Y. M. C. A. ATHLETICS.

Basket-Ball Still Holds Sway -- A Paper Chase.

Sophomores and Business Men and Diamond Heads and Green and Gold will be the opposing teams in the sixth series of games in the basket-ball league to be contested this evening in the gymnasium of the Young Men's Christian Association.

The first game will start at 7:30 p. m., and the second at 8:20 p. m.

Below will be found the present standing of the teams:

Team	Wins	Losses	Goals
Malle Ilmas	3	0	64 15
Green and Gold	3	1	22 25
Sophomores	2	1	17 26
Business Men	3	1	17 20
Diamond Heads	2	2	15 14
Honolulu	3	2	12 47

From the above table it will be seen that the position of leaders at present enjoyed by Malle Ilmas, is not likely to be wrested away from them; which teams will occupy second and third places at the finish of the competition is, however, exceedingly problematical. Any of the five combinations appear to possess an equal chance of enjoying the honor of being runners-up. Sophomores have two more games to play; Business Men, 2; Diamond Heads, 2; Green and Gold, 2; Malle Ilmas, 1; and Honolulu, 1.

The paper-chase will start from the association at 4 o'clock this afternoon and the run will be about four and a half miles. The hares will be given five minutes' start and will lay a scent consisting of scraps of paper. The result will be determined by a comparison of the time made by the hares and the first hounds home. All interested are cordially invited to participate in the run.

A. J. Coats, the gymnastic instructor, will leave for the States next Saturday. He will return early in September.

A field day will be held in October under the auspices of the society, which promises to be the biggest event of its kind that has ever taken place in the Islands. While in the States Mr. Coats will arrange for the medals to be awarded to the winners in the various events.

In the selection of events the intercollegiate schedule will probably be adopted, either as a whole or in part.

This field day will commence a new era in Island athletics and from then on similar meetings are to be held. The line dividing the amateur from the professional will be rigidly drawn. An authentic list of local athletic records made under the auspices of and duly accredited by the Amateur Athletic Association of America will be compiled from the date of the coming field day in October next.

The only games played up to date in the first round of the handball tournament have resulted as follows:
Moore defeated Ferrier, 21-2; 21-5.
Berger won from Ben Clark, 21-5; 21-7.

AT THE WICKETS.

Married and Single Will Disport at Makiki Today.

A cricket match will be played at Makiki this afternoon between elevens composed of benedicts and those who hope some day to be. These are the teams: Benedicts—Jordan (captain), Stanley, Kiteat, Hatfield, Harvey, Pianaia, Parish, Baird, Garvie, Vincent, Weedon and Lightfoot.

Bachelors—D. W. Anderson (captain), R. Anderson, Catton, Bottomley, Cockburn, Woods, Sinclair, Ross, Irvine, Ayres, Seymour, Blackman, Bludell and Harrison.

Wickets will be pitched at 2:30 p. m. The teams are exceedingly evenly matched and close and exciting cricket should result.

Visitors will be made very welcome. The next game to be played will be between the Honolulu Cricket Club and Theo. Davies & Co.

An account of the match recently played here between Scotland and the World has found its way into the columns of the Scottish Referee.

REVOLVER SHOOTING.

Police Are Making Good Practice with the Short Gun.

The police are making exceedingly creditable records with the pistol in their practices and a match between them and the prison lunas is booked for the near future.

Captain Parker and his two sons, Clement and Stephen, have distinguished themselves in particular during the past week.

At Iwilei Captain Parker made two scores, one of 47 and the other of 45, out of a possible 50, at the 30-yard target. Stephen made a 47 and Clement a 43 score at a similar distance.

The police have all been practicing at the 30-yard target during the past week. The 50-yard range will be tried next week.

The men as a whole are developing into very fair shots and good scores are promised after a month or so of practice.

WITH THE BRECH-LOADER.

Sportsmen Will Soon Again Try the Double Barrel on the Dove.

Tomorrow week will witness the advent of the dove shooting season, and already gun enthusiasts are removing rust specks from and lubricating the anatomy of their shooting-irons.

The prospects for full bags are exceedingly good and the little drab-colored birds are reported to be unusually plentiful, strong on the wing, and in prime condition.

The rice is now being cut and the fields are full of birds. They are to be found in quantities in whatever direction a gunner chooses to go. Every vacant lot, rice field or thicket is full of them.

The dove is par excellence the meat of the plebeian sportsman—if he holds his gun straight that is, for the Hawaiian wild pigeon is by no means the softest mark in the woods, and he at times executes certain mifty stunts of flight that discount those of the erratic jack-snipe.

The mongoose continues to play sad havoc with ground-breeding game, and by present indications, by the time the season opens, there will be little else to shoot at but mongoose.

THE HOOT MONS.

The Medal Tournament Will be Continued at Moanalua Tomorrow

Golf players and the golf-loving public generally are sufferers this week through the action of one H. B. Sinclair, who signs himself with most engaging modesty, "Self-Appointed Secretary Honolulu Golf Club."

This young man refused to give the sporting representative of the Advertiser the scores in the golf tournament now being played on the links of S. M. Damon at Moanalua.

His excuse was that the players did not desire publicity and that he did not wish attention to be attracted to the fact that Sunday golf was played in Honolulu.

The real reason of his unseemly action is that in former reports of athletic games in which Mr. Sinclair performed, the aristocratic cognomen of Sinclair was prone to appear at the tail end of the score sheet, and this fact preyed to such a degree on the mind of the owner of said cognomen that he decided to resort to the above mentioned means of diverting the vulgar public gaze from accounts of his lumbous feats of prowess on the athletic field, as reported in the sporting columns of the Advertiser. Good players will kindly accept this as an explanation of the absence of the usual weekly notice.

The Honolulu Golf Club will continue their medal tournament on the links of S. M. Damon at Moanalua tomorrow. Visitors are cordially invited to be present for practice. The first round must be finished not later than June 26th.

ROUND THE DOATHOUSES.

Work With the Oar Will Commence in Earnest Next Week.

The Healan Club will commence trying out its men next week. There is plenty of material in sight and prospects for two good crews are very bright.

Captain Atkinson is of the opinion that there will be no racing on July 4th. He strongly disapproves of the idea on the ground that there is insufficient time to train and that the experiment would result in more harm than good. He thinks that a race between scrub crews would be an imposition on the public.

The Myrtles have already commenced useful work and their boats have been wetted several times during the week.

There is absolutely no prospect of resignation of the Lellanis, as they need no longer be considered as factors in a championship race.

The resignation of Captain Harris of the Myrtles has not yet been accepted.

IN YACHT ROW.

Owners of Local Racing Machines are Clearing Decks for Action.

All yachtsmen are requested to attend a meeting to be held at 12:30 this afternoon in the office of the Pacific Cycle & Manufacturing Co. for the purpose of discussing the advisability of arranging a yacht race for July 4th.

There is considerable talk of a race in the near future between those old opponents the Eva (Gladys) and the Bonnie Dundee. It is to be hoped that these two flyers will meet again.

The Fourth of July Committee has been approached with the object of having $100 set aside for prizes for vessels competing in a race. This amount is disgracefully small, but will do to purchase some small souvenir for the winning boats.

It is discouraging to a degree to note that the apathy which has attacked every other branch of athletics in Honolulu has fastened also on aquatic sports. Regrettable as it may be, the fact nevertheless remains, and unless the wet "hobs" get together, and that rapidly, yachting, rowing, swimming and the like will lapse into a state of innocuous desuetude.

SEAMEN'S CLUB CONCERT.

Given by the Methodist Episcopal Epworth League.

At the Seaman's Club last evening a splendid program of music was given under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Miss Young gave an attention last evening to about one hundred and forty of their friends at the Waikiki residence of their father, Mr. Alexander Young. The occasion was one of the few social gatherings invited to be held by the young lady preparatory to their departure for a prolon-gated stay in California.

The large room on the makai side of the house, in which the guests were seated, was decorated with fifty couples of flowers, and the room was decorated with pink flowers and greenery, which, together with the decorations of the room. The music was furnished by Solomon's String band, and this is all that need be said of the occasion.

The lemonade and punch was served in the dining room off the ball room.

The evening was a perfect one and the music was served on the lawn under the stars, to the music of the sea waves.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brown entertained a large number of friends Thursday evening at a dancing and powder party at their Waikiki residence. Lively music and a good old-fashioned time was had. Six canoes were used, but the surf was not particularly fine for the sport. After the bathing and surfing was over the party retired to the residence and sat down to a sumptuous repast of fish chowder and accompaniments. Until well along toward midnight the guests enjoyed the evening's entertainment by dancing. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Walker, Mr. and Mrs.

Lord and Lady Hope were through passengers yesterday on the Moana for the Coast and are en route for their home in London. Lady Hope is perhaps best known to the public as May Yell,
the beautiful actress who took London by storm a few years ago. She went upon the stage as a vaudeville performer and gradually rose in favor until she occupied a prominent position in the eye of the well set of the English capital. She received the stamp of approval of the Princes of Wales and her social position in English society was fixed. Lord Hope, one of the gay batteries of English society, fell in love with the actress and their marriage was the result. It was a fashionable wedding, attended by leading members of the nobility. Both are making a tour of the world and intend to remain some time in the United States.

Society will turn out en masse for the initial production of the Neill Company in "An American Citizen" at the Opera House this evening. When the curtain goes up for the first act the Neill Company will look upon a freshly dressed gathering, which will be notable in that many prominent officials of the present and former governments will be present. In the boxes will be seen Governor Dole and party, Mrs. Wilder and party, Mrs. C. A.
Brown and guests, Alexander Young and J. A. Kennedy have engaged the ladies, while a number of theater parties have been made up for the occasion.

Mr. William L. Peterson, who returned a few days ago from a trip around the world, has been greeted by many friends. Mr. Peterson visited China, India, Europe and the United States on his journey, and thoroughly investigated the attractions of the Paris Exposition. He is now domiciled at Lakimaka Villa, on Hotel street, Waikiki
at Punchbowl street.

There is a little brunette in town who is busy for some pink and white visiting girl to come and be taught prof. "Won't she be a dream after we've had her at the links some scorching day," she says. It is to be hoped that some of those who are to play hostess this summer can offer a victim.

About seventy-five couples were in attendance at the dance given last evening by the Heian Boat Club at their boat house in the harbor. The social hall upstairs and the boat room below were brilliantly illuminated, presenting a picturesque appearance over the smooth water of the harbor. The dancers were able to enjoy the entertainment to the full extent on account of the cool breezes which were wafted into the hall from the valleys. None complained of the heat, something quite unusual for a dancing party at this season. Out near the boat landing, punch, lemonade and cake were served.

Mrs. Horace Craft, after enjoying a two week's visit at Mana, Hawaii, the home of the Parkers, returned last week to Honolulu, but left on the next Kinaiu for the same place, where she will probably visit for several weeks longer. Mr. Craft was unable to accompany Mrs. Craft on the second trip.

The engagement of Dr. Arthur Hodgins of Honolulu to Miss Nora Keating of Toronto, Canada, is announced. Miss Keating arrived on the Mariposa with Miss Whitney of this city, both having attended school at Wolfe Hall, Denver, Colorado. Miss Keating is visiting with Mrs. Fred Whitney.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Harold M Sewall entertained at dinner for a few friends. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hatch, Mr. and Mrs.
E. M. Swanson, Mrs. M. C. Widdfield,
Mrs. F. W. C. Hansen, Senior Cana-varro and Lieut. LeVarre of the French cruiser Protet.

On Thursday Mrs. F. W. C. Hansen entertained at luncheon for Miss Irmgard Schaefer. Covers were laid for eight. The color scheme was yellow throughout, the table being prettily decorated in yellow flowers, while yellow leis adorned the guests.

Everyone seems to know they are engaged, but just as it is to be formally announced they have another quarrel and part forever. It is very foolish and ever so many of their friends would like to wish them happiness if they'd be good.

Miss Adele Widdfield gave a pink luncheon for Miss Alice Russell on Tuesday. The table's decorations were pink flowers traced out with green,
while the guests were pink leis.

Mrs. Charles Crane, who is visiting on the Island of Maui, will return to Honolulu soon, accompanied by Mr. Crane, who left for Maui yesterday.

Mrs. Sam Parker was the hostess at a luncheon on Tuesday at the residence of Mrs. Carl Widemann, given in honor of ex-Queen Liliuokalani.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani will receive a special party on Sunday. After today it is her intention to seek rest and retirement for several days.

Rev. W. R. Livingstone, who has visited in Honolulu for some time, resumed his journey for Liverpool yesterday on the Moana.

A jainty luncheon for a few friends was given by Mrs. F. M. Hatch on Tuesday.

Mrs. Harold M. Sewall gave a luncheon on Tuesday to a few intimate friends.

MOTT-SMITHS TO BE SERENADED

This Morning the Government Band Will Meet Them at Their Residence.

Captain Berger and the Government band propose to tender a serenade to ex-Minister of Foreign Affairs E. A.
Mott-Smith and Mrs. Mott-Smith at their residence on Nuuanu avenue at 5 o'clock this morning. The program of the concert will be as follows:

LIVINGSTONE
LEAVES US

Scholarly Oxonian Gone
From Honolulu.

GOOD SEED IS SOWN HERE

The M. A. of Two Universities Sails
on the Moana--May Capture an Heiress.

The Rev. W. R. Livingstone, M. A. Oxon and M. A. Melbourne, left Honolulu yesterday for San Francisco on a brief visit to the Hanky-Panky. Mr. Livingstone is a very young man, who dresses coolly in dongaree and a wide-brimmed straw hat. Like all discerning travelers, he is much pleased with Honolulu scenery though society here is somewhat crude and Yankee to his taste and in need of Anglican ministrations.

Mr. Livingstone is going to New York and will observe the peculiarities of journalism en route and report them to the Advertiser. We are promised a series of letters from him, which are to be fraught with good advice to the unregenerated press of this Territory and incidentally to its readers. The latter, in Mr. Livingstone's opinion, need much instruction. They have no knowledge of Wordsworth and the remarkable influence that poet had, under God, on his Church, up on the development of these islands
they are given respectfully to the sects and they are in need of social regeneration.

The distinguished M. A. did not wish to be regarded as an interloper despite his deep conviction that there was not much hope for any one outside the Church. He said he sympathized with Charles Wesley particularly in his missionary adventures a couple of hundred years ago.

"It--ah--is borne upon me," he said,
"that Charles Wesley made a disappointing choice in a helpmeet. She was one of those--ah--ladies whose impressions of duty did not embrace that catholicity of spirit and evenness of temper which are so essential to the peace of mind even in the domestic sphere of life. As for Wesley himself, perhaps--ah--I may be pardoned by my greeting brethren-- mean friends, for venturing the thought that he was painfully conscient in those priceless attributes of tact which, ah, seem an indispensable accessory of domestic peace. Further than that, I will say nothing other than the fact that my whole mental nature has been struck by the spectacle of quite worthy people unable to understand each other.

"We see the practicality in your own city. The outer press and myself are not in rapport, but I feel, nevertheless, ah, that I have dropped some seeds of understanding not wholly among rocks and thorns, and that in the course of time a fruitful harvest will result. I have had many hearty laughs, indeed I have, at the responses made to my work, but I am assured that your city has begun thinking, and that is a great point."

When the Rev. W. R. Livingstone went aboard the Moana yesterday afternoon, shortly before 5 o'clock, he was held up at the gangway by a couple of polite yet persistent officers of the steamship, who were very anxious to see that no one got away from Honolulu for the Coast
by the Moana who was not a stop over passenger, lest the wrath of Uncle Sam might descend upon the shoulders of the company to the tune of a heavy pecuniary penalty.

Diligent inquiries were made as to whether the clergyman had a right to go to San Francisco on the Moana.

"Ah, me dear fellows," he declared, "I have, ah, some to make pains to be sure that I am in the right. I have had a word with the ah, pur-ah, and inasmuch as I am duly provided with a ticket, which, ah, I purchased in Sydney, I ah, presume that I will be spared to pass."

The clergyman's "boxes" and "luggage" were brought aboard after everything was made clear in the minds of the officials. A large square tin box containing volumes of Wordsworth, Farrar, Shakespeare, Scott, a bag of gold nuggets
from Coogara, a huge scrap-book pasted full of cuttings from Australian and Hawaiian newspapers, a foating bath tub, sermons, "vagrant Verses"
and several changes of dongaree trousers
was the cause of much curiosity among those gathered on deck. It held like a strong box and was wrapped in a piece of canvas and an air of mystery.

An Advertiser reporter had the pleasure of interviewing the young divine just before the Moana sailed. Somehow or other the subject of conversation, drifted around to newspaper stories and an article in a morning paper to the effect of "people thing" of the Rev. Livingstone was touched upon.

"Ah, I know full well who the poor, miserable unfortunate is who inspired
that rude article," said the clergyman, earnestly clasping his hands in an attitude of deep feeling, "an evil spirit possessed him that, ah, he should so forget his manhood as to wrongly inform a reporter of, ah, something which did not exist. But, ah, I understand the reporter on that paper is very new and did not, ah, investigate the assertions of the unfortunate fellow who inspired the unmanly article."

"Do you intend to go home to England?"

SKULL IN THE MOONLIGHT TERRIFIES

A PAIR OF LOVERS ON KAALAWAI BEACH

A SKELETON was recently unearthed along the beach at Kaalawai in front of Cecil Brown's seaside residence. It lay on the beach for sometime, shunned by the natives, who became superstitious, and were seemingly afraid to venture in its immediate vicinity. A few days ago some boys took possession of the skull, erected it on a stick with the grinning face staring downwards, and awaited the result.

In the evening shortly after the moon made its appearance in the heavens, a couple drove along the beach in a buggy. In the light of the moon's rays the skull gleamed almost phosphorescent-like and had the appearance of a specter from a tomb.

Suddenly a scream was heard above the roar of the breakers. The couple had caught sight of the "thing," and their hearts almost froze with horror.

Furthermore, it seemed to them the ghost was approaching them and blinking at them with sightless eyes. The horse, too, took fright and commenced backing until the buggy was in the breakers. The young man held manfully onto the reins although nearly paralyzed with fear and finally managed to turn the horse's head in the direction of Diamond Head.

Big rocks, soft sand, rolling breakers, were unheeded as the frantic beings whipped the animal on in a mad gallop. No stop was made until Kapoian Park was reached. The young man lit a cigar, chewed the end savagely, and then calmly related how cleverly he managed the dash of the runaway animal.
The next day covered inquiries were made and the truth came out, but the hero still maintains that the flight was caused by the running away of his horse, a lively animal and one that he was not used to. Opinions differ as to whether the skull is that of a native buried decades ago in the sands after an epidemic, or a sailor washed ashore and covered by the shifting sands.

A Frenchman, a sailor of the Olympic, was drowned in front of the Hei-ani boat house Thursday afternoon.
The vessel was at the quarantine wharf being fumigated and the men, having finished their work, were swimming.
After the men went aboard, Jules de Barre remained in the water and suddenly threw up his hands and went down without a sound. The crew and natives jumped into the water to find him, but failed. His body was dragged for but without success. The unfortunate man could swim but little.
It is thought that he went over his head and rolled down a sudden jumping-off place in front of the boat house.

As Exhibit A Class A of native dependents, Kaula really ought to have a niche in the Bishop Museum.

No one will miss it by laying away a few Hawaiian coins. They will be pleasant souvenirs in years to come and their scarcity after the bulk of the issue has been melted up, will give them a high price among numismatists.

The job of Secretary of the Republican Territorial Committee may be made to conserve harmony in the party or to promote discord, just as the committee may decide.

Last night our native correspondent telephoned from Kaneohe that J. K. Kaula, the speaker who advised his drill shed hearers to "kill the snake," otherwise the missionary, had pledged himself in a speech at Late to introduce a bill in the Legislature restoring the Queen to her throne.

HAWAIIAN BONDS.

The failure of Secretary Gage to call in the Hawaiian bonds and the possibility that he does not intend to do so without further light on the subject, should prompt the Chamber of Commerce to send a financial agent or agents to Washington to present Hawaii's case to the Treasury Department.

That case rests upon the following clause of the Newlands' joint resolution:

The public debt of the Republic of Hawaii lawfully existing at the date of the passage of this resolution, including the amounts due to depositors in the Hawaiian Postal Savings Bank, is hereby assumed by the Government of the United States.

Now "hereby assumed" is a phrase of no uncertain meaning. A commonsense interpretation of it is that when the clause was enacted the obligation of the United States was acknowledged and fixed. To hold, as Secretary Gage is said to do, that a special act of Congress is necessary to give another special act validity strikes us as being rather final. Quite likely if the Secretary were to hear the case argued from a Hawaiian standpoint he might change his mind.

How would it do for the Chamber of Commerce to send Messrs. Dillingham and Castle authority to represent it at the Treasury Department and have them urge the propriety and necessity of prompt relief?

CHARACTER OF THE PRESS.

In a London interview the Rev. C. M. Sheldon brought up his favorite theme of the press and said that "the English newspapers have one great fault in common with those of America, the absence of truthfulness and accuracy."

Every self-respecting journal seeks to tell the truth but it is often made to suffer, like the cause of justice itself, from the conflict of witnesses. No man will perfectly agree on the story of a dog fight that all of them witness; and when a reporter makes up his story of the fight it is likely to be different from any one of theirs.

The theft of bicycles is so common that it may become necessary, one of these days, to round up all wheelmen and have them register their machines, and account for ownership and receive a certificate. A move like that would probably lessen the number of Asiatic coolies who now ride valuable bikes.

THE LEPER SUFFRAGE.

The organ of a party which hopes to profit by the votes of the lepers argues their case from a standpoint of respect for the intelligence and wealth of some of them and sympathy for the afflictions of all. It is the only standpoint anyone can reach but we do not accept it as a sound one in this discussion.

Intelligence may be found among paupers, but being paupers and thereby dependents, they are usually and properly denied the right to vote. So too, wealth may be found among persons in jail, but that does not save them in most States and instances, from losing their citizenship.

While the law as it stands probably permits the lepers to vote we are not sure but that it will be nullified by a refusal to let the ballots be sent to this capital or to any place outside the Kalaupapa district to undergo an official count.

SEGREGATION THREATENED.

Speaking of the segregation of lepers the Independent asks: "If the next Legislature says 'cease segregation' what are you going to do about it?" A like question was asked by Boss Tweed when he thought that because a Legislature and Board of Aldermen were behind him the people could do nothing to protect themselves.

We do not, however, apprehend that the Legislature will take such a suicidal course as the Independent suggests. Even if both branches should have a native majority there is no reason to suppose that they would adopt any other policy towards segregation than was followed in the native Legislatures of 1880 and 1882 and 1886.

There is another reason why there will be no legislative response to the Independent's sinister hint and that is a wholesome fear of Congress. If good government is not conserved here the body which gave the boon of suffrage may see fit to modify it or take it away.

NO EXTRA SESSION.

It is now thought that an extra session of the Legislature will not be called. Governor Dole has sought the advice of the Executive Council and found it opposed and though uncertain as to his own policy the chances are that he will not insist upon a course, the grounds of dissent from which are so numerous and vital.

Hawaii has had all the politics it craves for the present and dreads the turmoil of an election. It wants the new officials to get things straightened out and to prove their capacity before the Senate is asked to confirm them.

The only argument in favor of an extra session is that the fire limits should be extended over Chinatown so as to permit rebuilding and the fire claims paid. The Advertiser sympathizes with the plight of the claimants but so far as any immediate building in the burnt district is concerned it considers that the risk is too great.

WELL-KNOWN MAN JOINS MAJORITY

Edward Vida Everett, a Popular Engineer, Succumbs to Typhoid. Funeral Tomorrow.

Edward Vida Everett, aged forty years, died of typhoid fever at the Queen's hospital last evening at 5 o'clock.

"Ned" Everett, as he was familiarly known among his many friends, was born in Honolulu and at an early age went to San Francisco and learned his trade at the Union Iron Works.

The deceased was one of the first engineers on the steamship Kinau and was in the service of the Wilder Steamship Company for fourteen years. He was an exceedingly popular man on the water front, thoroughly dependable, a man who knew his business thoroughly and always attended to it, a good comrade and an honest man.

For about a year prior to his death, Everett had been Chief Engineer on the Honolulu Sugar Plantation. He had been in the hospital two or three weeks suffering with the disease which resulted in his death.

Everett was a member of the Engineers' Association of San Francisco. Two brothers survive him; they are engaged in business on the water front. The funeral services will be held at St. Andrew's Cathedral to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

ALUMNI MEETING OF KAMEHAMEHA

Discuss the Question of Forming Classes in English for Mutual Improvement.

A meeting of the Kamehameha Alumni was held last evening in the new Fort street club house. This is the first business gathering since the election of officers at commencement time.

An outline of the class work was called for. Most of the members stated their preference for English studies throughout. This would take in advanced courses in grammar, literature and history. Others wanted to have classes started in mechanical drawing, bookkeeping, and a course in civil government.

NEILL A BOOKMAN BESIDES AN ACTOR

Probably no actor in America has a more interesting bibliography than James Neill of the Neill Company. In Sir Smith Russell's play "A Bachelor's Romance," Mr. Neill appears as David Holmes, a literary student and book-worm, but in reality that interesting character was no greater lover of books than is the distinguished actor who impersonates him.

Mr. Neill recently purchased from Wm. George's Sons, the well known antiquarians of Bristol, Eng., nearly 200 rare prints to add to his already large collection. Among Mr. Neill's collection are some ponderous old folios, the typography of which is little short of wonderful.

HIS WILL IN COURT

James Campbell's Estate Valuations.

ALMOST TWO MILLIONS

Stocks Set Down at Par-- Allowance for the Widow and Children.

The will of James Campbell, the millionaire sugar planter, was probated in Judge Stanley's court yesterday afternoon. Cecil Brown appeared for the legatees under the will. He proved by depositions from San Francisco that the will of Mr. Campbell was executed in San Francisco in 1896 at the time of his visit to that city when he was kidnapped and an attempt was made to force from him a promise of a large ransom.

Upon the stand Mr. Brown stated that the estate was valued at about $1,838,160, $918,000 being in personality, stocks, bonds estimated at their par value, and bank deposits in Honolulu; $770,160 consisting of real estate in the Islands, and $150,000 of real estate in San Francisco and other points in California. The income of the estate, he said was about $100,000 per annum, although during the past year this had decreased somewhat owing to the burning of buildings owned by the estate at the time of the fire.

Mr. Campbell left four daughters, Emily, Alice, Muriel and Mary, the oldest being about 18 years of age. They with Mrs. Campbell, the deceased millionaire's widow, are the principal legatees under the will.

Mr. Brown was appointed executor of the will, his bond to be fixed at a later date when a complete inventory of the estate has been filed. Mrs. Campbell was called to the stand and her request for an allowance of $1500 per month for the maintenance of the two establishments in this city and the education of the children was granted.

POSTAL SAVING BANK DEPOSITS

Large Amount Upon Which Interest Still Runs—Provisions For Closing It.

At a meeting of the Governor and the heads of the Territorial Government departments yesterday, the Postal Savings Bank and its officers came in for a good portion of the discussion.

Secretary Cooper said that the amount of money on deposit in the bank on December 31, 1899, was $785,241.54, and the amount at present on deposit is estimated at $760,000. Mr. Cooper said that as the bank went officially out of existence on June 14th, and interest was supposed to run until July 1st the Territorial Government would probably have to pay this additional interest.

The sections of the Territorial Act which provide for the closing up of the affairs of the bank are as follows:

"Section 103. * * * And the Secretary of the Treasury * * * shall pay the amounts on deposit in the Hawaiian Postal Savings Bank to the persons entitled thereto, according to their respective rights, and he shall make all needful orders, rules and regulations for paying such persons and for notifying such persons to present their demands for payment. So much money as is necessary to pay said demands is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be available on and after the first day of July, nineteen hundred, when such payments shall begin, and none of said demands shall bear interest after said date, and no deposit shall be made in said bank after said date. Said demands of such persons shall be certified to by the chief executive of Hawaii as being genuine and due to the persons presenting the same, and his certificate shall be sealed with the official seal of the Territory, and countersigned by the Secretary of the Interior, who shall draw his warrant for the amount due upon the Treasurer of the United States, and when the same are so paid no further liabilities shall exist in respect of the same against the Government of the United States or of Hawaii.

"Section 104. ## JAPANESE IMMIGRATION COMPANIES STATE THEIR POSITION IN THE LABOR TROUBLES

EDITOR ADVERTISER: Statements were published in your issue of this morning by one Y. Soga. Not in reply to those statements, but for the information of all interested in the question, we beg to say:

First—There is no quarrel between the Japanese laborers and the immigration companies.

Second—The immigration companies have entered into obligations to the Japanese Government to take all necessary care of the immigrants who were brought here by them.

Third—Whatever money may be due to the laborers from deposits, is now deposited in banks in Honolulu and has not been used for investment or speculation, and will be paid over to the laborers as it may become due. Statements are regularly made to the Japanese Consulate of the deposits and the names of the persons to whom they are due.

Fourth—The gentlemen connected with the companies are not "living princely lives from the sweat and blood of the oppressed."

The political and juridical views of Mr. Y. Soga or of the Hawaiian Shingo, we deem unnecessary to discuss; apparently the Japanese laborers are fully cognizant of their present position, and nothing has been or will be done to deprive them of any of their rights. These companies have neither the desire nor the power to oppress the Japanese laborers, whose rights, in so far as the companies are concerned, the latter are bound and willing to protect.

The letter of Mr. Y. Soga is libellous, but the companies will not drag the man or his paper from obscurity by any proceedings. Their reason for asking you to publish this statement is solely to explain to the Hawaiian public the actual situation.

T. MASUDA,

On behalf of the Japanese Immigration Companies.

between such Government of Hawaii and the United States in respect to said Hawaiian Postal Savings Bank."

His Commission at Hand.

Ex-Marshall Brown has received his commission as High Sheriff from Governor Dole. It is now handsomely framed and will occupy a prominent place on the wall of his office. The commission, as are others of its kind, is finely engraved and stamped with the great seal of the Territory and bears the date of June 14. Mr. Brown has a number of commissions received under the former governments but takes exceptional pride in his latest acquisition.

FOR GOOD SIDEWALKS.

Superintendent McCandless Starts His Campaign.

Superintendent of Public Works McCandless intends to begin at once his campaign for good sidewalks all about the city. Not only does the Territorial Government propose to build cement sidewalks all about the Executive building grounds and Thomas square, but a move is to be made at once to build sidewalks along both sides of King and Beretania streets from Nuuanu to Punahou.

This will be an improvement that will be much appreciated by all who traverse those thoroughfares, for the sidewalks are at the present time in miserable condition. The work will be done at the expense of property owners along the streets and it is expected that it will enhance property values largely.

Monday night's musicale will be participated in by much of the best musical talent in the city and a delightful evening is sure to be enjoyed by all those who are in attendance.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Officers Under the Republic Retain Their Positions.

Here are the names of the appointees: James H. Boyd, Chief Clerk of the Department of Public Works.

W. E. Rowell, Assistant Superintendent of Public Works.

UNNECESSARY LOSS OF TIME.

Mr. W. S. Whedon, cashier of the First National Bank of Winterset, Iowa, in a recent letter gives some experience with a carpenter in his employ that will be of value to other mechanics. He says: "I had a carpenter working for me who was obliged to stop work for several days on account of being troubled with diarrhoea. I mentioned to him that I had been similarly troubled, and that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy had cured me. He bought a bottle of it from the druggist here, and informed me that one dose cured him, and he is again at work." For sale by Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., wholesale agents.

Copies of the Alma Mater march, an instrumental piece composed by Miss Anna Holt of this city, have been received. Miss Holt is at present attending the Notre Dame College in San Jose. The sun is weary, for he ran so far and fast today; The birds are weary, for who sang so many songs as they?

Only Love.

Prayer.

Let me make my whole life a prayer, Offer the love each thought and word and deed, And let my years be lines of a great creed With God's handwriting there.—Anonymous.

By the will of the late Walter S. Dickenson of Salem, Mass., Tufts College, the Universalist local and general denominational societies and many un denominational and fraternal Salem charities receive bequests amounting to $450,000.

The carved table, says a correspondent, so ruthlessly pounded by the Bishops day by day during the conference in Chicago, was sold at auction for $500 to W. L. Woodcock of Altoona, Pa. What Great Men Think of the Bible. Many books in my library are now behind and beneath me; they were good in their way once, and so were the clothes I wore when I was ten years old, but I have out-grown them. Nobody ever outgrows the Bible. The Book widens and deepens with our years.—Spurgeon.

A loving trust in the Author of the Bible is the best preparation for a wise study of the Bible.—Trumbull.

The Bible is the most thought suggesting book in the world. No other deals with such grand themes.—Herick Johnson.

Some one, speaking of the Bible, calls it "a vein of English undefiled."

"Dickens, when asked where he got his elegant style and imagery, replied: "From the Four Gospels."

Daniel Webster said: "If there be anything in my style or thought to be commended, the credit is due to my parents for instilling into my mind an early love for the Scriptures."

Intense study of the Bible will keep any man from being vulgar in point of style," says Coleridge.

The grand old Book of God still stands, and this old earth, the more its leaves are turned over and pondered, the more it will sustain and illustrate the Sacred Word.—Dana.

The books of men have had their day and grow obsolete. God's word is like Hiram's, "the same yesterday, today and forever."—R. Payne Smith.

The Bible is a revelation from God. It was not designed to give us all the information we might desire, nor to solve all the questions about which the human soul is perplexed, but to impart enough to be a safe guide to the haven of eternal rest.—Albert Barnes.

The Bible is God's chart for you to steer by, to keep you from the bottom of the sea, and to show you where the harbor is and how to reach it without running on rocks or bars.—Becher.

You have heard how Carlyle read for prayers in a certain home where he was a guest? How he introduced by reading the first chapter of Job, and how he read on and on until he had finished the forty-two chapters of the grand old epic. Then, closing the Bible, he calmly said: "This sublime story to be appreciated should be read at one reading."

The question of the children getting off to school or the host to his business had not entered the mind of the distinguished and eccentric guest. He was lost in the sublime thought and style of the Book of Job.

A GOOD COUGH MEDICINE. It speaks well for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy when druggists use it in their own families in preference to any other. "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the past five years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers," says Dr. J. Goldsmith Van Etten, N. Y. "I have always used it in my own family, but for the cough, colds and croup of the children, it is a life-saver, and find it very efficacious." NOT DECIDED Special Session May Not Be Called.

Governor Dale Has Not Made Up His Mind as to the Legislature Yet.

There is no certainty that there will be a special session of the legislature nor is there assurance that there will not be. Governor Dale said last evening that he had not yet determined one way or the other and that it would depend on his judgment after considering the matter fully whether an election for legislators would be called.

At the meeting of the Executive Council yesterday composed of the heads of the Territorial departments, the subject of a special session was brought up by the Governor to learn the ideas of his conferees. W. O. Smith, former attorney-general, was asked to be present at the meeting and to contribute his opinions on the subject. It was the general belief among the department heads that taking into consideration the large cost of holding an election, and the fact that the registration for the regular November elections takes place in September, which would bring the arrangements for the special session and the regular one close together, it would be inadvisable to call an election now.

The principal reasons for an extra session of the legislature are the adjudication of the claims for losses by the sanitary fires and the extension of the fire limits to include old Chinatown. The losers by the fires are clamoring for their money and are anxious that the matter be taken up at once. Governor Dale will hardly reach a conclusion for several days.

Death of Miss Morris. Miss Evelyn Morris, a trained nurse who came here from Bridgeport, Conn., a month ago, died on Thursday at the Queen's hospital from typhoid fever. Miss Morris came here intending to reside permanently, and was in charge for some time at one of the hospitals of the city. She was taken ill only last week and her death was quite unexpected. The funeral took place yesterday from Williams' undertaking parlors. Rev. Alexander Mackintosh conducting the services.

DANIEL WEBSTER.

Trails of the Great Expounder of the Constitution.

One of the noblest traits of Webster's character that he treated the men who worked for him as menials.

As one of the noblest traits of Webster's character that he treated the men who worked for him as menials.

When a little way ahead or behind he was always muttering to himself and many of his grandest speeches were composed while on these excursions.

On my rising to leave the house Mr. Wright placed his hands upon my shoulders and said: "Would you like a story that has never before appeared in print?"

I assured him that nothing would please me better. "Well, I have told you that Mr. Webster would never speak on politics when here, but he would talk to the assembled neighbors and guests on matters pertaining to farming.

"The plough was brought out, and ten yoke of splendid oxen were hitched in front. More than two hundred people stood around on the tiptoe of expectation.

"Are you ready, Wright?" "All ready, Mr. Webster," was the reply, meaning of course for the speech.

"Then let her rip!" "The whole crowd dropped to the ground and roared with laughter, while Webster, with his big plough, proceeded to rip up the soil.

"Would you like to have a little souvenir of your visit to Webster's home?" asked Mr. Wright, as the writer was about to leave.

"Please write me once a week." "Yrs., DANIEL WEBSTER."

MYSTERIES OF THE MOON.

Interesting Observations by Prof. Pickering of Harvard.

In a broad, flat expanse on the moon's northern hemisphere, known to astronomers as the Mare Serenitatis, there is a whitish spot some four miles in diameter to which the name of Linne has been given.

Now Prof. Pickering rescues Linne's reputation as a genuine marvel, but at the same time increases the mystery. Watching it during the eclipse, when the shadow of the earth passed like a cooling cloud across the face of the moon, he found by careful measurements that the size of the white spot surrounding Linne increased while buried in the shadow.

But this is not all. Measurements of the enigmatical spot made when there was no eclipse showed that it undergoes a similar but much more extensive fluctuation in consequence of the variation in the intensity of the sunlight falling upon it in the course of the lunar day.

These changes suggest frost spreading in the shadow and receding in the sunshine, or a cloud alternately growing and contracting under similar influences.

But frost or a cloud upon the moon pre-supposes an atmosphere and vapors there. They certainly must be widely different from such things upon the earth, but if they are abundant enough to cause motions and changes visible to our eyes, their presence may possibly indicate the existence of yet more interesting things in the lunar world.

It should be added—because the fact, while at present increasing the mystery, may in the end aid in solving it—that changes like those witnessed in Linne do not appear to affect most of the other well-known markings on the moon.

There is, however, at least one other locality on the moon where curious changes of similar origin have been detected—the ring-shaped plain called Plato.

"Washington, Feb. 2, '88." "Porter Wright: Mr. Weston will hand you $100, and I will try to send you some more soon."

"I have no objection to parting with the Ames steers or the Hazelton, or both, for money to pay debts, at a fair price, but I do not care about exchanging with Mr. Delano. The offer you have made ($15) is enough—I would not give any more. Mr. Ames may take the Brown oxen—indeed, I would sell almost anything to pay debts. But everything seems lost."

"If you do not trade with Mr. Delano, we will fatten the mountaineers, and look up something else for beef, next month, when I come home. If we keep the white-faced oxen, the black and red steers, the large Durham steers, and the jumpers, we shall do pretty well for teams, though another pair for Fletcher's barn might be useful. The Locke oxen, perhaps, might go there."

"I have written Mr. Stevens of the Revere House about the potatoes. He will write for what he wants. I will take Mr. Sampson's. How is it about ice?"

"Please write me once a week." "Yrs., DANIEL WEBSTER."

HOW MANY MILES DOES A WOMAN WALK IN DOING ONE DAY'S WORK?

Table with columns: Occupation, Time, Steps, Feet, Miles. Rows include: Getting breakfast, Washing dishes and cleaning house, Washing and dressing baby, etc.

Just how many steps a housewife takes a day has long been an interesting question. It has never before been answered. The New York State Household Economic Association discussed it at its recent conference.

The underlying motive in collecting these statistics is educational. They are to be used not merely to show the vast amount of work done by a wife and mother within the limit of her own home, but to teach women how one step can be made to do the work of two.

Meanwhile the New York Sunday World has solved the problem in the most practical way. At its request Mrs. Jesse Williams of 155 East One Hundred and Seventy-ninth street, has worn a pedometer for one day.

Mrs. Williams is the originator of the School of Matrimony, is the author of a recent series of articles on housekeeping in the Sunday World, and is a high authority upon the subject.

During the day she went about her household work as usual. The routine was in no way varied. She arose at 7 a. m. and retired at 9 p. m. She lives in a small, five-room flat. She has only one child, a baby ten months old. Her life is that of the average housekeeper.

According to the testimony of the pedometer, if woman's work is never done it is not her fault. She walks almost 25,000 miles a year trying to get to the end of it. And then she starts out again. At this rate she has a wonderful record for pedestrianism after twenty years of housekeeping.

lofty, steep and sharp-peaked mountains—as fine a valley for a nation of hermits to inhabit as could well be imagined. A few thousand Boer riflemen stationed on the kopjes of Plato could make it safe from invasion against the entire lunar world.

These appearances, taken in connection with the remarkable phenomena reported by Prof. Pickering, indicate that there are certain places on the moon where the contrast between daylight and darkness or between heat and cold manifests peculiar effects, and in those places the search for further discoveries should be pushed.

An Athletic Governor.

My son is going to wrestle with Governor Roosevelt, and he's going to throw him, too," is a statement credited to Captain Henry B. Turner, a Seventh New York regiment veteran.

mander Max Orlopp of that vessel, which achievement made him champion of the crew. Governor Roosevelt was a renowned athlete during his college days, and his life on the plains after his graduation at Harvard only served to break down his muscles.

Slippery English.

Scribner's Magazine for May goes to considerable trouble to prove that the rules of grammar should not be accepted as the shibboleth of intellect. Passing over the numerous instances of bad construction charged against such respectable ancients as Marlowe, Beaumont and Fletcher, Shakespeare, Sterne, Fielding, Ben Jonson, and even that "foster monster of exactitude," Dr. Johnson, the writer gives examples of execrable grammar in the works of Thackeray, Scott, Lytton, Du Maurier and Hardy.

As a rebuke to those who constantly watch for bad specimens of what is sometimes alluded to sarcastically in the magazines as "newspaper" or "reporter's" English, it may not be amiss to quote a few choice bits from famous writers who had ample opportunity to correct in proof their first and second mistakes.

A sentence saying that "everybody went away having pretensions to politeness, and with them" would hardly pass muster in the editorial rooms of a well-managed newspaper, and yet Thackeray used those words in "Vanity Fair."

Du Maurier wrote in "Trilby" that his heroine "appeared in slippers without heels, but which her feet had ennobled," which was rather a remarkable performance, as the heels were missing.

These are only a few of the many instances in which the best literary craftsmen of the nineteenth century fell into error, but they are sufficient to prove the mother tongue so slippery that it requires vigilant watching, not only in the hurly-burly of newspaper offices, but also in the quiet of the bookman's study.

Cooling Water in Nicaragua.

"That reminds me," said a railroad man, who had been a listener, "of the primitive method of cooling water in yague in Mexico and Central America. The principle is simple for himself, but there is a certain knack about the thing that I have never known a white man to fully acquire."

"When a native in one of the broiling hot little villages of interior Nicaragua wants to cool some water, she fills a half-gallon earthenware jar about two-thirds full. Parenthetically I say 'she,' because this is a task that requires more energy than any male Nicaraguan was ever known to possess.

On the third morning he was standing on London bridge, looking gloomily into the black water, wondering how the editor of a newspaper who knew him passed with a new nod. He hesitated, looked at him, and came back.

"Oh, Murray," he cried, "you are just the man I want! Can you spare a couple of hours?" "Yes," Murray said, dryly.

"I want an article on—on Columbus for tomorrow. Birthday article. Nothing light, fanciful—you understand? Go to the office. You'll find paper and pens ready. Send it to my desk. And, oh, by the way, I may not be there in time. We'll settle in advance," trusting a couple of sovereigns into his hand.

Other people besides Paul Krueger have "seen visions and dreamed dreams." As long ago as June 13, 1897, the Rev. C. Spoelstra of Pretoria, on a day set apart for humiliation and prayer on account of the following significant and prophetic words: "I hear, in spirit, a noise as that of an army marching from all sides on to this land. I hear the clash of swords, the rattle of volleys, the thunder of the cannon. A desperate struggle ensues—a struggle of life and death. It is decisive—the inheritance of the fathers falls into the hands of the enemy." A royalist paper, the "Grahamstown Journal," asserts, based on the authenticity of the report is beyond all doubt—as we hope the fact will prove.

THE LAST SCRAP.

Was a Friend in Need.

David Christie Murray, the well-known author, told a pertinent story some time ago the story of the hardships of his first year in London. After carrying about his manuscripts in vain from one publishing house to another, he found himself penniless and homeless. He slept upon the Thames embankment for two nights. For two days he had not eaten food.

"Oh, Murray," he cried, "you are just the man I want! Can you spare a couple of hours?" "Yes," Murray said, dryly.

"I want an article on—on Columbus for tomorrow. Birthday article. Nothing light, fanciful—you understand? Go to the office. You'll find paper and pens ready. Send it to my desk. ## A Michigan Miracle

Speech Restored after Nearly 13 Years.

The Ypsilanti Commercial, Ypsilanti, Mich.

Many things appear miraculous that are really the result of natural laws, the workings of which can be accurately predicted. A striking example of this occurred in a prominent Michigan family recently, and there can be no question as to the truthfulness of the narrative since it is attested by Mrs. Harriet Begole, of Ypsilanti, Mich., a sister-in-law of Mr. Joshua Begole, who was Governor of Michigan in 1883-4. Mrs. Begole said:

"In 1888 I suffered from a severe illness, during which my voice left me and I did not speak above a whisper for nearly 13 years. I was treated by five local physicians and afterward consulted leading specialists of New York. They diagnosed my case as partial paralysis, stating that the left side of my throat was entirely paralyzed, the right side partially so. For nearly eight years I have suffered from a severe stomach disorder and about a year ago I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. My stomach trouble was relieved, my general health became greatly improved and to my surprise I regained control of my vocal organs. I have used five boxes of the pills and last November I spoke aloud for the first time in almost 13 years. I am now 71 years of age and have full control of my voice."

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 19th day of May, 1899, at Ypsilanti, Michigan.

JOHN P. KIRK, Notary Public.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headaches, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, and all forms of weakness either in male or female.

MAXWELL ON OUR WELLS

Artesian Water Supply Assured.

NO FEAR OF THEM FAILING

Authoritative Article on the Subject From the Distinguished Scientist.

In the Planters' Monthly for June Dr. Maxwell, the distinguished Honolulu scientist, has an article on our artesian water. He draws the conclusion that though rainfall is the only source of supply, that it will not fail. The article is as follows:

I take occasion to allude to your very opportune editorial in the last (May) number of your journal upon the subject of our water supply, and to venture what appears to me to be an immediately necessary explanation. In referring to the unfortunate collapse of the American Sugar Company and the Kamalo Sugar Company, you very properly state that "the only cause that has led to this result is the lack of water for irrigation purposes. Molokai has an abundance of arable land but no streams. Wells were sunk in different localities which gave excellent fresh water, but later on the water in these artesian wells became too brackish for cane cultivation, and the work on the American plantation had to be abandoned." It is the following paragraph, however, to which I particularly wish to call attention, in which you say "it would seem possible from this that what has happened on Molokai in future decades be repeated on our other islands where artesian wells now supply abundant fresh water."

It is necessary to emphatically distinguish between the water proposition as it was apparent in the said localities on Molokai, and the water supplies of other districts upon the several islands. To persons who looked at the matter of the rainfall upon Molokai, and the underground discharge of the water to the sea, it was apparent that the great body of that discharge was going to the west on the side of the island facing the Island of Maui, and, owing to geological desiderata, nothing more than some vagrant water would be found slowly working its way to the ocean under the leads of Kaunakakai. Before the American Sugar Company was incorporated, I strongly put before the promoters the dire improbability of finding water. A little sweet water (vagrant water) was found, as predicted, but the final results have only too clearly demonstrated the soundness of the views that were based on the geological aspects of the situation, and have shown that the rainfall is wafting into the sea on the other side, where it was also stated that water should be found.

Mr. Editor, the situation on Molokai (there are other localities also where water will not be found) must not be confused with other localities. The geological reasons are just as ample and definite for the presence of a relative abundance of water in localities like Ewa, Lahaina, or Haiku as they were emphatic against the probability of water in the said locality on Molokai. Also the reasons, on geological grounds, which indicated that water would be found in the above mentioned and in other localities, are a guaranty not only for the abundance, but likewise for the constancy and continuity of the supply. Where water is found today it will continue to be found, and in the same abundance, conditional upon the same rainfall that has heretofore obtained. The rainfall is our only source of fresh water. The rainfall varies with the years, consequently the volume of available water.

In a publication some four years ago I put the average of the annual precipitation upon Oahu at 62 1/2 billion gallons, and the volume of dutiable water that was wasting into the sea at 163 billion gallons. The results that have followed the sinking of more wells and the use of more water to irrigate the rains, Prof. Lyons has reported the response of the wells to the new mountain supply. Some wells, even upon the best watersheds, are more sensitive than others, which is due to the fact that given localities, like Ewa district, are resting upon the back of the extreme convergence of discharge, while other localities, and the wells within them are more upon the outer edges of the watershed. In any district, however, if the draft upon the water runs close up to the volume of supply the wells will show it, and some will show it sooner than others. I return, however, to the statement that where water is found in abundance today it will always be found in the same abundance, providing the rainfall continues the same as heretofore.

To suggest that the rainfall may not continue as heretofore (providing we do what we can to maintain it) is beside the question, and I will not waste time upon it. I am absolutely sure that the supply of artesian water will keep up in all those localities where its abundance is simple and before our eyes. If more land continues to be brought under irrigation, that does not lessen the natural supply of water. It may, and it must, lead to a more scientific and economic use of the supply. Personally, I am quite sure that the volume of water that is being used in given localities today is capable of rendering double its present duty—that is, it can be made to furnish double the present equivalent of sugar.

The crucial significance of the water supply in relation to our sugar crop is apparent to everybody, and everyone knows what it would mean if the supply gave out. It is also very desirable that no such impression should become current, and merely because misfortune has followed undertakings in certain specific locations. For such reasons I have thus ventured to allude to your otherwise very excellent editorial, and because it is necessary to place beyond question the infallibility of the supply in those localities where it is now abundant, unless nature herself utterly reverses her present procedure.

Remarks.—Dr. Maxwell's communication relative to the supply of artesian water on Oahu will be read with interest, his opinion being that it is practically inexhaustible, so long as the annual rainfall continues abundant. There can be no question that he is correct. That these subterranean reservoirs are supplied solely by rainfall is proved by the data of rise and fall kept by the Government. Our remarks in the May number of the Planter were intended to show the necessity of a closer watch over the waste of water, chiefly from the rice plantations, on which a continual flow has been kept up without regard to the amount required for use and with little or no restrictions. This is where more watchfulness is called for, and should be strictly enforced by law. There are about 200 artesian wells on Oahu, and the total number continues to be augmented. While we admit that the rainfall in former years was amply sufficient to keep our wells in good condition, the time may not be far distant when a high well-boring here must be called. The annual rainfall on Oahu, and probably on all the islands of our group, is unimpairedly decreasing, as every one who has lived here for thirty or forty years can testify. It is well known that five decades must be well aware of it. We have the full records of rainfall during the early years of the nineteenth century obtainable—say, from 1810 to 1850; they would show years when 40, 50 and perhaps 60 inches fell annually, while now the average for the past four years has fallen below 25 inches, and for 1897 Mr. W. R. Castle's table in the last Monthly shows the year's rainfall was only 13.77 inches, and for 1899 18.42 inches is reported. This change has been brought about almost wholly by the denuding of our mountains ranges on all the islands of our group, the ill effects of which are only now beginning to be felt.

WHERE IS WILL OF D. B. SMITH

Question of Its Existence is to be Taken to the Supreme Court.

Whether or not the late D. B. Smith, the wealthy shoe man who fell dead in San Francisco last fall, left a will is to be decided in the Supreme Court of Hawaii. After his death no will could be found and a few days ago Judge Stanley appointed Cecil Brown administrator of the estate as all efforts to unearth the will had proved futile. But yesterday Amoy N. Anin, who was for many years Mr. Smith's housekeeper, applied to Judge Stanley for the probate of the will which has been lost and the petition having been denied by consent an appeal was at once taken to the Supreme Court.

The petitioner was a legatee under the will in the sum of $5000, and she is said to have positive evidence that Mr. Smith made the will in question. This evidence it is asserted consists of several autograph letters from Mr. Smith in which he referred to the will and the provisions that he had made for her.

The case has aroused much interest among lawyers as it is almost the first one of its kind that has come up in the courts of Hawaii.

Gustave Jaeger's Will. The will of Gustave H. A. Jaeger was admitted to probate by Judge Stanley yesterday morning. The estate is valued at $15,000 and Mrs. Annie Jaeger, widow of the testator is named as executrix.

VIATOR LAUNCHES A JEREMIAH AT W. R. LIVINGSTONE, M. A. OXON AND M. A. MELB.

EDITOR ADVERTISER: Of the many good things in this morning's Advertiser not the least is the communication from the reverend gentleman who so modestly appends to his name a list of geographical terms. My admiration for both the matter and the manner of his disposition is so enthusiastic I cannot refrain from giving it some public expression. I do not feel that the Sunday newspaper calls for defense or condemnation at my hands. It is a purely business proposition, and as such will stand or fall. True, I have often thought, in the hurry of a busy life, that a Sunday Advertiser would be very welcome on the one morning of the week when I have time to read a morning paper. I must confess that I have been so hungry for something in the way of news on Sunday morning as to have bartered sundry nickels for the Sunday Volcano—of sulphurous memory.

But let that pass. And I the tongues of men and of angels, I might fitly express my admiration of the manifold wisdom displayed by Rev. W. R. Livingstone, M. A. of Oxford and M. A. of Melbourne. How can I—Yankee (and perhaps "hanky-hanky")—as I am, sufficiently express my gratitude for that noble and classical Latin quotation? How shall I evidence my appreciation of that scholarly allusion to the late Ar. Aristotle? I evidence my appreciation of that clarity and precision with which he elucidates the meaning of that most difficult word "fulfill" I am lost in wonder. In darkest Hawaii a real live M. A. is so rare as to be an object of awe and veneration. Yet certain of the more stiff-necked among us might not bow the knee to an M. A. of Oxford only. But who can dispute with a man who is not only M. A. of Oxford, but also M. A. of Melbourne?

How meekly does he advance his claims to authority! "I am an Apostolic priest; I mediate between sinners and the Most High; I am inspired by the spirit of truth; Behold Me!" With what Christian charity he delivers his opinion of Mr. Moody and the vast body of those who follow Mr. Moody rather than Mr. Livingstone! Far be it from me to draw comparisons between sects, but really the phrase "ignorant Protestants" is pretty good—about as good as "the long-necked geese of the world."

SEA AND SHORE

The steamship Moana arrived from Sydney, Auckland and Apia yesterday morning at an early hour and docked at the Oceanic wharf. She carries a big list of through passengers including Lord and Lady Hope, more concerning whom appears in another column, Rev. R. F. Bryne, Lieut.-Commander W. E. Sewell who joined the vessel at Apia, and many others.

Captain E. T. Miles and family and Mrs. Grant Turner were passengers from the Colonies for Honolulu, as were also Messrs. Oxenham and Hoop.

The Moana left Sydney at 1:30 p. m. on the 6th instant, cleared the Heads at 2:05 p. m., arrived at Auckland at 3 p. m. on the 10th instant, left again at 1:15 p. m. on the 11th, arriving at Apia at 7:20 a. m. on the 15th, and leaving there at 1:15 p. m. of the same day for Honolulu. She sailed for San Francisco yesterday at 5 p. m. from the Oceanic wharf.

On the voyage up from the South the Moana experienced moderate to fresh winds with heavy rains to Auckland, and light to moderate N. N. E. winds from Auckland to Apia, with cloudy weather; smooth sea for first four days after leaving Apia with light airs and calms and fine weather. Thence to Honolulu, smooth sea, picking up moderate N. E. trades on the 19th, continuing to port.

The following are the importations by the Moana: 50 cases of butter, 1 case drapery, 254 cases Geneva, 33 casks beef, 13 cases wine, 1 case household effects, 1 case samples and 5 boxes limes.

About the Harvester.

NEWCASTLE, June 10.—The steamer MacLeay has landed the crew of the bark Harvester, bound from Table Bay to Newcastle, which was wrecked on the Seal Rocks, on Friday night.

The boats were picked up yesterday morning.

The Harvester left Cape Town on April 29, and had a fine passage to Bass Straits; then heavy gales along the coast.

Friday night was very bad, the vessel, under small canvas, standing inshore.

She struck the Seal Rock at midnight. The captain saw the light, and was just about to throw the ship around, when the disaster occurred.

The vessel slipped off the rock, and commenced to founder quickly.

The crew left in the boats when the ship's rail was just under water.

The men had a bad time of it till daylight, when they were rescued.

It is believed that the Harvester sank between the Big Seal and the spot where the wreck of the Catterthun lies.

The gale has moderated but the sea is still very rough.

The Harvester was in ballast. The captain mistook the light for Jervis Bay, and thought that the breakers were white-topped seas.

The ship's papers, instruments, and moneys only were saved.

Schooner's Mate Drowned.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—John Maderson, mate of the lumber schooner La Gironde, was drowned at 8 o'clock yesterday morning while the vessel was between Mile rock and Fort Point, on the way into the bay from Fort Bragg. Maderson had started to let go the jib halyards when he lost his balance and fell into the sea. Captain Hansen immediately put the schooner about and lowered a boat, first having thrown Maderson a line, which the drowning man grasped, but immediately released. Before the boat could reach him he had disappeared and the schooner entered the bay with flag at half-mast. Maderson was about 50 years old, a native of Sweden.

Heavy Coal Receipts.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—The steamer San Mateo arrived yesterday from Nanaimo with 4300 tons of coal. The British ship Elmhurst arrived from Newcastle, after a passage of eighty-six days, with 2520 tons of coal. Exclusive of these receipts, a total of 32,252 tons of coal has arrived here during the past week. There were seven cargoes from Washington, amounting to 19,534 tons; three cargoes from British Columbia, amounting to 9078 tons; one cargo from Oregon, 478 tons, and one from Australia, 3162 tons. Forty-seven vessels are under charter to bring coal to this port from Australia, the aggregate capacity of the vessels being 143,000 tons. Fifty-one vessels are listed to carry coal from Newcastle to Honolulu, having a capacity of 87,000 tons.

For Tahiti.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The brig Galilee will sail Thursday or Friday for Tahiti with three passengers and a full cargo of freight, including ninety tons of flour. All the flour consumed at Tahiti is sent from this port, and, heretofore, has been shipped in sacks, but as there is a probability that the cargo will be fumigated upon reaching Tahiti, the present shipment is made in barrels, the first of its kind. Captain Dinsmore of the Galilee had more or less trouble at Tahiti on the last trip, as a result of the false reports that had been received there regarding alleged plague cases here, and is rather fearful that the authorities on the island will be even more particular when he reaches there on the coming trip, in consequence of the exaggerated statements credited to the Board of Health of this city.

Almost a Mutiny.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The last voyage of the schooner Del Norte from the mouth of the Rogue river to this port was fraught with a number of exciting incidents, which are traceable to the superstition of seafaring men and a little subterfuge by the wily Chinese practiced upon Captain Henry Jacobsen of that craft.

The schooner makes monthly trips to the Oregon coast for fish, lumber, etc.,

and carries general merchandise to the residents of that district from this city. On each of the southbound trips during the past six months, the vessel has been approached by a smiling and innocent-looking Chinese just as the hawsers were about to be drawn on board, who requested, in oily accents, if the head mandarin of the big junk would deign to humble himself by transporting a small package to his cousins, Tie Lung & Co. of 195 Waverly place, this city.

Captain Jacobsen was willing, in consideration of a $5 gold piece, to do the Chinese desired, and on each trip was presented with a neatly corded package, an official-looking document addressed to Tie Lung & Co. and a $5 piece.

The diplomatic celestial informed Jacobsen that the various packages contained valuable deer horns and were intended for the ultimate decoration of the pagoda of a great Chinese joss.

Upon arrival at this port delivery of the packages was promptly made to the consignees and nothing unusual was noted about the transaction, but on the trip which was concluded yesterday the fact that the mysterious package contained human bones became known to the crew, and it was with some difficulty that Captain Jacobsen was able to bring the ship to port on account of the unreasonable fears of his crew. When the sailors first learned of the presence of grewsome, ghostly human bones on board the vessel they protested long and loud and told the captain that no luck would come to him on the trip, but the doughty mariner fingered the shining gold pieces which he had obtained from the traffic and said never a word. He, however, stealthily placed the bones in the mate's cabin, where they remained for three days without discovery by that officer. Finally the mate made a little investigation on his own account, which resulted in his throwing the remains of the late Sam Luck into the forehold of the Del Norte, much to the disgust of the crew and the terror of the Siwash cook of the Del Norte.

Captain Jacobsen was in a quandary as to the disposition of the package last night, and reported the facts to the California-street police, where he was directed to the Morgue.

IT'S INDISPUTABLE.

Because It's in Honolulu and Can Be Investigated.

Like all statements which have preceded this and like all which will follow, the party interested is a citizen. In a city of about 25,000 people it is hard to hide the doings of your neighbors. It is an easy matter to find the residence of Mr. Metcalf. The reader has not to sit down after he peruses this statement, which follows, and wonder—as he would wonder were this case in San Francisco—if the facts can be credited. He has not to ask "Are they genuine?" The man is here at home. Honolulu proof should convince. Read this:

Mr. F. Metcalf of this city gives us the following information: "I was afflicted with a painful feeling in my back for over five years. The various remedies resorted to did me no good, until, falling in with the advice of a friend (Mr. W. J. Maxwell) I procured at the Hollister Drug Co.'s some of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. I had hardly finished taking them when the pain left me altogether, and I now feel that I have been completely cured of the terrible suffering I underwent formerly. By keeping a box of the pills in the house I am fortified against any possible return of my complaint at future times. It seems almost miraculous that the pains should have vanished so speedily. All sufferers from backache should get some of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills."

CHIEF JUSTICE JUDD'S WILL.

Leaves an Estate of $222,000 to His Ten Children.

Judge Stanley admitted to probate yesterday the will of the late Chief Justice Albert F. Judd. The heirs under the will were represented by A. L. C. Atkinson. Mr. Atkinson showed by his personal testimony and that of A. F. Judd, Jr., that the will was executed in 1887, and that it was the only will ever drawn by Justice Judd.

By its provisions Mrs. Agnes Judd, widow of the late Chief Justice, is named executrix. The estate is valued at $222,000, and there are ten heirs, all children of Justice Judd.

Consumption

It Can be Cured.

There is no doubt about it. Begin early, take out all impurities from the system, enrich the blood, and recovery is certain. If your child is thin and pale give Ayer's Sarsaparilla at once. Consumption only attacks the weak.

Mr. Alfred G. Stevens, of Farnell, Auckland, N. Z., sends us the photograph of his daughter and says:

"My daughter Emily, 17 years of age, was in a very low state. She could not sleep because of her violent cough. Two doctors said she was in the first stages of consumption. She was so weak she could not go out by herself. A friend induced me to try

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

In less than two weeks our daughter could sleep well at night. Her mother and I would go into her room at all hours of the night, it seemed so good not to hear that awful hollow cough. She raised great quantities of blood, yet notwithstanding all this I can now say she is entirely cured."

MR. WAITY ON THE BOND REDEMPTION.

The probable failure of the United States Treasury Department to take up the Hawaiian bonds and pay for them in United States gold coin, Mr. H. E. Waity of the banking firm of Sharp & Co. said yesterday: 'I don't believe the bondholders themselves are not especially hurt by the delay...

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK DEPOSITS.

Stock brokers complain that the market is dull lately, occasioned by a tightening money market. Much of the depression in brokerage circles is laid to the uncertainty of the Hawaiian bond redemption.

SANDS TALKS OF THINGS HAWAIIAN

Honolulu in Salt Lake, Utah, Fills a Newspaper Half Column.

Honoluluans abroad are much given to newspaper interviews and politics; the plague and sugar development are never-failing topics. The following is taken from the Salt Lake Tribune: 'There are only sporadic cases of the bubonic plague now in Honolulu,' said H. E. Sands of the Hawaiian capital at the Manitou yesterday.

United States soldiers are no longer a curiosity in Honolulu. At first, the citizens took up subscriptions and fed and entertained them. But we got tired of that after a while, and now the soldiers take their chances the same as any one else.

The natives will never be reconciled to annexation. But, then, they are a race fast dying out. They are being largely absorbed by the other races in intermarriage. Like the natives at Guam and Samoa, the Kanakas have no profane or vile words in their own vernacular; but the coming of the white men have provided them abundantly with the verbal explosives as well as intoxicants.

MERRY CHASE FOR A POOR DRIVER

Foreigner Bires Tom Carty's Rig and Takes the Tires Off the Wheels.

Mounted Patrolman Kelly and Tom Carty, the liveryman, had an exciting chase yesterday at 1 o'clock down King street in quest of a man who had hired one of Carty's rubber-tired rigs.

At Fort street he ran the right front wheel into a sharp curb which cut the rubber-tire in two and caused it to come off the wheel. Another sharp turn and the rear tire suffered in the same manner. Tom Carty got wind of the erratic driver's actions and picking up Patrolman Kelly started in pursuit. Tom had an angry look on his countenance and breathed vengeance on the man in the hired rig when he caught up with him.

A companion of the foreign gentleman quickly alighted from the buggy and slunk off in the crowd and was not arrested. At the Police station Tom thought better of his action and agreed that if the damages were paid, which he said amounted to $15, he would not enter a police charge.

HOW ROONEY PAID CALLS

Visited Frank Miller Late at Night

NOW HIS EYE IS CLOSED

He Told a Sad Tale of Inhospitable Reception to Judge Wilcox Yesterday.

Rooney's left eye was beautifully decorated, just turning from the hue of midnight's blackness to that of a parrot green. Rooney's eye came in contact with the toe of Frank Miller's number 9 shoe. Before Judge Wilcox yesterday Rooney displayed his eye, forehead and face in general as exhibits in prosecuting Frank Miller on the charge of assault and battery.

Rooney said he went to Frank Miller's place on Wednesday night very late in company with a friend. Miller and a man named J. A. Harvey were there, and hardly had Rooney stepped into the building before a row was started. Harvey's right fist was used with deadly effect on Rooney's stomach and he went to the floor with a thud. Frank Miller then bravely undertook to do the rest of the affair, but preferred using his shoes rather than to bruise his hands. He chose Rooney's face to begin with and rained kick after kick upon him until Rooney's physiognomy was beaten out of all human semblance. Tiring of this sport Miller then picked up the almost insensible victim of his wrath and cast him from the house into the darkness.

When Rooney was able to regain his feet he came to the Police Station and swore out a warrant of arrest for Miller and Harvey. Miller was located yesterday but Harvey has taken passage on the underground railway and the police have been unable to trace him. Rooney's testimony on the witness stand yesterday was straightforward, and certainly his disfigured face strengthened his story of the brutal assault. Miller denied most of the details given by his victim and even went so far as to state that Rooney's only visit to his premises on Wednesday was before sundown.

At this statement Rooney's face underwent a change. He tried to smile but only half his face responded. One side laughed and the other looked so serious that tears welled up in his only good eye. Deputy Marshal Chillingworth intimated that he desired to have Harvey placed on the stand as an important witness, and Judge Wilcox granted a stay of proceedings until he can be produced in court. If Harvey can be found by Monday the case will be re-opened and the decision given.

BLAZE IN A SHANTY.

Fire Does Some Damage at House of a Portuguese.

A small fire in a shanty belonging to a Portuguese named Raulino at Kinau and Alapai streets called out the Fire Department at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Half the wheelmen in town followed the apparatus thither only to find a small blaze in the rear of the place upon which neighbors were pouring buckets of water. The Department turned a stream on the building and soon had the fire out with little damage done. The fire is supposed to have been caused by children playing with matches.

Few good judges of tea are enuredly satisfied with the qualities possessed by any one brand of tea, and seek to supply deficiencies by a mixture of different teas, technically called "blending."

With our experience of teas we can do this better than an amateur consumer, our large knowledge of teas guiding us with comparative certainty when the mere amateur blunders.
