

BOARD OF HEALTH'S REVISED ESTIMATES

Submitted in Response to Treasurer's Request.

THEY EXHIBIT A NET INCREASE

FIGURES ABOVE THE GOVERNOR'S AND THOSE OF BOARD'S BIENNIAL REPORT.

The Board Wants Its Own Steamer
at $35,000 and $36,000 for Expenses—Total of New Items is $71,000.

Territory of Hawaii,
Treasurer's Office,
Honolulu, May 8, 1901.

The President of the Board of Health, Honolulu.

"Sir: At this period of adjustment to new financial conditions, showing the desirability of strict economy being observed in all the departments of Government service to enable it to meet public requirements, I would respectfully solicit your aid toward the same by a careful revision and curtailment, where possible, of the pay roll, incidentals and expenses of your department.

"If by a readjustment of office system, economy of time and labor of your clerical force is secured, and a watchful regard over items of expenditure to reduce the same to actual needs is maintained, a material saving will be effected, and the tendency to increasing expenditures checked.

"With this in view, and to meet intelligently the legislative enquiries that will arise on this point I shall be pleased to have you furnish this department, at your earliest convenience, with a pay roll list and a detailed estimate of expenditures for the current period, revised from that submitted at the opening of the year, as the necessity of the situation demands.

"Trusting this will meet with your approval and hearty co-operation, I remain, dear sir,
Your obedient servant,
WM. H. WRIGHT,
"Treasurer."

Under the date of May 18, Dr. C. B. Cooper, President of the Board of Health, replies to the foregoing communication in detail. In the course of introductory remarks the reply says:

"The Board has approached the work of cutting down items affecting a department, as well as an economically organized as this one now is,
with considerable hesitation. To cripple so important an institution would be a serious matter. With this in view the Board has attempted to re-arrange the estimates to conserve and in some cases to strengthen the more essential items; in others to cut out and cut down those not so essential. The Board feels that its recommendations herewith submitted will not cripple the organization of the department in any way but will give the most effect to the least amount of money the Board can possibly get along with, besides resulting in an appreciable step towards economy in current expenses, salaries and pay rolls, especially."

It is pointed out that, under a resolution of May 17, 1901, to double the charge for excavator service a saving of $70,000 will be made. Adding to this amount, viz.: $70,000
Subsidy to Queen's Hospital, 20,000
Subsidy to Lihue Hospital, 3,500
Subsidy to Consumptive Ward, 5,000
Subsidy Kapiolani Maternity
Home, 4,500

Total, $103,400
The Board considers that the above subsidies should be transferred to some other department, as the Board has no control of the subject-matters.

In concluding preliminary remarks the Board desires to reiterate that the estimates submitted in the Governor's recommendations are not any too ample to carry on this important department, such estimates being themselves based on very close lines of economy; that the estimates herewith submitted were based solely on the ground of the grave necessity of strict economy being observed in all departments of the government; that the department will be pushed to get on with the estimates herewith submitted and can not possibly get along with anything less; in pay rolls and current expenses especially; that the department is doing all in its power, particularly in connection with the Excavator and Garbage Service, to curtail its expenses in view of assisting the government through what has been asserted, a shortage of funds."

The following revised estimates are then given, along with running comments by way of reasons for increases and decreases of items. These comments are here mostly omitted:

Salary of Executive Officer, $5,400
Monthly salary, $450

Monthly salary, $150
Salary of City Sanitary Officer, 3,600
Monthly salary, $150

A saving on the above of $1600 for the period.

Note: The Governor's estimate of salary for the President of the Board of Health $7,200 is also eliminated.
No provision having been made by the Legislature creating a salaried position.

$580; 1 Watchman, $35; 2 Stable men at $40, $80; 1 Yard Man, $35; 1 Yard boy, $30; Total, $1,935.

Increase for period $1,440; increase
per month, $60.

After a most careful investigation of the salaries, pay rolls, and supply lists, etc., which go to make up the expenses of the administration of the Leprosy Service the Board cannot advise that any reduction be made in the appropriation for the carrying on of this most important work with the exception of the item for furnishing palms to the Settlement, which the Board recommends to be increased.

Segregation of Lepers Pay Roll, $62,400.

sary, Dispenser, $75; Nurse, $60;
Koloa Hospital Nurse, $25; Total, $160.

This hospital remains closed unless occasion arises to open it. Saving for period $360, per month, $15.

Superintendent and Assistants Insane Asylum, $25,584.
Monthly salaries: Medical Superintendent and Superintendent, $200.

The combining of these two items will effect a saving of $75 per month.
Under the present system the Asylum receives but two or three hours out of every twenty-four of personal attention from the physician in charge.
The object of combining the above items is to provide a salary for a resident physician of $200 a month,
who will be at the same time superintendent, which amount, together with board and lodging free would offer a sufficient consideration to a good man.

Two Captains at $60, $120; 1 Foreman at $60, $60; 12 Guards at $25, $300;
Guard and Matron, $34, $34; 4 Nurses

Captains, $30; 1 Laundryman, $15;
1 Gardener, $15; 1 Pot man, $15; 1

The above changes effect a saving for the biennial period of $5,304, or
per month $221.

Support of Non-Leprosy Children, $13,000.
Maintenance of Garbage and Excavator Service, 2,900

the added amount; Stationery and Postage, $1,005; Laboratory Supplies,
$2,590; Burial of Paupers and Morgue
Expenses, $2,500.
Increase in the above for period,
$3,000.
Medicines, $9,000.

This item originally much larger was made $2,000 upon the recommendation of a former President of the Board of Health on the ground of no longer supplying the Government physicians with drugs and medicines;
that the same were to be furnished by the physicians themselves. This we find to be impracticable and we therefore raise the item to the amount appropriated in the last biennial period for this purpose, increase $7,000.
Support of Non-Leprosy Children of Lepers, $20,000.

Raised on account of asking for an appropriation to put up a building for boys, increase $5,000.
Insane Asylum, $34,000.

Items: Bedding, Furniture and Clothing, $1,000; Crockery and Utensils, $1,000; Fuel and Lights, $1,000;

ment of Lepers, $160,000.

Beef and Cattle, $46,000; Poi, $25,000; Bread $3,000; Rice, $8,000;
Flour and other supplies, $12,500; Total, $160,000.

Kalaupapa Store, $45,000.
Maintenance Garbage and Excavator
Service, $26,000.

Items: Repairs to Appliances, 3,000;
Harness and Repairs to same, 2,000;
Hose and New Appliances, $2,000; Shoeling Live Stock, $2,500; Hay and Grain, $12,000; Live Stock, $2,500; Incidentals, $1,900; Total, $26,000.

Increase for period in maintenance of Garbage and Excavator Service, $2,000.
Running Expenses Garbage Crematory, 7,200.
Completion of Garbage Crematory, $9,800.

Maintenance of Hospitals, $1,500.

imea Hospital, $2,400; Subsidy Lihue Hospital, $5,000; Subsidy Queen's Hospital, $2,000; Subsidy Kapiolani Maternity Home, $4,500; Subsidy for Steamship Service between Honolulu, Molokai and Maui, $5,200.

Amount saved on above subsidies for period $2,600.

New Ward at Insane Asylum, $30,000, was condemned by the Superintendent, Dr. Dole, in 1878. The strongest reasons and recommendations for a new building at this place have been advanced by previous committees of this Board and by the Territorial Grand Jury.

Steamer for Board of Health Service, $35,000; Running Expenses of Steamer, $36,000.

These two items are recommended to the consideration of the Legislature on the following grounds:

1st.—Inefficiency of the present
service.
2nd.—Great expense of the same.

The Board of Health freight and passage bills amount to about $950 per month while the subsidy given for such service brings the amount to about $1,150 per month.

3rd.—The losses through reckless handling of cattle and freight, the responsibility for which the present carriers absolutely refuse to assume,
still further increases this amount.

4th.—The necessity in view of the condition of the tug "Eleu" of having a reliable vessel for towing garbage out. It will cost approximately about $80 a day to hire a boat for this service.

5th.—Common carriers should not carry lepers.
The Board through one of its members had had an estimate made and a report submitted as to the cost of a boat and running expenses.

New buildings for Non-Leprosy
Children of Leprous Parents, $20,000.
Remodelling of buildings at Kalihi Receiving Station, $3,000; Remodelling Morgue building and equipments, $300; Quarantine and Passages Expense, $10,000; Honolulu Dispensary building, $25,000.

Recapitulation.

Amount saved by these recommendations over amounts recommended by President of Board of Health Report.

Salaries general officers, $1,000
General Expenses Pay Roll, 1,320
Removing Garbage Pay Roll, 5,400
Maintenance Hospital Pay Roll, 360
Superintendent and Assistants
Insane Asylum, 5,304
Maintenance of Hospitals, 500
Subsidies, 2,600

Total, $16,484

Increase in amounts now recommended over amounts recommended in President of Board of Health Report.

McKINLEY'S PATHWAY STREWN WITH FLOWERS

A Triumphant Tour Along California Coast.

WARM GREETING FOR OLD SOLDIERS

FROM LOS ANGELES TO DEL MONTE THE JOURNEY ONE GRAND OVATION.

Southern California Turns Out in Force—Pretty Santa Barbara Gives Cordial Greeting—Sunday Spent at Del Monte.

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—From a broad, blue, canopied pavilion, surrounded by the members of his Cabinet, the Governor of Ohio and notably from many states, President Mc-Kinley today reviewed the floral parade of Los Angeles Carnival, and it is safe to say he will carry the recollection of its wondrous beauty to his grave. The senses were suffused with perfume and the eye and heart entranced with shifting color. Those who have seen the Corso in Nice say it was surpassed by the show at Los Angeles today.

The city was packed to the doors.
The population of Los Angeles, according to the census, is over 100,000, but the streets must have held almost twice that number today.

Mrs. McKinley did not witness the show, but she drove along Broadway and received the plaudits of the multitude just before the procession appeared. The President rode at the head of the parade in an open carriage drawn by six spirited milk-white horses with yellow satin harness. At the head of each horse walked a Spanish cavalier in green velvet, with much gold braid about his bolero.

The carriage was a mass of white silk.

President Visits Soldier's Home.

No speeches were made during the morning's ceremonial. The hour was given over to display and gaiety. It was a happy tribute to the President, and one that could hardly be given to him in any other State in the Union.

This afternoon the ladies of the President's party went to Pasadena and took a drive there, while the President made a trip to the National Soldiers' Home near Santa Monica. It is eighteen miles distant, and he made the journey in electric cars. This

COOPER HAD NO RIGHTS ON FLOOR OF HOUSE

[From a Staff Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The Interior Department has given Sanford B. Dole, Governor of Hawaii, formal instructions regarding the duties of Secretary of the Territory Cooper, who was fired off the floor of the Legislature some time ago. As the case comes to the Interior Department, there were two questions to be decided,
to-wit:

Did Cooper have the right to be upon the floor of the Legislature?
Did the Legislature have the right to put him off the floor?

To the first question the Legislature decided that, under the law, Cooper was not called upon to go upon the floor of the House to report the proceedings. It is held that he might have gone there, as a Republican newsmag might have gone there selling papers, if no objection was made. He had no rights there, no duties to perform.
And it is held that the Legislature, being its own master and not being the servant of the Executive Department of the Hawaiian Government, has the power to make its own rules and regulations.
These rules, if there were any, did not give Cooper the right to be upon the floor of the Legislature. The deduction is that he was not properly upon the floor.

Upon the second question the Department informs Governor Dole that the Legislature of Hawaii has the right, under the law, to exclude from its sittings any person not a member of it, and it may exclude a member if it sees fit, for cause. Every Legislature, every legislative body, is master of its own members. The Legislature of Hawaii, or either branch of it, had the right, according to the ruling of the Interior Department, to exclude Cooper from its floor.

Governor Dole's attention is also called to the fact that the law upon these points is all printed, and that it is clear. The Department notifies him that it is his duty to see that these laws, plainly stated in the statutes, are enforced. The duty of the Governor of a State or Territory is not to quibble with the law and haggle over fine points, but to enforce the laws as they come to him from the legislative bodies having jurisdiction over his State or Territory.
In this case Governor Dole attempted to split hairs, both in Honolulu and in Washington, and for that reason he is given some light on the question of the enforcement of the law as he finds it—not as he thinks it ought to be.

Governor Dole is informed that he is not at the head of a monarchy, but at the head, temporarily, of a Territory in a Republic.
There is a difference, when it comes to law.
E. S. L.

home is the largest west of the Mississippi, and about 3000 of the President's old comrades of the Civil War are there. The old soldiers gave the President a remarkable reception.

Upon his return to Los Angeles late this afternoon the President received Governor Nash and the Ohio Congressional delegation at the hotel.

Journey Northward Begun.
LOS ANGELES, May 10.—The Presidential train left for Santa Barbara at 6 a. m. At Santa Paula the train stopped a minute. Ladies at the station brought great armfuls of flowers to the President's car for Mrs. McKinley, and a man on horseback, holding a pretty little girl in white in his arms, rode through the crowd to the platform. The child presented the President with a bunch of poppies and roses. In answer to the calls the President said a few words.

Pretty Reception at Ventura.
VENTURA, May 10.—The President and his party had a very pretty reception at Ventura, where they enjoyed an hour's drive. At the station they entered flower adorned carriages each with a different color scheme.
The gates of the city, formed of Cadia lilies, oranges and palms, were thrown open by the Mayor. The President's carriage was between lines of school children, who covered his path with flowers.

Proud Day for Santa Barbara.
SANTA BARBARA, May 10.—At Santa Barbara a stop of three hours was made. The Presidential party drove to the Arlington Hotel over a solid bed of flowers for three-quarters of a mile.

Visits Spanish Mission.
The predominance of Spanish and Moorish types of architecture in the homes of the wealthy residents of these Southern California towns struck the members of the President's party very forcibly today. The President was very much interested in the Spanish missions which he visited both at Ventura and at Santa Barbara. The memory of the late President Harrison's visit to this famous mission in 1891 is still green among these friars, and they spoke of it several times, as they showed the President through the sacred rooms, one of which had not been entered since that time until today by any sons.

Journey Along Coast Line.
SAN LUIS OBISPO, May 10.—The route of the Presidential train northward from Los Angeles today lay through the Santa Clara valley, nestling under fog-washed mountains to the coast, where it ran for hours along the edge of cliffs overhanging the shining Pacific.

At every stopping place today was a flower show, rivaling in beauty the floral parade which the President witnessed yesterday at Los Angeles.
This Spanish custom of greeting strangers with flowers, which is in vogue all through Southern California, has gone straight to the heart of President and Mrs. McKinley.

San Luis Obispo, at the foot of the Santa Lucia range of mountains, was the last stop of the day. It was reached at 1 o'clock this evening, in time for a drive through the town.

Sunday Rest at Del Monte.
DEL MONTE Cal., May 11.—The President and his party arrived at Del Monte this morning and will remain over Sunday at this far-famed resort. There is no fixed programme except a visit to the Grand Army encampment at Pacific Grove and a drive along the Ocean front this afternoon, and the two days of rest will prepare the President and his party for the ordeal they will have to undergo at San Francisco next week.

The Grand Jury.
Judge Humphreys was ill yesterday and could not preside at court.
In consequence a report the Grand Jury was ready to make had to be deferred in presentation. The Grand Jury has reached certain findings in the legislative bribery investigation which, it would appear, need not await the outcome of the citations to the Secretary of Territory, Attorney General and Mr. Thurston.

Third Annual Entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium Proved Amusing and Instructive.

Every inch of available standing room was needed at the Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium yesterday evening. Long before the hour announced for the commencement of the exhibition the lower floor as well as the gallery was packed to suffocation with a merry crowd of spectators including wives, mothers and perhaps sweethearts of the athletic young men. The work of the various classes as witnessed by the spectators denoted careful training and plenty of hard work. Physical Director A. J. Coats also came in for a goodly share of well-merited praise for the efficient instruction given his pupils.

The entertainment opened by a precision, led by Will Kerr.

About thirty seniors gave an interesting drill with ball bells. They were followed by almost as many juniors who went through dumb bell maneuvers.

Ben Clarke, at the head of a dozen young men, led off in some intricate movements with horizontal bars. Mr.
Clarke proved thoroughly at home
with the work.

Sydney W. Green is a new man recently from the San Francisco Y. M.
C. A. His work upon the horse demonstrated his fitness as a leader in this form of gymnastics.

Physical Director Coats gave a creditable exhibition of parallel bar work, while three juniors showed they fully understood the spring board.

One of the amusing features of the evening was the mat work participated in by the senior class. Some of the movements were exceedingly fantastic.

The twenty-five young men who assisted in the formation of pyramids indicated that they understood their business.

The games of Chinese tag and battle ball by the juniors made a happy hit.

In the series of four relay races seniors and juniors participated. A wild storm of applause followed the funny gyrations incorporated in the horseback, wheelbarrow, monkey and Indian club racing.

The exhibition closed with an Indian club drill by F. C. Atherton, who has established a reputation for himself in club-swinging, and possesses few imitators.

A Dream of Dope.
A Chinaman filled with dope and vague imaginations called at several places along the Puna valley road yesterday afternoon, giving a confidential recital of a weird and shocking tale, the gist of which was that he was the self-confessed murderer of eight children. The matter was reported to the police and the Chinaman was arrested. Examination proved that several cogs had slipped in the upper works of the Celestial.
Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth, after having satisfied himself that there had been no wholesale additions to the death rate, released the "buggy"
man.

THE RUSSIANS IN MANCHURIA.

Speaking for myself, I regard it as one of the greatest misfortunes of the Russian nation that the Caucasus, the Trans-Caspian territory and Turkestan were ever annexed to Russia.

In 1856, the basin of the Amur and took possession of the North Manchurian coast of the Pacific Ocean. Of course, there was quite a chain of historical circumstances which brought about this result.

But, nevertheless, I cannot but regret that this annexation took place. It was accomplished in 1856-1859, immediately after the Crimean War.

When the attack by the British on the Russian settlements on the coast of the Sea of Okhotsk and in Kamchatka resulted in a fear lest England would take possession of the Pacific coast of Manchuria—the Russian nation would have lost nothing, and would have won a great deal, if Count Muravioff-Amurski had not taken possession of the uninhabited wilderness on the left bank of the Amur, and up the Ussuri, down to Vladivostok.

No matter which nation—England, the United States, Germany or Japan—might have taken hold of this portion of the Pacific littoral, the great bulk of the Russian nation would have been spared the considerable sacrifices which they have made for colonizing the wildernesses of the Amur. With the extent of these sacrifices I am acquainted, as I saw them.

Further, Siberia would only have been the winner from having at her Southern border a civilized nation, instead of the semi-wild Mongols, Solons, Daur, and the like whom she has now—just as Canada is gaining immensely by having the United States for a neighbor. As to the military defense of the frontier, the Amur frontier and the Pacific ports of Russia are infinitely more difficult to protect than the frontier of Trans-Baikal.

WILCOX SAW A LIGHT

WHEN IN WASHINGTON

REASONS FOR THE HAWAIIAN

DELEGATE BECOMING A REPUBLICAN.

Can Accomplish Much Good for the Territory if He is Properly Supported by the Republicans Here at Home.

[From a Staff Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Reports have reached here that Hon. Robert Wilcox, Delegate in Congress from the Territory of Hawaii, has become a Republican since Congress adjourned last March. This news surprised no one in Washington. Mr. Wilcox has been a Republican all the time, but he did not appear to be onto the fact. When he first reached Washington it was plain to be seen that he did not really know to which political party he belonged, because his ideas of politics as run in this great republic were entirely unformed. His sympathies, his beliefs, however, were a Republican to the core.

As soon as Mr. Wilcox arrived here the Democrats in Congress and out of Congress took him for a come-on.
The gilded brick was passed to him very promptly. He discovered that his Democratic associates used him, when they could, for political advantage. He had one good experience with a Democrat. That was when he was taken to the White House and introduced to the President by Senator W. V. Sullivan of Mississippi. The air got frigid in the President's room as soon as Mr. Sullivan got there.
Wilcox wondered why it was, but never found out until one day a Republican friend asked him why he had chosen Sullivan to present him to the President.

"Why," answered the Hawaiian,
"Sullivan has a big pull."
"Sullivan told me so himself," said Wilcox.

"Did anybody else ever tell you that Sullivan had a big pull?"

"No."

Wilcox had seen a great light. What he did for Sullivan in return for the White House introduction has not been said officially.

In other matters Wilcox found that the Republicans were his friends.
They never tried to take advantage of his lack of knowledge of American ways. He saw that when he wanted a thing done he must get Republicans to help him; if he would ever accomplish anything for the people of Hawaii it must be through Republican influence and good will. The Democrats in the House would have unseated him at the instance of Mr.
Gear, but the Republicans stood by him and the Republican chairman of a Republican committee made a report in his favor.

If Wilcox has changed his political coat it is well for him and it is well for the people of Hawaii, for he is to be their representative in Congress for two full years more; and furthermore, if the Republicans of Hawaii will let it be known that Wilcox does represent them, and will hold him accountable for his official acts, they will accomplish more than by sending independent and unofficial representatives here to live at the swell hotels and fatten upon expense accounts.

Russia's Present Naval Strength.
Russia's fleet consists of twenty-two first-class battleships, yielding to none in the world in excellence and perfection, though three or four of these battleships have certain qualities of superior weight, one second-class battleship, sixteen coast-defense ships, and twenty-three cruisers of the first class, or fully armored.
Twenty-three battleships and twenty-three cruisers, therefore, may stand as the backbone of Russia's naval strength, a force well seconded by full complements of coast-defense ships, second and third class cruisers, gunboats, torpedo-boats, torpedodestroyers, transports, auxiliaries, and all that pertains to them. The Russian heavy guns are second to none, and the batteries of 6-inch and 4.7-inch quick-firing guns leave nothing to wish for. The secondary small-arm batteries are likewise perfectly equipped. The Russian warships are, in fact, the most numerously armed in the world.

This fleet was designed, in the first instance, for purposes of defense.
And for defense it is practically invincible. The very defects of Russia's naval position now become its qualities: the restriction of naval activity to two points—the Baltic and the Black Sea—is altogether in Russia's favor. She could hold either or both against considerably greater numbers and weight of ships, and would have the almost invincible forts of Sebastopol and Cronstadt as a base, to which the fleet, if menaced, could retire, and where it would be quite secure under cover of the enormous guns of the forts.—From "Russia's Readiness for War," in the Review of Reviews for May.

A Sprained Ankle Quickly Cured.
"At one time I suffered from a revere sprain of the ankle," says Geo E. Cary, editor of the Guide, Washington, Va. "After using several well recommended medicines without success, I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm and am pleased to say that relief came as soon as I began its use, and a complete cure speedily followed. This remedy has also been used in my family for frost bitten feet with the best results. I cheerfully recommend its use to all who may need a first-class liniment." Sold by Benson, Smith & Co., General Agents, Territory of Hawaii.

Work has been begun on a new Raymond Hotel in South Pasadena, Cal., to replace the one destroyed by fire
six years ago.

HONOLULU, H. T., MAY 19, 1901

Secretary Cooper should remember his experience with the House before seriously tackling the Grand Jury.

According to the Advertiser it is not "good policy" to provide schools for the Porto Rican youths coming here by the hundred.

At the rate that beet sugar factories are increasing in the United States the cane sugar of Hawaii will have to meet a difficult form of competition.

"Commerce is a great diplomat," said President McKinley at New Orleans. "Fair trading makes fast friends." It would be hard to condense more international wisdom into ten words.

Uncle Sam's principal part of his white man's burden in Hawaii seems to be to teach the white men already here that this Territory is now a part of the United States and not a place where slavery can be continued at will.

President McKinley may not immediately remove Dole upon the complaint of the Legislature, and no one expected that he would; but it is dollars to doughnuts that the present Governor will not complete a four-year term.

Remembering his experience at the time of the overthrow of the monarchy Secretary Cooper may think a Grand Jury does not amount to much. Perhaps he will know more about it before the Grand Jury is through with him.

Yesterday was the hottest day of the season so far. The average temperature for the day was 78 degrees, the lowest 74 and the highest 82. It will thus be seen that the range for the day was but nine degrees. People down town were well aware of the fact that it was a warm day.

California has long been called the land of flowers, but the floral displays in the cities of the southern part of the State in the receptions to the President have surprised and mystified the eastern visitors. In few parts of the world could such floral displays be made as in Southern California.

Great interest has been taken in Honolulu in the financial flurry in Wall street. It was feared that the contest for control of the Northern Pacific might result in such a drop in the prices of all stocks as to bring on a serious financial crisis. The latest reports from the coast indicate that the worst is over and that business will resume its wonted way without any serious disturbances.

"Changes in our tariff system are inevitable, and the far-sighted upholders of protection are beginning to realize it," remarks the Chicago Post (Republican). The discussion started by Congressman Babcock's proposal to withdraw the duties on the raw materials used by the steel industries is still proceeding and having a liberalizing effect. Manufacturers, more and more anxious to secure foreign trade, are discovering that we cannot increase our sales without augmenting our purchases. The keynote of future policy will be reciprocity, not exclusion and prohibition.

The news that the Pacific Mutual Insurance Company has invested nearly One Hundred Thousand Dollars in Hawaiian securities will be most welcome to the people of this Territory. It indicates a change in the financial world of the coast towards Hawaii. It is not so many years ago when various public enterprises here were blocked by the dog in the manger policy of the financial magnates of the coast. They would neither take our securities themselves nor give them such favorable mention as would permit of external financiers taking them. Happily all this has changed. The Pacific Mutual has been building up a fine business in Hawaii, and the fact of its investing some of its surplus funds here will do much to increase its business in the Territory. It is no secret that the company is further considering the matter of erecting a fine office building in this city, several pieces of real estate being now under consideration for the purpose. General Agent Hutchins deserves much credit for his good work in inducing the Pacific Mutual to become as heavily interested, financially, in Hawaii as it has.

EDUCATION OR IGNORANCE, WHICH?

True to its Bourbon instincts the Advertiser would prefer not to see schools for the Porto Rican children now being brought here with their parents. How far it represents the ideas of those who are bringing the Porto Ricans here we are not prepared to say, but we believe that many of those instrumental in bringing this class of ignorant laborers to Hawaii, if they could have their way, would oppose the education of these people. It is the old cry of the feudal lords, who declared that some must be bayers of wood while others must be lords of the manor.

Several weeks ago the writer, upon the invitation of Mr. R. A. Macfie, accompanied that gentleman on the quarters of the Porto Ricans on the Waiialua plantation. Mr. Macfie was quite enthusiastic over the bright outlook for the Porto Ricans, believing that in time they would make good laborers for the plantations. No sooner had we reached the quarters of the Porto Ricans than Mr. Macfie was surrounded by a chattering crowd. Asked as to their condition and how they were being treated, the Porto Ricans said they were being well cared for, but complained that the promises of schools for their children were not being carried out. The writer asked one father how many children he had, and why they had not been sent to school. He replied that he had two and that he had asked about the school, but had not been told that his children could go. The head luna (whose name is withheld) was asked both by Mr. Macfie and the writer why these children had not been sent to school?

"Well, I told them where the school house was," replied the luna in a sullen and coarse manner.

Told these children on a strange plantation in a strange country where the school house was and with this telling they had about as much chance of finding it as of finding the proverbial needle in the haystack. To the credit of Mr. Macfie, be it said, he insisted that the children must be sent to school; that the promises made to these people in Porto Rico of free schools for their children in Hawaii must be kept. But from the manner of that head luna it is doubtful if those children have yet found out where the school house is unless some one else than the head luna has been kind enough to direct them to it.

Of course, the Advertiser does not come out boldly and openly advocate non-education of the Porto Ricans, though it questions the wisdom of schools for the Porto Ricans. It says schools were established for the negro in the South after the war and asks what good they have accomplished. No one except a theorist expected the negro fresh from slavery and ignorance to make the same advance in education in the first generation after his liberation that the white man would make during the same period. The race question has been a serious one in the South and will be for years to come, but every southern man declares that the condition of today is immeasurably better than under slave conditions. The South is advancing as never before in her history and in this advancement the negro is sharing. Of course there are "smarty" negroes just as there are "smarty" whites, but the black man as a whole is making the most of his improved condition and his advantages for education and is advancing along with the rest of the world.

No man in all the South today would agree under any circumstances to return to the old condition of things with slavery and its attending ignorance and immoralities. It remains for the editor of an Anglo-Saxon paper in the corporation-ruled Territory of Hawaii to advocate a return to the old slave days in this Territory when contract laborers were held as chattels and when the statute books were encumbered with laws providing for the arrest and return to the owner of all contract laborers. Men were here in those days who prated about their free American institutions and at the same time held as contract laborers, or slaves, if you please, Orientals by the thousand.

Be it said to the credit of the people, however, that there was enough leaven of real Christian sentiment in the community to provide for the education and enlightenment of the young of these slaves; an education that the Advertiser now questions the wisdom of, just as it falls to see what good is to be accomplished by providing schools for the Porto Ricans.

In closing this most remarkable article opposing education for the Porto Ricans the Advertiser says: "Do we want the Porto Ricans for labor or intellectual companionship? Have we brought them here to make money for the islands or to become a charge on the school revenues?" Yes, that is it. Do we want to improve the younger generation of the Porto Ricans brought here without their consent and help to build up a free state, or do we want to bring them here with their elders to make money with them? In other words, do the people of Hawaii want to see the youth of the land educated and improved, the people lifted up, the standard of citizenship raised, or do we want to rear them in ignorance and breed here caste, distinctions more marked even than those of medieval Spain? Do we want to improve the body politic and the people, or do we want to create a system of absentee landlords and a system of serfs but little higher in intelligence than the beasts of the field? It is safe to say that this is the most remarkable statement that has appeared in any paper published where the American flag floats in the last generation. It savors of the dark ages. It is most fitting indeed that it appears in the paper of a man who has boasted that he would enter into a partnership with the devil to accomplish his nefarious aims. Surely he must have gotten close to the devil for inspiration before penning so remarkable a statement as this.

General's official family, and a prosecutor of men before both the grand and trial juries. In fact it could not see how this admirable system could be improved. Now, however, when a disinterested bailiff of the court draws the jury it thinks the system all wrong and declares that juries should be selected by lot from eligibles taken from the voting register.

A New Class of Labor in the South; By Leonora Beck Ellis in the May Forum. Nineteen years ago there were only 667,000 spindles at work in all the cotton States; today the manufacturing records concede us 7,000,000 spindles in actual operation and another 1,500,000 planned for. The looms have more than kept pace with the spindles. All this means that the textile operatives of the South have grown, since the early '80's, from the most inconspicuous class in their section to a great and rapidly increasing army.

When once this great aggregate of workers that has grown in a score of years from a scant 20,000, all told, to a quarter of a million beings, representing four times that number depending upon the fruits of their labor—a host that swells in size daily as this wide-reaching industry opens up more and more in various directions where natural fitness points the way?

The operatives in the new Southern factories, which means nine-tenths of the factories in the South, are all white and they have come from the tenant farm, from the cotton field, the hill-side corn patch, and the mountain out. A strictly agricultural or pastoral people by the practice and traditions of many generations, they have been suddenly converted into a manufacturing population. Native to our soil as truly as were their grandfathers before them, unmodified by any foreign element, or even by a single urban or communistic instinct, with the rustic virtues of America strong upon them as the rustic virtues of America, and knowing nothing of community life, here they are, untrained and untaught, alien to their present occupation, yet strenuously adapting themselves to its demands, and laboriously acquiring the skill requisite to success in their pursuit.

For the present they are still a rural people in traits and tendencies. They have not been strengthened by resisting the evil of cities or weakened by yielding to it. When another decade has passed, no one must expect the same thing to be true. There will be a better status or they have been sold—never the same. Every portent points to the former: for the dullest man can read the signs of an awakening to the rights of these people; their right to better wages, to better homes, to full educational and religious privileges.

One of the novel industries recently started in Arkansas is a kangaroo ranch. The hide of the animal is valuable, but his tendons are worth much more, as they can be split fine and are much prized by surgeons as sutures for sewing up wounds and knitting broken bones together.

Negotiations were completed at New York May 11 by which sixty-two thousand acres in the Beaumont Oil fields in Jefferson County, Texas, were sold to Baltimore and Pittsburgh capitalists. The land lies on the coast in Jefferson County, near Sabine Pass and High Island.

READ a most amusing editorial in a prominent New York paper not long since. It seems that the editor was possessed with the idea that a word of friendly advice to women might be acceptable, and the absurd things he says are too funny not to tell you about. He goes along something like this:

"Second—We advise women to reflect on possibilities of looking well with very plain color. In all of the really beautiful owners nature gives one color. The rose, the violet, and so on are beautiful because they are uniform. If women must wear colors, which we think unnecessary, as colors detract from their own admirable coloring, let them at least cultivate uniformity. Nature in putting all sorts of colors on the parrot, the zebra, the terrapin and other inferior animals, has clearly indicated to woman, the highest of all creation, that she should avoid spots and splashes of color."

How lovely we would look here in Honolulu if we should follow this man's advice. Nature did not intend any such lesson, and French milliners and dressmakers have the art of blending colors harmoniously down to a science, and every woman—care not who she be—can dress delightfully under their guidance. So much for a man's opinion of the dress of women. I notice the humble cowpail and the modest violet are too often left in the shade and their more brilliant sisters courted and admired. This poor man doubtless means well, and thinks he knows whereof he speaks, but it might be advisable to leave such subjects in the future absolutely alone, although he has certainly proven himself a brave man—but the "children and fools" (you know the rest) often do stupid things. There can be no set rules for woman's toilet; everything is relative. But that magnificent cheek is admirable in its boldness, and woman can afford to laugh when she thinks what an ass a man generally makes of himself when he tries to lay the law down for her.

Youthful black gowns are in great demand this season, all because young women find they can acquire more distinction in a black gown than in any other. Something pretty is a black point d'esprit made over white taffeta silk and trimmed with wreaths of tiny pink roses. Gold braid made into something which resembles a rose is another form of trimming for this style of gown, and for the décolleté bodice there is a narrow yoke and belt of the gold cloth embroidered with blue silk and turquoises.

Large leghorn hats are also all the rage, drooping in front and back. They have high crowns encircled with roses arranged in a stiff fashion, and a soft ribbon caught up on the edge of the brim in front is carried to the edge of the brim in the back, where it is tied in a bow. These hats are simply bewitching on the right person; but beware of them unless you are sure of your own freshness.

As usual, the prettiest fashions are made for slender women, and one attractive gown for home wear is made with a soft, full chiffon blouse which really bags over the belt all the way round. Over the blouse there is a short bolero, hardly more than an Empire shoulder sash in width, and the whole effect is charming on a slender girl's figure.

Today every shirt-waisted girl dresses her neck to please herself. Before the country fashion begins high silk and linen stocks of endless varieties will play their valuable part, to be substituted later by charming hat decorations. Nearly all the high collars are made of wash goods—linen, for example, in the most tender and artistic shades of rose and green, buff and blue, and they are stitched and hand embroidered and fretted with lace, and eventually made into pretty and valuable accessories of the toilet.

It is well now and then to crystallize the current thought of those who are striving after the loftiest ideals in the various fields of human endeavor. Therefore, from a mass of literature on the subject of gowns we have gathered the views that are most essential to the uplifting of society and the happiness of woman.

We have found in our researches that the fashion editors have reduced the dinner gown to a mere trifle compared with some others that might be mentioned. The woman who wishes to "be simple and therefore in style" is advised by them that stunning material severely built is the vogue. Jeweled buttons and buckles are used with the utmost profusion this season, and lines of fur are graceful to a degree. Lace gowns are no longer novelties. Whole lace patterns are less expensive than last year. Something delightfully simple in this line may be bought for $125 to $250.

A severely cut velvet is recommended by a Boston thinker on simplicity as being "immensely chic," especially when worn by a young woman, for the contrast between her youthfulness and the heavy, almost dower-like elegance of the velvet is awfully smart.

But for downright simplicity, perhaps there is nothing that compares with the Philadelphia ideal of a dinner gown of a "lovely turquoise blue panne" that "has a skirt laid about the hips in small, vertical tucks, and with the hem trimmed with a line of sable at the very edge, and with appliques of an exquisite gray lace above the fold." The design of the lace, which is "arranged narrowly in the back and spreads broad over the side of the front panel," is so charmingly simple that many of those who have seen it wonder if they would feel well dressed if the had it on.

To add to the Quaker simplicity of the gown, "the bodice is of velvet laid in folds that encircle the figure snugly." Diamonds and pearls may be worn with the gown at the pleasure of the wearer, but pearls are preferred in the interest of the rigid simplicity which characterizes the design.

In case the simplicity of the bodice and frock in the end should not appear satisfactory to the simple taste of the person who is desirous above all things of appearing simple, it is suggested by a New York specialist in simple things that "a scarf of gray lace be drawn tightly around the décolletage and knotted and draped on the left side, and that a wreath of pink roses encircle the at coiffure."

If the simple-minded person who is provided with these simple outfits does not look simplicity itself, there is no other recipe at hand for this season. The only recourse for her is to try something in the way of dinner gowns that is elaborate. However, she must remember, in so doing, that she is resisting current thought as it is developed by the greatest thinkers on simplicity in the field of fashion.

Mrs. William C. Wilder gave a large card party on Wednesday afternoon. She was assisted by Mrs. Gardner Wilder, Mrs. Charles Wilder and Mrs. Jones. About seventy were at the small tables which occupied the greater portion of the large drawing rooms. The rooms were delightfully cool, and refreshing drinks were passed during the intervals of card playing. About 4:30 o'clock dainty refreshments were served, and the Messrs. Walker looked after the material wants of the guests with great success. I saw several pretty gowns, notably the one worn by Mrs. J. R. Walker, a symphony in gray, which was wonderfully becoming, and the simple dainty with pink satin trimmings worn by Mrs. Charles Wilder, which suited her fresh complexion down to the ground. Mrs. Faxon Bishop in white, with a large picture hat, looked very handsome. Mrs. Clifford Wood had on a stunning gown, and Miss Widdifield looked delightfully pretty and cool in white over pale green, with green ribbons. Among those present were Mrs. S. M. Damon, Mrs. Mary Widdifield, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. J. O. Carter, Mrs. Paul Neumann, Mrs. M. M. Estee, Mrs. Clifford Wood, the Misses Widdifield, the Misses Walker, Mrs. Faxon Bishop, Mrs. A. S. Humphreys, Mrs. J. R. Walker, Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mrs. A. Fuller, Mrs. A. Brown, Mrs. F. M. Swanzey, Mrs. Philip Andrews, Mrs. Walter Hoffman, Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Jr., Miss Juliet King, Mrs. E. Marx, Miss Castle, Miss Clarke, Mrs. Slaker, Mrs. H. Focke, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Harry Lewis, Mrs. H. A. Isenberg, Miss Cartwright, Mrs. Gilman, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Mary Gunn, Mrs. J. I. McDonald, Mrs. McGrew, Miss Maud Gillet, Mrs. Walbridge, Miss Annie Parker, Miss Stansbury, Mrs. Scott.

Mrs. Ethel Mumford, Mrs. Morrow and Miss Morrow have invitations out for a dinner Tuesday evening in honor of the Persian poet, Omar Khayyam. Oriental costumes de rigueur, so the invitations say. Imagination is running riot and expectations are at the highest pitch and every one thinks he will have the time of his life. The invitations are in the form of a grape leaf, beautifully decorated in Oriental tones of pale red and green, and a quotation is inscribed on each card, making a most unique souvenir. About thirty invitations are out, and no one so far has declined.

BOOKS AND BOOKMAKERS.

With Hoops of Steel.

In her book, "With Hoops of Steel," Florence Finch Kelly has given a virile picture of the life of the cowboy of the Southwest. There is a larger use of guns than is true to life now, and probably the story does not exaggerate the conditions of the '80's. Mrs. Kelly is the wife of the well known newspaper man, Allan Kelly, and spent weeks and months with her husband in the mountains, on the plains and at the cow camps. These experiences gave her an insight into the life of the Southwest possessed by very few who have tried to depict them. She describes a round-up on the landscape so that a reader can see it before him. Some of her descriptions are most vivid bits of word-painting. And with what truth to life she depicts the white man's feeling toward the Mexican. One who has not lived in the Southwest cannot fully realize what this feeling is. Her description of the sufferings of a man from thirst on the desert is the most graphic I have ever read, and I know something about what she depicts. I have felt the pangs of desert thirst, and have unsuccessfully labored over a fellow man dying of this awful thing, only to see him expire at my side. One who has never seen death come in this way cannot conceive what it is. But Mrs. Kelly's description of the tortures of a thirst-wrecked brain brings the scene very near to one. It is a splendid story, well told; a story one will want to come again for a further reading of some of its brighter parts. The Bowen-Merrill Company, Indianapolis. Price $1.50.

When Blades Are Out and Love's Afield.

The above is the significant title of a novella by the Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady. The scene is laid in North Carolina during the dark days of the Revolution in 1780-1, when Cornwallis and Tarleton seemed to be overrunning the Southland. The period of the novel covers the time of General Greene's command in the South. There is a splendid description of the battle of Guilford Court House, the turning point in the war in the South, that being the initial move which later resulted in Cornwallis' surrender at Yorktown. The central figures of the story are a daughter and niece of Judge Burton, a firm royalist. The former is betrothed by her father to Col. Duane of the British army, but she is secretly in love with Captain Curtis Baird of the Continentals. The Judge's niece is desperately in love with Col. Duane, but conceals this fact from the Colonel and her cousin. Of course all comes out well, the two young women securing the men they love for husbands. It is a stereotyped little love story, not at all a credit to the author. However, it is a good little story to while away a dull day with at the mountains or seashore. J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia. Price $1.50.

McClure's Magazine for May.

McClure's Magazine for May is rich in those qualities for which it has come to stand—reality and vivid portrayals of life. The great feature of the number is unquestionably the remarkable chapter from Captain Alfred Dreyfus' own story of his arrest, degradation and imprisonment. For directness, self-control and simple truthfulness, Dreyfus' narrative could not be surpassed. The portion of it which appears in the magazine is made the more forceful by contrast with the selections from his diary, written on Devil's Island, for his wife. In the diary the supreme suffering of this man, imprisoned for he knew not what, persecuted by he knew not whom, and his heroic courage in refusing to die, are told with a painful intensity impossible in anything but a veritable human document. The whole story reads like a chapter from the secret records of the Middle Ages. That such an experience as that recorded in Dreyfus' own story was possible in the nineteenth century is one of the most terrible proofs we have of the incompleteness of our civilization. Two articles in the May Review of Reviews deal with the Russo-Japanese situation. Mr. Charles Johnson explains in detail Russia's apparent readiness for war as shown by her style of preparation on the military as well as the naval side. Mr. Samuel E. Moffet, on the other hand, describes Japan's navy, which has made a truly remarkable record of growth since the war with China, seven years ago. Both articles are illustrated with pictures of fighting ships.

There is every indication that "Juletty," the new Kentucky story just published, is destined to have a big run. The publishers, Messrs. Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., printed a first edition of 5,000 copies, but they report that these have all been spoken for, and a second edition of 5,000 copies has been ordered. Ten thousand copies before publication is an unusual record for the first book of a new writer, and "Juletty" will undoubtedly be among the books most called for during the coming season.

The striking poster of "A Sailor's Log," Rear Admiral Evans' autobiography, was wholly made and printed at the Brooklyn factory of the publishers of the book, D. Appleton & Co. It shows a medallion portrait of the admiral, flanked by two American flags, which two sailors of the battle ship Iowa are in the act of hauling to the masthead. The flesh tints are finely reproduced. The frame of the poster represents a rectangle of cable. The new poster is a masterpiece of color work and will be greatly prized, not only for its artistic beauty but as an interesting historic document.

In an article in the May Forum Mr. Marrion Wilcox discusses "Aguinaldo's Capture" in its bearing upon the larger problems of national expansion. He considers that recent successes in the Philippines are to be attributed, in large measure, to the tact and conciliation of the Taft Commission, and urges that whenever similar problems may confront the government in the future, reliance shall be placed upon civilian no less than upon military representatives for their solution.

Not many years ago the government of London appeared as hopelessly corrupt as that of any boss-ridden American city of today. It is now regarded as a pattern of ability, integrity and enterprise. In the May Forum Mr. John Martin, who has first-hand knowledge of the subject, describes how this remarkable change has been brought about. His account of the municipal revolution wrought by the London County Council is full of encouragement, as well as suggestion for civic reforms in this country.

Our Tariff and Its Revision.

It is likely that the best course the United States could pursue would be to take up at an early date a thorough revision of the existing tariff with a view to cutting out of it all needlessly high rates of duty, and making it as little obstructive of foreign commerce as circumstances will permit. It is plain enough that the time has come when many schedules, like that of iron and steel, for instance, could be sweeping revised. There will be much less danger of attempts at European exclusion of American wares if we proceed to pull down some of the barriers the need of which we have outgrown. For example, with the American Tin Plate Company now an integral part of an iron and steel corporation capitalized at almost a billion and a half dollars, there is no longer any need to fear the competition of European tin plate. The only point to be considered is that of the maintenance of the American scale of wages. Nor is there any longer much reason for dealing with the tariff as a party question. According to the sounder theory of American protectionists, the high tariff was to be justified as a temporary means to an assured end. Certainly, that end has now, accomplished, and this country has reached, relative to other countries, a position of high and mature industrial development. Even admitting that under conditions existing ten or twenty years ago there was close relation between the tariff system and the rate of wages, it would not follow of necessity that under the different conditions now existing the average standard of wages in the United States would be much affected by a rapid change from a protective to a revenue tariff. The old-time theoretical arguments of the protectionists and free traders may all be safely neglected, in the working out of a tariff revision adapted to the new epoch.—From Review of Reviews.

ASSOCIATION HOUSE OF THE CHICAGO Y. W. C. A.

MRS. F. R. COLEMAN, retiring secretary of the Honolulu Y. W. C. A., has furnished The Republican with a small folder describing last Christmas season at Association House, Chicago. Its contents, abridged somewhat, are given below. Mrs. Coleman says: "The Settlement is a Y. W. C. A. in a poor part of Chicago organized at the request of 115 young women living there. It has been started less than two years and has grown wonderfully."

Christmas Week at Association House.

During the ten days previous to Christmas the arrival of the expressman with sundry boxes, barrels and packages from the various parts of our own city, state and other states, gave an air of the holiday season to the entire house.

One of the very pleasantest things was the anticipation of the happiness which would result through the distribution of the gifts in the many homes and that by this distribution the real meaning of Christmas might be made known or deepened in the lives of those about us.

It was the happiest Christmas season ever known to the residents. One said, "Never before have we realized to the full truth of 'It's more blessed to give than to receive.'"

The festivities began on Friday, the twenty-first, with the kindergarten children. Santa Claus had been very busy the previous afternoon, decorating the room, trimming the tree and tying up mysterious looking packages.

As the children gathered, the feeling of mystery deepened, for they were ushered upstairs, instead of into their own room as usual.

At 9:30 ten little couples filed down stairs to behold that vision, the ever green tree laden with such things as only that tree can grow. They walked slowly around the tree examining it carefully; then, forming a circle, danced around it with shining eyes and faces, singing the bright, happy Christmas songs.

The vesper services on Sunday was a most blessed time, indeed. Following the meeting we had twenty-five to tea, the most of the young people's meetings or church services.

Monday morning was devoted to the last letters and packages. Following this came the real fun of unpacking the numerous boxes and barrels of good things which kind friends had sent. The exclamations of oh and ah, and "look at this," "oh just do see this," plainly indicated that the residents' anticipation was more than fully realized.

At 3 p. m. we started in our reindeer sled (an express wagon which the kindness of a friend had made possible), armed with dolls and toys, and the more substantial things, such as turkeys, chickens and the accessories, and made hearts glad as we distributed the baskets to families which otherwise would have had a very meagre Christmas indeed.

At 1 a. m. we extended Christmas greetings to each other and retired for a little rest.

Christmas day was reserved for our own celebration and a most happy time it was. The presence of Miss Taylor, Miss Dunn, Mrs. Rowland and Miss Barnes, added much to the enjoyment of the occasion. As we gathered around the brightly lighted tree and received the gifts of love and friendship, though we are all absent from our own home circles, we felt, as one of the residents said, that here in the Settlement we had found another home and that the ties formed would never be forgotten or broken.

On Wednesday came the Laurels, girls 11 to 14 years old; they arrived with bright, expectant faces, over seventy of them. After songs and a Christmas story they were visited by Mrs. Santa Claus, who was almost overcome by the heat she had endured while south, whither she had gone in order to supply the butterdies, and oranges, as well as dolls, candy and nuts to these little people. We believe that the dolls came from the same place as the butterdies, as under cover of skirts as well as wings, were found little needle cases.

About 7 in the evening there was a wild tumult at the front door—the Lincoln boys had come to claim their share in the Christmas festivities. There was no business meeting that evening. The secretary was not called upon to read the "limits" of the last meeting; other interests were more pressing. In a short time Santa Claus' bells were heard in the distance, then at the door. This door is only of ordinary size, so fifty boys so completely filled it that Santa Claus with his pack had to go away until every boy had gotten his chair; certainly chairs were never more quickly found and arranged and the room was soon as quiet as could possibly be expected with the presence of so many bright, active boys. Then came—I wish you could have seen their faces when they spied it—ice cream, and not one boy had to go away saying, as had been said on a former occasion, "Say, this tastes like more."

The members of the Mothers' Friendly Group came Thursday afternoon. After a short talk on the Promises for the week, a chapter from a Christmas story, and some music by the mothers' quartet (the four largest women of the group), accompanied by the mothers' band (the six smallest women), long tables were set for seventy mothers and thirty children, and the joy where Christ is the unseen guest was theirs in great abundance. One of the very sweetest things of this week was the gifts which the mothers presented to the different leaders.

In the evening the Shasta Club, twenty-five in number, enjoyed their "catch," ice cream and cake together with a gift for each from their leader, Miss Kerr, a sweet Christmas story by Miss Poxon, made the happiness of the evening complete.

The people of the First Congregational Church of Oak Park had invited seventy-five from our neighborhood for Friday evening. At 4:30 on that day, seventy-eight mothers, boys, girls and babies boarded the car which they had kindly sent for us. We arrived at our destination about 6 p. m., and there found a warm welcome and an elaborate turkey dinner to delight the eyes and the appetites of the hungry boys and girls, some of whom had not eaten anything since breakfast in order to be ready for this meal.

The supper was followed immediately by an entertainment of music, recitations and a pantomime of one of the old nursery rhymes, after which could be heard the prancing of Santa Claus' reindeer, and once again we beheld that wondrous tree weighted down with love and good will.

Saturday afternoon ninety Sunbeams enjoyed a regular Christmas program, consisting of Christmas songs, hymns and recitations, by themselves. The climax was reached when Santa Claus came in with a pack on his back. Each child went home hugging her precious doll tightly in her arms and their shouts of good night, and beaming faces spoke their happiness.

The young women's party, composed of the members of the Tuesday and Philadora clubs, completed the week's program. After music and an informal social time, the Christmas pie was placed on the table, the president of one of the clubs was presented with a knife, and when "the pie was open the girls began to scream." Each one "put in her thumb and pulled out a plum," and the plums caused much merriment. Candy, cakes and orangeade were then served. On New Year's afternoon an informal reception closed the season's festivities. The telling of a story, reading, games and conversation occupied the time. Light refreshments were served.

And so the full, busy, happy week was spent at Association House, 474 W. North Ave., 700 having shared in the Christmas radiance of good cheer. Does it pay, you ask? Let me tell you about a prayer which was offered at the last meeting of our prayer circle. One young woman said, "Thou knowest, Father, that just to pass this house makes us think of Thee."

Funston's Student Days.

Funston was an omnivorous reader; he soon seemed to have mastered the resources that our comparatively small library furnished, and he had this matter at his fingers' ends. I remember that one day when he came to the lecture-room with an armful of authorities, which he placed on the table before him; and at the proper time, with perfectly respectful manner but with a triumphant note in his voice, presented a brief, backed by his texts, which I immediately confessed set aside a statement and a proposition which I had made on the previous day. It was peculiarly gratifying to myself to know that already a youngster had come up in my classes who could master his instructor, even on a comparatively minor and technical point. As an illustration of his humor may be quoted his reply to a question which I put one day, in the oratorical sense rather than expecting an answer. Speaking of the tremendous advance in land values which had come in all parts of Kansas during the "boom," I said: "What service have the owners of these lands rendered to the community for which they can expect such extraordinary returns as may possibly be theirs because of this assumed advance in value?" Instantly he interrupted: "Don't you really think, professor, that the Kansas man is entitled to something for standing on top of the fence and waving his hat and shouting so long for the rest of the world to come on?" There was some shrewd philosophy underlying this retort—philosophy which I came to know he clearly appreciated. —From "Funston: A Kansas Product," in the Review of Reviews for May.

AGINALDO'S CAPTURE AND THE PHILIPPINE COMMISSION

The co-operation of the natives, thus brought into play, made itself felt in two main directions: (1) it was the most important factor in bringing about captures and surrenders of fire arms during January and February, and (2) it insured the cordial reception of the Commissioners at provincial capitals. The latter result is to be ascribed to the zeal of the Commission's proteges, the new Federal party, which has spread rapidly in all parts of the archipelago, "and is active and urgent in its advocacy of peace and in presenting the advantage of civil liberty under American sovereignty." During February the Commission organized five provincial governments—in Pampanga, Pangasinan, Tarlac, Bulacan and Batavia—everywhere receiving the enthusiastic support of local Federalists, and having the benefits of their assistance in the attempt to prove that new privileges of great value were being offered, and to explain the difference between military and civil government. There seems to be no doubt that the desired impression was very generally made, in Luzon in the Visayan group and also in Mindanao, which were visited in March; the Commission establishing in each province such a form of government as seemed to be adapted to the intelligence of its inhabitants, with the understanding that some of the governments installed were to be superseded by better systems in due time. We are told that numerous reports were received from distant garrisons, conveying expressions of the confidence which the natives were beginning to feel in the Americans, and congratulations on the work of the Commission. A correspondent cabled on April 1 that Geronimo, formerly an insurgent commander, in explanation of the increasing confidence felt by the people with respect to the purposes of the Americans, asserted that "this has been caused by the action of the Philippine Commission." He declared that "wherever the Federal party plants the American banner, there the insurrection ends."

In the light of these facts, in view of the natives' deplorable misconception of the true character of our "hard-headed wearers of uniforms"—the best soldiers in the world, I think, but by the same token, not the best diplomats—and in view of the revolution of feeling which the pacific and tactful measures of the Taft Commission seem to have produced let us read again the recent long lists of surrenders, overtures to surrender, and captures. Would these cheering events have been crowded together into a few weeks, or would they, rather, have been scattered through a period of years—the distressing "years of warfare" with which we were threatened last autumn—if the distinctive work of the Civil Commission had been less wisely planned? It is beyond dispute that the chief credit for some of the surrenders belongs to the Commission and its native sympathizers; even to the most interesting capture it would appear that they must have contributed in a minor degree.

The facts are not yet at hand which will enable us to form a definite opinion upon this subject, but we may at least notice the bearing of circumstances mentioned in the official and press dispatches already published. One of Aguinaldo's staff permitted important letters to fall into Gen. Funston's hands; Tagalog officers were available for service—for this particular service—against their former chief; the way lay open and unguarded for a six days' march upon Aguinaldo's camp. There was a different story to tell when the chase led through the highlands of the northwestern provinces at the beginning of 1900, before the bitterness of resistance had been drawn off and the Filipino organization itself undermined so diplomatically.—Marion Wilcox in the May Forum.

A Very Remarkable Remedy.

"It is with a good deal of pleasure and satisfaction that I recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Druggist A. W. Sawtelle, of Hartford, Conn. "A lady customer, seeing the remedy exposed for sale at my show case, said to me: 'I really believe that medicine saved my life the past summer while at the shore,' and she began so enthusiastic over its merits that I once made up my mind to recommend it in the future. Recently a gentleman came into my store so overcome with colic pains that he sank as once to the floor. I gave him a dose of this remedy which helped him. I repeated the dose and in fifteen minutes he left my store smilingly informing me that he felt as well as ever." Sold by Benson, Smith & Co., General Agents Territory of Hawaii.

Hired a Special Train TO CATCH THE SIERRA

WILD RIDE OVER SOUTHERN PACIFIC TO REACH STEAMER ON TIME.

Miss Margaret Windeyer of Australia Determined to Sail on the Sierra Reached Pier Three Minutes Ahead of Schedule Time of Sailing.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—Three minutes before 10 o'clock yesterday morning, the hour at which the steamer Sierra was scheduled to sail for Australia, a carriage dashed down to the Oceanic dock, and a young lady, incumbered with a little impedimenta in the shape of baggage, hurried up the gangplank of the steamer and threw herself, tired and panting, into a seat on the deck. All night she had raced against time in a special train over the sagebrush plains of Nevada, up one slope of the Sierra and down the other, and then down the Sacramento valley at breakneck speed, in the hope of getting aboard the Sierra before it steamed away on its long trip to the Antipodes.

Miss Margaret Windeyer—for that was the young lady's name—was visiting friends in Albany, N. Y., when she received a summons to return to her home at Sydney as fast as steam could take her. The cablegram called her back to Australia on the matter of urgent importance. Her presence was needed in Sydney in connection with some legal matter connected with the estate of her deceased father, who was a titled English gentleman, and in the hope of catching the steamer Sierra she took a fast train for San Francisco. Before she had been on the road very long, however, she discovered that the connecting train on the Central Pacific was not due to reach here until 12:25 o'clock yesterday afternoon, whereas the Sierra was scheduled to sail at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Through a friend of the family—President Williams of the Mendocino Lumber Company—the steamship company was urged to hold the steamer until the train arrived, and a bonus of two first-class fares being offered as an inducement. The steamship officials smiled sadly at Williams, and Williams telegraphed to the girl that the thing was impossible. Williams then thought of another scheme. He proposed to have a tug in waiting at the Oakland pier, and with Miss Windeyer aboard he would pursue the Sierra out to sea and overtake her somewhere on her journey. Tugboat officials told Williams that a tug steamed much slower than the Sierra, and then nothing remained but the hiring of a special train.

Manager Fillmore of the Southern Pacific Company refused to run a special train from Ogden, but offered to have one in readiness at Wadsworth, Nev., upon the arrival of the regular train at that place. The regular reached Wadsworth at 11 o'clock yesterday night, and Miss Windeyer promptly stepped into the day coach and started on her wild flight toward San Francisco. The special train of an engine and one car reached the Oakland pier at 9:15 o'clock yesterday morning, and the steamer was landed at the foot of Market street at 9:50 o'clock, where she was met by Mr. Williams and an attaché of the passenger department of the Southern Pacific in a carriage. She got aboard the Sierra three minutes before sailing time. The Sierra did not sail until an hour later. The special cost her exactly $400.

The Premier (Sir John Gordon Sprigg) however, authorized a statement that there was no foundation for the reports of the reconstruction of the cabinet.

Sultan Defies the Powers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Friday, May 10.—A third note, evidently emanating direct from the Sultan, was delivered today to the ambassadors, demanding in peremptory language the immediate suppression of the foreign offices and reiterating the charges of smuggling against foreign officials. The ambassadors immediately returned the note to the Porte, thus creating partial cessation of relations between embassies and the Turkish government.

AMERICAN CITIZEN IS FINED BY RUSSIA

CHICAGO, May 11.—A special to the Tribune from St. Paul, Minn., says: L. D. Horne, a naturalized American citizen and a member of a wholesale firm in this city, has been fined by the Russian Government of which country he is a native, to pay a fine of 600 roubles, amounting to $350. Mr. Horne received notice several months ago from Russia that the fine had been imposed because he did not serve his time in the Russian army. Through the American Minister at St. Petersburg he arbitrated the matter, claiming exemption because of now being an American citizen. He desired to go to Russia in person, but the American official informed him that it would be exceedingly difficult to secure his release from the arrest which would surely ensue as soon as he entered the Czar's domain. The Russian Government attached the homestead of Mr. Horne's parents at Niesin, northern Russia, to secure payment of the fine. Mr. Horne's parents are aged, and their only property is their home. To prevent them from being turned out Mr. Horne paid his fine.

Russian and Japanese Armies.

The total peace strength of the Russian army is about 1,000,000 divided into infantry, cavalry, and artillery in about the same proportions as in the case of Japan. The active army of Russia is about 1,250,000, which we may fairly compare with Japan's 90,000. When we add the First Reserve, Russia's army runs up to 4,000,000, as against Japan's 160,000. Russia's Second Reserve is over 1,250,000, as against 250,000 for Japan.

The fairest comparison, however, is with the active army and the First Reserve taken together. This gives us 4,000,000 for Russia, as against 160,000 for Japan. In the case of Russia, we do know accurately what the First Reserve means. It consists of men who have served in the active army for five years, and who are liable for service in the First Reserve during the next thirteen years. The First Reserve is, therefore, fully as competent as the active army, and may be trusted to give an equally good account of itself in the field. It is, therefore, quite possible that the printed accounts, which attribute to the Russian war minister the intention to raise the forces in Manchuria to 300,000 of all arms, are accurate. This would be easily within his power, without unduly weakening any of the military districts in European Russia, and it is evident that such a movement of troops would reduce Japan's chance of success to a very small one indeed.—From "Russia's Readiness for War," Review of Reviews for May.

Japan's New Navy.

In numbers, the Japanese naval personnel is just about equal to our own. There are 2 admirals, 5 vice-admirals, 6 rear-admirals, 44 captains, 64 commanders, 235 lieutenants, 203 sub-lieutenants, 90 midshipmen, and about 23,000 men.

Japan's ambition, like our own, has been to build a navy of home production, but she did not wait until she was able to build such a navy before providing herself with any fleet at all. She bought ships abroad and began developing her domestic resources at the same time. She can build anything now up to cruisers of 6,000 tons, and the only reason she has not prepared herself to build battleships is that it would cost so much to import the materials. She has an ably conducted department of naval architecture at the Imperial University of Tokyo. She has fifteen dry docks, government and commercial, of which four can take in the largest battleships, and several others are only a trifle smaller. Her shipyards, as far as they have gone, are equipped with the most modern appliances, of which her officers and workmen, unlike the Chinese, know how to make the best possible use.

On the whole, Japan is at this moment unquestionably the first naval power in the far east; and while England or France could send force enough there to overmatch her, if necessary, the feat would not be easy for any other power.—From The Navy of Japan in the Review of Reviews for May.

The carpenters struck at the Buffalo exposition grounds May 11, refusing to work on "unfair" lumber which was being used in the construction of a booth in the Manufacturers and Liberal Arts building.

CORNER IN NORTHERN PACIFIC IS BROKEN

Was Brought About By a Struggle for Control.

RIVAL INTERESTS DECLARE TRUCE

NOT KNOWN YET WHICH SYNDICATE HOLDS A MAJORITY.

Each One Claims to Have More Than Half of the Voting Stock—Other Line of Business Not Affected by These Transactions.

NEW YORK, May 11.—With both the Stock Exchange and the Consolidated Exchange closed today, and with practically nothing doing on the curb, Wall street was very quiet. Although the exchanges were not open for business, all the larger brokerage houses had their clerks at work straightening out the accounts of speculators and putting their books in order. In the rush days from Monday to Friday done of the usual making out of customers' statements was done, and it will probably be late tomorrow night before the balancing of accounts will be finished.

Many speculators went down town to await the bank statement and to get the London quotations for American securities. At 2 p. m. London's prices generally showed advances as compared with the close at New York yesterday, the extreme being eighteen points in Northern Pacific. Other stocks generally were up, but United States Steel Common was 3-8 and the preferred 1-2 lower. Illinois Central showed a decline of 1-4.

EFFECT ON UNION PACIFIC BEING WATCHED

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Tribune says: How is Union Pacific going to be affected by the contest now in progress for the control of the Northern Pacific? is a question which is being discussed with great interest by Wall street. If Mr. Harriman and his associates succeed in their endeavor to obtain control of the Northern Pacific the answer to the question is comparatively simple. By that operation the Union Pacific, through its control of the Northern Pacific, would come virtually into possession of the latter's one-half interest in the Burlington system and its position would be materially strengthened.

GERMANS IN BRAZIL

Consul General Zeguer Says They Number Three Hundred Thousand. NEW YORK, May 11.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: Three hundred thousand Germans have landed in Brazil, according to a report received at the State Department from Consul General Zeguer, stationed at Rio Janeiro. This report is in answer to a letter sent by the Department last summer directing him to submit a statement regarding foreign population in Brazil. He submits the following report showing the number of foreigners in Brazil: Italians, 1,200,000; Portuguese, 800,000; Germans, 300,000; Spanish, 100,000; Poles, 8,000; French, 10,000; English, 500; North American, 5,000; other nationalities, 100,000.

TRUCE DECLARED AND STOCK PANIC IS ENDED

NEW YORK, May 9.—The Northern Pacific corner has been broken. According to information that reached stockholders and operators at the Waldorf-Astoria late tonight, a truce has been declared. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. gave notice that they would settle all their shorts at 150. J. P. Morgan & Co. and James R. Keane will settle, it is said, at between 150 and 185. Definite figures had not been decided upon tonight, but will probably be announced before trading begins tomorrow. There was no bidding for loans of Northern Pacific at the Waldorf tonight. This was regarded as most significant. No great squeeze is looked for in Northern Pacific tomorrow. On all sides it was said that the worst was over and that there would be no repetition of the stupendous panic which rocked Wall street from end to end today. The exchange closes Saturday.

Many large houses could not stand the strain of another day like today. Prices fell from 20 to 60 points. Money loaned as high as 80 per cent. A syndicate of bankers put out $19,000,000 at from 40 to 60 per cent. While other stocks were tumbling on every side the prices and large fortunes melting away in minutes, Northern Pacific went up with leaps and bounds, till $1000 a share was bid, making advances of 100 and 200 points between sales. The trading was the wildest ever witnessed. At one time Northern Pacific was 840 points above Wednesday's closing. It was the wildest day in Wall street's history, but there were no important failures. Only five small consolidated exchange firms went to the wall.

The panic leaves one question of far-reaching importance still in doubt—who will control the Northern Pacific Railway when this fight is over? Both J. P. Morgan & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. claim it, and neither of these great firms usually makes any claim it cannot prove. It is possible that neither may know which is the victor until the stock contracted for has been actually delivered. The master mind of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. (reorganizers of the Baltimore and Ohio and Union Pacific Railways) is Jacob H. Schiff. Schiff said last night, "We think we now control the Northern Pacific."

President Mellen of the Northern Pacific said: "Hill and J. P. Morgan between them own a majority of the $155,000,000 of stock, common and preferred. They cannot lose control. To my personal knowledge Hill refused to buy more common stock last week, because he already had control." Uncertainty arises from the fact that each firm may now hold contracts for delivery of more than a majority of the 200,000 shares still outstanding. In other words, contracts have been made for more stock than exists. Some of these contracts obviously cannot be kept. When deliveries are forced there will be failures, broken contracts, and it is impossible to foretell which firm will secure the advantage in actual stock receipts on these contracts to deliver. There has never been such a situation before.

If the Kuhn-Loeb-Harriman party wins the lease of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy will be defeated by the Northern Pacific stockholders' meeting, or else a compromise will be reached by which the Union Pacific Railway will have representatives in the board controlling the entire Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington railway system. That will make J. P. Morgan and James J. Hill no longer dictators there.

London Brokers Pinched.

LONDON, May 11.—A special meeting of the stock exchange committee has been summoned for Monday morning in the hope of reaching a solution of the difficulty in which operators and brokers who have given calls for Northern Pacific for the end of May and July find themselves. It developed today that every share here is held by the Morgans and Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and therefore the brokers are unable to secure a single share for delivery. The situation has a depressing effect. Owing to the closing of the New York Stock Exchange, Americans were absolutely stagnant, awaiting developments. J. P. Morgan will be in London this afternoon and a conference will be held. It is hoped he and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. will do something to relieve the situation. In the meanwhile there is considerable anxiety. Though the closing of the stock exchange here was easier, quotations mostly showed a marked advance. Northern Pacific common was quoted at an advance of 30 1-2 points, in connection with the settlement.

man Government prohibited immigration to Brazil until 1896, when the prohibition was removed. Besides the province of Santa Catharina there are many German subjects in Rio Grande do Sul. Mr. Zeguer closes his report by saying that as a rule only a small percentage of the colonists, one or two per cent, preserve their original nationality.

Bryanism and Jeffersonian Democracy.

In reality, he who runs may read more of the spirit of Jeffersonian Democracy in the Chicago and Kansas City platforms than can be found in any other platform of the Democratic party. Furthermore, in his political beginnings, when he knew or had read little else, Mr. Bryan crammed himself with lessons from Jefferson's life and was an ostentatious disciple of that eminent radical. Indeed, it is precisely this quality of Jeffersonism in Mr. Bryan and his platform which is offensive to the conservative or old school Democracy. It was left to Bryanism to illustrate the fact, which the Bourbon Democracy does not even yet comprehend, that Jeffersonian Democracy is quite out of joint with the times. If Jefferson should come back now to the country whose political institutions and polity he so largely shaped and inspired, he would meet the same sort of a reception, as, in Mr. Stead's opinion, would be given in Chicago to his great forerunner as a social leveller.

Both Jefferson and Jackson lived in very primitive social conditions compared to those in which Mr. Bryan is undertaking to apply their political and social notions. They could, with confidence, appeal to the "plain people" then, because there were few of any other class to oppose or control them. They did not take into account the coming supremacy of organized capital, much more potent in its control of the dependent "plain people" than Mr. Bryan's idealistic notions of individual liberty, because they had not dreamed of the revolutionary advent of steam and electricity, or the teeming population which has been their concomitant. Fisher Ames had said, in 1791: "Ages must elapse before the hundredth and the thousandth generation." The same sudden creation of modern means of transportation and other mechanical appliances, which so utterly confounded the prophecy of Ames, has thrown out upon the banks of progress the let-alone individualistic policy of Jefferson and Jackson, where it lies obsolete and stale.

Jefferson and Jackson established a system of political equality, and then dreamed that this comprehended economic equality, or, at least, economic freedom. But so great has been the economic and social change since these great political builders wrought that we are, in the words of Zola, "in a democracy ravaged by political equality and economic inequality." The great French radical could not have described more truly or aptly our present condition, if he had the eye upon us instead of France, or perhaps European society in general, when he spoke these words. Though this condition is the basis of Bryanism and of party cleavage, yet it is so unconsciously, or, at the most, vaguely perceived. We are in a state of economic anarchy. We pretend to be living in Jeffersonian equality though we have not adjusted our methods and institutions to changing conditions for a hundred years.—Albert Watkins in the May Forum.

PICTURES ALL RIGHT FOR SPRING EXHIBIT

VARNISHING NIGHT OF KILOHANA ART LEAGUE PASSES OFF WELL

First View Reception Tomorrow Evening—Some of the Exhibitors and Their Works—Believed the Best Exhibition Ever Held.

It was a labor of love the artists had last night. Artists are as full of notions as old housewives when it comes to arranging things.

Those present were: Theo. Worries, Mrs. Alfred Coolie, Jordan Osborne, Mrs. Helen Kelley, Miss Anna Parke, Mrs. Grace Hudson, Miss Nettie King, Mrs. W. M. Graham and D. Howard Hitchcock.

The catalogue is delayed, but the following notes of exhibitors were available last night.

Mr. Worries has thirteen portraits, all bright specimens of this gentleman's masterful work.

Mrs. Kelley has six Samoan village sketches, also Fall, fish and sea, with other thoroughly Hawaiian subjects.

Mr. Hitchcock has at least two dozen strong canvases. He presents a different phase of Hawaiian scenery from former studies.

Miss Parke presents two marine views, both of which do this talented lady great credit.

Miss Una Atherton Cooke has six water colors. This artist's work is perhaps the most attractive of any in the exhibit. It represents the new school of illustrative art.

Mrs. Alfred Willis contributes two landscapes. The sweetness of this member's combinations of color is well known to all lovers of art here.

Miss Nettie King has on view a very large and creditable exhibition of china and burnt leather.

Jordan Osborne exhibits five very beautiful and artistic specimens of plastic work. This is the first sculpture exhibited for some years and the League welcomes this gentleman's excellent productions as a strong attraction and educator.

Mrs. Cooke and Mrs. Graham each exhibits two pieces of furniture of original designs.

Mrs. Hudson sends one small but very attractive sketch.

Meritorious work by other exhibitors will receive attention in the course of the exhibition.

The first view reception will be given at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at the League rooms in the Model block. Afterward the exhibition will remain open several weeks, daily from 9 to 5 o'clock besides Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

A lady will be in charge and hand out catalogues to visitors. As this is regarded by the pictorial circle as the best exhibition yet held by the League, it ought to attract a generous public patronage. The first view is one of the foremost social events on the calendar.

The Murphy Hall Concert. The popular interest in the Francis Murphy hall concerts is unabated. In spite of the attractions at the Orpheum and elsewhere, the full seating capacity of the hall was insufficient.

THINK DOLE WILL NOT BE DISTURBED

NEW YORK, May 11.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: Officials who are acquainted with the President's views regarding the legislative situation in Hawaii do not believe Mr. McKinley will be inclined to take notice of the memorial from the Hawaiian Legislature.

Mr. McKinley will be inclined to take notice of the memorial from the Hawaiian Legislature urging Governor Dole's removal, certainly not without a full explanation from the Governor. Great friction exists between Governor Dole and the Legislature, but the President believes the Hawaiians should work out their own salvation.

MISSION CHILDREN'S SOCIETY ENTERS FIFTIETH YEAR

Illustrated Historical Work now in Preparation—Election of Officers—Address by Rev. Westervelt.

A half hundred representatives of the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society gathered at the home of A. Frank Cooke on King street yesterday evening, at which time the fiftieth year of the existence of the Society was fittingly ushered in.

Officers to serve for the ensuing year were elected, namely: President, Rev. O. H. Gulick; vice president, J. P. Cooke; secretary, Lorrin Andrews; treasurer, Lyle A. Dickey.

The address by the retiring President, Mr. Westervelt, proved highly interesting and instructive. He laid great stress upon the future of the Society. The good results of nearly a half century of usefulness were painstakingly set forth.

The report of the album committee was submitted. Those present were informed that the work of compiling in book form half-tone portraits, together with biographical sketches of the prominent early missionary leaders in the islands, was progressing at a satisfactory rate.

The call for an adjourned annual meeting to be held at the home of J. B. Atherton on Saturday, June 1, was announced before the gathering dispersed.

Kamehameha proved too much for Punahou yesterday in the first match game of the baseball series arranged between the two institutions.

It was anybody's game up to the eighth inning. Punahou was ahead, 6 to 5, when a walk, two singles and a three-bagger by Kamehameha told the story.

John Marcellino, Punahou's "crack second baseman, was to be thanked for four of Oahu's runs. Twice during the game he poked out two-baggers, which netted four runs for his side.
