CONVENTION ENTHUSIASTIC

Roosevelt and Fairbanks Will Be Formally Nominated At Chicago Today.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLEGRAMS.)

CHICAGO, June 23.—The feature of the convention yesterday was the enthusiasm instilled into it by Chairman Cannon, who made an effective speech after the adoption of the platform. The convention adjourned until today when Roosevelt and Fairbanks will be formally nominated.

CHICAGO, June 22.—The second day's session of the Republican National Convention was called to order this morning by Temporary Chairman Root.

Congressman Joseph G. Cannon, Speaker of the House of Representatives, was unanimously elected permanent chairman.

Senator Foraker, reporting for the Committee on Rules, reported an amendment allowing Hawaii six votes. He was supported by Governor Carter. Bingham offered a substitute, giving Hawaii two delegates, provided it did not impair the rights of those delegates already seated. This carried by a majority of seven, the Hawaii delegates not voting.

The party platform was adopted. It states protection as the cardinal policy of the party, with reciprocity that shall not injure American products. It advocates that capital and labor are entitled to equal rights. The gold standard, arbitration of international differences, and the Chinese Exclusion Act are favored.

The National Committeemen were elected.

Opposition to the nomination of Senator Fairbanks as Vice President has been withdrawn.

THE DRIFT OF POLITICS BEFORE THE CONVENTION

(Mail Special to the Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—Within a few days there will be a large exodus from Washington for the Chicago convention, where Mr. Roosevelt will be formally put in nomination for the Presidency. Stirring events there are not anticipated, but none the less there will be a large attendance of officials and on-lookers from Washington. The corps of newspaper correspondents, nearly all of whom are trained men in national politics, will leave Thursday and Friday, but a few go on earlier than that to attend the hearings of contests before the National committee. In this journalistic contingent will be one or more representatives of every large newspaper in the country. At the convention they will be joined in many cases by other men from the home offices, who will look after the doings of the local delegations and like matters of news of a local character.

There likewise goes out from Washington early in the week a corps of expert telegraphers, many of whom are specially skilled in handling political matter and all of whom are swift in sending dispatches. These telegraphers, who have had long service at the Capitol in sending political messages, know the newspaper correspondents and in more ways than one are better able to handle the newspaper messages. If it is a matter of interpreting a bad handwriting—for not all of the correspondents are able to use typewriters or to dictate to typewriters during a convention—those operators are the best in the business. Then they have nearly all had experience in facilitating messages during the confusion of a convention and in utilizing the wires to the utmost.

From the Washington standpoint the Chicago convention promises to be less interesting even than the Philadelphia convention. Four years ago there was a struggle to force a very lively citizen from New York upon the ticket. It required two or three days of shrewd manipulation by the veteran politicians of the Republican party to accomplish the task, the progress of which furnished material for a few interesting dispatches. That reluctant New Yorker is now President with pretty near a clear track ahead of him for four years more in the White House by an election in his own right.

There is bound to be less zest in the selection of a vice president at Chicago. It looks as though Senator Fairbanks would be the man, but no one can say there will not be something of a tussle of popular interest before the thing is settled.

It is almost safe to say that the convention will not pass off without some excitement. When 1,000 delegates get together in National convention, there is no telling what some delegate or set of delegates may attempt that will prove a diversion. The program cannot be absolutely all arranged in advance and it is the unexpected that makes the outlook interesting. President Roosevelt will remain in the city, while the convention is in session. All the important details of the proceedings will be communicated to him immediately. When the committee of the convention comes here to notify him of his nomination, he will be ready with a ringing speech on political questions, which will command the attention of the country.

THE DEMOCRATS.

Every Democrat in and around Washington of any prominence is trying to get the time and to scrape together the money for a trip to St. Louis convention week. They are anticipating a lively old time, because so little of that convention's program is settled and because there is so much promise of a spirited tussle between the factions. The Democratic leaders say that it is their purpose to have just as orderly a convention as the Republicans will have at Chicago. They want to make an impression upon the country by their orderly transaction of important party business even under adverse circumstances. Senator Bailey, of Texas, who will be one of the presiding officers of the St. Louis convention, is very much bent upon its being an orderly affair. He wants nobody kicked out of the hall and no scenes which could lead to unfavorable comment or to bitter feelings among Democrats. Mr. Bailey has been in Washington for several days and has expressed his views on that subject to more than one of his callers. But it remains to be seen whether the Democratic leaders will be able to have their way in that particular.

If Judge Parker is to be nominated, as seems entirely probable, the New York crowd will have a program for the convention pretty well outlined. They have already been conferring with various leaders about a running mate. An authoritative word here is that it will likely be Marshall Field, the millionaire merchant of Chicago. Judge Parker's friends have recently made a second proposal to him which Mr. Field has looked upon

SENATOR FAIRBANKS OF INDIANA, WHO WILL BE NAMED FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

GOV. CARTER CHINAMAN IS AT WHITE HOUSE FOULLY SHOT

(Mail Special to the Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—Gov. Carter arrived here yesterday from Chicago and is a guest at the New Willard Hotel. After arriving at San Francisco he went to Seattle and then to Chicago and proposes to remain here for several days, going to Chicago again about the middle of next week. He has been quite busy here, looking after various interests of the territory and meeting of friends.

At Chicago he met with officials of the National Committee already on the ground. They had considerable concern about the attendance of Col. Sam Parker, national committeeman, because of the hearing on the important contest from Wisconsin. It looks as though the committee might be very closely divided and Col. Parker is wanted there the worst way, or somebody with his proxy. Gov. Carter was unable to state with exactness what Col. Parker's program was to be, but in case the colonel does not arrive in Chicago in time to be present at the hearing of the Wisconsin contest Gov. Carter hopes to be able to secure the colonel's proxy.

The officials had a little fun with Gov. Carter, who was anxious to acquire information about the methods of procedure in a national convention. "In what order will Hawaii be called?" the Governor asked one of the committee officials. "Is it the custom for the chairman of the delegation to announce the vote of the delegation?"

"Don't you worry about Hawaii," was the reply. "There won't be any opportunity for Hawaii to vote at all. We are going to nominate Roosevelt by acclamation."

There is nothing particularly new about the condition as to National committeeman, not already known in Hawaii.

Gov. Carter was disappointed in missing Delegate Kalaniana'ole, as he hoped to meet him on the mainland for consultation about the judgeships and other territorial matters. Up to today he had heard nothing whatever from him.

STUDY OF LEPROSY.

Before he returns Gov. Carter intends to see Dr. Walter Wyman, surgeon general of the Marine Hospital service, and urge upon him the necessity of an appropriation for scientific study of leprosy. He regards any effort to cure that disease as in the interests of humanity in general and will make a strong plea with the surgeon general to co-operate with him in securing the necessary funds.

"I have no fear whatever," said the Governor today, "that in asking Congress for funds to undertake such humane work we run the risk of making Hawaii a general resort for lepers from the Mainland. There is a distinct difference between asking Congress to appropriate for such a scientific work and asking Congress to assume the expense of supporting the colony at Molokai." Gov. Carter also intends to urge at

In a small community settlement of Chinese near Liliha street a well known gambler named Lui Lock is alleged to have murdered L. T. Chin, an employee of an insurance office. For the murder there was no defensible motive. Lui Lock entered the home of his victim, perforated him with three shots and took two shots at his wife, all because Chin would not endorse a note for him. L. T. Chin, the murdered man, was a well educated Chinese. He had a family and lived in a comfortable way in a neighborhood of other well educated Chinese near Liliha street, in a lane between School and Vineyard streets. Chin had for about sixteen years, been employed by John S. Walker in the insurance business.

Lui Lock, the alleged murderer, has been known to the police for sometime and has achieved quite a reputation as a gambler. From the story told to the police last night it seems that Lui Lock has been in great need of money. It is said that on a half a dozen different occasions recently he has appealed to Chin for help. He represented to Chin that he had a house on which the Ohu Lumber Company held a mortgage for $300 and that they intended to foreclose. He declared that he had a family and that if the mortgage were not settled they would be turned out in the streets. Chin said that he was unable to assist him. Last night Lui went to Chin's home and told him that he must endorse a note for him. Chin refused. The men had quite a lengthy argument over the matter. Chin said he had a family of his own to look after.

Chin then left the yard and entered the house but Lui Lock followed and immediately commenced shooting. Chin was wounded by three bullets, one in the chest, one in the stomach, and one in the abdomen. Then Lui Lock emptied his revolver, which still contained two bullets, at Mrs. Chin. He then went out into the yard and in the presence of the crowd of Chinese who had been attracted to the place by the shooting, reloaded the weapon. Then he was captured, and is now held at the Police Station.

A coroner's inquest over the remains of Chin will be held this morning.

The victim's funeral will be held at St. Peter's Chapel, Emma street, at three o'clock this afternoon.

Harry Mossman, clerk at the police station, captured Lui Lock. At the time the shooting occurred Mossman and a friend were walking up the lane. They heard the shooting and a moment later met a Chinese who was coming down the lane at a trot. He had a revolver in his hands and a boy shouted that a man had been killed. Mossman tackled the Chinese and with the aid of his friend took the gun away from him. They then forced Lui Lock to return to the scene of the shooting. Mossman telephoned for the patrol wagon and the alleged murderer was taken to the police station while Chin was taken to the Queen's Hospital. Chin lived about twenty minutes after reaching the hospital.

NEW YORK, June 12.—A special to the Tribune from Bridgeport, Conn., says: The mystery which has surrounded the sudden disappearance of the Lake submarine torpedo boat Protector is at last cleared. The Protector has been for over two months the property of the Japanese Government and is on her way to her new owners, where, as soon as she arrives, she will be put in fighting trim and in charge of two of her original crew, C. M. Wilson, chief engineer, and George H. Evans, diver. The Protector left here last Sunday for New York and was taken aboard the Fortuna, a Norwegian steamship. The Protector's storage batteries, which form her motive power while submerged, and which weigh 80,000 pounds, were shipped to Japan on another steamship six weeks ago. When the submarine arrives at her destination the batteries will be replaced and the boat will be ready for war. While no one connected with the Lake Company will say what Japan paid for the Protector, it is understood that the price was between $225,000 and $250,000. This was the amount the company asked for over two months the property of the Japanese Government and is on her way to her new owners, where, as soon as she arrives, she will be put in fighting trim and in charge of two of her original crew, C. Strong Finance Committee To Raise Funds—Good Celebration Planned.

Scarce a half dozen citizens were in the Representatives hall of the Capitol at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, in response to the call of Acting Governor A. L. C. Atkinson, at the instance of the Sons of the American Revolution, to consider ways and means for the celebration of the Fourth of July. As the meeting progressed in business, the following were to be counted present: Mr. Atkinson, Sam. Parker, W. W. Hall, J. M. Oat, G. W. R. King, John Kidwell, Geo. A. Davis, G. B. McClellan, J. W. Jones, Frank S. Dodge, W. C. Parke, A. P. Taylor, P. C. Jones, Jas. H. Boyd, Frank Godfrey and representatives of the Bulletin, Star and Advertiser.

The Acting Governor made a few remarks about the patriotic duty, as well as the ability even at short notice, of the citizens of Honolulu fittingly to celebrate Independence Day. He then called upon the meeting to organize itself, he firmly declining to accept the presidency. His request was speedily complied with in the unanimous election, one by one, of these officers:

Col. J. W. Jones, chairman; A. P. Taylor, secretary; W. W. Hall, treasurer.

Col. Jones stated that the question of funds was the first consideration. It was at once voted that Mr. Hall have power to enlist assistants for obtaining contributions. The treasurer was also referred to his predecessor of last year, C. M. Cooke, as to any balance that might be in hand.

Mr. King stated that the Government would have no funds for "state entertainments" after June 30. The chairman suggested that they might obtain $1000 from that appropriation for preliminary expenses, such as hire of hall, decorations, etc.

Acting Governor Atkinson disposed of the fond hope with a reluctant head-shake.

Mr. Davis proposed a reception by the Governor in the morning, with addresses under the Capitol park trees before the day waxed hot; sports in the afternoon, and a grand ball at night.

Mr. Atkinson wanted first of all a working committee and favored a small one as more effective than a large one. He said there would be boat races in the morning. A committee of nine including the officers was suggested, but changed on discussion to number twenty-one. The chairman said he would announce the committee in the afternoon papers, but desired the meeting to nominate a surplus of names from which to choose the workers.

Mr. McClellan would like a change from the usual in the matter of oratory, by having some practical subject of timely interest discussed by different speakers. For instance they might consider the "Civic Condition of Honolulu," or "Means of Betterment of Our Citizenship."

Mr. Davis cried out upon didactic oratory. "I don't want any county government talk," the attorney declared.

P. C. Jones favored the idea of having the literary exercises held under the trees at an early hour. The Acting Governor, at mention of having the band, stated that he was going to send the band to Maui. Mr. Jones said the Portuguese band might be had, and someone else suggested a quintette club, for the exercises.

Mr. Godfrey, to bring conversation on the constituents of a program to a head, moved that there be salutes, literary exercises, sports, and fireworks.

P. C. Jones said it was too soon to lay out the events, as much depended upon the amount of money that might be raised.

In discussing a ball, Mr. Atkinson said this feature had been very expensive in past years. Large dancing parties had recently been arranged at the Alexander Young hotel for as low as $100, about the only charge being for punch.

Nominations for the general committee were rapidly made when started, and in the afternoon Col. Jones announced the following names, divided into sub-committees, to act with the officers previously elected:

Finance Committee—C. M. Cooke, chairman; J. A. Gilman, S. E. Damon, L. E. Pinkham.

Literary, Musical and Printing Committee—W. R. Farrington, chairman; C. M. White, E. Faxon Bishop, E. M. Boyd, Ed. Towse, J. H. Howland.

Sports Committee—D. P. R. Isenberg, chairman; A. A. Wilder, H. E. Murray, W. W. Harris, T. W. Hobron, C. F. Chillingworth.

Ball and Decorations Committee—Major Geo. C. Potter, chairman; Col. Samuel Parker, F. C. Smith, G. W. R. King, W. F. Dillingham, Dr. F. C. Hobdy.

Parade, Salutes and Fireworks Committee—C. L. Crabbe, chairman; Capt. J. C. Nichols, A. C. U. S. A.; Capt. Catlin, U. S. M. C.; Lieut. Col. Zeigler, N. G. H.; E. W. Quinn.

Secretary Taylor sent typewritten notifications to every sub-committee before evening and but one change was made necessary by the declination of a chairman to serve.

The literary committee will meet in the roof garden of the Young Hotel at 4 p.m. today. All other committees are to meet with the officers at the Capitol at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

DOWIE CHASED AROUND LONDON

LONDON, June 12.—All day long crowds have been in the vicinity of the Zion Tabernacle on Euston Road. John Alexander Dowie arrived at 10:30 o'clock, had his meals inside the tabernacle and remained there throughout the day.

At about 9 o'clock tonight Dowie ventured to leave the building with his wife and son, and the waiting mob, with frantic shouts, dashed after their cabs, while reporters in handkerchiefs joined in the chase over a circuitous route to the Hotel Cecil. It is said that Dowie obtained rooms at the hotel by withholding his name, but that he has been requested to leave in the morning.

Mark Twain Has No Chance.

ST. LOUIS, June 13.—A characteristic letter from Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), written before his wife's death, was received by President Francis at the World's Fair today. In part it follows:

"VILLA DI QUARTO (Firenz), May 25.—Dear Governor Francis: It has been a dear wish of mine to exhibit myself at the great fair and get a prize, but circumstances beyond my control have interfered and I must remain in Florence. Although I have never taken prizes anywhere else, I used to take them in school in Missouri half a century ago, and I ought to be able to repeat them now if I could have a chance. I used to get the medal for good spelling every week and I could have had the medal for good conduct if there had not been so much corruption in Missouri in those days; still, I got it several times by trading medals and giving boot. I am willing to give boot now if—however, those days are forever gone by now and perhaps it is better so. Nothing ever says it was in this changeable world.

"Although I cannot be at the fair I am going to be represented there, anyway, by a portrait by Professor Geill. You will find it excellent. Good judges say it is better than the original. They say it has all the merits of the original and keeps still beside. It sounds like flattery, but it is just true."

FISHERIES DECISION

Full Text of Report Arrived in Last Mail.

Following is the full text of the Fisheries Decision in the Damon case:

Samuel M. Damon, pff. in err., vs. Territory of Hawaii. Grants—conveyance of fishing right—effect of habendum clause referring only to land.

A definite "fishing right in the adjoining sea," described in the granting clause of a royal patent as "attached to this land," and which right is of a sort long recognized by the Hawaiian laws as private property, is included in the grant, although the habendum is to have and to hold "the above granted land," which, standing alone, might not include a fishing right.

No. 207. Argued April 12, 1904. Decided April 25, 1904.

In error to the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii to review a judgment which affirmed the judgment of the Circuit Court for the First Circuit of that Territory, entered on a directed verdict in favor of defendant in an action at law to establish a fishing right. Reversed.

See same case below, 14 Hawaiian Rep. 465.

The facts are stated in the opinion. Messrs. Francis M. Hatch, Reuben D. Silliman, and J. J. Darlington for plaintiff in error.

Mr. Lorrin Andrews for defendant in error.

Mr. Justice Holmes delivered the opinion of the court:

This is an action at law, somewhat like a bill to quiet title, to establish the plaintiff's right to a several fishery of a peculiar sort, between the coral reef and the ahupuaa of Moanalua on the main land of the island of Oahu. The organic act of the Territory of Hawaii repealed all laws of the Republic of Hawaii which conferred exclusive fishing rights, subject, however, to vested rights, and it required actions to be started within two years by those who claimed such rights. Act of April 30, 1900, chap. 339, secs. 95, 96 (31 Stat. at L. 141, 160). At the trial the presiding judge directed a verdict for the defendant. Exceptions were taken but were overruled by the supreme court of the territory, and the case comes here by writ of error.

The right claimed is a right within certain metes and bounds to set apart one species of fish to the owner's sole use, or, alternatively, to put a taboo on all fishing within the limits for certain months, and to receive from all fishermen one-third of the fish taken upon the fishing grounds. A right of this sort is somewhat different from those familiar to the common law, but it seems to be well known to Hawaii, and, if it is established, there is no more theoretical difficulty in regarding it as property and a vested right than there is regarding any ordinary easement or profit a prendre as such. The plaintiff's claim is not to be approached as if it were something anomalous or monstrous, difficult to conceive and more difficult to admit. Moreover, however anomalous it is, if it is sanctioned by legislation, if the statutes have erected it into a property right, property it will be, and there is nothing for the courts to do except to recognize it as a right. Wedding vs. Meyler, 192 U. S. 573, 583, ante, p. 322, 24 Sup. Ct. Rep. 322.

The property formerly belonged to Kamehameha IV, from whom it passed to his brother, Lot Kamehameha, and from him by mesne conveyances to the plaintiff. The title of the latter to the ahupuaa is not disputed. He claims the fishery also under a series of statutes and a royal grant. The history is as follows: In 1839 Kamehameha III took the fishing grounds from Hawaii to Kaula and redistributed them, those named without the coral reef, and the ocean beyond, to the people; those "from the coral reef to the seabeach for the landlords and for the tenants of their several lands, but not for others." The landlord referred to seems to have been the konohiki, or overlord, of an ahupuaa, or large tract like that owned by the plaintiff. It is not necessary to speculate as to what the effect of this act of the king would have been standing alone, he then having absolute power. It had, at least, the effect of inaugurating a system, de facto. But in 1848, the monarchy then being constitutional, an act was passed, article 5 of which was entitled "Of the Public and Private Rights of Piscary." By the 1st section of this article it was provided again that the same fishing grounds outside the reef should be free to the people, etc., and then by the second it was enacted that the fishing grounds from the reefs to the beach, or, where there are no reefs, for one mile seaward, "shall in law be considered the private property of the landlords whose lands, by ancient regulation, belong to the same; in the possession of which private fisheries the said landlords shall not be molested except," etc.

By sec. 3 "the landlords shall be considered in law to hold said private fisheries for the equal use of themselves and of the tenants on their respective lands; and the tenants shall be at liberty to use the fisheries of their landlords subject to the restrictions in this article imposed." Then follows a statement of the rights of the landlord as they have been summed up above, and a provision that the landlords shall not have power to lay any tax or to impose any restrictions upon their tenants regarding the private fisheries other than those prescribed.

The Civil Code of 1859, sec. 287 repeated the enactment of sec. 2, that the fishing grounds within the reef or one mile seaward "shall, in law, be considered the private property of the konohiki," etc., in nearly the same words, and other sections codified the regulations just mentioned. There was a later repetition in the Penal Laws of 1897, sec. 1452, etc., and this was in force when the organic act of Congress was passed, repealing, as we have said, the laws conferring exclusive fishing rights, but preserving vested rights.

The foregoing laws not only use the words "private property," but show that they mean what they say by the restrictions cutting down what otherwise would be the incidents of private property. There is no color for a suggestion that they created only a revocable license, and if they imported a grant or a confirmation of an existing title, of course the repeal of the laws would not repeal the grant. The argument against their effect was not that in this case the ahupuaa did not belong to the fishery, within the words "landlords whose lands, by ancient regulation, belong to the same" (the land seems formerly to have been incident to the fishery), but that citizens have no vested rights against the repeal of general laws. This is one of those general truths which become untrue by being inaccurately expressed. A general law may grant titles as well as a special law. It depends on the import and direction of the law. A strong example of the application of the rule intended by the argument is to be found in Wisconsin & M. R. Co. vs. Powers, 191 U. S. 373, ante, p. 107, 24 Sup. Ct. Rep. 107, where a railroad company was held to have no vested right to exemptions proclaimed in a general tax act. The statute was construed not to import an offer, covenant, or grant to railroads which might be built in reliance upon it. But if a general law does express such an offer, as it may, the grant is made. If the Hawaii statutes did not import a grant, it is hard to see their meaning.

However, in this case it is not necessary to invoke the statutes further than to show that, by the law in force since 1846, at least, such rights as the plaintiff claims, and which, as is shown by the evidence, he and his predecessors in title have been exercising for forty years, have been recognized as private property. Such is the view of the leading case, decided in 1858 and acquiesced in, we believe, ever since, Haalelea vs. Montgomery, 2 Hawaiian R. 62, 66. In the present instance the plaintiff claims under a royal patent, admitted to have been effective as to whatever, by its true construction, it purported to convey. This patent describes the ahupuaa by metes and bounds, and then the granting clause goes on: "There is also attached to this land a fishing right in the adjoining sea, which is bounded as follows," again giving boundaries, and continuing: "The islands of Mokuhoa, Mokuohina, and Mokuoee are a part of Moanalua, and are included in the above area." The description of what is intended to be conveyed could not be plainer. But the habendum is "to have and to hold the above granted land," and it is said that, as the fishery of an overlord or konohiki, unlike the rights of tenants, did not pass as an incident of land, but must be distinctly granted, the fishery was not included in the patent. Haalelea vs. Montgomery, 2 Hawaiian Rep. 62, 71. Again, we must avoid being deceived by a form of words. We assume that a mere grant of the ahupuaa without mention of the fishery would not convey the fishery. But it does not follow that any particular words are necessary to convey it when the intent is clear. When the description of the land granted says that there is incident to it a definite right of fishery, it does not matter whether the statement is technically accurate or not; it is enough that the grant is its own dictionary and explains that it means by "land" in the habendum, land and fishery as well. There is no possibility of mistaking the intent of the patent. It declares that intent plainly on its face. There is no technical rule which overrides the expressed intent, like that of the common law, which requires the mention of heirs in order to convey a fee. We are of opinion that the patent did what it was meant to do, and therefore that the plaintiff is entitled to prevail. Judgment reversed.

PREMIUMS UPON MARKET TABLES

Within the past few days the remark has been heard that the market business is surely overdone with a second private establishment started in opposition to the Public Market, both of the private markets being of a par of style and hygienic appointments with the institution owned by the Territory. Evidently the meat and fish merchants do not share the opinion just mentioned, judging by the avidity with which the tables in the newest market were acquired at public auction yesterday. J. F. Morgan conducted the sale for the proprietor, Y. Anin, a Chinese capitalist. The entire number of fifty-eight tables went at premium for choice ranging from $300 to $500 upon the stated rental of $14 a month for each table.

FRANK TURK HOT AFTER M'CARTHY

McCarthy and Turk have fallen out. The peace which has existed in waterfront shipping circles for some time past has been broken. One shipping master must as a result face a charge of retaining money belonging to another before Judge Lindsay this morning. McCarthy is the accused one and Frank J. Turk is the one alleged to have been wronged. Turk declares that three dollars were paid to McCarthy by a sailor with instructions that it be handed over to Turk. Turk claims he never received the money.
McCarthy after being arrested said that a sailor had handed him $3 some days ago with instructions to "give it to that man of yours." McCarthy says he thought his runner was referred to and so he handed the money over to him. Yesterday morning he claims that Turk visited him. He asked for three dollars. He then told McCarthy that the money belonged to him and that if he did not dig it up right away he would have him "pinched." McCarthy says he would hand him the money when he had it. But this did not satisfy Turk and he swore out a warrant for the former's arrest. McCarthy was released on $100 bail.

OLD DEBT INTEREST HAS ALL BEEN PAID

Eleven Thousand Dollars Just Received From Washington Obviates Further Borrowing
To Pay Fire Claims.

Uncle Sam has now paid his last annexation debt to Hawaii excepting to be good to her forever. The Treasury of the Territory has just received from the Treasury of the United States eleven thousand and odd dollars, being the balance of interest on the Hawaiian debt paid by Hawaii since annexation and before the United States actually took over the four million dollars of indebtedness named in the bond.
By an Act of the Legislature this interest money was dedicated to the payment of awards by the Fire Claims Commission. There is about $13,900 still due on fire claims, after the disbursement of the $1,000,000 granted by Congress and the issuance of $315,000 of the four per cent. bonds authorized by Congress for that purpose. The total authorization of these bonds was $326,000. With a small balance in the fund and the last instalment of Federal interest money paid as stated, Treasurer Campbell has in hand something more than $14,000 to pay fire claims. This, from the statement of these obligations already made, is in excess of the amount required.

Accordingly there is no necessity to issue any more of the four per cent. fire claim bonds. In other words the Territory is enabled to avoid borrowing any more under that special loan, which has been placed at a disadvantage in the money market from Governor (then Secretary) Carter's successful floating of the Territorial million dollar five per cent. loan for public improvements at a shade above par.

MORTUARY ASSOCIATION SEEKING INCORPORATION

Its Funds Reserved Sacredly For Purposes
Stated--Suspension of Privileges In Times of Public Calamity.

A new burial and cemetery association is being launched in Honolulu. John C. Lane, Joseph de Frias, Li Cheung, C. L. Hopkins, P. Danson Kellett Jr., John M. Kea and Wm. M. Mahuka have filed articles of incorporation in the office of the Treasurer of the Territory, for a corporation of an eleemosynary nature under the laws of Hawaii.
Its name is the "Relief and Burial Association;" the principal office to be at Honolulu. Mr. de Frias is president, Mr. Lane vice-president, Mr. Kellett treasurer and Mr. Kea secretary, Messrs. Hopkins and Li Cheung being additional directors, these constituting the governing body provided for in the articles.
"The object of the association," as the proposed charter states, "is to provide payment of the funeral expenses of members thereof, and to give relief to families of deceased members; to operate an undertaking and monumental establishment, and to own a cemetery of their own."

In the article succeeding that just quoted it is provided that the funds shall not be used for any other purposes but as stated, nor shall such funds be applied to any levy, judgment, execution or any forced sale whatever.
Another provision is that benefits shall not be subject to lien, etc., nor shall they be applied to the payment of any debts owing by a deceased member.

"In case of war, pestilence, famine or other unforeseen calamities," it is further provided, "the board of directors of the association is hereby given authority to suspend or modify any or all of the rights and privileges granted herein to the association during the continuance of such calamity."
Most if not all of the incorporators are government and court officials. Mr. Hopkins is one of the Commissioners of Public Instruction, besides a Hawaiian court interpreter. Mr. Li Cheung is the veteran Chinese court interpreter.

HOW THE SLOCUM'S PASSENGERS DIED

NEW YORK, June 15.—More than 700 lives were lost when the steamer General Slocum, loaded with an excursion party of about 1500 persons from the St. Mark's Lutheran church, took fire in Bell Gate this morning and was sunk near North Brother island. Most of the victims were women and children. Captain Van Schaick of the General Slocum and five of the crew have been arrested.
It was a spectacle of horror beyond words to express, the great vessel sweeping forward in the sunlight in flames, within sight of the crowded city, while helpless screaming hundreds were roasting alive or swallowed up in the waves, crazed mothers casting babies overboard. Many of the survivors are practically insane.
In a compartment in the hold of the Slocum, forward and just aft of the fore-cabin was a room where lamps and oil for them were kept. From that cabin the fire swept back through the boat with a fierceness that no fire-fighting apparatus could check. In the fifteen minutes that elapsed from the discovery of the fire until the Gen. Slocum was burned to the water's edge, there was a holocaust of the helpless.
The Slocum had been chartered to take the excursionists to Locust Grove on Long Island Sound. There were between 1500 and 2000 persons aboard. At the extreme eastern end of Randall's Island the Slocum took fire, and the woodwork being seasoned she was soon a mass of flames. The life-preservers were too securely fastened to be available and stories are told of frantic efforts by strong men to cut them loose, but even if they could have been torn down, they were too high for the children to reach.
The race to North Brother Island was horribly dramatic. It was made while the flames, fanned into fury by a strong head wind, were consuming hundreds of persons. The after rail gave way and the passengers were pushed into the river. Little children holding each other jumped in and were so found in the cold clasp of death. The vessel became choked with consuming victims and hundreds fell into the furnace-like hold when the hurricane deck caved in.
The struggle on the decks was awful. Through all the wild panic, during all that inferno, with fire and smoke surrounding them, the officers and men of the doomed vessel, remained at their posts, but they were powerless to avert the catastrophe. For hours the bodies of the burned and drowned drifted ashore. The stories of survivors are frightful.

President May Come.

NEW YORK, June 12.—A special to the Sun from Washington says: According to members of the Philippine Commission, now being entertained in Washington, President Roosevelt is contemplating a trip to the Philippine islands. The Filipinos say they learned this from the President when they were his guests at the White House luncheon on Friday. They assert he told them he expected to visit the islands, but did not indicate when he intended to go. The Filipinos, however, got the impression that the time is not a great while off. In fact, many of them believe he intends to go to Manila with Secretary of War Taft next summer. Some others are of the opinion that he may wait until his term as President expires, whether that be next March or in 1909.
Since their visit to the White House the Filipinos have given much time to discussion of what the President said, and all of them appear delighted over the prospect of having him with them in the archipelago.

"Jack" Wilson Hurt.

Friends of Yosemite Commissioner "Jack" Wilson were excited last evening over an ambiguous telegram from the Yosemite Valley hinting at injuries he received in an accident that accompanied an effort to catch the Owl train.
The telegram speaks of "a race against time," but gives nothing in the way of details. Wilson's friends are at a loss to know whether he was whirling to meet the train in an automobile or trying to make connections with the aid of a team of horses.
Wilson has been inspecting the valley with the other Commissioners for a couple of weeks. He is a well known club man. Recently he was married to Miss Cluff.—Examiner.

"No, I'll not give you a chance to throw me over," said young Snipkens; "you are too slow to make a monkey of me." "Too late, you mean," she answered, in a tone softer than butter in August.—Ex.

Senator Gorman, of Maryland, is supposed to be writing the Democratic platform, although whether he has a definite understanding with the Parker people on the subject is not known. It is regarded as a certainty that he will be chairman of the committee on resolutions at St. Louis, for he will be a delegate at large from Maryland. Ex-Attorney General Poe, of Maryland, who is an expert in the phrasing of platforms, may be clothing Mr. Gorman's ideas about what the platform should be with appropriate words and phrases. If this has been done it does not follow that the platform will exactly follow any draft Mr. Gorman may take to St. Louis. The committee on resolutions will likely have ideas to put into the resolution, but the expectation here is that it will be a conservative platform. The fight over the platform may be the most spirited in the convention, for it will be adopted before the nomination of candidates and Mr. Bryan is expected to make a stand in behalf of the two platforms on which he has been a nominee for the presidency.

UP TO THE JUDGE.

By a verdict of guilty, the jury in the Kumalae and Enoch Johnson legislative cases, has done its part towards making honest the administration of public affairs in Hawaii. An example of this kind has long been needed. For a while back it has seemed as if hoodlums had as good a chance to escape punishment in annexation courts as they had in the courts of the monarchy. Some men who were high in Territorial affairs and who undoubtedly stole public money, were set free by juries "of their peers" and are now walking the streets plotting for more power. Kumalae and Johnson expected to join them but a jury of honest and vigilant citizens has said, No! Representing the simple ethics of justice and with due regard to the trend of public opinion and the need of stopping the progress of official crime in Hawaii, the jury in the conspiracy cases has found the legislative conspirators guilty as charged.

It is now up to Judge De Bolt to say, by his sentence, whether the felony of Kumalae and Johnson shall be treated as a venial offence or as a stern admonition to them and to other rogues of their class. For years and decades it has been the custom here to wink at official hoodlum as a weakness, to be treated indulgently; hence the spread of bad morals in office. Things are but little better in these respects than they were when Kamehameha V complained that he was all the time paying out of his own pocket the money stolen from the Government by his appointees. Prosecutors, juries and judges have been lenient to a fault. But times are changing—prosecutors and juries are doing their duty; the responsibility for continuing this good work now falls to the Judge.

One of the best things that could happen in Hawaii would be a sentence for convicted legislators which would deter any official for a long time to come from "hoodlum" or "grafting," which would establish respect for the law and for civic obligation; which would improve the personnel of office by making it less attractive to thieves. The sight of delinquent public servants in stripes, working in the stone quarries, would have such an effect, but the imposition of a fine would merely mulct the criminals' friends and have no deterring influence upon them or their kind. There would be plenty more stealing.

An example must be made, says the Attorney General! An example must be made, repeats the jury! An example must be made, responds the public! WHAT SAYS THE JUDGE?

SUGAR IS RISING.

Four cent sugar is almost in sight and, according to Mr. Irwin, the price of the white staple is likely to rise for the next two or three years. There could be no better news for Hawaii except that the leaf-hopper had been checked and we are not unlikely to have this good fortune in due time. At least it is fair to suppose, from Professor Koebele's other successes, that he will be able to find the parasite which, in Queensland, where the leaf-hopper has its home, keeps the insect under such restraint that it does not materially affect the sugar output. The task is not supremely difficult and Prof. Koebele has dealt successfully with greater ones.

Meanwhile a rising price for sugar helps to make good the losses by the leaf-hopper and restores cheerfulness all around. The occasion for four cent and even higher sugar seems to be entirely legitimate. Mr. Irwin explains that it is due primarily to an increased consumption in Europe assisted by a shortage in prospective crops. This takes the price under the law of supply and demand and tends to relieve one of the fear that the ground gained may be lost on any day by a trick of speculators.

The Vladivostok story that one of the Japanese transports sunk by Skrydloff's ships had a million dollars in gold on board is absurd. Gold is not sent to the troops in Manchuria as they are paid in silver, and such war supplies as gold is used to purchase are bought in Japan or abroad. Transactions for supplies in China are carried on in silver or in drafts.

Two votes for Hawaii in a National convention are nothing to brag of but the number helps keep expenses of travel down in future and probably gives the Territory all the chance it needs to express its political preferences.

If we have 4-cent sugar by the Fourth everybody will turn out and celebrate the day, including the Englishmen.

And now two more of the Bulletin's political pets have run up against an honest jury.

WILL ROOSEVELT COME?

It would be natural for the President to visit Hawaii and the Philippines during his term of office if he could do so without violating the unwritten law that a President must not leave the United States. Former Presidents have observed this rule closely. Grant, when he visited El Paso, declined to cross the bridge into Mexico, and Arthur, while hunting on the Maine frontier, broke camp one night because he found that he had inadvertently crossed the line and was on Canadian soil. A question for President Roosevelt to solve is whether he can pass the marine league limit on his way to insular territories of the United States and still be in the United States. The deep sea belongs to nobody. True an American ship, by a fiction of the law, is American soil, but under that construction of the matter a President might go around the world and still be at home—a plain evasion of the unwritten statute. Perhaps on the theory expressed in the coastwise navigation laws, the President, in going direct to Hawaii, Guam and the Philippines and back the same way would be making merely a coasting voyage. Plainly the subject is one of interesting possibilities which a casuist as well as a lawyer may be needed to solve.

European executives do not always stay at home but it is noticeable that they never make long trips; they do not leave European waters or at most the proximity of European waters. When President Loubet went over to Algeria he did quite an unusual thing. He was only away from France three or four days and certainly nothing could tempt him to stray as far as Cochin China nor would Emperor William go to German East Africa. No European sovereign ever visited the United States; it is too far from home even in these days of rapid transit.

However, Mr. Roosevelt is a precedent-breaker and he may feel that any part or possession of the United States should not be debarred from its chief magistrate.

THE LIAOTONG CAMPAIGN.

The latest war news alters the supposition, borne out by previous dispatches, that Oku's army is moving against Port Arthur. The Russian fortress is being watched by a large enough force to prevent a sortie and another army—whether a third or fourth is not clear—is coming to strengthen the investment. But Oku, with his main force, is in the north, co-operating with Kuroki against Kurapatkin. The Russians are trying to prevent the junction of the two armies and a crucial battle is imminent. Upon the fate of that contest the plans to take Port Arthur will wait.

The Local Crimps and Their Ways.

Editor Advertiser: In reading through the waterfront articles of your valuable paper of June 22nd I notice with interest the paragraph on Crimps. Perhaps the novice will not quite understand what a crimp is and possibly would receive the impression that the United States laws, particularly section 4607 Revised Statutes amended May 13, 1904, had no effect on crimps. Granted that this is the case, should they not, as a protection to commerce and to the United States and to the interest of the Territory, be enforced? It is a fact and well known to those who frequent the waterfront the crimps and so-called tailors runners, boarding-house keepers, etc., have held sway regardless of laws and the consequence is that a harvest has been reaped out of sailors belonging to deep water vessels but not from the coasters, as the crimp or vampire-vagrant knows too well that sailors belonging to the Seamen's Union are too well protected, and until the laws of the "Seamen's Union" are followed up throughout the "Mercantile Marine" crimping will go ahead and these vagrants will resort to dishonest practices.

The paragraph I refer to states that not a single vessel has been held up during the year by these crimps, I beg to correct this statement, as numerous vessels arriving here from Newcastle have been boarded by these vampires almost before the ship was moored, liquor has been taken aboard, and then the rest was easy, as Jack is easily persuaded to take a drink after a two months' passage. He listens eagerly to what prospects the crimp has to offer him and he goes ashore with the intention possibly of returning, instead of which he knows nothing more until he wakes up to the fact that he belongs to another ship, possibly outward-bound next day. This is the work of crimps and this is what is ruining the American mercantile marine and the possible chance of our future reserve for the United States Navy. Is there nothing to be done? "Who is responsible" to see that these laws against such practices are enforced? Are these crimps and runners to be allowed to continue these evils in a wholesome community like that of Honolulu? Any one taking the trouble to walk along Queen and Nuuanu streets and by the U. S. Commissioner's office can see these crimps laying in wait for sailors when being paid off from a vessel and the sailor who is an easy victim is soon led away and the crimp takes good care of him till all his earnings are gone. He then turns the victim out to grass or look for a ship. As the amendment of section 24 takes effect on July 1st, 1904, perhaps the laws will be enforced and the fair name of Honolulu protected. Trusting you can find space to publish this in your shipping columns.

I remain,
Respectfully yours,
ON BEHALF OF SEAMEN.

[The statement that no ship has been held up, meant that none had failed to get away for want of a crew. As to the law, if our correspondent has information against crimps, upon which action can be brought, he will find the U. S. District Attorney's office glad to get it.—Ed. Adv.]

GOV. CARTER AT WHITE HOUSE.

the engineer's office of the War Department and in other influential quarters the need of funds for dredging Honolulu harbor. He has conferred on this subject with Mr. William Haywood, who has given it much attention. Mr. Haywood and Mrs. Haywood and their children leave here next Wednesday for Honolulu, where they will remain for several weeks. They sail on the Korea and will be at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco till that boat sails. The appointment of the Hawaiian judges will probably be settled next Monday. Gov. Carter was invited to the White House at 12:30 o'clock today and was one of the President's guests at luncheon. Gov. Winthrop, of Porto Rico, recently appointed, was also one of the guests. After the luncheon all adjourned to the rear portico, where they smoked and talked about affairs. The President divided his time between Hawaii and Porto Rico. He is interested in having the judgeships disposed of at once. Gov. Carter assured the President that there was a question of policy entering into the appointments. It must be decided whether good men, who have performed their duty faithfully, should be entitled to reappointment, or whether the entire available material should be selected from in making up the appointments.

Mr. Roosevelt stated at once that he should depend upon Gov. Carter in those matters and directed that he confer immediately with Solicitor Hoyt, of the Department of Justice. After they had agreed upon what should be done the President directed that their conclusions be made known to him. He will then make the appointments.

Gov. Carter spoke to him about the desire of the territory for acquisition of the armory site and mentioned his wish to confer with Secretary of War Taft about it, as legislation by Congress would be necessary. He also spoke to the President about the need of an appropriation for improving the harbor of Honolulu. The President showed interest in both those matters. When the subject of investigation of leniency was broached Gov. Carter remarked that that was something in which Gov. Winthrop was also interested as there were lepers in Porto Rico. The President expressed hearty approval of Gov. Carter's efforts to have the federal government inquire into the possibility of curing that dread disease.

INTERVIEW WITH CARTER.

The Washington Post in this morning's issue has the following regarding Gov. Carter:

"The governor of the Hawaiian Islands, Hon. George R. Carter, who is a guest of the New Willard, is a man of only thirty-six years, whose fine personality would create a good impression in any company. He was born in the Sandwich Islands, as his father and mother were, and as a lad he used often to come to the National Capital from Andover, Mass., where his father, then minister from the islands, had sent him to school. Later he was graduated at Yale. His family is of New England strain, and the young governor has all the energy and practical good sense that seems to inhere in the old Puritan stock.

"Asked what had brought him to Washington, Gov. Carter said: "The commissions of many of our most important officials in the Territory are about to expire and I have come to talk over the matter of appointments with the President. The tenure of all the judges of the Supreme Court and three of the five federal judges has reached the time limit and so with the offices."

"What is the condition of things in Hawaii?" "Not nearly so good as it ought to be. The great disadvantage we labor under is that there has been no recognition by the United States Congress of our exceptional situation and special needs. We need money for the improvement of our harbors, but not a cent has been forthcoming. We have been handicapped by the labor laws of the mainland, and thereby shut out of a supply of oriental labor, to the great detriment of the planting interests. Our government can't lease lands for over five years, when it takes quite that long to get the first yield from some crops out of which good profits may ultimately come.

"Moreover, Uncle Sam took away from Hawaii fully one-third of its annual revenue by transferring to Washington the entire receipts from import duties. The islands have paid into the Treasury of the United States over $8 for every man, woman, and child living on them, getting back but little more than $1 per capita. In the six years since annexation the net profits from Hawaii to the Federal Treasury have aggregated $4,250,000.

"We have by reason of this loss of revenue been forced to cut down our expenses about 33-1/3 per cent., and this retrenchment has caused no small hurt and inconvenience. But if Congress will only lend a helping hand we shall come out of our present adversity in excellent form. This great government cannot and will not allow its island territory to become a failure in any respect, nor will our high-minded and politic people allow it. All we ask is a fair show and that liberality characteristic of our countrymen."

CHOLERA INFANTUM.—This has long been regarded as one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases to which infants are subject. It can be cured, however, when properly treated. All that is necessary is to give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and castor oil as directed, with each bottle, and a cure is certain. Since this remedy has come into such general use, there are very few deaths from cholera infantum, and none whatever when it is given. SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—The battleship Ohio, now at the Union Iron Works, and to be sent out next month for her builders' trial trip, is receiving a coat of white paint. The huge war ship is otherwise almost in readiness for the trial. As a modern first-class battleship the Ohio will attract attention the world over when she goes to sea to ascertain her capabilities.

American Praises Morocco Brigand.

TANGIER, June 12.—J. W. S. Langerman, commissioner of the Moroccan section at the St. Louis Exposition, arrived here today from the camp of Raissouli, the bandit. Langerman said: "I met Raissouli and his band, fully armed and suspicious of the visit. For a few moments the situation was critical, but all passed off well. Ion Perdicaris, the American whom Raissouli holds captive, is much better and in good spirits over the prospect of his speedy release."

LONDON, June 12.—An extremely interesting letter, written in Brigand Raissouli's camp in remote Morocco, has just been received by A. J. Davison, from Ion Perdicaris. The letter is remarkable for the whole-hearted tribute it pays to the personal qualities and fascinating manner of the bandit. It is dated "Assaradon (Beniars), Saturday, June 4," and is as follows:

"Nothing more startling and unexpected than our capture could be imagined. We happened to have no guests. You can picture one of our quiet dinners at Aidone, the conversation in an easy domestic vein, the windows all open, the table a mass of flowers, and suddenly, like an avalanche, a yelling onset of Raissouli's men—a classic scene of rapine and confusion.

"Nor would it be easy to conceive a picture more wild and gloomy than that of our forced journey—Varley's and mine. It is easy now to write in this strain, when we are assured negotiations for our release are being concluded and we shall very soon be restored to our friends, but during the terrible twenty-four hours' ride over rocks and boulders and through the dense thicket, where our captors had at times literally to cut their way in order to avoid villages on the beaten track—well, we had no such consolation then; none of any sort, indeed.

"The dread of one day being seized and held for a ransom has of late been one of the anxieties of my life in Morocco. You will remember our talk about it at Elminzah a few months ago. So, thinking of Mrs. Perdicaris and the young people, you may perhaps conceive something of my feelings when we found ourselves being dragged along those difficult and perilous paths by a gang of ruffians who had begun their amiable attentions by clubbing us with their rifles and threatening us with their murderous looking curved daggers.

"I was astonished to learn that our fears were not really well founded. We have learned that Raissouli's chief object is to secure the release of members of his own kabile unjustly, or at least treacherously, entrapped and imprisoned by the Pasha of Tangier, a former friend and foster brother of Raissouli himself. Raissouli had trusted him and been betrayed.

"The sum demanded by Raissouli is not so much a price for our release as a demand for the making good of the losses inflicted by order of the said Pasha, from whom Raissouli claims payment.

"Another startling surprise was to find in Raissouli himself the most interesting and kindly hearted native gentleman it has been my good fortune to have known. It is impossible not to like the man, conscious as I am of the injury I and all at Tangier have suffered at his hands."

SOCIETY

Society yesterday made its bow to Mrs. Abram Henry Afong (nee Harvey), who is one of the recent brides to come to Honolulu from the mainland. The splendid home of Mrs. Julia Afong on Nuuanu avenue was gay with guests from 4 to 6 o'clock. Simplicity marked the scheme of the decorations throughout. The wide hallway was in red, a huge bowl of red lilies resting upon a teak-wood table being particularly conspicuous, while cut-glass bowls filled with red carnations and plumosa arranged upon low teak-wood tablettes made a pretty ensemble. To the right the drawing-room showed brilliantly with its clusters of white lilies and golden shower blossoms. Upon the piano was a tall vase filled with Easter lilies, resting upon a handsome white silk cover embroidered with colored flowers of Oriental design. The mantel was banked with rich yellow golden shower. The carved sandalwood grill-arch was sprayed over with malle. Behind the receiving party was a bank of potted palms unrelieved by lighter colors.

The second parlor was all in yellow, golden shower being profusely used, and the end of the hallway near the billiard room was made attractive with yellow crape. In the diningroom, with its handsome ebony furnishings, a tall vase filled with yellow crape blossoms formed the table center-piece, while a few bowls of pink roses sufficed for the sitting room. The conservatory, opening upon the stair landing, was a charming retreat where lamps shed a soft light upon the greenery. Upon the lanai where the Kawahau Quintet played, tea tables were arranged, each covered with a pretty embroidered table cloth and a tiny cut glass vase holding pink carnations and maidenhair ferns, some vases, however, containing pink and white daisies. The China used was old Canton of a set given to Mrs. Afong by Mr. Afong nearly fifty years ago.

Mrs. Julia Afong received in the drawing room with her daughter-in-law Mrs. Abram Henry Afong, assisted by Mrs. A. S. Humphreys. The guests were met at the entrance by Miss Afong, Mrs. George C. Beckley, Mrs. Carl Holloway, Miss Margaret Walker and Miss Cordelia Walker. Mrs. Abram Afong was charming in a gown of white crepe du chine with a lace bertha, and she won every one by her gracious manner. Mrs. Julia Afong wore a black brocaded satin trimmed with black passementerie. She wore diamond ornaments. Mrs. Humphreys wore a soft white gown. The guests bidden, most of whom were present, were Queen Liliuokalani, Mrs. W. F. Allen, Miss Allen, Mrs. C. W. Ashford, Mrs. C. H. Atherton, Mrs. J. A. Gilman, Mrs. A. T. Mrs. Sanford B. Dole gives a dancing party this evening at her Emma street residence in honor of Miss Winifred Dole.

Princess Kawananakoa entertained at luncheon yesterday at Kuaiahelani for the Misses Bradley, the other guests being Miss Violet Makee, Miss Alice Campbell, Miss Juanita Beckley, Miss Genevieve Dowsett. The play cards were pretty hand-painted. Marchal Neil roses, and the table was beautiful in yellow.

A very elaborate dinner was given on Tuesday evening at the Moana Hotel by Mr. Deering of Chicago, in honor of Mrs. Deering, whose birthday anniversary was being celebrated. The dinner was given in the two private dining rooms, one of which was handsomely fitted up as a reception parlor. The chef served one of the most elaborate feasts ever offered at the beach, and delightful music a la Hawaiian was furnished by the Ellis Quintet. Around a miniature lily pond in the center of the table red carnations, roses and maidenhair ferns were banked in profusion. In the center of the pond was placed a box entirely covered with flowers and ferns, ingeniously arranged to release six live pigeons while the squab course was being served. The flight of the pigeons, circling above and hovering about the guests created no little astonishment and excitement. The party broke up at midnight. The guests, besides Mr. and Mrs. Deering, were Mr. and Mrs. Paton, Dr. and Mrs. F. Howard Humphris, Prince and Princess Kawananakoa, Mr. and Mrs. Hawes, Mr. and Mrs. Church, Mr. Jameson, Dr. H. V. Murray, Miss Winston, Mr. Anderson.

A dance for the "Minutes" club and students in general of Oahu College was given last evening at the residence of Mrs. Claire Williams, Waikiki. The evening was a most enjoyable one, the moonlight adding to the brilliant scene. The dance was attended by a large number of young people.

Mrs. Arendt was the hostess last evening at a card party given at the Melrose, about twenty guests being entertained.

Mrs. Robert Brenham and son have returned from Hawaii and are stopping at the Melrose for the present.

Mrs. Paul Neumann of Honolulu, whose son, Ensign Neumann, met with such a peculiarly gruesome fate a number of weeks ago, has left London for Germany. She was not willing that her daughter's wedding plans should be changed. Therefore a private ceremony will unite the young people and they will continue to live in London.

Mrs. Neumann's movements are most unsettled, but it is thought she may come back to America in the fall. The shock of her favorite son's untimely end has been a grief too deep for her to pretend to be reconciled to, but she is patient and brave with her sorrow. She was, fortunately, in England with her daughters, Mrs. Alfred Fowler and Miss Neumann, when the news came. Mrs. Fowler left as soon as possible for America to join her sister, Mrs. Fred Hasson, whose home in Annapolis had been practically young Neumann's. Mrs. Hasson had had the trying ordeal of waiting a weary week for her brother's remains to be brought from Oswego, N. Y., where they had been taken to the home of General Warde, father of the young officer's fiancée, for services. The interment was at Annapolis. No thought of returning to Honolulu is at present entertained by any of the absent members of the family.—Chronicle.

Mrs. M. M. Estee is a guest at the Hotel Pleasanton, San Francisco.

FIFTY CENTS A MONTH

A small bottle of Scott's Emulsion costing fifty cents will last a baby a month—a few drops in its bottle each time it is fed. That's a small outlay for so large a return of health and comfort.

Babies that are given Scott's Emulsion quickly respond to its helpful action. It seems to contain just the elements of nourishment a baby needs most.

Ordinary food frequently lacks this nourishment; Scott's Emulsion always supplies it.

Imitations always cost less than the original, hence the substitutes for Scott's Emulsion can be sold for a few cents less. But you're not saving anything when you buy them. Cod liver oil has a market value and you get the pure oil in Scott's Emulsion. That's the difference.

We'll send you a sample free upon request. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl Street, New York.

CONSPIRACY CONVICTION

The Chinese Fund Brings More Ill Luck.

Verdict Guilty Against J. Kumalae and E. Johnson.

Motion in Arrest of Judgment. Particulars in Land Office Fraud Cases.

Jonah Kumalae, a Representative for the Fourth district, and Enoch Johnson, attorney-at-law, were found guilty of conspiracy by the jury before Judge De Bolt yesterday afternoon at 3:09 o'clock, after a deliberation of about twenty-five minutes. Defendants were indicted for conspiring to defraud the Territory of $312.50 under the head of expenses of the House special committee on the Chinese fund.

The jury consisted of David Halemanu, Wm. F. Erving, F. L. Dortch, E. R. Eath, William Dunbar, L. C. Ables, R. W. Davis, Thomas Andrews, Charles P. Osborne, Henry P. Roth, J. W. L. McGuire and Frank E. Nichols. In the jury room Mr. Ables was elected foreman.

Mr. Ashford made a clever address to the jury for the defense, laying great stress on the authority claimed for Kumalae, as chairman of committee, to appoint its clerk and choose its legal adviser, Johnson having been paid for services in both those capacities. When he followed the practice of abusing the attorney for the other side, which he did by sarcastic references to the fishery decision at Washington, it is doubtful if he made any impression upon the practical men of business who formed a large majority of the jury.

Attorney General Andrews made a very able presentation of the case for the Territory, although at the disadvantage of having to break off in the middle for the noon recess. Still his concluding remarks were if anything more closely reasoned and direct to the points at issue than his beginning. The claim of Kumalae's authority in incurring expenses at pleasure was in part answered by quoting Representative Kumalae, in his place in the Legislature, as saying: "Let Mr. Chillingworth read the report, as he has done all the work," referring to the report of the Chinese fund committee.

After the verdict had been returned, Mr. Ashford noted exceptions on the ground that it was contrary to the law and the evidence and to the weight of

DONE BY TRYING.

Nobody can tell what he can do till he tries. When a thing ought to be done the modern spirit moves us to keep working away at it until it is done. In the face of this idea the "impossible" vanishes. Where there's a will, there's a way. "If we could but rob cod liver oil of its sickening taste and smell and then combine it with two or three other ingredients we should possess the best remedy in the world for certain diseases that are now practically incurable." So said a famous English physician twenty-five years ago. "But it will never be done," he added. "You can no more turn cod liver oil into a palatable medicine, than you can turn the Codfish itself into a Bird of Paradise." Yet he lived to admit that in WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION the "impossible" had been accomplished. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. This remedy is freed from the bad peculiarities Dr. Frothingham so detested, and it is precisely the splendid medicine he wished for. Use it freely and confidently for Hysteria, Wasting Complaints, Anemia, Blood Impurities, Asthma, and Throat and Lung Troubles. Dr. W. H. B. Aikins, Physician to Toronto General Hospital, says: "I am much pleased to state that the results from using Wampole's Preparation of Cod Liver Oil have been uniformly satisfactory; it appealed to me as being prepared according to correct scientific principles." It increases the appetite and influences the digestion of food; it is delicious to take, will not disappoint you, and is effective from the first dose. One bottle convinces. At all chemists.

evidence, and gave notice of motion for a new trial. Mr. Andrews inquired as to when sentence would be pronounced.

ARREST OF JUDGMENT.

Mr. Ashford stated that he wished time to prepare a motion in arrest of judgment.

It was agreed that sentence be continued until 9 a. m. Friday, when the motion in arrest of judgment would also be in order.

In the meantime Judge De Bolt, while thanking all of the regular jurors and taxmen for their faithful services, announced that so far as the jury was concerned the criminal business of the term was ended with the case just tried.

LAND OFFICE CASES.

Yesterday morning Attorney General Andrews, in obedience to the court's order, presented bills of particulars of the five indictments against Edward S. Boyd and the three indictments against Stephen Mahaulu. These documents give the items of Land office receipts which the defendants are charged with appropriating to their own use, amounting in Boyd's case to $10,327.49, and in Mahaulu's to $8545. Condensed in minor details the particulars are as follows:

COURT NOTES.

The Hilo waterfront land case, C. A. Brown vs. J. D. Spreckels et al. is still on before Judge Gear, with evidence being given for defendants. It is said there are 12 or 14 witnesses yet to be called, and if the trial is to be concluded this term night sessions may be necessary.

Under a stipulation between the parties, Judge Gear signed an order discontinuing the equity suit of the German Savings and Loan Society vs. Charles S. Desky, trustee, and Minnie S. Desky and S. M. Damon, S. E. Damon and H. E. Waiy, copartners in Bishop & Co.

Suye Kawasaki was granted a divorce from Yukitomo Kawasaki by Judge De Bolt, the ground being non-support. W. T. Rawlings appeared for the libellant, while the libellee was absent and unrepresented by counsel.

The Lawless Shoal.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Captain Lawless of the steamer Australia, who claims to have discovered a shoal in the Pacific, in about the neighborhood of latitude 20 deg. north, longitude 136 deg. west, for which the cruiser Tacoma recently searched in vain, has had a talk with Captain Nicholson of the Tacoma regarding the alleged shoal. Captain Lawless is as firm as ever in his belief that he saw a shoal in the region described, as evidenced by discolorations on the surface. At the time Captain Lawless was trying to make time in the Australia and did not linger to investigate. But he insists that shoal water, or comparatively shoal water, exists in the position mentioned. Seafaring men say that the four days' search made by the Tacoma might have missed the shoal, and that the war ship could have passed to and fro within two miles of it without making out the discoloration on the surface. In Captain Lawless' opinion, a vessel looking for the shoal should remain in those seas several weeks, if necessary, before returning here with a definite report.

ORANGES IN ABUNDANCE

Over a Thousand Cases Arrived On Ventura.

Island Fruit Crop Is Not Up To the Average.

Few Mangoes and Alligator Pears and These of Poor Quality.

Oranges are to be sold cheap in Honolulu this week. At least it is supposed that they will go at a lower rate than would have been the case had not the Ventura brought an extra large shipment yesterday. There were 1140 cases of oranges landed from the Oceanic liner and some of the fruit men say that 800 cases would have been sufficient to supply the demand until the arrival of the next steamer. But there are practically no Hawaiian oranges on the market at present.

Up to about three years ago Kona oranges were plentiful here. They were grown in great quantities and in the city after the arrival of an inter-island steamer from Hawaii it was possible to get the choice island oranges at about fifty cents a hundred. But a blight destroyed the industry and it has not yet been revived. Now the California fruit rules the market and commands from $2 to $3 a case at retail.

Big shipments of potatoes have been received from the coast and steamers on the way will bring them from Seattle and from San Francisco. There are but few island potatoes on the market. A shipment from Kula, Maui, a few days ago was eagerly snapped up but the potatoes are said to have been small. Old potatoes are now selling from one and three-fourths to two cents a pound. New potatoes are bringing two and one-half cents and fancy ones range as high as three cents.

The Australian onion shipments are now about over for this season and the California market is just opening. Fruit men say that the crop of fruit here this season is disappointing. It is now the height of the season for alligator pears and mangoes but neither of those fruits are making a good showing. The mango crop is much less than usual. There are few alligator pears and most of these are of inferior quality. So fruit men have possibly bought more oranges and other California fruits in order to make up for the loss of Hawaiian fruit.

Wet weather is blamed for the small fruit crop and this has also affected the grapes.

COULD BUILD CARS FOR THE JAPANESE

"In view of the fact that Japan is shipping so much railway material from the mainland it might be well to state that there is a well equipped car-building concern right here in Honolulu which would be able to supply Japan with all the rolling stock the country should require and save it both time and freight in securing the same," said Mr. Hughes, Master Car Builder of the Oahu Railway yesterday. "In this shop we have built all the cars used on the Oahu Railway and also most of those for the other railways on the islands."

"The cars are of the American type and are equipped with the latest appliances and improvements. Over five hundred railway cars have been built in the Oahu Railway shops, consisting of all kinds of freight and passenger cars. We can build our own cars cheaper and get a more satisfactory car than we can import from the mainland."

Negotiations may be entered into with the Japanese government on the subject.

A little vanity is a good thing. Every woman should try, at all times, to look her very best. But it certainly must be discouraging to have your mirror tell you that your hair is gray when you are only thirty or fifty! Gray hair adds twenty years to the age. Why not look as young as you are, or even younger?

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Always restores color to gray hair, always. Brings back all the deep, rich, beautiful color of early youth. Perhaps the color of your hair suits, but you are losing the hair itself. You are threatened with thin hair, rough hair, scraggly hair. Your hair seems weak, not well nourished. Then give it Ayer's Hair Vigor, a true hair-food. It stops falling hair, makes the hair grow, and keeps it soft and silky.

HARBOR PIRATES PILFER GOVERNMENT'S PROPERTY

Harbor pirates are to be looked after by Captain of the Harbor Police Flint and some of the stayers will be ferreted out and made to leave the front.

One of the frequenters is a native of Guam who makes his living in various pursuits along the line, by fishing and doing odd jobs while he occasionally runs afoul of the police.

A short time since an employee of the Public Works department found that the Guam native had taken up quarters under the new Queen street bridge. Rigging had been nailed to the under side of the bridge and with ropes a staging was erected on which boards were laid across. Blankets, matting and other comforts were installed and the Guam man set up housekeeping. Odds and ends picked up in his perambulations about the waterfront have been collected in this unique habitation. When the man rests he moors his boat under the bridge. It is not that the Guam man has utilized the under side of the bridge for his residence that the Public Works department has objected to his remaining there, but some pilfering of territorial property has taken place, and one has been traced to the man.

In the waterway between the Pacific Mail dock and the machine shop of the government which faces the Fishmarket, a large number of piles for wharves are kept afloat. Occasionally one or two become mysteriously loosened and float out to sea. It has also been noticed that a pile is to be seen tied up to the reef far out by the channel, but the next day it is not to be found there. Sometimes a pile will be found moored alongside the quarantine wharf. One day such a pile was found there and the Public Work's man watched it. During a brief absence he discovered it was gone. It was finally located tied under the Guam man's bridge residence.

BEET VERSUS CANE SUGAR.

(Mail Special to the Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—Consul Frederick W. Hossfeld, at Trieste, Austria, has forwarded to the Department of Commerce and Labor the following article, entitled "Beet vs. Cane Sugar":

"Those who hoped that among the beneficial effects of the Brussels convention would be a large decrease in the production and a corresponding advance in the price of sugar have been disappointed.

"While the production of beet sugar has decreased about 13 per cent. during the last two years, or from 6,760,000 metric tons to 5,900,000 metric tons, that of cane sugar has increased during the same period from 4,063,000 metric tons to 4,437,800 metric tons, or about 9 1-2 per cent.

"On the other hand, the average price of sugar f. o. b. Hamburg was, for the quinquennium 1808-1902, $2.21 per 50 kilograms (110.2 pounds); for the year 1903, $2.01; and for the last month of 1903, $2.05.

"It is thus seen that there has been no material decrease in the total production of sugar since the Brussels convention, and that prices at the end of 1903 were only 2 per cent. above the average for the year and more than 7 per cent. below the average for the last five years.

"At present the tendency of prices is again decidedly downward and a change for the better need not be looked for as long as the world's surplus of 2,000,000 tons remains unabsorbed.

"The following table gives the estimated production and consumption of sugar in the various countries of Europe for the current campaign (1903-4):

Country.	Production. Tons.	Consumption. Tons.	Available for export. Tons.	Required import. Tons.
Germany	1,940,000	850,000	1,090,000
Russia	1,200,000	880,000	320,000
Austria	1,230,000	400,000	830,000
France	770,000	580,000	190,000
Belgium	225,000	85,000	140,000
Holland	125,000	90,000	35,000
Sweden	100,000	100,000
Spain	90,000	90,000
Italy	125,000	125,000
England	1,600,000	1,600,000
Other Countries	72,800	258,800	186,000
Total	5,877,800	5,058,800	2,605,000	1,786,000

"These figures show that a foreign market must be found for a surplus of more than 800,000 tons of Europe's production. But it becomes more difficult from year to year for Europe to dispose of its surplus. Within two years the world's production of cane sugar has increased from 4,063,000 tons to about 4,437,800 tons. There is every indication that the beet and the cane will enter upon a long and destructive war for final supremacy. Germany, Austria, Italy, Belgium, and Holland are increasing their production of beet sugar during the present year, Austria's increase alone amounting to 175,000 tons. Russia's production remains stationary and France is the only country where a reduction may be looked for.

"The beet-sugar interests are determined not to give up their foreign markets without a desperate struggle. Nor is it difficult to account for their attitude. An immense capital has been invested in the beet-sugar industry, which has thereby been brought to a high degree of development. Hundreds of thousands of laboring people, furthermore, rely upon this industry, directly or indirectly, for their support. Both capital and labor, therefore, oppose surrender, and the only question which at present concerns European sugar interests is how best to fortify themselves against the enemy's attacks. A retrospective view within their own field of activity suggests the policy to be pursued. All small and inefficient sugar factories have in the course of time been starved out and only the largest and at the same time best equipped and best conducted plants have survived. The latter survived because they were able to manufacture on a large scale and therefore at a comparatively low cost. That the increasing production of cane sugar will bring prices to a still lower level than the present admits of no doubt, and the manufacturers of beet sugar realize that they must be prepared to meet the new and increasingly critical condition of the market or withdraw from the contest. As experience and observation have made it clear to them that the cost of production can be lowered only with an increased output they are determined to work their respective plants to their utmost capacities and thus continue to swell Europe's already formidable surplus of sugar rather than permit the producers of cane sugar to derive from the Brussels convention any advantage likely to increase their power of resistance.

"In other words, overproduction has been chosen by the European beet-sugar interests as the most effective weapon of defense in their fight against the rising power of cane sugar in the markets of the world. Whether this will really avert or only postpone the threatened crisis at home remains to be seen."

FORESTS OF TERRITORY

Ant May Be Sent Here To Kill Boll Weevil.

The meeting of the Board of Agriculture and Forestry yesterday afternoon was devoted largely to a discussion of the report of Forester Hosmer on the proposed reservation of North Kona lands on the slopes of Mt. Hualalai for forest purposes, and the recommendation was finally made to Governor Carter that the forester's recommendation, that portions be reserved for this purpose and portions opened to homesteading, be adopted.

Another development of the meeting, which was attended by Messrs. Giffard, Holloway and Brown, was the proposed introduction here of an ant native to Guatemala which is said to prey upon the cotton boll weevil. Mr. Giffard advanced the suggestion that it might be found to be an enemy to the leaf hopper, and in that case would prove invaluable to the agricultural interests of the islands. It is known scientifically as the Grannis. Large tracts of Guatemala cotton lands where the ant has been found have been observed to be free from denudation by the weevil. Its introduction from Guatemala into Texas is being watched with interest. Mr. Kirkaldy of the Bureau of Agriculture has written to Washington asking that specimens be sent here that he may experiment with them in the insectary.

Superintendent of Forestry Hosmer's report on the proposed forest reserve tracts in North Kona was read as follows:

I submit herewith my report and recommendations in the matter of the land of Honuaula, North Kona, Hawaii, referred to me by your committee, on March 2nd.

The present lease of this land, which expires on July 10th next, is held by Mr. J. A. Maguire, as grazing land. On July 29th, 1903, the land was, at Mr. Maguire's request, put up at auction to be re-leased, and was knocked down to Messrs. J. G. Henriques and Frank Gomes, residents of Kona. Mr. Gomes runs the livery stable at Kailua, Mr. Henriques is also in the livery business.

Although the lease was auctioned off to them, final execution of the papers was delayed because the wording of the lease, together with the idea that the land should be held as a forest reserve, caused the Commissioner of Public Lands to desire to refer the matter to this Board. No money was paid down, as it was not the custom at that time to require a deposit.

On June 13th, in company with Mr. J. A. Maguire, who is the local consulting forester; Mr. Gomes and Mr. Henriques I visited the land at Honuaula and made a careful examination of it. The tract lies on the southwest slope of Hualalai. Its lower portion was laid out in 1899 as a homestead tract. Between this and the lot under consideration is a strip of open forest somewhat over half a mile in width. The portion leased lies as a belt of irregular shape along the mountain, averaging about one mile in width, but at its eastern end running up in a point to the west peak of Mt. Hualalai. The lower boundary is approximately 4,000 feet in elevation. The upper line varying between 5,000 and 6,000 feet, except where the land runs up to the west peak which is over 8,000 feet. The area is 2044 acres.

The upper portion of this block, above an elevation of about 6,000 feet, is open grazing land, save for the scattering trees of mamani, a species not injuriously affected by grazing. The lower side of the grazing land is bordered by an open forest of small koa, in mixture with ohia lehua, ali, malo and other scattering trees. The cattle are working in this forest and gradually killing out the undergrowth. Below this is a belt of large koa trees, making a nearly pure stand. This belt extends all along the slope of Mt. Hualalai, varying in width from about one-half mile to one mile or more, and covering the slope between approximately the contour lines of 4,500 and 5,300 feet. The trees are of large size and for the most part in healthy condition. In certain places there are young trees, but the majority are mature, and did a market exist might well be cut and utilized.

Below the belt of large koa is an open forest of ohia, opiko, kanawao and some others, which with a dense fern growth covers the remainder of the lot under question.

A similar forest covers the homestead tract, except that on the lower tier of lots, the ieie vine makes a dense tangle. Since the homestead tract was surveyed cattle have worked their way in through the transit lines and are doing considerable damage to the forest undergrowth. The lower line of the homestead tract is at an elevation of between 2300 and 2500 feet.

It will thus be seen that a good share of the land covered by the lease and by the homestead tract is in forest. In my judgment the upper portion of the land suitable for grazing might be used for that purpose, and were it found advisable to build a road and open the lower portion of the homestead tract to settlers, that part of the land might be used successfully for that purpose. The remainder of the land of Honuaula is, in my judgment, properly forest land and being more valuable for that purpose than for other uses, should be set aside as a forest reserve.

As there is no water on the grazing land, it is necessary that the cattle have somewhat more shade than is afforded by the scattering mamani trees. The line of the grazing land should therefore be made to include a strip of the upper open koa forest, where the trees are of small size, and where the cattle are at present working. This lower boundary of the grazing land should be at about the elevation of Mr. Maguire's dairy, which is about 5,000 feet in altitude. Such a strip includes perhaps one-fourth of the land put up to be leased.

While it is possible that the lower tier of homestead lots could be opened to settlers by the building of a road, so that the venture would be a financially successful one, it is exceedingly questionable whether the opening of the upper lots could be made a success.

If the grazing land portion and the lower tier of homesteads be not used for these purposes the land should, in my judgment, be included in the forest reserve. This reserve should be made for the following reasons:

For the purpose of safeguarding the desirable climatic conditions in North Kona, for improving the same through increased precipitation, and for regulating the run off, it is highly desirable, if not absolutely essential, that a belt of forest be maintained on the mountain slopes above the settlements. This forest belt should cover the slope between approximately the 3,000 and 5,500 foot contour line; local modifications being made dependent on local conditions.

To insure the carrying out of the plan to the best advantage, the Government should set aside, as a forest reserve, the land belonging to it lying within this belt, and by example and otherwise should induce private owners to co-operate in making the reserve. Several large areas controlled by the Bishop Estate are already set apart as private reserves.

One of the most valuable portions in the proposed reserve is the strip of large size koa above described. With the increasing possibility of putting this valuable wood on the market, and thereby adding materially to the sources of the Territory's revenue, it is distinctly inadvisable to let the direct control of the land on which the koa stands pass out of the hands of the Government for a long term of years. Notwithstanding the provisions in the lease safeguarding the forest, the grazing of this tract could hardly help being injurious to the best condition of the forest, and consequently the deteriorating of the merchantable value of the forest.

I therefore recommend that the land of Honuaula between approximately the contour line of 3,000 and 5,000 feet—the exact lines to be laid out later by a surveyor, working in conjunction with the Superintendent of Forestry, be withdrawn from lease, and set apart as the first portion of the North Kona forest reserve; that if it be found inadvisable to utilize the upper portion of the land for grazing and the lower portion for homestead, that these also be included in the reserve.

I further suggest that if this report be approved and acted on favorably by the Board, that the Commissioner of Public Lands be informed that he may notify Messrs. Gomes and Henriques of the action taken and come to some arrangement in regard to the cancellation of the lease.

Concerning the question of roads in the proposed homestead district, the sum of $15,000 was mentioned in discussion. Mr. Giffard thought for bona fide homesteaders there should be an income derived by the government commensurate to the cost of laying out the roads. Mr. Holloway was of the opinion that the best way to obtain bona fide homesteaders would first be to lay out the roads to the tracts.

Mr. Giffard was of the opinion that many of the homesteaders in tracts opened up formerly did not do much in the way of improvement and said that many "residences" were merely tin-can houses, and great inroads had been made into tree sections for the building of fences. The report was finally adopted to be sent to the Governor with the following amendment by the Board:

"As to this land laid out for homesteads, the Board is of the opinion and would suggest that as this is principally a whole forest tract, the same should only be opened for settlement when the conditions, including a suitable road to and through the tract, promise bona fide settlement and development."

Prof. Hosmer asked permission to visit Hilo in July in order to investigate the forestation of Hilo district, and to hold meetings with citizens concerning the matter. The permission was granted.

In a weekly report Prof. Hosmer announced that Miss Claire Kelley had retired from the service of the Board and Prof. Haugh's was now in attendance on the plant nursery. This change was necessitated by the general retrenchment policy of the government.

The Haleiwa Limited.

In addition to the regular Sunday service, commencing Sunday, June 12th, and every Sunday thereafter during the months of June, July and August, THE HALEIWA LIMITED will leave Honolulu at 8:22 a. m. Returning will leave Haleiwa at 8:10 p. m. The running time will be two hours and this train will stop only at Pearl City and Waianae. None but first class tickets will be accepted. Round trip tickets, $2.00. Seats in Parlor Car, 50 cents extra each way.

Lunch and dinner may be obtained at the Haleiwa Hotel and golf, tennis, croquet, billiards, driving, ocean and fresh water bathing and other recreations indulged in both morning and afternoon.

In England, where the judges wear wigs and robes, unconventional legal proceedings are not expected, but the papers tell of county court being held on a train. A case before Sir Henry Lloyd, a county judge, was unfinished, when he had to rush a train for Chester. It was decided to continue the case on the train. The distance to Chester was cut into two equal parts, and one barrister spoke the first seven miles, the other having the remaining seven.

G. A. DAVIS REINSTATED

Writ of Error in Kauai Taxes Shortage Matter.

An order was made orally by Chief Justice Frear, at yesterday morning's session of the Supreme Court, granting the latest petition of George A. Davis for readmission to the practice of law in the Territorial courts.

Having been called to the bar, Mr. Davis was informed that the commutation of his absolute disbarment making it end with the beginning of the coming October term was decided on after a careful consideration of all the circumstances, including his unseemly and inappropriate conduct before that court at various times. In his statement made to support his subsequent petition for immediate reinstatement, he had mentioned his financial distress and the court having considered that plea now remitted further punishment. The court trusted that its future relations with Mr. Davis would not be marked by the unpleasantness that had at times characterized them in the past.

Mr. Davis, responding to the words that restored his means of livelihood, said he felt grateful to the court. He would endeavor to maintain the respect of the court and do his part in upholding its dignity. At the same time he trusted he would be accorded equal privileges with other members of the bar, so that he might come before the court without fear and trembling.

HUMPHREYS AND THOMPSON.

A. S. Humphreys, who was disbarred, and F. E. Thompson, suspended for one year, in the same decision that disbarred Davis last August, had an interview with Chief Justice Frear at noon yesterday. In the presence of Justices Hartwell and Hatch, late in the day, the Chief Justice stated that no announcement could yet be made regarding Messrs. Humphreys and Thompson.

THE KAUAI WRIT.

Walter A. Wright vs. J. K. Farley, writ of error, was argued and submitted before the Supreme Court. Smith & Lewis appeared for plaintiff in error and M. F. Prosser for defendant in error. Farley, as tax assessor for Kauai, prosecuted Wright on his bond as deputy assessor to recover the amount of an alleged shortage. Wright had recourse to a writ of error to bring the case up for review.

It was not known yesterday what matters would be heard at today's session of the appellate court.

CRAW'S FRIENDS WANT TO KEEP HIM

Alexander Craw is sought by the Hawaiian Government and the Hawaiian sugar planters. They want his services badly enough to offer him $5000 per annum and to guarantee him that rate of income for five years. Mr. Craw receives from the State only $200 per month as quarantine officer to prevent the introduction of pests injurious to vegetation and also to make cultures and importations of beneficial parasites that prey upon scales of many varieties. He has occupied this position many years and his labors have saved millions of dollars to the fruit growers by preventing the extermination of trees and the ruin of growing crops.

The loss to the sugar planters in the Hawaiian Islands last year by the leaf hopper, that destroys the sugar cane, is estimated at millions of dollars. There are in the Territory of Hawaii seven entomologists of ability, but not one of them has wide experience as a quarantine officer to keep pests out of the country. Good work has been done in Hawaii in extirpating pests that have been found to be ravaging the growing cane, but new pests have been brought in and the planters have determined that something radical must be done.

Mr. Thurston of Honolulu is in the city and he has urged upon Mr. Craw the desirability of the position that is offered him. The Government is to pay a part of the salary of $5000 per annum and the planters the remainder. The Government guarantees the payment of the entire sum. Craw is offered the place of chief entomologist, or head of the entomological service. Within the last two days the cable between Honolulu and this city has been used to persuade Mr. Craw. What his decision will be is not determined.

Knowledge of the efforts to get Mr. Craw's services in Hawaii has reached the fruit men of California. Mr. Stabler of Yuba City first learned of it, and he has been trying hard to persuade Mr. Craw to remain in California. Mr. Stabler says that the canners of this State are all anxious that Mr. Craw shall remain at his present post. Governor Pardee has been informed of the move in Hawaii.—Call.

Entomologist Craw of California, who has been requested to come to Honolulu to take charge of the entomological work for the Territory, may accept the liberal terms offered by L. A. Thurston. His favorable answer is early expected by the Bureau of Agriculture and Forestry. He may have to make arrangements for the taking over of his office in California before being able to come. The proposition is not for him to merely take charge of the leaf-hopper fight, but to take the entomological bureau which has formerly been carried on by R. C. Perkins. Prof. Craw is one of the leading entomologists of the United States and has had a great deal to do with the breeding of parasites which have been used in California.

This is especially directed to men who have doctored for years without benefit. I want men with Rheumatism, Pains in the Back, Weak Kidneys, Sciatica, Lumbago, Varicocele, Prostatic Trouble (I cure by a new method), Locomotor Ataxia, Torpid Liver, Indigestion and Dyspepsia. All of these troubles in chronic form I can cure with this new Belt, even after all other treatments have failed. To every weak, debilitated man who wears this new Belt I give my

H. P. Hughes of Honolulu comes in for his weight in silver as second prize in the San Francisco Weekly Examiner subscribers' list. The lucky man is an electrical machinist. Wm. G. Irwin, who returned in the Ventura with Mrs. Irwin and daughter, looks more robust than he has appeared for years. He attributes the rise in the sugar market to the increased consumption of sugar throughout Europe, which has been decidedly marked since the abolition of bounties. Shortages of European beet and Cuban cane further affect the situation.

Instrumental and vocal music will be given, numbers being promised by Mrs. Geo. W. Macfarlane, Hon. VENTURA HAD FINE WEATHER

The Oceanic liner Ventura, en route to the Colonies, arrived at Honolulu early yesterday morning after a voyage of five days, thirteen hours and twenty-two minutes from San Francisco.

"If we had ordered from the weather man in advance the kind of weather we wanted for every day of the trip we could not have done better. It was a fine passage," said one pleased traveler.

The Ventura had forty-eight passengers for Honolulu and sixty-three passengers for the Colonies.

Among the passengers for Honolulu were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Irwin and Miss H. Irwin, Alexander Young, Dr. W. G. Rogers, Dr. William Hamilton and Prof. J. E. Duerden.

The Ventura got away for the Colonies at 7:35 o'clock last night.

There was considerable fun around the wharf while the last portion of her cargo was being landed here. A sling broke and several cases of canned goods were precipitated into the water. "Wharf rats" succeeded in getting some of the floating cans and hiding them under the wharves before the stevedores could rescue the goods.

Notice to Mariners.

Honolulu, T. H., 22 June, 1904.

Notice is hereby given that, on 18 June, 1904, the intensity of the light heretofore shown at the Nawiliwili Harbor Light-station, Island of Kauai, Territory of Hawaii, was increased by substituting a fixed white lens lantern light in place of the former fixed white ordinary lamp light.

On the same date the appearance of the Light-structure was changed by removing the lantern room formerly surmounting the structure and in its place erecting a box-locker, two feet square, and three feet high upon which a lens lantern is placed. The height of the light above the mean sea level is approximately the same as heretofore.

By order of the Light-house Board, A. P. NIBLACK, Lieutenant-Commander, U. S. N., Assistant to the Inspector of the 12th Light-House District.

Arrest of Engineer Kerr.

Of the trouble on the transport Buford at Nagasaki the Call says: "The only serious outbreak occurred during the vessel's stay at Nagasaki. F. Ramus, a fireman, became insolent to third assistant engineer J. Kerr. The fireman threatened Kerr with personal violence and the engineer landed on Ramus's jaw, breaking it. The fireman was left in the Marine Hospital at Honolulu. Kerr was arrested on board the Buford yesterday on the strength of a cable-gram from Honolulu. He was released on $5,000 bail."

Big Shipowner Here.

W. E. Mighell, one of the biggest shipowners on the Pacific Coast and head of the California Shipping Company, was in town yesterday. He is en route to Australia. His daughter, Miss N. E. Mighell, accompanies him.
