THE HELIGOLAND PARALLEL.

The same arguments which are used to convince the American people that they are "great and strong enough" to defend themselves from possible attack without recourse to such an outwork as the Hawaiian group might have been tried upon the German nation in regard to their military need of Heligoland, the island which, after so much diplomacy, Emperor William obtained from England. It was easy to point out that, as the German coast was amply fortified, it did not need the aid of a Heligoland fortress and naval station, and that the expense of defending the island would be all out of proportion to any benefits to be derived from it.

YESTERDAY'S STAR was a paper in which the town no doubt felt a becoming pride. It was issued three hours after the coast mail had been obtained and yet it had an exhaustive summary of the news of the day, including very complete accounts of the opening of the World's Fair and the events of the naval review in New York harbor. There was besides the usual budget of local news and commentary. From the rapid growth of the STAR's business since the reading public has become acquainted with its up-to-date methods there can be no doubt that evening field enterprise in this city is what the people have long been waiting for.

THE building of a new ocean greyhound for the Atlantic trade, with a speed of 27 knots, contemplates a four-day passage between Queenstown and New York. The precise figure is one hundred hours. Such a vessel as this, running between Honolulu and San Francisco, would make the trip in a fraction less than three days and six hours. When the Nicaragua canal is built and the Pacific ocean achieves its destiny as a commercial thoroughfare, fast ships will be as common here as they are now infrequent, and Honolulu will find itself quite in the world. A three day passage to San Francisco then is not an impossible conjecture.

THERE will soon be placed in the chapel of the Naval Academy at Annapolis a memorial window intended to commemorate the loss of life in the great storm at Apia. The window will be in three sections, one having a picture of the Trenton and Vandalia at anchor in the Samoan harbor and another showing them wrecked on the reefs. The central section will represent the Saviour rebuking the winds and the sea. A tablet will be fixed on the wall underneath the window upon which the names of the fifty men who perished in the disaster will be inscribed.

SOME simoleon in a royalist paper suggests that the STAR, in proposing a form of memorial to Capt. Wiltse for having raised the American flag over this group, has proved the untruth of its own statement that he was not responsible for the success of the revolution. Such reductio ad absurdum appears daily in the royalist print and suggest the thought that the paper would do better to go on stealing its editorials from Ambrose Bierce than to try to produce any more of its own.

THE Belgic did not enter the harbor because so little freight required delivery either way. It is likely, however, that she will come in after this, as the fact of the dockage will increase the volume of shipments by her line. Such splendid vessels as the Belgic and her sister ships must find exceptional favor with the freighting public both here and at the terminals of the route as soon as merchants learn that their goods will not have to be lightered to and fro off the Honolulu reef.

BRONSON HOWARD, who made a long visit here some weeks ago, has returned to America and given his views of annexation. Mr. Howard, like most other intelligent Americans, holds that the Hawaiian group should come into the American system. A short interview with him on these points appeared of late in San Francisco journals and is reproduced in this paper to-day.

would be among the first to hail the era of local advance and improvement which annexation must bring in. It is a happy coincidence that one so progressive beyond her kind should bear the name of the most enlightened princess of the ancient island regime.

THE STAR would respectfully suggest to the press committee of the Council that the gentleman who has the honor to represent the government of the United States at this capital has the right to expect, under the common rule governing international relations, better treatment in print than is given him in this paragraph:

We have proved, to the satisfaction of all who desire but the truth, already, that the whole business arose from the fact that a few disgruntled, out-of-date, and unlucky politicians were used as the tools of an ambitious, seeking-for-world-fame, "bucoolic," allegedly-senile-and-idiotic diplomat trying to carry out an absolutely anti-American-in-sentiment-and-origin policy of Imperial Jingoism.

The above appears in the Holomua under date of May 11th, and refers to Minister Stevens.

HAVING secured the powerful assistance of a fortune-teller and a pawnbroker in impugning the STAR, all the Bulletin now needs is the evidence of a beach-comber or two to enable it to make out one of its best cases.

George Hood, who has a large sheep range, near Fountain ranch, near Ukiah, has taught his sheep to herd evenings for salt on a large bold knoll on the range, and around this knoll at intervals of several hundred yards lighted lanterns have been suspended from poles each evening, and in order to make the scheme entirely effective as a night coyotes it was only necessary every few evenings to change the positions of the several lights in the circle, no matter how trifling the change. In this manner Mr. Hood's saved his lambs from coyotes, while his next neighbor, who took no such precaution, counts his loss by hundreds.

At Murrietta, San Diego county, a man named Tower went hunting with a companion in the rough Temecula country, and after reaching the hills they became separated. His companion, meeting indifferent success, returned home. Tower not appearing when expected, his friends became uneasy and decided to search for him. A careful search in the brush in a fearfully full portion of the hills at last revealed Tower lying bleeding, and unconscious, with his clothes torn to shreds and horrible gashes in his face, arms and legs. A terrific struggle had evidently taken place, and some distance away the prone body of a panther told the tale. Tower recovered and told the story of a half-hour combat he had with the wild beast.

BRONSON HOWARD'S TRAVELS.

He Believes the Hawaiian Isles Should be Annexed.

Bronson Howard, the American playwright, who is visiting various points on the Pacific coast, arrived from Honolulu on the steamer Australia yesterday morning. He has made a pleasant visit to the Sandwich Islands, and returned with a firm belief that the Hawaiian Isles should be annexed. He stated that the Provisional Government has burned its bridges behind it, and as it has a firm hold on the control of the Islands, that it will prove victorious in the end, no matter what may be tried to dispossess it. He stated that the men in the movement have placed all their interests in the scheme, and, being men of financial shrewdness and of deep discernment, will undoubtedly be able to maintain their position.

Mr. Howard will stay in this city for a few days to get a rest after the sea voyage, and will then go to Santa Cruz, Monterey and the Yosemite. He will then visit Alaska, and on his return will take in Yellowstone Park. Mr. Howard will stop at Chicago to contest the claim made to his play "Aristocracy," and will return to New York in the latter part of the year.—Chronicle.

The Call interviewed Mr. Howard as follows:

"There will never be a serious or sanguinary revolution in Hawaii so long as the Kanakas are expected to form an element of it. Nominally the Provisional Government and the Hawaiians are opposing forces and ready to fly at each other's throats, but in reality it is nothing of the sort. If you were to arm an equal number of Hawaiians and put them on a footing to hold their own by force there would still be no fighting.

"They know very well that the men now holding the arms are in earnest—deadly earnest—and will shoot on the slightest provocation. The other side know, on the other hand, that the Kanakas have not the necessary determination to act, even if they were armed.

"To me, accustomed to view things with an eye to the theatrical possibilities, the whole thing of this so-called revolution looks just like one of those toposy-turvy collaborations of Gilbert and Sullivan, in which no one is supposed to be serious.

"Look at the incongruities of the situation as one sees it every day. The principal club there provides instances. Appropriately named the Pacific, its members do not even allow the fate of a nation to cause a violation of the pacific relation existing between them as club members.

"There you may see Mr. Cleghorn, the father of the heiress apparent (who at least one would suppose to be bitter against the foes of the monarchy), chatting affably with President Dole, head of the revolutionists. Sam Parker and Wilson, the principal Ministers of the deposed Queen, are hail fellow well met with those who should be their bitterest enemies, if they were only in earnest.

"When Paul Neumann got back from Washington, where he went to fight the Queen's cause and throw discredit upon the other side, he was met by Chief Justice Judd, now, of course, holding his position under the Provisional Government. I was standing by them when Neumann stepped ashore. There were two of the highest representatives of entirely opposite sides strolling off together, with their arms affectionately linked and friendship beaming in their faces. They thought more of their old-time association than of the mighty question of which each represented an opposite side.

"I have not begun to plan another play just yet exactly, although, of course, I am always collecting material. It is possible that I may introduce Hawaii into the next, as it affords an excellent opportunity and is virgin ground for the playwright.

"I shall stay a few weeks in California and then go to Alaska for a time, and upon reaching here again intend to go homeward by the northern route."

WANTS ROYALTY AGAIN.

The Hawaiian Charge d'Affairs at London Out for the ex-Queen.

A royalist pamphlet entitled "The Recent Revolution in Hawaii," has been issued by His Excellency A. Hoffnung, Hawaiian Charge d'Affairs in London. It is reprinted from the Imperial and Asiatic Quarterly Review (April, 1893) and contains twelve large pages. A characteristic passage is as follows: "Native sentiment must ultimately be reckoned with in determining the form of government and the political destiny of the Hawaiian Islands. The readiest solution of the present difficulty would appear to be the restoration of the Queen with the proper constitutional safeguards already existing. The lesson of the revolution would not have been lost. The Queen would prove herself a truly constitutional sovereign, acceptable alike to the natives and the inhabitants of every nationality."

SECOND DAY OF THE FAIR

THE WEATHER WAS BAD BUT PEOPLE WERE OUT.

Mrs. Potter Palmer Holds a Great Private Reception—Paderewski Plays to a Shivering Audience.

CHICAGO, May 3.—It was bleak and drear at the Exposition grounds to day, but thousands of visitors braved the raw northeast wind and took in the greatest show on earth. The question as to whether interest centered more in the ornate surroundings outdoors or in the millions of attractive objects within the buildings. All had their admirers. The bandstand, filled with clashing cymbals, resounding drums and piping instruments of brass, held the crowds during the continuance of the musical number.

The great fountain was not filled, but all day the talustrade was lined with people admiring the symmetry of the mermaids, which swam in air instead of the water, and in studying the beautiful allegory worked out in Santa Maria. From this central point the procession was very generally over to the Agricultural building, on to the Casino and over to Music Hall. The landscape people have made such a perfect piece of road in front of the peristyle and on the bridge crossing the east end of the main basin that people seemed to prefer to do their walking in that locality. The whole great court is paved with red pressed brick and, except at the gentle rise caused by the bridge, is as level as a billiard table.

Another compliment was paid to Columbus and his native country by the elevation of a gilded model of the Santa Maria to the highest point on one of the 110 feet flagstaffs between the terminal station and the Administration building. A little Austrian boy—an employee of the expert sailors who have been on salary for a month or so to man the halyards at extremely elevated points and make perilous ascents to the dizzy heights of the Manufactures and other roofs—was raised to the top of the flagstaff on a seat which looked no larger than a lath and did the task.

MRS. PALMER RECEIVES.

A Brilliant Assemblage Gathered at Her Spacious Home.

CHICAGO, May 3.—The reception given by Mrs. Potter Palmer this afternoon was one of the most splendid private events known in the annals of Chicago society. Representatives of the ladies' committees from foreign countries who attended the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition were among the guests of honor. The others were the Duke and Duchess of Veragua and their party. Then there were all the members of the Cabinet, Presidential and diplomatic parties still remaining in the city; also a few members of the National Commission. There were no national decorations within that palatial home by the lake shore, but floating above the high northeast tower without was the gay emblem of liberty, and from the staff that upheld it radiated long lines bearing the flags of all nations. These bright pennants could be seen away down the drive, and they fluttered a mild welcome to the occupants of the carriages as they swept up the curved carriage road and passed beneath the massive porte cochere.

Superb vases of rare porcelain, containing hundreds of snowy lilies, marked the flat sides of the octagonal rotunda in which Mrs. Palmer received her guests. Arrayed in queenly attire, she greeted them all with a simplicity and graciousness that was in perfect accord with her republican birth and training. A cluster of lilies shone in beautiful white satin and great trains of pink and white tulips breathed an odor of spring in the morning room. In the dining-room delicate tones of pink were repeated again and again in a myriad of blossoms that nodded everywhere. Only roses were used, and they vied in hue with the rich flesh tints seen in the sportive cupids that made merry in the decorated walls.

FROZE WHILE THEY LISTENED.

Paderewski Opens Music Hall in an Arctic Temperature.

CHICAGO, May 3.—Ignace J. Paderewski consecrated Music Hall at Jackson Park. He did it yesterday in the presence of the most unique audience he ever faced; a collection of people who shivered and shook in the Arctic blasts, pent up in the building since the time when winter was strong. They sat with their hats on, men and women; buttoned tight their coats, drew up their collars, and ran foot-races in the corridors to keep their toes warm. They applauded with might and main to keep up circulation, and chased about to find places which the echoes had not discovered. The folks in the galleries looked like lone fishermen with a section apiece.

Mr. Paderewski did not wear gloves when he was playing. He took them off just before coming from behind the stage. He had not yet doffed his winter clothing, and anyway his vigorous manner would supply him heat, which the two red-hot salamanders did not. The salamanders were part of the stage decorations, sort of central figures, about which green bay trees and azaleas were arranged with more or less artistic effect. They did not have any stovepipes and the out-of-town audience spent the time between the numbers wondering where the smoke went and how he combed that hair.

Mr. Paderewski had a magnificent orchestra to assist him in the consecration—an aggregation of artists selected from music centers. It was a terrific thrilling mass of instruments that thundered and roared until the very roof and pillars seemed to tremble, and the bronze and painted lyres to tingle. He had nearly six score players, giant batteries of basses, great calvacades of wind-instruments and violins until the air was black with deaf bows. There was also Conductor Thomas, who rapped his baton with vehemence and slashed the air into chunks. It was the proudest day of his life, and Paderewski and all the rest played with marvelous zest and excellence.

Mr. Paderewski was given a most cordial reception, notwithstanding the fact that the audience enjoyed the distinction of being the smallest before which he has performed in this country during the past two years.

Paderewski played to wildly clamorous women a second time in Music Hall this morning. They came in droves and scores, and coughed and sneezed and inhaled themselves on all the altars of discomfort before their idol. They cried aloud in crazy enthusiasm, and vied with one another in the violence of their demonstration. The men laughed. The shrinkers patted encores until their arms fell from exhaustion and waved handkerchiefs until the air was a mass of fluttering lace and linen. They followed him from the building to the electric launch, and waved kisses at their hero. He stood on the deck like a statue, bowing a most gracious farewell. This was his parting ovation. Music can soothe the savage breast, but it cannot warm the shivering body, and that is why the popular concert this morning was exceedingly unpopular. It was the first one in a series of free entertainments which promises to be among the finest features of the exposition when summer comes and the sun makes the big Auditorium fit to sit in. The audience was cosmopolitan, with men from the far ends of the earth and others from near at hand. A group of bright-faced mandarins from the Chinese theater company was flanked by a visiting delegation of ultra English nabobs. A company of ecstatic Frenchmen annoyed some sturdy Germans who sat in a trance. Stylish Austrians and turbaned Turks elbowed one another, and a line of Japanese filled the front row. Had the weather been a trifle warmer even the men would have enjoyed it.

MAKING ACTORS LAUGH.

Tricks of Teasing, or Spiteful Comrades on the Stage.

There is a good deal of spitefulness in theatrical life in France, and I dare say everywhere else. Nothing is harder in pathetic parts than to keep a serious countenance, and pathos is what best pays on the stage. An actress who has the power to draw pocket-handkerchiefs to all eyes has the ball at her foot. The gift of tears is therefore a much envied one.

Masculine comrades are just as jealous of it as feminine. They nearly all lay themselves out to make the lady gifted with it laugh when she is trying, by means of auto-suggestion, to enhance her usual pathetic effects in weeping herself. A favorite practical joke is to slip into a hand that one is seizing as a lover, or grasping as a friend, an orange, or an apple, or it may be a homely potato. The situation of an actor on whom such a joke is played is more than awkward if his part makes it necessary for him to indulge at once after receiving the fruit in manual gesticulation. The actress can possibly thrust her orange or her apple into her pocket or corsage.

The temptation to laugh is greater at drawing-room theatricals than on the stage. Sometimes when one actor or actress begins to laugh all the others are ready to go into "kinks," they being suggested by the one who began. At one of Mme. Rodocanachi's latest theatrical soirees it was found impossible, owing to contagious laughter, for the actors and actresses of the Francois whom she had engaged to give "La Tasse de The," which they came to play. Sarah Bernhardt used to be very subject to laughter in the wrong place, and Mlle Croizette was amiable enough to provoke her to laugh when she was trying to auto-suggest herself into weeping. Actresses have one decided advantage over actors who have not been made effeminate by theatrical life. It is in their capacity for auto-suggestion. While keeping reality in view, watching how they influence gentlemen in the pit and boxes, and thinking what diamonds their pathetic effects may bring them, they really work themselves up into a state of mind which gives them for the time being a double nature. Doctors say that this is the reason why tragic actresses become in the long run half mad and die early.

Comic actresses do not need any sort of falsity beyond what is required in their make-up. If they play cleverly and their diction is good, they will do. Indeed they must keep their heads cool all the time they are playing and trust less to dresses than to talent.

The Polytechnic of London has arranged a series of excursions to the World's Fair, by means of which over 1,400 English mechanics will be enabled to make the trip, with second cabin passage, at a total expense for the month's absence of $120.

Sontag and Evans have given notice that they intend to remain in the mountains, and will defend themselves there. Visalia is filled with detectives, but they do not appear to have advanced any project by which the notorious train robbers can be captured.

Chester Ayres, with traps baited with cotton saturated with a nostrum whose odor is pleasant to the nostrils of coyotes, has been able to capture and kill within five weeks forty-six coyotes in Mendocino county, whose scalps bring him near $1,450, the bounty from the county and the sheepmen.

M. McINERNEY.

Are we to be, or not to be, a part of the Great Republic, seems to be the burning question of the day, and one we had rather leave to wiser heads than ours to solve; and while great statesmen are wrestling with this momentous question, we want to have a little "poto-poto" with you on some other subjects, that concern you as well as ourselves.

Has it not occurred to you that you've been wearing that old hat long enough! In these progressive times if you intend to be "in it," you've got to keep pace with fashion. No matter how otherwise well dressed you may be, unless your hat is the correct thing you bear a shabby appearance.

We have already laid in a stock of the Latest Hats of the coming Spring and Summer styles, in hard felts, soft felts and straws, and including a line of the celebrated "Fidora" Hats, at present all the rage in the United States. There is therefore, no necessity for you to hang on any longer to that old Tile that bears such a strong resemblance to the hat "your father wore."

Believing that business will be better in the near future, we have not hesitated to keep our stock full in all lines. Take collars for instance: We have almost everything you could wish for. If you wear a standing collar, just come in and take a look at our "Narenta" or "Ardonia;" or if you prefer a turn down collar, try the "Winnipeg" or "Goswell;" we have have lots of others, and can't fail to suit you. Cuffs in abundance, links or otherwise.

Neckwear in profusion, scarfs windsors' 4-in-hands, and a special lot of "Boys' Bows," suspenders in great variety, leather and woven ends, good strong, serviceable goods.

We might go on indefinitely, but space is valuable, and to enumerate everything we carry would fill a pretty fair sized book. If there is anything you want in the men's line, just drop in and see us, and if we can't suit you, we don't believe any one can.

If you should want a pair of nice shoes, let us try a hand at fitting you. Did it ever occur to you

How much a man is like his shoes; For instance, both a soul may lose. Both have been tanned; Both are made tight by Cobblers; Both get left and right; Both need a mate to be complete; And both are made to go on feet.

They both need healing; oft are sold, And both in time will turn to mould. With shoes the last is first; with men The first shall be the last; and when The shoes wear out, they're mended new; When men wear out, they're men dead too.

They both are trod upon, and both Will tread on others nothing loth. Both have their ties, and both incline When polished, in the world to shine; And both get out. Now would you choose To be a man, or be his shoes.

SPAIN ALARMED AT THE CUBAN REVOLUTION.

Strict News Censorship—Many Conflicting Reports as to the Importance of the Uprising.

KEY WEST (Fla.), May 3.—News has reached here that it is officially announced in Havana that Satorius and his followers have surrendered with their horses and arms.

Almost complete reticence continues to characterize every department of the public service in Havana. Every avenue for obtaining news is closed and all information regarding the uprising in the eastern provinces is guarded.

There is little doubt that the uprising was premature, and therefore the movement only received the support of the most impetuous and enthusiastic.

The authorities, however, continue active measures to suppress the uprising. Troops are constantly being sent eastward. All available war vessels are centering there.

On the steamer Herrera, which sailed yesterday, fifty-five mounted guards under Captain Munoz, and fifty guerrillas under Captain Lacoste left for Neuviatas.

Mail advices from Havana to-night bring quieting news, if they can be believed. La Lucha and Discusion say Governor General Arias has received telegrams from the Sojas of San Luis and other towns in the district of Santiago saying the civil authorities will preserve the peace and are offering all support.

The Government dispatches state that the rebel forces are small and not increasing, and locates them at one time in the bushes on horseback, and according to another telegram of the same date they are said to be between Puerto Padre and Manate.

Dissatisfaction expressed in Spain at the course of Governor General Arias in Cuba led to his tendering his resignation on May 1st.

The steamer Villa Verde, which landed the battalion of Tarragona at Jibara, left Havana again yesterday with Senor Elias and other aids and troops to join General La Chambre.

News of the revolt in Manzanillo has been confirmed. The importance of the movement may be understood from the fact that the Secretary of War, General Lopez Dominguez, answered Representative Portuonko, declaring that orders had been given for the movement of all regiments in the Canaries and Porto Rico to Cuba.

Colonel Marcana, chief in the first war, is at the head of the force in Manzanillo. In spite of the protests of the civil authorities and that a military proclamation was unnecessary, the district has been declared in a state of siege.

A private letter to La Lucha states that the President of the autonomist party called on the authorities of Holquin and stated that the men were ready to surrender if promised safety, and some groups had been already dissolved.

They Have Come!

Those Razor Strops you have been waiting for several weeks, are here. They are so good that it has been said of them, that if you lay your razor, and one of these strops down together on your washstand, the razor will keep a fine edge; still, we recommend following the directions printed on each strop.

Anti-Rattlers.—We have a new kind which you can put on to the shafts of your buggy, without breaking four fingers and a thumb. They prevent two things—rattling and swearing.

Boardman's Pat. Wrench.—4 sizes, just the kind of combination wrench to have about the house.

Try the new Keystone Egg Beater, if you want a beater that will do quick, clean work.

Hose, 1/2-in. to 2-in., 3 and 4-ply plain or wired, just received; cheap and good quality; also carbolized. We have a large stock of "Hubbuck's," "Pioneer," and cheaper brands of White Leads and Zinc.

Also, Oil, Turpentine, and all painters' supplies, and you will do well to see our Stock and get our Prices before you paint your house.

American Flags,—6 to 18 feet long, came by the last steamer to us. They are a fine lot, sewed bunting.

Fire Arms and Ammunition.—A new lot of Sporting and Target Rifles, Colt's new Navy, Smith and Wesson, and cheaper Revolvers, came last week and can now be seen. We carry the most complete assortment of Cartridges in town, from 22 to 50 cal., and always have plenty of them.

Leather.—We have received within the past sixty days, by steamer and sail, 66 Rolls of Leather, containing 9088 lbs., and 5347 ft; also, 3 bales containing 142 doz. sheep skins, so it looks as if we meant to keep our Stock of Leather up, although by getting it in large lots, we are able to keep the prices down.

Salt.—We are headquarters for Hawaiian Salt, as we make it. That the quality is good, and Price Low, is easily shown by the large quantity we sell every week.

Blight Compound.—Five gallons will make 65 gallons of wash. You spray your Lime and Orange Trees with this wash, and the Blight will do the rest, die and drop off the trees. We have the compound at our store, or can give you an order on the Gov't. Nursery for it, but don't forget to bring a 5-gallon can to put it in. We sell spraying outfits.
