STACKABLE AFTER THE SMUGGLERS ON BOARD THE CRUISER ST. LOUIS

The Collector Threatens to Get Out Warrants for Various Officers and Men---Cavalier Treatment on Board Ship.

War has broken out between the Col- | lector Stackable went aboard to see lector of the Port of Honolulu and the men and officers of the United States erniser St. Louis, and it is probable that there will be some exciting developments, including the arrest of a number of the officers, petty officers and crew of the warship.

The trouble arose yesterday over the accusation by Collector Stackable that a large portion of the crew of the cruiser were engaged in smuggling. Mr. Stackable claimed that the ship was partly freighted with tapa brought from Samoa, and that this was being smuggled ashore in large quantities by both the officers and men of the St. Louis and sold about town.

This was the casus belli. The first move on the part of the collector was to go to beard the lion in his den. In other words, he went to call on Cap-tain Gleaves and tell him what he had latter man of mighty authority prompt-

The next thing was the introduction of Collector Stackable to one of the cabins of the cruiser, where he was curtly told by the officer of the deck to stay until called for. This to the Collector of the Port of Honolulu! It was lese majeste, gross insult and dire injury rolled into one, for the cabin

MEYERS MAY

Deputy Auditor Thinks of Leaving the Territorial Service.

Henry C. Meyers, Deputy Auditor of the Territory, may resign his position and leave the government service upon the return of his chief, Auditor Fisher, who is now on his way to Camp Perry with the rifle team.

Mr. Meyers has not fully made up his mind yet what action he will take, but he admits that there is a possibility of his resigning, that he is thinking of it, but has nothing to say on the subject as yet. "If I do resign," he said," will simply turn in my resignation to Governor Frear, the same as any head of department.' Mr. Meyers was reluctant to talk about the matter, and said he did not know how the rumor became current. "It will be at least two months before Mr. Fisher gets back, and perhaps longer," he said, "so I have plenty of time to think about the matter." Asked if he contemplated going into any other line of business, Mr. Meyers replied in the negative. "If I do resign," he said, "I shall stop work, re tire. But I have still about three years of my term left if I want to stay. I was appointed a year ago last June for four years, and was confirmed by the Senate last session."

USE JOINTED POLES TO RUN THE WIRES

Superintendent Hummell of the telephone company who is putting in the conduits on Merchant street, states that when the time comes to put the wires underground, they will be run through with jointed poles. Each pole is about six feet long. They are to be pushed into the conduits and jointed together until they form one long pole about a hundred feet in length. The wire is attached to the last one and as the poles arrive at the other end they are

And a Governor, when he goes aboard a ship of war, is a person of more than average consequence and everything else but the business of being polite to him has to be brushed aside. An effort was made to brush Collector Stackable aside. But he didn't brush worth a cent.

"You go in there and stay," directed an officer, gently urging the Collector into a tiny cabin that was unpleasantly hot. The Collector was so dazed for a minute that he actually did go in and take a seat. But soon he got to thinking and he decided that he didn't want to stay in that cabin, anyway. So he wandered out and onto the deck, where he was promptly spotly sent an orderly to tell Collector into the cabin and stay there until Governor Frear should have left the

It was then that things began to happen. "I will not go back in that cabin," replied the Collector indignantly. "I came down here to see the capwas hot and stuffy and no pleasant I'll go ashore and have the whole bunch It happened that at the time Col- | arrested. I'm the Collector of this port and I don't have to go into any cabin and wait for the Governor to go ashore.

And the indignant Collector marched down the gangplank. Mr. Stackable headed straight for the office of United States District Attorney Breckons and laid the matter before him. He made formal complaint

That's where the matter stood last night. No warrants had been issued, but it was understood that they were to be sworn out and the arrests made. So it is not improbable that before the day is over the crew of the St. Louis and the mess of her officers may present a sadly depleted appearance and that the missing members may be found under the guard of stern, uniformed officers of the law who have no awe of other brass buttons and uniforms such as adorn the sailors and officers of the navy of the United States.

Naturally, Captain Gleaves would prefer to handle the matter himself and ry the offenders by court-martial instead of having them arrested by the civil officers and tried in the Federal court on a vulgar civilian charge. But that is as the land authorities sayand there is no indication at present that they are going to let him-have his way. There is nothing whatever to prevent the arrest of every man and officer aboard the St. Louis if anyone wants to swear out warrants against them, for Jack ashore is no better than any landlubber when it comes to the matter of breaking the laws and statutes of the United States of America.

The matter is left entirely in the hands of the United States District Attorney, and he can exercise his discretion in the course to be pursued. But unless some kind of a compromise is reached, charges of smuggling will be Collector Stackable believes that he has recovered nearly all the tapa that was brought ashore. He has great heaps of it stacked up in the Custom House. And it is said that there are still bigger heaps aboard the cruiser.

The police have no record of the fatality, but from meager reports brought to Honolulu by Chinese who attended the funeral, it is said that the Chinaman, who was quite old, was taken sick while working in a cane field as a strikebreaker. He retired to a pile of trash to rest and fell asleep. Some one set fire to several piles of trash, including the one in which the old man was lying, and only after his friends missed him and made a search was his body found amid the ashes.

For a year past, a more or less persistent effort has been made to gather recruits, but it has only been during the past six months that the work of the labor agents has been meeting with pronounced success. Mr. O. A. Steven, of Honolulu, arrived at Manila yester-day. He comes from Hongkong where he has just dispatched a hundred or more Filipinos to the Hawaiian Islands. These men were secured in the southern islands and a large percentage of them came from in and about Cebu.

Mr. Steven is no novice in securing results as a recruiting agent. He is a well known business man of Honolulu and for some years was associated with the brokerage and auction house of J. F. Mr. Steven had the reputation of luring many a hard, round dollar from a reluctant fist through his persuasive eloquence on the auction block in Honolulu. He is also meeting with the same degree of success in his efforts to enlist Filipinos for the cane fields of Hawaii. The men are to replace the refractory Japanese who have made life a burden to the managers of the plantations on the islands of the Hawaiian group. The following is from the Manila; the intention of the representatives of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association to go about their work quietly but wherever available labor can be found it is believed a sufficient alluring proposition can be advanced which will convince the Filipino that life on a sugar plantation in the Territory of

Hawaii is far more to be desired than to continue a fitful struggle for a livelihood in their homeland.

It appears that the subject of Americanizing the Territory of Hawaii has received much consideration at the hands of the Washington government. It was not many months ago that, at the instance of President Roosevelt, Secretary Dickinson, of the Bureau of Commerce and Labor, was sent to the Hawaiian Islands to make an exhaustive study of the labor conditions there. The Federal government realizes that with between seventy and eighty thousand Japanese already living in the islands and besides about twenty thousand Chinese engaged in thousand people.

It is contended that the big percentage of Japanese in Hawaii are all eligible to citizenship. It is pointed out that with the elective franchise in vogue throughout the territory practically every office at the gift of the people will in time be held by an Asiatic. The contemplation of this state of affairs has led Washington to take notice and it was this condition which confronted Secretary Dickinson upon his tour of investigation.

For the past three years the Japa nese have furnished the great bulk of the labor on the sugar plantations. The Washington official is said to have presented the situation to the Hawaiian planters in strong and unmistakable terms. He also set forth the desires and intentions of the Washington government. Whatever else may be said of the company now playing at the Orpheum, everyone will admit that Frank Earle is popular with the audience; that he is good in any character, and that he dances with such precision that he puts the audience in the notion to "Waltz around with Willie." The cavalry picture still holds the people spellbound, and many in the audience go home convinced that there is fake about it somewhere. But there is not, according to Mr. Bonine, who has seen the soldiers go through the drill. The other pictures in the show, and all of the acts this week, are as good as can be wished. The crowds go to the Orpheum to be amused, and they get what they are looking for. Sometimes they do not find a seat, but hundreds are satisfied every night to stand and look on. The seats at fifteen and twenty-five cents may be reserved a week in advance, and it would be well for intending patrons to take time by the forelock and bespeak what is wanted. This afternoon the regular program will be presented for the matinee, and the admittance fee will be ten cents, with reserved seats for those who apply in time.

Cordell and Sullivan to Keep Open House This Afternoon.

The big boxers did their usual training stunts at their respective headquarters yesterday afternoon in a way which was perfectly satisfactory to their supporters.

Dick Sullivan, at Fort Shafter, boxed with Soldier Terrien, a useful 150pounder, and also with Sarconi, who is billed for a six-round preliminary with Kid Terry. Sullivan is nearly down to weight, thanks to some strenmons sessions on the road. He is looking a bit thin around the gills, but this is only what is to be expected in a man who has to make weight.

Despite the fact that Sullivan re-cently launched a hotel enterprise, he is attending as strictly to training as ever. He is perhaps the cleanest-living boxer who has ever come to these shores, and for this reason has a large and enthusiastic following of folks who, as a general rule, take little interest in boxing and rarely attend a contest.

GRANDSTAND PRICES DOWN

The Honolulu Baseball League an nounces that the price of reserved seats in the grandstand next Saturday afternoon will be reduced from 50 cents to 35 cents. This is done on account of the many fans who wish to take their ladies with them and find the 20 cents car fare and big plunk admission a trifle steep.

The game next Saturday afternoon will be between the Punahous and the Saints. Neither line-up is yet given out, but it is largely hinted that both sides will have strong teams. The Puns, so it is rumored, will douse the rocking-chair fleet and sail a race with a live crew.

The Saints have a lively bunch to draw from. They should put up just about as good a game as the Sparklers did last Saturday. It is to be hoped that they do, for nobody can say that the pitching last Saturday was anything to boast of.

But there is one thing that must be remembered, and that is included in the following quotation from a rabid fan, who came up to this office last night to give his views, . Said he:

'Just because these kids hand out two big games at the Athletic Park directly after the opening of the big league, people make nasty remarks about the latter. Believe me, they are wrong. The Athletic Park is an institution that has long been needed here, and I am one of the first to pungle up my two-bittee for a seat-I only wish it were four or six-bittee. But, listen to me, just once, the big league has a nucleus, and all that nucleus needs is the big kernel inside of it.

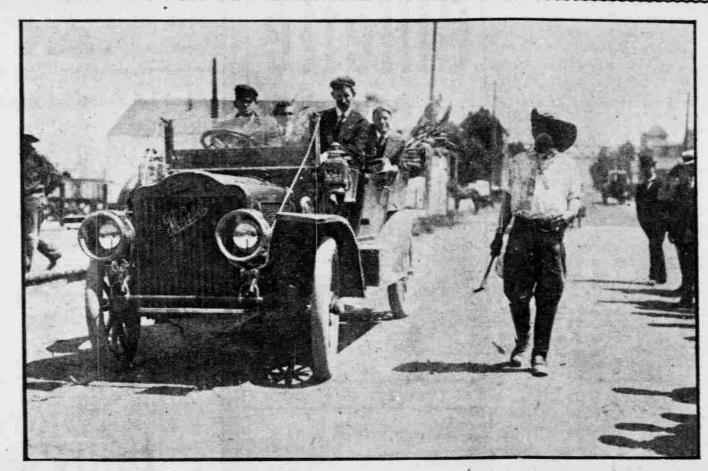

"I, for one, will be out there to root on Saturday. I hear that the Puns have a much stronger team arranged for than they had last time, and that the Saints will be there with the goods. "While I do not expect to see any nineteen-inning game, I sure hope to see a live one. From my heart out, I hope that the youngster will be there.'

ALL ABOARD FOR MAUI ON FRIDAY

Tennis will not be the only attraction at the Maui Harvest Festival next Saturday and Sunday. There will be two big games of baseball between the flower of Maui and the cream of Hawaii. ## TWO UMPIRES

McHenry, the official umpire of the Oahu league and some other crazy baseof the Oro company at the Orpheum, who is the fanniest of the lot, had a bee vesterday afternoon,

They traveled over all the baseball league series from 1489 to the present day. They discussed all kinds of trick plays, squeeze plays and foo-foo plays and finally arrived at the decision that the league ought to stand for two um-

Mr. McHenry explained why it was impossible for him to see the third base skin in the last inning of the C. A. C.-J. A. C. game last Sunday. There was a man on first and a man on second and an outfielder to watch. Could be see all three and the home plate runner at the same time? He sure could if he had sixteen eyes all over his head. Not otherwise.

This brings up the proposition of double umpiring. The management of the park is quite willing and, if the several high muckamucks who run the league are willing, there will be two ampires there next Sunday.

Incidentary the fanning bee that these ball goops held was the most interesting thing to listen to. McHenry handed out more details about intricacies of the game than Goliath could have shaken a club at, while that Burton stated loudly that he would never have gone near a stage if only somebody would have paid him a salary to sit on the bleachers and root.

WONDERBERRIES IN THE PAN.

The little agitation started in Honolulu a few days ago by an Advertiser correspondent, who inquired if the wonderberry, backed by Luther Burbank's fame as a horticultural wizard, and the local wild growing pololo (black nightshade) were not identical, is but a reflex of a warm war of words being waged between Mr. Burbank, in California, and the old-established agricultural paper. the Rural New-Yorker, of New York. The matter is of more than passing interest here, as elsewhere, because it has a bearing upon human alimentation.

Mr. Burbank has lost his temper in the discussion, which scores against him. The following paragraph has been published as his statement of the parentage of the socalled new plant:

This absolutely new species of berry plant is of great scientific interest, having been produced by the combination of two very distant wild species, Solanum guineense of West Africa and Solanum villosum of the west coast of America. Neither of these wild species bears edible berries, but this new species bears the most delicious, wholesome and healthful berries in the utmost profusion, and always comes as exactly true from seed as any species produced by nature.

Discussion of the wonderberry has gone farther afield than the United States. An English agricultural journal, the Gardeners' Chronicle, after examining the seed and looking up the history of the parents, has concluded that wonderberry and black nightshade are practically the same. A gentleman of New York, seeing this English criticism, wrote to Mr. Burbank, who replied botly that he had $10,000 cash for any person who could prove that wonderberry is the black nightshade, or any other berry ever before known on this planet until he produced it.

It appears that Mr. Burbank sells his right in his horticultural productions to seedsmen. The New York paper, coveting those $10,000, bought seeds of John Lewis Childs, owner of the right, and had them planted and carefully tended and guarded to maturity. Photographs of the plant and its fruit were printed. Expert botanists declared it to be Solanum nigrum (black nightshade). The newspaper presented its case, asking what particular proof was required to earn the $10,000. This brought a heated reply from Mr. Burbank, but not the money. The New York paper obtained and published opinions from botanists of standing, to the effect that the cross between the African and American plants was black nightshade.

A gentleman wrote from Mexico that the wonderberry seed he imported produced, to his disappointment, plants identical with the Mexican "Yerba Mora," a profusely-growing wild plant that is of no use, except that poor peons sometimes eat the berries. He believes the berries to be black nightshade.

In Honolulu, so far as heard from, the imported wonderberry seed has produced a plant similar to the wild pololo, or nightshade-an experience identical to that reported from Mexico. If there is any difference, it concerns Miss Swanzy's white pina cloth frock botanists only.

So far, the weight of evidence seems to be against the contention that the wonderberry is totally different from Solanum nigrum. Nightshade, in a raw state, is not wholesome food-a mere taste ordinarily causes distrust of itthough cooking may make it right, as is the case with taro and other staple Mrs. Parks, Civil Engineer Burrell, articles of provender.

Luther Burbank has achieved many horticultural triumphs, winning recognition from science and authority. His work has been helpful to his fellow man. If it proves true that he has pinned his faith to a false star in the case of the wonderberry (or sunberry, as he originally named it), his other and and Mrs. Low, Lieut. and Mrs. Farmore fruitful services should not be belittled,

The case of the wonderberry is still on trial, We await further evidence, and the verdict-of the people and the chemist,

NOTHING IN BULLDOZING.

It is needless for the Star to remind the public that it has also done its part in urging a common-sense prosecution of the indicted strikers in place of a method which, aside from its lack of dignity, has the more conspicuous U. demerit of exciting a dangerous sympathy for them. From the first the Star has been just to both sides. What it has said and done since the strike began sets it high above the journalism which simply shricks and the lawyering that merely curses. And that it has interpreted public feeling correctly may be judged not only from the effect of demagogic tactics upon the riot jury but from the rebuke with which Judge De Bolt interrupted a most unseemly personal discussion in the conspiracy case and directed the offending lawyers to the real matters at issue.

The Star, after quoting one of its June editorials in support of a square deal for the humblest who may appear at the bar of justice, very correctly says:

Since the beginning of the strike, this paper has constantly interviewed Mr. Makino, president of the Higher Wage Association, just as freely as it has any representative of the Planters' Association. It has quoted him as freely and as fully and has given equal prominence to his statements, if of equal news interest, to those of any spokesman for the planters. The result has been some dark insinuations-more absurd than dark-about underhanded aid to the strikers, etc. Once or twice we have taken occasion to protest against calling all those connected with the strike "Thugs and Agitators" and to intimate that the way to get juries to acquit them all was to keep it up and finally produce a popular impression that the defendants were not getting a fair show.

So far as the Advertiser is concerned, its undeviating policy in the late strike has won too much commendation from a fair-minded public to give a serious phase to any criticism of it from interested parties now. The kicker is always with us. Very likely some people of strained emotions on the one hand or of limited experience on the other, would have liked mere noise and fury. If our columns had declared ten times a day in blackest type that "Thugs and Agitators must go," it would have seemed very brave and stirring and the congregation of asses would have voiced a long-drawn a-a-a-ah! Demagogy gets a hearing even if it makes the judicious grieve. It awakens a yell even if it loses cases in court. But in the long run the policy that pays is the policy of fair play; and when this paper contends that personal assaults upon Mr. Lightfoot or anybody else on his side are not only foreign to the matter at issue but are displeasing to the jury, the public and the bench and imperil the chances of conviction, it merely says what any calm review of these proceedings, made a few weeks hence, will justify. Lawyers are supposed to know how to conduct cases in court; sometimes the press is too hasty in criticizing them; but in this instance the papers that stand for a cold, thorough, impersonal and judicious prosecution of the strike cases are more nearly right than the quarreling lawyers are, and the ones most likely to assist the cause

There is a wave of fear in some parts of Scotland that the spread of the Next Monday Morntemperance movement will cause a marked decrease in the consumption of Scotch whiskey, with corresponding loss to all who are interested in its production. "Dynamitards," as naphtha drinkers are called, have reappeared in-Edinburgh, This "naphtha" is a milky colored compound of great "staying power," and is composed of alcohol mixed with one-ninth of its bulk of methyl alcohol and three-eights of 1 per cent of petroleum, with as little water added as taste calls for. It kills quickly, Smuggling from warships is a perennial scandal here and elsewhere. Every American naval port has it to contend with, and Honolulu is not exempt. Some years ago there were sharp differences between Collector Stackable and officers of Evans' fleet, but, as usual, the man with the law behind him came out ahead. The tariff is made for all alike, and if Uncle Sam's sea fighters object to being held up when they come ashore with contraband bundles, their only recourse is to write to their Congressmen about it and get the law changed. Pending that, they are liable to have trouble with the Custom House.

If the attorney who wrote the editorial in last night's Bulletin, accusing the Advertiser of being in secret sympathy with the strikers, had signed his name to it, he might be hearing something to his advantage;

If the Atcherleys would change places for awhile, the Doctor might come to.

ST. LOUIS

************** Captain Gleaves and the wardroom officers of the cruiser St. Louis were hosts last evening at a dance given on board the ship for Army and Navy people of Honolulu and a small coterie of city friends. The function was one which will not soon be forgotten,

The scene was picturesque in the extreme. The white and gold uniforms of the naval officers, the less striking but equally effective garbs of their brothers of the Army, the dark evening clothes of the civilian guests the fetching costumes of the ladies, all helped complete the picture.

The lack of room on shipboard made it necessary to limit the invitation list, but those who were fortunate enough to be there united in proclaiming Uncle Sam's officers the most delightful of

The ship was ablaze with lights, Myriad incaudescent bulbs shed a fairylike glamor over all, while draped flags reminded the dancers on the quarterdeck that their open-air ballroom was built for sterner business.

The gentle lapping of the water against the vessel's sides and the rhythmic beat of footsteps on the deck seemed to keep perfect time to the strains of Hawaiian music played upon the quarterdeck. Down below there was also a fairyland of interest and where the officers held forth over their celebrated punchbowl which held that insidious but ever-delightful decoction known as the Navy punch. He thought he was going to get out yesterday, bondsmen having been secured. #### Shipping Notes.

Included in the Mauna Loa's freight list were 8480 bags sugar, 36 bags coffee, 3 bales tobacco, 71 pieces of koa lumber, 13 crates chickens, 13 horses, 20 hogs, one auto, 18 bales hides.

Mail for Seattle will be taken to Vancouver next week on the Makura, sailing on the 17th. The China will be the next vessel to leave for San Francisco, on Tuesday next, but the Alameda, the fast Oceanic liner, leaves the following morning for the Coast.

A saving of $1760, or 22 cents a ton, was made by the Inter-Island Steamship Company through the reductions found in the new tariff law, on recent shipments of coal from Newcastle. The coal has been held in bond since its arrival, amounting in all to about 8000 tons. The old tariff was 67 cents per ton and the new tariff reduces it to Seventeen days out from San Francisco, the bark Andrew Welch, Captain Kelly, arrived yesterday morning. She brought four or five passengers and about 1800 tons of general merchandise, and after discharging will load sugar for the Coast. The Welch's passenger accommodations are exceptionis one whom passengers appreciate for his genial ways.

The Hilonian sailed for the Coast yesterday morning at 10 o'clock with a full list of passengers and a large cargo of sugar, pineapples, rice, etc. The Hawaiian band was on hand to play the wedding march in honor of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soares, who had married just two hours before sailing time. The groom was formerly with Hackfeld & Co., and will locate in San Francisco. The bride was Miss E.

WOMEN ON JURIES.

When the women of Wisconsin were enfranchised in 1869, they were imme-VENNACHAR, S. S., from Newcastle diately drawn upon the juries. The man who empaneled the first jury upoe which they sat was doubtful of his experiment, but 20 years afterward he boasted of his act. The actual results was that the desperadoes were driven farther west because the juries which included women brought in verdiets of guilty that had been impossible to secure before. The Mail and Empire of Toronto quotes the president of the Pennsylvania Suffrage Association is this effect.

In Paris there has been for some years a jury of women sitting upon every case where a woman or child is on trial. This "Jure Feminine" is not official, and has nothing to do with Barleycorn, was met by Deputy Sheriff the fate of the accused person.

Its verdict is not handed to iudge, but to the newspapers, together with an account of the reasoning that wished to have the main brace spliced led up to it. The idea is to show the public the feminine point of view upon cases where women or children are conwhich the colonel's friend was led cerned. Often the verdict coincides with that of the regular jury; somegently to the police station. Here he | with that of the regular pary, some was booked for being drunk. Indeed sometimes violent opposition.

Previous Uncertainty About Labor Hung Cloudlike Over Market.

Every sugar stock, listed on the local boards is reaching a new high record mark, and all in all the strike seems to have been a benefit rather than a detriment. The cause for the prevail- refund. If the increase of revenue ing strong stock market particularly those of the sugar estates, goes back to the period before the strike when OLIVE BRANCH REBEKAH LODGE NO. 2, there seemed to be a likelihood of labor disturbances at any time, and it hung like a cloud over all financial dealings. It was like the sword of Damoeles and no one, according to a prominent broker yesterday, seemed to know just when it would fall. The strike, therefore, seems to have removed one of the elements in the market that was more disturbing to the trade barometer than anything else. The labor disturbance came, was met and disposed of and, as soon as it was shown that it could be met, stocks took a brace and remained steady and then began to climb.

The condition of the European beet crop is reported as unfavorable to the European growers, but is favorable to cane growers. The weight of the European beet at this time of the year is far below the beet of last year at the same period, and this indicates a very short beet crop. Local brokers, after studying the situation and reaching their conclusions from the letters of mainland correspondents, regard this condition as an indication that there is every reason to expect a fair price for sugar next year.

Hawaiian sugar has been netting the plantations, after deducting carrying and marketing charges, about $65 per ton, and it is fair to assume that the sugar estates are making a net profit of from $25 to $30 per ton. The erop for the present season will go over the estimates, so sugar men say.

The assessed value of the real and personal property in Hawaii, according to the report of Governor Frear to the Secretary of the Interior, which the Governor is now preparing, is larger today than ever before in the history of Hawaii, being $138,910,820. It has nereased over five million dollars in value since 1905, the next highest val- dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., we subdivided. They are situated on nation, when the figure was $133,-

The Governor is working on the financial part of his report, taking his figures in part from the reports of Treasurer Conkling and Tax Assessor Governor Frear says in his report to the Secretary of the Interior that the receipts by the government during the past fiscal year aggregated $3,051, 526.81, an increase of $381,778.49 over those of the previous year, which amounted to $2,669,748.32.

The expenditures for the past fiscal year were also larger than for the year previous, being $2,934,984.10, as against $2,817,378.86. The increase amounts to $117,605.24. But the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $116,524.71. The taxes collected for the past fiscal year amounted to $2,080,635.71, an increase of $199,787.88 over those of the previous year, when they totaled only $1,880,847.83. The revenue from other sources amounted to $970,891.10, or $181,990.61

FOURYEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Baltimore, Md. - "For four years

from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervous ness, and that all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound. Then I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. Ford, 1938 Lansdowne St., Baltimore, Md. The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test of years and to-day is more widely and successfully used than any other female remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflam-mation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed.

If you are suffering from any of these ailments, don't give up hope until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. She has guided charge.

same principle applies to cod liv-greatly benefited by the so-called

"plain" cod liver oil. The shock

it gives to the nerves, the repulstomach, the outrages it commits upon the senses of smell and taste, are enough to spoil any medicinal potency that may be in it for the majority of people.

This—to say nothing about its being indigestible. Yet there has always been reason to believe that, among the elements which form cod liver oil, there ex-

Soga is a much better witness than Negoro proved himself to be. He answers the questions that are asked him and makes no attempts to harangue the court or the jury or to wander off into long-winded explanations that explain nothing. He is wise enough to know that the less he says, the better it will terests of the trial demand such a be for him and the less chance he gives his opponents on cross-examination. The questions asked him he answers tersely and in a low tone of voice that is hardfor a consultation. This was granted, ly audible to anyone except the inter-

> For Soga uses an interpreter, although he understands and speaks English, if not fluently, at least fairly well, But when questions and answers have to sift through an interpreter, it gives the witness time to think of what he is going to say and he is less liable to be caught off his guard. The amusing part of Soga's examination yesterday was that, although he was unable to do without the services of an interpreter, he qualified as an expert and was called upon, both by the defense and the prosecution to go into the flue distinctions of meaning of certain Japanese words.

Soga was absolutely sure there was nothing in the meaning of any of the words used by him in his paper that could be looked upon as violent. In fact, the words "taiji", "bokumetzu", and the others which the prosecution has presented to the jury as an evidence of the bloodthirsty nature of the Jiji and the officers of the Higher Wage Association, Soga considered absolutely harmless and peaceable. Such expressions as "get rid of'', "exterminate", "stamp out" were not, intended to be taken in a literal sense. They were purely figurative. As for the expression, which appears in one of the letters placed in evidence, "to drive the planters' pigs to the pond of blood and to hell", the editor of the Jiji said he had exercised his editorial prerogative and blue penciled it so that it did not appear in the paper.

Sitting there behind his spectacles, calm, quiet, unblinking, looking more like an absent-minded scientist than a man who has stirred the Japanese community to its depths and been practically the brains of the strike, Soga was the last man one would suspect of being engaged in a conspiracy. But he is evidently the wise man of the gang. He knows enough not to talk too much, which is more than Negoro does. Soga makes a much better impression than did the secretary of the Higher Wage Association, chiefly because of his imperturbability and extreme gravity. Once or twice he did show signs of nervousness, laughing in an embarrassed way when there was nothing for him to laugh at. But on the whole he had command of his emotions and presented a face as expressionsless as that of a wooden Indian.

His direct examination lasted only a little over an hour, and then he was turned over to Kinney for cross-examination. But the latter got little out of him, though, when Kinney adopts a different line of questioning today the result may not be the same. Taken altogether, however, Soga's testimony so far has not been of especial interest or great importance.

Army and Navy News

If the War Department determines to accept Batan coal mined in the Philippines as bunker fuel for its transports, Nagasaki will in all probability be cut out of the list of ports of call. and the transports will run direct from Manila to Honolulu and San Francisco. Many officers and members of their families have little desire to stop at the Japanese port, being more anxious

From a financial standpoint the cutting out of Nagasaki- would result favorably to Honolulu, as the Japanese port receives a large share of American eash whenever a transport stops there. This money would be spent in Honolulu instead, and being an American port, local merchants feel they ought o have the right of way. The Batan coal is yet an experiment and although it was pronounced good on the last trip of the Dix to Seattle, the War Department has not concluded its tests.

Exchanged Calls.

Governor Frear, accompanied by Secretary Mott-Smith, returned the call of Captain Gleaves, U.S. N., aboard the cruiser St. Louis yesterday at noon, Captain Gleaves and Captain Rees calld upon the Governor on Monday. Captain Too Sporty.

DENVER, Colo., July 22 .- "A champagne appetite with a beer income" was attributed to Capt. Clarence S. Nettles, retired, by Judge Advocate Johnson today in the closing moments of the army officer's trial before a court-martial on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer in contracting exressive debts. The court concluded its deliberations today and reached a verdiet which has been forwarded to Washington.

History of South Bay.

TACOMA, July 22 .- Local shipping men will be interested in the announceto the effect that the steam schooner South Bay has been temporarily converted into a steam dredge and will leave San Francisco within a day or two for Honolulu, where she is to do dredging for the Standard Reclamation company, which has a government contract for work at the new Pearl Harbor fortifications. The South Bay was built in this port in 1901 by the Tacoma Shipbuilding company and was one of the first vessels to come out of the Puvallup River yards.

The work of converting the South Bay into a steam dredge has just been ompleted by the Moore & Scott Iron Works at San Francisco and she is receiving the final touches before putting o sea. Reconstructed, she is a strangelooking craft, similar in appearance to ernment, and is the first vessel of her kind to be operated by a private concern. The craft now closely resembles the government dredge Chinook, which operates at the mouth of the Columbia when in operation, will move directly over the spot to be dredged, and the mud stirred up by the drags will be sucked up through a pipe on the starboard side and discharged into two large hoppers in the forward hold. When the vessel has taken her capacity, she proceeds seaward where she discharges by releasing four doors operated by steam power.

The steam schooner South Bay was aunched at the vards of the Tacoma Shipbuilding Company in October, 1901, Most of the timber used in her construction was furnished by the St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber Company and, when completed, she loaded a cargo of 400, 000 feet of lumber at that company's wharf for San Francisco and was towed down the coast to her destination Her engines were then installed by the Fulton Iron Works at San Francisco and she began service for her owners between South Bay and Newburg. Her first commander was Capt. Erickson, a well-known coast mariner. The South Bay is 152 feet in length 34 feet beam and 12 feet depth of hold, and formerly was fitted with accommodations for 24 passengers. She uses oil fuel. The vessel was built at a cost of about $55,000. It is understood that when the South Bay finishes work at Pearl Harbor she will be re turned to San Francisco and recon verted into a steam schooner.

The well-known barkentine Thoma P. Emigh, which has recently made ome smart sailing records, is also a product of the Tacoma Shipbuilding lompany's yards. She was building at the yards at the same time as the South Bay and was launched the November following the launching of the Machine Gun and Infantry Fire.

The use of the machine gun and the employment of pitteens made up from infantry and cavalry regiments armed with that type of weapon are engaging the attention of military experts Every regiment now has a machine gun command, and these troops are shortly to be armed with a new weapon which has been thoroughly tested by the army ordnance officers, and of which much is expected. In the meantime experiments have been planned by the general staff. Some questica has been raised regarding the relative value of the machine gun and the or dinary rifle, and it is purposed to con duct experiments which shall show the effectiveness of these two kinds of attack. It is purposed so to place machine guns at Monterey as to represent a position 200 feet in the rear of a line of infantry men. The fire of the machine guns will be over the heads of the infantry soldiers. The military authorities appreciate that it would not do to have soldiers used in such experimental work, and the men will be represented by a series of screens of proper height placed in front of the machine gun platoon. The effect of the fire of the machine guns will be carefully observed, with a view to noting whether there would be any disastrous results to soldiers placed in such a position.

A.-Y.-P. FUNDS ARE ENOUGH

Furniture and Furnishings Came High, but Worth the

The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Commission of Hawaii has so managed its finances that it will have enough money to coninue the Hawaii exhibit to the end of the fair if the funds are well conserved. Although there have been heavy expenditures so far, yet the funds have been so allotted that salaries, transportation and equipment expenses will not be pinched in any way. In fact, the commission has done well by the funds appropriated by both the Federal and territorial governments.

The Federal government gave $25,000 and the Territorial Legislature appropriated the same amount. Out of the Federal portion salaries and transportation are to be paid. Out of the Territory's $25,000 the cost of supplies, equipment, decorations, etc., will be Furniture and furnishings cost a large sum, the former alone coming to almost $10,000. This was mainly for fine koa furniture, and the persons in charge of the Hawaii exhibit feel rewarded in the favorable comments upon the display. No richer exhibit of furniture is seen at the exposition.

CONVICTED FELONS

Persons convicted of felonies may testify in the United States District Court. This is the decision of Judge Woodruff, rendered yesterday morning on the objection made by Attorney C. C. Bitting to allowing Chise, the Japanese woman convict to testify for the prosecution in the case of Morimoto, charged with having tried to intimidate the woman.

The case was argued all the previous afternoon by Mr. Bitting and Deputy United States District Attorney Rawlins. Each side quoted authorities and made several good points, but the judge, after thinking it over, decided the Mr. Bitting's objection was not well taken and overruled him. The trial of Morimoto then proceeded, Mr. Bitting, however, says he has other good cards in his hand and is confident yet that he will win the case.

. THE ATCHERLEY CASE

The Supreme Court yesterday afternoon listened to the arguments in the Atcherley case, but no decision was rendered. Dr. Atcherley was in court, attended by his wife and a guard from the Insane Asylum. He looks much better than when he was sent there, his confinement and treatment and the cutting down of his drug allowance having apparently had the effect of

T. M. Harrison argued the case for the petitioner, contending, as outlined in his brief, that the new lunacy law is unconstitutional and the doctor can commitment under it. He was, as usual interrupted occasionally by Mrs. Atcherley, but she made no demonstration and the dignity of the court was not seriously infringed upon.

MEDICOS AND DR. SCHURMANN. Editor Advertiser: It seems to me as though the Medical Society were belittling itself in its persecution of Dr. Schurmann, the osteopath, While it may be that Dr. Schurmann is technically breaking the law by allowing his sign, which was put up long before the law as passed, to retain the obnoxious word "Doctor" still there are others in the same boat. All the dentists in Honolulu call themselves and are called doctors. So also are all the veterinaries. Every one holding a degree of D.D. or LL.D. are doctors and our little statute cannot make them otherwise. Why does not the Medical Society proceed against Dr. Whitney or Dr. Wall or Dr. Scudder or some of the other well-known doctors nstead of Dr. Schurmann who is as onest a man as any of them and earning his living in a quiet way and doing much good to many.

It would look as though the Medical Society were jealous of his growing practice and the persecution will not redound to the glory of the profession. C. H. DICKEY. Honolulu, August 10, 1909.
