ATTACKS BRITISH ARMY.

Words of German Deputy Bring Protest From Chancellor.

Berlin, Jan. 10.—During the debate on the estimates in the Reichstag today, Herr Bassermann declared that the National Liberal party would oppose any suggestion of a loan of 35,000,000 marks to cover the deficit. Financial reform was necessary, and the National Liberals were not adverse to direct imperial taxation.
During the course of the debate references were made to Mr. Chamberlain's remark concerning the German army, when the British Colonial Secretary delivered his famous speech at Edinburgh. Herr Sonnenberg, Radical Anti-Semite, made a long and violent speech, indulging in the most bitter invective against Mr. Chamberlain and the British army ever heard in the Reichstag. He characterized Chamberlain as the most wicked man on God's earth. This expression called forth a stern rebuke from the president of the House, but Herr Sonnenberg unabashed, assailed the British army, classing it as a "mob of thieves and robbers, unfit to be compared with the glorious Germans." The speaker's remarks called forth further censure from the president.
The Chancellor, Count von Buelow, making a general reply to the preceding speakers, said: "I believe I shall be in sympathy with a very great majority of the House when I express the hope that the custom of abusing foreign Ministers from the tribune of this august House will not become naturalized among us. That would accord neither with the usages of the German people nor the interests of our policy. (Cheers.) I must at the same time express my deep regret at the way in which the last speaker referred to the army of a nation with which we live in peace and friendship. As we ourselves are sensitive concerning the honor of our own army, so we should not abuse foreign armies, in which there are brave men enough who know they have to die." (Bravos.)
Count von Buelow strongly deprecated the contention of Herr Bassermann that the official press ought to have given the lead to public opinion in dealing with Chamberlain's speech.
"Our press and public opinion," said the Chancellor, "would stand in very low repute if in questions of national honor they stood in need of word of command from above." Protesting against the idea that the repudiation of an aspersion on the army should effect a change of policy, Count von Buelow said: "If this repudiation is to be an excuse for forcing upon us a different attitude in regard to the war in South Africa, or a pretext for bringing about unfriendly relations between our people and a people toward whom we have never stood in hostility and to whom we are bound by weighty interests, I wish to leave it beyond doubt that I will have nothing to do with anything of the kind. We cannot let the direction of foreign policy be prescribed for us by speeches, resolutions or popular meetings. That policy can only be determined by the real and permanent interests of the country, and that interest requires us, while fully safeguarding our independence, dignity and honor, to cultivate friendly relations with Great Britain."

TURKEY MAY RESIST THE ITALIANS.

London, Jan. 10.—The Cairo correspondent of the Daily Mail cables that he learns that the Sultan of Turkey vainly sought to enlist French aid to prevent the Italian occupation of Tripoli.

OVERTHROW OF CASTRO.

Washington Does Not Believe Present Regime Can Hold Out Long.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The overthrow of the Castro regime in Venezuela, which now appears quite possible, will be followed by the dispatch of the entire North Atlantic squadron to the waters of that country. A formidable American naval representation will then be at La Guayra. It will consist of the battle-ship Indiana, now at Curacao, the battle-ship Kearsarge, Alabama and Massachusetts, and the gunboat Marietta, all under command of Rear-Admiral Higginson, commander in chief.
British, French and German vessels are also gathering in the vicinity of Venezuela, and these nations will be represented at La Guayra in case of trouble. Because the Administration deems it advisable that the senior officer present shall be an American, it desires that Rear-Admiral Higginson shall be with his flagship at the seaport of Caracas when conditions require it.
Chinese Exclusion.
Washington, Jan. 9.—The committee of Pacific Coast representatives met today to decide on a Chinese exclusion bill. While the sub-committee that has been at work on the matter had not definitely reported, it was generally thought that a bill re-enacting the present laws would be favored, with additions from the Immigration Bureau bill. No bill, however, was reported. A communication was received from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, asking to be heard on the exclusion question, and the members of the California Exclusion Commission were in attendance to request a hearing, so the committee decided to postpone action for one week. In the meantime the sub-committee was instructed to hear Gompers and the California Commission, and report to the next committee, which will meet next Thursday.
Four-score Islanders Slain.
Berlin, Jan. 9.—A correspondent in Samoa writes to the Cologne Gazette giving a hitherto unknown explanation of the killing of Dr. Menke, leader of a German scientific expedition in the South sea islands, Bismarck archipelago. The correspondent says that Dr. Menke and his party ruthlessly destroyed a number of palm trees, of which there were but a few on the island, and the natives acted in defense of their property. The German punitive expedition sent to avenge the killing of Dr. Menke and his party, was landed from the German cruiser Cormoran near the scene of the massacre, killing eighty-one islanders.
"Such is the civilization," says the Vorwaerts, "that our colonial politicians are spreading."

SENATE CONFIRMS CABINET OFFICERS.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The Senate in executive session today confirmed the nomination of L. M. Shaw to be Secretary of the Treasury and of H. C. Payne to be Postmaster-General.
The Senate also confirmed W. S. Graham as Surveyor-General of California.

HOUSE PASSES CANAL BILL.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The Hepburn Nicaragua canal bill passed the House late this afternoon by practically a unanimous vote. Only two members out of 310 voted against it. Messrs. Fletcher (R.) of Minnesota and Lassister (D.) of Virginia were the only two casting negative votes.

ENGLAND NOT APEASED

London, Jan. 11.—Count von Buelow's second speech has quite failed to appease the English press. The Times publishes the matter most strongly, and says with reference to the speeches of Herren Liebermann and Sonnenberg: "Seldom, if ever, has a friendly nation been so grossly insulted in a foreign parliament, and never with in our memory has insult met with such mild rebuke from the representative of a friendly power with whom he professes to desire the maintenance of good relations, as Count von Buelow thought sufficient to inflict on Herr von Sonnenberg."
"Even brigands and thieves may know how to die. What we have a right to expect from the Minister of a friendly state is a definite repudiation of the calumnies uttered within his hearing. With regard, not to the British soldiers dead, but to those who are living, we must state frankly and emphatically that the limit of British patience will be overstepped if Count von Buelow imagines he can court British friendship and at the same time use the King's uniform in which our kinsmen are fighting honorably in South Africa in order to wipe his feet upon it."

FRENCH SPRING SURPRISE.

Peking, Jan. 10.—The French Minister, M. Beau, refuses to present his credentials until China fulfills certain demands of the French Government. The joint audience of the foreign and new Chinese Ministers, which had been arranged, has been postponed because of M. Beau's action.
The report of the arrest of General Lung Fu Hiang, whose decapitation has been ordered by the Dowager Empress, is incorrect. The Tartar General, who is Governor of Kan-su, was afraid to execute the orders he received, owing to Tung Fu Hiang's influence among the Mohammedans, who dominate the province. The Governor feared the arrest of Tung Fu Hiang would incite the Mohammedans to rebellion.

NEW YORK, JAN. 10.—A cable to the Herald from Buenos Ayres says: The latest news from Asuncion shows that blood has been shed in the Paraguayan revolution. A plot to depose President Aceval was decided upon at a conference between General Caballero, General Escobar, Colonel Escurrea, Minister of War; Senor Moreno, Minister of Finance, and Senator Fleytas.

This revolutionary committee sent a deputation to President Aceval to request him to resign. Senor Aceval emphatically declined. As the declination was expected, a detachment of cavalry was placed within easy call. The cavalymen were summoned and the President was taken off to prison.
Another cavalry detachment was sent to the residence of General Escusquiza, former President of Paraguay, but that gentleman had been apprized of the coup d'etat and had sought safety at the Argentine Legation.

Schwab Stirs Up Monte Carlo.

London, Jan. 10.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Monte Carlo says that excitement was caused in Casino there Friday by Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, going from one table to another playing the maximums. He won two, one of which amounted to $810,800. An interested crowd followed him and watched him play. A Central News dispatch says that Schwab's winnings amounted to nearly $200,000.

ATTACKS BRITISH ARMY.

Words of German Deputy Bring Protest From Chancellor.

Berlin, Jan. 10.—During the debate on the estimates in the Reichstag today. Herr Bassermann declared that the National Liberal party would oppose any suggestion of a loan of 35,000,000 marks to cover the deficit. Financial reform was necessary, and the National Liberals were not adverse to direct imperial taxation.

During the course of the debate references were made to Mr. Chamberlain's remark concerning the German army, when the British Colonial Secretary delivered his famous speech at Edinburgh. Herr Sonnenberg, Radical Anti-Semite, made a long and violent speech, indulging in the most bitter invective against Mr. Chamberlain and the British army ever heard in the Reichstag. He characterized Chamberlain as the most wicked man on God's earth. This expression called forth a stern rebuke from the president of the House, but Herr Sonnenberg unabashed, assailed the British army, classing it as a "mob of thieves and robbers, unfit to be compared with the glorious Germans." The speaker's remarks called forth further censure from the president.

The Chancellor, Count von Buelow, making a general reply to the preceding speakers, said: "I believe I shall be in sympathy with a very great majority of the House when I express the hope that the custom of abusing foreign Ministers from the tribune of this august House will not become naturalized among us. That would accord neither with the usages of the German people nor the interests of our policy. (Cheers.) I must at the same time express my deep regret at the way in which the last speaker referred to the army of a nation with which we live in peace and friendship. As we ourselves are sensitive concerning the honor of our own army, so we should not abuse foreign armies, in which there are brave men enough who know they have to die." (Bravos.)

Count von Buelow strongly deprecated the contention of Herr Bassermann that the official press ought to have given the lead to public opinion in dealing with Chamberlain's speech.

"Our press and public opinion," said the Chancellor, "would stand in very low repute if in questions of national honor they stood in need of word of command from above." Protesting against the idea that the repudiation of an aspersion on the army should effect a change of policy, Count von Buelow said: "If this repudiation is to be an excuse for forcing upon us a different attitude in regard to the war in South Africa, or a pretext for bringing about unfriendly relations between our people and a people toward whom we have never stood in hostility and to whom we are bound by weighty interests, I wish to leave it beyond doubt that I will have nothing to do with anything of the kind. We cannot let the direction of foreign policy be prescribed for us by speeches, resolutions or popular meetings. That policy can only be determined by the real and permanent interests of the country, and that interest requires us, while fully safeguarding our independence, dignity and honor, to cultivate friendly relations with Great Britain."

Turkey May Resist the Italians.

London, Jan. 10.—The Cairo correspondent of the Daily Mail cables that he learns that the Sultan of Turkey vainly sought to enlist French aid to prevent the Italian occupation of Tripoli.

OVERTHROW OF CASTRO.

Washington Does Not Believe Present Regime Can Hold Out Long.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The overthrow of the Castro regime in Venezuela, which now appears quite possible, will be followed by the dispatch of the entire North Atlantic squadron to the waters of that country. A formidable American naval representation will then be at La Guayra. It will consist of the battle-ship Indiana, now at Curaçao, the battle-ship Kearsarge, Alabama and Massachusetts, and the gunboat Marietta, all under command of Rear-Admiral Higginson, commander in chief.

British, French and German vessels are also gathering in the vicinity of Venezuela, and these nations will be represented at La Guayra in case of trouble. Because the Administration deems it advisable that the senior officer present shall be an American, it desires that Rear-Admiral Higginson shall be with his flagship at the seaport of Caracas when conditions require it.

Chinese Exclusion.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The committee of Pacific Coast representatives met today to decide on a Chinese exclusion bill. While the sub-committee that has been at work on the matter had not definitely reported, it was generally thought that a bill re-enacting the present laws would be favored, with additions from the Immigration Bureau bill. No bill, however, was reported. A communication was received from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, asking to be heard on the exclusion question, and the members of the California Exclusion Commission were in attendance to request a hearing, so the committee decided to postpone action for one week. In the meantime the sub-committee was instructed to hear Gompers and the California Commission, and report to the general committee, which will meet next Thursday.

Four-score Islanders Slain.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—A correspondent in Samoa writes to the Cologne Gazette giving a hitherto unknown explanation of the killing of Dr. Menke, leader of a German scientific expedition in the South sea islands, Bismarck archipelago. The correspondent says that Dr. Menke and his party ruthlessly destroyed a number of palm trees, of which there were but a few on the island, and the natives acted in defense of their property. The German punitive expedition sent to avenge the killing of Dr. Menke and his party, was landed from the German cruiser Cormoran near the scene of the massacre, killing eighty-one islanders.

"Such is the civilization," says the Vorwaerts, "that our colonial politicians are spreading."

Senate Confirms Cabinet Officers.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The Senate in executive session today confirmed the nomination of I. M. Shaw to be Secretary of the Treasury and of H. C. Payne to be Postmaster-General.

The Senate also confirmed W. S. Graham as Surveyor-General of California.

House Passes Canal Bill.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The Hepburn Nicaragua canal bill passed the House late this afternoon by practically a unanimous vote. Only two members out of 310 voted against it. Messrs. Fletcher (R.) of Minnesota and Lassister (D.) of Virginia were the only two casting negative votes.

England Not Appeared

London, Jan. 11.—Count von Buelow's second speech has quite failed to appease the English press. The Times publishes the matter most strongly, and says with reference to the speeches of Herren Liebermann and Sonnenberg: "Seldom, if ever, has a friendly nation been so grossly insulted in a foreign parliament, and never within our memory has insult met with such mild rebuke from the representative of a friendly power with whom he professes to desire the maintenance of good relations, as Count von Buelow thought sufficient to inflict on Herr von Sonnenberg."

"Even brigands and thieves may know how to die. What we have a right to expect from the Minister of a friendly state is a definite repudiation of the calumnies uttered within his hearing. With regard, not to the British soldiers dead, but to those who are living, we must state frankly and emphatically that the limit of British patience will be overstepped if Count von Buelow imagines he can court British friendship and at the same time use the King's uniform in which our kinsmen are fighting honorably in South Africa in order to wipe his feet upon it."

French Spring Surprise.

Peking, Jan. 10.—The French Minister, M. Beau, refuses to present his credentials until China fulfills certain demands of the French Government. The joint audience of the foreign and new Chinese Ministers, which had been arranged, has been postponed because of M. Beau's action.

The report of the arrest of General Lung Fu Hiang, whose decapitation was being ordered by the Dowager Empress, is incorrect. The Tartar General, who is Governor of Kan-su, was afraid to execute the orders he received, owing to Tung Fu Hiang's influence among the Mohammedans, who dominate the province. The Governor feared the arrest of Tung Fu Hiang would incite the Mohammedans to rebellion.

New York, Jan. 10.—A cable to the Herald from Buenos Ayres says: The latest news from Asuncion shows that blood has been shed in the Paraguayan revolution. A plot to depose President Aceval was decided upon at a conference between General Caballero, General Escobar, Colonel Escurra, Minister of War; Senor Moreno, Minister of Finance, and Senator Fleytas.

This revolutionary committee sent a deputation to President Aceval to request him to resign. Senor Aceval emphatically declined. As the declaration was expected, a detachment of cavalry was placed within easy call. The cavalrymen were summoned and the President was taken off to prison.

Another cavalry detachment was sent to the residence of General Eguisquiza, former President of Paraguay, but that gentleman had been apprized of the coup d'etat and had sought safety at the Argentine Legation.

Schwab Stirrs Up Monte Carlo.

London, Jan. 10.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Monte Carlo says that excitement was caused in Casino there Friday by Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, going from one table to another playing the maximums. He won two, one of which amounted to $50,000. An interested crowd followed him and watched him play. A Central News dispatch says that Schwab's winnings amounted to nearly $20,000.

All Run Down

No Appetite. Weak. Discouraged.
Warm climates always debilitate the nervous system. The digestion is slow, and the liver becomes sluggish. Impurities in the blood accumulate, and you go about downhearted and depressed. All this may be quickly changed with proper treatment.
Mrs. C. Kennedy, of 26 Eskine St., North Melbourne, Victoria, sends us her photograph and this letter:

"I had lost my appetite, was very weak, and all run down. Nothing did me good, and I was discouraged. I then tried and it brought me right up to my usual health and strength. And I want to add a word here about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has cured me of such hard coughs and colds that I feel I could not do without it. For family remedies I rely on that word, 'Ayer's'."

COURT ADJOURNS SINE DIE.

Business Executed by Judge Little With Characteristic Promptness.

The January term of the Fourth Circuit adjourned last Tuesday morning sine die, the most of the term having been accomplished with promptness and dispatch. The last few days of the term were devoted to the trial of civil cases.

The case in assumpsit brought by the Central Meat Market against D. Lycurgus to recover the payment of about $800 claimed to be due the former, has been continued until the next term on account of the absence of a material witness for the defense. On Monday last the garnishees named in the summons were examined by the Court as to the amounts owing by them to the defendant, the total amounting to about $400. The order of the Court was that the amounts owing be deposited with the Clerk of the Court pending the determination of the suit. Ridgway & Ridgway for plaintiff; W. S. Wise for defendant.

In the suit to quiet title brought by the Hakalau Plantation Co. against W. Z. Kabuena administrator and others, the defendants were ruled by Judge Little to be out of Court, on the ground that they had mistaken their proper form of answer in pleading the general issue to the plaintiff's declaration. It therefore rested with the plaintiff simply to give prima facie evidence of their title. This, when the plaintiff rested, the Court instructed the jury had been done, and the latter were accordingly directed to bring in a verdict for plaintiff for the property claimed by it, namely one undivided half of twenty-two acres lying next the Kaiwika gulch, a portion of Royal Patent Grant 801. Defendant noted exception to the ruling of the Court on the pleadings. W. S. Wise for plaintiff; Smith and Parsons for defendants.

J. A. Paakiki and John Lunakila vs. the Honokaa Sugar Co. action to quiet title, resulted in a verdict for plaintiffs. Smith & Parsons for plaintiffs; Charles Williams for defendant.

Hilo Mercantile Co., Ltd., vs. Herman Eldarts, action on contract for damages was continued by stipulation to next term. F. W. Hankey for plaintiff; Smith & Parsons for defendant.

A. B. Loebenstein vs. The Kohala and Hilo R. R. Co., assumpsit to recover for services rendered as civil engineer was continued upon the affidavits of defendant that James Cargyll and Col. Jones, material witnesses in the case were absent. W. S. Wise for plaintiff; Ridgway & Ridgway for defendant.

Hyman Brothers vs. H. E. Soule & Co., was continued for similar reason.

Tong On, a Chinese merchant on Front street, brought suit for damages against W. M. Kealanui, a police officer, for false imprisonment, claiming that he had been arrested and searched without a warrant, and that valuable papers had been taken from his person and not returned. The defendant maintained that the arrest was made under circumstances that justified a reasonable suspicion that the plaintiff was engaging in operations connected with the fa. The jury returned a verdict for defendant. W. S. Wise for plaintiff; Smith & Parsons for defendant.

Kealoha and Toika vs. Charles Williams, ejectment, brought for the recovery of eleven acres of land situated near Honokaa, was nonsuited on motion of defendant, plaintiffs having failed to support their claim of title. Ridgway & Ridgway for plaintiffs; Smith & Parsons for defendant.

C. A. Brown vs. J. T. Baker and others, ejectment, was continued until next term, by stipulation. Smith & Parsons and Magoon for plaintiff; C. M. LeBlond for defendants.

In the three following cases continuances were necessary on account of the disqualification of Judge Little, Isaac Erickson vs. Volcano Stables, assumpsit; Henry J. Lyman vs. Hilo Tribune Publishing Co., libel; Ookala Sugar Co. vs. Francisco Nobiga, damages.

W. H. Beers vs. Ick Sing Co., breach of warranty, was tried without a jury and resulted in a verdict for defendant. Mr. Beers conducted his own case and the defendants were represented by Smith & Parsons. The suit was brought to recover damages for injury caused by the sale to plaintiff of ten pairs of rubber soled shoes which were used by the Hilo Boarding School ball team, and which proved so worthless that plaintiff claimed a game of ball and a corresponding percentage of the gate receipts were lost thereby.

BASKET BALL.

Hilo Young Women Step to the Front in Athletics.

Through the efforts of Miss Maude Cheek, who at one time was the champion basket ball player in the Oakland High School, Hilo is to have basket ball added to the list of athletic games. Miss Cheek has been persistent in agitating the subject among Hilo young ladies, until now material enough has been obtained to assure complete success. As a coach in basket ball Miss Cheek had few equals on the Coast and the game as played in Hilo will be according to Hoyle. Several practice games have already been played at Kainihi, Mr. C. E. Richardson's beach home. The special merits of the respective players will soon be ascertained, uniforms will be purchased and the people hope soon to have the pleasure of witnessing a game in public. Two line ups have been formed, with Miss Cheek captain of one and Miss Elvira Richardson captain of the other.

Miss Cheek's supporters are Misses Washburn, Frank Eton, Ellen Lyman, Lilinoi Hapai, Neumann, Deyo, Maude Hansen, and Mrs. Marsh.

Miss Richardson will command a team composed of the following: Mrs. Schoen, Mrs. Lewis, Misses Severance, Lewis, Lyan, Riton, Pomeroy and Deyo.

The game of basket ball is one of the leading athletic sports in American colleges and universities and is now the vogue at Honolulu. Practice games are held three times a week at Kainihi.

Remarkable Cure of Croup a Little Boy's Life Saved.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere of Goodwin, S. D., U. S. A., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—JOEL DEMONT, Inwood, Iowa. For sale by

TRADE EXPANSION.

A London Journal's Views on American Invasion of England.

"We are no longer engaged in wondering what America may mean for the Americans. We are sufficiently pre-occupied with fears of what it may mean for ourselves. In the prospects of the people of the United States, indeed, there appears at the present moment to be wonderfully little cause for immediate anxiety. They are citizens of a country which has attained the highest level of average prosperity that the world has ever seen. Their commercial strength is more invulnerable at home and more irresistible abroad than that of any other nation. They have greater opportunities and fewer burdens head for head than have Englishmen or Germans. No external enemy can ever break the mainsprings of their power of trade. They have indefinite room to multiply within their own frontiers, and increase of total population may go hand in hand for many years with enhancement of individual comfort. . . .

"But America depends upon no external attribute, not even upon the magnificent assistance of seapower. For the first time, the bid for commercial supremacy is made by a semi-continent which is more completely self-contained in an economic sense than any society ever before seen. At our present stage we are compelled to import our food, our ore, our raw cotton. To be cut off from our sources of supply in these respects would mean ruin. But while America can become far richer and more powerful with a great foreign trade than without it, and, therefore, concentrates her whole ambition upon obtaining it, foreign trade is not, and never can be, the matter of life and death to her that it is to us. She can dispense with the world in case of absolute need. She is the greatest producer of food and raw material, as well as the possessor of the most efficient manufacturing apparatus, the most consummate organizing ability, the most numerous and energetic population, among all commercial States. Her political security is even more complete than ours ever was. There is not a single factor of economic activity in which she may not reasonably expect to excel any rival. . . .

"Upon a closer analysis of primary impressions it is more than questionable whether the average Briton has even yet any sure and vivid conception of the overwhelming character of America's natural resources as compared with any European scale. The Republic is thirty times as large our own island. Every factor in her industrial greatness is on the giant measure either of performance or potentiality. She has two long fronts upon the two main oceans. Her navigable waterways are more wonderful than those of Siberia or Brazil, for they do not flow towards ice like the one or through the dense tropics like the other. Nor is there anything in the Tsar's Asiatic dominion to compare with the St. Lawrence and the great lakes leading ocean traffic for two thousand miles into the heart of a continent. Her harvests are a sea of golden grain, stretching over many times the entire area of the British Islands. The American farmer has marketed at nearly forty cents a bushel in recent seasons corn which it cost him fifteen cents to produce. The United States raises nearly two-thirds of the raw cotton of the world. Sugar is raised from the cane in the South, from the beet in the far West, from sorghum in the center, from the maple in New England. California is opulent with orchards. The immense mineral deposits of America are still won in great part near the surface, not by deep shafts, long drifts, and the expensive workings of older mining countries like our own. The coal area of the United States is far wider than that of all Europe put together, and it is only equalled by the vast seams of China. "If a man have better iron than you," said the sage, "he shall have all your gold." But America is now first both in gold and iron, and produces all the metal but tin.

Her huge petroleum output hardly comes behind that of Russia. Her herds of horses, cattle, sheep, pigs, are such as the pastoral imagination of the more primitive world might have seen in dreams. Her waters swarm with fish. And while there are already seventy-six million inhabitants in America, there is still sixteen times as much space to every soul as in this crowded island, and twelve times as much as in Germany."—London Daily Telegraph.

W. J. LOWRIE RESIGNS.

Expressed Dissatisfaction of System Stated as Cause.

The news of the resignation of W. J. Lowrie from the management of the Spreckelsville plantation was received on Saturday afternoon in the mail from Maui and while the fact, coupled with the announcement that H. P. Baldwin would control the plantation affairs, at any rate for the present has caused considerable talk among those interested, action was apparently not entirely unexpected or unpremeditated.

Manager Lowrie was one of the best known plantation men in the islands. Originally the head of affairs at Ewa, where he was successful in introducing several new ideas, he assumed control of the Spreckelsville plantation at the time that the Spreckels' lost their control of the Hawaiian Commercial Sugar Company. Mr. Lowrie himself owns large interest in the Spreckelsville, amounting to about one-twentieth of the stock, as well as in Ewa, and the Castle interests in Spreckelsville, which are very large, have always been favorable to the late management. It is said however that the opinions of the Alexander and Baldwin interests have not coincided with Mr. Lowrie's in the handling of the plantation affairs.

PACIFIC CABLE MATTER.

House Committee on Commerce Listens to Plans.

Washington, January 10.—The House Committee on Commerce today took up the subject of a Pacific cable. The main question is whether the cable shall be constructed by the Government or by private parties. The hearing today was devoted to an explanation by George G. Ward, vice-president of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company, of the plans of that company. He stated that plans had been made for the manufacturing and laying of a cable to Honolulu by November 1st next and the company intended to extend the cable to Manila within two years from next November. The manufacture of the cable was now proceeding, he stated, at the rate of 240 miles per month, and the rate would be increased to 640 miles per month. He gave the cost of the project as between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000.

Cross-questioning by Chairman Hepburn and Messrs. Corliss and Mann tended to develop the question whether or not the company, by having an exclusive field, would maintain high rates. Ward gave the expected rate to Manila at $1 and Honolulu 35 cents to 50 cents a word. The hearing will continue tomorrow.

Inquiry among the members of the committee indicated that the hearing had not progressed far enough for them to reach a definite choice between Government and private ownership. It is known, however, that Chairman Hepburn is strongly in favor of private ownership, and his influence with the committee is very strong.

HIGH POLITICS.

Readers of the TRIBUNE who delight in the problems of high politics, will find considerable food for thought in the matter published in the news columns of this issue. "High politics" is an English expression coined to distinguish certain political questions growing out of British Foreign Office complications, from the more petty problems coming under the head of Domestic Affairs.

"Who prevented an European coalition against America in the Spanish war" is a question of high politics. How were America's army and navy set in motion to lick Spain, is a question of small politics. "Why no nation has intervened in behalf of the Boers," is a question of high politics. The gigantesque battle between Rosebery and Chamberlain is a peanut affair.

The British Empire was built because the Britisher instinctively knows "high politics." The construction of the Empire, in process, is like that of projecting a cantilever bridge across the chasm of Niagara. The bridge grows out from either bank like friendly arms slowly extending to meet over the middle of the gulf in eternal mutual hand clasp.

The strength of the British Empire depends upon an early extension of the mutual arm of support from all her Colonies in keeping the British navy the best navy that floats.

OMENS ARE GOOD.

The omens are excellent for the early appointment of Judge Gilbert F. Little to take the place of the present figurehead governor of the Territory of Hawaii. On the surface, Hawaii politically and in other ways, gives evidence of being in the midst of a calm such as makes sea captains weep when encountered in mid ocean. In every calm, the distant air currents are at work shaping themselves for their descent upon the motionless sea. So it is with Hawaii. Squalls are in process of formation; the breezes are on the way. Bye and bye the sails in the ship of state will creak and crack. There will be a "blow" that will send us scurrying out of this stagnation.

In the pelting rain storm that will accompany the bounding ship, a new man will be seen at the wheel, the man without whiskers, Gilbert F. Little.

FOR A SPLENDID SCHOOL.

The plans for new buildings for the Hilo Boarding School, drawn and designed by architect Dickey, under the direction of Principal L. C. Lyman will inspire any Hiloite who sees them with a desire to see the ideas of the architect, given form and actual existence on the campus grounds of the school. The plans strike even the uninitiated as combining in an unusual degree the qualities of utility and beauty. The cost of carrying out the ideas of the architect will be considerable. The good that will accrue from such an institution, however, will be more than commensurate with the outlay. It is a rare chance for a display of the Carnegie spirit.

A BANANA MARKET.

The statements made by Capt. Wm. Matson regarding permanent steamship connections for Hilo with the Coast should have a marked effect upon industry and business in the country contiguous to Hilo. What Mr. Matson says about the demand for bananas grown on this island should awaken a new impetus in the production of that crop. His statements are flat footed and may be taken as a guaranty of a permanent outlet to the only market of promise for diversified Hawaiian products. From the assurances he makes, it would appear that there will be a good market right in Hilo within the next sixty days for bananas in quantities from ten bunches up to 4,000.

The advent of the Enterprise ought to mark the beginning of a new era in Hilo's prosperity.

A "WASH-DAY" DUE.

Sheriff Andrews was not shaming when he was laid up with a bad knee at the hospital. He has been out for some time now and as soon as the affected joint is limbered up, he will not waste time in hitting the trail pointed out by the Grand Jury. At least this is the inference of everyone who believes in giving an official a fair show and plenty of time to make use of it. When the Sheriff does take up the burden uncovered by the Grand Jury the public will be better satisfied if he conducts his hunt in the open. The "still hunt" style is no longer necessary. The more baying and hallooing and horn blowing there is on the "wash-day" the better the public will like it. Wait till that knee becomes properly limber.

SISAL AT PUNA.

The appearance of the Sisal syndicate on this island is encouraging. The remarks of Mr. Williams, the visiting representative, published in the TRIBUNE this week indicate that the land owners out Puna way are ready to cooperate in any enterprise of promise. The experiments with sisal on Oahu have yielded flattering results. With the showing already made by this product, there is no reason why this island should not furnish the land for the fullest expansion for its growth.

HAWAII'S GREAT NEED.

Hawaii wants a Governor who has legs that will support the weight of his own avoirdupois, a backbone that will sustain the burden of the responsibilities of the office, and a brain that is capable of grappling with Territorial problems independently. The Governor that Hawaii wants is a man, unhampered by personal interests; a man not bound hand and foot by personal ties that would jaundice his conception of public duty; a man also who has never been caught in the web of self seeking sycophants who are hunting a man of putty to replace a pliable figurehead.

It is time for all influential interests in these islands to throw "cinch game" politics over and rely on character, virility and courage in public officials as the best guaranty of efficient public service. When Dole is put out a self reliant American must be put in.

THE Honolulu Blue Book is at hand. A furtive glance through its pages of immaculate white, encased between covers of standard blue, reveals to a Hiloite one most startling revelation. In the list of the members of the Hilo Cottillion Club, there appear the names of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith. Now who would have thought that of "Tiny?"

THE current number of "United Australia," arrives with its usual budget of information concerning affairs in the great English commonwealth in the Southern seas. This periodical, now in its second year, has for its motto "One people; one destiny," a phrase that admits a world wide significance at the present time. Its contents are made up of valuable articles dealing with politics and economics in the Australian Federation. The TRIBUNE reprints in this issue a paper on "The Burden of Empire," which cannot fail to interest an English speaking person, wherever he may be.

COMMITTEEMAN McStocker and Secretary Avery are to be commended, both for initiating and carrying quickly to a finish the very practical proposition of creating a separate voting precinct for Oloo. Under the old arrangement a trip of forty miles to Hilo for the purpose of exercising the right of suffrage was an unnecessarily onerous chore.

ALL Public officials in Hilo forgot that January 17, the anniversary of the overthrow of the monarchy, was a holiday. Public offices were open and public business went forward that day as usual.

Now that the committee business is settled in the choice of J. Castle Ridgway by a majority of the committeemen here, the Herald goes on record with its untimely howl.

HILO'S band is throwing off the chrysalis and making a laudable effort to spread its symphonic wings.

Illness of Wilcox.

When Governor Dole was informed of the serious sickness of Delegate Robert Wilcox in Washington, he expressed surprise and great concern, saying that he was sorry to learn of the Delegate's illness, expressing the hope that the next mail would bring word that he was very much better.

Asked in regard to the steps which would be taken to elect a Delegate to Washington in the event of the death of Delegate Robert Wilcox, the Governor said: "There is no provision for such an emergency. Mr. Wilcox was elected at the general election. Even then, some question came up afterward as to whether the election was regular or not; whether the Delegate should not have been elected in some other way. As to what would be done in the sad event of the death of Delegate Wilcox is more than I can say at the present time. Such an event would be an emergency that would have to be met in some way by the Territory. It is regrettable that there is no provision covering such a contingency."

Want Danish Islands Sold to U. S.

St. Thomas (D. W. I.), Jan. 9.—The following cablegram, signed by a large number of residents of the Danish West Indies, was sent from the Danish island of St. Croix to the Minister of Finance and the Rigsdag at Copenhagen on January 3d: "Confirming the memorial to his majesty, King Christian, on June, 1900, the undersigned planters, representing 38,000 acres out of a total of 50,000 acres, and merchants and other representatives of the Danish West Indies, assert that if the American market is not secured by the sale of the islands the sugar industry here will suffer severely, and will have to cease in the near future, the prices for sugar now ruling being below the cost of producing that article."

Subsequent signatures secured to this message raised the ratio of representation to nine-tenths of the total acreage under cultivation.

LORD ROSEBERY'S SPEECH.

His Program and What is Thought of it in England and America.

Lord Rosebery's much-heralded speech was delivered at Chesterfield last week. The speaker told the Liberals that they must get together, but stated that he did not pretend to say how this result should be accomplished. In regard to war-office reform, he declared that it was necessary, but that it ought to be postponed until after the war. His recipe for the proposed reorganization was the appointment of a commission.

Concerning the government's conduct of the war Lord Rosebery was severe and scornful. He said the complaint of the government that the Boers had not made war according to the recognized rules reminded him that the same thing had been said by the old Austrian generals of the young Napoleon, when the latter was beating them.

Lord Rosebery strongly blamed the government for its tactlessness, which, he said, had produced unparalleled ill-will toward Great Britain in every European country, and which he attributed largely to the provocative oratory of Mr. Chamberlain. While he was emphatic in regard to the necessity of vigorously prosecuting the war and expressed the fullest confidence in Lord Kitchener, Lord Rosebery said he thought the government should be prepared to listen to peace overtures. The Boers should not be unnecessarily humiliated.

Scornfully rejecting the idea that such an empire as Great Britain could not provide an alternative government to the existing ministry, Lord Rosebery said that in all his life, from all the bitterest foes of Great Britain, he never had heard such disparagement of her as that doctrine implied. If that were true, the nation was more fitted to control a cabbage garden than an empire. In conclusion, and amid loud cheers, Lord Rosebery declared that his services were at the disposal of the country in anything he could do to further the policy he had just expounded. He said it was not to party that he appealed; party, in this matter, could avail little or nothing. He appealed unto Caesar from the parliament, to that silent but supreme tribunal which, in the long run, shaped and controlled the destinies of the British people—the tribunal of public opinion and common sense.

While the London press comment on the speech varies greatly, there is general agreement that the premier's address was a bid for the formation of an entirely new party. The Conservative Standard calls the speech a profound disappointment, and says there is no place in serious politics for Lord Rosebery. The pro-Boer Daily News comes to exactly the same conclusion, and says: "Rosebery is interesting as a dramatic study, but as a practical politician he is behind the age." The Daily Mail and Daily Telegraph consider that Lord Rosebery fully rose to a great occasion. The Telegraph says the speech was inspired by patriotism and statesmanship. The Chronicle says the important thing is that Lord Rosebery has raised his standard and is pledged before the country, under conditions of exceptional emphasis, to place himself at the head of the new Liberalism. The Times says Lord Rosebery's speech will not produce any magical effect in the domain of British politics.

In this case the opinions of American newspapers are of more value than the opinions of those who view the subject too close at hand to get a proper perspective. The New York Tribune thinks that Lord Rosebery was answered two weeks before he made his speech by the National Liberal federation, which at the Derby meeting adopted resolutions antagonizing the ex-premier's opinions at every point. He has shown himself to be a constructive as well as a destructive critic, and a man probably competent to correct the abuses of which he complains, but the factions within his party make it impossible for him to accomplish anything.

The Evening Post is reminded of one of Punch's cartoons representing Rosebery as "Deus in (not ex) Machina"—sitting in a bathing machine while he gives advice to those struggling in the waves. His trumpet, the Post claims, gives forth a perfectly modulated, but too uncertain, sound. The New York Times thinks better of the speech than this: "Lord Rosebery's presentation of the case does not lack point; it does not lack tact; from no point of view does it lack patriotism. Above all, it does not lack timeliness. The increasing disgust with the conduct of the war and the bungling of the ministry must incline a much larger part of the British public than could have been secured at any time before to acquiesce in a change. It the speech does not come within the range of practical politics, so much the worse, one is tempted to say, for the British empire."

NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Architects Have Designed Fine Improvements for Boarding School

Architects Dickey and Newcomb of Honolulu have just finished a set of designs for new buildings for the Hilo Boarding School, which when constructed will form the most imposing and symmetrical group of educational buildings on the Hawaiian Islands. The general style of the architectural design is Spanish. Fronts are to be relieved by plain but graceful arcades, and the finish as now planned, will be in cement stucco with the splash dash effect.

There are to be two new main buildings of almost equal size, one for boys and one for girls. The buildings of accommodations for the girls marks an era in the Hilo Boarding School. Hitherto, boys alone have been admitted. With the realization of present plans, the institution will be coeducational.

It is planned that these two new buildings shall crown the hill, an elevation near the center of a 40 acre tract belonging to the school, in the center of Hilo. The buildings will stand on either slope facing the sea, and will be connected by a covered cloister or pergola. In the center of this will be a triumphal arch, leading up a pathway to the residence of the principal. The grouping of the buildings, their style and general arrangement was decided upon by Mr. Dickey after a personal inspection of the grounds. That he has succeeded in producing designs not only of the highest practical merit, but also of the highest artistic value, is apparent from the briefest inspection.

Facing the sea, the girls building will be on the left. The plans call for a structure 180 feet long, 48 feet in width, with a kitchen in the rear 32x40 feet. There are to be two stories and a basement.

The boys building will be in similar design, 216 feet long by 32 feet wide, two stories and basement, with a wing for class rooms and assembly hall 40x50. In this building the upper story will be used for a dormitory and single living rooms for the boys.

In the building for the girls, domestic science will be taught, including sewing, weaving, wood carving and possibly wood turning. The purpose will be merely to enlarge the facilities of the institution so as to accommodate a large number of pupils and extend its benefits and privileges to Hawaiian girls.

The cost of the improvements, if all is done as it should be done will be between $100,000 to $200,000. This money will have to be raised by private subscription. The need for such an institution as the Hilo Boarding School will be when thus remodeled is very pressing on this island. It is an undertaking which merits the support of men of means in Hilo and on the Islands.

A Brief Fire Scare.

Fire broke out in a Japanese boarding house on Front street last Sunday evening. The people on their way to church were stopped by the clang of the fire bell and firemen hustled to man the hose carts. Before the scene of the fire was reached the blaze had been put out by earlier arrivals. No damage was done. The blaze started in some dry banana leaves stored beneath a bed.

Stop it at once and drive away all thought of consumption. Begin as early as possible—the sooner the better—to take the most effective remedy for coughs of every kind and in every stage. One of the most annoying coughs is a throat cough, where you have that constant tickling in your throat. It comes on worse at night, keeps you awake, and makes you feel that smothered feeling in the chest. It hardly seems possible what one dose of Cherry Pectoral will do for this kind of a cough, it brings such marked relief.

Put up in large and small bottles. When the cough gets down deep in the chest and the lungs are painful, put one of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Plasters directly over the tender lung. It will draw out all the soreness.

HILO'S GOOD HOTEL.

Outlook for Travel May Require it to be Enlarged.

One of the problems that confront Hilo in view of the increase in travel, which promises to further increase, is adequate hotel accommodations for visitors. The Hilo Hotel under its present management has become so popular a place to live that many rooms and cottages formerly available for transients are now occupied by Hilo people who would rather put their feet under Mr. Scott's mahogany than to keep house themselves. When the standard of a hostelry is such that the townspeople flock to it, there can be no gainsaying its popularity with transients. In times past, it may have been said, the Hilo Hotel is not good enough. Now the only fault found is that it is not big enough.

With the appearance of the steamer Enterprise, which will make regular voyages between this port and San Francisco, the number of strangers within the gates of Hilo at all times will be larger than heretofore. Perhaps a dozen more cottages will be required to accommodate visitors when steamers arrive, especially when the boats from Frisco and Honolulu arrive simultaneously.

One of the burdens falling upon owners of hotels in a city which is just starting out as an attraction for the traveller, is that of maintaining their plant at a standard several notches above the immediate demands of the trade. The owners of the Hilo Hotel have been doing this and they should have more credit perhaps than is accorded them. It is they who put a good front before the weary voyager who must always arrive in Hilo after a forty round bout with Father Neptune. The well known progressive character of the men who own the Hilo Hotel is a guarantee that they will consider all matters which bear upon the future welfare of Hilo. Any minute that they feel conditions warrant it, they will make annex and annex to the Hotel until it becomes as large as the Moana, if necessary.

A BIT OF HISTORY.

Who Prevented Coalition Against U. S. During Spanish War.

It has always been believed that it was England who prevented the annoyance of the United States by the powers of Europe during the Spanish war. This assertion is categorically denied by a personage in Paris who enjoys the best possible opportunity of knowing the truth, and who made to the New York Tribune Paris correspondent the following statement:

When the French government, at the initiative of Austria, was approached with a proposal of common mediation between the United States and Spain, the reply of France was identical with that of England. This was, that if all the European powers agreed to mediate, France would not wish to remain alone in refusing cooperation to preserve peace. But at this moment, most unexpectedly, Count Mouraviev, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, communicated to Count Villagonzalo, the Spanish ambassador at St. Petersburg, the absolute and formal refusal of Russia to mix in any way with the quarrel, which did not concern Russian interests. This communication of Count Mouraviev was in the most emphatic, almost brutal, language; and it was this act of Russia, and not any measure taken by Lord Salisbury's cabinet, that rendered the alleged European demonstration against the United States impossible.

The repeated assertions that Lord Salisbury's diplomacy demolished the proposed demonstration of continental Europe have obtained such credence, even in Paris, that the correspondent asked M. Gabriel Hanotaux, of the French academy, who, during the Spanish-American war was the French minister of foreign affairs, for further information to clear up this point of history. M. Hanotaux confirmed the above statement about the Russian communication to the Spanish ambassador, and the correspondent, moreover, received a letter from M. Hanotaux, dated December 4, in which the ex-minister writes:

"The story about which you spoke to me has been contradicted twenty times. The United States government knows perfectly well the whole truth of the matter. Moreover, it accepted willingly the friendly offices of France at the moment of negotiations for peace. It seems to me impossible that public opinion in the United States should not now be quite as well aware of the real facts in this matter as is the United States department of state."

TENNIS AND OTHER SPORTS.

Suggestion That a Hilo Athletic Association be Formed.

Tennis lovers in Hilo play regularly at the fine tennis court on the premises of Dr. Reginald H. Reed at Riverside Park. Each afternoon ladies play singles and doubles and among them are being developed some first class artists with the racket. Saturday afternoons, the gentlemen have the freedom of the court.

The appearance of basket ball in the athletic arena here, and the assured success of polo has led to the suggestion that a Hilo athletic association be formed including the devotees of all these different sports. The base ball league is at present the pioneer athletic organization of the city and it is known that some of its members would willingly merge the league into an association that would cover the entire list. With such an organization, it is believed that field-days could be arranged for, with a list of events that would draw spectators from many miles around.

Union Church Service.

The union services at the Hilo Church last Sunday night were interesting and very much appreciated by the large congregation present. There was variety enough to satisfy everyone and excellence in each number.

The first number was an organ voluntary by Mrs. Lewis. Congregational hymns were sung at intervals during the evening. The Kamehameha quartet rendered one piece. "Seek Ye the Lord," a soprano solo with chorus, by Roberts, was sung by Mrs. Lewis and the choir. Mrs. Bartels sang "Jesu, Jesu, Miserere." The offertory was "Te Deum" by Stainer. Miss Elvira Richardson gave a reading from the works of Drummond that was interesting and instructive. Rev. Mr. Baptiste spoke a few minutes in his forceful style and was followed by Mr. Bartels with a violin solo. Mr. Bartels played a selection from "Il Trovatore." Mr. Bartels is a violinist whom the Hilo public would delight to hear more frequently.

A Floater.

The dead body of a Chinaman was found floating in the basin below Rainbow Falls last Friday morning. The police after great difficulty recovered the body and conveyed it to the jail. A coroner's jury was impaneled consisting of Messrs. W. A. Todd, J. Hering, W. K. Akana, J. A. Akana, Ah Hip and Wm. Nalimu. The supposition is that death was self imposed.

Porto Rican Vendetta.

Two Porto Ricans in love with the same Porto Rican girl, who resides in Pueno, came in collision with each other last Monday morning in that peaceful suburb. The inevitable dagger was drawn and one of the combatants was seriously carved over the brow and on the back of his head. The vendetta was transferred to Judge Hapai's Court for settlement.

It is a Real Pleasure to us to speak favorably of PAIN-KILLER, known almost universally to be a good and safe remedy for burns and other pains of the body. It is valuable not only for colds in winter, but for various summer complaints, and should be in every family. The casualty which demands it may come unawares.—Christian Advocate. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'. Price 25c. and 50c.

THE BURDEN OF EMPIRE.

How Two Small Islands Support a Fleet to Police the Seas of the World.

(BY SIR JOHN COLOMB, K. C. M. G., M. P., ENGLAND, in "United Australia.")

I have read with great interest, in your excellent magazine of January, an able and instructive article, under the above title, from the pen of Mr. H. B. Bignold. The subject is one of great gravity and importance. The world is moving quickly, and the direction in which international affairs seem to be tending is not without settled peace. Increase of armaments—especially those of a naval character—is the common feature in the policy of great nations at the present time. The world enters the new century under conditions totally different from those presented in the past. The centre of gravity of causes of international dispute, consequently of strife, has shifted from our side of the world to yours. The interests of the Great European Powers are no longer centred in the narrow European arc, but have spread themselves over the globe. The self-contained United States has been forced by events to move out beyond its self-imposed political barriers: across the North Pacific on one side and into the Caribbean Sea on the other. A new Power, Japan, already a potent factor in any international balance of armament, has arisen in the north of that ocean, where the great British Commonwealth of Australia is so vitally and directly concerned. In international strife in the future, Europe may be still "a cockpit of nations"; but it certainly will not be the only one. If, as too many indications portend, the world is advancing towards war, the watchword "Advance, Australia" has another interpretation from what we put upon it when we pass it to each other from hemisphere to hemisphere. The advance of Australia in all things political, social and economic, is doubtless assured by the enterprise of her citizens; but if the stream of events is running towards international strife, Australia, however smooth her progress in all else, is, with the rest of the world, advancing nearer the days of war. When these days come, the safety of Australia, as of all other portions of our common Empire, will depend on British ability to remain—come what may—master of the sea.

The contemplation of the changed conditions of the world since the last great general outburst of nations in arms, I think, the necessary preliminary to a true conception of the real issue raised by Mr. Bignold's instructive contribution to your journal. The figures given, and the convincing proofs exhibited by him, establish beyond question that the King's subjects at home bear the burden of the general naval defence of the whole Empire—including Australia—which the King's subjects Oversea practically do not appreciably share. As I have so often pointed out, our own Empire is the only one on the face of the globe without a system which combines all resources found within its borders for purposes of common defence. I venture to repeat once more, that our Empire engaged with another Empire would be, so far as resources organised and available are concerned, an island fighting an Empire. In Russian Defence; for example, all the resources under that flag, from the Baltic to the Pacific, and from Arctic Ice to the confines of India, are combined and immediately available under a pre-arranged system. For British Defence the resources of two islands in the N. E. Atlantic alone are available for the general security of our great World State. I doubt if any Australian could be found to stand up for a theory, or arrangement, under which the resources of New South Wales alone were to be organised and available for the general security in war of the whole great island continent. He certainly is not likely to be discovered in New South Wales, even though the fullest confidence prevailed, that all the sister states would each one defend herself to the last, and loyally be ready to give New South Wales what general help they could, in an hour of common peril. If I understand rightly the genesis of that great achievement of Australian Statesmanship, the Commonwealth Act, this very question of combination of the military power and resources of all its parts as a necessity for Australia had no small influence in determining political actions. It came to be recognised that in the event of failure, or even weakness, of the naval power of England, a military descent on Australian soil might take place; and if it did take place, that local defence systems, in six politically independent sections, would mean the possible cutting up of Australia in detail. What is true of Australia, is equally true of the British Empire. The principle is the same, but on a much larger scale.

Let us follow out the parallel a little further. The essence of the power of combination of the military resources and means spread over the island continent is the physical ability to exercise it. As no serious military descent upon Australia can possibly be attempted, unless the attacking nation possesses the freedom of the water: military concentrations or combinations of Australian forces could only then be accomplished by land, for the freedom of the sea exercised by the attacking power means the denial of that freedom to the Defence. Hence the internal land communications, such as railways and roads, are of vital importance to the successful Defence of Australia under the condition precedent to actual conflict on Australian soil. Whatever might be the military force hurled against Australia, the freedom of the sea having passed from under the Union Jack to another flag, no British help can reach her from outside until that freedom is regained. Now, what railways and roads are to Australia under the conditions described, the paths of the sea are to the Empire.

We will suppose Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, and every other portion of our Empire, great or small, armed to the teeth with every gun, weapon, or appliance known to military science; every man and boy a skilled soldier and first-class shot; every woman and girl trained to the supply of ammunition or hospital nursing of the wounded and the sick. What would be the position of our Empire when the railways and roads of the Commonwealth came, in earnest, to afford the main hope of Australian survival? Simply this—a series of large and small British monuments of military perfection, locked up in water-tight compartments. They can be smashed in detail, in succession, and at leisure, by the Power or Powers who have mastered us on the sea.

There is much confusion of ideas as to what the freedom of the sea means, and by what method of operation it is secured. By way of short explanation, I may point out that supremacy at sea does not necessarily mean the position of the victor after a great sea fight. It rather means the possession of such naval power as, by its amount and distribution, produces the moral effect necessary to make the ships of a hostile fleet keep in port, and not fight at all. The cases of the Crimean War, and the war in South Africa, are the best illustrations of its true meaning. In the one case the two greatest Maritime Powers were combined. No Russian ships anywhere dared to show at sea throughout the whole war. During the last year there has been plenty of evidence, founded on unexplained hatred to us abroad, to make it not improbable that, if chance of success against us had offered, certain Powers might have intervened over South Africa. That chance was denied to possible enemies by the moral effect of our present relative naval power. But the rapid and extraordinary development of naval power by foreign nations is a startling feature of the times. It is to be noted that as the British fleet must be at least equal to the combined fleets of any two Powers, so the Exchequer of the Mother Country must now alone meet the cost which is shared, as it were, by two Foreign Exchequers. The danger ahead of the Empire arises from this fact, which is too often forgotten, that democracy has its "hot fevers" and its "cold fits," in the matter of expenditure on preparations for war. The voters of the Mother Country have now entirely in their hands the determination of the amount to be so spent.

I trust the readers of Mr. Bignold's valuable article may not look at the very serious question he raises, as simply one of cash claims by the United Kingdom against Australia, and the outlying parts of the Empire, for naval value received or promised. Let me express the hope that they will ponder over the existing arrangement: under which so many thousands, or even hundreds, of voters in the United Kingdom decide the question of expenditure on the Fleet. Policy and Parliaments over here, as at the Antipodes, jump to the popular view as expressed in the ballot boxes. Whether British naval power keeps pace with the continuous growth of that of other Empires and Nations, entirely depends upon whether the electorates at home have not, "a cold fit." So long as the taxpayers at home alone pay the naval piper, so long will they, and they alone, call the naval tune. British communities in the Pacific and elsewhere may dance with joy when it is "Rule Britannia," but let them remember that times, voiced by £. s. d., may be changed. So long as they do not really share in the naval "Burden of Empire," so long can they have no voice in the matter.

This, however, is certain: the taxpayers, and, therefore, the Parliament, of the Mother Country are much more likely, when "the cold fit" comes, to consider their own immediate surroundings, than to pay heed to the British naval necessities of the Pacific Ocean.

An Attack of Pneumonia Warded Off.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annotto Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Sold by Hilo Drug Company.
