EXPANSION OF CLASS 993.1: NEW ZEALAND CLASSIFICATION SCHEDULES

The following schedules represent the two stages of the comprehensive New Zealand classification scheme prepared by Mr R. N. O'Reilly, which the New Zealand Library Association has adopted as a New Zealand standard. The scheme was prepared to amplify and replace the more simple but for some purposes inadequate schedule adopted in 1946 by the Association and as such is a more detailed expansion of the class 993.1. The subdivisions which have been added to the basic class number may also be used as an extension of the New Zealand class of any classification system, for example, the Library of Congress Classification, unless a decimal system is incompatible with it.

The Association's Cataloguing and Classification Committee has given much thought to the implications of the expansion in existing library practice and has adopted the following schedule of application:

The Subdivision is designed to provide a standardised approach to the problems of classifying New Zealand material geographically, either for the purposes of arranging the material or for indexing it.

It provides three stages of subdivision, two of which have been adopted by the New Zealand Library Association as set out below, but does not constitute a recommendation that libraries should subdivide New Zealand local material more closely than they do now. It does not even recommend that they should subdivide such material at all; those who find convenient an alpha-Betical arrangement under general New Zealand class number should not lightly break it up.

Stage 1 should suffice for the majority of libraries now using the 1946 New Zealand Library Association subdivision. It may be adapted by use of certain Stage II subdivisions to retain continuity with that subdivision, e.g. 993.156 Marlborough Province, 993.21 New Plymouth.

It is not recommended that New Zealand material in the main book collection of any general library should otherwise be subdivided beyond Stage I.

A. G. Bagnall,
Convener,
Cataloguing and Classification Committee, N.Z.L.A.
30 November 1963.

It is understood that libraries receiving New Zealand Catalogue Cards from the National Library Centre will be given a statement by the Centre on its proposed application of the schedules.—Hon. Editor.

INDEX

to Stage II Regional Geographical Subdivision
(For Stage I disregard second digits.)

COVERAGE. The Stage II regional schedules name all counties, boroughs and cities, independent town districts and the main extra-county islands; and so cover the whole of New Zealand except small extra-county islands. They also name the regions they classify, all provinces and land districts, the North Island and South Island, most national parks and some county ridings used for finer regional definition. Finally, they name certain supervening regions and features such as straits, bights, bays, harbours, rivers, lakes and ranges.

The Index lists all these and, in addition, county towns and dependent town districts, further prominent geographical features and islands and well-known historic or tourist centres.

It does not otherwise list townships, villages and localities forming parts of counties. These are listed, citing county in each case, in Table 19, pp. 70–92, of Volume 1 of N.Z. Dept. of Statistics, Population Census, 1961 Increase & Location of Population. For other geographic entities the various county maps should be searched; the most compact, detailed one being the North Island and South Island electoral maps, NZMS 90. Dollimore, New Zealand Guide may also help.

INTERPRETATION. The numbers cited have an affixed dash representing the D.C. class 993.1. Thus—refers to 993.183 CENTRAL OTAGO-TUAPEKA, the class for the Borough of Alexandra.

Where more than one class is cited, the first is that for general treatments of the geographical subject named according to normal usage. The others are related classes at which material on the same subjects may also be located. Thus indicates that the Strait as such is at class 993.148 but material is likely to be found at 993.141 WELLINGTON (CITY) and 993.156 MARLBOROUGH. It would in the first of the latter cases also be found at the major provincial class, 993.14.

USE AS LIST OF HEADINGS. With the expansion of abbreviations the entries are in the form in which they may be used without homonymity as subject headings, while the classes cited will usually suggest other geographical headings for references and tracings. In certain cases two or more headings are telescoped in one entry, e.g.

Eltham (Bor.) or ——(Co.) -2

Separate headings would normally be needed for Eltham (Borough) and for Eltham (County).
