Mitsubishi warns to pull out on Nov. 30

by Ronel B. Concepcion

Mitsubishi heavy industries has set a deadline for November 30 for both houses to approve the joint resolution authorizing the CNMI government to assume ownership of the purchase of the new power plant or they will consider the contract for the project null and void.

According to the report submitted in the Senate by the chairman of the oversight committee Sen. Herman Guerrero, Mitsubishi will pull out the project if no joint resolution was forthcoming by November 30. The report also provided that as of October 4, 1990, Mitsubishi suspended all pre-contract works including the pile driving at the protected site of the new power plant. Mitsubishi has already spent about $8 million with an additional cost of $7,000 per day being incurred in Japan for the cost of storage at the port of equipment and material for the power plant phase II.

Sen. Guerrero, said in an interview that the Senate has done its part and that the approval of the contingent resolution is now up to the house which will entertain the amendment of increasing the amount from $15 million to $219 M. As far as the Senate is concerned, they are "in full support of providing additional money to the CUC" however, the CUC only requested $15 million through the public hearings, Guerrero said.

He said that during one of the public hearings "both the CUC and the Mitsubishi stated that they only needed $15 million, which the 5.9 million will come out from CUC's pocket." Members of the Senate received a letter from the CUC indicating that the real amount that needs to be guaranteed by the CNMI continued on page 9.

Dai-Ichi hotel contributes funds for sewer expansion, plans to increase rooms

by Ronel B. Concepcion

CNMI Officials together with the Dai-Ichi Hotel Manager recently signed a contract providing for a $542,880 contribution to the Commonwealth Utilities Corporation to be used for sewer improvements in line with the hotel's planned expansion.

The agreement was signed Friday by Dai-Ichi Hotel Manager Masataka Morimoto and Governor Larry I. Guerrero with CUC's Executive Director Ray Guerrero and Deputy AG Eric Smith.

The signing of the contract was executed promptly after the ribbon cutting ceremony inaugurating the completion of the DanDan Homestead power distribution system.

According to the contract Dai-Ichi Hotel intends to expand its existing resort complex by constructing an additional 270 rooms. The hotel management shares with the CUC the knowledge that Saipan's sewer system and other infrastructure "is presently inadequate to serve this proposed expansion," it said.

The contract stipulates that the hotel will have a "fair share contribution" of $542,880 for use in the update and expansion of the Garapan sewer treatment's capability, distribution and pump station system. It says that the hotel "has agreed to contribute $510,000 toward a voluntary public improvement project" which would be agreed upon by the hotel and the Coastal Resources Management Board of Directors.

The contract further provides that if the CUC fails to expend the funds within two years after its deposit to the CUC upon execution of a memorandum of understanding...CUC will refund the money plus accrued interest, subject to the approval of the CUC Board of Directors.

The contract also provides that if the CUC fails to expend the funds within two years after its deposit to the CUC upon execution of a memorandum of understanding...CUC will refund the money plus accrued interest, subject to the approval of the CUC Board of Directors.

The CUC will also maintain "full supervisory control" over the sewer improvements and that the hotel will "provide the CUC with complete specifications and plans for its expansion."

It further said that upon completion of the hotel's expansion project, CUC will immediately connect it to the sewer system.

Marijuana smuggler gets five years sentence

by Teri M. Flores

A Palauan national who was arrested for attempting to smuggle 5,182 marijuana cigarettes was sentenced Wednesday in the Superior Court. Simpson Elbelau was sentenced by Judge Marty Taylor, to a five year prison term; with two years of it suspended. Elbelau has already spent in jail, also ordered that Elbelau serve 500 hours of community service work.

"I regret what I am doing," Elbelau told the court. Evidence of Elbelau's good character, the fact that he pled guilty to the crime and his remorse for his actions were mitigating factors in the sentencing decision. Assistant Attorney General Jim Hollman recommended a maximum sentence of five years of imprisonment and a $2,000 fine sentence since Elbelau tried to smuggle a large amount of marijuana which is one of the largest seizures in CNMI history. Hollman also called the court's attention to the value of the marijuana once it makes its way into the market and the fact that it was "one of the largest seizures ever made" in the CNMI.

Police reports indicate that the 5,182 "joints" had a total gross weight of 10.72 lbs. and was part of the passenger luggage brought on Air Mike Flight 959 which is a direct flight from Palau. In other news:

Judge Marty Taylor denied the motion of Assistant Attorney General Robert Kingsley requesting an order for the production of a psychologists report prepared for former police officer Masaro Saimon.

The judge also denied the motion of Saimon's counsel, Oldias Ngiraikelau to examine the remainder of the files regarding an incident which happened subsequent to the date of the alleged crime.

Saimon, 34, is accused of shooting his wife, police officer Erlinse Santos on the forehead after what witnesses say was a "domestic argument. Police found Santos' dead body slumped in a chair at their Dan Dan residence. Saimon was arrested near the vicinity of the airport.
Mitsubishi warns to pull out on Nov. 30

A leading Washington administrateur says that the Cold War could result in Soviet Union's acceptance of the United States and its allies' ideas about a political compromise in the Pacific. This is in line with the United States' military strategy that looks toward the Pacific and the Mideast instead of the European continent.

The United States military strategy is based on the idea that the Cold War is over and that it is no longer necessary to build up a large military presence in Europe. The United States has been moving its military forces to the Pacific and the Mideast, where it believes it can better protect its interests.

The United States military strategy is also based on the idea that the United States and its allies can work together to achieve their goals in the Pacific. Drug Abuse Conference produced workable solutions

by Teri M. Flores

Representatives from law enforcement agencies, the Health and Education Departments have come up with a set of recommendations that would address the problems of drug abuse and substance control in the CNMI. Edward Deleon Guerrero, organizer of the first Drug Control and Substance Abuse Conference, said that the conference had allowed law enforcement agents and others involved in the fight against drug and substance abuse, the opportunity to seek solutions to the problems based on the available resources the CNMI has.

He said the conference, which is a CNMI wide multi-disciplinary meet, has allowed the participants to view the problem from different perspectives.

He said that immediately after the draft recommendations have been circulated, each of the agencies involved will be asked to implement action plans to address the recommendations that have been presented.

He said that the participants have recommended "unpopular" solutions such as prohibiting the sale of alcohol during payday, the designation of selected public beaches such as the Susupe Beach Park and the Micro Beach as drug-free beaches.

It was also recommended that since the areas are frequented by children, no alcoholic beverages will be allowed in the area.

The conference stressed the importance of utilizing and maximizing the media to promote awareness of drug free messages throughout the CNMI and the establishment of a Parent-Educator program which would involve the participation of parents in school-related activities.

The conference also recommended that the CNMI govern-
Guamanian woman rescued from Grotto waters

Guamanian woman rescued from Grotto waters, together with some friends, Chief of Police Antonio Reyes. She slipped and fell off a rock at the Grotto, but was successfully rescued by Doug Burkholder and some friends. Reyes said that he was attempting to rescue Flores, but was unable to do so due to the difficult terrain. The rescue was made possible because of the quick thinking of Doug Burkholder, who immediately threw a rope to Flores when he saw her struggling in the water.

In other news:

A 21-year-old Guamanian was trying to cross a rock at the Grotto when she slipped and fell into the water. She was rescued by Doug Burkholder, who immediately threw a rope to her. However, when he tried to look for her, she slipped again and fell deeper into the water. The two men said that they were just a distance away when somebody came and asked them to call an ambulance. They immediately went into the water and tried to look for her, but unfortunately, she was not found.

In exchange for the supply of drugs, Iriarte promised the CW agents a percentage of the profits. He was arrested in 1987 when a CUC agent found a bag of 25 grams of heroin under his seat in a car while he was trying to collect a fee for them. The CW found Iriarte and his associates were frequently dealing in heroin and other drugs.

"We have the bad boys of Saipan in our sights," said a law enforcement official, "and we are taking the fight to them."

Two awaits sentence on December 3 by Tami M. Flores. A CNMI Immigration Officer who was charged with conspiracy to smuggle marijuana into the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands (CNMI) was convicted on October 27, 1993, under Briscoe No. 85-121 to transport marijuana into the CNMI and to assist in its distribution.

Fun in the sun, 'Fly-a-Kite' day fascinates kids, generates fund for Special Olympics

by Ronel B. Concepcion

'Fly a Kite Day'...a first-of-its-kind fund-raising event for kids held last Sunday at Cow Town was a success, raising an amount of $1,271, according to Anicia Tomokane, the 'brainchild' and coordinator of the fun-filled event.

Tomokane, working with the United Group of Companies, said that the event, which was not only a day for the kids but also for the adults was participated in by more than two hundred registrants.

Saipan Rotary chairperson for community projects Norman Tenorio, during yesterday's Rotary meeting held at the Diamond Hotel, handed a total amount of $1,271 to Acting PSS special education coordinator Luise Concepcion.

Tomokane said that the collection will go to the upcoming December 1 special Olympics for handicapped children.

She explained that a lot of solicitations being undertaken at present cater and benefit mostly the adults.

So, she thought of a project that instead of just giving away donations to various events..."it would be better to create something for children and would likely involve them at the same time."

She said that in order to involve the children..."it must be kids play, and after recalling my best childhood experience, which is kite flying, I decided to put things in order."

Tomokane said that to make the project work, funds that will come from a network of businesses is needed...with the end result benefiting the community at a whole.

She said that the fly-a-kite theme can really promote family day, especially now that most people are busy with their work.

She said that a lot of kids will ask their parents to be at the event and the parents at the same time will have to accompany their children.

Tomokane said that when proper arrangements were finalized, the viability of the idea was presented to the "refutable organization of the Rotary Club."

She said that the Rotary Club agreed to sponsor the event..."and its success can be attributed to the contribution and cooperation of everybody involved in the project."

She said that they are planning to use the extra kits that were left over in Rota and Tinian "to provide kids there the same opportunity."

A free rodeo show was also afforded the kite flyers in the afternoon.

Debra Williams, a mother who brought her three kids- Bettany, 4, Ryan, 9, and Grey, 14, helped them fix the kits and said that she was having a hard time and...that her "patience is about to go off."

She said that they heard about the event on the posters "and got enthusiastic," believing that the kids would enjoy it.

She said that this was a "good unique idea for kids to have a good time."

Kite flying is something they don't usually do everyday, she said.

One child said that in order to make a kite fly..."you have got to blow it up...and that takes my whole breath."

Laura Piocher, one of the events' participants, even bought three kites and will send them to her three nephews in Idaho.

Tomokane would like to express her deepest appreciation to the following major sponsors of the event:
