They pay $200 to make love

Josephine Tudela of Marianas High School, left, receives the Attorney General's Cup from Rex Palacios and Governor Pedro P. Tenorio after winning the annual AG oratorical contest on Wednesday. Last year's winner, Norma Ada of Mt. Carmel School, is at center.

SAIPAN — At least five businessmen and a lawyer paid $150 to $200 to have sex with former waitresses of three night clubs operated by O.K. International.

This was learned during the preliminary hearing held on Monday and Tuesday at the Trial Court on 70 counts of assault and battery and violations of labor and immigration laws filed by the Attorney General's office against O.K. President Oh Kwang Hun and his associates, Park Min Soo and Chong Sik Kim.

At the end of the hearing on Tuesday, Chief Judge Robert Hefner ruled that trial could proceed on 34 counts involving criminal liability for alteration of employment contracts, illegal holding of passports and assault and battery.

Judge Hefner dismissed 36 other charges involving non-payment of the minimum wage and overtime compensation. He said these cases could be pursued as civil cases.

Judge Hefner granted the defendants' desire to Republican rivals fail to resolve cash bond issue

SAIPAN — The three gubernatorial factions within the Republican Party failed to agree on Monday on the amount of cash bond that would be put up by each candidate to ensure that he would support whoever wins in the party primary.

Incumbent Governor Pedro P. Tenorio wants a $20,000 to $50,000 cash bond that would be deposited with the party and would be forfeited in case the loser in the primary decides to run on his own in November.

Former party Chairman Lorenzo I. Deleon Guerrero wants the amount limited to $5,000 and Senate President Ponciano C. Rasa's camp is proposing no more than $3,000.

Gov. Tenorio was repre-

SAIPAN — Seventeen losers and three winners in the April 21 election for delegates to the Constitutional Convention are asking the Board of Elections to recount the ballots cast in Saipan.

"Information available to us indicates that such a recount would probably change the results of said election," the group said in a letter received by the board Tuesday.

Winning candidates Lorenzo I. Deleon Guerrero and Luis M. Limes, both of whom signed the letter, could not be reached for comment on Tuesday. Dr. Joaquin A.

Tenorio, the third delegate-elect who signed the letter, said: "If there's any impropriety or any question that recounting will satisfy, I don't have any objection to that."

Dr. Tenorio signed the letter with reservation. He explained that he agreed

CAUGHT WHILE TRYING TO ESCAPE HISTORY

EDITORIAL

Compulsion

The economic compulsion is such that they'd do anything to stay, was a statement from Chief Judge Robert Hefner at the close of a preliminary hearing this week on a case of alleged alteration of working contracts of a number of waitresses.

Judge Hefner said it is universal, and rightly so. Assistant Attorney General Alex Castro recalled what he termed as the Netherlands operation, wherein women from Third World countries are lured on promises of decent jobs in European countries, only to be thrown into prostitution dens or sold like slaves.

These women go into a lot of trouble to apply for what they think are good-paying, honorable occupation in other countries. They spend a lot, and often get themselves and their families in debt to bribe people in recruitment agencies, labor offices and other agencies where their travel documents and employment papers are processed.

They go to other countries already burdened, even before earning their first dollar, with the responsibility of paying off their debts back home. Thus, when the job they applied for turns out contrary to their expectations and the treatment they get are less than what they feel they deserve, these women have to face a most difficult decision: Should they leave work and go home and face their creditors with nothing in their pockets and their families with nothing to give? Or should they stay and bear whatever abuses are heaped upon them, however their honor is trampled just to earn the money to pay their debts and save a little for their families?

Some go home. Many others decide to stay, trying to comfort themselves with the thought that whatever misfortune they suffer in other countries would not be known by their families and friends at home. That someday on their homecoming they would regain their dignity and leave their nightmares behind.

LETTERS

O.T. on 3-97

Dear Editor:

As Former President of the Senate, I wish to avail myself of the opportunity to set the record straight once and for all regarding Public Law 3-97 and the demise of the Senate under Rasa's presidency.

It is apparent that the public is being misled into thinking that it was Public Law 3-97 which brought financial fiasco to the Senate. As such, Senate President Ponciano Rasa claims that I left him with an "unpaid debt worth $600,000 of prior obligations.

The records in the Department of Finance would reveal that as of December 31, 1983, the total obligation of the Senate is $479,673.53, including accrued payroll of $60,717.12 versus a total allotment for the first quarter of FY 85 of $450,000. If the accrual is taken out which were supposed to be paid on January 6 and 20, 1985, the total obligation would be less about $419,000. By comparing this to the allotment of $450,000, there should not be an over-obligation encountered.

On December 29, 1983, the second quarter allotment was issued which brought the Senate total allotment as of the end of the first quarter to $800,000. Now, where would President Rasa find for him to continue saying that it was I that brought the Senate into its present financial difficulty?

Even if Public Law 3-97 were to provide $100,000 appropriation to each of the Senators, the $500-

Our colleagues started arriving for another brainstorming session on nuclear waste dumping. It's not just another boring meeting in that the group is made-up of a cross section of our local community. Be that as it may, it wasn't as interesting as the person sitting across the table from me. She sat there clinching her fist as though she's caught in a trance. I could see and almost hear her gritting her bright pearly teeth.

A few moments later as the group began discussing the hearing held by the Coastal Resource Management on JAL's permit, she remarked: "I can't believe the position taken by one of our congressmen who even joined us to Japan on this issue." It wasn't difficult to detect her resentment of politicians who can show their true colors when views contrary to their personal interest collide head-on with those views held by others that truly represent the sentiments of the local people.

Instantly, this woman became a study. Admittedly, I was taken aback by the fact that not only is she a delegate for the upcoming Constitutional Convention but she also came in very strong and topped the list of candidates. She's among the top five vote-getter! Not only is she bright, educated, analytical, outspoken and civic minded, but she's incorruptible. Her views transcend political boundaries. In short, she's capable of seeing all the trees in the forest and not just a single tree.

Perhaps the humble job that she now holds assisting the livelihood of a group of people who are much closer to earth than most of us has given her the opportunity to retreat to the silent corners of her mind to reassess the charted course of these islands. She's optimistic that we can all make our little isles a better place to live if we all work together in unison to improve provisions in the Covenant that appear to have become irrelevant with the current set of circumstance here. And she acknowledged that it was a good document that could be produced at that time by those who faithfully did their best for the CNMI.

Well, I think I have stretched your level of tolerance or held you under suspense long enough. She is Con-Con Delegate Maria T. Pangelinan.

On the lighter side of things, a Navy type was once stationed in Okinawa. One day he received a letter his son who wrote: "Dad, we are doing very well. We also have a new pop named John." Receiving that kind of letter when you're away from home or your family could really send your sanity every which way you can imagine.

As a good family man, he immediately fired off a letter to his wife asking whether his son's note has any truth to it. Evidently, he also enclosed his son's letter so that his wife could read it for verification. A few days later, he received a reply from his wife who explained that sonny boy meant the "good tidings of the recent appointment of Pope John." Well, the kid misspelled Pope which sent his father reeling for his sanity.

Ever noticed that people have the nerves to tell you their own version of i.e., the Hearn/Hagler fight even when they know that you sat right next to them when that event was aired on cable television? I had to stretch my patience and acknowledge their story with "... that's right, that's right, yeah, yeah..."

One fella gave me an instant reply saying: "Hearn threw every long bomb he could find... he had rubbery legs... but Hagler forced him the other way... he (Hearn) should have boxed him..." I kept nodding my head saying unto me, myself and I: "I saw that... that one too..." After a while, I got up and told this fella: "Did you forget that I was sitting right next to you when that fight was shown on TV?" I resent people who can't keep their bad breaths to themselves.

Well, maybe it's that local Chamorro character that forces the poor fella to tell his side of the story. What's perturbing really was his failure to recognize that I saw that fight too! Geeeee... we'll see you next week.

Localization of small business up

SAIPAN — The House of Representatives has passed on first reading a proposed law to localize 23 types of business and other enterprises capitalized at less than $250,000.

"This will enhance the development of local entrepreneurs and eventually lead to increased stability of the economy," the Committee on Resources and Development said in its report to the House.

House Bill No. 43, committee substitute, provides that on or before Jan. 1, 1988, the following businesses would be reserved as domestic business which means that they are owned 75 percent by CNMI citizens or residents or US or Trust Territory citizens:

- Land and sea transportation businesses operating solely within the Commonwealth, including taxis;
- Flower shops and nurseries;
- Tailor shops;
- Night clubs and bars, except those operating as part of another business, such as hotel;

- Barber and beauty shops;
- Auto repair shops;
- Gasoline service stations;
- Gift shops and similar retail stores;
- Restaurants, except those operating as part of another business, such as hotel;
- Laundry mats;
- Block or brick making;
- Printing shops;
- Equipment rentals;
- Travel agencies;
- Real estate broker or agent;

- Scuba diving rental and instruction;
- Traditional cultural entertainment groups;
- Commercial fishing ventures;
- Commercial farming ventures;
- Windsurfer and sailboat rental;
- School and office supplies;
- Employment agency and recruiting; and
- Boxing promotions.

In its report, the committee said it found that the number of foreign businesses in the Commonwealth has greatly increased in recent years. "We further find that until and unless the Government helps domestic businesses, the local economy will soon be controlled and dominated by foreign interests," the committee said.

The committee said the government favors development through foreign investment but this "should be selective and it should contribute to the overall development of the Commonwealth's economy."

Police search parties arrest two escapees

SAIPAN — The two prisoners who escaped Friday last week are back in jail, Department of Public Safety Capt. Jose M. Castro said on Tuesday.

They are: Pedro P. Cabrera of San Jose who was convicted for the fatal stabbing of police officer Joaquin Mettao and Herbert M. Camacho of Fina Sisu who was convicted of killing two men.

The two prisoners who are participants in the work relief program, left their respective places of work on Friday. When they failed to report back to jail, the chief of corrections confirmed that they were not on their jobsites and were considered as having escaped.

A search party was immediately organized and all off-duty officers were called back to help in the search which started on Friday evening. The search party found the two at the Old Man by the Sea area but Camacho was able to escape.

A special search team headed by Lt. Antonio Reyes was organized on Monday to look for Camacho. Members of the group were pulled out of their cases to intensify the hunt.

At 5:43 p.m. of the same day, Camacho surrendered to the team at the intersection to Kagman road.

Castro said Camacho has been referred to the Attorney General's office for a review of his case and possible prosecution because of the escape.

He has been deeply involved in the development of the tourism industry, the Commonwealth's primary industry and major source of revenues.

SAIPAN — Manuel C. Sablan of Pacific Development, Inc., has announced his intention to seek Democratic Party nomination to run for a seat in the House of Representatives in November.

Sablan declared his intention in an April 19 letter to Democratic Party Chairman Joaquin I. Pangelinan.

CNMI seeks $39.1M for CIP in '86

SAIPAN — The Commonwealth is asking for $39.1 million from the United States to finance major capital improvement projects in fiscal year 1986.

These projects are part of the $280-million CIP funding package which the Commonwealth wants to be completed in the next seven years under the proposed multi-year financial assistance program for the CNMI.

The multi-year CIP financial package is now being negotiated between US and CNMI representatives.

Senate Vice-President Benjamin T. Manglona, testifying before the US Congress this week, said that the CNMI's CIP requirements are in the areas of roads (27 percent), ports and harbors (23 percent), power, (14 percent), water (15 percent), sewers (10 percent), educational facilities (8 percent), public buildings (4 percent) and health (0.3 percent). These do not include $12 million in equipment, vehicles and minor capital improvements needed over the next seven-year period.

Manglona said that some of the CIP projects "are of such pressing urgency that we ask that you include them in the FY 1986 appropriations for the Commonwealth."

He identified the following projects:

- $3.5 million to complete the Commonwealth Health Center;
- $6 million for Saipan water projects;
- $15.6 million for Saipan ports and harbor improvements;

— $7 million for the Saipan and Rota power plants;

— $4 million for power

distribution; and

— $ 3 million for an American Memorial Park.

During his testimony,

Manglona also sought an additional $2.3 million to finance the fruit fly eradication program in Rota.

The Commonwealth of the Northern Marianas House of Representatives has honored with a special resolution UOG Student Body President, Martin B. Taman. He was recognized as the first student from the Commonwealth to head the UOG Student Body organization.

NMI needs SBA—Sablan

THE HOUSE REPORT — Speaker Vicente M. Sablan this week wrote to the chairman of the Budget Committee of the U.S. Senate, Senator Peter Dominici, about President Reagan's plan to abolish the U.S. Small Business Administration which the U.S. Congress is presently reviewing.

In his letter Sablan said the abolition of the SBA in the U.S. flag territories is not in the best interest of the Northern Marianas and Guam. Sablan added, the SBA provides a vital financial program to these territories and its continuation would greatly enhance the development of the private sector.

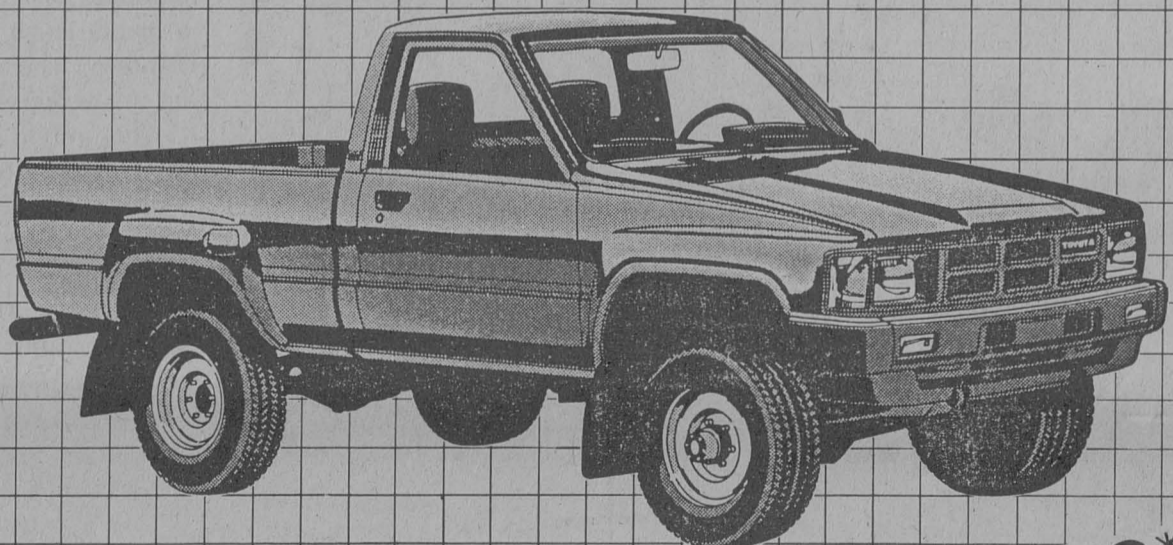

The SBA is an independent federal agency created by the U.S. Congress which provides loans in the area of business development and individual recoupment assistance in the aftermath of a natural disaster.

Recently, the House of Representatives has adopted a House Resolution requesting the U.S. Small Business Administration to assist the Northern Marianas to develop a strong, viable domestic private sector by extending its programs and services to the CNMI.

NMI pushes FSC-haven promotions

Most of the 30,000 companies in the United States which are qualified to put up foreign sales corporations (FSC) do not know they could do it and not aware of the benefits they could get out of FSCs.

Only about 2,000 FSCs were organized, mostly in US territories, as of March 31 this year, or a mere 6.7 percent of the total number of potential FSCs. Of those organized, only 15 chose the Northern Marianas as their base.

The task at hand is to make these companies realize that the Commonwealth is the most favorable FSC location, compared to Guam, the Virgin Islands and American Samoa and the 26 other countries qualified to participate in the FSC program, according to Richard W. Balsamo, a Washington-based tax lawyer.

Balsamo, who was formerly with the US Department of Commerce, was hired to write the regulations under Public Law 4-15 or the local FSC law and to help in clarifying the incentives available to FSCs in the Northern Marianas in addition to those offered by the US.

In a press conference yesterday, Balsamo pointed out that there are no deadlines for the establishment of FSCs. "It is a continuing program," he said.

He said that PL 4-15 is a forward-looking law which offers a much broader incentive than other areas. "The NMI looks to FSCs as a long-term development possibility to generate jobs," Balsamo said.

"If the NMI tax advantage is clarified, even the FSCs in other jurisdictions will move here," he said.

Citing an example, Balsamo said that in the other US jurisdictions, only the income which is exempted from US taxes under the Deficit Reduction Act are given the same treatment in the Virgin Islands and other areas.

In contrast, the CNMI's PL 4-15 exempts from local taxes all income from FSC activities, including those which are not qualified for US tax incentives, Balsamo pointed out.

Balsamo also said that the Virgin Islands impose a 10-percent withholding tax on income repatriated to stockholders, such as income from bank deposits or placements.

In the NMI there is no tax on such income.

Balsamo said that many of the potential FSCs have not yet examined the advantages of organizing FSC subsidiaries. Those which put up FSCs are mostly companies which want to retain the benefits they enjoyed under the previous DISC program.

Balsamo said the CNMI is an ideal location for companies engaged in agricultural production and those which want to avail of incentives under another program, the General Headnote 3(a) program.

Export-oriented US companies can use their FSCs here to sell to other countries. With a manufacturing operation in the Northern Marianas, these companies can manufacture goods here for export back to the US and avail themselves of the duty-free and quota-free treatment under Headnote 3(a).

CNMI-Taiwan group plans $6-M prawn venture

SPIA starts Saipan, Rota service

After six months on the ground, South Pacific Island Airways started flying yesterday to Saipan and Rota.

The airline was grounded by the Federal Aviation Administration on Oct. 14 last year due to violations of safety regulations, the most serious of which was the straying of an aircraft into Soviet air space.

SPIA started its flights to Rota in 1978, when Continental Airlines left the route.

During its grounding last year, Continental took over the route. It is still not known whether Continental would leave the Saipan-Rota and Guam-Rota routes again with the return of SPIA.

with Taiwan's Stchiang International Corporation, is proposing to use a site in the As Mahetog area of Saipan's Lower Base which was identified by a recent CRM-sponsored study as one of the three most promising for aquaculture operations on the island.

According to the application, the first phase of the project will use 15 earthen, clay-lined ponds with a total of nearly 50,000 square meters between them to raise the Prawns (Penaeus Monodon), which a company sponsored feasibility study found were the best choice for production on Saipan, both because of the local climate and their tolerance for a wide range of salt levels in the water supply.

The company's application estimates a $384,000 cost of construction and a $300,000 cost for operation the first year. The first year production goal will be 76,000 pounds of Prawns.

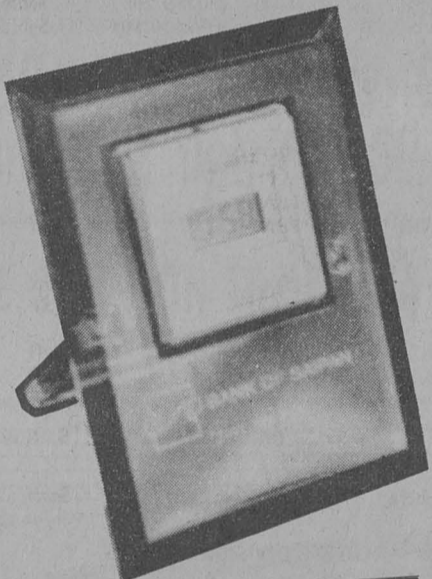

Wells will be drilled on the site to provide brackish water needed for the operation. As noted in the study recently done by the Northern Islands Company for CRM, the site, which is largely surrounded by industrial operations, has nearby roads and access to supplies of municipal electricity and water. The company application and its feasibility study both refer to the NICO/CRM study in making the case for the proposal.

The company study said that among other things, the new aquaculture operation would be able to produce sufficient Prawns to supply the market in both the Commonwealth and on Guam.

Mariana Mariculture, Inc., whose principals on Saipan are Charles Jordan and Eloy Inos, initially received permission from the Marianas Public Land Corporation to conduct water and soil sampling. The firm would have to negotiate a leave with the MPLC for the land, which is all publicly owned. (Coastal Views).

Bone-hunting anomalies exposed

Since the early 70s, missions of Japanese have come to the Commonwealth to gather the bones of their countrymen who died during World War II, in line with the belief that the spirits of the fallen warriors will not be at peace until their remains are brought home. The bones that are collected are burned in colorful ceremonies on Saipan and the ashes returned to Japan.

But Commonwealth officials from the Historic Preservation Office of the Department of Commu-ity and Cultural Affairs wound up seizing a large number of the remains collected by the 1985 bone hunting mission, saying they appeared to be not only non-Japanese, but in some cases from prehistoric residents of Saipan and Tinian.

Observers of the mission said that in some cases, the group also collected the bones of pigs and other animals which turned up during their search.

And archaeologist Graeme Ward, who saw the results of Japanese home hunting with a bulldozer at Tinian's Chuku Beach invasion site says, "it's safe to say that an important (latte) site was destroyed."

"During its stay on Saipan, the group also stuffed three bags with bones which were exposed during construction at the Hafa Adai Hotel where they were staying. Mike Fleming of the Historic Preservation Office also seized these remains, saying that signs such as a betel nut stained jaw bone from one of the skulls suggest that the site was the location of an ancient Chamorro mass burial.

The CNMI's Public Law 3-33 regulates home hunting and the removal of human remains from the Commonwealth, providing a maximum $1,000 penalty for violations. A February 8th letter to Japanese Consul Tosaku Tsuchiya from Community and Cultural Affairs Director Gil Ada approving this year's mission included the condition that the group, "will refrain from excavating or digging for remains limiting their efforts to collecting remains on the surface of the ground. Where digging is absolutely necessary, permission of the Historic Preservation Officer shall be secured prior to the commencement of digging."

The Japanese visit to Tinian in early March coincided with that of Professor Ward of Australia National University, who was leading a 12 member team in the excavation of a prehistoric latte site in Tinian's Tachogna area under a contract with the Historic Preservation Office and the CRMO.

Ward said he became curious about the methods of the bone collectors after hearing that they were at work at the remote Chulu Beach site on Tinian's northwest coast.

When the team arrived, they found the Japanese had used "a bloody big bulldozer" to clear a 125 by 50 meter area near the beach in the vicinity of a known latte site. A month after the clearing, pieces of broken Marianas redware pottery which is associated with the pre-latte period prior to AD 800 were still to be seen on the surface at the site, a clear indication of long human occupation and also of the disturbance caused by the haphazard methods being used.

Professor Ward said Tinian Historic Preservation Officer Estanislaw Hocog who accompanied his group to Chuku Beach ordered the bone hunters to immediately stop their operations and stood in front of the bulldozer, telling its operator to take the machine home.

Members of the archaeological party, including a specialist in physical anthropology, later checked the Tinian remains and reported to the HPO that they were "unmistakably Chamorro," according to Professor Ward.

On March 19, a crew from Shimizu Construction on Saipan pulled down an Ironwood tree to make way for expansion of the Hafa Adai Hotel Annex. Removal of the tree roots exposed what appeared to be a burial site containing the remains of 12 individuals. Construction workers apparently tipped off the bone hunting mission which was then staying at the hotel. By the time officials arrived at the scene the next day, the hole had been backfilled and the bones had been mixed together in bags, compounding confusion over how they had been collected and making identification of them even more difficult. These bones were also seized and are being sent to Hawaii for identification.

HPO's Mike Fleming said that in lieu of a fine, the Japanese Consulate on Saipan has informally agreed to pay the costs of analyzing the remains to determine which are actually Japanese.

The CRMO will be investigating the bone hunting expedition to determine whether its regulations were violated.

Both Professor Ward and Fleming agreed that future bone hunting missions will face stricter enforcement and conditions on their activities.

Reyes inspires parents of disabled

SAIPAN -- Highlighting the Commonwealth's first "Month of the Disabled," Guam's Lt. Governor Edward Reyes told a group of concerned parents here on April 26 that "there is no such thing as a small accomplishment for disabled and handicapped people."

Addressing more than 100 residents of Saipan, Tinian and Rota at the Commonwealth's first "Parents Educational Nite," at the Surf Hotel, Lt. Gov. Reyes shared his experiences as the father of a 29-year old disabled son who now earns his own living in Guam.

"We have a lot in common," the lieutenant governor told the local parents' group, which met for the first time at the Surf Hotel. Reyes confided that it took his own family "extraordinary patience and care" to raise his disabled son and "learn to comfort him when life demanded more than he could give."

"There is no such thing as a small accomplishment for the disabled and handicapped," Reyes told the parents. Concerning his own disabled son, Lt. Gov. Reyes explained: "He taught us how to be better human beings."

Sponsored by Catholic Social Services, the NMI's first "Parents Educational Nite" culminated a month of activities, including the Commonwealth's "First Conference on the Disabled" that was held at the CNMI Convention Center on April 22-23, and Chamorro Village on April 24. The conference focused on the needs of the disabled and government services available to assist them.

"Our aim was to let our disabled and handicapped people and their families know about the service network that are established throughout the Commonwealth," said Felicidad Ogumoro, deputy executive director of Catholic Social Services.

Called "Challenge 1985, the first conference on the disabled brought together concerned parents, the CSS Protection and Advocacy Program, Special Education,

Public Health, Vocational Rehabilitation and the Developmental Disabilities

Council and Agency.

"Working together, they developed plans and set eleven priorities to help the disabled," Ogumoro said.

Thank You

To all of you who voted for me in the recent election, Thank you.

Your support and confidence in me is greatly appreciated and, in or out of office, I will continue to work for the development of the Commonwealth and the best interests of the people of the Northern Marianas.

Also, congratulations to all the delegates-elect.

Sincerely,

STEPHEN C. WOODRUFF

On behalf of my family, I wish to extend a sincere appreciation to all those who voted for me during the April 21, 1985 Constitutional Convention election. The vote of confidence that you, as voters, vested in me is very precious and will long be remembered by all of us.

To all, relatives and friends, who worked hard with me during my campaigning, our hearts cannot express how much we appreciated all the hard work. We would also like to extend our heartfelt appreciation to all who donated financial assistance and in-kind contribution for my campaign expenses. A special thank you is extended to John T. Flores, my treasurer, for working so hard in soliciting contributions towards my campaign expenses.

Although I was not fortunate to win at this election, it does not necessarily mean that I am no longer interested in helping the people of the Commonwealth in any way I can. As always, I stand ready to help and I am sure that all of us can work together so that we can make our Commonwealth a better place to live for ourselves as well as for future generations to come.

To the victors of the Constitutional Convention election, my family join me in congratulating you all and, we are very confident, that you will deliver your services and represent us all at the Convention as representatives of the people of the Commonwealth of the Northern Marianas.

Again, thank you, si yuus maase, ghilisol, kemosulang, maraming salamat to all who voted for me.

It would be an excellent night for music lovers, particularly those who love good old American jazz, Guam entertainment promoter Roberto Fracassini promised.

Fracassini is bringing Ajafika Calvin Keys and his group to perform at the Surf Hotel on May 10 and 11, from 7-10 p.m. The show, titled Calvin Keys Trio Plus One also includes Bob Braye on the drums, Tim Hoff playing the bass and Brenda Boykin providing the feminine vocal touch.

The repertoire for the two evening shows would be made up of standard American ballads and other songs like Misty and Stella by Starlight.

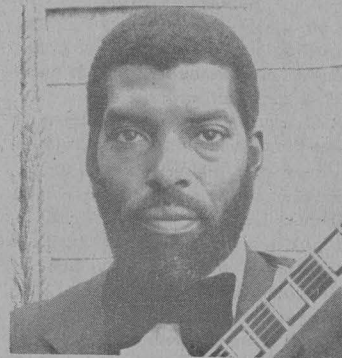

"The songs are the kind you like to hear while sitting down and relaxing, never loud," Fracassini said.

Keys is also expected to perform some of the songs in his latest album, "Full Court Press."

Describing Keys, Leonard Feather, syndicated jazz critic of the Los Angeles Times, said: Keys displays a capacious technique and a sensitive non-rhetorical style that is substantially original. He is beholden neither to the conventional patterns of the eightnote linerunners nor the parallel octaves of the Wes Montgomery School. . . Keys and his empathetic sidemen are clearly committed to jazz and this is jazz of a genre that calls for more than casual listening."

Keys was born in

Calvin Keys

Omaha, Nebraska and has been a member of several touring groups like Ray Charles and His Orchestra. He is listed in the Encyclopedia of Jazz in the Seventies by Leonard Feather and Ira Gitler (Horizon Press) and in the Ebony Jazz Poll.

Fracassini said the Calvin Keys Trio and Ms. Boykin will come from San Francisco and will perform first in Saipan and then in Guam.

Mr. Song enchants Rota

by Wendy L. Lusa

Feet were tapping, hands were clapping and music filled the air this week on the island of Rota where residents were blessed with the week-long visit of singer-composer, Michael Stanwood of Denver, Colorado.

Mr. Stanwood performed and demonstrated musical instruments in all of Rota's schools to wide-eyed, smiling students — some nicknamed him "Mr. Song" and screamed joyfully when they saw him coming. The radiant musician enchanted the students with original songs and such popular tunes as "We Are The World." He also shared some traditional American songs such as "Bill Grover's Goat" which stirred many happy New England childhood memories for me.

The artist delighted the community's senior citizens at a special performance at their Center. Mr. Stanwood created a magical atmosphere there proving that music is, indeed, a universally understood voice which transcends all language barriers. His rendition of "I Am My Own Grandpa" was accepted with roars of laughter. Harmonica player, Mikau Sikebert almost stole the show with his spirited dancing and playing, and Mr. Stanwood remarked, "I haven't had this much fun in years!" Chamorrita singers, Ursula Atalig, Bartala Ogo, Rudy Mundo, Hilda Ogo, Guillema Ogo and Ortillia Ogo also performed to the delight of their fellow musician.

The newly formed Music Society of Rota sponsored a concert featuring Mr. Stanwood at the Pau Pau Hotel. The audience had the opportunity to receive his gift of song and music which he so enthusiastically and lovingly presented. Never have I heard an autoharp played so perfectly — so beautifully. Mr. Stanwood is an artist in the truest sense of the word — he has the rare ability to create a charged atmosphere flooded with emotion; always maintaining perfect harmony with the audience by skillfully selecting his songs to create the ultimate mood. His hauntingly beautiful autoharp renditions of "Greensleeves," "Tennessee Green" and "American Songs" moved some of the audience to tears while his humorous tunes such as "Lemon Lion" and "I Am My Own Grandpa" had the audience in stitches.

Mr. Stanwood invited Mikau Sikebert to accompany him with his harmonica and dance. The crowd loved the combination and Mr. Sikebert gathered some participants from the audience to join in the dancing and fun.

Dear Saipan Residents:

I extend my sincere appreciation to all of you for your vote of confidence in me to represent you at our second Constitutional Convention. I pledge to generate and support proposals to the Con-Con which will positively contribute to the public welfare and benefit and insure the continuing economic and social growth of our Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands.

have a jury trial, which was set on July 22. Oh, Park and Chong were ordered to post a $5,000-cash bail each and were prohibited from leaving Saipan.

Assistant AG Alex Castro said it was a test case because this is the first time the AG is prosecuting for the possible criminal liability of employers for labor law violations.

In the past, only civil cases were filed against abusive employers.

If convicted of all the charges against them, Oh, Park and Chong could be imprisoned for a maximum term of 34 years and fined $155,000. An additional penalty would be deportation.

During the two-day hearing, the waitresses testified that they were threatened by the defendants, who supervised the OB Night Club, Lucky Night Club and Casanova Night Club, that they would be sent back to the Philippines if they did not provide good service to customers.

The waitresses said they were forced to submit to kissing with their customers, allowing them to touch their breasts, masturbate them and engage in sexual intercourse for fear of being sent home and losing their source of income.

Ruth T. Guerrero

One of the waitresses who testified during the hearing said that she went out between November 1984 and February this year with four local businessmen who paid $200 each to have sex with her. The sex acts were done inside cars or motels.

Of the total amount, the waitress said $150 went to the club and $50 to her.

Another waitress at Lucky Night Club, barely 20 years old, was ordered to work overtime one night in February and during which time had to submit to oral sex and masturbation with a prominent local trader.

At the Casanova Night Club, one of the former waitresses said that she made love with four customers on a table in the dark corner of the club. She could not identify her four customers but another waitress at the same club said she masturbated a lawyer.

Tinian dog bones puzzle savants

The skeleton of a dog found buried in a Tinian latte site poses some of the most tantalizing questions raised during the ten weeks the archaeological team spent digging on Saipan and Tinian.

The skeleton was sealed over by three layers of material at the site in Tinian's Tatchogna area, according to archaeologist Graeme Ward. The site features 14 latte stones and an associated mound. Indicators such as pottery fragments found near the skeleton appear to date the area to the late Chamorro occupation, with some of the items mentioned as reasons for the request for a recounting there were also some which he did not know.

John Diaz, executive director of the Board of Elections, said that the board would meet today to discuss the letter. "No position has been taken so far by any board member," he said.

Commenting on the group's position that appointments of tabulators should have been approved by the candidates, Diaz said that under the law it is the board's obligation to appoint whoever it wants to work in the election.

The group cited the following grounds for calling for a recount in Saipan, as follows:

- Five unsuccessful candidates are within 30 votes of the successful candidate receiving the fewest number of votes;

- Tabulation and verification procedures were inadequate;

- Tabulators were selected without consultation or approval of the candidates;

- The place of tabulation was changed at the last minute without notice to candidates, and the place of tabulation was not neutral ground;

- Persons were present in the tabulation center who had no legitimate reason to be there, in violation of 1 CMC Section 6414;

- We understand some ballots were voided simply because they contained foul language or because of a single unusual mark, even though they were otherwise validly marked;

- Tabulation itself did

- not contain sufficient safeguards to ensure a true and correct record of the votes, and tabulation procedures were not clearly defined or adhered to closely;

- Poll workers were inexperienced, even though this was a more complicated election than a regular general election;

- Some poll workers gave incorrect information to voters, such as advising them that their ballots would be void if they voted for fewer than 16 candidates;

- Inexperienced poll workers were observed failing to follow correct poll procedures;

- A number of poll workers were minors. Minors do not have the legal capacity to enter into contracts, yet the responsibilities of poll workers essentially require performance of a very serious contract with the Board of Elections and the people of the Commonwealth to fully and faithfully carry out their duties as required by election law and the principles of free elections;

- Many voters did not have genuine privacy in which to mark their ballots; and

- Campaign materials were taken into the polling place and sometimes even placed or left in the polling booth.

The losing candidates who signed the joint letter were: Pedro S. Arriola, Michael A. White, Frances C. Sablan, Lydia Camacho-Romisher, Stephen C. Woodruff, Vicente C. Seman, Vicente T. Attao, Maximo T. Attao, David M. Sablan, Jose Q. Guerrero, Vicente T. Torres, Fred Camacho, Felipe Atalig, Ramon S. Guerrero, Antonio A. Benavente, Eddie C. Deleon Guerrero and Alvaro S. Santos.

sented during Monday's hearing by Ramon S. Guerrero and Ben Santos. Guerrero was represented by Herman Cruz and Elias Okamura and Rasa was represented by Joaquin Villanueva and Frank Demapan.

When the meeting failed to agree on the amount of the proposed bond, a special rules committee was formed composed of Ramon G. Villagomez as chairman and Manny Villagomez and Jose Tenorio as members.

The committee came out with a compromise amount of $12,000 but this also failed to get the approval of the Guerrero and Rasa camps.

Because of this, the cash bond issue was expected to be the major issue in last night's general membership meeting of the Republican Party.

The meeting, scheduled to be held at the Marianas High School cafeteria, would also take up the rules and regulations that would be followed in the May 26 primary.

Youths carry gov't positions well

By Wendy L. Lusa
Twenty seniors replaced the mayor, senators, congressmen, resident directors and activity heads in "Student Takeover Day" in Rota.

David T. Manglona, Mayor Prudencio Manglona's nephew looked very much at home behind the Mayor's desk. While I was there, he accepted a phone call, and earlier had handled a complaint concerning the repair of an irrigation pipe line from as Nieves to the Dugi area. Young David wrote a very competent letter to the Rota Agriculturist and Resident Director of Public Works appealing for the repair of the pipe line.

Mayor Manglona said, "This is very good experience for the seniors" and remarked that it gave them a chance to study the departments they took over.

David said that maybe someday he would like to be Mayor of Rota but first would like to go to college and obtain some experience, adding that Mayor Manglona doesn't have to worry about his position.

At the Rota High School Eddie Hocog was acting Principal and decided to have an afternoon away from studies. The student body had disco music and dancing and volleyball activities. The atmosphere was like that of a carnival with musician Michael Stanwood also on hand to entertain.

The Acting Principal said that he had to discipline six students and made them clean the bathrooms, rake the yard and sweep the walks. The teachers at the school all agreed that Eddie was doing a terrific job and one remarked that he even came to tell him to pick up his paycheck. After Eddie graduates he plans to attend the Northern Marianas College.

The students at the High School said that they would like to keep Eddie as their Principal because they liked the idea of the afternoon for recreation.

The students met for a mock meeting at the Pau Pau Chamorro Hut to discuss the Capital Improvement Program for the Fiscal Year 1986 and other problems affecting the people on Rota. The meeting was carried on in a serious fashion with the Mayor and other Rota officials observing.

The day culminated with a picnic-barbecue at Tewksberry Beach with a speech by Mayor Manglona. Students who participated in the day were:

Mayor — David T. Manglona
Senator Manglona — Dick San Nicholas
Senator Inos — Melinda Manglona
Senator Calvo — Ramon Sablan
Congressman Hocog — Theresa Santos

000 actually provided for Senate operations would be sufficient an amount if only prudent management were exercised by his leadership. The $500,000 additionally made available as supplemental by Public Law 4-4 for Senate operations should be more than adequate. In fact, it was excessive! Another assistance was provided under Public Law 4-22 supplementing $386,615 for Senate Operations, $50,000 each to the Senate Minority and the Senate Republican Coalition for a total appropriation of $486,615.00. Obviously, the cost of operating the Senate amounted to $1,386,615.00 from direct appropriations alone and putting in the pooled amount from the five senators (Rasa, Mafnas, Inos, Manglona and Guerrero) at $500,000 gives $1,886,615.00 of expenditures at the discretion of Rasa and his group.

It should be noted that the obligations incurred and expended for the first quarter of FY 1984 when I was Senate President were for normal operations of the Senate which include payrolls, administrative/committee expenses and senatorial representation allowances. With a regular quarterly allotment of $350,000 given for the first quarter, plus an advance of $100,000 to cover O/R payments, the $450,000 available for that period would be sufficient for the Senate obligations excluding payroll. If there were in fact other prior obligations incurred for FY 1983 presented for payments to the Department of Finance which inflated authorized funding for the Senate, then it is possible that those expenditures were of the nature not officially sanctioned. I do arbitrarily condone this latter suggestion in that the $600,000 obligations often quoted by malcontents is not only ill-conceived but a purposeful distortion of the truth.

Not only do I feel that the quoted figure is wrong, but should also be less in that the SRM was assessed a total of $96,681.18 for expenditures incurred for the first quarter and charged against our individual senatorial accounts under PL 3-97. This $96,681.18 was transferred from our accounts to the Senate Operations

Account made effective by your memorandum of May 31, 1984, inspite of our objections that we only have to return a portion for salaries and official representation. With such transfer, the Senate again had this much amount in additional resources.

The ultimate conclusion of the present conditions in the Senate under President Rasa can only be drawn in its simplistic term by their callous insensitivity to practice proper fiscal control. How would you manage to reduce cost when every time you obtain supplemental funds to cover prior obligations, you went ahead and again hire additional employees without considering the consequential effect of such hiring against available funds? In fact, during my presidency, the Senate had only 43 employees but a substantial amount of work were accomplished including the enactment of 150 laws. The Senate now under Rasa is engulfed with over 100 employees and only an output thus far of less than 50 laws.

I hope this letter negates the misunderstanding often times attributed to the passage of PL 3-97. The itself has been ruled as perfectly legal by the court. Its effect does not disrupt the good it has done in ways of providing essential services to the public. Much of its opposition was attributed to that of personality demonstrated against the four of my fellow senators who obviously believe that we are performing within the understanding that we are altogether elected by the people we serve.

The truth shall prevail and we believe that Public Law 3-97 will be vindicated as not the culprit it was painted to be by President Rasa and his group.

Than you Mr. Editor for running a newspaper that has credibility. Your efforts in this regard is comfortably rewarded by the fact that more people read your newspaper than the "other weekly propaganda sheet."

Continental

To the Editor:

Please use the following letter in the interests to fairness to our readers. I have sought permission to see that this letter—a reaction to what I have written about the airline business—is given the opportunity to be understood by all. Thank you. JR.

Dear Mr. Del Rosario:

I read with great interest your article in the March 22nd issue regarding Tourism and Continental Airlines' position on that subject.

First, let me clarify for the record that Continental Airlines has never been opposed to legitimate competition. On the other hand, you are absolutely correct that we oppose the Commonwealth's Open Skies Policy. It is in that regard that I write you this letter.

Today, both carriers operating in the Saipan-Japan market operate on an average, a 65% load

 factor. Certainly these load factors go up during peak periods to the extent that hotel capacity will allow and therein lies Continental's strong objection to the Northern Marianas' current Open Skies Policy. It will be several years before additional hotel rooms are available for occupancy. If two more carriers were to be permitted to operate on these routes, those four carriers could anticipate nothing better than to divide the current 65% load factor due to the restrictions imposed by the lack of rooms.

Continental's primary utilization of its equipment is to provide service to Saipan, Japan, Philippines, Hong Kong, Taipei and all of the points in Micronesia. I point this out because our competition and our future competition will be servicing your area with what we in the airline business call "left-over aircraft time." Meaning simply that the equipment, after serving their primary markets service your area. That is why you see the competition arrives and departs your island in the middle of the night.

With that as a foundation, the economics of their operation also changes. Since it is not their primary source of revenue they tend to put in place high discounted fares which tend to attract tourists with no discretionary money to spend on your island.

Continental has long been the pioneer in Japan promoting Saipan, Guam, and other points in Micronesia. We are the carrier that has invested millions of dollars to develop a sound tourist market who had discretionary income to support a developed infrastructure.

Our future plans are to continue this capital investment in terms of equipment whose sole purpose will be additional route development focusing on our primary tourist destinations, i.e., saipan, Rota, Guam, Palau, Truk, Pohnpei and Majuro.

Competing carriers will attempt to enter markets previously developed by Continental servicing these markets late at night with left-over aircraft time.

In losing our position is not one of anti-competition, and in fact, we have very successfully competed with the largest carrier in the world. Our concerns are focused solely in the area of hotel capacity over the next three years which were not positioned to address the market needs and as a result would see a market frozen by room capacity divided among four carriers two of which had no involvement in the development of the market. Additionally, seating capacity well in excess of hotel room capacity will create instability in an otherwise stable market.

Sincerely,
 s/Daniel H. Purse

On Froilan's letter

Dear Editor:
 I am disturbed by the letter written to our Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House by our Washington Representative regarding the tax issue and the referendum on whether to seek an amendment to the Covenant with respect to the Internal Revenue Code.

The letter accuses our legislative and executive leadership of irresponsibility, not informing the public accurately, and misleading the public intentionally.

It appears that we in the CNMI do not know what our Washington representative is doing in Washington and he does not know what we are doing in the CNMI. There is a definite lack of communication between our Government here and our representative in Washington.

This is extremely detrimental to our economic and political health. It ruins our reputation in Washington and weakens our ability to influence Congress, if we have any such ability. Unless our CNMI Government and our Washington representative start to speak the same language, we can anticipate a bleak future.

Sincerely,
 s/Ramon G. Villagomez

MVB holds language class

A conversational Japanese language course was conducted in Rota on April 15-18 at the Rota Pau Pau Hotel conference room.

According to the Marianas Visitors Bureau, the three-day session is the first of its kind to be held on Rota. Participants included employees from hotels, tour companies, restaurants, and the Divisions of Customs, Immigration, and Quarantine.

The course was taught by Anicia Tomokane, Japanese language instructor at the Northern Marianas College. The 12 students who completed the course got credit towards an Associate of Arts degree.

Certificates were presented to the students by Northern Marianas College Dean of Business Affairs, Edward Guerrero. The language program was funded by MVB as a part of its efforts to upgrade the Japanese language skills of employees of tourist-related offices and companies.

"GOD'S PLAN OF SALVATION"

FIRST — You Need to be Saved: "For all have sinned and comes short of the glory of God."

SECOND — You Cannot Save Yourself: "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His Mercy He saved us." (Titus 3:5)

THIRD — God Has Provided for Your Salvation: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." (John 3:16)

FOURTH — You Must Accept Jesus for Salvation: "But as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name." (John 1:12)

"That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." (Romans 10:1-10)

FIFTH — Now is the Time to Accept Jesus as Saviour: "Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation." (II Corinthians 6:2)

Wildfire, a problem in Saipan

The clear, dry days of April and May somehow intensify Saipan's natural beauty — the lagoon appears bluer, sands along the beach shine in blinding whiteness, and our verdant hills can be seen in every detail. However, this view is sometimes marred by black smoke billowing up from the savanas of Mt. Tapotchau, causing the skies over the villages and beaches to become hazy. The dry grass burns too easily, and fires may continue for a day or two.

A few of these fires start accidentally. A lighted cigarette is carelessly tossed into the grass, or a rubbish fire gets out of control. But all too often these fires are deliberately set by deer hunters. Their plan is to burn off a large area in order to clear away the old grass and encourage new grass to grow. A few weeks after the area is burned, underground portions of the grass plants send up tender, young shoots that are relished by deer. Besides being easier to digest, the new shoots are high in protein and other nutrients the deer like. An added advantage to hunters is that the deer are much easier to see and shoot in burned over areas than in tall grass.

But this type of "habitat improvement" yields only short term benefits. Deer are primarily forest-dwelling animals. They need the protection that forest cover provides and find most of their food in the forest, browsing on a wide variety of leaves and twigs. Grass fires may provide a flush of new forage for deer, but in a short time the grass again becomes coarse and unpalatable. Grassland by itself is poor habitat for deer; a mixture of forest, grassland, and clearings is best for them.

The fact remains that fires pose a long term threat to deer. Grasslands are easily made and maintained by fire. Grasses are adapted to frequent burning whereas our forests are not. Each grass fire also burns the edge of the forest, and thus more habitat is lost for deer and other forest animals, including our local birds and coconut crabs. Grass quickly invades the burned forest, providing fuel for the next fire. In other parts of the world, vast areas of forest have been lost in this way. If the burning were to stop, trees would slowly invade the grassland and a new forest would gradually appear.

The practice of setting grass fires to attack deer is short sighted and selfish, and it should be stopped. Grass fires provide no long term benefits for deer or any of our wildlife. Let's keep Saipan green and beautiful: one of the best ways to do this is to prevent grass fires.

The Division of Fish and Wildlife would also like to take this opportunity to remind hunters that deer season begins on September 1 and closes on December 31. Persons caught hunting deer outside of this season may be prosecuted and convicted.

Guam studes visit Rota

by Wendy L. Lusa
Eleven students from the Chamorro Club at JFK High School in Guam visited Rota April 25 - 27 to observe Chamorro classes on this more traditional island.

Principal of JFK, Edward Sablan said, "The students were really impressed that Rota's students spoke fluent Chamorro."

He also mentioned that they were all pleased with the generous hospitality that the residents of Rota showed them.

Mrs. Maria Cepeda - a home-ec teacher at JFK and an advisor for the Chamorro Club, thought it was a great experience for the students, and Roque B. Eustaquio, another JFK teacher and advisor share her opinion.

The club president, Junior Lisa Obamos explained that the club meets every Thursday primarily to promote the Chamorro language and works also for Chamorro Week activities. She said the students were having a great time enjoying their stay on Rota.

The students were treated to a special cookout in their honor, a dance was held for them and they were taken by Fred Hocog who works for Community and Cultural Affairs, on a tour of the island.

SECTION B — "THE INFIELD FLY" (Continuation)

Since this is one of the most confusing rule in the minds of the typical player and fan, I would like to urge all the players to take a little of their time and read this column.

B-5: With the infield fly ryle in effect, the batter hits a sharp line drive which is deflected by the shortstop.

Ruling: This is not an infield fly. Neither a bunt nor a line drive may be declared an infield fly.

B-6: With less than two outs and runners on first and second, the shortstop intentionally drops a line drive.

Ruling: While this is not an infield fly, the batter is called out. The ball is dead and no runners may advance.

Games for this weekend, Saturday, May 4 are the YCO Royals vs. The Town & Country Pirates, and the Fayang Scrappers vs. The Seabees 4. Sunday's Games, May 5 will be between the Mazda Blue Sharks vs. PM&O Islanders, and SATA/Express vs. DOE Aces.

Since the arrival and aftermath of the Kintetsu Buffaloes, a professional baseball team from Japan, Saipan is getting more attention from abroad. Last Sunday, April 28, you witnessed an industrial team from Japan which came strictly for an exchange of a friendly game as well as to promote lasting friendship and mutual concern between the Japanese community and the people of Saipan.

Moreover, I have received a request from Palau wanting to send one of their municipal baseball teams to Saipan for a friendly game. The Palau team is scheduled to arrive on May 16. They are requesting for a double header for Saturday and Sunday, May 18 and 19 respectively.

Fleming wins April Ace

George Fleming captured the April Ace of the Month tournament held last Sunday a 64-net.

Max Camacho who fired off a two over par for 38 on the back nine came in second at 65. Max Camacho's double bogey on No. 7, a par three, was the turning point.

The third place was tie between Tony Tenorio at 66 and Jess Takai.

It was a beautiful day for golfing, very little wind to content with and the ground is soft from the recent rain which allowed shooting for the greens instead of rolling in.

The lowest putts was tie between Domi Cruz and Joe Sablan at 28 putts or 1.6 strokes per hole. Manny Villagomez who is known for his hot putts could not come closer at 35. Villagomez who is also known for the saying "short never in" was indeed short on almost all the holes.

Tony Taitano took the longest drive on No. 18 by firing a "rocket" to within 100 meters from the green. No. 18 is a par with 4,370 meters.

The qualifying rounds for the South Pacific Games was also incorporated into the ACE of the Month Tournament with Domi Cruz shooting a 74, Tony Taitano 79, Frank Castro 78, Joe Sasamoto, Sr. 73, Manny A. Sablan 74, and Joe Sasamoto, Jr. 77. Nick Guerrero did not play due to family commitment.

The scores are based on "gross" which is excellent golfing considering that all of the players can only play when time permits.

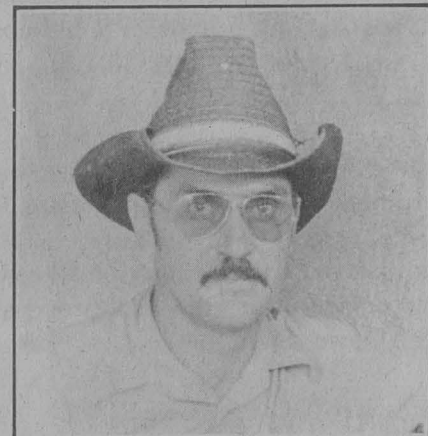

The Saipan Golfers Association (SGA) congratulates these guys and wish for them to continue. The SGA also would like to encourage the wives and friends to come up to the course and see the guys play.

The next major golfing event which is expected to be attended by all golfers from Guam is the MEV May 18 and 19 tournament.

BEWARE OF FALSE PROPHETS" Matt. 7:15

Whenever Jesus was asked how His followers could know what time it is with reference to His return to earth, He always made mention of the fast growing number of false religions and their deceitful leaders. Their appearance in alarming numbers would be not only an indication of the nearness of the Lord's coming, but also a warning to His people of this ever present threat to their purity. Peter would later write that false prophets and their false teachings would eventually become so popular "that the way of truth will be evil spoken of." (11 Pet.2:2).

Although the cause of Christ and His churches has had times of swelling growth, yet it cannot be said that His cause has ever been "popular." Quite the contrary, His Word makes it plain that those who would be His disciples must be prepared to "go with Him without the camp, bearing His reproach" (Heb. 13:13); they must deny (actually "renounce") self, take up their cross daily, and follow Him (Matt. 16:24); they must expect that "a man's foes shall be they of his own household" (Matt.10:36); and must even be prepared not to be offended when they are excommunicated from their own church for standing firm on the ever unpopular, "hyper fundamentalist" truth of their Master's clear teaching in Scripture, which opposes both "the traditions of the elders" and the radical ideas of the religious left.

The Bible's prophetic picture, when fully developed, reveals that God will even permit the false prophets to gain such control of government as to be able to stamp out Biblical truth with all cruelty and fanatical zeal (Dan.7:21) Jesus assures the Twelve in John 16:2, "Yea, the time cometh that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service."

All of this and much more in Scripture, shows that Christianity is not for everyone. It will never suit the taste of worldly wise, of the swinger, the liberal, or even that one who cannot quite bring himself to a full commitment to Christ.

When a certain man said to Him, "Lord, I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest," Jesus replied, "Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of man hath not where to lay His head." (Lk.9:57)

Would YOU walk with such a One?

Japan's Zoom team nips Saipan, 5-4

Members of the Zoom team, an amateur team playing in the industrial leagues in Japan, line up before their game with the Saipan All Stars. The visitors, who first played here and defeated a local team six years ago, won their game the second time around.

by Frank Palacios

The visiting Zoom Thunder team from Japan defeated the Saipan All Stars, 5-4, in the rubberball. Baseball game played Sunday at the Civic Center baseball field.

With the excellent performing of Yuji Abe and strong team defense the visitors came from behind to score two runs in their last turns at bat in the ninth to stun the local team. Abe, who allowed only six hits and striking out 9-batters also, provided the offense punch for the Zoom, clacking three singles, one RBI and lead the Zoom's winning rally with a lead off single and scored the game tying runs.

The visitors had 10-hits off three all stars pitchers. They scored two-earned runs and three hits off starter Anthony Benavente, in two innings, no-run and three hits off Edwin Siang in the next three innings, and three runs and four hits off loser Kaleb Dulei in the last four innings.

The All Stars scored their first run in the third when Dr. Manny Sablan led off with a double to left field and scored on a passball. The All Stars went on to score two more runs in the fifth, when after two were down, Manny Tenorio doubled to right and Willard Ngotel singled.

A bad throw from the catcher Naoyuki Nagayama to second in an attempt to get Ngotel on second was high and the ball rolled into center field. Both runners scored in the play for the All-Stars' 3-2 lead. A sacrifice RBI hit by Diego Benavente gave the local team a 4-2 lead in the sixth.

The Zoom scored one run in the seventh on a lead off triple by third baseman Osamu Horiba. In the ninth, pitcher Yuji Abe led off with a single and scored the tying run on first baseman Satoshi Yamada's single. Yamada scored the winning run, after two were out when third baseman Jack Taitano missed a grounder hit by Takazawa and Kawakami consecutively.
