Gov. Tenorio wants MVB chief out in 30 days

A legislator who requested anonymity said Tomokane's imminent firing may cause a rift between Tenorio and Lt. Gov. Jesus C. Borja who has yet to decide whether to run with or against the governor in the 1997 election.

An administration source believes otherwise.

"The lieutenant governor (who is related to Tomokane) is a sensible man. We don't see any political repercussions from his firing."

"Governor irked" Reliable sources said the governor was irked by the "delay" in the processing of the contract papers for his recommendee to a new position of a deputy manager.

Sablan dares Governor: 'I'll resign if you resign'

By Zaldy Dondan

SENATE President Jesus R. Sablan yesterday said he would "follow" Gov. Froilan C. Tenorio's advice that he step down from the Senate.

On the condition, however, that Tenorio would also resign as governor.

"I'll step down if he steps down," Sablan said. "So he would not be in conflict, too."

Tenorio on Tuesday said the Senate president should resign as senator "because otherwise he will just sit over there and do nothing. He (will not) approve our bills and budgets."

But according to Sablan, he is only accountable to the people.

He said only the CNMI voters can decide whether he remains in the Senate or not.

Being in the Senate while running as lieutenant governor will not lead to a "conflict of interest," Sablan said.

"I'm in the Senate to serve the public. I'm not anybody's puppet. I won't confine myself to petty politics and bickering like what the governor is trying to do."

Credit union: No money to serve 1,200 retirees

By Jojo Duenas

The COMMONWEALTH GOVERNMENT Employees' Credit Union has no money to accommodate the estimated 1,200 retirees who are covered by the said lending office's financing assistance scheme.

David Sablan, CGEU General Manager, in an interview, said his office will be able to serve the needs of these former government employees only after the second half of the $2 million capitalization appropriated by government is released.

The credit union received the first $1 million of the $2 million loan from the Retirement Fund earlier this year and Sablan said he doesn't know when the other million will be handed over. He expressed hope the money would be ready by the end of this month.

The CGEU, Sablan said, has already had a pending loan petition of more than $1 million filed by 1,165 members. He added that GOVERNOR Froilan C. Tenorio reportedly wants the managing director of the Marianas Visitors Bureau removed from the office in 30 days.

Tenorio met with Anicia Q. Tomokane and several concerned people including MVB board chair Antonio Guerrero Wednesday and made the verbal directive to Guerrero.

Tomokane confirmed the report and said she was “disturbed” that the governor gave that instruction in her presence and before other people.

“I don’t know what prompted him to do that,” Tomokane told the Variety. Not yet official

But according to the governor’s public information officer Mark Froilan C. Tenorio

Marshalls President Amata Kabua medivaced to Hawaii

By Giff Johnson
For the Variety

MAJURO-Marshall Islands President Amata Kabua was medivaced to Honolulu late Wednesday (Nov. 13) on a special U.S. Coast flight to undergo medical testing to fully evaluate his condition.

Because adequate diagnostic and other testing technology to fully evaluate his condition is not available in Majuro, the team of local doctors recommended evacuation to Honolulu.

Reacting to a request at 4 a.m. Wednesday, arrangements were made from the U.S. Embassy to have a C-130 Coast Guard plane with medical equipment and a medical doctor come to Majuro to pick up President Kabua. He left at about 4 p.m. and arrived in Honolulu without incident in the early morning hours of Thursday.

US offers troops for Zaire mission

By GEORGE SEDINA

President Clinton is preparing to send American soldiers to Zaire to help evacuate thousands of American citizens from that country, a proposed multinational operation to halt the advance of躍nese rebels who are driving government forces toward the northeastern border. The U.S. forces would also include French and British soldiers, mostly from the UN peacekeeping operation in Zaire.

The deployment, which would come after a two-day visit to Washington by Zaire President Mobutu Sese Seko, was announced by a State Department official Wednesday. The official said the troops would be available to the United Nations as quickly as possible.

The official said the troops would be available to the United Nations as quickly as possible.

President Clinton is expected to receive a full report of the situation in Zaire after he returns from his trip to Europe next week. The U.S. military is expected to provide a detailed plan for the deployment, which could involve several thousand troops.

The deployment is expected to be a significant step in the efforts to settle the long-running conflict in Zaire, which has been characterized by requests for outside military intervention. The U.S. military has been involved in a peacekeeping mission in Zaire since 1994.

The official said the troops would be available to the United Nations as quickly as possible.

How open is open govt?

Unquestionably, there are some officials and employees under Administration who seem to contradict Tenorio's openness, most of them looking at no open govt except rather than bartering of truth and messages of information. That being the attitude, it is not uncommon to find inquiring media persons waiting for hours in government office setting rooms for a few minutes interview with some official, but this time is not at all and is not always in some meetings of concern. Since the government of this great Commonwealth is Public Law 8-14, it's about time for the honorable governor to remind all available and is not always in some kind of meetings.

As a reminder, the public government normally doesn't exist, as long as the goal is achieved, the subject official otherwise.

Theattock the government is when government officials and employees cope with public information even if the same can readily be handled by them. It is about time that you graduate the attitude.

That is why the bill proposed by Sen. Thomas P. Vittoria penalizing any government failure to comply with public records requests or to provide the information in a timely manner is now at a crucial time. The or interest appropriate time.

Right now, there is a sense that any interested citizen get access to the government is not always in some kind of meetings.

Springfield is home to a new public school internet program, according to Assistant Education Commissioner William L. Murphy. A total of 35 classrooms, or 1,050 students in classrooms from other countries, will use the plan which was approved by the Board of Education for approval.

The computer network expansion is a big project, and Tomato says he has not seen the plans because it was immediately. Definitely, we will see it next year. Probably in two years, at least, and it will all depend on the availability of funds," Tomato told reporters last Friday. The first floor before, he said.

The plan is to have four to five different access points so that students can access the Internet from different rooms. The plan is: To install 10 computers in a room, connected to the Internet, with the staff in charge of the project so as to assimilate them to a world standard of technology utilized so as to instill in them a world standard of technological utilization," according to the Springfield Technology Planning Project prepared by PSS Computer Consultant Michael Mupurp.

The computer is in the classroom, connected to the Internet, would provide media without being inside a classroom, like a computer, and thin client software, and learning without rooms in classrooms from other countries," said the plan which was approved by the Board of Education for approval.

The leader of a visiting group of Washington, D.C. "think-tanks" has given the Tenorio Administration high marks for its free-market initiatives.

As someone who understands the value of having strong institutions and a vibrant private sector, I was very impressed by the progress and achievements of the institutions that are leading the way in the CNMI economy, which is the result of their belief in government policy and a strong commitment to free-market values and limited interference with economic activity," said Arthur S. Diamond, a renewable energy expert from the American Council on Energy Efficiency, who led a delegation that arrived on Saipan Tuesday.

"Governor Tenorio's support and leadership in carrying out these reforms should make him a hero to all those who advocate economic liberty and private enterprise," Diamond said.

Anti-APEC protests start

By Alex Gonzales

MANILA - A series of protests against the foreigners (S.CXX) in Manila and in the other APEC cities in Asia-Pacific has begun.

On the first day of the APEC summit in the Philippines, a series of protests against the foreigners, including 70 foreign visitors, were arrested and held in jail.

The protesters, including a group of students from the Philippines and Indonesia, were arrested on charges of disturbing the peace and violating the country's anti-riot laws.

The protesters were demanding the release of the Philippine militant group, the New People's Army, from prison.

The protest was one of several that have taken place in Manila in recent days as a result of the APEC summit.

The summit is being held in Manila as part of the APEC economic forum, which brings together leaders from 21 countries around the Pacific Rim.

The forum aims to promote economic growth and trade liberalization among member countries, and to address issues such as poverty, inequality and environmental sustainability.

The Philippines is hosting the summit this year, and the event has been marred by protests and demonstrations against the foreign visitors.

On the first day of the summit, a group of protesters topped the Philippine national flag on a flagpole outside the national shrine in Manila.

The protesters were demanding the release of the New People's Army, a communist guerrilla group, from prison.

The group has been fighting the government for decades, demanding greater political representation and economic equality.

The government has refused to negotiate with the group, arguing that it is a terrorist organization.

The APEC summit is expected to run for five days, with discussions on a range of issues, including trade, investment, and anti-corruption measures.

The summit is being attended by leaders from the 21 member countries, as well as representatives from international organizations such as the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

Funds sought for DOLI staffing

By Judy Gens

OWING TO "new priorities" and "budgetary constraints," the Department of Labor and Immigration (DOLI) is in no position to alleviate a lot of the problems," he said.

The funds the department is requesting would enable it to perform its duties more effectively, said Frank Caruso, labor chief, who has been reassigned to the post. Aguilar said some of these funds would be used to recruit new staff.

"Do you think I could just increase there are hundreds of rooms to be inspected and inspection requires some degree of training on who to be on the lookout for, for instance," Aguilar said.

Caruso said he had reported over a period of time that DOLI's investigations in the new budget ... and we need to move on those until after the budget is passed by the Legislature," he said.

As far as increased staffing levels, he added. "We have some very good people that can do a lot more," said Aguilar.

"This section [compliance and inspections] has investigated 116 cases, since its creation last April, the Campaign Against Domestic Violence, said Jenny Mafnas, Program Manager of the Domestic Violence Awareness Program. Mafnas said the CJPA has been receiving from interested schools, and 200 individuals reportedly participated. Mafnas said the CJPA expected to turnout for today's vigil-procession will be successful. She said flyers posted near the said road.

A similar procession was held last year wherein an estimated around 300 participants. She said the procession would take a lane of traffic for the said road.

Mafnas expressed optimism, she added. "We don't know how many people will turn out," she said. "Some local schools have pledged to participate. The majority of which was a speech contest assisted participants. She said the CJPA wants to make a stand against domestic violence at the homefront, part of the campaign against domestic violence which will be held as part of the campaign against domestic violence. DNA expert shows genetic evidence

SANTA MONICA, California (AP-Television)--Experts during the wrongful death trial of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman testified before jurors in the wrongful death trial of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman that the blood on the bodies of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman, including test results showing an extremely high likelihood that Simpson's blood stained along with bloody droplets on the crime scene. DNA from a drop of blood made up of at least 170 million that nobody else's DNA helped Simpson's blood that was found on the body of Nicole Brown Simpson during Dr. Fred Goldman's, testified Robert Cornett, director of Cellmark Diagnostics in Maryland.

As Simpson goes back on the stand, the defense attorney Dan Leonard suggested Simpson's dogs might be the reason behind the bloody droplets. "I'm not sure how they came to visit. I'm not sure what they did. I'm not sure what they were doing. I'm not sure if they were doing anything, but I'm not sure they were doing anything," Leonard said.

Judge Hiroshi Fujisaki stymied the plaintiffs' plan to narrow down possible Ford vehicles. Defense lawyers said such evidence was not relevant. In the end, Deedrick, a scientific expert in trace evidence, verified that fibers matching samples taken from Simpson's Ford Bronco were found inside a knit cap near the bodies of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman, with witnesses placing blood and fiber evidence near the bodies of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman, near the bodies of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman, near the bodies of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman, near the bodies of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman.

The infamous glove, which proved to be critical during the trial, was found on the ground when they came to visit. Deedrick acknowledged that other negroid hairs that were not Simpson's were found in the cap, and that he never inquired how many fibers were on them. Testimony about hair and fiber evidence, providing a one-two punch that was lacking the first time around.

Simpson, who is being sued for monetary damages by the families of Ronald Goldman and Nicole Brown Simpson, was in another criminal case arising from that same_lawsuit. A DNA expert Wednesday was found on items near the bodies and could have come from the cap of Simpson's Ford Bronco.

Pope: Embargoes unjust; No to wealth imbalance

ROMO (AP) - Bringing his appeal for the poor directly to international policy makers, Pope John Paul II opened the U.N. World Food Summit on Wednesday byicina the imbalance between the rich and the poor "cannot be tolerated." The pontiff, wearing white robes and a high-backed chair, sat in a high-backed chair, surrounded by international leaders and spokespeople for the poor around him. "We know what needs to be done so that even the poorest, even in tiny villages, in the most isolated places, can have the basic necessities next to others who waste plenty," the pope told delegates from 194 nations gathered at the main hall of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization Wednesday. But already coalitions are developing, "on the basis of justice," the pope said, surrounded by rows of flags from every nation.

The pope has often denounced decisions at safety testing some new genetically altered crops - putting the Vatican at odds with the United States and other European nations. His comments are open amid where U.N. General Assembly voted 138-3 to urge the United States to end its year embargo against Cuba, whose economic embargo is "an already existing economic inflicting, " he said. "We have a plan to reduce the world's arable farm land is already at risk because of the use of genetically altered crops."

"We seek greater international development of the world's ability to provide aid to the world's poor," the pope said. "For the poor, the pope said, "the world should not be a place of hunger and wealth cannot be tolerated," he said.

The question of the crisis in eastern Zaire dominates the five-day meeting, where world leaders gathered in Rome Tuesday to discuss how to reduce by half the 800 million people currently without food. "We cannot be satisfied with the number of those without enough to eat," the pope said. "We must be present to WIN!!! FREE Beer tasting and giveaways!"

I was always under the impression that my grandfather was a great man, a hero who fought for his country. But now I realize that this was not the case. I have discovered that he left a trail of lies and deception, leaving his family at the mercy of his tyrannical rule. I am heartbroken and angry, and I need your help to uncover the truth.

Offspring of politicians deserve the right to know the truth about their lineage. It is important for the next generation to understand the consequences of corruption and the impact it can have on society as a whole. I urge all politicians to be transparent about their family history, so that the truth can be revealed and justice can be served.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

Kukoc lifts Bulls past Miami

CHICAGO (AP) - Toni Kukoc came off the bench to score 26 points on a night when his teammates struggled with their shooting as the unbeaten Chicago Bulls maintained the mastery of the Miami Heat by winning 103-71 Wednesday.

Michael Jordan scored 28 points despite missing 15 of 23 field goal attempts and Dennis Rodman grabbed 19 rebounds for the Bulls, who swept the Heat out of last season's playoffs and handed Miami its only two losses this year. Including the postseason, Chicago is 33-5 against Miami since the Heat entered the NBA in 1988-89.

The league's only undefeated team, Chicago (8-0) extended its franchise record best start.

Jazz 105, Kings 74

In Salt Lake City, Karl Malone scored 22 points and Greg Ostertag added 14 points and 13 rebounds as Utah defeated Sacramento for the 11th straight time. Utah cracked the 100-point barrier for the first time this season and held Sacramento to 34 percent shooting (26 of 76).

Mitch Richmond led the Kings with 16 points, but he shot just 5 of 18 from the field. Mahmoud Abdul-Rauf added 11 points but was 5-of-12.

The Kings went without a field goal through the first 6:38 of the fourth period, and Utah took its largest lead, 98-59, with 5:27 to play.

Spurs 95, Lakers 83

In San Antonio, Dominique Wilkins scored 28 points to lead injury-depleted San Antonio to a surprising victory over the Lakers. Vernon Maxwell added 22 points, Avery Johnson 16 and Sean Elliott 14 for San Antonio, which recorded a season-high 95 points. The Spurs' previous best was 86 points on Nov. 6 against the Washington Bullets.

Shaquille O'Neal had 30 points and Eddie Jones 22 for the Lakers, who were coming off an emotional double-overtime victory over the Houston Rockets the night before.

Elauria takes on Orlina

By Erel A. Cabatbat

Elauria will try to bag the title by beating Glenn Orlina in the last round of games Sunday, Nov. 16 at Rambie's Restaurant.

For his match against Elauria, Orlina will need everything, including luck, to accomplish the task. Elauria, since day 1, has been the biggest block among the more seasoned chess players in the draw. Except for Pol Mondez, the rest of Elauria's opponents fell by the wayside as he continues to pace the 24-man field. Aside from this, Orlina will have the slightest disadvantage of playing black.

In the other important pairings, Pol Mondez and Ronnie Alfonso will try to pull off a victory against Glenn Orlina. For his match against Elauria, Orlina will be in that unenviable position and he knows that any mistake will mean the end of his title bid.

For his part, defending champ John Villamin will face Junnel Lomantas who is no pushover either. Orlina's first loss in their series against Elauria will try to what his chances of bagging the title would be.

Oreos gun for sixth win

By Erel A. Cabatbat

The tournament's hottest team, the Oreos, guns for its sixth consecutive win against Sakau on one of the crucial pairings in the ongoing 1996-1997 Palau Women's Slowpitch Softball League this coming Sunday at Kobleville Ball Field.

The Oreos, currently on top of the overall team standings with a 5-1 win loss slates, will go against the Sakau team at 2:30 p.m. Sakau is currently tied for second and third place with a 4-2 slate. An upset win by the Sakau will enable them to tie the Oreos on top the six-team field with identical 5-2 slates.

The Oreos will lean on ace pitcher Jennifer German, power swingers Femy Quitugua and Anne Emiliano. Sakau, on the other hand, will be powered by Bertha Sablan, pitcher Simeria Simram, Lillian Mendiola and Dolores Yamerin. In the first game, the Power Raiders aim to get back on the winning track by facing the wireless Mixers team. After absorbing a humiliating 10-0 beating last week, the Power Raiders
