state officials of Oregon and Idaho set out on the recent tour. They did not have the time at their disposal to rely on stage coaches. They required a swifter conveyance. They chose the Cole and it proved itself equal to the emergency.

It was the first time in the history of an American commonwealth, so far as is known, that every one of the officials of any state in the Union laid aside their departmental work and absented themselves all at one time from the capital. Yet so important did the Western executives and their assistants regard this project that they sacrificed everything for it.

In the party which used the Cole cars exclusively for the tour because of their past performances in rugged Western territory were Governor James W. Witherby of Oregon, Ex-Governor James H. Hawley of Idaho, Secretary of State Ben W. Olcott of Oregon, State Treasurer Thomas B. Kay of Oregon, Attorney General George M. Brown of Oregon, Henry Wilson, vice president and general manager of the American Nitrate Company of Caldwell, Idaho; Thomas W. Cole, representing the First State Bank of West Pullman, Chicago; C. B. McConnell, representing the Harney Basin Development Company, Burns, Ore., and R. P. Henderson, representing the Cole Motor Car Company of Indianapolis. All of them arrived in Portland, the end of the tour, wonderfully impressed with the rich resources of the country through which they had passed and they also paid glowing tributes to the efficiency of the Cole Eight.

AVIATION MOTOR BREAKS RECORD

By circling the two-and-a-half-mile Indianapolis speedway in one minute thirty seconds flat, or an average speed of 100 miles an hour, Phil Rader, piloting an "Aeroplane car," has lowered the previous fastest time on the great brick oval in the Hoosier city. Rader's mount carries its odd name by reason of its being equipped with one of the new twin-six cylinder Peckard aviation motors. The engine has a piston displacement of 298 cubic inches.

Rader was accompanied by a mechanic and his car carried forty gallons of gasoline, while the previous record was made by a car of 350 cubic inches displacement, carried no mechanic and very little gasoline.

The trials were witnessed by a group of noted automobile men, including J. G. Vincent, vice president of engineering of the Packard Motor Car company. He declared that the speed of the Aeroplane car could be increased by putting in a lower gear ratio, but he was satisfied that 100 miles an hour was ample to convince the engineering fraternity that the twin-six principle is right for both high and low speed.

During the last year the Packard factory has been conducting exhaustive experiments with engines for use in aeroplanes, and the sensational performance of the twin-six motor in an automobile chassis is causing no small amount of comment.

Never allow an unguarded flame of any kind to be brought into the garage.

DENBY

If you are as thorough in your investigation as we are in our construction, your truck will be a Denby

Denby motor trucks are made just as good as modern engineering and experience can make them. They are sold at prices which only carry a reasonable profit for the manufacturer and dealer. Whenever you are offered a motor truck for $100 or $200 less than a Denby will cost you, just make up your mind it actually possesses that much LESS value. A "saving" in the purchase price may mean the expenditure of many times that amount later on by loss of time, replacements and excessive maintenance cost. 100 per cent Denby value cannot be bought for 85 per cent price.

If, for any reason whatever, you doubt the sturdiness, the value, the practicability of a single part of Denby Trucks we want you to tell us. Our confidence in Denby trucks is only the reflection of satisfied users and we stand ready to "prove up."

WHAT THE MOTOR CAR DOES FOR HUMANKIND

It saves time—In the aggregate, tens of millions of hours daily are now devoted to useful occupations which formerly were wasted because of slow and inefficient methods of transportation.

It improves health—The extent to which motor cars improve the health of those who use them cannot be estimated, so vast and far reaching are the benefits thus accomplished.

It increases friendships—Owners and users of motor cars find it easy to extend and improve their circle of friendships, thus enlarging and improving their opportunities to enjoy the numberless benefits incidental thereto.

It encourages thrift—Thousands of people are "saving up" to buy an automobile and the reason they are saving is because the automobile is such an intensely desirable thing that people quit spending their money foolishly in order to get one. The habit of saving thus inspired often continues long after the motor car is purchased.

It is highly educational—The motor car has made it possible for thousands of men and women to acquire an elementary knowledge of machinery, than which there is no more interesting or useful study. It improves the mind through enlarged opportunities for travel. It gives to those who use it a constantly extended intellectual horizon.

It strengthens family ties—Untold thousands of families have been cemented into a closer bond through the possession of a motor car. It keeps children and parents together and increases their understanding of each other. When there is a motor car in the family the parents are never "strangers to their own children." On the contrary they are friends and companions as well as blood relatives.

It increases the world's wealth—Sometimes you hear an expression of surprise that there should be so much money to spend for motor cars. As a matter of fact, the motor car creates a great deal more wealth than is represented in its purchase price. The owner of a car soon finds himself a more efficient being than he was before, with a largely increased earning power. Improved mentally and physically, the motor car owner finds that he can carry on his work or his business in a way that yields him a greater return. Thus the motor car pays for itself and piles up a huge balance for distribution among all classes of men. There is nothing so economically logical as the motor car.

It adds to human efficiency—There is hardly a utility that is useful in as many or in such essential ways as the motor car. There are numerous utilities which benefit mankind in one way but there are few to compare with the motor car in the great diversity of its benefits.

The telephone saves time, but, unlike the motor car, it does not improve the health of its user while it is saving his time. There are hundreds of useful machines and appliances in the world, but it is doubtful if any one of them has such a widespread influence for good as the motor car.

It creates whole new industries. Aside from the millions of dollars directly involved in the manufacture of motor cars, the development of this industry has made it possible for other industries to establish themselves. Think of the tens of thousands who are making a living as repair men, and through employment in accessory and associated industries. Men are employed today at good wages in tanneries, in mines and factories, on farms and plantations, in oil fields and rubber groves and in stores and offices all over the world who would not be so employed were it not for the motor car and the industries it has created.

It has brought better roads—Few things contribute as much to the national well-being as good roads, and the motor car has been and is now the strongest influence for road improvement that exists. When roads are improved, property values double, treble and quadruple. Markets are made accessible which previously were beyond reach. Good roads make it possible for the poor of the cities to have better food and more of it, at less cost, and for the farmer to sell the products of his farm and garden at greater profit. And as the motor car improves roads, so it improves the lives of untold thousands in and out of the cities, and makes existence for them pleasanter and more profitable.

It benefits both users and non

'CHALLENGE OF CHURCH' TOPIC OF FINAL TALK

Spirited Address Given By Dr. R. C. Brooks at Mid-Week Meeting at C. U.

Before a large audience which nearly filled the parish house of Central Union church Rev. R. C. Brooks, D. D., delivered his last mid-week address in Honolulu. His subject "The Challenge to the Church of the Present World Situation" was one of intense interest and the probing comments of the speaker gave his hearers food for careful thought.

Dismissing on the one hand the views of those "glorious optimists" who declare that war is a blessing in disguise, like a great fire, or a mighty wind destroying much that needed to be gotten rid of in this drastic way; and on the other hand of the pessimists who declare that the present war marks the downfall of civilization, the beginning of the end, Doctor Brooks said that he considered the greatest service which this present terrible calamity could render was in revealing the foundation upon which our civilization rests and in preparing us for larger adventures in faith.

The speaker went on to say, in part:

"The imperative thing just now, difficult as it is, is to think our way into the significance of this war and to endeavor to get an insight into its facts. What are the foundations of our civilization? Grossly materialistic, not profoundly Christian. Our politics and industries are not Christianized. Steam and electricity have developed a wonderful material civilization. Physically the world is one, ultimately we must learn how to live together. Intellectually we affirm that the world is one and intellectual pursuits bind the world together in international societies. Industry is no longer private but corporate, no longer local but international. Yet in all departments of life we see division instead of unity. In the world of religion we see as never before that there is an immense wealth of religious thought outside of the church of Christ. For the last five years the tide has been running out in the churches. In many churches there is a dogmatic group, putting the emphasis on the dogma of the church, and again, in sharp contrast what we may call 'anti-dogmatists' or the liberal group, people with no convictions and a lot of vague good feeling, while a third group is made up of those who are increasingly and with great sincerity seeking to interpret religion as the thought of Christ.

"What is our task in the face of these facts? Is it not to build a new order of ideas into the life of the world? Lecky says that all wars are caused by political, religious or economic reasons, a recent writer claims that all wars arise from economic reasons. Has not this war revealed a rift running through human society, the clash of two orders? On one hand are those who believe in competition as the organizing factor in politics, religion and industry. They realize that this means bitterness in social intercourse, obscurantism in education, the rankest kind of sectarianism in education, and war. Yet they defend it as natural and inevitable. On the other hand there are increasing numbers who say that the spirit of cooperation must be the organizing principle of life. We see that cut-throat competition has had its day and that not until we build the spirit of cooperation in the life of the world will we have a civilization that can be called Christian.

"Here is the challenge to the church. Religion must once more become the expression of certain great, glorious conceptions. It can never again come under the sway of dogma. It must first stand for revelation, and of glorious ideas next for the incarnation of these ideas in the life of the world. The great task is to build these ideas into the social life about us, to live the social gospel. The emphasis of the teaching of Jesus was on our relationship with others. He never gave any idea that the church's business was to be that of a ferry boat, carrying people over to heaven, nor that of a fire insurance company. In the third place religion became again redemptive. It must know that it has a vision big enough to redeem the whole order of human experience. There was never so great a challenge nor was there so near a glimpse for a glorious leadership on the part of the church, but the church must be baptized afresh and thrill once more with a glorious vision and mighty passion."

Cornerstone Laid For Maui Church, H. P. Baldwin Memorial

Scenes at laying of cornerstone of new Makawao Union church last Sunday. This church is a memorial to the late Henry Perrine Baldwin, one of Hawaii's industrial pioneers and philanthropists. Its cost is close to $100,000.

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) WAILUKU, Aug. 22.—Last Sunday morning at the usual hour of service the cornerstone of the Henry Perrine Baldwin Memorial church was laid. A very large number of people from central Maui were present for the exercises. The Scripture selection and responsive prayers by the minister and congregation were very carefully chosen for this occasion and these, together with the hymns which were sung most enthusiastically by the large number of people, will never be forgotten by all who gathered.

The musical numbers, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord," "How Firm a Foundation," "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun," were sung by all the assembly. Bachman's "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" was beautifully rendered by Mrs. L. C. Jones and H. W. Baldwin. Two anthems were sung very expressively by the Molokai choir.

The cornerstone was laid by Hon. H. A. Baldwin, eldest son of Henry Perrine Baldwin, in whose memory this church edifice is to be erected. Mr. Baldwin briefly stated that for some years his mother and other members of the family had thought of providing a suitable memorial in Makawao and at last the family settled upon building a church on the site of the first mill which Mr. Baldwin owned and operated. This also for 27 years had been the site of the old church building, which was recently torn down.

In a heavy brass box, which was placed inside the handsome cornerstone, the following documents were placed:

1. A memorial of Henry Perrine Baldwin, by Arthur D. Baldwin; programs for the inaugural recital and dedicatory-memorial service of the Henry Perrine Baldwin organ, Wailuku Union church, June 21, 22, 1913.
2. Names of the committee representing the family of the late Henry Perrine Baldwin, who are erecting the new church building.
3. A brief history of the Maui Aid Association, which was revived and largely financed by Mr. Baldwin.
4. A few brief items about the church.
5. A picture of the old church building.
6. A copy each of the last edition of the Maui News and Weekly Times.
7. A copy of the program of the laying of the cornerstone.
8. A roster of the church membership.
9. List of ministers who have served the church.

The pastor of the church, Rev. A. C. Bowditch, delivered a strong address upon the meaning of the cornerstone. His words were earnest and very much appreciated by the members of the church and visitors. The Scripture lesson was read by Rev. Howland B. Dodge of Wailuku, who also said a few words on what the Makawao church had done in the past and its value in the community.

Saturday's Sermonette

By LELAND H. TRACY,
St. Clement's Church.

GODLIKE DEMANDS FOR THE HUMAN BEING.

"Till we all come—unto a perfect man."—Eph. 4:13.

In olden days high honor was paid to the one who in seeking the eternal denied to himself all comforts of this life, and even created a contempt for life itself. Now all has changed. In the realm of Christian ethics it is life that has come to be considered as the supreme good, and it is this life, both in this sphere and in the realm of the future, that has caused man to cease to look upon human existence as an evil, and to consider it of such vast worth that a man does not willingly cast off this mortal existence, even when the joys of paradise are held out for him. In this mortal sphere man is responsible not only for his own growth and happiness, but also for the happiness and welfare of others. Man is a member of the tribe, the clan, the community, the state, and it becomes necessary for him to live his life in the interest of the numbers as well as in the interest of self. A man cannot divorce himself from the community. He is not entirely free to live his own life, to work out his own career, to carve out his own fortune, to achieve his own destiny, for the state sets a limit beyond which a man cannot go without being held to answer for his actions.

Little is said today concerning individualism, and much concerning the solidarity of society. There is the tendency to make all classes fit into a certain groove. This is shown in the public school system which for years sought to make all children study along the same lines, with the expectation that what would benefit one child would be of equal benefit to another child. Emphasis was placed, not on the worth of the child, but on his ability to complete a certain task, to come up to a certain standard, with the result that the public schools have turned out no scholars. Those who have achieved renown in literature or statecraft are in large degree self-educated. Under present conditions the home must supplement the school room, that genius may be restored to the people.

As a result of following this ideal, the intelligence of the nation has been watered and diluted. We note the effect in the ballot box, where sometimes a box full of votes does not contain the common sense of a single vote of a Hamilton or a Webster. The nation seems to have filled the storehouse with rich goods, only to deliver the key into the hand of an enemy. The time has come when the highest duty, that is civic duty, must be expressed in love to self. The citizens ask artists to paint their pictures—not bootblacks. They ask architects to design their public buildings—not scavengers. But having created the city, having built up the state and the nation, behold the average citizen is willing to entrust the government to saloonkeepers and the lowest, even the criminal element of society. Strange, indeed, is the fact that city, state and nation should forget that love for others begins with a wise love for self.

Thinking then of the worth of the individual, the wisdom of the Christ in making this the genius of Christianity is at once apparent. Christ asks each youth to make the most of himself, to avail himself of the opportunities of this life, to love his own reason, getting wisdom with eager passion, to love industry, to make the most of courage and self-reliance, to move heaven and earth to achieve a worthy manhood. For thus only can heaven be understood in terms of earth.

Church Needs Red News and Notes Blood, Says Rev. Fullerton In Talk

"Our Work is Sissified," Declares Berkeley Pastor; Aggression Keynote of Address

"We need red blood in the pulpit in order to attract red blood to the pew," said the Rev. Baxter P. Fullerton of St. Louis, secretary of the board of home missions of the Presbyterian church, in an address to several hundred men at the First Presbyterian church of Berkeley, Cal., under the auspices of the local brotherhood.

"We have 'sissified' the work of the church," he declared. "Outline a program that will give a man a man's job and men will respond. Our church members are overfed and underworked. If I were a pastor again, I would preach one sermon in the church on Sunday; and then I would take a bunch of men like you and hold the other service on the street corner. That might not appear dignified, but the church is dying from dignity."

The Rev. Fullerton was in Oakland and San Francisco, holding conferences with pastors to promote a forward movement of the Presbyterian church in the bay cities.

"The board of home missions is prepared to pour money into California," he said, "to assist in building up these weak churches."

COAST PASTOR WILL SPEAK AT CENTRAL UNION

Rev. Willard Brown Thorp, D. D., pastor of the First Congregational church of San Diego, Cal., will preach at Central Union church on Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service. Rev. Henry P. Judd of the Hawaiian Board will take charge of the service and introduce Doctor Thorp to the congregation.

Those who have heard Doctor Thorp on the coast and some who have been members of his church at San Diego are most enthusiastic over his ability as a speaker and promise an address of unusual force and sincerity. His church is said to be the largest of any in San Diego and its influence goes out over the whole city where Doctor Thorp is a most popular citizen. While possessing rare gifts as a pastor his work among the men of his parish has been notably successful and he is commonly referred to as a "man's man."

NORMAN C. SCHENCK TO SPEAK AT MEETING AT CHURCH ON WEDNESDAY

The mid-week service of Central Union church will be held on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the parish house under the direction of Rev. Norman C. Schenck of the Hawaiian board. Mr. Schenck has chosen for his subject "The Abiding Christ," and the Scripture reading for the evening will be found in the first eight verses of the seventeenth chapter of Matthew. All interested in this topic are cordially invited to be present.

GIVES RESUME OF WORK AMONG PEOPLE OF MANY NATIONS IN TERRITORY

The audience at the mid-week service at Central Union parish house last Wednesday listened to a very comprehensive and illuminating resume of the work which the Hawaiian Evangelical Association is carrying on among the various nationalities in Hawaii. In a masterly fashion Rev. Henry P. Judd brought out the salient facts in the work conducted among the Japanese, both in their own tongue and in English; the Chinese, Portuguese, Filipino and Hawaiian work. The meeting was well attended.

INSPIRATION OF THE BIBLE AND THE DIVINITY OF CHRIST

These two great fundamentals of Christianity are continuously assailed by the advocates of new theology, evolution and higher criticism. The Bible proves itself to be the inspired book of God and also proves Christ to be divine.

"The prophecies of the Bible have foretold many things centuries before they came on the stage of action and history has recorded the events exactly as the Bible foretold. The Bible is in accord with all true science. It is historically correct in every particular. It has recorded facts of science centuries before they were discovered by man."

The above themes will be discussed by Pastor F. H. Conway Sunday night, August 27, at 7:30 p. m. at the Seventh Day Adventist church 767 Kinau street.

The meeting will be of interest to infidels, critics, and to those who believe in the divine Son of God and the inspiration of the scriptures.

Church Needs Red News and Notes From Hawaiian Mission Board

"Our Work is Sissified," Declares Berkeley Pastor; Aggression Keynote of Address

Rev. John P. Erdman and family have moved from their country place at Mokuieia near Wailuku and are staying for the present at the Peninsula.

Miss Dora Ambrose of the business department returned from her vacation last week. The larger portion of the time she was at the Volcano House.

The secretarial council met Wednesday morning. In the future it is likely that the council will meet on Monday mornings for the transaction of its important business.

The new year book of the board is progressing favorably and will be published by the Star-Bulletin the latter part of September, it is expected. Rev. H. P. Judd is in charge of the publication.

Joseph Pagan, worker among the Porto Ricans and Spanish in the district of Hilo, Hawaii, arrived on the Mauna Kea Tuesday morning for a few days in the metropolis. He will return to Hilo this afternoon.

Messrs. Richards, Akana and Judd, members of a special committee of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association to secure a camp site for the association, made a trip to the country Thursday afternoon looking into available places for this proposed institution.

Rev. Henry H. Parker, pastor of the Kawaihae church, has been spending August at his country place at Kaneohe. Last Sunday morning his pulpit was occupied by Rev. C. M. Kamahele of the East Hamakua church, Hawaii. Mr. Parker will resume his labors in his church on Sunday, September 3.

The Boy Scouts of the Beretania settlement held a successful meeting on Thursday evening. The Sunday school of the settlement is maintaining an excellent attendance record this summer, the hotter weather seemingly having but slight effect upon the number of students in the Sunday school.

Rev. Albert S. Baker, agent of the board for Kona and Kau, Hawaii, and pastor of the Central Kona church, has recovered from his recent illness to such an extent that he was able to travel to southern California from Alaska, where he was taken ill, and is now recuperating in the southern part of the Golden State.

The Filipino paper called "An Abyan," published by the board is increasing its circulation steadily. E. A. Cooper is devoting his time not only to the other publications issued monthly by the board and is increasing the circulation of these four "Friend" papers materially.

Letters have been received from the Rev. George Laughton, pastor of the Hilo Foreign church, to the effect that he is occupying the pulpit of the First Congregational church of San Francisco, of which the Rev. Charles F. Aked has been pastor. Dr. Laughton's engagement as supply is for one month, after which time he will return to his parish in Hilo.

The board Bible school will begin its work for the new year the latter part of September. Those who intend to become students in this school will please consult with Rev. J. P. Erdman, dean of the school, who will be able to furnish information regarding the curriculum and schedule of studies. The sessions of the school will be carried on in the auditorium of the board.

Rev. and Mrs. Norman C. Schenck and sons are now residing at the Beretania settlement, carrying on the work formerly done by Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie. The arrangement is for the next three months or so, until plans for a permanent headworker at that institution are fully determined. It is to be hoped that Mrs. Mackenzie may be able to return to Honolulu and resume the splendid work she was able to do for many years in that needy portion of our city.

The Sierra on Monday morning brought among her passengers George A. Young of Ann Arbor, Mich. Young has recently been connected with the Anti-Saloon League of Michigan, making his headquarters at Escanaba, but has accepted a call to the Hilo board. He will be a great addition to the educational force of the Hilo institution and goes on the Mauna Kea Saturday afternoon to his new post of duty.

On Wednesday evening at the parish house of the Central Union church Rev. Henry P. Judd, secretary of the board, led the mid-week meeting on the subject of "Missions in Hawaii." He viewed the theme from the standpoint of the Hawaiian board work, urging as an encouragement and aid to the cause of missions a deeper knowledge of conditions and facts of the mission work in Hawaii. Mr. Judd spoke of the encouraging features of the board work among the various races here, showing that it is equally important to continue work among the earliest settlers of these

Story Is Told of Christian Work Now Being Done In Northern China

CHAPTER II. Precious Island: A story of Shut Gates that Opened.

Ten years ago, when Mr. Galt first visited the place, not an inn within the four walls of the city would give him a night's lodging for love or money. A citizen of Precious Island, to be sure, had gravely given his life to save the foreigner, and thereby to save China, in the Boxer year. When the vacillating Empress Dowager issued at last a decree to exterminate foreigners, three officials, of whom one came from Precious Island, altered the decree into an injunction to protect the foreigner in every way. When the fraud was discovered, they paid the penalty of their patriotism. And Precious Island was proud of her son, who died under a fierce, ancient torture, revived for the occasion. But their interest was in China, not in the foreigner. A foreigner in himself was bad enough. But the foreign leaning was an insult and foreign religion an abomination. So they shut their gates the tighter.

However, up in Manchuria was a pastry-cook, who, by dint of unremitting industry, was saving a few dollars a year. He heard the gospel and gave up his business for a twelvemonth to study it. There seemed to him to be in the gospel that which it would be worth the while to import back to the city of Precious Island, to know, he counted his hoard of dollars, some hundred he all, calculated how many months he and his family could live on it, and hastened back to Precious Island county to preach.

The pastry cook had also acquired a taste for geographical science, in a mild way. So he made himself a terrestrial globe of sorghum pith and paper, and to whoever would listen he imparted both the teachings of Jesus and miscellaneous information about geography and astronomy.

A Social Gospel.

His native county suffered perennially from floods. The floods have grown worse since then. At that time it was not yet impracticable for the people of the county to control them by concerted effort. The pastry-cook believed in a social gospel. So he composed a tract on how to stop floods in Precious Island, printed it at his own expense, and dispensed it along with the New Testament and his geography lessons.

Half-starved, he preached the necessity of education for women. Against food-binding and opium-smoking he was unrelenting. With the courage of his convictions, he unbound his own daughter's feet. For this breach of etiquette his neighbors hated him and plotted to drive him from the village. But their plots came to nothing.

He was reading books, too. He made a habit of lending a volume to a man, and calling on him a week or two later to discover whether it had been read and understood. In the postoffice of the market-town nearest his village was a youthful Confucian of fine education, excellent native ability, and a poetic temperament. Largely for the sake of argument, in those days, he was defending Christianity against able attacks by his elder brother. The pastry-cook supplied the postmaster with ammunition for their debates. The postmaster was a man of far greater ability than his teacher. He is a distinguished preacher today, in the county seat. His elder brother is a Christian official in Manchuria.

The Church Gets Factious.

The pastry-cook is dead. But he did not die until he had preached for some years in a little, inconspicuous room on East street in Precious Island, aided now by the church in Tungchou and by his weaving. It wasn't easy to get that place. The town aldermen were against the deal. A church in the town would bring bad luck to the whole town, and especially to the neighbors of the church. But an opium sot had squandered his substance on the drug and feared inability to satisfy his appetite more islands as it is to spread the gospel among the many peoples who have come to these shores from Asia, Europe and other parts of the world.

Dr. Ukichi Kawaguchi, in the service of the board for work among the English-speaking Japanese of the territory, has recently done splendid work on Maui and Kauai. He has returned to this city and last evening at the residence of the Japanese consul-general on Nuuanu avenue he delivered a lecture on "The Doctrine of Evolution and the Conception of God." It is a matter of much regret to the board that Dr. Kawaguchi feels impelled to return to Japan and enter upon a new work awaiting him there. He will carry with him the best wishes of his friends in these islands.

Among the passengers arriving in the Lurline Tuesday morning was Rev. William C. Merritt, formerly president of Oahu College and later field secretary of the International Sunday School Association for several of the western states. Mr. and Mrs. Merritt will be in the islands until the early part of October in the interests of the Missionary Home in Claremont, Cal. Merritt visited Hawaii in the summer of 1911 in the Sunday school work and made several addresses before the annual meeting of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association as well as at other places in the islands.

than he feared the aldermen. So he rented his place to a colporteur, and the pastry-cook was installed.

Nothing very noticeable happened. A few people became acquainted with the gospel. And the whole city, ignorant and learned, came to respect the simple preacher.

The five-year lease of the little place on East street, where farmers crowded in for a few minutes on market days to hear the strange gospel, was running out. Should the missionary attempt to renew the lease, or should he purchase quarters roomy enough for a chapel and lecture-hall, a reading-room and a dispensary, a school and a preacher's dwelling, on South street, the main street of the city?

CHRISTIAN CHURCH GETS READY FOR WORK OF FALL

Following a two months' vacation observed in most of the various departments, the Christian church is getting ready for the opening of the fall activities. The Bible school council met last Wednesday, planned the work for the new term and appointed teachers to fill such vacancies as had occurred during the summer.

The school will open the second Sunday in September with a special day of welcome for the old pupils returning to the school and for the new ones coming in. Judging from the plans made and the interest manifested by the faculty, this will be the best year's work in this school.

C. E. WORK OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH BEING PLANNED

The young people of the Christian church are preparing the fall work of the Christian Endeavor Society. A preliminary meeting will be held next Thursday evening. The young people will meet at 6 o'clock for dinner in the assembly room of the community house and lay plans for their work for the new year following the summer vacation period. Ralph E. Doty, the president, is sending out notices calling attention to the work of this society.
