KAHN ADDRESSES BUSINESSMEN ON MARINE

Prominent business men of the city, members of the Chamber of Commerce and others as well, gathered in the chamber's headquarters, Stangenwald building, this afternoon to hear Congressman Julius Kahn, of California, speak on the "American Merchant Marine."

The Californian did not mince words. An enthusiastic advocate of the upbuilding of the American merchant marine, he talked in straightforward terms to the businessmen on the shortsighted policy of abrogating the coastwise laws that now prevent foreign vessels from engaging in local passenger traffic.

Mr. Kahn said in part:
 "Formerly American ships could be seen on every ocean and right up to the time of the Civil War this was so. Then the privateers fitted out by the English drove them off the seas and (Continued on Page 5)

EWALIKO CLAIMS CONTROL OF CHARTER

Local organizers of the union labor movement have been informed by David Ewaliko the Hilo organizer and most active in the present movement, that without his approval no charter to any longshoremen's society or branch will be granted by the International Longshoremen's Association. He backed up this information by sending to the Hui Union, or labor union here, a letter from the mainland association.

Enforcing his authority by this letter, Ewaliko now holds almost absolute control of the labor union movement in the islands. The Hui Union has recognized this after some consideration and tomorrow morning Ewaliko is expected to arrive from Hilo to assist in perfecting the local organization and application for a charter.

And the Hui Union will pay his expenses. Ewaliko's attitude, in which he is evidently backed up by the mainland unionists, has put the local situation up in the air. The poolers here, under the leadership of Charles Kanekoa, president of the organization, have for several weeks been trying to get together and proceed with an application. Kanekoa and his supporters have declined to deal through Ewaliko.

The Hui Union is made up of all classes of laborers, so that it is somewhat doubtful if it could be granted a charter by the longshoremen's association of the mainland. The result is that there is already a division in local laboring ranks.

But it leaves Ewaliko as the boss on the job.

G. K. Kouwehaku, secretary of the Hui Union, called in the Bulletin office this morning and stated that the members are working in harmony with a view to making the organization a power in the Territory and that it is the intention of those affiliated with the Hui Union to have Ewaliko come to Honolulu and explain to the members what to do to obtain a charter, as a branch of the International Longshoremen's Association, with headquarters in Portland, Oregon.

In order to expedite matters, a letter was sent to Ewaliko to come to Honolulu as soon as possible, at the expense of the Hui Union. Upon his arrival, arrangements will be made for a mass meeting to be held in Notley Hall.

CRACKSMEN TAKE $315,000; THEN GET AWAY SAFELY

(Associated Press Cable.)
 NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Sept. 15.—Five cracksmen last night looted the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, performing one of the most daring and successful safe robberies ever recorded. During the night they blew open the bank vault with nitroglycerine and secured $315,000. They made their escape safely, leaving behind them nearly $50,000 which they were unable to carry.

MILLS INSTITUTE MUST STOP NUISANCE OR SHUT SCHOOL

That the Mid-Pacific Institute will either have to abate the nuisance being caused by the overflowing of the two cesspools there or else shut up school is the verdict that was handed down by the Board of Health yesterday afternoon at the regular weekly meeting. A letter is to be written to this effect. The board was going out to make an inspection of the property yesterday, but delayed its action until it heard further. The two cesspools are constantly overflowing, and the idea of the institute was to irrigate 1-1/2 acres of land with it. As the estimated flow per day is 25,000 gallons, however, this would not do.

ONE HUNDRED MEN TO START WORK ON NUANU AVENUE

Read Supervisor Charles Wilson has completed plans for placing one hundred men at work on the improvement of Nuanu avenue, beginning with Monday morning.

Wilson, assisted by Charles Clark, his head luna, was making a selection of men this morning. These have been ordered to appear ready for business early on Monday morning, and it is generally understood that the force may be increased as the improvement of the thoroughfare moves apace. Four thousand dollars has been made available for a start in the completion of this important highway and a main artery between the leeward and windward sections of this island.

DR. SINCLAIR BACK WITH NEW METHODS FOR TUBERCULOSIS FIGHT

New methods of fighting tuberculosis, the scourge of Hawaii at the present time, have been brought back from abroad by Dr. Archibald N. Sinclair, of the marine hospital service and superintendent of the leish-house and will be used here in fighting the dreaded "white plague."

In a small tube, half full of what looks like sawdust, but which in reality is tubercular bacilli in their pure state, Dr. Sinclair has enough of the germs to inoculate all Honolulu. The tube is closed at both ends, however, and was only obtained through the fact of the doctor being a personal friend of the man who makes it up at St. Mary's hospital, London, that he got it at all.

During his stay in the big English city he spent most of his time studying up the latest methods of fighting the dread white plague. The bacilli are prepared so that certain experiments may be carried out in determining the number of bacilli which a blood corpuscle can absorb. Dr. Sinclair has the pure culture which is not generally to be obtained as it is kept in the hospital to carry out the experiment there.

Three of the latest methods struck him particularly. The first is that of injecting vaccine. This vaccine is made from the tubercular bacilli and is said to have the power of enabling the white blood corpuscles to take up and destroy more of the tubercular bacilli. He saw several cases in (Continued on Page 3)

TAFT DECLARES IN FAVOR OF WILEY

(Associated Press Cable.)
 BEVERLY, Mass., Sept. 15.—President Taft today issued a statement in which he strongly upholds Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the federal bureau of chemistry, who has been charged with irregularity and misconduct in office over the employment of a paid expert. It has been alleged that enemies of the pure food law were after Wiley.

 QUIQUE, Chile, Sept. 15.—Earthquake shocks today cracked walls and several buildings and a number of persons were injured.

IMPERIAL EDICT ON REVOLT

PEKING, China, Sept. 15.—An imperial edict today orders Tsen Chun Suan to suppress the serious revolt in Szechuan.

STOLYPIN MAY RECOVER

KIEV, Rus., Sept. 15.—Premier Stolypin, who was shot down by a nihilist last night, will probably recover, it was announced today.

RICE FAMINE NEAR IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 15.—A rice famine is threatened here. The price is the highest on record.

TOGO WELCOMED HOME

TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 15.—Admiral Togo arrived here today from his world tour and was warmly welcomed home.

TWENTY-SEVEN INDICTMENTS

The Federal Grand Jury made its report this afternoon, returning twenty-seven indictments altogether. It is understood, however, that there are several charges against the same person in many instances and that when they are placed on the open file there will only be some six or seven to take their medicine before the court.

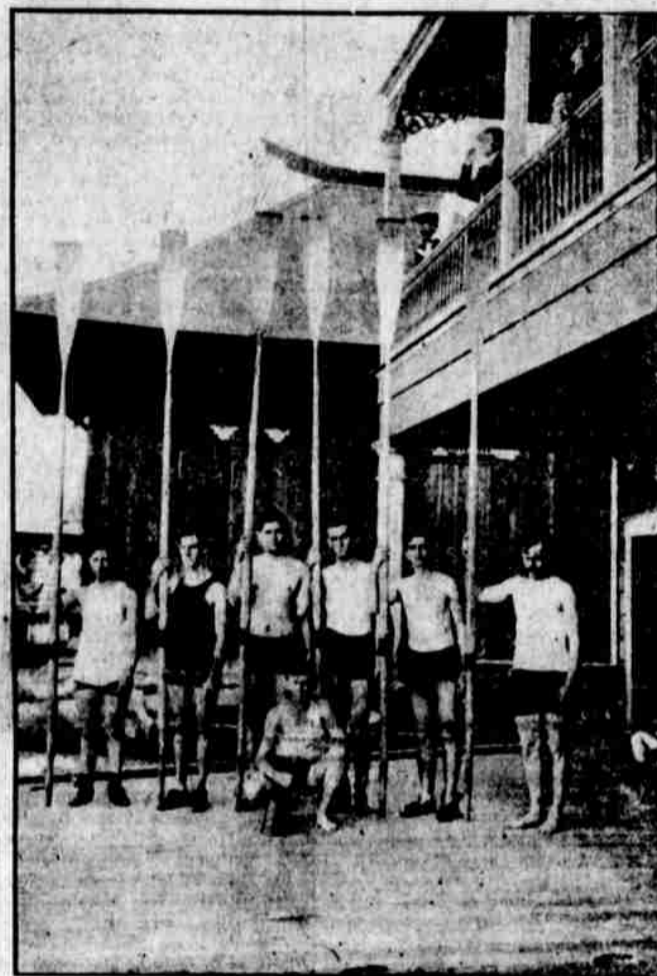

It is also understood that none of the indictments are for opium matters, thus giving a denial of the rumors that have been in circulation from time to time around the court to the effect that opium was under consideration. Many of them are, however, believed to be charged with statutory crimes.

The jury adjourned until Monday morning next at 9 o'clock.

The Celtic Chief case is being continued again in the court today. Captain Pitts being placed on the stand. The evidence was along the lines of that already published.

Boat Crews Ready For Great Races Tomorrow

MYRTLE SENIORS, FAVORITES FOR TOMORROW

FACTS ABOUT REGATTA.

Twelve events, each starting ten minutes after the finish of the race preceding.

All races except senior barge race start from foot of Alakea street; senior barge race starts from Hackfeld wharf. Clubs competing—Myrtle Boat Club, Healani Boat and Yacht Club, Puunene Boat Club. Special events also. Colors—Myrtles, red and white; Healanis, blue and white; Puunenes, black and yellow.

Officials—Judges, A. L. C. Atkinson, John Waterhouse and W. C. Wilder; starter, Leslie Scott; clerk of course, Eben Low; recorder, Alec May. Timekeepers—Delegates Kalaniannala, Frank Kruger and W. W. Harris. Regatta Day committee—R. H. Thompson (chairman), Ray S. Ristow and Robert Hughes.

It's Regatta Day tomorrow, and all Honolulu will celebrate.

These two ancient rivals, the Myrtle and Healani clubs, will struggle for victory in race after race tomorrow with all the vigor that years of pilled-up competition can develop. The Myrtles will strive to uphold their grand record of last year, the Healanis to wipe out the memory of a bitter defeat.

From 9 o'clock until the last of twelve races is finished, there will be something doing on the harbor every minute of the time.

Uptown there will be nothing. Regatta Day will be observed everywhere by a general holiday. Business will cease and the day will be given over to as clean and merry a sport as finely-trained athletes have ever taken part in.

All the crews are ready for the test. The Puunenes are to be congratulated on their sportsmanship in sending a crew down from Maul, and though it is not picked as a winner, the spirit of the boys is as good as the best. There will be good sport and plenty of it tomorrow.

Honolulu will turn out in full force to witness the best regatta pulled off in Honolulu for many a day. All the crews have been training hard for the past month and tomorrow will show the results of their conscientious work.

The Healanis are stronger than ever, and their backers have come through with the coin freely. Their freshman crew is said to be the strongest in the (Continued on Page 3)

BISHOP STREET PLAN GETS IMPETUS

Sullivan & Buckley Will Not Stand In Way of Proposed Improvement.

COMMISSION OUTLINES ITS OWN ATTITUDE

Makes Proposition to Exchange Portion of Union Street For Property Taken Away In Opening.

Sullivan and Buckley, the men whose presumably adverse attitude has been expected to hold up the Bishop street extension work, this morning put themselves on record as declining to stand in the way of the improvement. The receipt of a letter to this effect by the Bishop street commission is taken as an emphatic step forward in the work.

The firm sent in the figures on which they base their price of $100,000 which they are asking for their property and the commission wrote making an offer which gives the firm 426 feet more than it is proposed to take away from them.

Sullivan and Buckley also expressed their wish not to take any attitude that will block an improvement so much needed and although they state they would prefer to sell out if this cannot be done they will be glad to entertain any proposition that the commission might put up to them. Their gross income they put at $6,669 with a deduction of $1,091 for taxes, etc. This leaves them a net income of $5,578.54 or six per cent interest on $92,805. If the Bishop street extension matter was settled they state that they could materially increase their income.

JARRETT WILL STOP HYPNOTIST

Sheriff Jarrett announced officially today that he will stop Ayasha and Jarrett, the two hypnotists, from attempting to bury a live man tonight at the Savoy Theater. He believes the time has come when he, as chief of police, part of whose duty it is to protect the lives of the public, should interfere in matters where he considers man's life is endangered.

Sheriff Jarrett will instruct Chief of Detectives McDuffie and practically all of his officers to interfere tonight when the two hypnotists try to bury a live man in the theater, in the presence of the audience. Jarrett has thought the matter over seriously since the story of burying a man alive was published in the Bulletin yesterday. In the meantime, it is understood, there have come to him a number of citizens asking him to stop the performance.

The sheriff will call on the Honolulu Amusement Company today and advise that the two hypnotists abandon their intention of burying the man. He will also be present in the theater with his officers to prevent the feat if it is tried.

"I am going to stop the burying of the man by the hypnotists tonight," said Jarrett today in the presence of Supervisor Eben Low and a Bulletin reporter. He added later that he will instruct his officers to interfere. Jarrett declared today that he will go through with the feat as advertised. "They will not stop me," he said. "I am going to make good. I shall bury the man right in the theater, in the dirt back of the twenty-five-cent seats. If you are there at 10 o'clock you will see it." He does not seem to take seriously the sheriff's intention to stop him.

COTTON-GROWERS WANT TERRITORY TO AID IN BOLL-WORM BATTLE

Falling to raise its fund of $2000 needed for a campaign against the boll-worm now threatening Hawaiian cotton crops, the Cotton Growers' Association has turned to the Territory for aid. Although half of the fund has been guaranteed by J. P. Cooke, the remainder has not been raised. The prospects have seemed good, but the actual cash not forthcoming.

Now the Governor will be appealed to by the association and an attempt made to get $1000 from the Territory coffers. That this may be done because of an unusual revenue from taxes is probable, say prominent cotton growers.

The new tax system is expected to develop more revenue that will be available for such purposes. The Governor may even be appealed to for use of money from the emergency fund.

The cotton growers are preparing to fight the boll-worm by such means as they possess, but are anxious to send a man to India to obtain a parasite. Extensive experiments are now going on in India, but according to recent reports there this year's crop will be a comparative failure.

FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 15, 1911

No great deed is done by fallers who ask for certainty.—George Elliot.

Watertown ought to have a school if it becomes necessary to rent a tent and call it a school house.

"Marked down sales" ought to be printed across the face of the Stock Exchange sale sheet these days.

The Pan-Pacific Congress is an expression of unity of purpose, which is the best assurance of progress in the Pacific.

Isn't it a remarkable fact that the big and brilliant men of Hawaii make a success of most everything except government?

It is all right to jockey for advantage, but when you are mixed up in amateur contests for goodness sake play the game like sportsmen.

Can it be that the suburban districts are to have no special protection when two auto fire engines are to be added to the city's equipment?

Dr. Perret is doing work at the Volcano so far from being foolish that a permanent observatory ought to be the outcome of what he and others have begun.

Some of the arguments that are being used in the Canadian campaign against reciprocity remind one of the days when Home Rule politics of Hawaii were in their prime.

Why on earth should the United States ever wish to annex Canada when year after year there is a transfer of citizens across the border that proves fair exchange is no robbery.

It's about three weeks to the arrival of the Pacific Fleet and the beginning of the tourist season. Are you ready for it, and are you doing something to help make the season a complete success.

Dr. Clark, who says that the population of Hawaii may be 250,000 by 1920, should be immediately interviewed by the President of the One Hundred Thousand Club. Not even Dr. Clark should be allowed to think in numbers so small as that.

If the present Supervisors will mark their term of office with the speedy construction of good streets, and the addition of free collection of garbage to the city sanitation work, they will merit double the praise for all the criticism that has been their lot thus far.

Honolulu should be a thoroughly protected American port with attractive port charges and conveniences for shippers, or it should be wide open and thus command a position as a central shipping station for the Pacific. Half-way measures will do nothing but retard the progress of the port and the city.

Mr. Wood's statement that he jumped into the Hilo breakwater contract merely as an incident of his campaign of education, almost takes the breath from Honolulu people. Not that they doubt him in the least, but they have never heard of playing $450,000 as one item in the cause of Congressional education.

Everyone agrees with Dr. Wilcox that there should be a direct steamship line between Seattle and Honolulu, but the men who own the steamships won't run them unless they have the cargoes guaranteed. Among the other things that ought to be, is a steamship line for tourists between Honolulu and Los Angeles.

Plenty of business men can understand why it is that you have to plant cane this year in order to be sure of a good crop in eighteen months, but they stubbornly refuse to believe that work must be done now to assure the election of a progressive Mayor and Board of Supervisors for the city of Honolulu thirteen months from this date.

The Advertiser trusts that Mr. Kahn, who is certainly disinterested, will look over the present proposed site of the Federal building and the alternate site, the Irwin block which the majority would like to see secured in exchange for the Mahuka site.—Advertiser.

"Which the majority would like to see, etc." This is, as usual, with the morning paper, a deliberate falsification of the truth. And it might be surprising if the community did not well understand that perjury is a regular part of the day's work with the morning paper.

The latest from Paris announces that a calamity is approaching this city as rapidly as the progress of styles in hair dressing can carry it. The wording of the message is: "The hair is arranged in a series of short curls around the face, hanging over the brow in quaint, old-fashioned fringe. Above the curls is a loose braid, broadest in the middle of front and brought to the nape of the neck. The back hair is waved and carried smoothly and rather tightly almost to nape of neck, where there is a projecting knob of dangling curls standing out from a curved shell comb like a horse's tail." Wouldn't that make you shiver?

NEW ORLEANS A SANITATION EXAMPLE FOR HONOLULU.

Hawaii has set the pace for the world in many features of its industrial development, but when it comes to broad schemes of public work in Honolulu, cities of the mainland have to be taken for examples to guide its steps.

In a great many respects Honolulu is a live and aggressive town, but its growth has been so rapid in the last five or ten years, and changed conditions are forcing so many new responsibilities, that Honolulu must have a care or it will be swamped.

This is evident in the city street system. The demand for repair and new street work is so heavy that the current revenues cannot carry the burden and it is a matter of only a short time when a complete new scheme of street opening and street reconstruction must be carried out.

More vital indeed to the general welfare of the city and its future prosperity is the improvement and development of the city sewer system.

The last Legislature appropriated $150,000, more or less, for improvement of the sewer system, when $1,500,000 is more like what is needed to make a fair beginning on the enlargement and improvement that is absolutely necessary to more certainly guarantee the sanitary safety of the city of Honolulu. Coupled with the sewerage is of course the city water problem, not especially critical at the present time but which will be nevertheless as the city continues to grow.

Our low lands at practically sea level and our sub-tropical conditions are difficulties with which we have to contend that do not appear in the average American city.

One city of the States, however, has had to surmount greater difficulties than Honolulu can ever know. New Orleans is below the sea level, and has been one of the dirtiest cities of the country. But New Orleans, once the butt of every insanitary joke, is now winning praise throughout the land. It is solving its drainage and pure water problem. It is spending heaps of money to do this but no one questions the great value of the investment.

The present New Orleans drainage system, while still uncompleted, has 20 pumps operating at various stations with a combined removal capacity of 2600 cubic feet per second; increased during severe condition to 3700 cubic feet per second. But it is designed to increase the system to a capacity of over 12,000 cubic feet per second, when the city's unbuilt areas are reclaimed.

In order to appreciate the magnitude of the work undertaken by the people of New Orleans—to drain the land upon which the city is built—it is necessary to understand the characteristics of the land. The city covers an area of about 39 square miles, inclusive of Algiers on the opposite side of the river. It is surrounded by levees, which in the spring prevent the Mississippi river from overflowing the city and exclude the water of Lake Pontchartrain on the north when heavy winds from the Gulf of Mexico prevail. The land along the river front and along the lake shore is generally from 12 to 18 feet higher than the level of the city. Thus, while the levee system serves to keep out all overflows from the river and lake, it prevents the rainfall from running off. A one-inch rainfall on the whole area of the city will precipitate 651,000,000 gallons of water; and a two-inch inch fall, such as occurs five or six times a year in New Orleans, precipitates 1,302,000,000 gallons. And it is estimated that, in order to pump out such a rainfall in two hours, it would require the removal every minute of a mass of water, which, if cylindrical, would be 300 feet long and 78 feet in diameter.

A central station furnishes electric power for the pumps, with a present capacity of 5000 horsepower. But the ultimate power required for the complete system will be not less than 24,000 horsepower. The drainage work also embraces the repair and cleaning of more than 60 miles of canals and 160 miles of sub-surface drainage. This alone approximates a cost of $26,000, for which annual appropriation is made by the city. Besides these outlet canals, the system has over 350 miles of sewer construction and nearly 600 miles of water pipes. Through these pipes filtered water of the Mississippi is furnished to consumers, who use about 25,000,000 gallons a day; and the plant in Algiers furnishes over 750,000 gallons of water per day to its consumers.

The construction of so large and so complete a water works system, within a period of three and a half years from the letting of the first contract, was an achievement of great magnitude. Honolulu has less than three years in which to prepare for the Panama canal. It is estimated that one New Orleans pumping station alone discharges 20,000,000 gallons of water a day, thus lowering the moisture line in the soil and making the city that lies from 12 to 18 feet below the water level, one of the best drained municipalities in the country. New buildings and model roads leading out to attractive new suburbs are results of the solution of the drainage problem.

Just what are the details of New Orleans awakening, how long the fight for a clean city, we do not know but it is safe to say that the great metropolis of the South went along for years "saving money" by patch work and make-shift jobs on its sewage and water systems. It probably wasted millions of the people's money in half doing what deserved to be done thoroughly and well.

Finally, no doubt, the people began to realize the criminal folly of such measures. The money was gone, the city remained dirty and the death rate increased. Then they woke up and tackled the proposition in a manner appropriate to its importance to the people of New Orleans, and its magnitude as an engineering enterprise. Honolulu has been in the make-

In speaking of the labor question this morning, Keawehaku stated that Charles Kaneoka, president of the Hawaiian Longshoremen's Union of Honolulu, cannot expect to get a charter granted to the union, unless the work is done through proper channels.

Kaneoka claims that he can obtain a charter from the international Longshoremen's Union without getting the approval of David Ewaliko. He stated a few days ago that he would, with the approval of his association, employ an attorney in the States to represent their interests there with a view of getting a charter from the headquarters.

The letter which Ewaliko received follows:

Portland, Ore., Aug. 24, 1911.
Mr. David Ewaliko
Secy.-Treas. Territory of Hawaii.
Dear Sir and Brother:
Your favor of the 12th inst. regarding Charter and the crowd behind it to hand. I have notified General Secretary-Treasurer Joyce not to issue any charter in your Territory unless it has your O. K. attached. You can rest assured that no fake union will be permitted by the I. L. A. especially when due notice is given.

The commission in replying stated that, contingent with the settling of the Waller property and some of the others, it would submit the following plan. The extension would deprive the firm of 3480 square feet. As against this the commission offers 3331 square feet being a portion of Union street which will be closed. It also offers 575 square feet in the Waller property making a total of 3906 feet or a gain to the firm of 426 feet. It is also pointed out that the rents from the Waller building would also offset to a considerable degree the amount lost by the extension of the street through the firm's property.

Another factor which the commission points out is that the firm would have 72 2-10 more street frontage on Bishop street and thus become a corner property instead of a middle one. By being in the new position the firm would also get the trade which will be brought along Bishop street from Panahi to Hotel.

The Waikiki section of the firm's property the commission does not intend to touch.

EVENING SMILES

"So your father was a soldier, was he?"

"Yes. He was not only a brave soldier, but a very shrewd one. One day, just as his regiment was going into battle they discovered they had no flag—no Stars and Stripes—to lead them to victory. So my father made one out of a blue shirt, a white shirt and a red petticoat."

"Oh, so he had his wife along with him?"

"No, he didn't."

"Well, where did he get the petticoat?"

"Oh, he found it."

"That's what they all say."

"Do you realize that you insulted me last night?"

"Well, if you do it again I'll knock you so far that when you get back your clothes will be out of date."

KERR'S RETIRING SALE DRAWS THE CROWD

The public has certainly taken advantage of the exceptional bargains offered by L. B. Kerr & Co., that appeared in the Bulletin last evening. The store has been crowded with shoppers all day, and everybody coming out of the store seemed to be carrying a bundle. This well known house is simply slaughtering prices on everything, clear down the line. It is a closing out sale and the goods must go, no matter what they will fetch. The ladies' ready to wear garments are a special feature of the sacrifice sale, as the prices asked for these are beyond belief, it is almost giving them away. It is the same way in the shoe department. The sale is on every day and no better chance will be offered to lay in a stock of up to date clothes for such little money. The terms of the sale are strictly cash.
