EARTHQUAKE IN PORTUGAL WIPES OUT VILLAGES

Many Dead, Missing and Injured Among the Ruins—Parliament Votes $100,000 as a Relief Fund.

(Associated Press Cablegram)

LISBON, April 26.—Reports from the country districts are to the effect that the earthquake, felt in this city on Friday, destroyed a number of villages, wiping them out. Thirty-nine bodies have so far been recovered from the ruins of the buildings, and one hundred and twenty persons are missing. Hundreds of villagers were injured.

The Portuguese Parliament has voted one hundred thousand dollars for the relief of the homeless.

THREE JAPANESE SHOT LAST NIGHT AT AIEA

Three Japanese at Aiea were shot and seriously wounded last night by one Harada. They are being treated at the hospital there. Harada has surrendered himself to the police at Ewa and is confined in the Ewa jail. The police at Ewa telephoned the news in to headquarters last night, giving only the bare information of the shooting and the surrender of the assailant and his detention. One of the victims was shot in the stomach, another in the hip and the third in the knee. The first one is said to be in a serious condition. Just what caused the shooting is not known to the local police. It is thought here that the Harada mentioned is the Japanese who at one time was a member of the Japanese gang of loafers who preyed upon women and bullied the ignorant classes among the Japanese, holding them in a state of terror. During Sheriff Lauke's tenure of office the gang was broken up and nearly all were sent to prison.

CUBA ALARMED OVER ATTITUDE OF PRESIDENT

HAVANA, April 13.—The Diario de la Marina is alarmed over the statement of Representative Fordney, of Michigan, in the Congressional Record of March 27, saying: "President Taft agreed in my presence that during his administration he will not permit, so far as he can avoid it, any further reduction in the sugar schedule. If we accept this agreement, it will leave three hundred thousand tons to come in free from the Philippines." The Diario urges the necessity for prompt action. In spite of the friendly words and hopes brought by Vice President Zayas from Washington, it says, Cuba's financial ruin is involved if President Taft does not turn out as friendly. It is believed here that this article reflects the prevalent anxiety over the tariff question. La Lucha prints today an interview with Colonel Harvey, a well known American, who is here on behalf of the pineapple growers. He says the Payne bill would be a death blow to this new Cuban industry, which is producing $7,000,000 annually, and will also affect Americans through the steamship companies interested in transportation, as well as other trades connected with the business. Colonel Harvey appeals to the Cuban government to act. El Triunfo prints a report from the Agrarian League, signed by Louis Marx and addressed to President Gomez, on behalf of the tobacco interests. He also recommends quick action and says that as the cost of producing Cuban tobacco is the highest in the world eighty per cent. reduction should be obtained instead of the twenty per cent. granted by the present treaty. He foresees hard times for Cuba if America does not give her generous treatment.

MAUI RUBBER EQUAL TO THAT OF CEYLON

Hawaiian rubber is practically the same as the rubber produced in Ceylon and the Straits Settlements, according to a report received by Dr. E. V. Wilcox of the Experiment Station from A. T. Morse & Co. of New York, importers, to whom samples of the tapping results from Maui were sent. Dr. Wilcox gives out the letter received by him from this firm, believing that rubber growers throughout the Territory will be interested in knowing what the opinion of these rubber experts may be. The letter states: "This seems to us to be of the same general nature as rubber now coming from Ceylon and the Straits Settlements."

This rubber has developed very materially the last few years and is now a regular article of commerce. The most of the trees or plants which were originally started in Ceylon and the Straits Settlements came from Ceara, so it would be presumed that the plant is much, if not exactly, the same as the ones you have in Hawaii. The market price of the rubber today is about $1.27 per pound, less the charges of, say, a brokerage, banker's commission, etc., which would amount to about 2 per cent. It seems to us that this sample is a trifle softer than most of the rubber coming from Ceylon and the Straits Settlements, but we have no doubt but what it is the same general quality and that the people in Hawaii can produce the same results as the Ceylon and Straits Settlements."

SALT LAKE TOURIST LIKES HONOLULU

Salt Lake Tribune—Frank I. Seifrit returned from Honolulu Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Seifrit and their son Ben. They were absent six weeks, almost three of which were spent on the Hawaiian Islands. "We had an interesting ocean voyage and visit to this new Territory of the United States," said Mr. Seifrit, "and we are glad to return to Salt Lake. In fact, this being conference time, I feel to say that I am obligated to renew my covenants and pay my tithing."

"No; my visit to Honolulu had nothing to do with the visit there of President Smith. Our missions were quite different as I understand. His was probably to escape the pestiferous anti-liquor element. Mine to recuperate. We both succeeded. "President Smith is popular with the native Hawaiians. He propagated the religion of his distinguished uncle in the then called Sandwich Islands a half century ago, learning the language and endearing himself to many thousands. He afterwards spent quite a time there, and his recent visit was attended by a warm welcome by those strange people. "I doubt if there is a more beautiful spot than Honolulu and environs. If this were better known, the stream of travel that is now witnessed would increase immensely."

FAIRBANKS WILL MAKE ADDRESS

Public Invited to Legislature This Morning—Members Will Reply.

There will be a joint meeting of the House and Senate this morning, to which the general public is invited, when the members will be addressed by the Honorable Charles W. Fairbanks. The meeting will commence at eleven o'clock and will be held in the throne room, where the House is now sitting. Arrangements will be made to accommodate a large number in the gallery. Speaker Holstein having given instructions for additional chairs to be placed there.

Mr. Fairbanks will be introduced by President Smith, while addresses will be made by members of the Senate and House. It is expected that Mr. Fairbanks will talk along the lines of broad Americanism and good citizenship. It is understood that some of the Hawaiian members will dwell in their remarks on the aim of all Hawaiians to so prove their loyalty and ability that the claim of Hawaii to statehood will be recognized and granted.

MARY LEFT HER MAN WAITING AT CHURCH

Miss Mary Baker of Lahaina changed her name last week, but before doing so she also changed her mind. On Tuesday she was to have been married to the man of her choice, who had procured the license, bought the ring, seen the minister and had, as he thought, made all arrangements. He forgot to reckon on the privilege accorded the fair sex, even in Lahaina, of having another think, the result being that she would-be bridegroom was left waiting at the church, while Mary was concluding arrangements with another, a younger and handsomer suitor. On Wednesday, while suitor number one was still trying to figure it out how the slip got between the cup and the lip, Mary hid her with her substitute bridegroom to a Mormon elder and emerged from the status of spinsterhood. Who besides Mary was made happy and who the disappointed swain is, the Advertiser's Lahaina correspondent does not say.

RESCUED CHILD FROM A BURNING BUILDING

Through the prompt action of Mrs. Pierce, a neighbor, a tragedy was averted yesterday afternoon at the home of Harry F. Davison, at Kapaehulu. Had it not been for the assistance of Mrs. Pierce, at least one child would have been burned alive, it being taken out of the burning building just in time. The parents were in town at the time, about half-past three o'clock yesterday afternoon, having left the children in the care of the Japanese servant. This servant took the children into the servant's quarters, leaving them there, shut in, while a visit to another Japanese was made. In playing around, the baby got hold of some matches and set the place on fire. The fire had attained considerable headway before it was noticed, when Mrs. Pierce came over, entered the burning building and took the children out. The house itself was burned to the ground. No alarm of fire was sent in, it being thought useless to call the department when there was no danger of the fire spreading beyond the one building.

DEBTS WIPED OUT BY CROP

Legislators Visit Reform School and Find Creditable Methods.

Legislators who visited the Boys' Industrial School at Waialeale yesterday are sorry now that they did not visit the school before the appropriation bill items were so thoroughly threshed out, as the general consensus of conclusions reached yesterday after the visit was that the school was an admirable one, deserving of the utmost support from the Territory.

The education committees of both houses of the Legislature, accompanied by other members and persons who are interested in the school and the welfare of the inmates, officially inspected the institution, going from Honolulu on the Haleiwa Limited, which was sent on through to Waialeale. Owing to this fact the band, which was to have met the legislators at the regular train, were not in readiness and the solons were on the grounds and taking a look at things before the band and inmates were drawn up in review.

However, the catching of the school unawares served a good purpose, for the legislators were able to see matters as they were, practically in address. The guests were taken in tow by Superintendent Gibson and every department and every building was inspected and the method of instruction, punishment, etc., were gone into in detail. Some were surprised at the evident fact of real knowledge of a practical nature imparted to the boys. Far from being a reform school, merely intended for punishment of youths, they found a school for imparting practical knowledge in trades, best suited to fit the boys for the battle of life when they finish their terms. They found that the boys were learning practical farming, blacksmithing, electrical wiring, etc., carpentering and most of the manual trades.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Babbitt, when all the inmates and legislators were conveniently gathered, made an address, and then introduced W. T. Rawlins, assistant district attorney, who has always evinced interest in the school. He said it was not a prison but a place merely to correct wrongdoing boys. He spoke of the creation of the band and how it had risen from practically a drum and life and guitar organization to a regulation band with a full equipment of instruments.

Kaleiopu, as chairman of the meeting, after a brief address, called upon various members to make speeches, Senator Harvey, Senator McCarthy, Senator Robinson, Representative Kawewehi and others responding. The guests were entertained at a luncheon served in one of the dormitory buildings over which Hon. John C. Lane presided as toastmaster. Among other things ascertained by the guests was the fact that when the present sugar cane crop is taken off and returns are in, all debts incurred in the planting of cane and starting the little plantation and other agricultural pursuits will be wiped off and there will be a sum amounting in the neighborhood of $1200 to the credit of the institution. The land was tilled and cultivated, cane planted, etc., entirely by the boys.

HAWAIIAN SAILOR COMMITS SUICIDE

Paio, a Hawaiian sailor of the crew of the schooner Mo'i Wahine, committed suicide on Saturday morning, jumping from the little vessel when she was four miles off Lahaina, and being drowned. The act was committed about 4 o'clock in the morning, just as the Mo'i Wahine was entering the channel. He was not seen after the plunge into the sea. From reports at hand, it appears that Paio took his life in a moment of depression, following a day of sulksiness over the refusal of Captain Sam to allow him to go ashore the day before at Honoapua. Following the refusal, Paio went off by himself and refused to talk with the other members of the crew. On Saturday morning he jumped up from the spot where he was lying in the bow, ran the full length of the vessel and plunged into the sea in the schooner's wake. His action was seen and the schooner was brought about to pick him up. The search proved useless. Paio was about fifty-five years old, his home being in Honolulu. He was a married man.

NEW DOCK AT SALINA CRUZ

The large drydock at Salina Cruz is almost ready for service, the dredger Diaz, which was raised after many months spent at the bottom of the harbor, being engaged when the Georgia sailed in deepening the water at the entrance. The dock is a splendid piece of engineering, being constructed of concrete, and the largest steamers now floating the Pacific can be accommodated.

AORANGI RETURNS TO VICTORIA FOR REPAIRS

J. M. Oat of the Merchants' Exchange received a cablegram from Victoria yesterday announcing that the Canadian-Australian S. S. Aorangi, which sailed from Victoria for Honolulu on April 24, had returned to port with her main feed pipe cracked.

This is a serious trouble to any steamship's machinery and will doubtless cause considerable delay while repairs are being made. However, the damage may be repaired and notice should be received today or tomorrow that she has again started for Honolulu and Australasia.

AUTOMOBILE SPEED ORDINANCE RUMORED

There are rumors of big doings ahead which will affect the automobilists of Honolulu very appreciably. Supervisor Kane, who hails from the other side of Moanalua, is the one reputed to be back of a new ordinance to be presented to the Board of Supervisors, regarding speed conditions and other things relating to honk-honkers, for the benefit of his constituents. The automobile club has not taken action as yet, but the members expect to fight the ordinance through Supervisor Quinn. Kane's idea, so far as can be learned, is to organize in his district an association to be known as the "Society for the Suppression of the Speeding Smoke-Wagon," and the ordinance he has secretly drafted will include these provisions:

1. On discovering an approaching team the automobilist must stop off-side and cover his machine with a tarpaulin painted to correspond with the scenery.
2. In case a horse will not pass an automobile, notwithstanding the scenic tarpaulin, the automobilist will take the machine to pieces as rapidly as possible and conceal the parts in the grass.
3. The speed limit on country roads will be a secret and the penalty for violation will be $10 for every mile an offender is caught going in excess of it.
4. In case an automobile causes a team to run away, the penalty will be $50 for the first mile, $100 for the second mile, $200 for the third mile, etc., that the team runs, in addition to the usual damages.
5. Automobiles must be seasonably painted, that is so that they will merge with the pastoral ensemble and not startle man or animal.

6. Automobiles running on the country roads at night must send up a red rocket every mile and wait ten minutes for the road to clear. They then may proceed carefully, tooting horns and shooting Roman candles.

7. On approaching a corner where he can not command a view of the road ahead, the automobilist must stop not less than one hundred yards from the turn, toot his horn, ring a bell, fire a revolver, halloo, and send up three aerial bombs at intervals of five minutes.

8. All members of the society will devote Sunday to chasing automobiles, shooting and shouting at their occupants, making arrests and otherwise discouraging country touring on that day.

9. In case an automobile approaches a farmer's house when the roads are dusty, it will slow down to one mile an hour and the chauffeur will lay the dust in front of the house with a hand sprinkler worked over the dashboard.

NEW HARRIMAN BOAT.

The San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company, one of the Harriman interests, has purchased the steamer Kansas City. The consideration was $250,000. The Kansas City, which is a first-class passenger steamer, has been operating on the Atlantic in the service of the Ocean Steamship Company. She will be brought out from the East coast and placed in service on the San Francisco-Portland run in conjunction with the steamers George W. Elder and Senator. The Kansas City is a vessel of 3679 gross tons, 327 feet long, 45 feet beam and 18 feet depth of hold. She was built in 1889 at Chester, Pa., and carried a crew of sixty-four men.

FIRST FEMALE OPERATOR.

Mrs. R. H. Tucker of Seattle, who has been installed on the steamship Indianapolis as a wireless operator, is said to be the first woman wireless operator in the world. Her husband is manager of the United Wireless at Tacoma.

JAPANESE VIEW OF THE POLICY OF AMERICANIZATION

Discussing "The Americanization of Hawaii," from the Japanese standpoint, the Hawaii Shimpo, in its English edition, urges that haste be made slowly lest injustice be done the Japanese already here and injury result to the sugar industry. It is probable that the article was inspired through the presence in Hawaii of the Honorable Charles W. Fairbanks, reference being made to the usual first impressions upon visiting officials and students of economic conditions. The Shimpo says:

"Reforms to be permanent must be undertaken conservatively and carried ahead in a logical sequence. Too often, reforms are undertaken with a rush, carried to an extreme, and the cause suffers from the swing back of the pendulum.

"The Americanization of Hawaii is a case in point—a reform in the eyes of Americans and something entirely logical from the standpoint of an American. It can be overdone if done with too great a desire for haste, however, with injury to Hawaii and to the cause.

"Many prominent persons from the mainland who have visited Hawaii, officially and otherwise, have expressed themselves as impressed with the preponderance of the Asiatic population of the Islands. It is true that Japanese, Chinese and Koreans form a great part of the population of Hawaii. It would be idle to either deny or attempt to minimize this fact, but we do not believe that the conclusions jumped at by some of these visitors, that such a state of affairs must come to an immediate stop, are the best conclusions, nor the steps advocated by these visitors, in many cases, the best steps to be taken for the advancement of Hawaii on American or any other lines.

"The Asiatic population of Hawaii can not in any way be construed as a menace to Hawaii. On the contrary, these Asiatics are today as much as they have been in the past essential to the industrial well-being of the Islands and the prosperity of all the residents, Americans and others. The number of Asiatics, more particularly the Japanese, is fast decreasing. Are the Islands becoming on that account any more American? They are not, but they are coming to a condition where the labor supply is insufficient because a proper substitute labor for that of the Japanese is not as yet forthcoming. Hawaii is drifting towards an industrial and financial crisis.

"The Japanese of Hawaii are contributing, through their presence, to the industrial prosperity of Hawaii, while, at the same time, the presence of the Japanese is in no wise a hindrance to the working out of the policy of the Americanization of these Islands. The Japanese can not secure public land, and this right to secure land and maintain a permanent foothold on the soil is for Americans. Without that right the Japanese can not stand in the way of the growth of the American population.

"On the other hand, the industries which the Japanese have established here are new; they are industries which none other but the Japanese would or could have established here. They would never be considered by white people. The fishing industry has been firmly established, systematized and developed, to the benefit of the white consumer; the rice industry has been developed mainly by the Chinese, although many Japanese are now engaged in it, carrying it forward; the soy manufacturers are ours alone; sake-brewing is a distinctly Japanese industry, and the manufacturing of macaroni is something which we are carrying on with success and without opposition to the whites.

"The Japanese have survived in Hawaii because our race has proven to be fittest in certain lines. One important instance is our fitness as laborers in the cane fields. We are helping Americans to develop this American Territory.

"In connection with the wide question of the right of the Japanese to be in Hawaii, it is not out of place to remember the contention of America for the open door in the Far East. Why an open door for Asia and a closed door for Hawaii?

"This is the meeting-place of the East and the West. Providence so designed these Islands. Is the plan of Providence to be thwarted? Is politics greater than geography? "There need be no alarm over the fact that at present the Japanese outnumber those of any other of the score of nationalities to be found here. We are barred from further increase through immigration. To us the door swings only outwards, and through that door pass each month some two hundred of our number. What had been thought by the thinkers of both continents as the one spot where all nations could meet and mingle on an equal footing for the working out of the problem of the survival of the fittest, as a spot where an amalgamation of races might be brought about, is now to all practical purposes to be forced into new conditions. We were welcomed; we came and labored; now, agents are scouting Europe for others to reap where we have sown, without the positive knowledge that they have any special aptitude as reapers.

"This is unfair to the Japanese of Hawaii and to the sugar planters as well. Until the substitute is found and brought here, the planters must depend upon us. There is no assurance that that substitute will be here and prepared to take up our work before we are gone, driven practically from a country in the development of which we were a great part. There is danger ahead for the sugar industry of Hawaii.

"The Americanization of Hawaii will be carried through. Nothing can stop that. But, guard yourself, you advocates, lest the 'reform' be attempted too quickly."

INDEPENDENT FARMERS AND CANE CULTIVATION

A well written description of the Kekaha plantation and the country surrounding it, appearing in the Garden Island, concludes with the following concerning the small farmer and his chances in cane growing in Hawaii:

"The question of what to do with the government lands, of which there is a large acreage in the lands cultivated by the Kekaha Plantation—in fact, they are all government lands, the lease to which will expire in a few years—is the subject of a good deal of anxious speculation at the present time.

"If the government pursues a liberal and far-sighted policy, these lands are in a position to support a good population of independent American farmers, and it may be that steps will be taken to divide them up into small holdings, with that object in view. But the individual holdings, most not be smaller than 100 acres, at the least and it will probably be advisable to make them 200 or 500 acres in area, if the best classes of settlers are to be attracted here, and the ones who will be worth the most to the country.

"And the best class are the ones whom we most want, and who will be the ones most likely to make a success of the comparatively complicated sugar cane farming. It will be very essential, also, that they have good balances in the bank or else, the backing of some local or foreign capital, so that they can be safely tied over the first few years while they are acquiring the experience necessary to enable them to meet the new conditions here. For besides the long season of eighteen months before the first crop of cane can be harvested, there are sometimes setbacks to the proper growing and harvesting of the crop, which would not be taken into his calculations by the farmer accustomed to the simpler business of raising farm crops in the States, and which might be very discouraging to a man who was not prepared for them.

"But though the discouraging features of cane-growing may be greater than those encountered on the mainland farm, still the rewards, once the farm has passed through the experimentation necessary to find out the methods best suited to our climate and conditions, are also very much greater.

"As an example, for instance, the experience of one cane planter in these Islands may be pointed out. He had undertaken a larger acreage, of course, than would the ordinary small farmer who may come here, but at the end of his first fifteen years at growing his own cane, and supplying it to an independent mill, his overdraft at his agents amounted to $200,000. Since then, however, he has been able to make the business run more smoothly and at the present time, after having paid off the whole of his debt, he is one of the most prosperous plantation men of the Islands.

"If the small farmer can be carried through the first four years of his enterprise, with good financial backing, he is sure to make a success of farming operations in these Islands. If there is no way for him to 'keep going,' however, in the periods of poor returns, which may come before he has entirely mastered the business, he will be wiser not to try small farming—in the line of sugarcane production, anyway—in this Territory."

WOMAN BARRED AS PLAYERS OF POLO

Ability to ride and willingness to wear riding breeches do not make women eligible as polo players, according to the opinions of the experts at Burlingame, where the international series has recently been completed. Even if she rides ever so well and isn't afraid, she can not play.

Miss Eleanor Sears found this out, a despatch from the polo headquarters, dated April 10, saying:

Miss Eleanor Sears, Newport and Boston society girl, snubbed by the players, is pouting and expressed her feelings today as follows:

"The men won't let me play with them. I guess I'm no account because I happen to be a woman."

All this afternoon Miss Sears, clad in corduroy breeches and boots, strode about the veranda of the clubhouse at the Crossways Field, waiting to be invited to participate in the games. The players, however, would not permit her to enter their games, explaining:

"She rides nicely and wonderfully for a woman, but riding nicely is not riding for polo, and it won't do too much of a strain on our chivalry. Besides, she might be killed or injured in the game."

Miss Jennie Crocker, of New York and San Francisco, heiress to the Crocker fortune, also believes that women may ride in men's attire, and will play against Miss Sears, so that the young woman from Newport may not go back East without a game."

The School Gardens of the Hawaiian Islands

By Vaughan McCaughey.

School gardens are preeminently local products. They reflect their environment as truly as does a placid, green-girt lake. They are affected largely by immediately impinging conditions. General statements may be made concerning the educational principles involved, but the practical development and success of any school garden must ultimately find its basis on a keen sight into, and compliance with, environmental influences.

The evolution of the school gardens as a part of the educational system of the Territory of Hawaii, is a fitting illustration of the above remarks. The Hawaiians (or "Sandwich Islanders," as they were called in the early days) were naturally an agricultural people. Their food supply came chiefly from the fertile lowlands that encircle the Islands, and from the nearby ocean. Taro, coconuts, breadfruit, bananas, yams, sweet potatoes and a few wild fruits of minor importance constituted their vegetable food. Fish, fowl, hog and dog supplied the remainder of their diet. The pounded and fermented "root" of the taro, forming a starchy paste called "poi," was their chief dish. "Poi and fish" is a byword here for a meal. The limited area of the Islands restricted nomadism; the entire lack of large game cut off hunting, and the absence of grazing domestic animals prevented pastoral life. Thus this brown-skinned people was compelled, perforce, to accept a stable, agricultural existence.

They were peaceable farmers and fishermen, not savage cannibals, as were their kin of the South Seas. Periodically, at various favorite places, great markets and fairs were held. Here the best handwork and finest crops and live stock were exhibited and sold. These great fairs were surprisingly like the modern "County Fair" of the Middle States, and were decidedly agricultural.

When Captain Cook discovered the Islands in 1778, he remarked the extensiveness of the cultivated lands along the seashore; and it was appropriate that in the first band of missionaries sent hither there should be a skilled farmer and mechanic, Mr. Daniel Chamberlain. In several years he and his family instructed the natives in agriculture and the rudiments of mechanic arts.

The first school garden was undoubtedly established by the early missionaries on the Island of Hawaii. They spent much of their time in teaching the natives methods of producing garden vegetables and field crops. The natives rapidly absorbed the new ideas, and the demand for instruction became so great that in 1830 an urgent petition was sent to the American Board of Missions, asking for a number of instructors to train the Hawaiian people in agricultural pursuits. The petition received the hearty support of the native population, and was signed by fifteen of the high chiefs. In response, instructors were sent, and there were many prosperous fields of wheat, sugar cane, vegetables, etc.

As schools gradually developed, it was natural that the agricultural phase of education should continue in importance. Those in charge of the school affairs of the Islands saw that these people needed training through concrete things—object-lesson teaching, industrial and economic. Thus, in the past ten years, nearly every school in the Territory, either public or private, has given some attention to mechanical and agricultural work, largely in the form of school gardens. Excellent gardens have been established at the Lahalauna Industrial School, the Hilo Boarding School for Boys, the Kaneohe Schools, the Waialae Industrial School, and the Normal and Training School.

There are a number of local factors that make the school gardens of Hawaii decidedly different from those of the mainland. In the first place, the garden year corresponds closely with the school year. There are two main seasons—the wet season and the dry season. The wet season, corresponding roughly to the mainland winter, is the growing season; the summer is the dry season, during which gardening slackens. The school year—September to June—thus fortunately keeps pace with the development of the garden. The children can plant their seeds during the first week of school, and be confident of shortly reaping the results of their labors. This is in striking contrast to the gardens of the East, where extensive planting can not well begin until late springtime, and only rapidly-maturing crops can be raised before the close of school.

Secondly, the school gardeners here are not only fortunate in the coincidence of the school year and the growing season, but the climate as a whole is ideal for garden work. Uniformity is the keynote of this subtropical climate. There are no frosts, no violent thunderstorms, no hurricanes nor cyclones. Frequent light showers are characteristic. At Honolulu the average annual temperature is 74 degrees, which varies only a few degrees from day to day. The nights are invariably cool. The thousands of miles of temperate sea on every side make fluctuations in the weather rare. The climate can be "depended upon" to an extent unknown to the weather-suspicious Easterner, and gardening can be conducted with exceptional assurance of results.

Gardening here is materially assisted by the remarkable ease and rapidity with which crops mature. In a well-ordered school garden, after the first few weeks, planting and harvesting go on continually, hand in hand. A few examples, culled from the excellent report of Mr. Buchholz, a gardener on Hawaii, will suffice to elucidate this important factor. Mr. Buchholz's garden is at an elevation of 1650 feet above sea level (differences in altitude are, of course, correlated with differences in the maturing period of plants). On his farm he secures four crops of potatoes in succession in the same piece of land in twelve months; radishes become eatable ten days after sowing; cucumber tomatoes, lima beans, cucumbers and all the year round; onions grow very large, and mature in six months; pumpkins and squash bear abundantly for several years, etc., etc. It is evident that this is a land where plants grow easily, a contrast with the careful nursing and frequent disappointment too common in the East.

This region is unusual in the very great number of exotic plants that have been introduced, and that can be grown and studied in a school garden. In a well-organized garden the children are able to become familiar with a range of plant life quite beyond the scope of our Eastern gardens. All of the plants of world-wide economic importance can be raised here, and thus the garden work assumes a fruitful geographic and sociological aspect. The child who has cared for a little patch of rice will understand the Oriental far better than one who has not; and tales of the rice fields of India and Japan and Louisiana will have a new meaning for him. Pineapples, bananas, vanilla, mangoes, citrons, limes, coconuts, sugar cane, coffee, sisal, rubber—plants of which the Eastern child has but a vague conception, being familiar with the commercial portion only—are common here, while the great quantities of fruit shipped in from California and the Northwest familiarize the children with main and products.

A matter of great importance is the diverse nationalities represented in the public schools. These Islands, inhabited at first only by a native population, are now occupied by many peoples—Hawaiian, Japanese, Chinese, Portuguese, American, British, Scandinavian, German, Porto Rican, Korean, and every possible intermingling of these. The race elements represented most largely in the schools are Oriental, Hawaiian and Portuguese. These children come from widely dissimilar homes, their languages, their traditions, their beliefs, their whole mental attitudes vary as widely as do their physical characteristics. The educator has problems entirely different from those of his Eastern brother worker. He must develop each one of these boys and girls along lines which are not evidently antagonistic to their race instincts. A classroom full of children here is entirely too heterogeneous to be dealt with in toto; each unit is radically, racially different from every other unit, and individual training is a paramount necessity. This development of the individual, and its enforced emphasis along industrial lines—for the great mass of the people are poor—finds fitting expression in the school garden. The work is with real things, which these polyglot children understand far more easily than the printed book. It is through the school garden that these children of many peoples can be most easily transformed into efficient laborers, working harmoniously together for the common welfare. It is through the school garden—one of the last tools that the new education has grasped—that the new generation will assimilate this new civilization and carry it forward.

A school garden may be conducted with one or more of several different purposes in view:

(a.) To teach the child the elementary principles of plant life—elementary botany or nature study. This garden is really a nature study laboratory, and the interest centers, not so much in the kinds or amounts of crops raised, as in how they grow, how they secure light, food, water; their various enemies, and kindred topics. From this standpoint the garden may be made a very valuable adjunct to the nature study of the school, furnishing a wealth of concrete illustrative material, and suggesting many fascinating experiments and discoveries.

(b.) To teach the child how to raise successfully certain kinds of plants adapted to the region. Here the basis is agricultural and economic, instead of scientific and experimental. Its value lies chiefly in its practical results, and the size of the crop becomes an item of importance. There are three possible markets for crops raised in this garden:

1. The school, the crops being used in the cooking department, both for demonstration, and as a part of lunches served to the pupils. This is an excellent arrangement, because it logically and closely correlates the garden and the kitchen, and approximates the conditions of real life. The relation between raising a crop and eating it is simple and direct, appealing to the child, and stimulating interest. This method has been used with considerable success at the Territorial Normal School. The garden products being used by the Domestic Science Department.

2. The home as a market. Here the child either sells the results of his garden labor to his family, or contributes them gratis. In either case the results are good, furnishing a definite link between the school and the home. It develops in the child the desirable ideas of responsibility and pride in one's work that are always concomitant with independent production. The lessons of diligence, carefulness, and regularity are taught without words. The boy who allows his plot to run to weeds has nothing to expect in the way of profitable returns. Nowhere is taught the lesson of negligence and procrastination so vividly as in a garden. A withered plant, dead because the boy forgot to water it, speaks to him more eloquently than any teacher. He learns that real law has no circumlocution.

3. The public market. Here the financial interest is preeminent. The actual returns are reduced to cash. This may sometimes be desirable with gardens operated by the grammar grades; but as a general rule the rela-

A Walk Up Manoa Valley

By Jack Densham.

Instead of going to the league grounds and watching the ball games on Sunday—though far be it from me to detract from the gate receipts—take a friend who can tell you the names of plants and trees, go to the end of the Manoa car line, and then begin to hike.

You very soon forget that you are walking. The mere movement of your legs is forgotten and the brain of your does all the active work in taking in the beauty, the softness, the ruggedness, the incomparable coloring of the views. It is not a case of one view nor of twenty views, but, without exaggeration, a thousand views.

After leaving the car line the road dips down into a rough following of the curve of the westerly hill-side. Down in the hollow it is warm, yea, hot; and the rampant growth of green things and the buzz of insects makes you think of Bad Kissingen in August.

But this does not last long. You soon climb up a short ascent onto the main road (supervisors and the spirit of the mountains preserve us), and then there is a chance to pause and look around. The pause is good for the pores, and no pun intended, and the look around is good for your soul. At this point the hills are just beginning to be awesome. The hollow of the valley's end, where the hillsides close in and dare you to climb them, is green as the vale of Eden and silver streaks of drooping waterfalls challenge the clouds to fade away and let them shimmer in the sunshine.

Looking back the other way, the hills kindly fall away to give old Mother Ocean a chance. And there she is. With a horizon keenly marked to keep the loving skies away from "green girdled" breasts, she lies smiling in the soft glow of tropic sunlight.

And oh, how kindly she is. How she calls to the roving in a man's heart, how she beckons to you to come out and know the joy of the very feel of her waters and how she shows her glistening teeth where the breakers roll over the reef, a lively menace for those who know not her kindness.

It is a great view of the sweet Pacific and all the more charming for the framework of green slopes and blue sky. Standing out in bold relief is the turret of the Moana Hotel, a vivid reminder that man leaves his mark wherever he goes.

Cool Shadows Beyond.
Then you turn your back on Mother Ocean and walk along the road that skirts the westerly hill-side. Ever drawing you on is the shadow of the spirit of coolness. The steep slopes in front of you are green and the halting clouds above vary the shadow by struggling vehemently before they melt before the attacks of old man Sol.

And then you begin to take notice of the plants and trees that live and sigh on every side of you. There is a man walking with you who knows all about plants and insects and he stops you and points out what he calls the "clinging splendor of the virgin leaf." You ask him what a virgin leaf is and he tells you that it is one that has just unfolded and is unscathed by the touch of dust and has not been wilted by the sunshine.

He tries to explain the inner consciousness of the arrangement of the growing things, but this does not bother you very much for you are too much taken up with the changefulness of it all. On the left the hill slopes upward steeply, it is a light green where it leaves the road and grows darker and darker as it nears the summit where a fringe of shadow trees outline the sierra of the hill-tops. To the right the ground drops away to where the waterfalls have fed a laughing stream and the foliage here is rank and very variegated. Occasionally you pass small plantations of vegetables and sometimes of flowers. Then you stop and look and wish that they could be taken up bodily and put down in the middle of Honolulu.

Valley's End the Best.
But the best of all is when you begin to reach the end of the valley and the road winds in and out so that you cross the stream, that gurgles at the bottom of the valley, many times. Here there are some trees growing along the edge of the water and they have a vivid cherry blossom. I don't know what they are and the botanist who helped to admire could only enlighten with long scientific words. A name occurred to me and I put down "Drooping cherry bloom." It does droop. It droops so that the color falls onto the rocks that line the stream and impossible splashes of color stand out boldly against the dull grey of the rocks and the quiet brown of the stream.

There is one place where the road crosses the stream, that were Whittie to paint it (and I believe he is one man who has a real grasp of Hawaiian coloring), and send it to the Coast, they would laugh at him. But it is there and there for anybody who has the energy to walk that far to see.

As the road nears the end of the valley, foliage becomes thicker. Chinese small farmers are growing bananas there but the middling green of the large leaves only make an effective background for the riot of other greens that line the banks of the stream.

Above the water's edge all kinds of shy little flowers peep out. There is one that we knew as the scarlet pimpernel at home, there are others that look very much like forget-me-nots and there are others that nobody cares about the names of them because they peep out so shyly and would be insulted if you stopped to put them into a botanical category.

Roast Pig and a Swim.
It would take a long time to search the upper end of the valley for all the delights that are uncovered for the willing tramp, but we were in luck, for a Hawaiian resident of that part of the world hailed us and said that he was just cooking a pig.

The sound of cooked pig was a live one but much better was the secret of a swimming pool that he disclosed. Steep banks slope down to a rectangular turn in the stream where big rocks confine the waters in a long and wide pool. To dive, to swim, to play around like the craziest of water-sprites and then to eat roast pig. To sit in a little cottage with one door opening up the view of the ocean and the window at the back admitting the close touch of the mountains. What more do you want? Then our host harnessed a good horse to a buggy and drove us back to the car-line.

The answer is to take a walk up Manoa valley at the first opportunity, to take a botanical guide along and to have a friend with roast pig ready for you when you get there.

GUARDS AND CAVALRY WIN

In the two games at the league park yesterday afternoon the Fifth Cavalry and N. G. H. both came out ahead very easily. The boys from Leilehua put it over the slabsters from Fort Shafter in the first game by 7 to 2, and the Guards handed it to the Marines by 11 to 1.

There was a large and enthusiastic crowd present, and the two games were thoroughly enjoyed by the rosters. Sergeant Barry's forecast that no Marine would reach second base was not fulfilled, but very nearly so, as the score by which the twice-a-year boys won was large enough to satisfy anybody.

The next game in the Military League will be played on Wednesday at Aala Park, and will be between the Marines and Fort Shafter.

HILO RODS AND GUNS FORM CLUB

A rod and gun club with the very exclusive membership limited to ten members has been formed in Hilo. The object of the club is to have fun fishing and shooting on Saturdays and, perhaps, Sundays.

A very facetious story on the front page of the Hawaii Herald tells much about fish stories, but does not give very much news with regard to the club except to state that the following are members: W. S. Wise, president; Dr. Schoening, vice president; E. E. Richards, secretary; H. Patten, treasurer; and the other members, Dr. Grace, R. J. Lyman, J. D. Easton, E. N. Deyo, R. E. Balding and O. T. Shipman.

KEEP THIS IN MIND.

Bowel complaint is sure to be prevalent during the fruit season. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy gives prompt relief. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.

GILL'S TEAM WINS STEINS

There were big doings at the Country Club links yesterday. One of the prominent golfers of Honolulu stated yesterday that he had never seen such fine weather, the greens in such good condition, nor so many enthusiasts turn out for a tournament.

No fewer than thirty golfers registered their names at 10 o'clock for the team play. Being so many it was decided to divide the entries into five teams of six men each. Number 2 team, captained by T. Gill, won the tournament with a score of 18, Number 4 was second, with 14; Number 3 was third, with 13; Number 1 was fourth, with 10; and Number 5 was fifth, with 7.

The team play was by way of a novelty, and was greatly enjoyed by all the players. Each captain chose his players in turn, and the wisdom of the different choosings was well shown in the results, as the last team was really close up to the first one, taking the individual scores, although, of course, the net results do not show just how close some of the finishes were.

The official results were as follows:

Yachting Notes

C. T. Wilder is another enthusiast who is building his own sea wren. He is having success with his work and will finish the planking before long.

Yachting and fishing took a big revival yesterday. There were more than forty ladies out with the different yachtsmen and fishermen; and they all came back saying that they had had a good time and did not care whether they got sunburned or not.

Captain Miller took a large party out on the Mokoli'i yesterday. The gallant yacht was headed for Pearl Harbor, and those on board had a fine time and all expressed themselves as certain that the big excursion to Pearl Harbor on May 9 would be a great success.

Messrs. Robinson and Harris took a canoe and went fishing off the Moana Hotel yesterday afternoon. They made a good catch and are now inquiring the best antidote for sunburn.

The Kamehameha went out as chaperon to the Charlotte C., George Crozier's new yawl, yesterday afternoon, and the latter showed up even better than on her trial spin. Off Diamond Head the two yachts made a leg to windward together, and there was a very pretty impromptu race that was watched eagerly by a bunch of yachtsmen at Waikiki. The latter trooped up on to the roof of the Moana Hotel and kept their glasses focused on the sloop and the yawl for some time. It was impossible to say who had the better of it, owing to the distance.

Howard Bowen had his new elongated sea wren out again yesterday. The little two-cycle engine worked to perfection and the new craft roused much admiration from those who watched her skim out of the harbor.

The first of the real sea wrens is well near completion in Mr. Bowen's private workshop. At the rate that the work is going on now, all the sea wrens will be ready long before the first races in August.

Something new in the way of a tender has been built by a local yachtsman. It is a ten-foot dory with light planking and is so easily handled that it can be dragged on to the deck of a very small launch.

Captain Neely is getting along well with his sea wren, when he is building himself in spare hours. He has evolved a method of fastening the stern-post to the main keelson that is worth looking into by any of the yachtsmen who are building their own small sailers.

Sterling Bicycles

The "Built Like a Watch" Kind

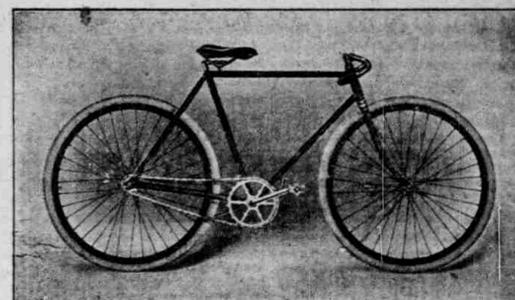

Sterling Bicycles are exceedingly graceful in appearance and substantial in construction. They are made in one of the largest and best equipped factories where for fourteen years the one aim has been to combine style, running and wearing qualities with moderate price. The quality which enters into these bicycles is made possible only by the possession of this long experience, unequalled manufacturing facilities and a great output.

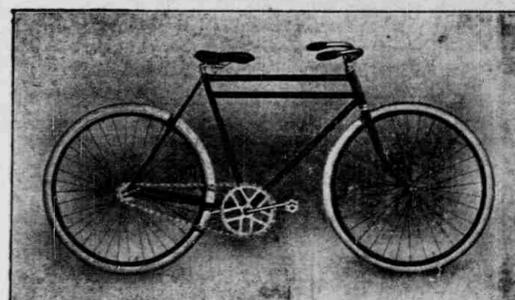

The frame is made of one-inch seamless steel tubing, and a glance will show that the lines are as fine as could be designed.

The enamel and nickel are applied with great care, making a durable as well as attractive finish.

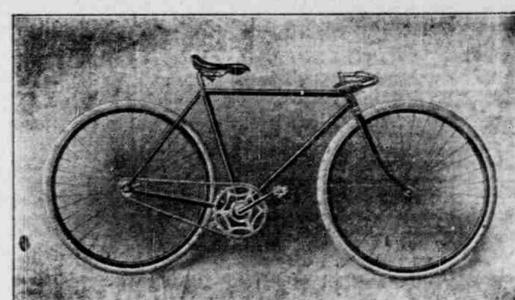

The limited space in this advertisement forbids an extended description of the Sterling Bicycles, but we shall be pleased to furnish any further details on request. We would, however, impress upon the reader that in these bicycles we offer machines that cannot be equalled at the price.

AUTOMOBILE SCORCHERS.

Automobilists in Honolulu are inviting trouble for themselves. There have been a dearth of serious accidents during the past few weeks, but this has been through no fault of many of the drivers of the high powered machines in operation here. Reckless driving is the general rule; careful driving with some show of consideration for the rights of other users of the public roads is the exception. The number of narrow escapes by pedestrians, drivers of horse vehicles and automobile drivers themselves almost every day would fill a newspaper column if chronicled. Automobilists are inviting harsh restrictions upon themselves and they will have only themselves to blame when these restrictions are put into effect and enforced.

The speed with which the machines are driven through the main streets of the city, especially after nightfall, shows recklessness, selfishness and foolishness. Corners are swung around at a speed that courts disaster. Racing on the streets in the suburbs is on the increase. Too many great machines plunge through the streets with irresponsibles guiding them.

Some day, sooner or later, there will be killings. Then the recklessness will have to stop. In the meantime where are the members of the automobile club who agreed to help the authorities enforce the speed limit ordinance? At the present time there would be a great outcry against, and swift punishment for, the one who would strew a street with glass to maim an automobile, but there is nothing, apparently, to prevent the drivers of the machines from endangering the lives of hundreds every day.

KAUAI'S WORKING DELEGATION.

When the results of the present session of the Legislature are summed up after a sufficient period of time elapses after the adjournment, it will be seen how effective a well-balanced and smoothly-working delegation can be. The only island in the group which has a delegation composed throughout of intelligent workers in the present Legislature is the Island of Kauai, and a scanning of the acts signed and the bills passed for signing will show that almost without exception these work out to the benefit of the Garden Island. All the granting of powers to the counties are to the immense benefit of Kauai; the new taxation laws are altogether in her favor; all down the line it can be seen that never once has that tight little island received the worst of it, and in most cases she has a distinct advantage over each of the other islands.

The only delegation to compare with that of Kauai is the delegation sent to the House by the Fourth District, and this delegation has been handicapped by having to drag the incompetents of the Fifth along with it.

The real work of the session just closing has been done by half a dozen in the Senate and not more than a dozen in the House, a minority in both cases. Good legislation, of which there has been a surprising amount considering the personnel of both houses, has been accomplished mainly by stealth. If the majority of those who voted for the different measures could have realized what they really meant, many that are now laws would have been defeated and many of the bills defeated would have required the Governor's veto.

Some day the voters will send a majority of good men to the Legislature, and then work can be done in the open and with a despatch that the present necessity of deviousness prevents. Some day the members who think will be able to stand on the floor of either house and say what they really mean, but that time is not yet.

IMPORTANT, IF TRUE.

Fourteen alleged reversals of Roosevelt policies and methods have been discovered by an alert Washington correspondent, but only one of them seems in the least revolutionary. This is the 14th in the list:

"White House luncheon policy discarded. The President eats only an apple for lunch."

Important, surely, if true. Mr. Roosevelt's invitations to lunch were no insignificant phase of his administration.

As yet there has been no great, glad cry up from the women of Hawaii over Kealawaa's effort to secure the right of suffrage for them. Is the emancipator of the sex to be allowed to depart for his Puna home this week without some public recognition of the attempt he has made to bring politics into the home and give man and wife something to talk about? The women should remember that it is not many Legislatures which have at any time members like Kealawaa. Should any suffragette delegation decide to hold up his arms, however, they should go provided with an interpreter. Kealawaa does not understand English very well and he might mistake the object of the visit.

Congressman Fitzgerald, of New York, who made many friends here when visiting the Islands two years ago as a member of the Congressional party, has had a falling out with his chief, William Jennings Bryan. Fitzgerald's ideas have not coincided with those of Bryan in one or two important instances, leading the defeated presidential candidate to invite him to step aside and allow Democracy to progress. "If you were a true Democrat you would get out of the way," says Bryan, in effect. "If I had been beaten three times I would not have to be asked," is the New Yorker's retort.

Alexander Hume Ford informs this paper that he "may run around the Pacific this summer and close up the Abstralian-Hawaiian combination, bringing Java and the Philippines in line, and maybe Japan also, on account of the proposed regular round-Pacific cruises." While he does not say so, it is not unlikely that Mr. Ford will find time also to fasten back the Open Door in Manchuria, settle the trouble in Korea and clear the Bering Strait of ice, in his odd moments.

Editor Bok, of the Ladies' Home Journal, who ought to be the one man who knows what he is talking about on the subject, states that the great demand for "rats" and such other contrivances that are helping to multiply "woman's crowning glory" these days, is having one sickening result. The demand for false hair has grown so great that it cannot be properly cleaned before being made up into rats, curls, fronts and waves, or whatever they are called. The consequence is an increased demand for fine combs. Ugh!

It was a blow to Hilo when this paper published the views of a tourist to the effect that that city had not the proper hotel accommodations to attract or hold tourists. Hiloites awoke from the first stunning effects to protest vigorously at the "knocking." Afterwards they began to think. Now they are planning to have one and probably two modern hotels. It took a hard jolt to open the eyes of the citizens of our neighbor city, but once awake they are proving to be very much so.

The New York Herald, referring to the welcome resolution passed in the House to Admiral Ijichi, states that the one who drafted it stood up so straight that he leaned backwards and administered a needless snub to another friendly power.

Europeans will be wondering where all those great battleships of the United States can be that Uncle Sam has to depend upon Great Britain to look after her interests and her citizens during the present parlous times in Turkey and Asia Minor.

A New Jerseyman announces that he has discovered a powder one ounce of which is warranted to kill one thousand mosquitoes. The question is: How can a mosquito be induced to substitute the powder for his natural human food?

If the Sultan was greeted on the streets of his capital with "adoration" the Constitutional forces may be wise in making haste slowly in that direction. Perhaps the old autocrat may have a fighting chance yet.

It had been hoped that Mr. Roosevelt would at least get far enough away from a telegraph wire to prevent the reports of his daily bags being sent out, but we are destined to hear his every rifle shot, evidently.

Roosevelt has got two gun. This will give the Democratic funny men a chance to say that he long ago got too fresh.

HAWAII ISLAND NOTES.

B. H. Kelekollo is editing Ka Hoku during the absence of Rev. S. L. De-sha in Honolulu.

Clay M. Hudson, formerly with the Hilo Mercantile Company, intends to go to Singapore or Peru. He is interested in some rubber concerns.

Ernest Austin will make a trip round the Horn on the ship John Ena to Delaware Breakwater, then probably to the Orient, and back to these Islands in about a year's time.

Jack Easton says that neither Wright, McKay nor Ross of the Citizens Committee knows what he is talking about when discussing bad roads. Easton says there are no bad roads; in fact, there are no roads at all.

W. G. Walker of Ooakala came up by the Mauna Kea on her last trip, landing at Laupahoehoe, to complete harvesting the present crop, after which the property will be turned over to Theo. H. Davies & Co. He was accompanied by H. W. Mist.

There is a pipe traveling round the world on a railway mail service pass. It reached Hilo last week and on the tag is written: "If you don't stop me, I'll get there. Am broke, but not looking for a cent. I'm not blind nor crippled. Hit me and pass me on." When the pipe arrived here the tag had twenty-seven railway postoffice stamps on it, got another one and was dropped into a pouch for Honolulu.

Bishop Libert confirmed three hundred people at the Catholic church on Sunday, April 18, but there were more applicants who were confirmed last Wednesday. On Tuesday the Bishop conducted a confirmation service in Puna, also visiting the churches in that district. He leaves for Honolulu next week on the Mauna Kea, but expects to return to Hilo early in June, when he will go round the island. Bishop Libert had not been on Hawaii for three years until the occasion of his present visit.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

Said the editor to the new reporter: "You must learn never to state a thing as a fact until it has been proved a fact. You are apt to get us into libel suits. Do not say, 'The cashier stole the funds'; say, 'The cashier who is alleged to have stolen the funds.' That's all. Oh, get something about that First Ward social tonight." And this is the report turned in by the young man who heeded the editor's warning:

"It is rumored that a card party was given last evening to a number of reputed ladies of the First Ward. Mrs. Smith, gossip says, was the hostess, and the festivities are reported to have continued until 11:30 in the evening. The alleged hostess is believed to be the wife of John Smith, the so-called high-priced grocer."

Of curious prayers a writer says: "I have heard a layman utter this petition during his prayer: 'O Lord, be Thou with us in our upstings and our downstings—a variant of the text in the Psalms, 'Thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising.' A minister occasionally introduced a Latin sentence into his prayer, and forthwith proceeded to translate it. Another minister in his early days experienced considerable difficulty with the long prayer before the sermon. In nonconformist churches this usually occupies a quarter of an hour, but long before this period had been reached he was wound up. On one occasion, while in this dilemma, he startled his hearers with the words, 'And now, O Lord, I will relate unto The a little anecdote!'"

Very Few People Obtain Comfort

By using the ordinary spherical lenses; but when only such are required they should be of the highest grade—perfectly centered.

The kind that are sold in "bulk" are always the discarded seconds and thirds, and cost almost nothing. They magnify of course, and some very strong eyes, whose vision has become impaired through age alone, derive some benefit; but oh, the difference when a pair of perfectly central lenses of the same strength are used. It is always better to have your eyes examined by a specialist in whom you have confidence. Our well conducted optical department offers you the services of such a one.

The United States lighthouse tender Kukui, Captain Johnson, returned to port late yesterday afternoon after a very busy week along the Maui and Molokai coasts, where Lieutenant Houston, U. S. N., in charge of the lighthouse service here, and Mr. Smith of the U. S. Engineer's office made inspections of sites for lighthouses.

After leaving Honolulu the Kukui went direct to Kaunakakai, Molokai, where the four buoys were replaced by new ones, and then swung over opposite Kamalo, where the buoy on the reef was also replaced. An anchorage buoy at Mahina was also taken up and a new one anchored.

The Kukui then proceeded to the diminutive island of Molokini, where Lieutenant Houston and Mr. Smith inspected the lay of the islet for a proposed lighthouse to be established thereon. The vessel proceeded to Maikena Bay and laid over for the night, going thence to Kamahua, where supplies were landed for the lighthouse, and then to Hana Bay, where the Kauiki Head light is located. At Kahulu the position of two long reefs was located for two new buoys which have been spoken of for some time.

From Kahulu the vessel went to a light near Nakalele, where another lighthouse site was inspected. On Saturday morning at 7 o'clock the Kukui went to Kalaupapa, Molokai, where the new light nearby was looked over.

The new boom on the forward deck, which replaced the powerful but unwieldy crane, was tried out in replacing and removing buoys and was found very satisfactory in every respect. The new whaleboat, built here especially for the Kukui, similar to the boats in use on island steamers, was found to be just right.

Fooding Suez Off for Far New York.

The bark Fooding Suez left Kahulu at 12 noon Saturday for New York, with a full load of sugar, word of her departure being brought here by the Kukui. The Claudine towed the vessel out to the open sea. Captain Willitt received a load of sailors early during the forenoon and immediately prepared to get away. Once Commanded the White Star S. S. Belgic.

NEW YORK.—Capt. John G. Cameron, Lieutenant R. N. R., retired commodore of the White Star line, died recently in Southampton, England, where for the last two years, until with a month, he had acted as shore captain and superintendent.

Mr. John Lee, vice president of the International Mercantile Marine Company, and for many years an intimate friend of Captain Cameron, was told of the death by cable and at once informed the Herald.

Captain Cameron's last charge was the Oceanic, which he brought out in 1899, as the crack steamship of the Atlantic, and two years ago when the White Star line began to send its fast ships from Southampton instead of Liverpool, Captain Cameron, the commodore of the fleet, was appointed shore superintendent. His health failing him, he resigned a month ago.

Captain Cameron was in the service of the White Star line for thirty-eight years, and has in turn commanded the Germanic, the old Adriatic, the Ionic, the Belgic, the Teutonic and the Oceanic. The Ionic and the Belgic were in the service of the White Star to New Zealand and Australia, and it was in Auckland that he met his wife, a handsome and wealthy woman. There are two children, Eric, twenty years old, and Hilda, eighteen years old.

As Captain Cameron was in command of all of the best ships of the White Star line up to the time of his shore duty in Southampton, he has to his record several of the fastest passages of British steamships. He received several medals for heroism at sea, and in 1895 rescued the crew of the Josie Reeves, an American schooner, for which he received a gold medal from the President of the United States.

ALEXIS Typewriter Paper has qualities which distinguish it from the other makes. Toughness and elasticity, for instance, which eliminate any tendency to crack, a defect in most of the typewriter paper sold. Alexis has everything in its favor that a typist demands, not a feature that does not tend to make it superior to other grades.

It is the embodiment of all that is good in paper; the apotheosis and a tangible proof of the claims made by The Mittineague Paper Co. for "Strathmore" quality. SOLD BY Hawaiian Gazette Company, Ltd. PHONE 88

To Restore Quiltrough. WASHINGTON, D. C.—Friends of Captain Quiltrough, who was found guilty of charges at Gibraltar and relieved of his command of the battleship Georgia just prior to the departure of the Atlantic battleship fleet on the last leg of the world cruise, have announced their intention of appealing to President Taft to restore Captain Quiltrough to his former place on the list. The sentence of the court-martial was suspension for six months and the loss of ten numbers. Friends of Captain Quiltrough in Rochester, N. Y., his home town, are especially active in his behalf.

AMUSEMENTS

Ellefelds Third Week.

The Ellefelds have something new and original to offer to the theatergoers of the Orpheum tonight in the powerful Western story, "The Girl From the West." It is different from most of the frontier dramas of the day, as it has no murders, no bar-room fights, and nothing that might be called exaggeration of mining life, but is just a plain story of a woman who is wronged, whose friends of the little frontier camp take up her burdens and see that she has justice. The play was presented at the Madison Square Theater, New York, two years ago and was one of the biggest hits of that famous playhouse. It was taken on the road and proved that it could please the West as well as the East, and the Western theatergoer would be more apt to pick flaws in its construction, as they know in the West how the Western people would act. There is an abundance of crisp characterizations, and all of the fun-makers of the Ellefeld organization will be provided with pleasing parts in which they will have a chance to produce many hearty laughs. In a word, "The Girl From the West" characters are men and women, its long suit is emotion, and it is the exquisite simplicity of the natural that makes it please. The play is cast with the full strength of the company, and if you like a clean, legitimate play which will make you tingle with the thrills of emotion, and laugh with enthusiasm at the humor of its situations, see "The Girl From the West." The popular Osborn children will have an entire new specialty to delight their many friends. Seats are now on sale at the box-office for all performances of the week.

More "Fun on the Bristol"

The Pollards will repeat "Fun on the Bristol" tonight. This comical piece made a great hit on Saturday night, and was pronounced as the best thing the young actors have done here so far. The feature of the comedy, musical farce, or whatever one may call a clever vehicle for vaudeville, is Alfred Goulding's role as the Widow O'Brien. In this part Goulding is simply great. His slim figure is well adapted to female impersonation, and his Irish brogue is as rich and true as though it had just been imported from the old country. There are a dozen or more pretty songs in the piece and as many clever dances. There are many screamingly funny situations, and each of the young people has a part that fits exactly.

Art Theater.

There will be a distinct change in the program at the Art Theater this evening and there will be pictures that will startle the audience. Manager Lawson has secured some of the best pictures that have ever been shown on the Coast, and they will be seen here this afternoon for the first time. Last week's success is worthy a repeat, but in accordance with the custom of the Art, there will be no repetitions unless there is a general demand on the part of the patrons of the house. The fact that the attendance at the Art has not diminished during the season of the attractions at the other theaters speaks well for the pictures shown.

The Park Theater.

There will be moonlight this week and the attendance at the Park Theater should be large, inasmuch as the program is especially selected with a view to pleasing a critical audience. The warm nights are coming and an amusement garden where one may smoke with comfort while being entertained and instructed at the same time is appreciated by the average man. The Park is at all times comfortable, the pictures are good and the management takes care that ladies and children shall have the best there is in the way of seats. The attraction on this evening will be the "Base Ball Fan," illustrating the great ball game between the New York White Sox and the Chicago White Sox. Lovers of the game in Honolulu will have an opportunity to see how they do things in the great National League games.

A Great Musical Quartet.

Will Adams has one of the greatest musical attractions that ever came to Honolulu scheduled for the near future. Under the management of Charlie Gibbons, the veteran concert manager, a quartet of famous artists will appear at the Opera House some time next month. They are Herbert Withers, the great English cellist; Luisa Sabrino, a prima donna who has held a foremost place at Covent Garden as a soprano; Charles Bennett, a baritone of world-wide fame, and Marguerite Elzy, a pianist who has made a name as one of the greatest English concert pianists. Mr. Adams cannot say at present just when they will be here but expects to hear today on the mail arriving from the Orient. This quartet is making a tour of the world and is at present in Manila. From there they will probably go to Hongkong and will come directly to Honolulu on their way to the States.

An exchange has this to say about Herbert Withers:

Herbert Withers, the great English cellist, who is now touring round the world and will visit Honolulu, produced on the eve of his departure from London (at Queen Hall), a new and much praised violin concerto by Percy Miles, which is dedicated to the distinguished cellist himself. On the same occasion he achieved a notable triumph with the Tchaikowsky Variations.

Emma Square Concert.

The Hawaiian band will play this evening at Emma Square at 7:30, the program to be as follows:
PART I.
March—Soldiers in the Bushes..... Emmanuel
Overture—Road to Glory.....Kling
Pilgrims' Chorus and Evening Star..... Wagner
Selection—Lombardian..... Verdi
PART II.
Vocal—Hawaiian Songs...Ar. by Berger
Selection—The Merry Widow...Lehar
Gloria—Twelfth Mass.....Mozart
Waltz—Artist Life.....Strauss
The Star Spangled Banner.

When Her Back Aches

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.
Honolulu women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Honolulu woman's words:
Mrs. Emma Vieira, of King street, Honolulu, Hawaii, says: "For three or four years my back ached terribly, in fact so bad that I could not describe the misery I endured. I finally received relief through the use of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, procured at the Hollister Drug Co. I heartily recommend this remedy to anyone having backache or other kidney disorders."
Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and storekeepers at fifty cents per box (six boxes $2.50) or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.
Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

SATURDAY BOOZE AND ACCIDENTS

Booze was the basis for a series of accidents and one attempt at suicide on Saturday, the police reports on file at the station setting forth in each case that the victims had sponged up intoxicants of various brands.

First of all, Kealiipua, a Hawaiian, attempted to take his life at his home on Parker lane, off Liliha street, by the hara-kiri route, although he was not impelled to this old method by any such sentiment which guides a Japanese to perform the same deed. Kealiipua used an ordinary kitchen knife and with this attempted to disembowel himself, succeeding only in making some deep gashes in his stomach. He was intoxicated at the time. Inmates of the house found the wounded man and notifying the police, Kealiipua was soon in the Queen's Hospital. While he has inflicted some severe wounds in his abdomen, and is in a serious condition, it is expected that he will pull through.

Kealiipua has been sick for some time, was worried about his condition, and decided to rid the world and relatives of what he considered a burden.

Lui, a Hawaiian, while under the influence of liquor, visited his friend Philip at On Yen's house on South street in Kakaako. During the evening Lui was holding forth on the political situation and leaned against the veranda. While rounding off a rhetorical gem he toppled over, and to the horror of his audience went over the railing to the ground and landed on his head and shoulders, the fall being about ten feet. He was picked up unconscious and was conveyed to the Queen's Hospital in that condition. He was reported yesterday afternoon to be coming around nicely.

Mrs. On Yen told the police that Lui's reasons for calling at the place was particularly to get booze, if any was on tap.

Then about 8:30 o'clock in the evening Frank Welch who was reported to the police to have been somewhat "under the influence" boarded car 13 of the Rapid Transit Company, and as it rounded the curve at the corner of Beretania and Nuuanu streets, fell off and struck upon his side, shaking him up considerably. According to the police reports he was taken to the Queen's Hospital but inquiry at the hospital reveals no such case on their records.

The band returns to Schofield Barracks, Leilehua, on Wednesday morning.

BASEBALL BOOM STARTS AT HILO

The opening of the baseball season in Hilo was a great event. This took place on Sunday, April 18, and more than a thousand people crowded into Moohau Park to witness the game between the Hilo and Moohau nines. The former won by a score of 8 to 2.

After the principal event, the Young Hilos played the Stars and won out by a score of 7 to 4. In neither game did the winning team have to come up for the ninth inning.

Baseball is evidently going to have a great season on Hawaii this year. Accounts in the Hilo papers state that everybody is very much enthused and that there is a better class of ball being played than ever before.

In the lineup of the Moohau are noticed some of our good friends that came over here under the chaperonage of George Jakins last fall. There is Will Desha's young brother at first base, Teves at second base, and everybody will remember the splendid game that Sheldon put up at shortstop. Other names that the fans will recognize are Morehead, out in center field, and Frank Dias, who caught a bunch of long flies when he was here, at right field.

It is intimated in the Hilo papers that a movement has been started to have a representative team visit this island during the coming season, and it is hoped that this will come off. The last trip of the Moohau was not a financial success owing to its coming at the end of the season and the team not making a very good showing. But, with the revival of practise and good baseball on Hawaii, there is no reason why they should not send a team over in mid-season to win many games and pay all expenses at the gate.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING CELEBRATED ON MAUI

WAILUKU, Maui, April 24.—On Thursday morning last a very pretty wedding took place at the Church of the Good Shepherd. The bride, Miss Hassell, head nurse of Pala Hospital, looked very charming in cream voile over satin. The bridesmaid wore pink.

The groom, Mr. W. A. Foster of the Maui Agricultural Company, was supported by Mr. Collins.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the bride entered the church to the strain of the Wedding March, which was beautifully played by Mrs. Harry Baldwin. After the solemn yet beautiful service was over, the wedding party proceeded to the Rectory, where refreshments were served and the happy couple received many and heartfelt congratulations. About 11 o'clock the groom and bride started for Olinda, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. S. Williams, Mrs. F. A. Alexander, Mrs. Loveland, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Lindsay, Miss Lindsay, Mr. Lowthian Williams, Dr. and Mrs. McConkey and Miss Johnson.

POLICE RAIDED HIRANO HOTEL AT LATE HOUR

There was consternation shortly after midnight yesterday morning at the Hirano Hotel when Chief of Detectives Leal and posse surrounded the place and routed out all the inmates, and packed some of them off to the police station. The Hirano Hotel, which is located on Kukui street near Nuuanu, has become notorious of late as a resort for men and questionable women.

The chief decided that as so many of the frequenters of the place, especially the women, were of loose character they should receive an official visit from him, so that he might find them under circumstances which would keep them on his list of "characters." A few men got away but some of the women were taken to the station, also a couple of men as witnesses. The women were Mary Vincent and Mary Bartels. Doors were broken in and the evidence which the police desired was forthcoming.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR VISITING JOURNALISTS

Arrangements are being made for the reception and entertainment of the Colonial journalists, to arrive in Honolulu this week on the Canadian-bound liner Marama. These newspaper men, who include among their number some of the leaders of Australian journalism, are on their way to the All Red Press Conference, to be held in London. They are to be entertained by the city officials of Vancouver, Winnipeg and Montreal, on their way across Canada.

Here they will be met by a committee made up from the editorial staffs of the three English daily newspapers, named by the Chamber of Commerce, and will be taken about the city and neighboring country in automobiles. They will also be entertained at dinner. It had been the hope of the committee that these visiting journalists might be here in time to be included among the guests of the Commercial Club at the luncheon to be given in honor of the Honorable C. W. Fairbanks. No better welcome could be given these visitors to their first stopping point on American soil than one from Mr. Fairbanks.

The members of the local press committee—Messrs. Farrington, Henshall, Matheson and Cooper—will meet this afternoon at the Commercial Club to arrange the itinerary of the automobile trip and other details.

VIGOROUS OLD AGE

Even ruddy-cheeked youth is not more beautiful than the mature vigor of healthy old age. This, however, is not seen so often as it should be, partly because many persons mistakenly suppose that weakness and ill-health are inseparable from ripe maturity of years.

Yet in the majority of cases enfeebled old persons require nothing but the simple, natural treatment afforded by which acts by increasing the appetite, aiding digestion and putting more iron into the blood. It has neither the taste nor smell of cod liver oil, but is as pleasant to the taste as a superior table wine. It is as valuable to old persons as to young ones and many of its most remarkable effects have been achieved with the aged. Get it at your chemist's and be sure you get STEARNS'—the genuine.

LETTERS FROM THE PUBLIC

Editor Advertiser: It might be of interest to coffee growers in the Islands, if not all your readers, to know how the government of Java "ages" its "Old Government Java," and thus secures the very high price that it brings in the markets of the world. The enclosed letter is written by the American Consular Agent at Padang, Sumatra, to the U. S. Consul at Batavia, Java, the information being furnished at my request. Padang is the center of a rich coffee district, and produces some of the very finest coffee in the world, and improved greatly by "aging" it before it is placed on the market. Samples I have from New York are quoted by importers at from twenty-two to thirty cents per pound. Up to a short time ago, the Java government "monopolized" the coffee trade of the Islands, storing it to age, and then shipping by slow sail to the markets. The crop of the Islands is small compared to that of Brazil or even the smaller countries of Central and South America, hence it was an easy matter for the Java government to "monopolize" it. Would it not pay our government to do likewise? Our Hawaiian coffee is put on the market as soon as sacked, and as to getting a good cup of Kona coffee, it is impossible outside of Honolulu, where some of our dealers age it a few years before roasting and grinding. If aged a couple years, our Hawaiian coffee would bring fifty per cent. more in the markets of the States. The writer has a letter from a prominent California house saying that he could dispose of our whole crop "at almost his own figures" if it were aged from two to three years, like that he uses on his own table. (He keeps a few bags of Kona to "age" for his own use). Since the enclosed letter was written, the writer here has received a small quantity (fifty pounds) of the seeds from the agent at Padang, of the very best tribute to coffee growers in the Islands, who may desire to improve their output in quality. This coffee is some larger than the Kona coffee. The following is the letter referred to:

"American Consular Service,
Padang, July 25, 1908.
"Honorable B. S. Baird, American Consul, Batavia.
"Sir: I have the honor to report on Padang government coffees as follows:
"The government used to sell the coffees in four public auctions a year, one auction every three months. The government coffee monopoly having been abolished on March 1, 1908, the whole government stock of coffees has been sold by public sales on the 6th of June, 1908. As the government does not buy any more coffees, the sales on the 6th of June has been the last one. It might happen that a few small lots are still in stock. Probably the government will dispose of any trifling remainders by a local sale, to close them out.
"The coffees bought at these government sales are payable sixty days after date of sale; but if the buyer wishes to receive the coffee earlier he can get delivery against cash. After this period of sixty days (after sale), the buyers are not forced to take delivery, but they can leave the coffees in the government god-downs as long as there is room. This storage, however, is at buyers' risk, the government charging two cents Dutch a week for every picul (61.76 kilos, about 130 pounds). The buyers as a rule leave the coffee for six months in the government stores, where it is stored with great care and whereby they mature (age) and get a good brown color. The brownest coffees bring the best prices in America. Therefore the coffees are sometimes stored longer than a year. The shipments to America are always made by wooden sailing vessels, and it is stipulated in the charter papers that the 'hatches must be kept closed during the voyage.' The voyage of such a vessel via the Cape of Good Hope takes four months, and during this time a fermentation process is going on in the coffee in the hold of the vessel. A very high temperature is developed in the coffee, and when the vessel's hatches are opened in New York harbor, after such a long voyage, clouds of steam are coming forth from the vessel's hold. This fermentation greatly improves the flavor and drinking quality of the coffee, and the coffee obtains a fine brown color, the beans swelling and growing larger at the same time. The government tried five years ago to obtain better prices by keeping back some 3000 piculs from the larger sales and selling such six months later, but the older coffees did not fetch much better prices. This is now a matter of the past, because, as stated above, no more government sales will be held.
"The coffees are now bought by the Padang merchants direct from the natives, and the quality remains the same, as it is to the interest of the exporters to keep up the old standard and the good name of the Padang coffees. I am, sir, your obedient servant,
SCHILD,
"American Consular Agent."
J. M. McCHESNEY.

Another Operation Avoided.
Chicago, Ill.—"I want women to know what that wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has done for me. Two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation, and I never thought of seeing a well day again. I had a small tumor and female troubles so that I suffered day and night. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it made me a well woman."—Mrs. ALVENA SPERLING, 11 Langdon St., Chicago, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

HOW SUGAR TRUST MEN BEAT THE UNITED STATES

Used a Little Steel Spring to Fool the Detectives
Who Stood By---Scales Were Tampered
With---Details of a Clever Scheme.

NEW YORK, April 3.—In assessing a charge of $1,239,000 on the American Sugar Refining Company for duties out of which, it is alleged, the government was defrauded in the six years preceding November, 1907, William Loeb Jr., the new collector of customs at the port of New York, not only started out on his new job in a strenuous fashion worthy of his former chief, but proved that political considerations will not have great weight with him when it comes to the question of getting what rightfully belongs to Uncle Sam under the tariff laws.

It has fallen out that the entire work of exposing the clever trick whereby the sugar trust swindled the United States—and incidentally the people from whom it bought its sugar—for many years, has been done by two former private secretaries of Theodore Roosevelt. William J. Youngs, United States attorney for the Eastern district of New York, with headquarters in Brooklyn, is the man who directed and carried to a successful conclusion the criminal prosecution of the sugar trust's employees who were guilty of tampering with the scales on which the weight of the sugar for the payment of duty was determined, and thus laid the foundation for the suit in which the government has just been awarded $134,000 against the trust. Mr. Youngs was Col. Roosevelt's private secretary when the latter was governor of New York.

On the strength of the information developed by Mr. Youngs, Mr. Loeb, who was Mr. Youngs' subordinate in the executive office at Albany, and afterwards became secretary to President Roosevelt, now calls on the sugar trust to pay more than a million and a quarter dollars to the government, as settlement for duties which it withheld through fraud. The only reason he does not ask for nearly three times as much is the fact that the statute of limitations bars him from going back farther than six years prior to the discovery of the fraud. Testimony given in the trials of the actual culprits in Brooklyn indicated that the frauds had been going on for more than twelve years.

These frauds, on which the present claims are based, relate entirely to the falsification of weights. There are other charges, relating to fraud in the polariscope tests of sugar as to its quality, which have not yet been fully developed. They come under a different branch of the service—that of the appraisers of merchandise, who determine the quality of imported goods, while the weight or volume of imports is determined by the surveyor of the port. The complicated sugar tariff is calculated on both weight and quality, the tariff ranging from half a cent a pound for the lower grades to nearly two cents a pound for the best grades. On high-grade sugar, therefore, every ton would have to pay the government nearly $40 in duty on a large cargo, the saving on a small percentage would be a big item to the trust. Just how this worked out can best be told by relating the story of the discovery of the weighing frauds on the Havemeyer & Elder docks at Brooklyn.

Early in November, 1907, a man who had been discharged from the Havemeyer & Elder refinery, owned by the trust, called at the office of the surveyor of the port and declared that a systematic scheme for cheating the government on sugar weights had been going on at the refinery docks for years. His story was received with incredulity, but he was turned over to Capt. William Cross, chief special agent of the Treasury department, with instructions to investigate. The story the man told to Capt. Cross was so circumstantial in every detail that it was decided to look into it.

Perhaps nobody connected with the refinery noticed the next time a cargo of sugar arrived that there were more than the usual number of customs inspectors on the dock. It was a big ship from Java, with seven thousand tons—fourteen million pounds—of the finest grade of raw sugar in her cargo. Along the dock between the point where cargo is discharged and the refinery, are the six scale booths. Before the cargo is hoisted, every scale booth contains a deputy surveyor of customs. In front of him is the beam of the platform scale, the platform itself being outside on the dock, where he can see it through a little window. Then the longshoremen begin to wheel the sugar to the warehouse, stopping each at one of the scales, where the weight of the bag of sugar on his truck is noted by the surveyor in a book kept for the purpose, and so on, until the cargo is unloaded. On these weights the duty on the sugar, after its quality has been determined by the polariscope test, is calculated and collected from the company. On these weights, too, the payment for the sugar is made by the company to the consigners.

Sitting at the left elbow of the surveyor in each booth is a man employed by the refinery, whose ostensible duty is to check off the weights and enter them in a book for the protection of the company's interests. In charge of the work of unloading and weighing is the company's dock superintendent, while a customs inspector is on hand to keep an eye on the whole proceeding.

That was the stage setting Captain Cross and his deputies found at the Havemeyer dock that November morning. Placing a man carefully near the door of each of the scale booths, Capt. Cross himself kept close to the side of the dock superintendent. He waited until there was a truck on every one of the six scale platforms. Then he blew a whistle, and at the signal one of his deputies rushed into each booth and seized the company's employe who was checking up the weights.

"What does this mean?" demanded the dock superintendent.

"It means," said Capt. Cross, emerging from the nearest booth with a short piece of spring steel wire in his hand, "that you and these men are under arrest on the charge of defrauding the United States. Come along."

What the deputies had found as they rushed into the booths was so simple and yet so effective that, had it not been for the "peaching" of a disgruntled employe, the fraud might have gone on for years. In the back of the upright post of each scale had been bored a tiny hole, so small that it could hardly be felt with the finger and was absolutely invisible to the naked eye in the dusk of the gloomy corner of the booth. Without shifting his position or moving his left hand more than three inches, the sugar company's employe was able to insert in this hole the tiny piece of spring steel wire. After the sugar had been weighed and dumped off the longshoreman's truck, the empty truck was wheeled back to the platform and the official weigher, sliding his weights back to zero, weighed the truck and deducted its tare from the total weight of the load.

Just at the moment when the weigher was busy seeing that the truck was on the platform and getting his weights adjusted, the sugar company's man would shove the little wire firmly into the hole. It put enough pressure on a certain part of the inner mechanism of the scale to make a difference of about fifteen per cent. in the weight of the truck—that is, a truck that actually weighed 200 pounds would appear to weigh 230 pounds, and that amount would be deducted by the weigher from the gross weight of the load of sugar. As each truck carried on an average 400 pounds of sugar as a load, the net loss to the government was about seven per cent.

All these things were proved by tests made on the spot by Capt. Cross and his men. On the cargo then being unloaded, the duty of nearly $280,000 would have been reduced by about $19,600 had the scheme been carried out as it had been in the past. Capt. Cross turned his prisoners and his evidence over to United States Attorney Youngs, who succeeded in placing most of the prisoners behind bars for long terms, and laid the foundation for the civil suit that resulted in the recovery of $140,000 and the assessment by Collector Loeb of $1,239,000 more, on the basis of the total imports of sugar at the port of New York during the six preceding years.

THE SICKLY SEASON IN BURMA.

One of the most effective remedies known for diarrhoea and bowel complaint is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and every home should be supplied with it during the warm weather. Mr. H. J. D. Wilkinson, proprietor of the Upper Burma Gazette, Mandalay, says: "Ever since I first tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a supply of it has always been in my house and is always in demand during the sickly season." This medicine is for sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.

THE TRUTH ALWAYS.

"When you are in doubt tell the truth." It was an experienced old diplomat who said this to a beginner in the work. It may pass in some things, but not in business. Fraud and deception are often profitable so long as concealed; yet detection is certain sooner or later; then comes the smash-up and the punishment. The best and safest way is to tell the truth all the time. Thus you make friends that stick by you, and a reputation that is always worth twenty shillings to the pound everywhere your goods are offered for sale. We are able modestly to affirm, that it is on this basis that the world-wide popularity of rests. The people have discovered that this medicine is exactly what it is said to be, and that it does what we have always declared it will do. Its nature also has been frankly made known. It is palatable as honey and contains all the curative properties of pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. A combination of supreme excellence and medicinal merit. Nothing has been so successful in Anemia, Scrofula, Bronchitis, Influenza, Loss of Flesh, Wasting Diseases, and Coughs and Colds. Dr. Austin D. Irvine, of Canada, says: "I have used it in cases where cod liver oil was indicated but could not be taken by the patient, and the results following were very gratifying." It cannot deceive or disappoint you. It is effective from the first dose and comes to the rescue of those who have received no benefit from any other treatment. It represents the dawn of progress. Sold by all chemists everywhere.

Army and Navy News

Will Loop the Loop.

The dashing young lieutenant, Chester A. Loop, of the 25th Company, Coast Artillery, U. S. A., has been ordered to Fort Worden, Wash. This will, in a measure, relieve the immediate vicinity from any close connection with this young officer's further escapades.

Loop has a habit of forgetting that he has any obligations in Army life and has given his commanding officers no end of trouble. His affairs have been "whitewashed" several times. His last offense, absenting himself from Fort Miley without leave, was so openly flagrant that he was called before a court-martial at the Presidio and sentenced to three months' confinement within the precincts of that post.

This sentence went into effect March 17. That he was not dismissed from the Army entirely is reported to be due to the fact that his father has a "big pull" in Washington, D. C. Fort Worden, Wash., is considered one of the most undesirable posts in the country.

Assistant Quartermaster.

VALLEJO, April 13.—Captain Walter E. Noa, assistant quartermaster, Marine Corps, reported for duty today at the marine barracks, Mare Island, as quartermaster, relieving Captain Edward Mainwaring, who has been temporarily performing the duties. The assignment is the result of a recent decision of the Navy Department to assign officers on the general quartermaster's staff to the marine barracks owing to the increase in business. This is the first instance of an assistant quartermaster being assigned to Mare Island.

Pay Tag Across Ocean.

April, 1907.—Ensign Walter Jacobs, attached to the U. S. S. Chattanooga, while in Manila forms the acquaintance of Miss Winnie Dunlap, sister-in-law of the prosecuting attorney of Manila. They become engaged to be married.

May, 1907.—Uncle Sam detaches Jacobs from the Chattanooga and sends him on a trip around the world. Miss Dunlap laments her betrothed's departure and decides to follow him. June, 1907.—Miss Dunlap sails for New York, hoping to greet Jacobs there, but Uncle Sam's fine hand is in evidence again and Jacobs is sent on another chase back to Manila. Miss Dunlap follows.

June, 1907, to April, 1909.—The merry game of tag between the two lovers continues. Neither catches a glimpse of the other and both travel around the world, Jacobs on the battleship Illinois on the famous round-the-world cruise and Miss Dunlap on the first steamer following the fleet. April, 1909.—Ensign Jacobs secures a furlough, and while Uncle Sam is unable to intervene the young couple arrange to be married in this city. Jacobs arrived from the East yesterday and is at the Fairmont. Miss Dunlap will arrive here on the transport Sheridan, accompanied by her matron of honor, Mrs. Joseph E. Evans, wife of Ensign Evans. The wedding will be solemnized in a few days—perhaps.—Chronicle.

Ensign Jacobs passed through this city on the Sheridan a few weeks ago.

Massachusetts in Line.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Thoroughly overhauled, so that she appears like a new vessel, the old battleship Massachusetts will steam from the Brooklyn Navy Yard on Thursday, after being out of commission for more than two years. While no officers have been assigned to the Massachusetts it is announced that the crew of the battleship Alabama will man her, and that the Alabama, which has been in reserve, will be placed out of commission.

The Massachusetts is a sister ship to the Indiana and the Oregon, and was built at Philadelphia by the Cramps in 1893. She will have a complement of about 500 men and officers.

Vicksburg for Navy.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Navy Department has refused to transfer the steamship Vicksburg to the Revenue Cutter Service. Senator Perkins received word today from Assistant Secretary of the Navy Beekman Winthrop that the Vicksburg is urgently needed for service in Central American waters, and that orders had been issued to put her in commission and equip her for that service at an early date.

The vessel is of light draft and she was considered especially useful for the Revenue Cutter Service on that account. Winthrop said he was looking into the question whether it would be possible to transfer any other vessel in the Navy to the Revenue Cutter Service.

Army Promotions.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—The possibility surrounding the names of four prominent Army men for promotion is being watched with much interest. A recent telegram from Washington has stated that Colonel J. A. Augur is in line for the grade of brigadier general. He is the senior officer of the line of the Army, there being but two above him, Colonel S. E. Tillman and Colonel C. W. Larned, who are both engaged as professors at West Point. [Colonel Augur died this week.]

Colonel J. A. Dorst, 3rd Cavalry, Fort Clark, Tex., the second nominee, is a classmate of Brigadier General Frederick Smith.

Colonel F. K. Ward, 7th Cavalry, Fort Riley, is of the class of 1871 and bears a good record. Colonel Alexander Rogers, 6th Cavalry, stationed at Manila, is a classmate of Colonel W. A. Simpson, adjutant general of this department.

The officers are all cavalrymen. There is no time stated for these appointments, although there is a possibility that a vacancy may occur soon. This is said to be the contemplated retirement of Brigadier General John E. Kerr, commanding Fort Riley, Kas., upon his own request.

There will be no regular line of vacancies until the retirement of General Weston next November, except that of Lieutenant General Arthur MacArthur in June, and that benefits no one, as the grade he carries dies with his retirement.

Much interest is evinced as to the coming appointee.

Athletics for Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—According to orders issued today by General Bell, chief of staff, athletics and calisthenic exercises in the Army will be limited to fifteen minutes a day, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays excepted, and to such athletic competitions as may be prescribed by department commanders. Instructions in first aid will be given once a month.

Lieutenant's Fate in Balance.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The findings of the court-martial in the case of Lieutenant Jones have reached the office of the Judge Advocate General and will be examined before being sent to the Secretary of War, who will submit them with his recommendation to the President. Jones has powerful political friends working to save him from the ignominy of dismissal.

Millions for Army Duds.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Bids will be opened in the office of the Quartermaster General within the next week for the largest consignment of Army clothing ever purchased in time of peace. The contract will aggregate about $4,000,000, representing a year's supply. The largest single item is for 325,000 yards of olive drab cotton cloth of the new grade of khaki, which has been adopted for summer military wear.

Want Our Submarines.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The Japanese Government is negotiating with an American builder of submarine boats, for the purpose of plans and specifications for a new type of submarine of smaller model than the type now in common use, but of double speed. It is stated that the proposed new craft would have about the same destructive power as the present type. The purpose of the Japanese Government, if the negotiations are successfully concluded, is to send draftsmen to New York to make drawings under the direction of the American builder, but to build all the new boats in Japan.

Powerful French Shell.

TOULON, April 12.—Speaking today before a commission of inquiry, an officer of the Army made sensational statements regarding the power of a French shell known as the "P." He said no existing armor could resist the destructive qualities of this explosive, and cited the case of a shell entering the smokestack of a battleship and working out below the water line. The speaker deplored the fact that the French Navy had not yet been furnished with those shells, although the tests had been started with them eight years ago.

ENLARGING TO MEET DEMAND

The American-Hawaiian Paper and Supply Co., Ltd., George G. Guild, manager, at the corner of Queen and Fort streets, has just made a lease with the Campbell Estate for the upper floor of the building they now occupy. A growing business demanded additional space, for the stock carried by the company seems to be expanding instead of contracting and the store space must grow with it. The American-Hawaiian supplies nearly all of the printing offices in the country with their paper stock. The lines include the best there is and customers may depend upon being promptly served with everything in paper, from common straw wrapping to the finest Strathmore and Whiting bonds. An elevator has been ordered through the von Hamm-Young Co., Ltd., and will be in position for the accommodation of passengers and stock in a few weeks.

Stop That Headache and Save Your Nerves
Do not try to endure a headache, waiting with what patience you can until you have worn it out.
Why should you? It's a great deal better to save your nerves the wear and tear of torture.
One dose of

Stearns' Headache Wafers
—a tiny tasteless wafer—brings you relief in a few minutes—real relief at that—leaves your head feeling clear and natural.
When this certain ease from that pain is always at hand (or at the nearest chemist's) there is no reason for suffering from headache.
You would not consider it wise to suffer from a cinder in your eye or a thorn in your hand a moment longer than necessary.
Think it over—and remember that Stearns' Headache Wafers CURE, yet never cause the formation of a drug habit.

Columbia Records are beyond argument better in every way—in smoothness of surface, in evenness of tone, in clearness, in volume, in repository and in durability. They are made under the original patents, and by processes that elsewhere can only be imitated. Compare them, that's all we ask.
