CUC Director to resign

by Teri M. Flores

Commonwealth Utilities Corporation Executive Director Ramon S. Guerrero has written to the CUC Board Chairman Jose M. Taitano informing him and the members of CUC’s Board of Directors of his decision to vacate his position a year after he assumed it.

In a letter dated October 29, Guerrero said that he has tentatively scheduled his departure on January 18, 1991 as Executive Director of the CUC.

Guerrero said that he has developed the highest priority for reorganizing the CUC into a utility service "it is time that I begin preparing for my departure to my private business enterprise." In the letter, Guerrero said the structure and composition of the CUC in 1987 has not allowed it to develop into a self-sufficient agency since the "prior legislature did not give its support in funding the corporation in its birth as an independent and autonomous agency separating it from the Executive branch," Guerrero said.

Guerrero said that for CUC to reach its goal of self-sufficiency, the Board must "make sure that the manager on top is firm in the guidance of the management and activities of daily operation."

Guerrero also recommended to the Board to "lobby with the legislature" to amend and restructure the salary of the Executive Director. In the letter, Guerrero said that "it is necessary that the person of such caliber leading the Corp. is better paid," so as to challenge the person to operate CUC.

The person will not only have the initiative to work eight hours a day but, he will also have the initiative for the "additional devotion of time" needed for the improvement of the firm, Guerrero said.

Guerrero said that the since much needed improvements must continue until CUC is at par with the intended infrastructure development, "the CUC Board must closely and evenly support the individual that will assume the position as Executive Director."

Guerrero wrote that the CUC should not be allowed to be privatized to outside interests. He said that since CUC has already started the process of becoming self-sufficient, "to let someone pick the fruit away from CUC would be the greatest of sins-a disservice to the local people."

CDA board responds to IG’s audit report

by Teri M. Flores

The Commonwealth Development Authority’s Board of Directors responded to a Wednesday conference that they are willing to "open their doors" and that they welcome any investigation regarding alleged improprieties in the firm. CDA Board Chairman Juan S. Tenorio said that the Board will look into the September audit report made by the Inspector General and will try to respond to all the recommendations made in the report before the end of November.

Tenorio said the board considers the report as a "serious matter" since under the Federal law, the Economic Development Loan Funds cannot be used for other purposes other than for economic development projects.

Tenorio said several loans had been approved including that made by MIHA in October of 1985. Tenorio said that based upon Federal laws, the CDA should not have granted MIHA the 1985 loan however, since the legislature decided and acted on it, the CDA approved of it.

Board Member John Manglona said that the audit report is good for the CDA since it would help in identifying the firm’s weaknesses. He said that there are plans to review their loan fund policies to make sure that they are stringent enough and that they meet the recommendations made by the Inspector General.

The September report states that CDA had not been collecting loan funds to MIHA and Tenorio said that the Board will look into the September audit report and try to respond to all the recommendations made in the report before the end of November.

DPW Director resigns

by R. B. Concepcion

The Department of Public Works Executive Director Nick C. Sablan, after ten months of service to the public works, has turned his resignation in a memorandum issued to all the department employees dated October 26, 1990.

According to the memorandum, his resignation "...is a voluntary decision of my own for personal reasons which is not made overnight."

It said that the DPW head spent several weeks "contemplating the thought of leaving his position..." and I have come to a conclusion that..."

CUC in 1987 has not allowed it to develop into a self-sufficient agency since the “prior legislation did not give its support in funding the corporation in its birth as an independent and autonomous agency separating it from the Executive branch,” Guerrero said.

Mosquito-borne disease hits Saipan

by Teri M. Flores

People on Saipan are at risk of contracting viral encephalitis which is a mosquito-borne disease that can cause brain damage.

Bertha Jahn of the Department of Public Health said that it has been confirmed that there is an occurrence of the disease on the island however, it is not yet known if there is really an epidemic.

Jahn said that as of Thursday morning, 8 cases have already been reported to the Commonwealth Health Center over the past two weeks. She said that of the reported cases, three are still in the intensive Care Unit of the hospital. She said the persons affected by the disease range from an 8-month old child to a 70-year old man.

Since this is the first time that the disease occurred on the island, it is speculated that people from all ages are susceptible to it because of their non-exposure to the virus, Jahn said.

The disease is caused by a virus affecting the lining of the brain. It manifests itself by sudden headache, high fever with associated symptoms of brain impairment including disorientation, delirium, muscular atrophy, tremors, convulsions and coma, according to the press release from the CHC. Lifelong immunity also results after the infection since the disease does not recur.

Healthy adults usually fight off the virus after a period of time and the symptoms appear 5-15 days after a person has already been infected, Jahn said.

“There is no known cure for the virus however, supportive treatment can be administered to alleviate pains, headaches and nausea,” Jahn said.

the idea of receiving financial help from Japan when some Japanese businesses encouraged them. We must ask, can this administration commit the next administration and its business men really give monetary aid to a government and financiers have their own principles to follow. Some Japanese business men made it possible for Gov. Guerrero at the Governor’s house at Capitol Hill for a speech to express their anger at the US State Department against Ms. Elizabeth M. Guerrero who was appointed as Assistant Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development to become a member of the House of Representatives. The Department of Housing and Urban Development, he said, is the biggest interagency in the United States Congress aside from the Appropriations Committees. Ms. Guerrero expressed concerns of CNMI’s financial status and the CNMI government has already paid the money. Ms. Guerrero has been indicted for knowingly making a false statement in a loan application for a $2.5 million loan. She is supposed to have submitted a false statement about a mortgage loan to get a $2.5 million loan. She was charged for making a false statement about a mortgage loan to get a $2.5 million loan.

Two child abusers sentenced

by Teri M. Flores

Two men convicted of sexually abusing children were sentenced in the Superior Court on Wednesday.

After being convicted of sexual endangerment and sexually abusing a minor, Charlie Oden was sentenced by Superior Court Judge Mary Taylor to 10 years probation, a $2,000 fine and to undergo counseling and treatment.

Oden was convicted by a jury of sexual abuse of a child under the age of 12 years old two years ago. The child was brought to the courtroom by his former girlfriend who said that acts were performed in front of the child.

Oden was convicted by the jury of sexual abuse of a child from exhibitionism. Based on the testimony of the child, the jury found that Oden intentionally exposed his genitals for the purpose of sexual arousal.

The judge sentenced Oden to 10 years probation, a $2,000 fine and to undergo counseling and treatment.

Oden was also ordered to pay $2,000 fine and was advised to undergo counseling and treatment.

Senate final hearing on CUC re-scheduled
by René B. Concepcion

The final and final public hearing scheduled by, the Senate committee looking into the capability of the CUC to pay back the financing of power phase II, was rescheduled until next Wednesday due to the CUC's failure to provide the committee with a copy of its audited financial report.

Sen. Herman Guerrero, chairman of the oversight committee said that they "are not assisted" with the financial statement, projections and other documents previously submitted by the CUC.

He said that "all these documents lead to the fact that the CUC is not capable of keeping up with its obligations.

The committee then "is afraid" to authorize the passage of the resolution because the CUC is not in the position, in its present financial crisis, to pay the $21 million financial obligation, he said.

That is one of the reasons why the committee is awaiting a certified auditor's report for fiscal year 1988 to 1990 which "we have not yet received to this moment.

The audited report is very important to the committee so we will weigh our decision on this, whether they really can or cannot pay for the financing of the new plant.

He said that if there is a favorable report, the CUC shall simply pass it on to the Legislature. But if not, they will take their time to read it and try to come up with a report.

The report is being studied by the board members of the CUC and the Legislature. But if not, they will have to make sure that the money will be distributed to the CNMI.

According to him, the old generators can still be repaired said.

"We have an agreement with the old, generators or to repair some of these old generators or to buy the new ones," he said.

"But it is up to the Legislature to say if it is very critically needed," he said.

He said that if there is a favorable report, the CUC will pass it on to the Legislature. But if not, they will take their time to read it and try to come up with a report.

He said that the $21 million amount CUC will have to pay back is a "fiscal year's obligation," he said.

"It is just the higher amount," he said.

"We can still make the payment but we need to restructure it," he said.

The Legislature will have to work out by her the new payment schedule, he said.

"The Legislature will have to make sure that the CUC is in its quest to have additional revenues," he said.

Pre-law courses offered for summer
by René B. Concepcion

The Office of the Governor and the Attorney General is scheduled to hold a six-week pre-law course program this coming summer to prepare students for law school, especially with CNMI mission and interest in mind.

According to him, they are introducing over two US law professors including Donderio to the CNMI to teach some of the courses the program will offer this summer.

Local lawyers will be asked to volunteer and provide assistance with regards to, legal writing, legal research, or mock courtroom arguments where they will sit and act as judges, he said.

Sovereign said that the program will give students preparation for their first year of law school. One of the courses is the legal writing program, "probably the most important course, because it does not pay the student not only toward legal research but also toward legal analysis," she said.

She said that they are hoping to place as many students as possible in the summer program by the U.S. law schools and a lot of organizations are being drawn up right now.

Students are required to take the law school scholastic aptitude test (LSAT) before applying.

The CNMI needs more students, "people who are prepared" and "accepting applicants," she said.

The Senate committee is waiting for the legislative report, "which will be about the CNMI," Ceravolo said.

As the Senate committee is awaiting the report, "we will have no choice," she said.

"As soon as we have the report," she said.

"As soon as we have the report," she said.

"I think we will have to make sure that the students not only toward legal research but also toward legal analysis," she said.

She said that they are not going to cut off appropriations for the program because "we need these students," she said.

She said that they are going to try to find a way how the program can be made and the students will be funded by the CNMI.

She said that "we are in a special situation," she said.

Mayoral staff cannot be appointed by Renel S. Concepcion

Rota Mayor Prudencio T. Manglona sent a letter to Attorney General Robert Naraja requesting that the Personnel Office should not hire any of the personal staff of mayors unless approved by the Personnel Office.

The document provides that "Mayoral staff positions are not exempted from the law of the Philippines or the Civil Service System, and none of the statutes governing the Personnel Office..."

The decision further states that "there are several types of positions exempted from the Civil Service System... and none of the statutes specifically mentions political staff." The explanation of Manglona means that Mayors are not allowed to hire their personal staff.

Manglona's letter to the AG states the reason of Manglona's opinion, "my office has been placed in an unprecedented position as to personnel recruitment matters." Manglona said that "never have the operations of this office been so drastically questioned by the Personnel Office since the issuance of former Gov. Casimiro and Gov. Turcott..."

He said that under Manglona's board that he will resolve the outstanding issue of the dispute between LMA and CUC in the best and possible avenue to save the firm from the unnecessary expenses.

In a news conference Wednesday, Manglona said that he is only个别 in his projects. He also expressed his appreciation to the Governor and to the Lt. Governor who has supported his efforts to improve the firm and to the staff whose support he has counted on to accomplish the programs he has inaugurated.

The proposed list includes seven birds which are the Palauan or the Marianas Common Myna, the Noa or the Rota Briddled White-eye, the Chickenslub or the Island Swiftlet. Also included are the Age or the Marian Crow, the Sissigat also known as the Micronesian Megapode, the Gagu Karira or the Nightingale Red-Warbler and the Chichirian Tinian or the Tinian Monk-Bird. The list also includes three reptiles-the Haggar or the Green Sea Turtle, Hagan Karai or the Hawk-billed Sea Turtle and the Galapagos or the Forest Gecko. Two plants which are known as Carls nail and the Tronson Quanti have also been named in the list.

The proposed list also continues that only the CNMI's elected leaders of the government can appoint his personal staff.

MTC switches to new digital system

By Lily O. Ramos

Three years after the Hawaii-based GTE brought Microwave Telecommunications Corporation (MTCO) from its original owner, Konaic Inc., the Micronesian telephone company is now ready to transfer its 5,000 customers to its newly-installed $80 million state-of-the-art digital switching system.

Our aim is to complement the fast economic growth and development of the CNMI's economy.

By Lily O. Ramos

MTC vice-president and general counsel Ray Moroka.

"Nothing spectacular and highly efficient costs cheap, but as I said, it is a part of MTC's desire to serve our customers with the very best that we can afford," said Moroka.

The CNMI can do it right.

Red Cross Walk-a-thons Prizes Handled out

The largest single amount of money collected by walkers from Saipan Community School, followed by Hopwood Junior High School with $1,122. Both schools received new Apple computers for the efforts of their students. Collections of $1,040 Marianas Baptist Academy, $811 San Antonio Elementary, and $725 Knoberville Elementary, earned these schools new sets of the Encyclopedia Britannica. The 1990 turnout by Marianas Baptist Academy also won that school a new TV and VCR. Veteran Red Cross walker Judy Gonzalez made good on her promise to match the $1,575 raised by Bob Ralph of Rudolph's, the ARC release said. A total of 631 walked to raise money for the American Red Cross.

Deadline for Youth Basketball League

Hopwood has computer literacy program

The United States Department of Agriculture is offering start-up funds to Land Grant offices specifically with a program "Youth at Risk." NMC's Land Grant office is making an application, according to a NMC press release. "Youth at Risk" segts children of low-income families who have been shown to be susceptible to alcoholism and other substance-abuse problems.

The program shows children positive ways to channel their energies, including basketball, volleyball, swimming, hiking and fishing. There will also be benefits, such as pottery, panela weaving, jewelry making and woodcutting, the NMC release explains.

"Youth at Risk" will be held in a camp setting, Elizabeth Vannese, who is a member of the proposal team, says they will begin the camp with a maximum of 25 children and, if successful, eventually build it to 50. It will be held five hours five nights a week with different camp sessions for different groups. There will be a big emphasis on counseling, in both large and small groups.

Land Grant officials are currently looking to participate in "Youth at Risk" targets children of low-income families. Land Grant is currently sending out an application, according to the NMC press release.

Northwest Airlines expands service to Saipan

by Rondel B. Concepcion

Northwest Airlines earmarked its nonstop flight expansion service between Tokyo and Saipan Tuesday with the take off of one of its Boeing 747 from the Saipan International Airport.

L. J. Gilbert Jr., Guam and Micronesia Northwest Airliness Manager said that he is very much excited with the new scheduled service to the CNMI.

He said that from the existing two flights per week between Tokyo and Saipan via Guam, they will now be scheduled for daytime service, operating non-stop in both directions five times a week except Saturdays and Sundays.

According to Gilbert, and Guam Visitors Bureau Chairman, the new service flight is already an "overdue" long-term expansion plan for the airlines.

He said that although this is some sort of an answer to what the people of the CNMI are clamoring for, a plan has already been set up earlier and Saipan is part of that total project service expansion.

He said that another reason why Northwest moved into the schedule is the acceptance of the people of Saipan, who all welcomed the idea by reacting in an very good manner.

He said that this is not the first time the Northwest airlines’ crew landed on Saipan without hesitation…even without the control tower facility.

Gilbert said that the airlines are offering Boeing 747 equipment with three distinct types of service which are the business class, executive class and the economy class, where passengers are afforded different accommodations.

He said that "We are looking forward to improving our service now that we are already here."

The aircraft crew consists of multinational individuals from various nations like Japan, and Korea, and etc.

Gilbert, when asked on how flight operations are affected with the increase in fuel prices said the airline will either reduce the number of flights to reduce the cost of fuel consumption or maintain the flight schedules and increase the fare.

New flight schedules are as follows:

Northwest flight 062 will depart Nara at 9:30 a.m. on Monday.

Flight 063 is scheduled to depart Saipan for Nara at 7:20 a.m. on Monday.

Tuesday, Thursday and Friday's flight 063 will depart Saipan at 11:30 a.m.

Arrival at Nara will be 11:55 a.m. on Monday.

Tuesday, Thursday and Friday 2 p.m. on Wednesday.

The arrival times at Naria will enable Saipan originating passengers to connect to all of Northwest's Transpacific and Interport flights.

According to a press release, Northwest was the first airline to introduce a scheduled air service between North America and the Northern Marianas in July 1947. It said that over the past 43 years, the airline has progressively developed its Pacific route system so that today, Northwest is the world's largest airline operating between Asia and the United States.

Three journalists charged in Fiji

SUVA, Fiji (AP) - The publisher of the Daily Post newspaper and two of his staff appeared in court Monday charged by the government with "suspicion of malicious publication."
The publisher, Dan Bolea, and reporter Subhash Verma and sub-editor Robert Wendl were charged in relation to a story saying that the University of the South Pacific students in Suva planned to hold a rally where they intended to burn a copy of Fiji's new constitution.

Verma, who wrote the story, was arrested on Saturday, while Bolea and Wendl were arrested and charged Sunday.

All three were released on bail and will appear in court again Thursday.

Fijian Prime Minister Laisenia Qarase said the university students protested against the burning and reported torture of a university lecturer, Anirudh Singh, last week. Singh was involved in the protest burning of a copy of the new constitution.

The university students protested against the burning and reported torture of a university lecturer, Anirudh Singh, last week. Singh was involved in the protest burning of a copy of the new constitution.

The recently enacted, racially weighted constitution guarantees indigenous Melanesian Fijians political dominance, including magistrate in both houses of a new Parliament that is to be elected next year.

The constitution also has been heavily criticized by other countries, particularly India. Fiji closed down the Indian Embassy five months ago and expelled its diplomats in a continuing row over the constitution issue.

Ethnic Indians, originally brought to Fiji by the colonial British last century as indentured sugar plantation workers, comprise a majority of Fiji's 720,000 population before the coup. But emigration since then has left them a minority.

"For if we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of His Son, so much more, now that we are reconciled, shall we be saved by His life. Not only so, but we also rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have now received our reconciliation."

Aquino battles a troublesome free press

President Corazon Aquino, the press is not an ally in her fight against the late Ferdinand Marcos. Now she feels like a victim of "journalistic oppression." She told members of the Foreign Correspondents Association of the Philippines on Tuesday that "her administration's greatest political contribution was the renunciation of democracy, normally frowned upon in the last two decades of authoritarian rule.

"In that fight, of course, we have helped a host of local and foreign newsmen," Mrs. Aquino said. "Yes, we were part of the host of battle-scarred, one realized almost immediately that the press was never really a constant, never truly an ally, this was on the front lines only as observer."

"But," she said, "is not an insecure ally, it is also improper and impractical. Not only is it conspicuous in Mr. Marcos politics and into the anti-Marcos movement after her husband, the former Sen. Benigno Aquino, was murdered in August 1983 on his return from exile to lead the opposition.

\"The local and the foreign press portrayed Mrs. Aquino as a grieving widow, a simple housewife who was a reluctant challenger to Marcos, and later as a champion of democracy after a "people power revolution." In February 1986 swept her to power.

In the aftermath of revolt, newspapers mushroomed, and a dozen talk shows competed for television and radio air time.

Meanwhile, an army of reporters and photographers hounded Mrs. Aquino whenever she went.

In the beginning, the presidential palace tolerated the media, and the efforts it is.

"Nevertheless, she said, "the sometimes abusive and sometimes press that reflects only one side of the news."

She said that there has been no indication of media repression. "In fact," she said, "the reverse could be true and the harassed government could be the one feeling a bit of journalistic oppression."
Krug Champagne-tasting party a success

By Lily O. Ramos

The Krug Champagne Introduction Friday night at the Hyatt Regency Saipan was a sparkling success, judging from the delighted faces of the lucky 40 guests who were invited to the wine-tasting cocktail party.

Olivier Krug, the good-looking heir to the Krug Champagne fortune of France, made a short slide presentation of the beautiful location of the Krug wine estate in his country, how the different kinds of wine and champagne are processed and some members of his family.

"I am not very good in English, I cannot fully explain who happens to be the vice-president of the Krug champagne I wish to discuss but I hope you like it," Olivier said.

Whatever, the young Krug, who happens to be the vice-president of the famous Krug product, made his point clear by making everyone taste at least four types of champagnes to see what everyone means by the word Krug, and that drinking any of the Krug champagne is equivalent to saying "today," he said.

"When you're looking for the best in life, Krug is the drink to choose, that's why there many Krugs all over the world. We always see it that our product is simply the best, the cream of the crop. We've won the results, customers everywhere trust and respect us and keep coming back for more," the youthful executive said.

Krug had everyone taste how a five-generation perfect wine looks like.

First, the Krug Grande Cuvée which is elegant, delicious, fruity with fine bubble. From our experience, the blending of different wines is the hallmark of a quality champagne.

The Cuvée is composed of 40-50 different grape varieties, 50-60 highly classified growths and six- to nine-year wines. This gives Krug Grande Cuvée suitable harmony, complexity and it is capable of aging throughout the years, said the fashionable Krug.

"The next was a Krug Vintage of only those 23 vintages from 1926-1978 have become classics. The most famous, according to Monseigneur Goblet are those of 1928, 1947, 1953, 1955, 1969 and 1976. "The production of this vintage blend remains an exception at Krug. It is classified as a "saint" of the Grande Cuvée which, is similar, but at the same time different," said Krug.

Then he had the waiters pour on the Krug Rose, the exceptional rose which his family has waited for 40 years.

People have always thought that Peak's is a famous drink in the right clubs. My family wanted to elevate its standard. The Krug Rose is altogether different than all mass because of its characteristic aroma. A gastronomic note has the perfect balance between the various sensations, the color, the bouquet and the taste."

Edward B. Palacios Joeten Motors Company is pleased to announce that Edward B. Palacios has joined Joeten Motors Company since February, 1990 as general manager. Palacios is former Governor that an investigation be made on several board members and that allegations were not true.

Another allegation made in the audit report is that the CDA is being granted loans to commercial establishments with projects that are not commercially feasible. Manglona said that allegations were not true. The board recommended to the Governor that an investigation be made on several board members and that allegations were not true.

NMC's Nursing Department announces geriatric seminar

The Dept. of Nursing at the Northern Marianas College will hold a series of seminars that will revolve around the medical problems of senior citizens. The seminar will be held on Nov. 6 & 7 at Gilligan's Resort in Saipan.

According to press release from NMC, a panel of specialists has been selected, both from on and off-island. Dr. Adolpho Diaz-Ortiz, Tony Holzmann and Patricia Print will come from the Geriatric Education Center of the University of Hawaii's School of Medicine. Local participants will include Dr. Mike Mason and psychologist Richard Cuyer from the Commonwealth Health Center and NMC's Nursing Department head, Kelly Goodreau, the NMC release said.

Some of the subjects chosen for discussion are depression, Alzheimer's/Dementia Disease and sleep disorders. Four sessions are scheduled each day, and there will be a charge of $5 per session or $20 per day. However, this seminar will fulfill both medical and nursing requirements for Continuing Education at the CRC.

All care-givers of the aged and family members are encouraged to attend this seminar. For more information contact NMC's Nursing Department.

Joeten celebrates halloween with kids

by Renei B. Concepcion

Aces versus Seabees for Second place in the Major Baseball League

The Men's 1990 Major League regular season ended last Sunday, October 28, with the Diamond Hotel Aces forfeiting the cellar dweller YCO D-9's to tie the Rainbow Construction Seabees Fourth for second place with a 6-4 win-loss record.

The D-9's came up with just eight players for their second forfeit of the season.

Since runner-ups do receive trophy afterwards, the Aces and Seabees will have to battle it out this coming Sunday, November 4, to decide the second and third place.

Xian Remains Unbeaten in Table Tennis

By Lily O. Ramos

It looks like Che Xian is unbeatable at this stage with 11 victories without a single loss in the ongoing Islandwide table tennis tournament.

On Tuesday last week, Xian easily hustled Davis Laniyo in two sets, 21-11 and 21-9 in the first match for men, which gave him his 11th win.

In another match, Gideon Williams thumped Yuan Yi Hua, after an unsetting first set of 12-21. Hua gave Williams a tough time, taking Laniyo points in the second at 21-21 in favor of the latter, before letting him pull away with a three-point difference 21-18 in the third set.

Williams is in third place behind Xian and William Johnny with a 9-3 record.

In the second match, Joe Duenas masterfully handled Pat Yap in the men's singles in three sets, 18-21, 21-10, 21-11 to climb up in the team standing with 11 triumphs against a single defeat.

Thursday night, Jack Saures defeated Fred Omengkar although Saures started out a little rusty with a 15-21 score. However, he came back to log a 21-15, 21-15 over Omengkar in the second and third sets for his second win against 10 losses.

Saures was beaten earlier in the game by Dick Weil, 21-14, 21-11 before going on drop Omengkar who now sports a 5-6 win-loss record in another exciting battle, Pas "Typhoon" Olopai just could not hold on to Williams who swept him off with a booming 21-4, 21-13 blast.

In the main tussle, Duenas stopped Rod Chapman, 21-15 and 21-15 to stay close behind Xian. If Duenas keeps on with his winning streak, he could be Xian's most possible opponent for the table tennis king title.
