BRECKONS AND HIS GOOD LUCK

Gossipy Walker Letter About Local Affairs at Washington.

By Ernest G. Walker.

(Mail Special to the Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—Those two nice Federal plums on the Hawaiian tree of patronage have been dangling in full view. But it seems now that one of them—the District Attorneyship—has been plucked again through some deft reaching by a man who has enjoyed the flavor of the fruit heretofore. In other words, as was cabled to the Advertiser yesterday, Robert W. Breckons has been authorized to withdraw his resignation and warned that he must be careful about his private practise in accepting clients who are continually arrayed against the Federal Government.

This action is making the friends of Hawaii here pause and ponder. To be sure, the order has not been publicly promulgated, but it came out on good authority from Attorney General Wickersham's hermetically-sealed Department of Justice, and one of Mr. Breckons' best friends in Washington cabled the information to him. So apparently there is no doubt about it, any more than there is any doubt about Senator Warren of Wyoming, whose protegee Mr. Breckons is, having pulled the wires to get him back into office. The word from the department is that Mr. Breckons will be allowed to serve out his term, which will be approximately five years.

As intimated, Attorney General Wickersham is running his department on the ideas which New York lawyers entertain with reference to the press, and no one who holds office in the department dares open his mouth. Access to the Attorney General himself is very difficult, except about bimonthly. Therefore it seems impossible to gather very much information about the reversal of the Roosevelt administration in this case. It is taken for granted that the order with reference to Mr. Breckons went forth, at least, with President Taft's knowledge. The President is giving his cabinet officers full swing in attending to the business that comes within their jurisdiction, but in such a case the Attorney General would undoubtedly inform the President of the action that he contemplated taking.

APPROPRIATION BILL PAU.

The Conference Committee of the Legislature on the Appropriation Bill finished its work last night, and the bill is ready to be presented to the House and Senate. It will be about $50,000 over the first bill reported.

PROMOTION APPROPRIATION IS STRICKEN FROM BILL

There will be no appropriation by this Legislature for the support of promotion work. At the sitting of the joint conference committee on the appropriation bill yesterday afternoon, it was agreed that the item of $6000 inserted by the Senate as the Territory's contribution to advertising the Islands should be stricken out. Senators McCarthy and Makekau were the only members of the committee who expressed themselves as approving the appropriation. McCarthy said that he was strongly in favor of making an appropriation for promotion work, but said he moved to strike it out knowing that it would be a waste of time to attempt to convince the majority of the committee that it had been and would be a profitable investment for the whole Territory.

Another Senate appropriation which it was hoped that the joint conference committee would keep its hands off was the item for the assistance of the Kapiolani Maternity Home, but it was stricken out by the conference

GIFT OF THE COOKE LIBRARY

Oahu College Receives a Magnificent Present.

Yesterday was a proud and happy day for Oahu College and its friends, for it witnessed the formal completion and turning over to the trustees, of the Cooke Library, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Cooke. The donors were represented, in the informal ceremony, by wee, winsome Carolene Alexander Cooke, their granddaughter, who handed the keys to Frank W. Damon, chairman of the library committee, who accepted them on behalf of the trustees.

The presentation took place on the front porch of the new library. The porch was occupied by the trustees and their wives, and members of the Cooke family. The College Glee Club was grouped on the wide steps and the audience was on the ground. Promptly at four o'clock, the glee club, led by Miss Rogers, sang a snappy piece in a manner characteristic of Punahou singing since Miss Rogers took charge. Then little Carolene Cooke stepped forward to the top of the stairs, and facing Mr. Damon said in clear sweet tones:

"Grandpa and Grandma Cooke wish me to give to you the keys of this library." At the same time she handed the keys, tied with a bow of blue and gold ribbon almost as big as the little donor, to Mr. Damon. The latter lifted the little girl up onto a piano stool, and gravely thanked her for the gift, saying:

It was very kind of your grandfather and grandmother to ask you, Carolene, to bring to us today the keys of this beautiful library. Will you tell them that the men who take care of this school thank them very much for this splendid present, which we will try to take good care of? We thank you, too.

WOULD MAKE INCOME TAX DELINQUENCY LIEN ON ALL REAL PROPERTY

Five More Days and House Committee Bring in Proposed Land Bill to Submit to Congress.

The important question as to whether delinquencies in the payment of income tax should be considered as a lien on real property, was before the Territorial Senate yesterday. The bill embodies a recommendation made in the report of the tax commission, and was reported favorably by the Judiciary Committee.

Senator W. O. Smith opposed the passage of the measure, claiming that it was not fair to include income tax delinquency as a lien on real estate, declaring that it would work a hardship upon the purchasers of real estate by causing needless complication. Senator Knudsen said that the bill was drawn in accordance with the recommendations of the tax commission and gave, as his opinion, that it would prevent successful shirking of the income tax by holders of real estate. The sentiment of the Senate is inclined to be against the bill, and Senator Smith's argument against it yesterday resulted in a postponement, with

Today is the last day in which bills may be presented either to the House or Senate with any hope of their becoming law at this session, and the last day for the presentation of new matter requiring three readings. This reminder was given the House yesterday by Vice-Speaker Rice, who called busily for the members to come forward now or forever hold their peace.

Yesterday was not a busy one in the House, although the members took time off to call at the Governor's office to pay their respects to ex-Vice President Fairbanks. There was some difficulty in the presentations at the reception, owing to the length of the names of some of the members, but Mr. Fairbanks gave them cordial greeting, name or no name.

The long expected report from the special committee named to consider the proposed amendments to the Organic Act as affecting the land laws of Hawaii was presented in the afternoon. The report stated that after all

THE SULTAN MAY REIGN FOR AWHILE, BUT THE MINISTERS WILL RULE

Blasts Cut Narrow Way Through Niagara's Ice Gorge—Important Interstate Commerce Decision—Manila Bonds for Sale.

(Associated Press Cablegrams.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 23.—The Sultan's retention on the throne is indefinite. The ministers who will control the government are subjects of debate. The members of the present cabinet have offered their resignations, which have been refused by the Grand Vizier.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 22.—At a consultation between the Sultan and the chiefs of the constitutional party held today it was agreed that Abdul should remain on the throne but that his powers will be curtailed.

The reports show that fanaticism is spreading throughout the empire. It is estimated that 15,000 have been killed at Aleppo. The entire population of Kirikan have been massacred, even babes and children being killed without mercy.

MANILA BIDS INVITED.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Bids on the remaining $1,000,000 worth of bonds of the $4,000,000 authorized for the building of the Manila sewer and water-works system have been invited.

FAIRBANKS TO VISIT OTHER ISLANDS

He Will Leave on a Trip to Maui and Hawaii Next Week.

Hon. Charles Warren Fairbanks, ex-Vice President of the United States; Mrs. Fairbanks and their daughter, Mrs. J. W. Timmons, who arrived here yesterday morning from the Coast on the Chiyo Maru, leave for the pineapple regions of Wahiawa at nine o'clock this morning as the guests of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Fairbanks has already expressed himself as being highly pleased with what he has seen of Hawaii and Honolulu, but a number of trips to the other islands have been arranged for him and his wife and daughter so that he will not go away from here without seeing the major portion of the group.

Mr. Fairbanks is making a hard and fast rule not to talk politics, notwithstanding the fact that one of the mainland papers stated that he was going to the Orient on a study of industrial conditions and problems of interest to the government.

Yesterday morning Mr. Fairbanks received with Governor Frear in the Executive chambers, members of the

SENATE

every indication being that it will not be able to secure enough votes to give it the final endorsement of the upper house.

The bill providing for a medical inspection system in the public schools passed third reading in the Senate. It places the work in the hands of the Department of Public Instruction and is in line with the general practise throughout the United States, being found that it places a needed safeguard about the health of the public school children.

Another tax bill was indorsed by the Senate and if it passes the House and meets with the approval of the Governor, automobile owners will have to pay a tax of one cent a pound on their machines.

Including today there are but five more days of the Legislature, the session coming to an end Wednesday.

For Medical Inspection.

Senate Bill No. 151, providing for the medical inspection of public school children, passed third reading with two dissenting votes by Coelho and Brown.

Senate Bill No. 112, fixing a weight tax of one cent per pound on automobiles, also passed third reading.

Senate Bill No. 146, amending the law on vital statistics, passed third reading without a dissenting vote.

The Senate bill providing for the retaining of fees not in excess of $50, by officers of the city and county, passed third reading with a full vote.

The Judiciary Committee reported favorably on House Bill No. 225, amending the section of the Revised Laws relating to tax liens. The object of the bill is to amend the law on tax liens, making all taxes, including income taxes, a lien on real property, following out the recommendation of the Tax Commission.

The report was laid on the table to be considered with the bill. President Smith suggesting that it was too important a matter to be hastily disposed of.

A favorable report was presented by the Judiciary Committee on House Bill No. 226, relating to failure to return property for taxation. The object of the bill is to more clearly define the law as it now stands on the statute books relating to failure to return property for taxation, giving a person who has not made a return the right of appeal. The bill passed second reading on the adoption of the committee report.

Warehousemen's Lien.

The Judiciary Committee reported favorably on House Bill No. 200, giving warehousemen lien for storage and authorizing its enforcement by sale when property has not been called for in six months. The bill passed second reading on the adoption of the report.

House Bill No. 216, relating to public liens, passed second reading on the adoption of the favorable report of the Judiciary Committee. The object of the bill is to enable the Territory of Hawaii to sell the bonds for longer terms, securing lower rates of interest.

The joint conference committee report recommending that Senate Bill No. 128, making additional appropriations for departmental use, be laid on the table was adopted.

Notification was received from the House that it had failed to concur in the Senate amendments to House Bill No. 205, fixing the salary of district magistrates. President Smith named Senators Knudsen, Chillingworth and Makekani as the members of the conference committee.

House Bill No. 191, granting a special franchise for the construction of the Hawaii railroad, passed third reading on the motion of Knudsen.

House Bill No. 217, relating to the sinking fund for Territorial bonds, passed third reading on the motion of Knudsen.

House Bill No. 221, relating to trial by jury and decisions, passed third reading.

House Bill 219, providing a penalty for persons not reporting to the Territorial Veterinarian animals afflicted with glanders or farcy, was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The County Clerk.

The House bill providing for assistants for the City and County Clerk, to be appointed by that official, passed second reading after a clause had been inserted limiting the appointive power of the Clerk by the approval of the Supervisors.

House Bill No. 225, relating to tax liens, was taken up for consideration. The measure makes income tax delinquency a lien on real property. President Smith took the floor in opposition to the bill and declared that it would work hardship on purchasers of real estate.

The bill was finally deferred until today, the sentiment of the Senate being that the effect of the bill should be carefully considered before final action.

Notification was received from the House that it had failed to concur in the Senate amendments to House Bill No. 164, providing for a lunacy commission. President Smith named Senators Coelho, Fairchild and Harvey as members of the conference committee. Senator Quinn submitted a resolution instructing the clerk of the Senate to make an inventory of furniture and property used by the Senate and turn the custody of the property over to the Superintendent of Public Works.

To Pass On Claims.

Another resolution submitted by Senator Quinn authorized the President of the Senate and the chairman of the Committee on Accounts to pass upon all claims against the Senate after adjournment.

A third resolution presented by Senator Quinn and which was referred to the Judiciary Committee provided that the sum of $125 be set aside from each of the Federal allotments for legislative expenses of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of remunerating D. L. Conkling for services rendered during the progress of the session.

The Judiciary Committee presented an amending report on House Bill No. 64, altering the laws relating to the inheritance tax. In the course of its report the committee says:

"The bill has two primary purposes, first, to increase the amount of the exemption from $1000 to $1500 and, second, to provide for the more practical and efficient making of the law as a whole."

The committee recommended an amendment by adding a provision to prevent the law being construed to require the tax to be collected in cases where no distribution to heirs or devisees is possible because of embezzlement or other destruction of the property so that it can never be received by the person taxed.

HOUSE

The land laws should be administered from Washington instead of by the Legislature, this being the second time this session that the House's own resolution in this matter has been decided against.

Recommendations.

The recommendations in the bills included in the concurrent resolution presented differ in some respects from the amendments urged by the Governor on Congress. One important change is that an appeal is allowed to the Circuit Court in disputes between the department and the one who is taking up public land; another important change is that the proposed Land Advisory Board is given power to veto proposed deals instead of having advisory power only.

The resolution will be printed and translated and taken up in the House this afternoon.

Senate Amendments.

The Senate amendments to the Pupule bill, which reverses the right to appeal, making it from a district magistrate or a circuit judge to the lunacy commission, instead of from the commission to the court, were read. The amendments were voluminous and much to the benefit of the bill. On motion of Coney, introducer of the original bill, the consideration of the changes was deferred until the afternoon.

The House did not concur in the Senate amendments to House Bill 205, the bill fixing the salaries of district magistrates, a conference committee of Alfonso, Long and Waiwaiole being named. The Senate boosted the Honolulu magistrate's salary from $200 to $225 a month.

The concurrent resolution from the Senate, recommending a boost in the salary of the Secretary of the Territory, was tabled pending the report of the special committee considering the amendments to the Organic Act, which is to be accompanied by a concurrent resolution touching on the salary.

Senate Bill 141, Moore, providing for the assessment of the cost of sewer construction against the property before which the same runs, passed first reading.

No Hard Labor.

The committee of the whole presented its report on the Election Law bill, one of the important changes being to knock out the "hard labor" condition attached to the imprisonment for violations of the election laws. The time allowed each voter to mark his ballot is raised from five to ten minutes.

Omitted Items Secured.

Nakaleka presented a bill appropriating $600 to pay the district magistrate of Kalaupapa for the biennial period, this passing first reading. In the transfer of the paying of magistrates from the Territory to the counties, the Settlement justice was overlooked. The bill provides for his payment by the Territory and not the County of Maui.

Corporation Exhibit Bill Amended. House Bill 231, Sheldon, the hurry-up measure dealing with corporation exhibits, presented on Tuesday and read a second time Wednesday, was given its third reading yesterday, not a minute having been lost in its progress through the House.

Shingle presented an amendment which limits the right of inspection of the exhibits to officers of the government, officers or stockholders of the corporations, bona fide creditors or other persons having a lawful and proper purpose. This passed and the bill as amended carried by 27 to 2.

Senate Bill 107, Coelho, appropriating $1406.55 to pay unpaid bills, passed. The bills are for expenses of the boards of registration in 1904, expenses of the Attorney General's department in 1905 and 1906, for the "Volante" wreck in 1904 and for damages in the Hana road in 1906. The bill passed.

Prison Labor Bill Killed.

Senate Bill 142, Fairchild, which allows prison labor on roads, quarries, parks and public works at the request of the Superintendent of Public Works or the Mayor of Honolulu, such labor for the city to cost the municipality fifty cents per head per day, was read a third time.

Some opposed the bill because it gave Oahu fifty-cent a day labor and none such to the other counties. Castro opposed it on other grounds, these being that the government had no right to make a man a slave and farm out his services, even though he be a convicted prisoner.

Sheldon and Kalelopu supported the bill in speeches.

On rollcall the House divided sixteen to thirteen against the bill.

Senate Joint Resolution 3, to appoint a school fund commission to secure information from abroad regarding school taxes and the distribution of school funds, was tabled on motion of Furtado.

Medical Inspection Bill Attacked. Senate Bill 81, an act to provide for medical school inspection in the public schools, was attacked on first reading, Alfonso moving to reject it. In answer to a suggestion that it should be at least accepted on first reading, Alfonso asked:

"What's the use? It's bound to be beaten, anyway, and we are wasting time over it."

It passed first reading, nevertheless.

Resolutions.

Two resolutions were presented just before the House rose, one asking the Board of Health to examine Augusta Freitas, eighteen months at the Settlement; the other instructing the clerk to inventory the things belonging to the House ready to turn them over to the Superintendent of Public Works.

BRECKONS AND HIS GOOD LUCK

the judgeship. In spite of the statement from Honolulu that someone now employed in the Department of Justice is slated for the job, by an arrangement made by President Roosevelt before the close of his administration, the fact remains that no one in the department will confirm such statements. It is suspected that Assistant Attorney General Alford W. Cooley, the cousin of President Roosevelt, may be the man. He used to be Civil Service Commissioner, and was then advanced to a position in the Department of Justice, which he resigned because of ill-health. But a few weeks before the close of his own administration, President Roosevelt re-appointed Mr. Cooley. The White House disavows any knowledge of an arrangement by which anybody at the Department of Justice is to have the Hawaiian judgeship.

Cooper Looming Up.

Delegate Kalaniana'ole says he has no information either about the judgeship or about the case of Mr. Breckons. Some time ago Senator Warren told him that the President was going to let the Breckons matter rest for a while. Some of the Hawaiian folks here believe that it is in the cards for Henry E. Cooper to have the judgeship, and that Senator Clark of Wyoming, the chairman of the Senate Committee on Judiciary, is going to help him to the nomination. Whether there is anything in the fact that Mr. Cooper is a freemason of high degree, which will help him to the nomination, is a matter of some conjecture here. Senator Clark is also a mason of the thirty-third degree.

Col. Sam's Investments.

Colonel Sam Parker has returned from Cuba and hied away to New York. It caused some laughter here among Hawaiians that Colonel Parker was going to Cuba to make big investments. They declared that the Colonel did not have much loose money for the purchase of sugar estates. In any event, it is stated that the Colonel did not purchase Cuban property, and came back after he had had a thoroughly good time. His friends say, however, that the Colonel has some spare cash, which he realized from a recent sale of bonds, and that he could buy Cuban acres, good for raising sugar, if he wished.

Hawaii and the Tariff.

Of course, the tariff question is very much to the fore here, and some items of Hawaiian interest are being followed closely by the Territorial representatives in town. The Payne bill, which passed the House Friday, is to be reported to the Senate Tuesday or Wednesday, but apparently there is nothing in the wind that is likely to be detrimental to the Hawaiian sugar planters. Democratic Senators are talking about a tilt against the existing sugar duties, but nobody believes that the Democrats have any chance of success. There has been ruction about the admission of 300,000 tons annually from the Philippines, as provided in the tariff bill passed by the House. Some of the beet sugar manufacturers wanted to strike out that provision, but, as the press dispatches have already told, Charles Warren of Michigan, who made a pact with President Taft about the matter last summer, was brought on here by the Finance Committee. He was taken to the White House, where before President Taft the terms of the pact were confirmed, and thereupon the beet sugar growers and manufacturers rested in their agitation.

The Pineapple Duties.

There has been a great struggle over the duties on pineapples, in which Hawaii is keenly interested, but the prospects of an increased duty are steadily waning. As already stated in these letters, the rates reported to the House in the Payne bill were more satisfactory to Hawaiian growers of pineapples than the present rates in the Dingley law. But the importers of pineapples and the canners in Baltimore, New York and Chicago have come to the city in numbers protesting. The canners want a supply of pineapples at the lowest possible cost, with which to run their canneries at seasons of the year when otherwise these canneries would be idle.

In the House, Chairman Payne submitted a committee amendment, which carried, increasing the rate to 38 a thousand, or eight cents a cubic foot, and restored the old provision for estimating the apples by the cubic foot. Representative Mann of Chicago questioned Mr. Payne about the matter, or, rather, tried to question him, and, indeed, did bring out the concession that the cubic-foot rate was not an equivalent rate, but, all the same, Mr. Payne's committee amendments went through with a whoop.

Exactly what the Finance Committee is doing with the rates on pineapples is not known but Mr. George B. McClellan, who has been working on the case very hard, has been informed that the rate to be reported by the Finance Committee will be substantially the rates now existing in the Dingley law. In other words the importers and the canners in Baltimore, New York, and Chicago, are to have the call. The expert before the Finance Committee, unfortunately appears to have been prejudiced in favor of the importers, whereas the expert who advised the Committee on Ways and Means seems to have been impressed with the justice of Hawaii's claims. It is believed that the Senate Finance Committee intends to strike from the definition of "preserved pineapples" the qualification, "without sugar or spirits added thereto." The Delegate and Mr. McClellan had a talk with Senator Aldrich, chairman of the Finance Committee, about the pineapple duties and sought to impress him with the importance of retaining the provisions drawn by the Ways and Means Committee. They also talked with Senators Cullom, Penrose and Flint, who composed a subcommittee that dealt with those duties. Mr. McClellan submitted a brief on the subject and the Delegate wrote a letter to each member of the Finance Committee setting forth the Hawaiian side of the case. The Porto Ricans evinced some interest in the Hawaiian contentions. Judge B. W. Rodey, who is on the bench in Porto Rico, but has been visiting in Washington, brought some Porto Ricans around to talk the matter over with the Delegate and Mr. McClellan.

No Hope For Coffee.

All hopes of getting a duty upon coffee have gone glimmering. The duty was too unpopular and the Republicans were afraid of its becoming an issue in the next Congressional campaign where they would lose large blocks of votes. The resident Commissioner from Porto Rico, Hon. Tulio Larrinaga, was recognized to offer an amendment in favor of a duty upon the grades of coffee above what is known as No. 7. He made a brief speech, explaining that the grades which make the cheaper coffee consumed by the poorer classes, would be exempt from duty by the provisions of his amendment and that the grades of coffee used by the better classes would alone be affected. But the House showed no patience with the proposition and the Commissioner's amendment was voted down. He was allowed to offer the amendment only as a matter of courtesy, and while Chairman Payne showed some deference to Mr. Larrinaga's views, he stated that personally he was against the amendment.

In short, neither branch of Congress is willing to assume any political risks for the sake of helping any industry in any of the islands under the American flag. The concession of 300,000 tons of sugar from the Philippines would have been negated by the Senate and House but for President Taft's determined stand. This would have been done, not because the encouragement of sugar growing in the Philippines will be a menace to the sugar interests of Hawaii but to the beet growers in several of the big States.

Judgment by Default.

Chief Justice Clabaugh, of the District Supreme Court, has rendered judgment by default against Queen Liliuokalani for $11,500 in favor of Dr. Charles H. English of this city, who claims to have been the "former court physician." This is the suit recently entered, as told in letters to the Advertiser, for money alleged to be still due for services in curing the Queen of a supposed cancer. Dr. English went with the Queen from Los Angeles and claims that he was engaged for two years as her medical adviser at a monthly salary of $300 and a bonus of $5000. He tarried in Honolulu, he claims, only two months and received money for that period only, because the Queen made it impossible for him to fulfill his contract.

The Queen made no defense and it is claimed in her behalf that there was no service of the suit upon her. The records of the court, however, show that there was service, and judgment was accordingly entered. No lawyer appeared in her behalf and the judgment will now be sent to Honolulu for collection. It seems to be a question whether a judgment can be collected in Honolulu, but that is a matter for the courts to interpret.

The Dillingham Contract.

Mr. W. F. Dillingham came over here from New York last week and was in conference with officials of the Navy Department about the dredging of Pearl Harbor channel, which his company is under contract to execute. The plans in detail for the dredging were received here from Honolulu some days ago and have been gone over by the Bureau of Yards and Docks. They have been approved, with some changes, as suggested and accepted by Admiral Hoolyday.

Mr. McClellan expects to remain in Washington well up to the end of the extra session of Congress, but probably Delegate Kalaniana'ole will precede him by a few weeks to Honolulu. Now that the House has passed the tariff bill it is meeting only twice a week—Mondays and Thursdays—and then only to adjourn. There is no intention of enacting any other than tariff legislation in the House this session. The committees, other than Ways and Means and Rules, have not been appointed and there is comparatively little Hawaiian legislation, other than tariff, to interest the Hawaiians.

BADGES FOR BIG YACHT OPENING

Ladies to Be Given Choice of Places on Yacht Hawaii May 9.

The best idea yet has been sprung and taken up by the committee in charge of the big opening of the Hawaii yacht club. Each ticket will be in the form of a badge or rather a shipping tag, which must be worn by the ticket-holder.

The name of the yacht on which the badge-holder will take passage will be plainly marked on the badge and nobody without a badge will be permitted to go aboard any of the yachts. This will obviate any fuss with the pursers of the different craft, who will see that nobody butts in.

Tickets will probably be on sale at the business office of the Advertiser early next week. The exact date will be named later when it is known exactly how many people can be carried.

The Hawaii will, doubtless, be the favorite, and the committee states that ladies will be given the preference in this respect. A sail to Pearl Harbor and back on the yacht that was "Built of gold, the golden love of a people old," will certainly claim the attention of the fair sex.

It is not yet known just how many can be accommodated on the Hawaii. Going down to Pearl Harbor it will be easy, as the course is dead before the wind, but coming back it will be a case of "Ready about, stand by your jib and staysail sheets," and it will not be particularly easy for the ladies to dodge the "Terrible swing of the rattling booms."

However, there will be many who will want to return by train, and those who have sisters, wives, cousins and aunts who are certain that they must sail to Pearl Harbor on the Hawaii, may see that their fair relations get accommodation, provided only that they get in early with their requests.

Lunch at Pearl Harbor.

Once arrived off the yacht clubhouse in Pearl Harbor the yachts will all drop anchor and the visitors will be taken ashore in small boats and launches. Then there will be the big feed. Nothing elaborate in the way of a lunch will be provided, but there will be plenty to eat and solid food at that. Everybody will be hungry after the trip on the water and there will be plenty of crabs, poi, bread, and beef and ham sandwiches galore; not to mention all kinds of fish and coffee enough to float a battleship.

The yachts will probably leave Honolulu about 10 o'clock in the morning. This will give them plenty of time to get to Pearl Harbor before lunch time. After lunch those who want to see the harbor will be given a chance to do so in some of the power craft and the return to Honolulu will be started about 3:30 giving plenty of time in which to reach Honolulu before dark.

Everybody Wants to Go.

The general public seems to have taken to the idea with great zest. There are very few people in Honolulu who have ever had the chance to go to Pearl Harbor by water and this opportunity is one that is recognized as the big thing not to be missed.

The Mokoli and Luka will both be on an even keel, so those who have a tendency to the old "Mal de mer" had better stake out badges for one of these craft. The Hawaii and smaller yachts will sail on their keels, on their bilges and, perhaps, on their cabin houses, so anybody who wants a ripping good sail should get in one of the sailing craft.

SAITO CANNOT RUN MARATHON

Mr. Saito, the Japanese long-distance runner now in Honolulu, while very anxious to run a Marathon race against Jackson, states that he does not feel able to do so, as he might injure his health. At the present time he feels that his health is the property of the University of Kelo, which institution is paying all his expenses for the trip which is now making.

Mr. Saito is on his way through the United States and Europe to study commercial methods, and he feels that it would not be fair to the people who are sending him to take a risk of putting himself to the bad by running in a long race.

This does not prevent a match between Jackson and some Japanese champion, however. There are several oldtime rickshaw runners in Honolulu, and it seems that there is an agitation amongst the Japanese to appoint a champion to attempt to take the laurels away from Jackson.

Many of the Japanese who attended the Marathon at the league grounds last Sunday thought that C. K. Charlie was one of their countrymen. When they heard that he was a Chinaman they were greatly disappointed, but state that there are many local Japanese who can run as well, if not better.

Mr. Sheba, managing editor of the Hawaii Shippo, states that he will take the matter up and expects to find that there are several Nipponese Marathon runners who will be anxious to race the British-bred champion for his title.

There will be a meeting of the Riverside League at Hon. Chas. F. Chillingworth's office tonight at 7:30. All officers and representatives are particularly requested to be present.

YACHT OWNERS PLEASE NOTIFY.

All yacht owners of the Hawaii Yacht Club who intend to take their yachts to Pearl Harbor on the big opening day, May 9, are requested to notify A. W. Neely, secretary of the club, immediately and to state how many visitors they can conveniently carry.

TEN ENTRIES FOR MARATHON

Entries for the big Y. M. C. A. Marathon race on June 11 will close on May 1. At present there are ten entries, and this is about as many as Dr. Hand cares to see. He does not wish a big number of entrants who are not well fitted to run in a long race; and he states that a few entries with a close finish would suit him a whole lot better than a large field with a big bunch of runners giving out.

Those who are entered at present are George Desha, Hilo; John St. John, Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co.; Manuel Ferreira, Metropolitan Market Co.; John D. Cockburn, Honolulu Iron Works; Bert S. Nott, Hawaiian Development Co.; J. McCandless, High School; John Carey, Catton, Neill & Co.; Joe Honan, Honolulu Iron Works; M. Lebrescu, Marine barracks. German, of the von Hamm-Young Co., who ran in the Waiialua Marathon, has sent in his name but has not personally entered.

Dr. Hand is very enthusiastic about the athletic carnival which he is arranging for June 11. He already has plenty of contestants for the "29 min. 19 sec." bicycle race, and the only thing that is standing in the way of the relay and five-mile races is the matter of prizes.

Y. M. C. A. sports have always been the cleanest of any public events brought off here, and it would be a good thing for the merchants to back them up in the same way that they did the Haleiwa race. Dr. Hand does not want any merchandise prizes, but he would like to have a few good sportsmen put up prizes in the shape of medals for the school relay race, four medals for this; the two-mile walking race, two medals for this; and, if there were more offers of medals, some shorter distance races could be arranged.

The June 11 events will be by way of fun for the general public and for the runners, more than for any record-breaking business. The Supervisors have announced their willingness to have the Kapiolani track fixed up, provided that the park commissioners do not object, and it is a cinch that they will be only too pleased. The bicycle riders and the runners will have little chance of making any good time unless the track is fixed, but there seems to be no doubt that this will be done, and the purely amateur events of Kamehameha Day will be about as keen a combination of events as have ever been brought off in Honolulu.

FAIR SEX WILL BE AT OPENING

It is the big, the really big doings at the league park next Sunday. There will be the grand opening of the Military League series and this is one of the greatest leagues ever organized on the island of Oahu.

It is pretty fine to have a bunch of the good service sportsmen on one little island, enough of them to get up a distinctively military baseball league with four teams that are good enough to stand up against any of them.

People here are beginning to recognize this and are beginning to realize that it will be made one of the greatest outdoor social functions that ever happened here. The N. G. H., the Cavalry, the Marines and the good old Twentieth will all have their officers out to applaud for their respective teams; and the ladies will be there to ask questions and fill the grandstand with smiling faces and a bright array of dainty gowns.

There are four teams in the leagues, officially named 5th Cavalry, U. S. Marine Corps, 20th U. S. Infantry and National Guard of Hawaii. The cavalry and the guards are said to have the better teams but that is merely a question of precedent and "dope." Every one of the teams is good and there will not be a single game in the series that is not closely contested. On Sunday the Cavalry will play the 20th Infantry, and the Marines will go up against the N. G. H.

It is to Lieutenant Groninger of Leilehua that the credit for the starting of this league is due. It was during a trip of the Haleiwa race committee to Leilehua to arrange for the cavalry boys to help on the road during the race, that the matter was suggested by Lieutenant Groninger. With the energy and sportsmanship for which he is liked by all the men under him, he went to work and organized the league.

There will be no cricket match on Sunday between the Poillards and the Honolulu C. C. The secretary of the H. C. C. states that he is instructed by the committee in charge of fixtures to say that they can not arrange Sunday games at present.

It is hoped that Mr. Fairbanks will attend the opening of the Military League next Sunday. Both he and the Governor have received invitations, and the four-legs, half-wets, road-pounders and twice-a-year kids expect to play all the better for having the famous statesman present in the grandstand.

Sterling Bicycles are exceedingly graceful in appearance and substantial in construction. They are made in one of the largest and best equipped factories where for fourteen years the one aim has been to combine style, running and wearing qualities with moderate price. The quality which enters into these bicycles is made possible only by the possession of this long experience, unequalled manufacturing facilities and a great output.

The frame is made of one-inch seamless steel tubing, and a glance will show that the lines are as fine as could be designed.

The enamel and nickel are applied with great care, making a durable as well as attractive finish.

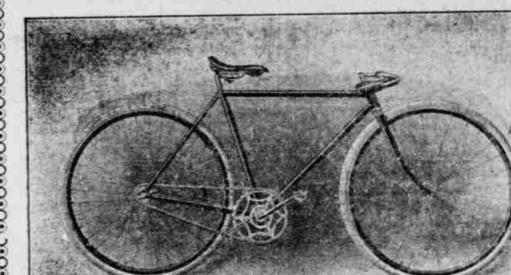

The limited space in this advertisement forbids an extended description of the Sterling Bicycles, but we shall be pleased to furnish any further details on request. We would, however, impress upon the reader that in these bicycles we offer machines that cannot be equalled at the price.

WALTER G. SMITH EDITOR FRIDAY APRIL 23

GREAT OPENING FOR GRAFT.

The Fifth Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii has succeeded in its plan to cripple the efficiency of the Attorney General's Department.

By reason of the reduction in the appropriation for the Attorney General's Department, which leaves him with one deputy, the work of criminal prosecution is taken out of his hands and PLACED IN THOSE OF THE CITY AND COUNTY ATTORNEY.

The grand jury work will now be in the power of that official and he will have full control in the matter of criminal prosecution, not only through the failure of the Legislature to make sufficient appropriation for the Attorney General's Department, but because of the expressed wish of the Legislature on the idea of "county control."

The real harm, however, lies in the appropriation bill as approved by the Legislature, leaving the Attorney General with but one assistant, whose whole time will of necessity be occupied with civil cases.

The political freebooters are happy, and it is not surprising that they show it, as the plums of power—to be misused intelligently and with profit—drop from the tree shaken in the Legislature.

It seems short-sighted to deprive the promotion work of the legislative support it has heretofore received just as the islands are beginning to get the benefit of it.

The conference committee did well to leave the $15,000 item for the Leahi Home in the Appropriation bill. The Home is indispensable to the Territory.

FAIRBANKS TO VISIT OTHER ISLANDS

Territorial Legislature and territorial officials being given a chance to meet him at eleven o'clock. Shortly before this, Mayor Fern and Secretary of the Territory E. A. Mott-Smith, were presented to the distinguished visitor.

arranged for Mr. Fairbanks and his family to leave here for Maui. The Tuesday following the party will go to Hawaii, returning to Honolulu from a visit to the Volcano on the Mauna Kea the latter part of the week.

An automobile trip around the island of Oahu may be given Mr. Fairbanks tomorrow, though this has not yet been definitely settled.

Monday morning at eleven o'clock Mr. Fairbanks will address the Territorial Legislature. On Wednesday he will be the guest of honor at the Booster Dinner given by the Honolulu Commercial Club.

The party was greeted on the wharf when the steamer came in yesterday morning by territorial officials, representatives of the Senate and House and of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce.

LIKE CAPTAIN GREENE.

Commander W. W. Greene of the Chiyo Maru was honored shortly before the liner arrived at Honolulu by a resolution of thanks for courteous treatment signed by a large number of passengers, among whom was ex-Vice President Fairbanks.

"We, the undersigned passengers upon the Chiyo Maru, bound for, into, and through Pacific ports upon her third voyage, take this means of expressing our appreciation for the kindness of her commander, Capt. W. W. Greene.

The Captain has done everything possible to make our trip enjoyable. He has shown that the genuine commander is the true gentleman. We shall remember with great pleasure his care of and consideration for us."

MANOA REQUESTS A BETTER CAR SERVICE

The Manoa Improvement Club held a meeting last evening at the residence of Fred Waldron, College Hills, at which committees on roads, police, car service, etc., were appointed, and these will report progress at another meeting to be held three weeks hence.

The car service committee will confer with the Rapid Transit officials to see whether or not the service on the College Hills branch may not be improved. At present the one car run every twenty minutes over the line is crowded at certain times of the day, making it an inconvenience to many.

The road committee will endeavor to get the county government to pay some attention to the roads of Manoa and College Hills, some of which are in a deplorable condition. Another committee will see the police officials in order to get an extension of the police telegraph system into the valley and to provide otherwise for protection of residents.

The committee will endeavor to secure a ten-minute service in the early morning and in the late afternoon, when business men are returning home. To do this the company would merely have to finish a switch which was one time in use in the branch.

Around the Police Station

Yesterday afternoon a penal summons was served on County Attorney J. W. Cathcart, citing him to appear in the Police Court at nine o'clock this morning to answer to a charge of assault upon Goo Wan Hoy. Cathcart, in an interview given yesterday afternoon, stated that he "may have lied to a Chinaman," so the probability is that he will enter a plea of guilty to the charge.

MARINE

Bringing Charles Warren Fairbanks, ex-Vice President of the United States, and his party, to this city, the Toyo Kisen Kaisha liner Chiyu Maru arrived off port early yesterday morning and docked at about eight o'clock. The Maru had a very pleasant voyage down from the Coast, fair weather being experienced the greater part of the way. She brought 313 bags of mail for Honolulu and a small number of passengers. She continued her voyage to the Orient at six o'clock last night.

Blooded Stock on Lurline.

The Lurline, which arrived yesterday shortly after the Chiyu Maru, brought down one of the largest and most valuable consignments of blooded livestock that has come here from the mainland in many a day. This included a number of splendid horses for Charles Bellina and for T. S. Kay. There were a number of splendid hogs brought down on the Lurline, these also being for Honolulu. Twenty-five males, consigned to Davies & Co., were brought down on the Lurline, and these were sent to Hilo on the Matson boat when she sailed from here last night. The Lurline came down from the Coast very light, her cargo of general merchandise being about 2500 tons. The principal items in her cargo were five automobiles for this city and six gasoline engines for use on the plantations. The rest of her cargo was composed mostly of flour, feed, hay and fertilizer.

The Lurline whistled the news of her departure for Kahului last night at nine o'clock. The most of her cargo is for the other islands, and, after this has been discharged, she will begin taking on the usual sugar shipments. Before returning to Honolulu, the Lurline will make a call at Hilo.

Captain Willett's Call.

Captain Willett, master of the bark Foohing Suey, now at Kahului, has written to Honolulu for sailors, and, as a result, there is a notice posted in the office of the United States Shipping Commissioner. Ten seamen are wanted from this port when she sailed from here, but a number of his men deserted at the Maui port. The Foohing Suey has just begun taking her cargo of sugar for the return voyage around the Horn.

Treasure on the Maru.

Five hundred thousand dollars in bullion was stored away in the vaults of the Chiyu Maru when she passed through this port yesterday, according to Purser William Chapman. The greater part of this is due for Shanghai and Hongkong.

According to one of the officers of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha line, passing through on the Chiyu, the Hongkong, Nippon and America Maru will soon be put on the South American run, but he also stated that they would touch at this port en route to and from the Orient and South America.

AMUSEMENTS

SCENE FROM "KIDNAPED," A STRONG PRODUCTION AT THE ORPHEUM TONIGHT AND TOMORROW NIGHT BY THE POPULAR ELLEFORD COMPANY.

A DAINTY SAILOR LASSIE.

We have seen you in a ball gown, And in walking dress attired, All surrounded by the Johnny would-be flirts. But you never were so cunning, Or so much to be admired, As when you wore those curtailed sailor skirts.

Oh, sailor lass, get a big, long glass And watch yourself awhile, See how sweet you look, like a picture book; I'm sure that you will smile To see yourself, you dainty elf, As when upon the stage. Hear the audience roar, "It is Eva Moore; You bet she is the rage."

And that came near to being the feature of the vaudeville show at the Opera House last night. Eva Moore, as a dainty sailor lassie, with a sailor collar, a sailor blouse, a sailor hat and a sailor walk, made something of a hit that can not be described by the mere word.

The Pollards have got wise to one thing, and that is that vaudeville must be variety. Instead of putting on one long series of more or less serious songs last night, they had one funny piece of business, then something catchy and tuneful, then a serious song and then some more fun.

It was the best house they have had this week. It was well filled, and the audience just overjoyed itself from beginning to end. Alfred Goulding made more of a hit than ever, and his Scotch song brought down the house, so that the gallery is now resting in the dress circle.

The swing song made another hit, and little Lillie Bull, seated in her electric-lighted swinging chair, had to sing many verses of the pretty song that goes with the charming effect of the three gaily-colored swings that send three little fairies way out over the orchestra stalls.

There will be no show tonight—more of the pity—but the program will be repeated tomorrow afternoon. Then, in the evening they will give more of the same kind under the name of "Fun on the Bristol."

There is not much time left in which to appreciate the Pollards in specialty roles. But people are waking up to the fact that they have the best variety show that ever hit Honolulu town. There will be more of it next week, but not much, as the engagement ends next Thursday night. People who want to laugh, people who want to be charmed by sweet singing and pretty dancing, and people who want a good all-round variety show, had better get to the Opera House soon, or they may miss it.

"Kidnaped" at the Orpheum Tonight.

The Elleford company gave the last presentation of "The Other Fellow" last night, and the offering for tonight and tomorrow night is David Higgins' comedy melodrama, "Kidnaped." It was written in the days when the author did not depend on scenery and horseplay for his effect, but was compelled to put in a strong story and plenty of good comedy features. The Elleford company presented this play three years ago, and it was the success of the engagement. Pietro Sossa has a comedy character part as Louis Rhinegold, the good-spender son of the brewer. George Hernandez has a great comedy part as Michael McMooney, a railroad section hand and afterward a policeman, and Anna Dodge helps greatly with the laughs as Maggie, Michael's better half. Mattie Lloyd Luce has a rollicking soubrette part as Daisy McMooney, the Irishman's daughter, and her comedy and love scenes with Rhinegold are excruciatingly funny. Miss Due has a strong emotional part as Grace Braybrook. The balance of the cast have all great chances to please. The Osborn children will appear in the play, and between acts will have a new specialty. There have been many requests for another performance of "The Two Orphans," so it will be the bill for the matinee tomorrow. There is something in this great play to delight young and old. The matinee prices are 25 cents for children, to any part of the house, and 50 cents for adults. Seats are now on sale for all performances.

A special of "Kidnaped" tonight will be the beautiful scenic and electrical effects. The story is laid in and around New York, and several of its most notable places will be shown in masterpieces of the scene-painter's art.

NELSON AND TOGO.

"At 10:30 a. m., May 28, Admiral Nebogotoff, with the remnant of the great fleet, was surrounded. The Ka-suga opened fire at 10,000 yards. The first shot went over, the second fell short, and the third struck the Nicolal's smokestack. Several hits followed. There was no resisting—four battered ships lay opposed to twelve fresh, uninjured ones, and one of that twelve was now hitting at a range which only one gun in the Russian ships could reach, and that gun handicapped in its service. Russian crews were exhausted; ammunition scarce. What was left to do? Nebogotoff surrendered. Who can say unthinkingly board the flagship once, and then for fifteen minutes at Kamrahu bay. "Excitement was flagrant; one Russian officer is known to have whistled 'Full speed' to the battery and 'Commence firing' to the engine-room." For my part I hardly know which of Admiral Togo's great qualities I admire most—the careful, thorough preparation for the conflict, nothing forgotten, nothing slighted; the patience with which he waited for his enemy, refusing to be enticed away from his base; the tigerlike spring with which he pounced upon him when the psychological moment arrived; the rapidity of action with which he obtained the tactical advantage that enabled him to punish his enemy so severely.

Admiral Togo exhibited still another quality that excites my admiration. Many Russian sailors, when their ships sank, put life preservers round their heads instead of higher up and turned head down when they got into the water, and so were drowned. A great many corpses were seen the day after the battle floating with their feet bobbing up. Some pictures were taken of them by the Japanese, but Admiral Togo, with the true instinct of an officer and a gentleman, had the pictures and negatives confiscated and destroyed.

These qualities—foresight, patience, quickness of thought and action, and the natural instincts of the gentleman—are possessed in common by all great commanders in varying degree, and I admit that Admiral Togo has proved by his achievement that he is a great commander, but I claim that he can never rank as equal with Nelson until he has equaled Nelson's achievements. Moreover, having a healthy pride in the history and achievements of my own people, I hope and believe that any one of the four great English-speaking naval officers living today—Fisher, Beresford, Evans or Dewey—would prove as great or greater than he if matched against him on equal terms. For who can imagine either of these leading his fleet into a trap like a bull into a slaughter pen, as did the Russian admiral at Tsushima? or who that has any knowledge of the conditions prevailing in the British and American navies can imagine a fleet commanded by English-speaking officers and manned by English-speaking seamen going into action in such a disastrous state of unpreparedness, confusion and excitement as prevailed in the Russian fleet at Tsushima?

In common with all who have any adequate conception of the awful ruin and suffering that are of necessity a part of any great war, I fervently pray for "Peace in our time, O Lord." But we must face the ugly possibility with what equanimity we may, that a cobblestone or a knife in the hands of a drunken hoodlum may in the twinkling of an eye create an international complication that the united efforts of all the statesmen and diplomats of America and Japan could not unravel peaceably.

In the event of such an awful possibility becoming an accomplished fact, I, for one, do not for one moment doubt or fear the issue, and when I say this I have in mind the fact that ship for ship, in preparedness and efficiency, the Japanese Navy is perhaps equal to any, and also the fact that the well-nigh fanatic spirit of devotion and self-sacrifice that animates the Japanese officers and men is such that it is probable the world will never witness the spectacle of a Japanese warship striking her colors to an enemy. But I also know that in all the glorious history of the English-speaking people it has never failed that when the time comes, the man comes with it, and if we ever are in need of an American or British naval officer to match against the genius of a Togo or even of a greater than Togo, one will be found to fill the bill.

The early history of the Japanese nation runs along somewhat parallel lines to the great maritime nations of Europe, in that it was overrun by a fighting stock who invaded it by sea and intermarried with the original inhabitants, and the Japanese in all probability will play a similar part in the future of Asia to that played by England, France or Holland in the past of Europe.

A thousand years ago the savage sea robbers known in history as the Norse and Danish Vikings left their native land and scattered through Europe. They were disconcerted at the increasing power of their own chiefs and said, "We will call no man master." Their chief characteristics were love of plunder, love of the sea, and a savage impatience at all restraint. It is a matter of history that all of what is now England, Holland and Belgium and a large part of France were completely overrun and ruled by them, and that they intermarried with the inhabitants of those countries. Each of these nations has in its day fought for, won and for a time held the proud title of mistress of the seas.

The great duel between England and France that lasted through the eighteenth century and into the nineteenth, was a well-matched fight for the championship between the two greatest maritime nations at that time known to history. That struggle was decided in favor of Great Britain by the genius of Nelson, and since his time she has held first place among the maritime powers of the earth. The reason that the United States made so fine a showing on the sea in 1776 and 1812 is that there was a strong strain of sea-going blood in the early British, Dutch and French settlers; in fact, John Paul Jones, the first American admiral and the hero of one of the most desperate single ship actions in all history, was British by birth.

In this original distribution of sea-fighting stock, Russia was left out, or got so little of it that it had no influence on her history. It is true that Peter the Great had a clear conception of the value of Western civilization and maritime power, and that he sought for and won much of the seaboard that she now holds, but she has never yet shown the qualities that make a great maritime nation, viz., aptitude for sea commerce and a natural genius for naval warfare to enable her to hold that commerce against all rivals. And she never will be a great maritime nation unless the Russian Navy is completely and exclusively controlled and officered by and recruited from the Finns, who are true seamen and have a natural genius for organization, clean administration and good government. But it is notorious that Russia's despotic oppression drives the Finns to emigrate to America, and in that light it may be said that her disgraceful defeat at Tsushima is a just and natural punishment for the sin of crushing Finland's liberty.

And there you have the original cause and true secret of the helplessness of the Russian fleet at Tsushima, a state of affairs that constitutes a disgrace to the Russian naval service such as it can never live down.

Taking into consideration this helplessness of the Russian fleet, it seems to me that to say that Togo is the equal of Nelson is about the same as calling a first-class lightweight pugilist the heavyweight champion of the world, because he had knocked out a man who knew nothing of the "manly art," but had been foolish enough to provoke him and deserved the beating he got.

Admiral Togo is a great commander, but he will never be entitled to rank as equal with Nelson until he has taken as prominent a part as Nelson did in an age as stirring and of as much moment in shaping the destinies of mankind as was the Napoleonic era—perhaps the most important and far-reaching in its consequences in all the history of the human race.

He will never be entitled to rank as equal with Nelson until he has won two great victories that shall equal the Nile and Trafalgar in their splendor, and in order to do this these victories must be won over the fleets of the greatest maritime nation of the world, thereby making Japan the mistress of the seas, as Nelson made England. In these battles, if he is to equal Nelson, his enemy must be superior to him in numbers and equal to him in efficiency, and in addition to all this he must win still another victory as desperate in its character as that of Copenhagen.

Even then, having done this, he would not be equal to Nelson, for I have made no mention of other difficulties that Nelson's genius met and subdued, not the least of which was the insulting neglect of the British Admiralty in the earlier part of his professional career, and even in later life. The distribution of commerce among the nations of the earth, with all the power and influence that goes therewith, and the very map of the world itself, are as they are today largely because of the Nile and Trafalgar. In each of these battles the French were in greater force, and in efficiency and preparedness the opposing fleets were not unequally matched. The punishment in damage to ships and loss of life sustained by the victor proved that the vanquished fought valiantly and well. The one factor that turned the tide of battle in favor of the British was the genius of Nelson.

While a patriotic Frenchman may feel sorrow and regret when he reads these pages of his country's history, his heart will thrill with pride at the story of the gallant fight his countrymen made, and he will glory in their valor.

The issues at stake in the Russo-Japan War were comparatively insignificant in comparison to those at stake in the struggle that marked the close of the eighteenth and beginning of the nineteenth century.

It was Nelson's opportunity that he lived at that time and took part in those events. His battles are the most stupendous in the history of naval warfare, and his victories stand to this day as the masterpieces of the most renowned sea fights and the greatest naval genius the world has ever seen.

In the life of perhaps no other great man have genius and opportunity worked together so perfectly as in that of Nelson.

And now, Mr. Editor, allow me just a little more space for a word about myself, in order that you may understand why I write as I have done.

British by birth and early training, but coming to America while still in my "teens," my ideas and habits of thought, having been influenced by the customs and institutions of my new home, are for the most part American. As a naturalized citizen of the great Republic, I am as loyal to the Stars and Stripes as I would have been to the Union Jack had I remained in the land of my birth. I am somewhat in the position of a man who has left the home of his boyhood and taken to himself a wife—I love my new home and it holds first place in my heart, but I also love my old mother; and feel that therein I am not inconsistent or the less loyal to America. I now take a patriotic pride in the history and achievements of the whole English-speaking race, as doubly mine by right of heritage and adoption, and feel that my ideas are broadened and my sympathies quickened thereby. By force of circumstances and early association I have always been interested in matters that pertain to naval warfare and to the sea in general. My whole life has been passed within sight and hearing of the sea. When a baby, the roar of the breakers was my lullaby—the cradle song that soothed me to sleep.

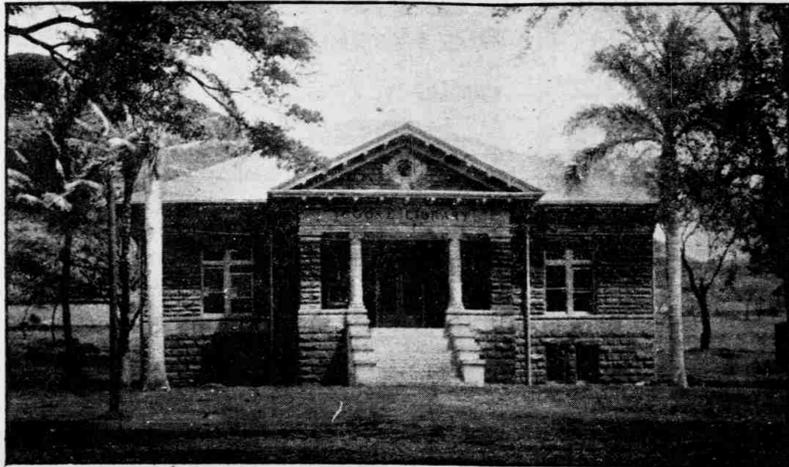

The first time that tears ever started to my eyes, over printed page, was when as a child stumblingly spelling out the big words I read the story of Nelson's glorious death, on the day of battle and in the hour of victory.

As a boy I wandered by the shore of the North Sea, a sea the story of which is crowded with historic associations and memories, as grand and inspiring as those that are a part of St. Paul's Cathedral or Westminster Abbey. Many a time when a boy have I stood bareheaded on the shore of that sea, with the black east wind driving the stinging, blinding salt spray in my face and eyes; the towering cliffs behind me; the black, angry sea before, breaking in alternate crash and roll and continuous roar at my feet; the sullen, leaden sky over all—and as I stared seaward, over the expanse of black, heaving billows, with their snow-white crests, that leaped and tossed before me, I felt, though no mortal was near, that I was, not alone, I stood in the Hall of Valhalla, and the spirits of the mighty dead were there—the sea kings and the naval heroes of all nations and all time—and there was no more war, for all were friends and comrades there. The only contention among them was who could most honor and love the one-armed hero of Trafalgar, and with one accord they hailed him lord and master. His body is buried in peace. His glory shines on in deathless splendor. His name liveth for evermore.

THE COOKE LIBRARY AT OAHU COLLEGE.

GIFT OF COOKE LIBRARY

for coming to bring their messages and all these keys to us.

Then, addressing the audience, Mr. Damon said:

Mr. Damon's Address.

Ladies and Gentlemen: It affords me the very greatest pleasure, on behalf of the board of trustees of Oahu College, to accept this monumental gift of our friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Cooke. It is a source of the greatest satisfaction to the corporation that they (and with them I think I may include all the members of their families), have been led to rear, for the benefit of us all, this beautiful building; to add so generously to the literary treasures of the library; and to place here certain works of art, which cannot fail to be a help and inspiration.

Emerson somewhere reminds us that "The sedge papyrus, which gave its name to our word paper, is of more importance to history than cotton, or silver, or gold." It is well for humanity, however, that it has, in our age, the generous backing of steel, iron, sugar and other important agents. The rearing of libraries all over the world marks the dawn of that large and altruistic age, upon which we have undoubtedly entered, when men and women, blessed with means, rejoice in the privilege of sharing the same with others. It is a gracious and worthy act of Mr. and Mrs. Cooke to remember so bountifully their alma mater and we trust that they may long be spared to watch the larger and fuller growth of the institution, to whose development they feel it to be a privilege to minister.

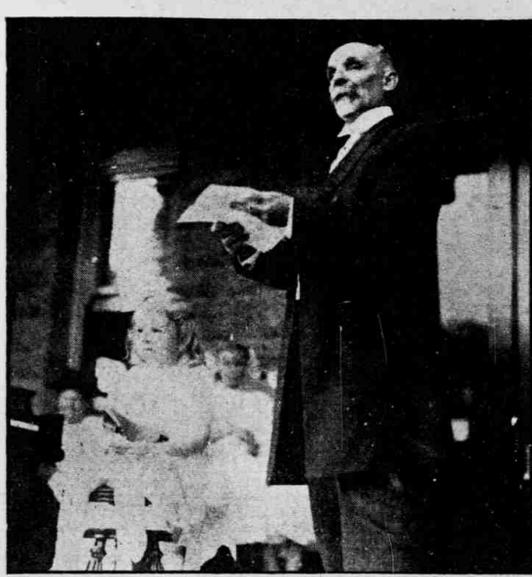

To the alumni, to the corporation, to the faculties of these schools, to the undergraduates and to all here present, this edifice, devoted to the highest interests of education and culture, utters eloquently its message, that we use well its treasures for our own highest good and in helpful service to others. Particularly fitting is it that "led by a little child" we should enter this portal soon to open for us. May the willing and teachable spirit be ours and then shall the blessing surely follow!

It is the desire of the corporation that the benefits of this library should be shared by others, as well as those immediately connected with this institution. It may in a word be said that it is the intention to adopt a liberal policy with reference to the use of the books here gathered. Former students should be fairly plump. They ought to put on fat as fast as they use it up; for fat is fuel, and the burning of it makes power and force. Thin children—even along to the age of eighteen or twenty—are in danger from consumption, and from other wasting complaints. The children who starve, and the young men and women who are consumed—why, the very idea of it is frightful. For such as they, there is always what is called a "mighty famine" in the land. Food, though it may be taken plentifully, does not nourish them. It makes no fat; it gives no strength. To prevent this, to cure this, to save the young ones at the mother's knees, and the bright boys and girls who are just looking at the world with ambitious eyes, is the purpose of WAMPOL'S PREPARATION.

Its success is decided and settled. Thousands owe to it life and health. It is palatable as honey and contains all the curative properties of pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In building up pale, puny, emaciated children, particularly those troubled with Anemia, Scrofula, Rickets, and bone and blood diseases, nothing equals it; its tonic qualities are of the highest order. A Medical Institution says: "We have used your preparation in treating children for coughs, colds and inflammation; its application has never failed us in any case, even the most aggravated bordering on pneumonia. The children like it, and it builds up their bodies; many little children owe their lives to it." Effective from the first dose, and you cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by chemists.

MR. DAMON'S ADDRESS.

of Punahou, present and former patrons, and literary, scientific and educational workers in the city, and others complying with the regulations laid down, may take advantage freely of the privileges of the library.

We have had come down to us the following anecdote of Petrarch, the great Italian poet, namely, that "The Bishop of Carvaillon, Petrarch's friend, in a playful experiment, locked up the poet's library, intending to exclude him from it for three days, but the poet's misery caused him to restore the key on the first evening." "And I verily believe I should have become insane," says Petrarch, "if my mind had longer been deprived of its necessary nourishment."

That we may be spared so serious an ending, I hasten now to use these keys, which have been today entrusted to the trustees, to open, in their name, the doors of the Cooke Library, asking you all to follow, since "Life thrills along the aloofed hall; The Lords of thought await our call."

The Library Is Opened.

Upon the conclusion of the address, Mr. Damon, with little Caroline's assistance, unlocked the big front door of the library. Passing within, the trustees and their wives held an informal reception of the visiting friends, and the building was inspected from basement to upper book rack.

The splendid building added yesterday to the educational plant at Punahou has cost, with its furniture and equipment, the sum of $42,300. There still remains in the hands of the building committee the sum of $2500 of the total donation by Mr. and Mrs. Cooke, which is $44,800. In addition to the building, the generous donors have placed $10,000 at the disposal of the trustees for books. Of this amount $5000 has been spent, leaving $4000 yet to be invested. The selection of books is being made with great care, the object sought being to create a well-rounded-out, working library, which will meet the requirements of all branches of the institution. There are now 12,000 books and 3000 unbound pamphlets and documents on the shelves. The total capacity of the building is 40,000 volumes. As if the foregoing were not enough, Mr. and Mrs. Cooke have also presented to the library a splendid painting of "The Last Supper." It is a copy of one of the most famous paintings in the world. The original is in the great cathedral at Milan, Italy, and was painted by Leonardo da Vinci. The original picture is 30x12 feet in size. The copy is about half that size. It was painted by special order of Mr. Cooke, when recently in Europe.

Following in the footsteps of their parents, Mr. Clarence H. Cooke has presented the library with a fine bronze statue of a lion, and Theodore Cooke has donated a handsome bronze Japanese hibachi. To the untitled, it looks like a large and handsome jardiniere, and it yesterday served that purpose admirably, containing a young palm. A copy of Alexander's series of six pictures, "The Evolution of the Book," the originals of which are in the Congressional Library, also ornament the walls. They were given by the graduating class last year.

The library building is of blue lava rock, one story and a basement, with metal racks for books and oak tables and chairs.

The building was designed by A. L. Kerr and erected under contract by John Ounderkirk, under the supervision of W. L. Emory. It is a credit to designer, contractor and supervisor.

IN MEMORY OF MISS FELKER.
The following resolutions were drawn up by a committee of the Territorial Teachers' Association, at their last meeting, in recognition of the great loss to the educational work of the Territory in the death of their honored member, Miss A. M. Felker.
Whereas, Almighty God in His inscrutable wisdom has seen fit to take from our midst our beloved friend and co-worker, Alice M. Felker; and
Whereas, We realize that in her the poor have lost a generous benefactress, the young a loving, guiding friend, and the community an untiring worker for good; be it
Resolved, That we, the members of the Territorial Teachers' Association, do hereby express our sorrow at her removal from us, and our deep sympathy for the bereaved ones of her family; and be it
Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this association, and that copies be sent to Mr. William Felker of Santa Cruz, to Miss Grace Felker of College Hills, to the faculty of Kaahumanu School, and to the morning and evening papers.

Dr. W. C. Hobdy, who has been chief quarantine officer at San Francisco harbor for the past three years, has been ordered to Honolulu, where he will occupy the same position. He will leave San Francisco for this place on May 5 on the Mongolia.
The coal elevators along the Bishop wharf had their first real try-out yesterday morning. The schooner Eclipse was moored alongside the wharf and several carloads of coal were dropped into her hold via the chute. Then the elevator claws were put to work and coal was hoisted from the hold and shot down again into the maws of the schooner about twenty times. Everything worked to perfection, and the new elevator will doubtless prove a great labor-saving device.

A TRAGEDY ON KAUAI.
One Fujishima, living in a camp near the Catholic church at Lihue, on the island of Kauai, tried to kill his wife last Saturday night and failing to give her a fatal wound, attempted harakiri himself. It seems that the woman became too intimate with another Japanese recently and left home several times, the husband's friends bringing her back each time. On Saturday morning last she again left home and was brought back in the evening when she ignored her husband's pleasant greeting and ridiculed him in the presence of others. This inflamed the husband, and, armed with a butcher knife, he jumped over to his wife and tried to stab her. He was hindered by his friends from accomplishing his object. Then he tried to cut open his own stomach, but his friends were too quick for him again. Both were taken to the Lihue hospital where they are being taken care of at present.

According to the Christian Register this is a report by a young English school-girl of a lecture on "Phases of Human Life—Youth, Manhood, and Age." "In youth we look forward to the wicked things we will do when we grow up—this is the state of innocence. In manhood we do the wicked things of which we thought in our youth—this is the prime of life. In old age we are sorry for the wicked things we did in manhood—this is the time of our dotage."

GREAT RECORD OF SHERIDAN

Did Not Lose Communication With Land During the Entire Voyage.

When the transport Sheridan arrived at this port, she brought news of a wireless record established by her operator between Honolulu and Manila. She did not lose communication with Manila all the while she was bound for Honolulu, and she was in talking distance of this port the greater part of the time. When the transport arrived at San Francisco, however, she had established a still more remarkable record. The following, from the San Francisco Call, gives the details:

The Army transport Sheridan has established a new record in the history of wireless telegraphy. The Sheridan arrived yesterday from Manila, and since leaving here last February has never been out of communication with the outside world. At any stage of the voyage the Sheridan, within an hour, could have reached the quarter-master general in his office at Washington, D. C.

The story of the Sheridan's great talking feat has been made the subject of a special report to Washington, in which much of the credit for the work is given to First Class Sergeant Charles D. Reeves and Sergeant Albert Jeffries, both of the signal corps and in charge of the Sheridan's wireless apparatus.

The Sheridan left here February 5, and was in direct communication with San Francisco until the troopship reached the 180th meridian, by which time communication had been opened with Honolulu. On February 17 the Sheridan, 3000 miles away, chatted with the station at Tatoonai. The troopship left Manila March 14, and talked back until Nagasaki was reached. When the Sheridan arrived off Midway Island conversation was being carried on with Nagasaki, 2500 miles away, and with Honolulu.

The Sheridan exchanged the time of day with the liner Minnesota, 1600 miles away; Nippon Maru, 1200 miles; Thomas, 650 miles; Hilonian, 600 miles; Governor, 600 miles; and with Sitka, Alaska, 1600 miles, and with nearly every station on this coast.

No owner of a "talking machine" will ever be satisfied with ordinary-process disc or cylinder records once he has heard Columbia Records played. Let that sink in—for it's a fact.

Columbia Records are beyond argument better in every way—in smoothness of surface, in evenness of tone, in clearness, in volume, in repertory and in durability. They are made under the original patents, and by processes that elsewhere can only be imitated. Compare them, that's all we ask.

CURE YOUR RHEUMATISM AT HOME

A Michigan Veteran Tells How He Was Permanently Cured of a Severe Case.

Every sufferer from rheumatism wants to be cured and to stay cured. The prospect of the return of the same old rheumatism every year is not attractive to anybody who has gone through one siege. Most treatments aim simply to "keep down" the rheumatic poisons in the blood. The tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has proved by hundreds of cures that it builds up the blood to a point that enables it to cast out these poisons through the regular channels of excretion, the bowels, kidneys and the skin.

When this is done the rheumatism is permanently cured and as long as the blood is kept pure and rich the patient will be immune from attacks of rheumatism.

Mr. David McCarty, farmer and formerly postmaster, of Chapin, Mich., is a veteran of the Civil war, having served in Co. B, 14th Michigan Volunteer Infantry. He says:

"For over a year I had rheumatism so badly that I couldn't turn over in bed. There was sharp pains through my hips and left side, which would catch me so quickly that it often seemed as though my back would break. My appetite was very poor and my kidneys were affected. I could not lie on my back but would have to be propped up in bed on my right side.

"The doctors gave me but little help, for the trouble always came back as severely as ever. I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking a few boxes felt much better. The pain was not so bad and I could eat and sleep better. I gave the pills a good trial and have never had a return of the trouble."

If you are suffering from rheumatism in any form and find that the treatment you are taking does not relieve you, or if you are actually getting worse while taking other treatment, then do not delay but give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a thorough trial. The remedy that cures others will cure you.

A valuable booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," containing more information about rheumatism and other diseases of the blood will be sent free upon request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Relief From Headache Is Yours If You Want It

You have only to get a box of Stearns' Headache Wafers at your chemist's and take one of the little tasteless wafers. This is the most popular headache cure in the world and has been sold for almost twenty years; the only reason that so many people buy it over and over is that it does what it should—cures headache promptly, safely, pleasantly. No one needs to suffer from headache when are at hand. It is well to keep a box in the house all the time, for headaches always come without warning. This will drive them away as quickly as they came. Stearns' Headache Wafers are so much better than others that it will pay to insist on having STEARNS' and no other.

Tenders for supplies for the local Marine Corps for the coming year—beginning July 1, 1909, and ending June 30, 1910—were opened in the office of Captain Marix, U. S. M. C., yesterday. The amount of money in question, which will come to Honolulu merchants, totals not far from $48,000 annually. The Sanitary Steam Laundry was the lowest bidder for the laundry of the corps for the year, the amount to be spent this way being about $1200 per year. Hustace, Peck & Co. were the lowest bidders for furnishing coal and wood to the marine barracks and the residences of the marine officers. This will amount to between $7000 and $8000 for the period. The Hawaiian Meat Company (Metropolitan) sent in the lowest tender for furnishing the rations for the marines, Henry May & Co. coming in second. This will amount to about $108 per day, or, approximately, $55,000 for the year. The Union Feed Co. sent in the lowest tender for supplying forage for horses and animals, this item amounting to about $1000 per year.

Work is at present going on towards making the office of the marine quartermaster considerably larger. The offices have been found too small for the increased work. Next week the first work will start on the construction of an amusement hall for the marines. This will be a reading-room, billiard-room, and general headquarters for the boys when they wish to spend a quiet hour or so. The building will be of considerable size, and will be arranged so that every inch of space may be well utilized.

Chief Musician William J. Cain of the Fifth Cavalry band yesterday wrote a very considerate letter of thanks to the Advertiser on behalf of the members of the band for the notice given the concert on the Young Hotel roof garden. The letter, and the enclosed program for the concert to be given at the Moana Hotel this evening, are as follows:

Fort Shafter, April 22, 1909.
Editor Advertiser: On behalf of the Fifth Cavalry band please allow me to tender you our sincere thanks for your very kind remarks in today's issue of your valuable paper on the music played by the band at last night's concert. I am enclosing a copy of the program we intend playing and would ask the courtesy of having it printed in Friday's issue of your paper. Very respectfully,

The Star Spangled Banner

About two months ago a reporter of the Advertiser struck up an acquaintance with a sailor of the United States Navy, who was passing through on his way to his assignment in the Philippines. He was on one of the transports, and before leaving Honolulu promised to write to the reporter regarding his impressions of the new country to which he was bound. By yesterday's mail from the Coast a letter was received from the young man. The letter was, it seems, enclosed in a cask and tossed overboard from the ship as she crossed the imaginary line known as the 180th meridian. No explanations accompanied the letter from San Francisco, so it can only be presumed that it was picked up by a vessel at sea and taken to San Francisco. On the back of the envelope the following was written: "Mailed at the 180th meridian at sea, February 21, 1909." The letter is as follows:

"Dear Mr. . . . .
"We are now passing the 180th meridian and have gained a day.
"Had a fine trip so far. We are going to put this in a keg and throw it overboard. Let me know if you ever get it. Respectfully,

Robert has lately acquired a stepmother. Hoping to win his affection, this new parent has been very lenient with him, while his father, feeling his responsibility, has been unusually strict. The boys of the neighborhood, who had taken pains to warn Robert of the terrible character of stepmothers in general, recently waited on him in a body, and the following conversation was overheard: "How do you like your stepmother, Bob?" "Like her! Why, fellers, I just love her. All I wish is I had a stepfather, too."

AN EPISCOPAL VISIT TO LAHAINA DISTRICT

Bishop Restarick, Miss Emery, general secretary of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions of the Episcopal Church, and Deaconess Potter of Honolulu arrived in Lahaina on the Mauna Kea. On the evening of their arrival, Deaconess Potter had an unfortunate accident, falling and spraining her ankle. Bishop Restarick and Miss Emery attended the children's service in the Church of the Holy Innocents, held at 8:30 a. m. daily before the school connected with the church is opened. At the opening of the school Miss Emery addressed the children. Later the Bishop and Miss Emery visited the public school, where Miss Emery spoke to the older children and spoke of her pleasure at what she had seen in the school. Then, accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Kroll and wife, they visited Lahainaluna, where both the Bishop and Miss Emery addressed the boys. The new uniform of khaki is now worn by the boys and adds greatly to the appearance of the assembled students. A largely-attended reception was given the visiting party in the parish hall on Wednesday evening. They left Thursday morning for Wailuku, going from there by the Claudine to Hilo, where the new church is to be consecrated. Lahaina, April 19, 1909.
