CITY BEAUTIFICATION.

Address of Dr. Northrop on "Village Improvement"

There was not a large audience at the lecture by Dr. B. G. Northrop on "Village Improvement." It had the misfortune to be postponed once in favor of a political meeting, and other events were in competition with it on the night for which it was fixed. Those who attended were well rewarded.

Dr. Northrop sketched the growth of organized effort for town improvement in the United States, giving the position of pioneer to James Hillhouse of New Haven. The best way to begin the work was by a free lecture followed by organization. Politics should have no place in it, and a local improvement society was a great solvent of political animosities. It should include all classes, and be largely composed of women. They succeed better in getting money and securing the co-operation of all classes. Once all classes work together almost anything can be accomplished. The objects comprised municipal reform, sanitary improvements—water supply, sewerage and disposal of waste matter; improvement of roads, sidewalks, parks, school yards and other public grounds, the organizing of free public libraries and the removal of front fences. The lecturer paid a compliment to Mr. Dillingham for the garden he made at the railway station. Funds for the society were derivable from membership fees, life memberships and donations from residents and former residents. He said that in America, within the past forty years, more money had been given by wealthy men while living to their towns than in all the previous history of the country. On the first Arbor Day, twenty-three years ago, more than 12,000,000 of trees were planted. In the geographies of 20 years ago Nebraska was described as the "Great American Desert." Now there are 1,000,000 acres in that State covered with trees planted by human hands.

Dr. Northrop gave a summary from the report of Commissioner Marsden of the work being done in propagating trees by the Government. From the King street nursery have been furnished, free, 9790 for economic tree planting, and for schools and for ornament 300 trees, there being on hand 20,000 fruit trees of sixteen varieties; 12,950 timber, ornamental and medicinal trees; 11,750 palms, and 6513 fibre plants. In the Makiki nursery of one acre there are 21,000 trees, including 2450 oranges, 1500 persimmon, 3000 camphor trees, and 2000 Japanese chestnuts. Besides, there are 8000 in pots and boxes, including 1600 logwood, 800 Kona coffee trees and 200 camphor trees; also, there are soon to be ready many thousand of new fibre plants of the hemp family and sisal. These with our unsurpassed Kona coffee solve the problem how to make small farming profitable. He had been interested to view, though at a distance, the planted forests on Tantalus, and the 200 acres so happily situated soon to be opened for a grand nursery for this Republic. Yet there remains thousands of acres of these islands now barren and almost worthless, which might be, and he was confident would be, at an early day reclaimed by tree planting.

The lecturer described the progress made in forestry in France, and told of the resolution passed by the American Forestry Association, of which he was chairman, at St. Paul, Minnesota, thirteen years ago in favor of Arbor Day in schools. There was danger in planting trees too thick near dwelling houses, the old proverb being in point, "Where the sunlight cannot come, the doctor must." He recommended the Japanese ivy for covering bare walls, such as those of Kawaiahao and Central Union churches.

One of the aims of such a village improvement is to develop town pride. It has been said that the man that doesn't delight to cherish and build up his own town has no heart in his bosom. These societies have done much to fraternize the community where they exist. The motto of the Swiss Confederacy should be the motto of every city and town—"One for all and all for one!" The first aim of these societies is to improve the sanitary condition of the town or city. Sanitarians tell us that 120,000 deaths occur in the United States yearly from preventable disease; and, if 120,000, twenty-eight times as many more, that is three and one third millions of sicknesses. It costs to be sick, and costs to die, as viewed in the cold light of political economy. In Memphis, Tennessee, in 1878, there were 4000 deaths, because it was the dirtiest and filthiest city in the South. Today it is the healthiest, because there are now forty-three miles of sewers, flushed twice a day by one hundred and ninety automatic flushing tanks, each twice a day throwing into the sewers one hundred and twelve gallons of water. I went through the city with the sanitary engineer, and when he opened the manholes I could not perceive the slightest odor from any.

Dr. Northrop congratulated Honolulu on its artesian wells, providing an ample supply of pure water, but insisted on the necessity of a system of sewerage. He had heard much of the beauty of Honolulu, but the reality had surpassed his expectations. There should be parks in the Chinese quarter, and the lecturer advocated one near the wash houses, which, by the way, Rev. F. W. Damon had suggested several months ago. The surest way to conciliate and harmonize all classes was to improve the condition of all; in which connection Dr. Northrop eulogized the great benefactions of the late Mrs. Bishop and the erection of the museum as a memorial to her by her husband, C. R. Bishop. He expected much for the Hawaiians from the Homestead Act, and, in conclusion, said that Hawaii seemed to him to be better fitted by nature for a winter resort and a sanitarium for the world than any of the places he had visited.

Scottish Thistle Club.

The smoking concert of the Scottish Thistle Club passed off pleasantly. Instrumental music was kindly furnished by Professors Yandler, da Silva and Libornio of the visitors on piano and violin. W. Eadie, "the court fiddler," did his part well, and there were songs by Thos. Douglas and several members. J. D. Tucker made an eloquent response for the visitors, followed by A. Chisholm with a few remarks. Ed. Towse, editor of the Star, humorously acknowledged a toast to the press, further acknowledged in a song by J. H. Bolster of the BULLETIN. B. L. Finney gave a fine exhibition of club swinging. J. W. Berry and H. Smith responded for the ladies. "Churchwarden" pipes and other smoking requisites were in constant play, and there were "donals" at intervals ranging from "fair" to "thumpin'."

RUN OVER.

Severe Injury to Young Kruger by a Stumbling Horse.

Willie, the young brother of F. J. Kruger the watchmaker, met with a painful accident this forenoon. He was driving along Beretania street in a brake with one of the Long boys, when the horse stumbled. Willie was thrown out and one of the wheels passed over his body. The lad was carried home and a doctor summoned. On examination it was found no bones were broken.

Burial of Mrs. Maguire.

Samuel Parker, wife and two daughters returned from Hawaii by the steamer Kinau yesterday afternoon. The body of Mrs. Maguire nee Parker was interred in the family tomb at Mana. As the coffin was being lowered into the boat from the steamer the political prisoners, who were on board, took off their hats and sang "Aloha Oe." The scene was so affecting that there was not a dry eye on board. The prisoners sang till the boat got to the landing.

The monthly meeting of the Honolulu Amateur Athletic Club takes place at 7:30 p. m. Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Amongst other matters to be brought up for discussion will be that of a series of road races, something similar to the one held a short time ago, for which prizes will probably be offered.

Pahukala and Kaakumoku (opio), Hawaiian, have taken the oath to the Republic.

COLONEL VON WERTHERN.

A Soldier Departs After a Fruitless Sojourn.

Colonel H. von Werthern departs from the islands permanently by the steamer Peru after a residence of several years. He came here first in 1887 under an engagement by King Kalakaua to be a military instructor to the forces, but before his arrival the revolution had spoiled his chances for that position. His stay was not long, but he returned in 1890 under a similar promise of employment. The King had intended to have a trained force of 400 or 500 men, with a competent instructor. The Legislature of 1890, however, cut down the proposed army to 100 strong and made no provision for an instructor. A petition for indemnity sent into the Legislature of 1892 by Col. von Werthern was tabled. When the overthrow of 1893 happened, Col. von Werthern and his son Harry were found on the side of the Provisional Government. Harry got a small position under the Port Surveyor but did not stay in it long. He became disaffected and was one of those arrested in connection with the recent outbreak, but was released on condition of leaving the country which he observed a few weeks ago. Col. von Werthern addressed a letter to President Dole, in the Provisional Government's time, criticising the management of the military and suggesting improvements, but it appears no attention was paid to the communication.

Colonel von Werthern's military record is a long and checkered one. Few soldiers have fought under so many flags. He entered the Cadet Corps of Russia in 1839, remaining therein until 1846, when he became an officer in the Prussian army, serving until 1855. He took part in the Crimean war as a Major in the Turkish service, and shortly after the close of the war in 1856 was promoted to be Colonel. He remained in the Turkish service until 1858. After that he went to Egypt for a year, and thence to Italy, where he served with the Pope against Garibaldi, as an aide on the staff of Gen. Moncieri. From Italy he went to the United States, there serving in the Union army. He came out of the war of the rebellion as Captain of C. D. 131st New York regiment. Finally he took charge of the 2nd Louisiana Cavalry, leaving which he entered private business. He made a short trip to Mexico later, where he served for a few months on the staff of the ill-fated Emperor Maximilian. Disliking the doings of the Imperialists, he resigned and went back to the United States. From there he came to Hawaii as stated. Col. von Werthern's military figure will be missed from our streets. He was well respected by those who knew him in Honolulu.

At Emma Square.

The Government band will give its usual concert at Emma Square this afternoon, commencing at 4:30 o'clock. Following is the program:

In the fall of 1893 a son of Mr. T. A. McFarland, a prominent merchant of Live Oak, Sutter Co., Cal., was taken with a very heavy cold. The pains in his chest were so severe that he had spasms and was threatened with pneumonia. His father gave him several large doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which broke up the cough and cured him. Mr. McFarland says whenever his children have croup he invariably gives them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it always cures them. He considers it the best cough remedy in the market. IN THE GOOD OLD TIMES.

Light on the Eternal Servant Question in 1735.

If there be one point on which modern housewives are agreed it is certainly the degeneracy of modern housemaids. And yet there is room for doubt as to whether this is not a popular fallacy. In a curious old tract entitled "A Trip Through a Town; Containing Observations on the Humors and Manners of the Age," published in 1735, there is a chapter devoted to "Maid Servants" which would cause even a fastidious matron to gasp. The writer says:

"Women servants are now so scarce that, from thirty to forty shillings a year, their wages are increased to six, seven and eight pounds per annum, inasmuch that an ordinary tradesman cannot well keep one; but his wife, who might be useful in his shop or business, must do the drudgery of the household affairs, and all this because our servant girls are so puffed up with pride nowadays that they never think they go fine enough. It is a hard matter to know the mistress from the maid by the dress—nay, very often the maid is the finer of the two. Our woolen manufacturers suffer much by this, for nothing but silks and satins will go down with our kitchen wenches, to support which tolerable pride they have insensibly raised their wages to such a height as was never known in any age or nation but this."

Moreover, there was in those days something very like a trades union among maid servants for keeping up an exorbitant scale of wages. "Before a country girl has been a week in service in town," says the author of "The Trip," "a committee of servant wenches are appointed to examine her, who advise her to raise her wages, or give warning, to encourage her to which the herb woman, or chandler woman, or some other old intelligencer, provides her a place of four or five pence a year. This suits Madame Cock-a-hoop, and she thinks of nothing but vails (tips) and high wages, and so gives warning from place to place, till she gets her wages up to the top."

The maid servant in those days not only robbed her mistress; she levied blackmail, too, upon her mistress' guests, in shape of "vails," or tips, as we should call them. "For now," says the author, "they make it a perquisite, a material part of their wages, nor must their master give a supper but that the maid expects the guests should pay for it—nay, sometimes through the nose. Thus have they spirited people up to this unnecessary and burdensome piece of generosity, unknown to our ancestors, who only gave gifts at Christmastide, which custom is yet kept up into the bargain; inasmuch that a maid shall have £8 per annum, and, if her master is a mau of free spirit, and receives much company, she very often doubles her wages by her vails. Thus, having meat, drink, washing and lodging for her labor, she throws her whole income upon her back, and by this means looks more like the mistress of the family than the servant wench."

And those were the "good old times!" Who would care to substitute them for our own? The mistress of to-day, with all that she suffers at the hands of servants, may take heart when she thinks of the maids of 160 years ago.

Granny Gorton's Birthday.

Saturday, January 21st, was a great day in Central Village, in the State of Connecticut, in America. On that day Mrs. Jonathan Gorton was 100 years old and formally received her friends of whom hundreds were present. She wore her best black silk gown, with a rose in the bodice. The venerable lady was seated in a comfortable armchair on a platform in the best room of her house. Then the train of callers filed through, each and all shaking hands with her. "Granny Gorton," as she is called, is a trim little body and very nimble on her feet. There was never anything ailed her, she says, and, except that her eyesight isn't quite so good as it used to be, she is as active as any woman of 50. Why has Granny Gorton lived so long? Why is she so active now? She lets out the secret herself when she says, "There was never anything ailed me." That's it, and all of it.

People who live 100 years are not so very rare. The deaths of 45 such were reported last year in England—22 men and 23 women. Yet, compared to the multitudes who die, these are nothing—nothing. Can we not keep things from ailing us, and so live long as Mrs. Gorton? Yes if we will take the trouble to do it! Men and women 100 years old, still vigorous and clear-headed, should be a sight so common as not to be remarked, and will be yet in the future. Why not so now? "Ask yourself the question," as the boatmen say down on Deal beach.

Here's how it is: A woman's tale. She says she fell ill when a girl of about 15. She lost her appetite, had pains in the sides and chest, frequent headaches, and was often obliged to lie down on the couch and rest. All this didn't promise long life, did it? No; it was a bad start.

Well, she got worse instead of better. She was often sick, vomited her food, and spitting up a sour fluid. For five years she went on this way. This brings us to October, 1881. She was then in service as parlor-maid at Leamington Hastings, Warwickshire. Here she suffered from constant sickness, reaching, and heartburn. The chest pains were so bad as to bend her two double. No position that she could take relieved her. Her stomach was so tender and sore that everything she ate pained and distressed her. For months and months she only took liquid food—milk and beaten eggs, and so on.

She got weaker and weaker every day, so she says. Of course; how else could it be? A doctor at Rugby told her she had "ulceration of the chest," which she didn't at all. What is "ulceration of the chest?"

He gave her medicines and advice, but she grew no better on that account. This young lady was now about 20 years old, with a poor outlook for ever being much older. She didn't expect it, nor did her friends. Then another doctor, being consulted, said "ulceration of the chest," like his medical brother at Rugby. Both wrong.

"After six months' medical treatment," she says, "I gave up my situation and returned to my home at Buxton Lamas, Norfolk. This was in June, 1882. Then I was taken so bad I had to take to my bed. My mother thought I was in a decline."

Now, the word "decline" means consumption, as we all know; a disease common in England and incurable everywhere. Thousands of bright girls and young men "decline" into their graves every year in this populous island. Sad enough it is to see.

Well, at this point her good and wise mother interfered in her daughter's case. She gave the doctors the go-by and sent to Norwich for some bottles of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. In two weeks the young patient began to feel better, and in three months she got a new situation and went to work.

"Since then, fifteen years ago," she says, "I have kept in better health than ever before in my life, thanks to Seigel's Syrup. Yours truly, (Signed), (Mrs.) SARAH ELEANOR BAKER, 8, King's Street, Church Road, Tottenham, near London, September 30th, 1892."

A dozen words more and we're done. Mrs. Baker's ailment was indigestion and dyspepsia, nothing else, and quite enough. The "ulceration" was inflammation of the inner coating of the stomach, a symptom of the disease. We wish her a long and happy life, and merely add that if all her sex could avoid or cure this one trouble most of them might live to be as old as Granny Gorton.

Now that the war of the revolution is over, it is the duty of every man to support the existing form of government. Although things may not move with that cordiality that would ensure an everlasting peace, still they may be allowed to subside into that indifference without animosity that would allow either party to work out their best interests. All things considered it may be for the best, but time, the only arbitrator in such cases, must alone decide that James T. Stewart is a Plumber and will do your work in good shape and at figures that will give you satisfaction.

The Value of Experience

is plainly shown in our treatment of ourselves in health and sickness. When we are well, feeling splendid, we ignore the possibility of sickness. But overwork, high living, inherited poor blood, irregular courses, etc., develop symptoms of weakness, of dyspepsia, liver complaint, and the general health fails. You should know by experience, as thousands do, that by taking whilst in health the system would never run down and doctors' bills would not have to be paid. This is a fact worth remembering and of vital importance to you. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is an old and reliable remedy, your grandmother knew it well, and in no other form can iron—the great strengthener—be taken so easily. Small dose and pleasant to take. It won't stain your teeth.

Reliable druggists will not attempt to substitute, but it is well to see caution. Look for crossed red lines on the wrapper. The Sign of Genuineness

American Annexation.EDITOR BULLETIN:—

The speakers at the meeting called to promote the cause of annexation of these islands to the United States laid great stress on the advantages to be derived from such a union. The last territory annexed by the great republic was Alaska, and the condition of that territory is set forth by a recent writer on the subject as follows: "On October 18, 1867, all the Russian possessions in North America were formally transferred to the United States. * * * United States troops replaced the Russian garrisons, and a first bill to provide a form of government for the new territory was presented to Congress. Thirty other bills were presented before this object was accomplished sixteen years later. * * *

In 1877 the War Department withdrew all troops from Alaska, and the country existed only as a customs district, whereupon the natives of the Sitka region, who had so long been held in check by severest measures, indulged in the wildest license. For two years Sitka was at their mercy, and no appeal to Washington secured any attention. The citizens finally sought protection from the British authorities at Victoria, and H. B. M. S. Osprey reached Sitka in time to prevent a general massacre of the whites, and to frighten off the war canoes that were assembling there. The grateful citizens drew up a petition for a British protectorate over the abandoned country, and were raising the British flag on the parade ground when Michael Travers, an ex-soldier, prevented the act. After this incident, a naval ship was ordered to guard duty in the Sitka region, and for several years the commander of the man-of-war at Sitka was virtually naval governor of Alaska. This anomalous and un-American situation was resented by the citizens, and only the establishment of civil government in 1884 prevented the Russian-born citizens petitioning the Czar to call the United States to account for violation of the treaty in which it promised these people "all the rights, advantages and immunities of citizens of the United States," and to "maintain and protect them in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property and religion." During the period of no-government succeeding military abandonment, it was suggested to attach Alaska as a county of Washington Territory, and to make it a penal colony—an American Siberia. The Secretary of the Treasury recommended that it be discontinued as a customs district, and General McDowell, commanding the Department of the Pacific, recommended that it be given away or thrown away. * * *

The common report of 'no law in Alaska' gathered such a community that a local vigilance committee was organized to assert and maintain order. * * * In 1884 Congress passed a bill giving Alaska 'a governor, courts and commissioners, but not providing for any representation at Washington, nor any popular assemblage elected by its own citizens.' * * * At this moment hundreds of miners are encamped along the Yukon River, free from all restraints or protection. There is not a military post in the territory, no telegraphic communication with the rest of the world, and only one light-house on the whole coast. * * * Yet Alaska stands alone among our 'bloodless acquisitions' in having yielded a revenue from the beginning. * * * Alaska has virtually no voice at Washington. Its sketchy outline of a government is administered by alien office-holders. * * * Alaska citizens are earnest for home rule, resenting the importation of stranger officials every four years. They bitterly denounce Congress for its hostility, ignorance, or neglect, for denying them the rights and citizenship enjoyed in all the other territories. Beyond granting the incomplete and inadequate form of civil government in 1884, nothing has been done for Alaska in this quarter-century of United States ownership."

Those who are urging annexation may be taking counsel of their fears as to our ability to maintain a government by Hotchkiss guns and imported Colonels. They may jump from the frying pan into the fire.

Sunday School Parade.

The novelty at the Sunday School parade to take place to-morrow morning will be addresses in Chinese, Japanese, Hawaiian and English by children under ten years of age. These addresses will be made at street corners. After the conclusion of the march the children will return to their different schools, the native children going to the quarterly exhibition at Kaumakapili Church. The march will last about an hour.

People Who Write

on typewriters marvel that busy business men still cling to the pen process. The business man using a typewriter would not voluntarily return to the old method, because he can turn off more work, of a better quality, and with less effort on his machine.

The Man Who Never Used a Typewriter

believes the task of learning to write a difficult and hopeless one. 'Try. Others have learned; you can. Your first attempt will probably reveal the fact that you do faster work with the pen. That's quite natural; you are just learning. Your next trial will surprise you. Your fingers go to the right keys instinctively. It becomes easier and you will then begin to realize the usefulness and benefit of a typewriter.

Timely Topics

March 11, 1895.

Is Hawaii to be without a cable through the action of the United State Congress, or will the people here awake from their sleepy ideas and tell Uncle Sam to do something or let England have Necker Island and go ahead with the work. Hawaii is as much in need of a cable as any place on the globe and other governments need the cable to Hawaii as much as we do. Why then should the government that feels a fatherly interest in a country stand in the way of its development.

Suppose the manufacturers of the Avery Plantation Implements would refuse to send them to this country would it be considered a square deal? The planters on Hawaii who are using these different implements are well satisfied with them and are willing to recommend them to other managers. They are coming more and more into general use; in another year there will not be a plantation on the Islands that will not use them. The following letters from such prominent managers should be convincing proof of their superiority:

ONOMEA SUGAR COMPANY,
PAPAIOU, HAWAII, Feb. 25, 1895.
MR. JOHN A. SCOTT, Wainaku, Hawaii.

DEAR SIR—The Onomea Sugar Company has now in use three of the Stubble Diggers.

I think these machines are indispensable for the proper cultivation of ratoon stools.

We have never had an implement that would so thoroughly loosen the earth around the stools, and put the soil in such condition that the air, moisture and fertilizer would so readily find access to the fine roots of the cane and the soil around them.

I am glad to testify to the merits of these tools. The Sugar Land Disc Cultivators arrived too late for much use in the cultivation of the last young plant and ratoon, but I believe they will prove to be very useful and labor-saving implements in districts where cane is raised without irrigation.

Yours truly,
WM. W. GOODALE,
Manager Onomea Sugar Company.

HUTCHINSON PLANTATION COMPANY,
NAALEHU, HAWAII,
March 1st, 1895.

E. R. HENDRY, Esq., Hawaiian Hardware Company.

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your letter inquiring about the Avery Stubble Digger and Fertilizer Distributor, I would say that the fact that we have just received the second Stubble Digger speaks for itself. We have dug over four hundred acres of ratoon stools and consider it will be a great benefit.

The Fertilizer Distributor is a good thing and has effected a material saving of labor in the application of Fertilizer and applies it better than can be done by hand.

These machines are very simple and well constructed and we have had no trouble with the working of them and we consider them one of the most useful labor saving machines that can be used on plantation.

Yours Truly,
G. C. HEWITT,
Manager H. S. P. Co.

HAKALAU, HAWAII,
February 16, 1895.

MR. E. R. HENDRY, President and Manager Hawaiian Hardware Company, Honolulu, Oahu:

We use the Avery Stubble Digger, Fertilizer Distributor and Cane Cultivator. They save labor and do the work claimed for them. The Stubble Digger I consider a particularly good implement.

Yours truly,
GEO. ROSS,
Manager Hakalau Plantation Co.

National Cane Shredder

PATENTED UNDER THE LAWS OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

Mr. John A. Scott, Manager of the Hilo Sugar Company, gives the following wonderful record of the working of the NATIONAL CANE SHREDDER, which was erected by their works at the commencement of the crop just harvested:

"During the past week the Hilo Sugar Company's mill exceeded any of its former records by closing the 125 hours grinding with an output of 5000 tons. This is fully 10 percent more than the best work of former years.

"The three roller mill being 26 in. by 54 in. and the two roller mill 30 in. by 60 in. The first mill doing this amount of work in an efficient manner and with great ease, compared with work on whole cane, owing to thorough preparation of the cane by the National Cane Shredder, recently erected by the Company.

"And by its use the extraction has been increased from 3 percent to 5 percent on all kinds of cane, and in some cases 80 percent has been reached; the average being 75 to 78 percent, according to quality.

"I continue to find the megass from shredded cane better fuel than from whole cane.

"The shredder has been working day and night for seven months and has given me entire satisfaction, having shredded during that time about seventy thousand tons of cane, and a large part of it being hard ratoons.

"The shredder and engine require very little care or attention."

Plans and specifications of these Shredders may be seen at the office of

Of Interest to Women.

The emblems of royalty of the Queen of Madagascar consist of four scarlet umbrellas, which are held over her majesty when she sits in her palanquin of state.

A correspondent supplies an ingenious answer to the question, "Who is the devil's wife?" thus: "The devil is the father of lying. Lying is invention. Necessity is the mother of invention; necessity is therefore the devil's wife."

For soiled carpets at the time of spring cleaning salt is a wonderful restorer of faded color; the coarsest kind is the best, and should be spread without stint. Let it lie on the carpet for a few hours, then brush it off with a hard broom; the result is most satisfactory. A pinch of salt dropped in the receiver of a lamp where kerosene is burned gives the light a wonderful brilliancy.

Susan B. Anthony is one of the best dressed women in America. Probably the idea has not occurred even to most of the people who have seen Miss Anthony, for, as this proves the claim, she is always so well dressed that you do not notice what she wears. Her clothes are the very best of their kind, well made and beautifully fitted. There is always an air of natural elegance about Miss Anthony that is delightful to see.

It is to the humane influence of the Queen Regent of Spain that must be attributed the favorable consideration which the legislature at Madrid is now according to the bill for the abolition of bull fighting throughout the kingdom. True, the metropolitan press treats the matter with a certain amount of skepticism, though not with hostility. But in the cortes itself there appears to be a satisfactory prospect of the projected law being passed by both houses.

It was not only "the fierce light which beats upon" the French presidency, but the vexatious restrictions of etiquette upon Mme. Casimir-Perier that made her long to return to private life once more. Passionately fond of bicycle riding, she saw herself cut off from this form of amusement and exercise by the dreary etiquette that governs everything at the Elysee Palace, and it was pointed out to her that it would be out of place and contrary to the dignity of France for the first lady to be seen scudding about on a wheel in bloomers, no matter how fetching.

To believe a French writer there are no fewer than 4000 women caught every year in stealing during their shopping expeditions, a habit euphonomously styled kleptomania. The number of titled ladies seized with this strange malady while examining the fashions of Paris, he tells us, is almost incredible. Among the more recent culprits were a Russian princess, a French countess, an English duchess and the daughter of a reigning sovereign. As a rule, these more distinguished offenders are let off on the payment of a round sum for the relief of the poor, and when the shop-lifter is known to be rich the sum exacted rises to as much as 10,000 francs. The police authorities consent to this sort of condonation.

Truly Marvelous

A Cure Seldom Equalled in Medical History

Mrs. Mary E. Freeby.

Long Beach, Cal.

Over all diseases caused by or arising from impure blood, Hood's Sarsaparilla seems to have almost magical control. Even where all kinds of treatment utterly fail, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes the most remarkable cures. In illustration of this, please read the following frank letter of Mr. Freeby, voluntarily endorsed by the Postmaster and Druggist of the town: "My wife sprained her ankle ten years ago. It apparently got well to all outward appearance, it being a little larger than the other ankle, but in a few months the first sore. The doctors said they would not amount to anything, but in a few days they turned out to be more ulcers, and in a short time they had eaten into the original sore and made a large wound. The surgeon next decided that an Operation Must Be Performed. My wife would not consent to this. I was about discouraged and decided to have her try a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Besides giving her this medicine we bandaged her foot in steeped leaves and roots and continued this treatment for five months. At the end of that time she had taken eleven bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, the sores were all healed and she is perfectly well.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

three sores broke out on her knee, her ankle, and foot. They became Large Running Ulcers and the doctor could not do anything to help. I then took my wife to the hospital and the surgeons scraped all the flesh round the sores, and said they would get well. They almost healed up, but soon two little specks came, one on each side of

My wife is 52 years old and is in the best of health." JOSEPH C. FREEBY, Long Beach, California.

Postmaster Holman of Long Beach, Cal., says he knows Mr. Freeby to be a man of his word, and he believes his statement to be strictly true.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, and carefully prepared from the best ingredients.

Pure Milk. Jewelry!

The business of the country is settling into its former groove. Our gentlemanly driver has returned from his vacation, the cows in the pasture switch flies instead of bullets with their tails and the cream is richer in consequence. We believe we have satisfied every one of our customers who have taken milk from us and we are in a position to supply a great many more. The people who from choice or necessity visited Waialae during the past two weeks have had an opportunity to see just what sort of diet our stock feeds upon, and no longer wonder at the richness of the milk from our dairy. Our facilities for delivery are the best. With the exception of a day or two early in the late unpleasantness our drivers have always been on time at our customers' residences. We take this opportunity to thank those who have been patient with us and to solicit a continuance of their patronage. We will be pleased to fill all orders telephoned to us and guarantee all milk to be pure and free from adulteration.

Our stock of Spring Goods is acknowledged by everybody to be the finest on the Honolulu market, and consists of everything Useful and Ornamental. Our prices are moderate. Jewelry in special designs manufactured to order on short notice.

Real Estate and Loans

The enlargement of the LOAN Market so as to cover the wants and necessities of the large number of honorable people who are not owners of unincumbered Real Estate was one of the most necessary innovations of recent years. To many it has meant relief from pressing claims at the very time when most essential. When properly and honorably conducted this business is of equally great importance and value to the community as Building and Loan Associations have proved themselves to be.

The Hawaiian Investment Co.

Makes a specialty of Negotiating and Procuring Loans for Borrowers who are unable to discount their Notes at the Banks and who do not care to obligate themselves to some friend or acquaintance by asking his endorsements to their Note.
