Mobil wins CUC fuel contract

By Rafael Arroyo

COMMUNEALTH Utilities Corporation yesterday signed a one-year fuel supply contract with Mobil Oil Micronesia.

During the signing of the contract CUC Executive Director Ramon S. Guerrero expressed hopes for a "better relationship with a new fuel supplier."

"Our past relationship with Shell was not too good. I hope that with Mobil, we could iron out differences and problems, should there be any, and not make a political issue out of everything," he said.

In January this year Shell Marianas threatened to cut CUC's fuel supply for failure to pay for past deliveries.

Last year Shell sought the help of the Legislature in securing payment for some overdue accounts.

This prompted the House of Representatives to investigate the financial condition and management of CUC.

"We're very sure that with Mobil, we'll be doing good," said Lieutenant Governor Benjamin T. Manglona, who witnessed the signing ceremony.

"We have been here for 28 years and we are prepared to continue our long-term relationship with the CNMI. It is with great pleasure to take on this responsibility to supply CUC with fuel. We made a commitment, we want to see it last on a long-term basis," said Duke Kaiser, Mobil Oil Micronesia president.

According to Guerrero, Mobil came up with the best proposal among the three (Shell, Exxon and Mobil) in terms of pricing, delivery commitment and other specification requirements.

"We have agreed to a good fuel supply arrangement with Mobil, and we'd like to see a good business relationship, although we're not in it on a one-year trial basis. But the Mobil offer is the best we can get because with it we can see a potential savings of close to a million dollars," Guerrero said.

3 assistant public defenders resign

By Glynor Dumlao

HIARUS WAS not long after three criminal defendants and one public defender were arraigned on Wednesday, April 7, that the Superior Court ordered two assistant public defenders to appear in court. Assistant Public Defender David D. Santos was also ordered to appear in court.

The judge declined to initiate a hearing to decide whether Santos should be held in contempt of court. The defendant subsequently agreed to enter a plea of not guilty and was released on personal recognizance.

The case was one of several that were delayed due to the absence of Assistant Public Defenders John M. Castro and Jon P. Villanueva.

In previous months, the court had been forced to continue cases due to the unavailability of public defenders. Assistant Public Defender Paul F. T. Greenfield, who has not appeared in court since late spring, told the court that he would be available for a hearing on Monday.

In addition, the court has been forced to continue cases due to the unavailability of court personnel. Assistant Public Defender Charles D. Miki said he would be available for a hearing on Monday.

Mystery makes North Korea more dangerous

By Elaine Kurtenbach

TOKYO (AP) - North Korea's nuclear bomb was a secret even from its own leader. That's why the collapse of the Kim Jong II regime has suddenly raised the risk of an actual or potential nuclear explosion in the divided Korean Peninsula. It also threatens to complicate efforts by the United States and other nations to persuade North Korea to give up its atomic warheads.

Kim Jong II had ruled for 48 years, relying on Stalinist-style policies that worked for the country's rapid economic growth. But unlike his father, Kim Il Sung, he was never a master of international relations. He had a reputation for being unpredictable and capricious, and his government was known for its clampdown on dissent.

Experts say there is no evidence that Kim Jong II was an expert on nuclear weapons or international law. But they agree that his sudden death has raised the stakes for the rest of the world.

The crisis developed because of the failure of former President Fidel Castro's government to secure enough oil to keep its nuclear program running. The new Cuban government has been unable to find alternative sources of energy, and the country is now facing a severe economic crisis.

The crisis has also put pressure on the United States, which is trying to negotiate a peace treaty with North Korea. The country invaded the South in 1950, and the war ended in a truce in 1953, but there has never been a formal peace agreement.

The United States has been working with other countries to persuade North Korea to give up its nuclear weapons. But the crisis has raised the stakes for the rest of the world.

Clinton bares 1.6B aid for Russia

By Tom Raum

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (AP) - The Clinton administration announced a $1.6 billion aid package for Russia, about half of which would go to projects to make Russia safe from further terrorism attacks.

The plan, unveiled on the first day of President Clinton's two­ day summit with Russian President Boris Yeltsin, provides $300 million in direct grants and $360 million in other aid.

Clinton's package - designed to help maintain political and economic reforms in Russia - would establish a "Democratic Corps" of Americans to engage in "people-to-people" contacts with Russians.

The administration said the package was funded with money that had already been appropriated by Congress as part of a $30 billion aid program to help the Soviet republics.

The package includes a $15 million aid program to make Russia a "people-to-people" contact between U.S. citizens and 25 American "enterprise funds" to encourage joint U.S.-Russian business ventures.

The administration also signified that it would support Moscow's April 14-15 conference to see an end to the "people-to-people" contact program.

The package also includes $6 million for infant formula, $5 million for cereals for children; $15 million for infant formula, milk and cereal for children; $4 million in medical supplies to hospitals; $3 million in loans for Russia's food supply program; and $230 million in credits for Russia's food supply program.

The plan also includes $5 million in unpaid withdrawals from Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

The White House said it would support Moscow's efforts to make the Soviet republics more efficient oil producers to help Russia's foreign debt.

TOKYO (AP) - They've dominated the Japanese tour. They're national golf heroes. And now the Ozaki brothers will try one more time to win golf's Holy Grail - the US Masters.

Japanese women already have made their mark. Hisako "Chako" Higuchi won the US LPGA Championship in 1977. The 47-year-old winner of 72 tournaments worldwide, Higuchi is still a regular on the Japan LPGA Tour. Now it's up to the men. Isao Aoki came close, finishing second to Jack Nicklaus in the 1980 US Open, another of golf's four "majors."

Forty-six-year-old Masashi Ozaki, better known as "Jumbo" for his 5-foot-11 (180-centimeter), 187-pound (85-kilogram) frame, will try for the 12th time to win at Augusta and his 36-year-old brother Naomichi - known as Joe - will be making his fourth attempt.

The middle member of the brother trio, Tateo or "Jet" - short for Jumbo Jet, wasn't invited by the Augusta National Golf Club.

This may be Jumbo's best chance, coming off one of the best seasons in his 22-year career where he won six of 20 Japanese events and earned 186.8 million yen ($1.62 million) - among the best worldwide.

Winner of 78 tournaments around the globe, he qualified for this year's Masters as leader of Japan PGA's money list. He may also compete in the other three majors this year.

Despite last year's form, Jumbo left for the United States two weeks behind schedule because of the flu, which may eventually cost him.

"But you need more than physical condition to have a good game," Jumbo said. "That is, I believe, mental readiness."

He said he was prepared for the "special, enormous pressure" he has felt before at Augusta.

Joe, the youngest of the three Ozakis, won three events last season, increasing his 16-year total to 24 - and placed second on the money list with 130.9 million yen ($1.13 million). He was invited to the Masters and may also qualify for the other majors.

Jet, who suffered back trouble, finished 32nd in earnings last year with 33 million yen ($285,000). But he captured his first title in four years last week with a victory in the Taylor Made KSB
