One female lawyer expressed disgust that even some Americans who move here live in-Maids at $150 a month to "enjoy the exercise of power over other people."

Editor's note: This is the first in a three-part series of in-depth reports on the present status of alien labor in the Commonwealth. The series investigates the working conditions of maids, night club waitresses and construction workers. The second part of the series will run in Tuesday's paper, and the final installment April 22.

Slavery is defined by Black's Law Dictionary as "that civil relation in which man has absolute power over the life, fortune, and liberty of another.

The 13th Amendment to the United States Constitution adopted in the closing days of that nation's Civil War abolished slavery."

Late payers face lines & fines ......

Today is the most dreaded day for many people in the CNMI and the United States - it's the last day to pay your taxes.

CNMI residents filing early tax returns may have already received rebates or could be getting them soon. Late filers will face penalties if they do not qualify for an extension of the April 15 deadline to file income tax returns in the Commonwealth.

Juan L. Evangelista, chief of revenue and taxation, said in an interview Thursday that his department is expecting to rebate about $9.3 million this year. He said the department has already distributed about 1,000 checks totaling about $850,000. Those were for people filing Feb. 23, 24 and 25. Returns filed between Feb. 26 to March 3 will result in refund checks issued April 15. He said he expects to rebate about 2,600 checks then, totaling another $2 million.

Buso wants mandatory drug test

By Wesley Goodman
Staff reporter

Ray Buso, Assistant Attorney General and head of the Interagency Drug Enforcement Task Force, is proposing two pieces of legislation which would require mandatory drug testing by urinalysis of certain government workers and would clarify current laws which would allow easier legal forfeiture of property used in the manufacturing or transportation of illegal drugs.

"Right now there is no statute which allows certain key government employees to be tested for drugs," Buso said. "I don't think the Commonwealth should wait until they have a disaster to ensure government employees have a drug-free lifestyle and can be vigilant in their work."

He said that only certain government workers would be affected by the law. They include law-enforcement officers such as police carrying guns, people operating government vehicles and machinery, members of the civil defense team and ambulance and fire crews. "If they are not drug-free, they cannot be vigilant in performing their duties," Buso said.

He said that he is proposing the legislation along with Attorney General Alejandro Castro, director of public safety Edward Manibusan, Elsy Inos and Pete Reyes, both of whom are working with the

Teno will "fire" Mafnas if he is convicted

By Nick Logaspi
Senior reporter

Gov. Pedro P. Tenorio said Tuesday that he would "fire" Juan P. Mafnas, chairman of the Marianas Islands Housing Authority, and other MIHA board members if they were convicted of any crime related to the $65-million MIHA-OKC housing contract.

"If the MIHA board members are convicted I will fire them," Tenorio said in an interview. "I will also do that if there is any finding of incompetence or negligence."

Mafnas sues Matsunaga for "defamation,distress"

By David T. Hughes

Local musicians should look to their own songs!

I wish to offer the following as more of an observation rather than a solution. I have been living in a town or village a day or two a week. I am quite encouraged to know that music seems to be gaining more ground.

Perhaps the problem with the current music (phonograph) scene is that we are encouraged to buy goods but not to actually produce much. It is quite encouraging to know that more local talents have been able to put their music and in writing lyrics together. We are certainly gaining more in this area than ever before.

Sooner or later, the local musicians should look to their own efforts. As a citizen, I wish to offer the following more as an observation than a criticism. You're giving the owners of these tunes their rights of other citizens to engage in commercial farming in the Northern Marianas and the Micronesia islands. It is now almost 12 years since we ceded our land to the federal government.

We received a call from a man who identified himself as a theater owner. He answered the phone in a professional manner and explained that he felt that the AG offices were out to get local businesses. He explained that they won't be enlisting in the local business unless they just take them off the premises. They will be just taking up the fees unless they are not enlisting.

A call to the AG's office produced the following: 'We are not really interested in the fees unless you are not enlisting.'

So, the AG's office will not enlisting in the local business unless they just take them off the premises. They will be just taking up the fees unless they are not enlisting.

The federal government is now almost 14 years since we ceded our land to the federal government.

I wish to see more avenue of opportunities to help the local businesses.

Dear Editor:

I was recently interviewed on the radio about the issues that local organizations were receiving the most complaints about. It was about the time of the Third Legislative. That's it, a far cry from the current reports. It was about the time of the Third Legislative. That's it, a far cry from the current reports. It was about the time of the Third Legislative. Sometimes the status quo isn't really so good.

Tennis Association wants you to know about tourney

Dear Editor:

I hope this letter finds you well. As a member of the Northern Marianas Tennis Association, I would like to extend our sincere thanks to you and your staff for your kind words and support. Your efforts to make our annual tennis tournament a success have been invaluable.

Our goal is to provide a fun and competitive event for players of all ages and skill levels. The tournament is scheduled for this weekend and will be held at the Saipan Tennis Center. We have a variety of events for children and adults, including singles and doubles matches.

In addition to the tennis matches, there will be a ―family fun day‖ during which participants can enjoy various activities such as BBQ, music, and games. This event is open to the public, and we encourage all interested individuals to attend.

Your continued support is greatly appreciated, and we look forward to welcoming you to the tournament. Please feel free to contact me at 234-5678 for any information or assistance you may need.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

PSS could lose cafeteria facility in land deal with NMC college

By Walter Goodman

The school system is in a bind of losing its cafeteria facilities in the old Torres hospital to Northern Marianas College. If that happens, the college could force school officials to find a new place to make food for Saipan students.

Commissioner of education Henry I. Sablan said he was not consulted in the matter and that he was going to give input into the situation. "My point is not to jeopardize our occupation of the land deal," he said. "The cafeteria needs to continue to operate.

I agree with that. But, a little land acquisition would have been better for the people's money than a police station would be a better use for the people's money than a police station.

At the request of the idea for the premises, I have been given the report. I think it came from a source that is not clear to me.

The letter made some good points. It seems to me that an investment in a restaurant in Managaha is going to be a good business. The letter also says that the money is very reasonable, asking for a no-fee lease for the restaurant and that the restaurant couldn't hurt, and I agree with that. But, a little land acquisition would have been better for the people's money than a police station.

IT&E Construction Ltd. of Singapore said Tuesday it is expected to sign $25-million housing contract with the Marianas Housing Authority in accordance with CNMI law and the understanding that the contract was supported by the NT&E but the entire Congress.

"We have consistently met our requirements of cost, price and accuracy since the CNMI Government, and the CNMI made clear its requirements in its latest financing and housing requirements," Ong said.

"We were assured by the Government of the Northern Marianas Islands through an Attorney General's Office that the land deal to be signed by the NT&E would be in accordance with the land deal signed by the NT&E.

Off-duty officers arrested for gunplay

By Wesley Goodman reporter

Two off-duty police officers and a Guam man were arrested early Sunday morning after going into "continuous" confrontations, which police said resulted in one of the officers getting a rifle from his car and firing into the air.

Police reports indicate that the incident allegedly began when the officers and another man attempted to break up a fight between two men at a nightclub and saw Masga arguing with a small group of men in front of the club after 2 a.m. Sunday morning.

Sgt. Luis Untalan, public relations officer for the Department of Public Safety, said that Tacita told officers what happened around 2 a.m. that morning.

He has since arrested the two police officers and another man who was there.

Untalan said the title as director now 'real'

Page 7, Untalan, who has served in an active capacity at Hospital Administrator at the Commonwealth Health Center for the past two months, has been permanently appointed to the position by Department of Health and Environmental Services Director Dr. Joe D. Villagomez and with the concurrence of Governor Pedro P. Untalan.

Untalan, 38, is the successor to Gregorio S. Calvo, who resumed in January.

The 34-bed hospital is a major division within the Health Center and the CHC.

Untalan is the former Administrator/Chief Executive Officer of Guam Memorial Hospital. He has been involved in health care planning and administration on Guam since 1995 before he became Assistant Secretary to Dr. Villagomez.

Untalan received his Bachelor of Science degree from St. Mary's University and Masters Degree in Hospital Administration from the University of the Philippines.

Untalan's proven experience includes work in health administration.

He is a member of both the Association of Commonwealth Hospitals of America and the American College of Hospital Executive Care.

Fmh accepting nominations for posts

The Farmers Home Administration (FHA) will begin accepting nominations for five federal positions this week to fill vacancies in a number of FHA offices and field offices.

FHA officials said that the new positions are critical to the operation of FHA's credit insurance program

The new vacancies include six senior, five junior and four technical level positions.

The vacancies were announced in a Federal Register notice.

The positions include a Farmer Credit Officer and two special agents for the FHA's Office of Field Operations.

The notice also included a job posting for a senior loan officer.

Other positions included a farmer credit officer and two assistant farmer credit officers.

The FHA said that the positions were critical to the operation of the credit insurance program.

"Love Child" just as important

Dear Editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to commend you for your stand and position of the need for sharing custody of the child as equally as possible in the event of a separation.
The child should be treated as any other human and expected to do his/her share of work. It is important for the parents to explain to the child that they will continue to love him/her and to treat him/her the same as before.
The parents cannot consider the child as a burden, especially if both are working. The child can be taught to carry his own weight and to be responsible for himself/herself. The child should be encouraged to ask for help when needed. It is important for the parents to explain to the child that they will continue to love him/her and to treat him/her the same as before.

In general, the child should be taught to be independent and responsible. The child should be shown how to handle his/her own affairs, how to do his/her own work, and how to take care of himself/herself. The child should be taught to be self-reliant and independent. The child should be shown that he/she can do things on his/her own and that he/she can be responsible for his/her actions.

The complaint charged that the former Personnel Officer, Ensign Business Manager for Mafnas before the grand jury, and that the man himself conducted himself because he never thought it of being a truly honest person.

It is now known however, disingenuous, and without any long-term acquaintance with the truth. "O'Connor said in his letter. On the other hand, he describes Mafnas as someone who "has conducted himself with honesty, fidelity and has never been guilty of any misconduct, and at all times enjoyed a good name and reputation."

CDA sues Tenorio, others for owed debt

Each was sent notices of default and demand for payment of their loans 30 days after receiving the notices. According to the complaint, the two Tenorio signed the notices Feb. 19 while Fejeran received his notice Jan. 29. The lieutenant governor and Fejeran allegedly failed to pay their outstanding obligations during the 30-day period.

The Commonwealth Development Authority (CDA) produced a graph showing the trend of the loan amount. A solid line represents the loan amount, while the dotted line represents the amount that has been paid. The graph shows that the loan amount has been increasing steadily, while the amount paid has remained relatively constant.

Each defendant is alleged to owe CDA the amount shown on the graph. The CDA is seeking judgment for the full amount of the loan, plus interest and any other fees or expenses incurred in the collection process.

CDA is represented by the law firm of Johnson & Johnson. The case is pending in the Superior Court of Guam.

By Nick Legaspi

The Commonwealth Development Authority (CDA) has filed a complaint in Superior Court against Lieutenant Governor Pedro A. Tenorio for alleged failure to pay the amounts due on a 14-year-old loan.

Tenorio's name was included in the complaint only because he was the author of the legislation authorizing the CDA to make the loan. The CDA has not made any attempt to collect the amount due on this loan from Tenorio.

The complaint is based on a letter CDA sent to Tenorio in January advising him of the amount owed on the loan. The letter also informed Tenorio that the CDA would be taking legal action if he did not pay the amount due.

The loan was made to Tenorio in 1974 and is still outstanding. The amount owed on the loan is approximately $416 per month, with monthly payments to be made until the loan is paid in full.

The CDA is seeking immediate payment of the amount owed, plus interest and any other fees or expenses incurred in the collection process. The CDA is also seeking judgment for any additional amounts owed on the loan.

The case is pending in the Superior Court of Guam.

Staff report

A few people (less than 10 out of a group of about 30) mustered up their courage Tuesday evening and gave short speeches on how they would be affected by the new law. July 29 intends to begin departing dependents of nonresident workers making less than $20,000 annually. They spoke at a meeting of the Committee for Nonresident Dependents, held at the Community Church in St. Petersburg, as a kind of "practice run" in preparing to give testimony to a senate committee. Group members will tell the Senate Committee on Resources and Development how some alien should be deleted from one sentence out of 22 pages. We 're asking for about eight or ten words. Chapman explained the group's intent at the Tuesday meeting. "I have already become obvious that the cosmopolitan composition of nonresident workers and their dependents have affected the dedicated social system of the Commonwealth. The cause of your committee is however to amend the law."

Milions in tax refunds will flow out

The applicability of the law. He have the federal judiciary rule on the Territorial Clause into others concerned with the intrusiveness of this story, the federal justices of the Ninth Circuit were deleted. The clerk said in separate interviews that it apply to the Commonwealth as they do in other territories.

"I have already become obvious that the cosmopolitan composition of nonresident workers and their dependents have affected the dedicated social system of the Commonwealth. The cause of your committee is however to amend the law."

"A March letter from the senator to Chapman says, "It applies in the Commonwealth does not enjoy immunity from civil suit because the 11th Amendment does not apply."

"My parents are also old. "If you are here for 183 days, you are considered as a permanent resident," Evangelista said. "But, the senator is wrong."

"There's a petition going around and we're getting some support from that," the committee president said. "Also, I talked with Bishop Tomcu Camacho and he is still very much in support of the family, and of what we're doing."

"That's where the Winslow-Hammett Act and the Health Center Act was at the meeting and expressed his support for the group's efforts. "The island cannot supply the personnel we need," the doctor said. "We need health care at the hospital would be affected "if they start sending all our non-union help away.""

"Martin Bradley, an American involved with the committee "out of religious conviction for social justice," asked the people to stand in front of the group with their children to share their experiences. "Please, we must help each other for the sake of our kids and for our family," one woman said. "I feel that the main point here, is that if there are sympathetic people that will help us."

"A pregnant woman gave a short and tearful speech. "My child is due in June or July," she said. "My family is not in the Philippines. My parents live abroad. My parents are also old. So I hope that we can get support from everybody. Thank you.""

"One man said that he goes to the top of Mt. Tomsapehn every day and prays his son be allowed to stay in the Commonwealth as he runs up the mountain."

"Bradley, the 11th Amendment does apply "by its own force," and vow to fight that section of the ruling. But, the U.S. Attorney General took particular exception to the "Territorial Clause" reference."

"A clerk in the federal court office said all references to that clause were deleted. The clerk said other subtle changes were made in the wording, but the basic intent of the ruling affirming Lauraeta's denial of 11th Amendment protections to the Commonwealth was left intact."

"Other references about the rights of the Commonwealth and how the Commonwealth has been made by assistant U.S. Attorney General Proctor and Office of Territorial Affairs undersecretary Mark Hayward. Both men have said in separate interviews that it was not clear whether the federal court ruling applies to the Commonwealth."

"Due to the late-breaking QUALITY of the ruling, no opinion was available for comment from members of the legislature and others concerned with the instruction of the Commonwealth. The Senate, the House of Representatives, and the Governor's office were not available for comment."

"One of the prime objects to the bill has filed several lawsuits seeking to have the federal judiciary rule on the applicability of the law. He and others from the Commonwealth are scheduled to be in New York City on May 9 to argue the United States before the Supreme Court about the problems between the U.S. and the Commonwealth."
