SUN'S INFLUENCE ON VOLCANOES.

Paris, Saturday—Mr Garrett P Serviss, who is now in Paris, is one of the latest contributors to the Herald's ever interesting open tribune. Mr Serviss takes issue with the Abbe Moreux, a well known French astronomer and director of the Observatory of Bourges, who in a recent article in the European edition reiterated his theory of the close relations between solar activity and terrestrial volcanism.

Abbe Moreux maintains that earthquakes and volcanic activity are related, not to solar activity in general, but to sudden changes in that activity.

Mr Serviss writes:—"The letter of the Abbe Moreux in the Herald on the supposed relation between the terrible earthquakes in Calabria and the present excited state of the sun is extremely interesting, but I do not think that many astronomers will accept his theory.

"He suggests that a change of the electric potential of the atmosphere was the cause of the earthquakes, that change having been superinduced by the influence of the sun. He even goes so far as to intimate the possibility that the lowering of the electric potential observed during the recent eclipses might have been concerned in the production of seismic phenomena. The answer to this is that, according to all known laws of physics, the causes which the Abbe imagines to have been active are utterly inadequate to produce any such effect.

"As well might a mosquito slighting on the balance wheel of a gigantic engine throw the machinery out of gear. We must seek some more competent cause.

"If we are going to theorize we should do better by the suggestion lately made in England that earthquake cycles (and we seem to be at opening of such a cycle at present) may be connected with the phenomenon known as variation of 'latitude' or the 'wobbling of the pole.'

"At present the North Pole appears to be near its greatest departure from mean position and to be changing the direction of its motion. This may be likened in its effect to the slight unsteadiness of a wheel on its axle.

"Still, I do not wish to be regarded as adopting or championing the idea that the poles are causally connected with the prevalence of earthquakes. I simply say that as far as theories go, this seems to me a much more probable one than that of the learned Abbe."

Chas Gay is over from his Lanai ranch on business.

The Mauna Loa got away at noon today for Maui and Hawaii ports.

The steamer Maui will sail at 5 o'clock this afternoon for Maui ports.

The schooner Chas Levi Woodbury arrived yesterday from Laysan Island with a cargo of guano.

Tomorrow the officers of the Italian cruiser Calabria will visit Pearl Harbor as the guests of Capt Niblack.

FRIDAY, OCT. 6, 1905.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

"The Lord tempers the wind to the shorn lamb" and Dr Frederic Bell has permitted himself to trust in the ability of a Honolulu barber and has had his Samsonian locks scissorsed by a Young Hotel artist.

Now we came from New York last evening that Mayor McClellan had been renominated. That was to be expected. His only opponent was probably W R Hearst, and Mr Hearst, is not yet "the man of the hour" in New York.

Nearly 100,000 prisoners are to be returned from Japan to Vladivostok. Ordinarily it would be Russia's policy to keep them there as a penalty for surrendering. If they are really allowed to return to their homes it will show that Russia has been considerably civilized by the war.

So Dr Bell, of bell fame, is a great I-am. We had thought that Governor Carter was the only great I-am, but here is this Dr Bell. And he's a mighty good bell ringer when the belles are about, as he showed the other evening during his first lecture here. We wish the bell to ring long and loud while here.

And so the Hawaiian Historical Society is anxious to save and preserve a certain heiau down country. Why? Any old pile of old rocks will answer just as well as that. What's the use of attempting to preserve them now, when others of much more interest have already been destroyed and forever lost to posterity?

The constant turmoil between the Japanese consul and his people suggests strongly that something is wrong somewhere. Almost from the time of his arrival here Mr Saito has been at loggerheads with the leading Japanese of the country. We do not know the ins and outs of the trouble and don't care but it certainly seems unfortunate.

The action of the barbers of the State University of Illinois in refusing to shave Filipino young men who had come to Bloomington to go to school shows the kind of welcome the nation's wards may expect to receive at the hands of the people on the mainland. Americans are willing to hold the Filipino as a subject but when it comes to a question of accepting him on a broad plane of equality they draw away. In other words, they are willing to tote fair only when it seems to pay.

Why is it the Advertiser has not said anything about the gambling joint in Kakaako near where Sam Johnson used to take his men into the hay loft to pay them off? This outfit used to make large money out of the garbage department and, from all accounts, still has the men of that department on its list of best customers. Is the Advertiser afraid to tackle the men who are running it? If so, is it because they have more money than Charlie Moore?

The fact that the Alameds, of late years, has been making $230,000 per annum should certainly set the commercial interests of the Islands to thinking. Add to this the revenue derived from passengers and there would appear a net income from the boat of at least $150,000 in twelve months. At this rate it would take but very few years for a steamer even larger than the Alameda, owned and operated by local merchants, to pay for herself several times over.

Hilo's frenzy over the delay in getting her high school seems to have been the result of a misapprehension. Just how the idea got abroad in the Rainy City that the appropriation had been cut out it is impossible to say, but that does not matter anyway. The facts are that the building was delayed in order that the people over there might decide on a site. This proposition started a wrangle which, in Hilo, is capable of holding up anything. As soon as the people get together and make a choice upon which all can agree, the work will go ahead.

We would modestly inquire if when the Advertiser gets through with exposing Chinese five-cent gambling joints, it will take up the matter of two leading hotels and one of the most prominent lodging establishments that run—or allow to be run—gambling joints as accessories of their respective enterprises? We venture that it will not dare do so. The morning press is ever ready to shine in a crusade against petty offenders of the law, but when it comes to tackling big fry that paper has business in another street in-stanter.

The Advertiser thinks that the work of checking gambling in Hawaii might be turned over to the Federal authorities. If such could be done no time should be lost in shifting the responsibility. As a matter of fact, however, there is no Federal law touching the class of cases referred to the extent that the United States could legally take charge. The central government can act only in cases where the mails are used for the promotion of gambling enterprises, such as lotteries, etc; but there it stops, leaving the rest to States and State law.

The dissatisfaction of the people of Puako, Hawaii, with their school teacher, Mrs Wagner, is a case not exactly parallel with the Wailuku school muddle of a few weeks ago, but the effect is equally damaging. In all such cases—cases in which the teacher has become persona non grata with the patrons of a school—the teacher should be quietly removed to some other place, where he or she might do better. This is an extreme measure, but in the interest of education it should be unhesitatingly taken. The people of Puako have gotten it into their heads that Mrs Wagner is incompetent. They may be ever so badly mistaken, but the impression stays, it has caused a breach and the influence of the lady in the school work of that community is gone.

The Advertiser is hot foot after the small gamblers, but leaves the big fellows alone, we mean those fellows who dabble in stocks, etc. Even business is another form, but more refined and lucrative. But what is... anyway, if it is not gambling? Marriage even is a form. In fact, all are more or less gamblers, either in one form or another, whether approved or not. Even our courts, instead of doling out justice, are legally speaking, places where chance is given litigants to either win or lose, according to the whims of those dealing the packs. Because of the patronage gives, a paper will speak well of anything even if it was not good, and that's gambling also, in a sense, and we are all in it for all that it is and they are worth. Better shut up or put up.

A Mother's Responsibility

A great responsibility rests upon mothers at the time their daughters are budding into womanhood. If your daughter is pale, complains of weakness, is "tired out" upon slight exertion; if she is troubled with headache or backache, pain in the side; if her temper is fitful and her appetite poor, she is in a condition of extreme peril, a fit subject for that most dreaded of all diseases—consumption. If you notice any of these symptoms lose no time in procuring!

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

They will assist your daughter to develop properly and regularly; they will enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves, and all danger of consumption and premature death will be averted.

Mrs. John Tansey, of 180 Baker Street, Detroit, Mich., says: "We had a serious time with my daughter. She did not have any serious illness but seemed to gradually waste away. Our doctor called the disease by an odd name which as I afterward learned, meant lack of blood."

"We finally found a medicine that helped her. After three months' treatment her health was so greatly improved you would not have recognized her. She gained in weight rapidly and soon was in perfect health. The medicine used was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I have always kept these pills in the house since and have told many mothers about them. They have effected some wonderful cures."

—From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich.

All the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves are contained in a condensed form, in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They are a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppression, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.
