TOTAL ABSTINENCE PLEDGE SIGNED BY COLORED SCORES AT CENTRAL UNION CHURCH LABOR.

Great Temperance Orator at His Best.

PATHOS AND HUMOR DIVIDE HIS TALK

Francis Murphy Finds Sympathetic Audience Last Night.

GOspel temperance reaped another big harvest last night. While the big pipe organ pealed forth the strains of "I Am Coming, Lord," to the accompaniment of a hundred voices, streams of people flowed down the aisles toward the little tables where were the pledges and pencils; there were among them trim soldiers in close fitting jackets of government blue, brass buttons a-glitter, and with heads carried proudly on straight military shoulders—rough, unkempt men with unshaven chins bowed low on bosoms of coarse shirts, carelessly dressed young fellows with hats in hand, looking as if they had just stepped in, carrying wet umbrellas under their arms, and with trousers turned up from mud-spattered shoes—old men, young men, boys yet in their teens and all kinds of men, each one eager to sign a name to the pledge while yet the courage lasted.

There were many affecting little scenes; mothers weeping softly beside big stalwart sons, father and sisters gathered around some reclaimed prodigal, and sometimes a lonely one who came from a quiet corner with a lump in his throat, signed his name and crept back out of the crowd until sought out and congratulated by soft-hearted strangers.

Francis Murphy was everywhere, shaking hands and giving his blessing. At the back in one of the aisles two boys hesitated. "I'll sign if you will," said one; "you know we don't haf to stand for any of that religious business; come on, let's put our fists to the pledge."

Some of Francis Murphy's Gestures.

ELEU TAKES TOW FROM FEARLESS

Territory's Tug Gets News of Approach of A. M. Baxter First

An exciting race between the two tugs, the Fearless and the Eleu, took place yesterday afternoon when the American schooner A. M. Baxter was reported, coming from Seattle. It seems that the approach of the Baxter was reported to the Eleu long before the Fearless was notified. Immediately upon hearing that the Baxter was coming the Eleu hurried out of the harbor and was well on her way to the schooner before the Fearless even knew that a vessel had been noticed.

Why, she'd get it in a spoon, and hold up the bottle and say, "Frankie, are you ready to take your medicine?" and I would say, "No, no, I'm not ready, mother, not yet," then she'd come a little closer, and maybe wait a little bit, and then she'd say again, "Frankie, are you ready to take your medicine now?" and I'd back away and say, "No, no, I'm not ready yet, not yet."

Then she would come up close, the dear little fellow, and she would set down her little foot hard and she would say, "Well, sir, you get ready, right now," then the next thing I'd know she would have her hand at the back of my neck and my nose in the air, and down would go the medicine. Oh, so bitter and nasty! That's the way they used to give medicine. They have a new way now; I saw a mother the other day do it. She was a cunning little mother—she got a spoonful of nice syrup and she made a little hole in it, and then she shook some powder out of a blue paper and put it in the hole in the syrup, and covered it up. She called the little boy and he opened up his mouth, and she said, "Oh, is that for me, mother?" and she said, "Yes, dear, all for you; open your mouth."

Then the little fellow opened his mouth like he was going to swallow the earth, so—and down went the whole thing, medicine and all. When she asked him if it was bitter, he said, "Oh, no, it was nice. Why can't we give all our medicine like that? We must not go at people with a rush and determination. We must approach them nicely, and spare them any bitterness that we can."

Here, Brother Kincaid, come back here sir! (This to a number of ministers who were moving back a few seats; when they explained themselves to his satisfaction they were excused by Mr. Murphy, and he continued.) I want to tell you something that happened today. We all saw a poor fellow come up here and sign the pledge last night; well, Brother Cory and I went to see him today, and—here you, Brother Cory, come up here and tell them about it while I sit down and get a breath. Glory be to God!

they had had him praying, and when they left he had cried and asked them to pray for him. When Mr. Cory had finished Mr. Murphy arose. "Now, wasn't that a nice speech?" said he. "Glory be to God! It was every word so, and let us all pray for strength for that poor man who has begun the brave struggle for the blue ribbon. God help and bless him! There are lots of men standing today just where he stood—tired and sick of drinking, wanting, oh, so much, to get away from it, and weary to death, but they just keep on because they have begun. Oh, Lord, give us the kindness and love, and great, splendid charity in our hearts that we may reach out a helping hand over the dark waters and rescue that struggling, sinking soul. Let us each one do that—help each other, and be kind and sympathetic and merciful. A little love will do so much!"

"Why, it was easy to help that poor fellow today. He didn't want to see us at first, because he felt ashamed, but when he saw how earnest we were, and the love and kindness and charity in our hearts, why the poor fellow broke down and cried, and I cried, too; God be praised! Yes, I did. And that big fellow, why he just took his medicine like a good little boy, and behaved finely. He'll be a great man some day, straight and sober, and clothed in his right mind; yes, sir!"

"When I was a little coddler over in Ireland my mother used to give me medicine on general principles, periodically—maybe once a year, or something like that. Do you remember how the dear soul used to do that?"

Why, she'd get it in a spoon, and hold up the bottle and say, "Frankie, are you ready to take your medicine?" and I would say, "No, no, I'm not ready, mother, not yet," then she'd come a little closer, and maybe wait a little bit, and then she'd say again, "Frankie, are you ready to take your medicine now?" and I'd back away and say, "No, no, I'm not ready yet, not yet."

"Then she would come up close, the dear little fellow, and she would set down her little foot hard and she would say, "Well, sir, you get ready, right now," then the next thing I'd know she would have her hand at the back of my neck and my nose in the air, and down would go the medicine. Oh, so bitter and nasty! That's the way they used to give medicine. They have a new way now; I saw a mother the other day do it. She was a cunning little mother—she got a spoonful of nice syrup and she made a little hole in it, and then she shook some powder out of a blue paper and put it in the hole in the syrup, and covered it up. She called the little boy and he opened up his mouth, and she said, "Oh, is that for me, mother?" and she said, "Yes, dear, all for you; open your mouth."

Conditions Very Favorable to Negro.

TWO ARGUMENTS IN THEIR FAVOR

Better Wages and Shorter Hours and Steady Work the Year Round.

Judge Robertson, editor of the Maui News, believes in negro labor for Hawaii. What Judge Robertson says on this subject has great weight, for he was born and grew up in the South and knows the negro with that intimate knowledge only gained by a childhood and young manhood among them.

"I believe the negro will be a success here," said the Judge last night. "He is the Japanese's superior at every point except the latter's ability to shirk. The negro is ambitious, American, and desirous of education from the white man's standpoint. In the South he is often a man of superior mind and morals. We must get a good class here and must avoid the cities."

"The dude, the crap-shooting and 'bad' negro must be avoided. That sort comes from the cities and is not found in the country. I think the negroes sought should be fully enlightened on the pros and cons here and should not be deceived in any way. We want them to come to stay and to be satisfied with their surroundings."

"Some of them may have an idea that they will be able to buy little homes here and do farming in a small way. Of course we know there is no land here for them and that they must expect to make their living and their future as laborers on the plantations, in the fields and the mills. They must come to supplant the Japs and it is to take the place of the leaders of that race that the negro is needed."

"That the negro is fit for work here and that the climate will not weaken him is certain. It is never as hot here as in the cornfields of Tennessee or Georgia, the cotton fields of Mississippi or the cane-brake of Louisiana. They will adapt themselves to the work in a very short time. If the right kind of negroes are chosen, they will do twice as much labor as Japs."

"But their life must be made agreeable. They must have bosses that suit them and that know them. The Southern negro looks on his boss or luna as his friend. He looks to him for encouragement, for advice and help at every turn. Perhaps if a good negro manager for every 500 or 1,000 negroes could be brought here, it would be the very best thing possible. There are many reliable, honest, educated and intelligent negroes in the South who are accustomed to bossing big gangs of men and who are able to get more out of them than could a luna of any other race."

"Take the manager of the Belle Meade farm in Tennessee. He is a negro, old and worn now, but still in supreme command of everything on that finest of stock farms. He is in the saddle all day and he keeps the records of all the thorough-breds whose excellence have earned him the fame of the Belle Meade stud farm and wife. There are plenty of men like him. Men who have accumulated property but who could be induced to come here to live. Men like these could bring with them the class of negroes that Hawaii wants. They have a natural intelligence over their race and are thoroughly familiar with the negroes in the country about them. If such bosses cannot be gotten then white men should who know the negro."

"When the negro is brought here he must be treated properly. We must not stand what a Japanese will. I mean in the matter of food, habitation and environments. He must have the same humanizing and civilizing influences that he will not be happy. His children must have the best of schools and the church must be close by."

THE WEEK ON HAWAII

Public Land Purchasers Are at Sea.

URGENT NEEDS OF HILO

New Telephone System About To Be Installed—Peculiar Liquor Case.

HILO, Hawaii, Jan. 10.—The Herald says: It is expected that when Land Commissioner Brown returns from Washington the right of the Government to dispose of lands will be settled once and for all.

SIDEWALKS IN HILO. According to the order issued by the Street Commissioners, the work of laying cement sidewalks on Hilo streets should have begun last Monday.

CHINESE GARDENERS. What Hilo needs is some of the Chinese produce-growers of Honolulu to come here and embark in business.

BASEBALL IN HILO. The Volcano Stables Company has gone to considerable expense in preparing a ball ground at Hoolulu Park fit for any team to play on, and yet since the grounds were made ready the national game is seldom spoken of.

BIRTHDAY DINNER. C. A. Stobie entertained a number of friends at dinner at Demosthenes' on Tuesday evening. Covers were laid for twenty-two. It was the anniversary of Mr. Stobie's birth.

THE WAIKAEKA ROAD. The Waikaeke road from Church street to Hackfeld's coffee mills needs the attention of the road board more than any part of town.

THE TELEPHONE LINE. Manager Richards has everything in readiness for installing the new system of telephone service in Hilo, and is awaiting the arrival of the Switchboard that was ordered in Chicago nearly two years ago.

PECULIAR LIQUOR CASE. The Chinese in Hamakua who was on trial charged with selling liquor without a license was acquitted in the Circuit Court on Tuesday.

NOT A "COLD-FOOTER." Ulysses Harris, the dark boy in the last boxing contest, denies that he is a "cold-footer" or that he has a streak of yellow.

with McDonald for the reason that the referee was not giving him a square deal.

NOTES OF HAWAII. An effort will be made during the next session of the Legislature to have the provisions of the Act to Mitigate extended to Hilo.

The difference in the condition of the Volcano road between town and Six Miles and that point and the Volcano House is quite marked.

J. Walter Jones, official stenographer of the Supreme Court, is acting in that capacity during the present session of the Circuit Court in Hilo.

G. F. Alfonso has been admitted to practice law in the District Courts and to take cases into the Circuit Court on appeal. His license was granted by Judge Little on Tuesday.

A. McKinney, late of San Jose, is now assistant to Manager Bosworth at the Owl drug store. Mr. McKinney met many old friends on his arrival in Hilo.

One of the Japanese jockeys formerly in the employ of Horner's ranch was thrown from a horse some weeks ago and received injuries which will probably keep him off the track for the balance of his life.

The barks Martha Davis and Santiago arrived in the harbor on Tuesday, sixteen days and nineteen days respectively from San Francisco.

The boxing bout promised for next Tuesday night has fallen through. McDonald, one of the principals, has gone to Honolulu.

J. W. Givens, head carpenter for Oiaia Sugar Company, has tendered his resignation, to take effect April 1. He will locate in Hilo and engage in business as a contractor.

Company D, N.G.H., was inspected by Col. J. Walter Jones last Friday night. J. N. Wood's store at Nine Miles is in full operation and business is reported as good.

TALE OF STOLEN PIGS

Debating Society Holds Interesting Meeting--Cattle Drive at Kahikinui Ranch.

(Special Correspondence.)

WAILUKU, Maui, Jan. 12.—Miss Susie Kirkland, the second daughter of Mr. James Kirkland, manager of the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company's store, died on January 5 at Kahului.

Miss Kirkland had been ill for a week but on Saturday her sickness assumed a most serious turn and Dr. Weddick summoned Dr. McConkey of Paia for consultation.

Services were held at the Kirkland residence on the afternoon of the 7th, conducted by Major Wood of the Salvation Army. A special train of the Kahului Railroad Company conveyed the funeral party to Wailuku, where the interment was made in the cemetery in Paia valley.

Since the great Kona storm some six weeks or more ago the Kahului road near the Kirkland residence has been covered with standing water for about 150 yards.

Manuel Coelho of Kula was committed to trial by District Magistrate Charles Copp of Makawao on a charge of larceny in the second degree.

The defendant was accused of stealing two pigs, the property of Tam La and James Alana. The prosecution said: "On December 16th, as several Chinese vaqueros were returning from a cattle-drive in Kula, they saw two natives and a Portuguese stealing pigs on the premises of a Chinese who leases a pig-run from Haleakala ranch.

Two pigs were forced into bags and placed across the horse belonging to the Portuguese and one of the Hawaiians lifted a big grunter on to the saddle of his fellow countryman.

MAKAWAO LITTERATEURS. The Makawao Debating Society held a meeting in the parlors of the Paia Foreign church on last Friday evening, using as the subject of debate, "Resolved, that the manufacturer confers a greater benefit upon mankind than the farmer."

MAUI BRIEFS. On January 15th a meeting of the stockholders of the Maui Telephone Company will be held at the Paia post-office.

The cattle-drive to be held at Kahikinui ranch beginning with today promises to be a great event in the annals of cattle herding.

COLONIAL ARMY FOR UNCLE SAM

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—A special to the Herald from Washington says Army officers are discussing the proposition for a colonial army.

"The proposition for a colonial army," said Lieutenant General Miles, "if developed properly, would seem to have advantages. The idea is not an entirely new one, as our present volunteer force of 25,000 men was enlisted exclusively for service in the Philippines, and the pending Army reorganization bill provides for an increase in the Army, at the President's discretion, to meet the present emergency in those islands or any other incident that may arise."

"It seems, however, that the trouble in the Philippines is not of a temporary character as has been predicted. In view of this it might be well to model an army somewhat after England's Indian army, where the natives of India are enlisted and made to do excellent police and campaign work."

Adjutant General Corbin pointed out that the suggestions for a colonial army are in line with the policy which will be observed by the War Department.

At yesterday's meeting of the Board of Health some of the members deploring the publicity which was given the latest leper scandal, on the ground that it might hurt the islands.

Before last summer, when this paper made its plain protest, it was the custom of the Board of Health to let the friends of lepers go to Molokai at least annually and mingle with the rotting inmates.

Does anyone suppose that, if the press had not opened up the matter of the hack transfer of lepers the other night, the Board would have taken the action that it did?

THE NEW NEGRO QUESTION. The right of the adult male negroes to vote unhindered in the South and the right of the North to insist that if negroes are deprived of the suffrage there the South must submit to the loss of the power to apportion Congressional membership on their numbers.

At all. If we accept the Democratic plea that good government in the South requires the exclusion of the negroes from the polls, we must insist on the withdrawal of such negroes from the basis of apportionment.

Colorado's loyalty to Bryanism has been playing the mischief with its prosperity. In his inaugural address Gov. Thomas said that the credit of the state had been exhausted and that bankruptcy was in sight.

News from the Orange River Colony will be awaited with interest by the public, as at last accounts Knox was in chase of De Wet with some prospects of catching him.

PUBLIC AND CHARTER.

The Bulletin is unhappy because the Honolulu taxpayers will not foot the bills of the Republican committee which has been organized to make them a charter which they do not want.

The charter committee has itself to thank if it creates a deficit in its own treasury, for it went to work without consulting the party or the taxpayers.

In the first place the Republican party is under no obligations to help the native party out in its legislative work. The "Home Rulers" control the Legislature and they are very eager to get Republicans and Democrats to get share with them a charter responsibility.

The wisest policy, in securing the ultimate rescue of Hawaii from bad government is for the Republican and Democratic parties to have nothing to do with the making of a city charter or a county plan of government at a time when they can effect nothing of themselves.

NEW AGRICULTURAL OPENING.

Those who are interested in diversified agriculture and do not wish to see Hawaii put all its eggs into one basket, will read the views of Mr. E. H. Edwards, as printed elsewhere, with special interest.

The vanilla bean, which Mr. Edwards especially mentions, though not confining himself to it—grows thrifty in this city as a trellis vine or as an ornament.

Hawaii expects to have a Government experiment station in time but it does not need to wait for that. Its land-holders may experiment on their own account.

ANTARCTIC EXPLORATION.

The Duke de Abruzzi now holds the record of having reached the farthest northern point, though it is of course possible that Andree and his fellow aeronauts died by the Pole itself.

Recent explorers having found land in close contiguity, eling to the idea of an Antarctic continent, and one eminent geographer thinks the area covered may embrace 4,000,000 square miles.

Moral suasion is the keynote of Francis Murphy's appeals and it strikes a responsive chord in the common sense of his audience.

The ship subsidy bill may be lost through having a bad name, for "subsidy" is a word of evil flavor.

The Examiner is not unlikely to hear from the labor organizations of California if it keeps on intercepting the Hawaiian-bound Porto Ricans and dumping them upon its own market.

The authoritative statement in yesterday's Advertiser, touching the objects of Messrs. Thurston and Pain's visit to the Coast, is a theme of general interest in this city.

So far the experiments with negro labor have worked out well but the planters might better import some white lunas from the South who know the negro character.

Many Loafing Japanese at Wailuku--Negroes Prove Excellent Workmen.

WAILUKU, Maui, Jan. 12.—The News says: There is now in Lahaina an excellent opportunity for the establishment of a business at a cost of not exceeding $12,000 to $15,000.

Attorney J. L. Coke, who has recently dissolved partnership with Attorney George Hons, will shortly leave for the Coast with his family.

Mr. Coke has been in Wailuku for a little more than two years, first as a law partner of Attorney John Richardson, and later with Attorney George Hons.

MAUI PERSONALS. There is no doubt but that Maui will soon be included in the regular line of tourist travel, and work should be begun at once to put the road up Iao Valley in good repair.

Rev. W. Ault has returned from Honolulu, and will hold services at the Anglican Church, Wailuku, tomorrow morning at eleven.

Cards are out announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Caroline Hayselden, of Lahaina, to Reverend William Ault, of Wailuku, on Thursday evening, January 24, 6:30 p. m., at the Church of the Holy Innocents, at Lahaina.

On Wednesday a cane fire occurred at Spreckelsville, some twenty acres being burned over. It was ripe cane, and is being cut and milled at once, so that the loss will be nominal.

or go back to his native land. As to the politics of the negro, it is likely he would be a Republican. But if in the ascendancy he would undoubtedly vote in negro office-holders.
