California Bars Out Our Potatoes

In their deep-seated anxiety to discover some trace of a pest which would prevent the further importation of sweet potatoes from Hawaii to San Francisco, the California State Horticultural inspectors cut to pieces a shipment of eighty bags of sweet potatoes consigned from Honolulu. They didn't find a trace of borer, neither have they made any suggestion as to recompense for the consignor whose property was so ruthlessly destroyed.

In a letter received from S. T. Starrett of the Market Division this morning, he tells of the result of his investigations of the refusal of sweet potatoes from Honolulu by the California inspectors. It seems that in the first shipment of seventy bags, two borer were found. This shipment was returned. A second lot of fine-appearing tubers dispatched failed to return or was there any account-

TIDWELL MAY CHOP SALARIES

S. F. Call, May 9: W. H. Tidwell, special agent of the treasury department at this port, reached Honolulu yesterday for the purpose of thoroughly examining the customs and other federal offices there. It has been many years since the Honolulu offices have been subjected to an examination. The fact that Special Agent Tidwell intended examining the Hawaiian accounts was not made known until after he had reached the islands. A similar examination was recently made at all the ports of entry in the (Continued on page four)

Looks Like Substitute Sugar Bill

Special Cable to the Star.)
WASHINGTON, May 16.—The Senate finance committee has agreed to vote tomorrow on the Underwood free sugar bill. Indications are that a substitute bill will be reported carrying the present tariff, but with the refined differential and the Dutch standard eliminated. BRECKONS.

FIRST INFANTRY HAS RATHER JUICY PROSPECT UPON LEILEHUA PLAINS

Active work began at Schofield Barracks yesterday on the erection of tents to house the First Infantry now on its way from Portland in the transport Thomas, which will arrive here at daylight Saturday morning.

Plenty of tentage has been provided and the men and officers will be made as comfortable as possible in the circumstances.

The Fifth cavalrymen, who were forced to live in tents until they erected their own barracks, speak in terms of pity of the infantrymen doomed to live under canvas until the war department builds them quarters. It is declared the canvas tents so quickly as to make the tents veritable sieves within a comparatively short time.

The cavalrymen were under canvas for a long time awaiting the construction of barracks and it is said might have been in tents now had not General Barry visited the islands on a tour of inspection.

When he went out to Schofield he found the camp looking like a collection of dilapidated Indian wigwams, the men having been forced to patch the leaking canvas with shelter tent halves, ponchos and stray bits of canvas. General Barry was so shocked at the sight, it is said, that he sent a strong cable to Washington which brought permission to buy lumber for quarters in the open market. When it arrived the men had practically built their own quarters, as carpenters were not available.

As it is now, the men and officers are but little better off than before, inasmuch as the shingled shack roofs leak whenever there is a hard rain. "The only difference is that we can keep a little cleaner in the shacks than in tents," said one officer.

THE FIELD ARTILLERY MAKES FINE RECORD

By G. C. HULL.
Firing at figures representing a column of infantry on the slopes of the Waianae range, F battery of the First Field Artillery, commanded by Captain Clarence Deems, Jr., scored sixteen hits out of twenty shots at the extreme distance of 4800 yards during the artillery maneuvers at Schofield Barracks yesterday. The record of the day is a source of pride not only to the members of the battery but to Inspector General Bell, who was much pleased with the work of all three batteries.

The problem presented to Captain Deems for solving was to scatter a column of infantry emerging from the mountains and marching in apparent security from any attack by artillery. To do this F battery made a wide detour to a deep gulch at the distance named. Here the four guns were carefully hidden and the gunners from below without seeing the targets, and according to mathematical calculations, much in the manner that a mortar battery is operated. After getting the range with one shot

IS IT HIGH FINANCE?

If a plantation's yearly report shows a loss of $188,000 and at the same time the company has declared dividends amounting to $190,000, do the operations of said plantation come under the head of high finance or high folly?

This question is puzzling Treasurer Conkling, who was trying to figure out this morning by what hook or crook the plantation in question was (Continued on Page Eight.)

Literacy Test As to Hawaii

By J. A. BRECKONS.
(Special Correspondence of the Star.)
WASHINGTON, D. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.—The bill granting a franchise for a street railway in South Hilo was called up today in the House, but on an objection made by Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin action on the bill was not taken.

The Kewalo Reclamation

Acting Governor Mott-Smith, Attorney-General Lindsay and Superintendent of Public Works Campbell spent the morning completing the details of the filling-in work of the Kewalo tract. On account of the fact that this work affects the property of several persons which will have to be condemned, there are many tangles of a legal nature which had to be straightened out to the satisfaction of all concerned, but the acting governor declares that this work is about completed.

There were no tenders offered for the work of hauling dirt at Kapolani Park, although bids for the job were advertised to close at noon today.

SMOOT MAY INTRODUCE SUGAR BILL OF HIS OWN

By J. A. BRECKONS.
(Special Correspondence of the Star.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.—Much uncertainty exists at this time in reference to the action which will be taken on the free sugar bill by both the majority and minority sides of the finance committee of the Senate.

The minority, it is reported, will not stand for the Underwood free sugar bill and is preparing to submit a substitute bill under which the present rate of duty will be reduced from twenty-five to thirty-three per cent. The Louisiana sugar people are making an active effort to have the minority not go beyond twenty-five per cent reduction.

It is certain that the minority membership of the committee will not take into account in reporting on the Underwood bill the compromise measure introduced by Senator Bristow. Senator Smoot of the committee is working on a bill, and while at this time he will not indicate what rate the bill will carry, it is understood that it will be a reduction of about ten per cent from the present rate.

The cable has announced that the Republicans of the finance committee would report the Lodge proposition, abolishing the differential on refined sugar and the Dutch standard but going no further, and that the Democratic members would report, in addition to the foregoing abolition, a reduction of thirty-three and one-third per cent in the duty on raw sugar. Still later is the Star's special cable to-day, prefiguring the reporting of a substitute bill by the committee.

OTHER ISLAND CABBAGE SHUT OUT BY FRUITFLY QUARANTINE

Fruit and produce growers in the other islands of this great group it appears have not been informed that the fruitfly commission, acting as it deems best, has imposed a quarantine on all fruit from other islands entering Honolulu on the ground that fruit cannot be sent from one infested port to another.

In addition other rules applying to particular ports have been approved. Word was received from Kaula yesterday that a large shipment of cabbages destined for Honolulu has been held up there and will not be permitted to enter Oahu under a mysterious rule made to fit the case.

An effort was made this morning to learn just what the rule in question is. Mr. Giffard is out of town. At his office it was stated that "there is a rule but you had better see Mr. Waterhouse as to the cabbages, I would rather he would explain the action."

Mr. Waterhouse too is out of town. Meanwhile the application of the mysterious rule continues and cabbages continue to soar in price on the local market with $1 and $1.25 a sack being freely offered, as against twenty-five cents and forty-five cents before the mysterious rule was put in force.

DR. SUN COMES TO U. S. TO ARRANGE STEAMSHIP LINE

A line of Chinese steamers managed by a company run on similar lines to the Nippon Yusen Kaisha is to be started as soon as the money can be raised and the vessels built, according to the news received in the steamer Korea that arrived in port this morning from San Francisco en route to the Orient. Dr. Sun Yat Sen is coming to the United States to make final arrangements.

Some time ago a number of Chinese merchants at Shanghai and Canton formed a company to establish coasting and trans-Pacific lines operated in a similar way to the N. Y. K. boats and subscriptions were invited from Chinese in different parts of the world.

The formation of the new company is to be one of the first things that Dr. Sun will undertake, according to a statement made this morning, and he will return to the United States as soon as possible.

In a recent interview given out to the press in China he said: "There is ample Chinese capital available to start the needed enterprises, but foreign financial assistance would be needed as the movement expands and this will be readily obtained through the liberal terms which will be extended to all who seek investments. We want the capital without the capitalist's power. All industrial enterprises will be started with private funds and after a period of years will be turned over to the government. Laws will be framed in accordance with this plan. Chinese abroad (Continued on Page Eight)

Grand Union Of All Civic Organizations

"Honolulu First—Private Ambition Take Second Place!"

This might well be adopted as the motto of the great public welfare organization which will be formed if the ideas of some of the leading business men of the city are approved by the Honolulu public. If the "Hawaii Chamber of Commerce" becomes a reality, all other commercial and civic organizations in Honolulu will cease to be, and every resident of Honolulu, who is interested enough in the welfare of the city in which he lives to pay a dollar a year, will be welcomed as a member of the great organization.

As the first public step toward putting this big scheme in motion, an informal dinner has been called for next Monday evening at the University Club, at which some twenty-five of the most active spirits in the various civic and commercial organizations of Honolulu have been asked to be present. J. P. Cooke will be toast-master, Alexander Hume Ford will be the master of ceremonies. H. Gooding Field will serve the main piece de resistance of the feast of thought.

The plan is the combination of the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' Association, Commercial Club, Promotion Committee, Civic Federation, Public Service Association, Central Improvement Committee, etc., etc., into one great and broadly founded body to be known as the Hawaii Chamber of Commerce. It is stated that H. Gooding Field, the civic expert, has been retained to draw up an outline of a constitution for the proposed organization.

The aim will be to establish the new body on such a broad basis that the interests of the different elements which will be brought together will have ample room to exist without clashing, while at the same time they will be united on all matters where united action is called for. A committee, for instance, with very broad powers will handle the matters of special importance to the mercantile element, and will not be subject to interference from any of the other elements which will make up the organization, but subject only to such influence as the welfare of the general public might impose. No individual will be so humble that he will not find a place for his shoulder in his desire to help push forward the (Continued on Page Eight)

NELSON COMMANDS LINER KOREA

Other Changes Made on board and a General Shuffle in Service--Dredger Springs a Leak, Is Back to Port--Late News From Coast.

Arriving on time the Pacific Mail steamer Korea en route from San Francisco to the Orient was off the harbor at daylight and came alongside the Alakea street dock about eight o'clock. She brings a large number of passengers and a big cargo.

There has been a shake-up in the officers, the Korea being under command of a new master and having a new purser and freight clerk for the time being. Purser Allen, so well known on the run, is staying off for one trip in order to regain his health which has been pretty bad for some time past.

The naming of Captain A. W. Nelson as commander of the vessel followed the sudden resignation of Captain Fisher who resigned some few days ago to take up a position under the Federal government as inspector of hulls at Seattle. Coast files state that Nelson's appointment was a surprise to the tipsters as his name was not mentioned among the probable successors.

Captain Charles Austin, who holds down command of the Pennsylvania on the Panama run, was expected to be named.

The promotion of Captain Nelson has meant other changes all along the line. Captain Eddie Mason goes from the bridge of the Rose City to that of the Beaver. Chief Mate O. Rankin of the Rose City takes over command of that vessel.

A. A. Dunning, who was chief officer on the Beaver under Nelson, will take command of the Kansas City.

Nelson is one of the veterans of the Pacific Mail. He has been in the employ of the company for twenty-six years. Since 1902 when he rose to the rank of commander, he has been the skipper of Panama steamers and those plying on the San Francisco and Portland run. Before that he held various positions, having been chief officer of the China and the Pekin between San Francisco and the Orient for twelve years.

Nelson first knew of his promotion when the Beaver arrived from the north. Soon afterwards, he met Captain Fisher, who took his successor to the Korea and introduced him to the different officers. While expressing their pleasure to meet their new chief, the officers and men regret the passing of Fisher who during the time he has been commander has become a bit more popular than the average commander.

OTHER CHANGES.

H. Stelker, who is acting purser for this trip, has won himself a good name on the run from San Francisco, all the passengers speaking well of the young officer. He was formerly freight clerk on the Panama run. "I am only holding the job down for this trip as far as I know now," he said this morning. "Allen is laid up and takes a rest on the advice of his doctor."

Freight Clerk A. E. Nolan is also making the run for the first time on the Korea, having been transferred from the Panama run.

FINE TRIP DOWN.

Purser Stelker reports a fine trip down, the only untoward happening being the death of an old Chinaman who was returning to his home land to die but miscalculated his strength. The old fellow numbered eighty years and the body was embalmed.

The Korea brought fifty-one cabin passengers for this port, nine in the second class and sixty-one in steerage. There are thirty-six deportees on board and a total of 434 passengers.

HERCULES BACK TO PORT.

Flashing the S. O. S. signal by means of waving arms, shouting and other devices the men on the dredge California managed to convey to Captain Dan Thompson on the tug Hercules that discretion would be the better part of valor and that as they were making eleven inches an hour return to port looked good to them. All this happened when the tug Hercules with the dredge in tow had left Honolulu about forty miles astern and had settled down to the long drag to San Francisco. The strain on the dredge caused the craft to spring a leak that allowed the water to flow in at the rate of eleven inches but it was decided better to make port again.

The Hercules came in about daylight this morning and moored her tow alongside the channel wharf once again. An examination is to be made during the day and the results of this will show whether it will be safe to attempt the tow of the dredge to the coast after patching.

Captain Thompson stated this morning that there had been no danger but that he thought the only thing to do was to return to port again.

STEAMER HAS ROUGH TRIP.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 9.—The steamer Sado Maru reached Yokohama from Seattle three days late, with five feet of water flooding her dining room and her deck and upper works badly damaged as a result of heavy weather on the voyage, according to advices received from Japan today. The cargo was slightly damaged.

SUPPLIES FOR HAWAII.

The steamer Hyades sailed for Honolulu via Puget Sound is due here with merchandise valued at $27,964 as cargo from San Francisco. The following were the principal shipments: 1374 cts barley, 2600 lbs beans, 670 lbs and forty-one cs bread, twenty-five csbs wine, 139 gals whisky, thirty-five cs canned goods, 1400 lbs codfish, fifteen bbls flour, sixty pkgs potatoes, 375 lbs tea, 257 pkgs United States army supplies, 660 lbs and two cs tobacco, 200 cs and 100 kegs powder, ten bbls oil, fifty cs and twenty-five drums naphtha, 10,825 ft lumber, 300 cs and 123 drums gasoline, 108 drums distillate, 150 cs kerosene, twenty-five bbls cement.

PEN FOR JAPANESE.

S. F. Examiner, May 5.—A bull pen has been built for imprisoning sailors of the Japanese liner Shintau Maru, which arrived from Honolulu yesterday to load a rough clear redwood lumber cargo for Australian ports. To prevent the recurrence of desertions, which took place at Honolulu, the crew will not be placed in irons as there, but the members will be kept in a portion of the main deck boarded up with heavy timber. The only gate is very heavy and every night it will be secured with a padlock. An American watchman will be on duty night and day."

PORTLAND WILL GAIN.

The Portland Oregonian contains the following in connection with the new schedule of the American-Hawaiian line.

PORTLAND, May 12.—"When the steamer California sailed from New York Monday with cargo for the Pacific Coast that will be transhipped via the Tehuantepec route, the new plan of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company that includes Portland on a direct schedule went into effect, as was learned yesterday when C. D. Kennedy, Portland agent, received a telegram setting forth that the freight would be loaded on this side aboard the steamer Isthmian.

"The Isthmian will sail from Salina Cruz, the western end of the rail line across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, so as to reach San Francisco June 5 and is to sail for Portland June 8, arriving here June 11 and leave on the return June 13.

"She will be followed by the Nevada, Nebraskan and Lyra. The Isthmian sailed from San Francisco yesterday, heading south, and as yet it is not known what amount of cargo she will have on the return.

"The rate on eastbound cargo, that destined for the Atlantic side, is the same from San Diego and all other ports as far north as the terminus of the line at Seattle. Portland shippers enjoy the same tariff as their competitors on the Coast and as the coming of the four large steamers means that this port will have much more space than with only the steamer Falcon operating. It is expected that there will be a big increase in the movement by water. In the past the bulk of the lumber and shingles handled by the American-Hawaiian has been from Puget Sound points and now it is intended to encourage the shipment of those commodities from Portland. Of course no full cargoes will be accepted for the Atlantic side, but parcels of it will be taken.

"The steamer Falcon will continue running between Portland and San Francisco as a transfer vessel until the Isthmian reaches the Golden Gate, but it has not been decided in what business she will be used afterward, as her charter continues in force. Her owners are the Charles Nelson Company.

given only a monthly service and as there is a scarcity of tonnage, combined with the shipment of freight on the Panama Railroad being limited, there is small prospect for an improvement. The American-Hawaiian's new schedule means that there will be a steamer here every eleven days.

"In addition to the service to domestic ports of the United States the American-Hawaiian accepts cargo for European, Mexican and Central American ports, under through rates and bills of lading.

"On the Atlantic side there is a steamer sailing from the Bush Terminal, South Brooklyn, every six days and connecting with the rail line, so as to reach vessels of the Pacific fleet promptly."

Driftwood

Outward bound from Port Gamble the Robert Lewers is expected to make port at any time now.

The schooner Alice Cooke with a full cargo of lumber, is on her way from Port Gamble to Honolulu.

The Foohing Suey left Mahukona yesterday with a full cargo of sugar for Delaware Breakwater.

The barkentine Irmgard that sailed from Mahukona on April 29 arrived at San Francisco yesterday.

The chartered steamer Honolulu of the Matson line should arrive from San Francisco Tuesday morning.

The barkentine Hawa' took eleven days sailing from Honolulu to Mahukona where she arrived yesterday.

The schooner Blakely that left Iquique on April 3 with a full cargo of nitrates for this port should be here any day now.

The schooner Robert Searles left Hilo on Saturday for Port Townsend.

The Andrew Welch should commence taking on her sugar cargo today or tomorrow.

The barkentine James Johnson should get away for the coast by the middle of the week.

The American-Hawaiian freighter Alaskan left for island ports late yesterday evening.

The ship William P. Frye will only load part cargo on her arrival here. She will take the rest at island ports.

SAVAGES DAZZLED IN TOKIO.
TOKIO, Japan, May 1.—A large party of savage aborigines from Formosa is visiting Tokio under the guidance of Japanese officials. The islanders are apparently dazzled by the won- at its command the resources of mod- ern for the first time. The govern- ment's purpose evidently is twofold —to show the Formosans the futility of further resisting a country having at its command the resources of modern warfare and to inspire a desire among the wild people to enjoy the benefits of civilization. It is agreed that this measure for overcoming bar-

All Chinese Nine Dropped Two Games With Cincinnati

(Special Correspondence to The Star.) CINCINNATI, May 5.—We arrived here from Chicago on Saturday and played our first game here in the afternoon. We lost by a score of 5 to 3, the University of Cincinnati being our opponents. We played another game today and lost to the Shamrocks by a score of 4 to 0. We played at the league grounds

When we were in Chicago we attended the game between the White Sox and Cleveland and, believe me, it was a corker. In my opinion the American League players are much better than the Nationals. Fashion Note. A number of our boys are wearing derbies now. You ought to see them. Sam Hop watches the styles in cloth-which are the best we have struck so far. The grandstand is of concrete and will hold 23,000 people. It is something like Comiskey's park but the latter has a capacity of 33,000. The home team will be back tomorrow and the Philadelphia's will play them here so we will have a chance to see Baker, Bender, etc., in action. Boys All Well. We are leaving here on Tuesday morning for Lexington. The boys are all in splendid health with the exception of Sing Hung Hoe and one or two others who are suffering from sprained ankles. I have had a sprained ankle since the 2nd inst., and it has kept me out of the last two games. We have a hard schedule of games ahead of us and I believe that we are going to be kept busy.

LATEST NEWS OF MAINLAND SPORT FROM COAST FILES

McDermott, national open golf champion of America, has gone to England to take part in the British open championships. With Johnny Williams pitching Sacramento beat Portland, 1 to 0. Baseball postponements due to rain have cost the big league clubs $200,000 so far this season. Gotch and Schoenlein will wrestle for the world's championship in Baltimore on Decoration Day. Jockey Aubuchon has been reinstated. Johnny Coulon easily defeated Young Solburg in New York. An anti-baseball betting war is being waged in New York. Jim Stewart defeated Gunboat Smith in ten rounds. Sid Burns of England and Mike Gibbons box ten rounds in New York, May 21. McFarland defeated Johnny Connelly in five rounds. Jim Flynn has started training for Johnson at Las Vegas. Morrow and Petroskey fight ten rounds in San Francisco, May 22. Hal Chase has recovered from his recent indisposition. Philadelphia Jack O'Brien fights Chicago K. O. Brown in Philadelphia, May 22. Jack Britton is in Chicago seeking a match. French promoters have offered $20,000 for a twenty-round go between Carpentier and Frank Klaus or Billy Papke. TO SWIM ON SHIP. NEW YORK, May 8.—A novel training arrangement for the use of the Olympic swimming team while on board the Finland, the steamship that will carry it to Europe, has been devised by Otto Wahle, the swimming handicapper. This consists of a tank about 50 feet long, which will be rigged up on the deck of the ship and filled with water. Across the middle of it will be rigged a crossbar, to which the swimmers will be strapped. According to Wahle, the swimmers will thus be able to go through the motions of swimming in much the same manner as oarsmen in a stationary rowing tank. LONE TEXAN'S TRIPLE. HOUSTON, Texas, May 9.—Roy Alken, third baseman of the Waco Club of the Texas league, retired the Houston team in the first inning of today's game with a triple play unassisted. With runners on second and third base, the Houston batsman bunted for a "squeeze play." He hunted the ball high. The runner from third raced toward home and the man at second base came to third, but Alken caught the bunt, tagged the man from second and touched third base before the man who attempted to score could get back. Wrestling is occupying the attention of quite a number of the Healanians. Hans Froelicher and Harry Clymer are acting as instructors. A wrestling mat has recently been added to the club's equipment and a program of wrestling and boxing may be provided for the entertainment of the members of the club in the near future. A "Classified Ad" in the Star will bring results when all other expedients fail.

BOXING CHAMPIONS BORN NOT MADE

"This thing of 'nursing a fighter along' till he is ripe and fit to be a champion gives me a serious pang," says the veteran Joe Choynski, who was a fighter, grim and great, and who knows whereof he's talking. "Any time you read about conducting a new performer gently round the different, difficult angles, picking soft matches for him, and steering him along until he knows the game, just drop that fellow at once and permanently. That fighter is one Class A stiff, who never has and never will amount to anything. "The only education you can give a fighter is when he is in the gymnasium as a youngster, and before he is really in the game. Jem Mace, Larry Foley of Australia, Harry Gilmore of Chicago—such men can take the raw material and shape it into a boxer. But—the stuff must be there from the start; the rough diamond must be there ready for the polishing, and after the diamond is once on the market it must be so perfect that it needs no more rubbing or recutting. "When a fighter is a real one and the stuff whereof champions are made he must be fit to spring into action and stamp his trademark on the game with his opening battle. This thing of nursing them along as they have been doing with Carl Morris, and as they have tried to do with Al Kaufman, is pure bunk, and merely a sickly effort to make a little money. Did John L. Sullivan have to be nursed and guided? That's the answer. "Real champions come to the front, not through long, laborious climbing and careful nursing, but with one bound. John L. Sullivan was the master of them all from the night he first drew a glove on. Bob Fitzsimmons the day he left the forge for the ring could have whipped the men he whipped in after years. Terry McGovern only needed to prove his class such little time as was required to beat down the fighters set against him. They say Battling Nelson had a long, hard climb. It looks that way simply because Bat is a slow man in the ring and kept for years at six round bouts, where he couldn't demonstrate. If Bat right at the jump had been thrown into the twenty round company he'd have gone up to the top years sooner than he did. "Joe Gans had the class and the skill from his first day out, and his color held him back—he never needed any nursing. George Dixon and Joe Walcott showed the real stuff the first time they entered a ring. Tommy Ryan, in his first real fight, had all the foxery and ringeract of ten years after. "Provided, of course, that he has his growth and strength, the man who is destined to become a champion will be very nearly as good the first time he faces an adversary as at any time in all the years before him. The stuff is naturally there. It must be there, or the man will fall down in spite of all the nursing and watchful management you can give him. Take this from me, when you hear them say, for a beaten youngster, 'Ah, that boy only needs experience,' don't fall for it. When you see a youngster walk calmly to the center, go to his man as if he had fifty fights instead of one, and beat the other fellow—that's the boy to follow. He is destined to make good, for the stuff is already there. "In short words and to summarize, champions are born, not nursed along, and a real champion is such, except in the mere formality of the title, the first time he steps inside a ring."

COLLEGES SHY OF SPRINTERS

NEW YORK, May 6.—This year's crop of college sprinters is so far below the average that members of the Olympic games team say they will have to depend almost entirely upon the athletic clubs for capable short-distance athletes to represent the United States. This opinion is based partly on the performances at the Pennsylvania relay carnival a week ago, when, it is said, the poorest lot of sprinters seen at a big college meet in recent years faced the starter. The chief hopes of the college contingent will be placed on Marshall of Pennsylvania, Carey of the United States Military Academy, Wasson of Notre Dame, and Wilson of Coe College. Carey may be unable to make the journey to Sweden. He has run a century in 0:9 4/5 on the track at Annapolis, and is regarded as the best sprinter in the college work. It is practically certain that one of the first selections for the Olympic broad jump will be Gutterson of the University of Vermont, who is expected to clear twenty-five feet under favorable circumstances. There will be no room in the Olympic team for pole vaulters who can not clear the bar at twelve feet or better. Waggoner of Yale, Murphy of Illinois, Babcock of Columbia (the intercollegiate champion), Gardner of Yale, Coyle of Chicago and Bellah and Scott of California are all good for nearly twelve feet six inches.

THE ENGINEERS.

New York Times: The testimony at Washington emphasizes what Admiral Lord Bercenford had previously said in praise of the conduct of the engineers. Their position aboard the Titanic gave them the first knowledge anybody had of the seriousness of the disaster, and yet not one of them survived. It was impossible that any of them should survive. The order "Save yourselves, every man for himself" never came to them, but they never faltered. It is hard to say who was the bravest of the brave, but there can be no doubt that there was the most dreadful of deaths. Whoever had so much as a lifebuoy on his body did not believe the last moment had come until it had come, not even after the leap into the open sea. But for the engineers there never was a moment of hope, not a last struggle of their feeble strength against the elements and in the open. Surely at a time when a tribute of admiring pity is paid to all others, the engineers ought not to be forgotten as among those who served well and died devotedly.

THE NEW COMMERCIAL MOVEMENT.

Union of effort on the part of the chambers of commerce and the boards of trade and other commercial bodies of the Territory is a new and bright idea from Hilo. Such an amalgamation would keep the commercial men from playing at cross-purposes, tend towards giving a variety of interests representation in the power house and help to create a common public sentiment.

We could wish, also, that the commercial organizations could be more widely popularized and supported, by letting citizens generally join them, on payment of moderate dues, as they do in Southern California. One advantage of this reform would be in keeping commercial bodies from giving themselves over to the welfare of any single industry; or in preventing any particular hui from narrowing their influence to the private limits of their own. The day has come, in these parlous times for sugar, to have strong central bodies at work in each island, with a head organization here, to promote everything which promises to make the sources of Hawaiian support more general. We have seen, during the recent sugar scare, that it will never do to go on carrying our eggs in one basket. We should have commercial bodies that will promote the diversification of industry and see that the legislature does its full part in providing means for driving out our agricultural pests—all doing team work through a central executive agency acting for the common good. It was a chamber of commerce movement of this kind in Southern California which, in a few years, built big cities where cow corrals were before and made most uncomely 1650r tracts of land blossom with all sorts of productive enterprises.

NEW YORK STATE ROADS.

The Star has already mentioned the small cost of farm country roads in New York State, which the people living along them mend every spring, but aside from these there are State roads of the best construction about the cost of which the people are complaining. To build these highways, which now amount to a mileage of 3674, a bond issue of $50,000,000 has been all but exhausted, only $1,000,000 being left in it.

This makes the average cost of good roads per mile $13,336, a sum which the New York papers say would build a railroad under average conditions. It appears further that the contract price per mile is $8,000, which puts $5,300 per mile down to administration and engineering expenses.

Even at these figures the $16,000 to $18,000 per mile for the Aiea highway—a country road—is something at which to stand aghast; but we particularly wish to invite comparison with the New York showing of upkeep. This is reported as being $1 per mile only, which is regarded as ample. A rural New York paper says that "much less" was expended in 1911 and the State roads deteriorated and it demands a return to the $1 per mile basis. How much the upkeep of Oahu roads costs per mile cannot be ascertained. It varies according to the exigencies of politics, but we risk nothing in saying that the cost at best is such as to make the New York comparison look like thirty cents against an hour's run of the mint.

THE BALANCE OF POWER.

Utah has instructed for Taft and there will be contested delegations from Washington. In the country, generally, both factions claim to be close to the goal, but much depends upon what the southerners will do. These delegates do not represent much more than their own ambitions to fill Federal offices. They do not respond to a local party sentiment, for their States are Democratic and their own following does not dare follow even into the voting booths. They are in office because the administration wants men of its own political stripe in the Federal posts; and, having no State or county jobs open to them, the incumbents have nothing to hope for except a longer tenure of Federal place. To make themselves personally "solid," they organize the delegations to the national conventions to trade with, as Kuhio wanted to do here; and while they generally support the President in power if he wants renomination they are ready to turn their coats quickly if there is a possibility that their man will lose.

That is the way the general situation rests now. Most of these nondescripts are pledged to Taft, but if Roosevelt should develop the most strength at Chicago their pledges would count for nothing. They would join any stampede to the Rough Rider, or any one else whom they thought would win. And their numbers are so large, collectively, that they will hold the balance of power in the national convention.

THE FARMERS' BEST FRIEND.

Entomologists say that the destruction of agricultural products from insects on the mainland amounts to over $500,000,000 a year; and but for the insect-eating birds there could be no profitable agriculture there at all. Probably this is true the world over, and here, where the native birds have mainly died out and but few mainland birds have been let in to take their places, general agriculture which is so important to the future of the islands, is denied a chance to get a fair start. The insects are here but their natural enemies are barred out, so the pests have a practically clear field.

Farm and Home discusses this subject with intelligence. It says:

Among the willing workers which work for nothing and board themselves are the birds, which have often been called "the farmers' best friends." They assist the farmer in three distinct ways—as insect eaters, as consumers of weed seed, and as destroyers of large numbers of field mice, gophers and other rodents. Entomologists estimate that the destruction of agricultural products from insects amounts every year to more than the cost of the Spanish war. What it might be were not such a vast army of birds engaged daily from dawn until dark in making war upon these various insect pests can only be vaguely realized.

Among the birds that eat insects are the fly-catchers, warblers, swallows and chimney swifts, which live exclusively on insects. Many others, such as the blackbirds and several varieties of hawks depend on insects for a large part of their food. The meadow lark has a large appetite for insects and in the course of a season rides the meadows and pastures of countless pests that are injurious to crops. Even the much abused crow has a fondness for cut worms that almost equals his liking for corn.

As seed eaters some birds are most tireless. To this group belongs the large number of sparrows. Many other birds eat seeds; in fact, most birds eat both insects and seeds in varying amounts. A large number of birds feed on field mice, gophers, ground squirrels, moles, etc., chief of all being hawks and owls.

By restoring the balance of nature here the way would be open to our farmers to succeed as well as their class does elsewhere, but they, no more than the planters, can protect their crops without the aid of the natural foes of the pests that assail them. Of course it would not do to introduce birds that attack cane, but the public has frequently been told, regarding the proposed importation of certain kinds of birds that there is no such danger.

SEX DIFFERENCE IN DUTY.

No man would raise his voice against the chivalrous order: "Women and children first," as the boats get ready to leave a sinking ship; but a woman, Dr. Anna Shaw, has done so as part of a plea for equality. It is her right as the logical exponent of one standard; but dual standards in some things run through all human nature and particularly in the relation of the strong to the helpless. It is part of the business of man to safeguard women and children, especially from perils they are not strong enough to meet; and while this fact makes some radical woman ashamed, a man who neglects his duty in the par-

PASSING OF SPRING

By WALT MASON.

The gentle season goes its gait, and soon will vanish from our ken; then summer, with its heat on straight, will broil the panting sons of men. The heat will soak us day and night, and man will cuss it as he fries; and all the doctors will unite to tell us how to swat the flies. I try to be a cheerful jay, but I confess, with downcast face, I hate to see the spring go 'way, and sizzling summer take its place. I always multiply my sins beneath the burning summer skies, when health department bulletins inform us how to swat the flies. I try to be an optimist, but even cheerful hearts grow sore; last year I slew a scientist who left a pamphlet at my door explaining that I am to blame whenever a human being dies because I shun the swatting game and don't exterminate the flies. A bard can take his lyre and sing with emphasis and fiery zest, concerning harmonies of spring, the babbling brooks and all the rest; but poets never take their harps to sing that time of brazen skies, when all the scientific sharps are telling how to swat the flies.

particular named earns the shame of his fellows and the scorn of most women as well.

One can hardly think of a more gruesome fate than that which met the men on the Titanic, but there might be one: It might be to have come ashore, safe and sound, with the memory of having left the women and children on board to meet an awful death. The stain of common murder or of treason would be nothing to it; and no man who was part of such a company could, if he had human sensibilities left, outlive the scorn and execration of the world around him.

There can be no equality between men and women in the sense which Anna Shaw appeals for. Men and women have their separate functions in a common duty; and the noblest function of the man is to protect the helpless who come into his life and who depend upon him for the aid they cannot give themselves or each other.

It looks as if the Southern delegations from States that have no favorites sons, meant to keep themselves free to exhume Bryan.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

PROFESSOR BALLOU—Yes, the Mid-Pacific magazine is getting a circulation all around the Pacific.

H. GOODING FIELD—You can't make a full report of municipal conditions without going into Territorial conditions. They are mingled inextricably.

ED. TOWSE—When a sugar stock is quoted at 25 cents a share drop, the day after it has drawn a 25-cent dividend, it doesn't mean that it is any weaker than it was before.

PREST. GILMORE—The Japanese, all over the islands, bring their agricultural problems to the College of Hawaii and some of them have depended on us for good-blooded stock.

ATTORNEY GENERAL LINDSAY—I understand that most of the tax appeals are to be settled by compromise which is much more desirable than to have to take these matters into court.

J. D. TUCKER—We are expecting a lively time when the Koko Head lots are sold at auction. They are very desirable and we are expecting quite a scramble amongst the prospective purchasers to buy them up.

ANTHONY MARCALLINO—There will be no big league baseball in Honolulu on July 4; some of the league teams are going to Maui and Hilo and the members of the other teams will be scattered all over the place for the day.

E. MELANPHY—The executive committee of the Honolulu Cricket Club have got together and decided on a list of fixtures for the coming season. It will be published in the near future and the season proper will start about June 1.

C. W. ASHFORD—If some health inspector will take the trouble to look through the window of Judge Whitney's courtroom, at the gutter of the Orpheum theater, he will see a breeding spot for mosquitoes that will turn out more of the "birds" per day than probably any other spot in the city.

BOARDING OFFICER TAYLOR—There is a big chance for a Democrat to get the coming election, but yet a lot of these people, who are proclaiming themselves Democrats, will turn around and vote for a Republican when the time comes. The trouble is many people are born into their party; they inherit their politics and don't like to change.

E. P. IRWIN—Here is some Honolulu correspondence in the San Francisco Evening Post headed: "Mrs. Pullman Quits Hawaii; U. S. Kicked Her Dog Around." Then comes that untruthful story about the ill-treatment of Mrs. Pullman and telling how she decided to cut the Paradise of the Pacific and hastened to leave. Rich people expecting such treatment won't be likely to come here and won't be likely to know that Mrs. Pullman denied having had such an experience.

United States. As a result the salaries of many of the federal officers and employees were materially reduced. This was especially true at New Orleans, where several of the offices were abolished.

Officials Anxious.

In view of the general shakeup following the examination here, the officers in Honolulu are anxious as to the outcome of the investigations at that port. It is rumored in customs circles that Special Agent Tidwell is under strict orders to cut the expenses of the federal government in the Hawaiian Islands to the bone, and that he intends making recommendations that will follow his orders to the letter. Special Agent Tidwell will be in the islands several weeks before finishing the examination and returning to San Francisco.

As the result of the recommendations made by Special Agent L. S. Dean, who made the examination in the United States for the treasury department at Washington, D. C., night watchmen in the employ of the government had their wages cut from $3 to $2.50 a night, and the inspectors of customs on the water front, working under the civil service and in the employ of the government for many years, had their wages reduced $1 a day.

Cuts Held Good.

This action, taken by the treasury department on the advice of Special Agent Dean and his colleagues, brought forth a general and loud protest from those whose wages were cut to the secretary of the treasury. The protest not only was made from San Francisco, but also from New Orleans and other eastern ports.

The treasury department, however, in a recent letter written in reply to the protest of the men affected here, upheld the action taken, although the department acknowledged that the rule of the civil service prohibiting the reduction of wages had been violated.

FIELD ARTILLERY

D gunners, when all four guns were discharged together four shrapnel shells burst at the same time, one at each of the enemy's guns.

To the uninformed spectator it appeared that the guns were served slowly but this is explained by the fact that there were a number of interruptions due to vehicles and pedestrians passing between the guns and the target in great apparent unconcern. It was pointed out that in action the interlopers would have had to share the fortunes of war and the shooting would not have been interrupted. The ammunition used was old and, although the shells went high in air over the path of the intruders, it was feared that some might burst prematurely and slay the usual "innocent bystander."

The firing yesterday was under exceedingly unfavorable conditions. Great clouds of red dust blew over the plain and the heat mirages distorted the targets to the eye. In addition each battery was handicapped with a number of recruits, F making its record with fifty-three men in the company who have had but three months' training.

During the afternoon the three batteries were inspected by Lieutenant Colonel Bell as to the condition of arms and equipment and the appearance of the men and horses. This inspection will be concluded today and beginning tomorrow the infantry will be put through its paces for the benefit of the inspector general.

LINCOLN PARK BIG TIGER DEAD.

CHICAGO, May 1.—Rajah is dead! The big royal Bengal tiger, known by sight, if not more intimately, to thousands of Chicagoans and others who yearly visit Lincoln Park, passed to the happy hunting grounds of good tigers on Monday afternoon. And Kitty, the big Bengal mate, is disconsolate.

All that once was Rajah is now ashes and the ashes are scattered to the four winds. A tumor in the throat was the agent of death which despoiled the zoo of one of its finest beasts. An operation, according to Cy De Vry, keeper of the park zoo, was out of the question, the tumor being too far back in Rajah's throat—ticklish place for an operation on a tiger.

FLAG SYMPATHY SHOWN DENMARK

Official communication, confirming the report of the death of Frederick VIII, King of Denmark, was received by Governor Mott-Smith this morning from Acting Consul Klamp of Denmark.

The flags on all government buildings will be kept at half mast all day in honor of the dead monarch. At the same time, Spanish Consul De Arana announced that the birthday anniversary of Alfonso XIII of Spain would be celebrated tomorrow. The flag will be run up on the large flag-staff outside of the capitol building tomorrow in honor of the king's twenty-sixth birthday.

Yesterday, as reported in the Star, the Danish flag was at halfmast over the Hackfeld building, F. Klamp being acting consul at present, where today it is replaced by the German flag at halfmast for the consulate of that country, while the Danish flag is flying at halfmast over the Honolulu Iron Works office, Manager Hedemann of that establishment being the Danish consul though just now absent from Honolulu. All the consulates are displaying their flags at halfmast.

THE DIVORCE MILL

Judge Whitney this morning granted Yap Keao Lee Lung a divorce from Lee Lung on the grounds of desertion and non-support.

In the divorce matter of Helen K. Asam versus Benjamin Asam, Judge Whitney this morning listened to argument on a motion to show cause. It was stated that Asam had made no honest effort to pay the temporary alimony previously ordered paid. The judge reduced the amount of this fine from $20 to $12 a month and warned the libellee that, unless he came to time, he would be held to be in contempt of court.

In the matter of the suit for divorce filed by Laukela Kaupiko against Mary P. Kaupiko, the judge ordered the libellant to pay $25 counsel fees for his wife.

SECOND FEDERAL SITE CASE JURY

After a struggle lasting into the third day, a jury was this morning finally secured for the trial of the second on the Mahuka site cases, which is on the court calendar under the title of the United States of America versus Lorrin A. Thurston and others.

To obtain the twelve men who are to pass upon the evidence no less than forty-three were examined. Of these forty-three, nine were excused for cause, eight were temporarily excused by the various respondents and fourteen were excused on peremptory challenge by the government.

The respondents were satisfied with the jury much sooner than was the government, and their attorneys passed several challenges. The jury as it stands now consists of the following: Mannie Phillips, Edward McCorriston, Edward P. O'Brien, Alfred Hockins, Frank O. Boyer, J. P. Rego, Charles Ludwigen, N. J. Green, H. Pereira, W. R. Coombs, John Coffey, S. Bickerton.

After the jury had been excused Judge Dole continued the case until next Monday morning, at which time the introduction of evidence will begin.

Though the case is officially known as that of the United States of America versus Lorrin A. Thurston and others, Thurston is not really a respondent, he having filed a disclaimer. The interests involved are those of the Hawaiian Trust Company, Ltd., the Bank of Hawaii, Ltd., Charles M. Cooke, Ltd., the Austin Estate and the Cummins Estate, the last represented by Cushman Carter, trustee.

The attorneys for the government are United States District Attorney Ireckons and his deputy, C. C. Bitting. Holmes, Stanley & Olson represent Cushman Carter, trustee of the Cummins Estate, and the trustees of the Austin Estate. The Hawaiian Trust Company is represented by Kinney, Prosser, Anderson & Marx, and Smith, Warren & Hemenway appear for the Bank of Hawaii, Ltd., and the Charles M. Cooke, Ltd.

T. ROOSEVELT'S MIDWAY ORDER

A communication nine years old, signed by Theodore Roosevelt, then president of the United States, was mailed to Acting Governor Mott-Smith by Rear Admiral Cowles of the navy department this morning.

The letter which bears the date, January 20, 1903, is an order declaring that "whatever public lands exist on the Midway Islands are under the jurisdiction of the navy department." The letter was forwarded to the Governor this morning to inform him of the federal decision.

HARPALION INFANT MORTALITY SHOWS A SMALL PERCENTAGE

Twenty babies and children, belonging to families which arrived here in the immigrant ship Harpalion, have died at the quarantine station since the arrival of the vessel despite the fact that they were given every attention and care.

The deaths for the most part occurred among infants who were born on the journey or on their arrival here, the exceptions being those who came on board the ship in an enfeebled condition.

The sick on Quarantine Island have been given every comfort possible by the Territorial immigrant station officials. Six trained nurses have been in constant attendance, there have been two physicians on duty, and no expense has been spared in providing proper food and medicines.

The percentage of deaths, it is pointed out, is extremely low, being less than one per cent for the 1400 persons imported.

Forty-six of the 140 persons remaining on Quarantine Island will be received at the immigration station late this afternoon and will be sent out tomorrow. The others will arrive on Saturday and by the middle of next week the immigration officials expect to have the entire Harpalion consignment out of the way.

MAKING ENGLISH EASY FOR ALIENS

Arrangements have been made with C. W. Cousins of the College of Hawaii whereby he will take charge of the class in conversational English to be instituted at the Japanese Y. M. C. A. beginning May 20. The class will meet three times a week, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at eight o'clock. The Peter Roberts system will be used.

The Y. M. C. A. officials are working on the suggestion of Ed Towse to arrange for the instruction of immigrants in the rudiments of the English language. Efforts are being made to secure the support of the federal and other authorities to the plan. Mr. Towse has further suggested that if the plan proves successful a competent teacher be sent to the point where the immigrants embark for Honolulu. The teacher would accompany them on their journey and would be able to impart a deal of instruction during the long days at sea.

In this connection Elijah McKenzie of the Beretania Mission, who has been teaching the Chinese elementary English by the Roberts system says the results have been highly successful, and it is possible, if the scheme for teaching immigrants is carried out, that McKenzie may become interested in taking up the work with them.

Farewell to Entertainers.

Under the auspices of the new inter-church federation the McWatters Quartet held farewell services in the parish house of the Central Union church last night. The Quartet gave a number of sacred song selections and Mr. Schultz, the bass soloist, made an inspiring address. When he concluded other members of the Quartet were called upon for farewell remarks, and they all joined in lauding the hospitality of Honolulu and in expressing gratitude for the support given them in their concert work.

Dr. W. C. Hobdy will give the fifth of his series of lectures on the Physiology and Hygiene of Sex, in Cooke Hall at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. His subject will be the "Pathology of Sex."

A postal card received by the Association from General Secretary Paul Super this morning brought the intelligence that he was drinking deeply of Shasta water at Shasta Springs between trains and that he was bound for Portland. He had spent one day in San Francisco but expected to pay a more lengthy visit to the bay cities on his return.

Some of us who rail at our limitations, others of us who are discontented or resigned under them, according to our temperament, might find some pleasure and nourishing food for thought in the fact that Raphael and other of our master painters achieved their greatest triumphs in art when compelled to fill some definite panel or circle or oval. Some of the most beautiful, most inspiring, most uplifting things Raphael ever did are the friezes and panels and ovals he painted to order for churches or palaces or at the command of some wealthy patron.

Suppose, when told to decorate a certain space, he had said impatiently or arrogantly, "I can't paint a picture by the yard," think of the beauty the world would have missed. Think too, of what he would have lost himself,—not fame, but what is more important, an ever growing sense of beauty, skill in showing it forth, and an ever finer character development. For when given a space to fill, instead of railing at his limitations, he immediately began to see with the eye of the spirit that space filled with beauty. He immediately began to plan how he could utilize what he had to the best advantage so as to make the result a delight to the eye.

The analogy is obvious. We may not be Raphaels. We may not make, of the little space into which we have been set by life's limitations, a masterpiece. But we can fill it with something of beauty if we make the effort. Perhaps, we may, all unconsciously, achieve a masterpiece,—who can tell? Sometimes we wear the garment of life as did certain workers of old, from the under side; and never see the beautiful pattern that is coming out, until it is finished. But others see it and marvel and go on their way lifted up and heartened. But whether we do this or not, we can add something of beauty to the world, if we go to our task with determination to work in the spirit of artistry, and not to rail and growl, and do things just as ill as we can, instead of doing what has been set us to do, just as well as we can.

And a comforting feature of our limitations, that Raphael never knew, is that our conditions,—when they are not of our own making—are set by One who knows what is best for us. Raphael had to paint often at the whim of a patron, one perhaps who knew little of art. Yet he cheerfully accepted his task and turned out a thing of beauty. But the limitations set about us may be the very things we need to develop those parts of character that are necessary to enduring life. So we should accept them with joy and fill them with beauty.

SOCIAL NEWS OF THE DAY.

Mrs. Hyde-Smith entertained at an elaborate tea Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. William G. Irwin. The guests were received by the hostess and the guest of honor on the lawn where the tea tables were prettily arranged. Mrs. Hyde-Smith was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. F. M. CORRECT AND COMFORTABLE RIDING TOGS FOR SPRING DAYS.
Though the cross-saddle habit is not worn by many women in town, out in the country, and down South where riding to hounds is a pastime, the comfortable, sensible cross-saddle habit is enthusiastically endorsed. This smartly cut riding coat of black and white checked worsted falls over the tops of the tan puttee boots, and beneath the coat are riding breeches of matching material. The soft felt hat is white and the gloves are of heavy white doeklin. A light blue madras riding-stock and breast-pocket handkerchief with a blue border, complete a thoroughly correct and attractive riding costume.

SEMI-WEEKLY CHANGE AT BIJOU TONIGHT

Another treat is in store for the Bijou patrons tonight when the big "au-deville acts will be changed. The Mizuno family of acrobats known as the "Yokohama Troupe" will appear in new stunts. They will feature foot-balancing and tosholding feats. The troupe is well balanced and furnishes the best as well as the newest entertainment seen here in a long while. The youngsters in the troupe, perfectly developed acrobats, are very clever contortionists.

Reece's Italian Saxophone quartet will appear in a number of classic selections besides the one popular rag that they close their show with.

That their act will be one of the bits of the evening goes without saying. The Walstein Trio are down for a change. The film service tonight will be very good, as a number of fresh ones arrived by the Wilhelmns.

At the Empire, Effie, the mind reader, and Bayle and Patsy, the singing and dancing team, are holding forth in addition to a number of feature films.

The Korea this morning brought two new acts for the Amusement company, further announcement of which will be made later.

MINSTRELS AGAIN SCORE.
There are so many big song-hits on the bill at the minstrel show that it is hard to tell which is the best and brightest, but the crowd at the Opera House last night showed itself very Impartial and settled the question by encoring every one of them.

Everybody checks dull circa at the door at the minstrel show, for there isn't a moment of gloom during the entire production; consequently every one has a good time and comes back for more the next night.

There were several changes in the bill last night which made the entertainment better than before. Miss Clark had a new repertoire of songs, and Ed Tolliver had his monologue crammed full of new and funny jokes. Seats for all performances are on sale at the rooms of the Promotion committee.

PRESIDENT LAUNCHES GREAT NATIONAL COMMERCIAL BODY

Formal reports are expected very shortly by the local commercial bodies from their representatives to the great gathering of business men called together at Washington by President Taft, on April 22. The meeting was called for the purpose of organizing a national league of commercial bodies, which it is hoped may stand close to the government in the framing and executing of laws and policies upon which the commercial welfare of the country is often dependent. Hawaii was represented by George McK. McClellan, Judge S. M. Ballou and Delegate Kalaniana'ole.

Following is a press report of the first session of the new organization, at which the President was present:

WASHINGTON, April 22.—At the call of President Taft, representatives of chambers of commerce and boards of trade from every part of the United States and the insular possessions gathered here today to form a National Chamber of Commerce to cooperate with the Federal Government in promoting the nation's business interests and solving her economic problems. Seven hundred and fifty delegates, representing 250 commercial bodies, responded to the President's call. They come from every State in the Union, Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines, Porto Rico and the American Chambers of Commerce of Paris, Brussels and Constantinople. Harry A. Wheeler, representing the Chicago Association of Commerce, was chosen temporary chairman. Today was devoted to discussion of the scope of the organization.

President Taft told the conference he is thoroughly imbued with the importance and necessity of the organization of a national chamber of commerce. In asking the cooperation of the conference in solving problems which affect the business welfare of the country President Taft warned the members not to enter on a discussion of the questions to the solution of which their organization might ultimately be called on to contribute.

"Your purpose," said Taft, "must now be to effect that organization itself. This should, in my opinion, be broadly framed, providing for a distinct representation of all your interests; but trusting to experience to guide future growth and activities."

Charles Nagel, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, outlining the purpose of the conference, made an urgent plea for a permanent representative trade body to assist the Federal Government in solving the economic problems pressing for decision. Unless the Government met these questions along the lines of progress and development, Secretary Nagel foresaw a conflict with business. So pressing are the problems, he said, that if the governmental agencies do not find the solution the commercial and industrial forces will compel that solution in one form or another.

"The conflict is irrepressible," he added. "If the Government does not find and establish rules by which the development may be intelligently and normally had, then ultimately the expansion and the progress will be had in defiance of rules that do not fit. That has been the story, and that will be the story of development everywhere."

"In my judgment, much of the confusion which now exists is to be attributed to the circumstances that impartial, comprehensive, thoughtful advice has not been afforded by those who are primarily interested and whose experience is more essential to a correct understanding. Instead of depending on advice or the demand of specialized interests we must have a common judgment of commerce and industry and to get that common judgment we must have a common representation."

"In other countries the relation between the government and the industries and commerce is so close that the Board of Trade forms an immediate part of the government itself. This we may not be able to accomplish and may not want to have. But to my mind it is true that by some means we must establish a common commercial representation, which shall sustain a relation to the government for purposes of general advice and intelligent direction with respect to proposed measures and the administration of existing laws."

OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER

Interesting But Brief Ceremonies in Marking the Site for Hawaii's Exhibit at the Exposition of 1915

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—Hawaii may have got a late start when it came to selecting a site for its exhibit at the world's fair, but once started she had one of the most distinguished citizens of the land as a spectator at the ceremonies, and an aeroplane feat of unusual daring was pulled off just to stamp an indelible impression on the minds of those present.

Hawaii and Nebraska held what was really a joint celebration of the location of their respective sites. The ceremonies and site selections followed a review of Presidio troops by Secretary of State Knox, accompanied by President Moore of the exposition, and other officials.

At the conclusion of the parade the gentlemen took part in the Nebraska ceremonies, and, just as everybody turned to walk to the site chosen by Hawaii, two aeroplanes came swiftly out of the fog bank, circled and swerved over the field, and shortly afterward landed at the feet of Secretary Knox near the Hawaiian grounds. The two birdmen made a spectacular flight from Oakland and Alameda, and one especially distinguished himself by carrying a passenger—the first time this has ever been done across the bay.

After the congratulations incident to the flight the party proceeded to the site selected by Hawaii, which lies within the confines of the Presidio, just west of Harbor View and within a stone's throw of the bay. Here, surrounded by cavalrymen and by a crowd of several thousand people, the ground was marked out at each corner by American, Hawaiian and State of California flags. A native quartet sang and played before and after the ceremonies, and when the officials of the exposition first appeared, they were decorated with strings of carnation leis by Dorothy and Elizabeth, the little daughters of Geo. M. Rolph, of the Hawaiian commission.

The exercises were exceedingly short, the legal papers being turned over to the Hawaiian committee consisting of Geo. Rolph, W. M. Alexander, Captain Wm. Matson, Edward M. Walsh and J. C. F. Hagens, by President Moore. The briefest of responses were made, a flag was flown from the center of Hawaii's plot, and the party journeyed back to town.

Hawaii is the eleventh of the states and territories to receive their allotment of land for the exposition.

The moving picture machine recorded the event for reproduction later in Hawaii.

"We are now on the eleventh site to be selected," said President Moore, "and this eleventh occasion is very happy for San Francisco, for it is Hawaii, beloved Hawaii, that means so much to San Francisco."

Again the Mayor was called upon for "a few words," and responded.

"Nothing more pleasant could be assigned me than to say a few words on the site selection day of Hawaii, Hawaii that is ever dear to the hearts of San Francisco. From our earliest days the barks have sailed out from the Golden Gate to Hawaii, and it is good today to see the flags of Hawaii and California floating together over this spot as a token of friendship that will ever endure.

"This has indeed been an epoch-making day for San Francisco, and I want to thank Brigadier-General Wisner—for I am sure that Secretary Knox will see to it that he soon has that title—for the courteous attentions that he has shown in behalf of the exposition."

Commissioner Alexander was then handed the deed of the Hawaiian site, and said:

"It is with considerable emotion that I stand on this spot as the representative of Hawaii, the land of my birth. And although I have made San Francisco my home, my heart goes out to my old home on the island of Maui.

"Hawaii is linked to San Francisco by ties that can never be broken, and I think this Panama-Pacific Exposition means even more to us than it does to you, for Hawaii will, with the opening of the Panama canal be on the great avenue of ocean travel."

In conclusion Alexander read the poem of Mark Twain on Hawaii, and then planted the flag in token of acceptance of the site.

The band played the national anthem. There was really nothing else left to fittingly close this day of emotion. Three cheers were given with a will for the Secretary of State, and three more for the president of the exposition.

"This is the exposition," some one remarked, and it seemed nothing less.

BEGINNING OR END.

A lot of people in the world enjoy going away for the "week-end" and a majority of those who live in Honolulu select Haleiwa as the best place for a change of climate and environments. The selection is a good one and shows judgment but there is no reason for confining it to the week-end. There is just as good a climate at the beginning of the week and the water is just as fine. The beach is free from coral always and the hotel complete with all conveniences for guests. A postoffice, telephone and telegraph station at Haleiwa enables the guests to "get outside" with the same facility as the person who remains in Honolulu. The rates are low.

TWO HOMICIDES ON TWO ISLANDS

Takahatchi Kojiro, Japanese, was murdered at Laupahoehoe, Hawaii, last Friday evening. According to his wife's story she was returning home with him, after a second desertion to a fellow-countryman named Yasuzo Kurashimo, and the being ashamed to face acquaintance in the camp induced him to wait by the roadside until after dark. While they tarried there, the woman says, Kurashimo jumped out of the bushes and mangled her husband over the head with a club two inches in diameter. She says she ran away and hid and after a while went to the camp to give an alarm, but on her way had to pass the place of the assault where she saw her husband lying dead, with his throat cut.

Sheriff Pua, however, has found witnesses to say that the woman did not go to the camp from the scene but to the house of her paramour, the alleged murderer.

The autopsy revealed that one of the blows on the head was sufficient to cause death. The wound in the throat was apparently made with a pocket knife or other small weapon. Up to last accounts the murderer was still at large.

Jack Kihana, a native over twenty years old, shot and mortally wounded Alu, a former jailbird of Waialuku, in a drunken brawl at Hualo between six and seven o'clock Sunday evening. The bullet penetrated the brain through the forehead. It was extracted by Dr. McConkey, who, at last accounts, entertained no hope for the man's recovery.

GRAND UNION

This attempt isn't the first that has been made in Honolulu to secure a combination of the different organizations, and it is not at all certain that the present one will succeed, but the outlook is probably better than ever before. If it can be shown that the different business elements can be guaranteed their integrity of thought and action in their own fields, opposition will probably drop away like a garment, for this has been the rock on which they have heretofore split. And the advocates of the plan hold that there is a large element of the community, in professional lines of work, or not in active pursuits, who now have no chance to apply themselves to the upbuilding of the city through not being eligible to membership in the civic bodies now existing. These the new organization aims to find a place for. Many of the big American cities hold examples of successful combinations of the kind proposed. Recently San Francisco has combined several of its commercial bodies, and late reports are to the effect that the result is likely to be of incalculable value to the city.

HIGH FINANCE

able to declare large dividends and at the same time show a loss two thousand dollars less than the dividends declared. The figures of loss and dividends quoted above are not genuine, but the difference between the dividends and the loss of the plantation is $2000. In sending in its report, the plantation in question is quoting its losses as sufficient reason why its tax assessment should be lowered.

"But I hardly see where they stand a chance to have their assessment lowered with a report like that," said Treasurer Conkling. "They will have to explain first how they were able to pay dividends and at the same time show such an enormous loss. I don't know whether you could call that high finance or not."

HAWAIIAN SECURITIES MANUAL

The Honolulu Stock and Bond Exchange has just received from the press its 1912 manual of Hawaiian securities, which its members are now sending out to their customers. The booklet is got up along the lines of last year's manual, and gives the financial and crop statistics of all of the plantations listed on the exchange brought up to the end of the year 1911. Estimates are also given for the 1912 crop of each plantation, and the area planted for the 1913 crop. The book is of much value to investors.

VARIOUS SCHEMES OF IMPROVEMENT

Important reports are to be presented this afternoon at four o'clock to the Central Improvement Committee from committees which have had under consideration a number of important matters for some time past. One of these is on the matter of parking Ka'akaua avenue. It is by no means certain that public sentiment has yet crystallized on any one plan for making this improvement, and it is pretty likely that there will be an open three-cornered fight in the meeting between advocates of center parking, side parking and no parking at all.

The committee on free garbage, as has been already announced by the chairman of the committee having this matter in hand, will make a report recommending the adoption of auto trucks, as a means toward this end. The committee will also propose another clean-up day, or rather a whole week of house-cleaning for the community.

The legislation committee is expected to report on the Manoa frontage tax system of road construction, by which property owners shall have the right to nominate what streets shall be improved and how it shall be done, and shall be required to pay a part of the cost according to their frontage on the thoroughfare so improved.

The matter of getting work started on the framing of bills in line with recommendations of the late sanitation commission's report, against the meeting of the next legislature, may also be discussed.

GREAT MOVING PICTURE

J. Walter Bernard has brought from the mainland the offer of what is claimed to be the most artistic moving picture ever produced. It is Homer's Odyssey in three films, and is said to have cost over $200,000 and taken more than two years to produce. If none of the motion picture houses will take it on, Mr. Bernard intends to engage the opera house and present the picture on his own account.

BARBER IS FINE SWIMMER

Joe Fernandez, the proprietor of the Silent barber-shop, authorizes a challenge in The Star for a swimming race with any other local barber for a distance of from 50 to 500 yards. Any sized side bet will be agreeable.

Fernandez has of late developed remarkable natatorial talent and the Hui Nalu is said to be offering a handsome inducement for him to join that organization. They want another champion to take Duke Kahuna-moku's place at the coming A. A. U. championship meet.

Fernandez received his original inspiration to go in for water sports from the constant handling of "sea foam," a tonsorial side-line of reputed virtue.

Answers to this challenge sent to The Star office will receive immediate attention.

This was the most important transaction of this morning's session of the board. A somewhat larger volume of sales was recorded today, but none of any particular importance. There was practically no change in prices, which are holding remarkably well considering the continued downward trend of sugar. The principal feature in bonds was in Olan 6s, $55,000 of which securities were sold between boards for the established figure of 97 1/2. JACK LONDON A BRILLIANT RIVAL TO RAMUS FOR HARM

If Jack London's "The House of Pride," a short story which gives title to a book of short stories just issued, is as untruthful in its dealing with things Hawaiian as is "The Sheriff of Kona," and "Koolau the Leper," which are in the book, and which aroused a storm of indignation when they were published in magazine form, it will not be at all popular in Hawaii. It will be remembered that in reply to protests made by local people to London's gruesome misrepresentation of things Hawaiian as appeared in "The Sheriff of Kona," the writer made the defense that he was writing fiction, and that he did not give it to the public as anything else, and that no one had a right to take any of its statements as depicting actual conditions in this territory.

It is quite evident, however, that readers in general do not make such dissociation, and even the trained literary critic, who reviews the book in question in the San Francisco Call jumps at once to the conclusion that "one must have lived in the islands to have written it, and to appreciate it too." It is to be hoped that the reviewer really has lived here, in which case his criticism would be read in Honolulu with less misgiving. He says:

"The House of Pride" is the title of the first of six short stories which make up Jack London's newest book. This story is one of the cleverest tales of Hawaii which has appeared, and one must have lived on the islands to have written it, and to appreciate it, too. It gives a picture of the missionary element in the life of the islands which has been so misunderstood by the outside world. Also it is a fine character study of a man who is the son of some early missionary parents and has inherited all their coldness and asceticism, with no leaven of humanity. A description of him follows:

"He had a good constitution, never was on intimate terms with sickness, nor even mild disorders, but he lacked vitality. His was a negative organism. No blood with a ferment in it could have nourished and shaped that long and narrow face, those thin lips, lean cheeks and the small, sharp eyes. The thatch of hair, dust colored, straight and sparse, advertised the niggard soil, as did the nose, thin, delicately modeled and just hinting the suggestion of a beak. His meager blood had denied him much of life and permitted him to be an extremist in one thing only, which thing was righteousness. Over right conduct he pondered and agonized, and that he should do right was as necessary to his nature as loving and being loved were necessary to commoner clay.

"He has persistently persecuted a young half caste for his moral lapses—which do not appear to be so awful to any one but the missionary's son. He feels it is a duty, and says so. Suddenly he learns that this young half caste is his half brother and, the shock nearly kills him, for it shakes the foundations of his house of pride. He has always revered his father's memory, and this is too awful. But the natural cruelty of his disposition finally triumphs and he solves his difficulties in a way which makes us want to take ship and go down to Honolulu and wreak some sort of vengeance upon him. It's one of the best things this author has done in years, and most artistic.

"The remaining stories are "Koolau the Leper," "Goodbye Jack," "Aloha Oe," "Chun Ah Chun" and "The Sheriff of Kona." All are of Hawaii and show that the author had his eyes wide open during his sojourn there. Also he must have studied some of the conditions very deeply, for his knowledge is more than casual and much more than the average traveler picks up. The book is one of the author's best."

GIRLS ARE DARINGLY KIDNAPED IN AVENUES OF CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 1.—Discovery was made today that Amelia Neuman, a 19 year old maid in the employ of Prof. P. H. Boynton, acting dean of the junior colleges, at the University of Chicago, was kidnaped by three men in an automobile at Kimbark avenue and the Midway place Tuesday night, April 23, under circumstances similar to those connected with the kidnaping and robbery of Miss Marion Gorecki, coed at the university, on last Monday morning.

"Our maid was walking on the Midway at Kimbark avenue, about 8 o'clock, when three men passing along in the street stopped their machine, sprang out and lifted her into the car," said Mrs. Boynton today.

Men Threatened to Hurt Girl.

"As in Miss Gorecki's case, they drove to Jackson park. The girl struggled to free herself and threatened to break a window in the car if they refused to release her. One of the men drew a knife and threatened to cut her badly if she did not remain quiet. They finally dropped her in Jackson park. She tore her dress badly in jumping hastily from the car and passersby in an electric noting her condition brought her back to 57th street and Monroe avenue, from which corner she started home.

"The strange feature in Miss Neumann's case was that as she turned the corner of 57th and Monroe streets one of the men who had been in the electric who kidnaped her again faced her and snatched her mesh purse.

Brought Home by Strangers.

"The maid, who was now almost overcome with fright, sought refuge in the doorway of an apartment building near by. Some residents of the building brought her home. She was on the verge of hysterics. The case was at once reported to the Hyde Park police, but, as I understand no arrests have been made. I think it quite likely that it was the same gang which held up Miss Gorecki Monday morning.

Police of the Hyde Park station are now working on the theory that both crimes were committed by the same gang and have detailed every available man to search for the daring robbers.

License Number Causes Mixup.

Amelia Neuman asserts that the car in which she was kidnaped was an electric with a limousine body and bore the number 62-11.

T. P. Cook, 5124 Jefferson avenue, general superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph company, is the owner of the car officially recorded as 111 62.

"I have myself seen another gasoline car bearing my number, and my friends have told me of an electric which bears the same number as my own," said Mr. Cook today. "My car is a gasoline car, and as I always drive it myself I know that if the car in which Miss Neumann was kidnaped bore the same number as my own the holdup men were displaying a bogus license tag. I have never seen the electric which is said to bear my number, but several of my friends have seen it, so I know there is a car answering that description. I hope that the police will soon arrest the robbers who are perpetrating this outrageous fraud in order to carry on their nefarious operations."

Coed Recovers After Attack.

Meantime Miss Gorecki, who is now at the house of her father, Stephen Gorecki, 1121 Noble street, is rapidly recovering from the effects of her unusual adventure and is anxious to return to school and continue her studies.

"Marion is feeling fine," said Mr. Gorecki early today. "We expect her up and about in a few days and then after a week at home to give her time to forget that horrible adventure we will let her return to her work. It is spring now, however, and I think it best that she should live at home and go over to the school each morning. The other arrangement was intended to be for the winter only.

"My daughter has added nothing to the story she told the doctor yesterday."

VAST ASSEMBLY ATTENDS THE MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR TITANIC DEAD AT ST. PAUL'S

LONDON, April 20.—One of the largest throngs that ever have turned out for a public function in England attended the memorial services for the victims of the Titanic disaster held in St. Paul's cathedral. Many distinguished persons attended, among them Whiteleaw Reid, the American ambassador, and Mrs. Reid.

Outside there was the bright, hot April sunshine, the cheerful twitter of birds busy with their young broods, the trees bursting into blossom, everywhere a rush and riot of new life.

Inside the cathedral a vast assembly, filling it to the doors and yet leaving thousands on the steps without, was waiting for the service to begin in memory of those who had suddenly been snatched from the sunshine and the springtime, torn from their dear ones, caught away with all their hopes, their plans, and ambitions ended at a single stroke; hurled to destruction without warning, without time to prepare themselves for the end.

It is a very human and a very precious impulse which makes us in moments of a common sorrow feel a desire for common worship. Never before in living memory has any loss of life made so harrowing an impression as this upon the heart of the nation. It was natural, therefore, that an enormous number of people, from the highest to the humblest, should turn their faces yesterday morning towards St. Paul's. Their stricken natures yearned to unite with others in a solemn testimony to their faith. They longed to join in an expression, enlivened by beautiful music and by the poetry of the English liturgy, of their sorrow, their sympathy, and their abiding trust in God.

"Though Thou slay us, yet will we trust in Thee." Those wonderful words of Job found an echo in the cathedral. That was the dominant note of the service. Many lips must have repeated, with an accent of groping wistfulness, the words of the anthem before the special Psalms: "Make Thy way plain before my face." In the full shock of such a disaster the way of the Almighty must seem to many intellects inscrutable and dark. The prayer was aptly chosen, with a knowledge of the weakness of human nature.

Yet it was not an impression of weakness that the service left upon the mind. It was an impression of strength. Faith triumphant sounded in the trumpet-note of the Ninetieth Psalm:

Lord, Thou hast been our refuge from one generation to another. It sounded in the plaintive liturgy of St. Chrysostom:

Give rest, O Christ, to Thy servants with Thy Saints, whose sorrow and pain are no more, neither sighing, but Life Everlasting.

It sounded in the special prayer written to fit the sad circumstances of the hour:

Almighty God, with Whom do live the spirits of them that depart hence in the Lord, and with Whom the souls of the faithful, after they are delivered from the burden of the flesh, are in joy and felicity; we humbly leave in Thy Fatherly keeping the souls of Thy servants who have now passed through the waters; beseeching Thee, that it may please Thee, of Thy gracious goodness, shortly to accomplish the number of Thine elect, and to hasten Thy kingdom; that we, with all those that are departed in the true faith of Thy holy Name, may have our perfect consummation and bliss, both in body and soul, in Thy eternal and everlasting glory; through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

Above all, the assurance of salvation, the glorious certainty of a life to come, of which this life on earth is but the prelude, thrilled through the crowded cathedral with the noble harmonies of the Dead March in "Saul," played with most exquisite understanding by the Kneller Hall band.

First came the muffled thunder of the drums, the confused murmur of hearts breaking and souls doubting, the murmur arising from every land of human misery and pain. Then the piteous minor of the brass, a "keening" of women, a bitter cry ascending to the Throne of Grace.

And then, the bitter cry changes,

AMBASSADOR AND MRS. REID
COPYRIGHT 1912 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

AMBASSADOR AND MRS. WHITELEAW REID
Leaving St. Paul's Cathedral, London, after the Titanic memorial services.

The sob of despair gives way to the song of triumph. The notes of glad certainty rang out with magnificent effect. One felt one's whole soul quivering and all the elements of one's nature fusing into an emotion which welled irresistibly into tears.

Up to this point the service had been one of chastened trust. The Psalms were sung to wailing simple chants. "Rock of Ages," taken very slowly, was a desolate appeal to Divine Mercy. The Dean read even the confident reasoning of St. Paul (in the lesson for the Burial Service) in sorrowful voice. With the "Dead March" the flood-gates of emotion were opened.

On every side, as one glanced around, women, and men too, were crying. Some broke down, sobbing uncontrollably. There were doubtless many in the cathedral who had lost friends, some who perhaps mourned dear ones. To everyone nowadays a catastrophe of this kind means so much more than shipwrecks did in past times when only a very few crossed oceans. We all have either made voyages ourselves, or some close to us have claimed our prayers. Up on the whole congregation, therefore, the music, familiar though it be, had an instant and unmistakable effect.

How deeply they were moved appeared in their singing of the final hymn—the hymn for those at rest. In the opening hymn few had joined; "Eternal Father, strong to save" was sung by everybody. Many could hardly see the words for tears. Some had their voices choked by the tumult in their breasts. All sang with intense conviction. Up to the roof the deep cadence rolled heartfully:

O hear us when we cry to Thee
For those in peril on the sea.

It was a real prayer. It purified and uplifted every heart. Out into the sunshine we poured, but "not as men without hope." We could look at the brightness and the rush of life with eyes no longer resentful. "Where sorrow and pain are no more, neither sighing, but Life Everlasting" was still ringing in our comforted ears.

WHAT THE CALL SAYS ABOUT TRADE WITH THE ISLANDS

Already the Star has published appreciative comments on the mainland's trade with now contiguous territories and possessions. The San Francisco Call gives the same figures for the six years 1906-1911 and thus makes comment upon them:

"It may be noted that the balance of trade is about $100,000,000 against the United States, so that the islands are getting much the best of the bargain. But this inequality will necessarily correct itself with the increased purchasing power of the island communities. In the case of Alaska the balance is more strongly against us, being about two to one on the wrong side. That is to say, we import about $30,000,000 in commodities and sell some $15,000,000 worth. The Alaskan market suffers by reason of the restrictions on industrial development due to the refusal of congress to do anything but small politics this year.

"The figures are submitted for the consideration of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. There is obviously a rapidly expanding market in Hawaii and the Philippines that will repay attention."

CODFISH REMAINS CALM.

Chicago Journal: "Massachusetts—there she stands!" The eyes of the nation are on the old Bay State. The err of the nation await news concerning the political situation in the ancient commonwealth. The President and the ex-President are endeavoring to prove their merits and their claims for Massachusetts' support by attacks on each other. Governor Wilson is pleading for support. Excitement prevails throughout the state. The cradle of liberty is rocking as it has not rocked before in years. Only the sacred codfish in the state house maintains quiet and dignity in harmony with its custom and the traditions of its surroundings.

PARIS SHOOTING.

New York Sun: If Parisians would only give a little attention to their revolver practice the French capital could successfully challenge the title of the most progressive western mining camp.

SENATOR WILLIAMS REBUKED FOR PROFANITY WITHDRAWS SPEECH

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi yesterday withdrew from the permanent edition of the Congressional Record the parody on the Apostles' Creed which he incorporated in his remarks upon Col. Roosevelt's character and political beliefs. The matter is still being actively discussed, however, by churchmen, and indignant comments are uttered. In the course of his sermon Sunday Rev. C. Ernest Smith, rector of St. Thomas' Church, voiced an emphatic protest, in the following language:

"Both as a priest of the church and a citizen, and as rector of this parish, I desire to make formal protest against a portion of a speech said to have been delivered last Thursday on the floor of the Senate by Senator John Sharp Williams.

"In the course of a speech on the political aspirations of a candidate for the office of President, Senator Williams is reported to have so parodied that summary of the Christian faith known as the Apostles' Creed as to mimic and make into a burlesque and a travesty its solemn statements regarding our Heavenly Father, His only Son our Lord and the Holy Ghost, by substituting in a spirit of mocking scorn a political opponent, far-allel statements founded on the life and career of the said candidate for the presidency.

Duty of the Pulpit.

"With political questions as such the pulpit of the Episcopal Church wisely refuses to have anything to do. But the pulpit of the church would be untrue to its best traditions if it passed by unnoticed and unrebuked the utterance in such an exalted place of language which can only be regarded by myriads of the speakers' fellow countrymen as a blasphemous travesty of those doctrines of the church for which in past centuries thousands and tens of thousands have cheerfully given up their lives, and for which they themselves would also be willing, if need be, to die with the same joyousness.

"Moreover, the offense seems to have been the more deliberate and wanton since this grotesque parody was not spoken on the spur of the moment or under the stress of political excitement if, as is reported, the words were actually in print and in circulation before they were uttered in the Senate chamber.

"I do, therefore, make my public protest against this and all similar wanton dragging of holy things into the arena of political activities, and, doing so, I further desire to express my regret, my deep regret, that no sense of shame, no feeling of fear, no expression of condemnation seems to have been manifested by those who were present at the time.

"Yet they were not afraid, nor rent their garments, neither the king nor any of his servants that heard all these words."

Lack of Reverence for Holy Things.

Rev. William M. Morgan-Jones, from the pulpit of St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Sunday, spoke in the same vein, referring to a growing lack of reverence for holy things, for religion, for law and order, and for parental authority, so strikingly noticeable everywhere throughout the land.

"Is it to be at all wondered at," asked Dr. Morgan-Jones, "when we find senators so far forgetting the dignity and importance of their office as to set an example before the country, on the floor of the Senate of the United States, of revolting irreverence?"

"I wish to make from this pulpit a strong and righteous protest against any man who, holding a public office, goes out of his way to offer a gratuitous insult to the faith of the Christian people of this land by uttering a scandalous and blasphemous parody of that ancient confession of faith of Christendom called the apostles' creed—the common property and symbol of faith of all Christians without distinction throughout the world.

"In the daily press last Friday it was reported that Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi enlivened the Senate with one of his characteristic speeches, in the course of which he made a shameful and blasphemous parody of one of the ancient creeds of the Christian church, commonly called the Apostles' Creed.

Classed as Shameless Parody.

"When we find a public man occupying the distinguished and honorable position of a senator of the United States so audaciously irreverent as to shamelessly parody sacred things on the floor of the Senate, in order to afford some imagined pliancy to one of his 'characteristic' speeches we cannot but stand aghast and wonder what is going to happen next when senators behave in such a way.

"What are we to expect from the masses of the people when they see set before them such a deplorable example of irreverence and profanity."

ARGUMENTS FOR RAISING BAN OF METHODISTS ON AMUSEMENTS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 1.—In committee sets forth that John Westcott is keen among the delegates who assembled here today to attend the opening of the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church as to what action shall be taken on a proposal to change the disciplinary rules governing amusements. The rule prohibits dancing, games of chance and theater going, as "a tendency toward worldliness." The proposition as to its retention or rejection has been referred to a committee for consideration.

Warren Opens the Conference.

Standing on a platform with twenty other bishops from this and foreign countries, Bishop Henry W. Warren of Denver, Col., formally convened the conference.

Several thousand ministers and laymen who were not delegates, contributed to forming what was said to be the largest assemblage of Methodists in the history of the church. Delegates from points as distant as Finland, South Africa, South America and Asia, some of whom were dressed in native costume, were brought together when Bishop Warren, the oldest active leader in the church, ordered the roll call. It was pointed out that this marked the 100th anniversary of the conference, to which regularly elected delegates were sent, as after the organization in Lovely Lane chapel in Baltimore in 1784 all ministers voted at the conference and it was not until 1812 that membership to the conference was restricted to elected delegates.

Go Back to Wesley's Rule.

The synopsis on the proposition to revise the rules as presented to the committee sets forth that John Westcott is keen among the delegates who assembled here today to attend the opening of the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church as to what action shall be taken on a proposal to change the disciplinary rules governing amusements. The rule prohibits dancing, games of chance and theater going, as "a tendency toward worldliness." The proposition as to its retention or rejection has been referred to a committee for consideration.

Among the arguments advanced in opposition to retaining the present rule, as given to the committee, are:

"It violates Christian freedom.

"It is a source of constant irritation.

"It violates sound pedagogical principles.

Keeps Many Outside Church.

"It puts many in an unjust attitude as disloyal to the church.

"It can not be enforced.

"As an unenforced law it brings discipline into contempt.

"It keeps many conscientious people out of the church.

"It breeds hypocrisy.

"It has not added to spirituality in the church."

Arguments For the Rule.

Arguments for continuing the rule are given as:

"The rule voices a protest against worldliness.

"Repeal suggests a backward step morally.

"Many will avoid harmful things because the church directs.

"Specific utterances are needed about such things.

CEMENT TRADE AND PRODUCTION

Cement production, consumption and exportation are showing remarkable increases in the statistical records of the United States, as shown by figures of the bureau of statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, while the importation shows an equally remarkable decline. The quantity produced, according to figures of the bureau of statistics presented in its Statistical Abstract, just issued, has grown from 8 million barrels in 1890 to 17 millions in 1900 and 78 million in 1910, the value having increased from 6 million dollars in 1890 to 13 million in 1900 and 69 million in 1910. Meantime the figures of imports and exports show equally striking changes. The quantity of cement exports has grown from 76,055 barrels (of 389 pounds) in 1900, valued at $163,162, to 2,571,474 barrels in 1911, valued at $4,245,290; while the figures for the 9 months ending with March indicate that the total for the fiscal year 1912 will considerably exceed, in both quantity and value, that of 1911 and will probably amount to more than 3 million barrels, or 40 times as much in 1912 as in 1900, with a value of more than 5 million dollars, as against $1,316,162 in 1900. On the import side the decline has been as rapid and striking as the increase on the export side. The quantity of cement imported in 1907 was 1,123,763,604 pounds, but by 1911 had fallen to 93,297,749 pounds, and in the fiscal year 1912 seems likely to fall below 50 million pounds, or less than one-twentieth of the imports of 1907. The United States is apparently leading the world in the production of cement for industrial purposes.

The cement industry, according to the census of 1910, showed number of establishments, 135; capital invested, $187,398,000; number of wage earners, 26,775; wages paid $15,320,000; cost of materials, $29,344,000; value of products, $63,205,000; value added by manufacture, (value of products less cost of materials) $93,861,000.

Panama now takes over 65 per cent of the cement exported from the United States, the total exported there in the fiscal year 1911 having been nearly 2 million barrels out of a total of 3 million, while various countries of North and South America took most of the remainder.

day. She was in no condition to take clear impressions of what went on. Imagine the situation. She is blinded by rain. The wind is trying to wrench her umbrella from her hands. She is seized by three villains who bind her, choke her, gag her, drug her. A dirty handkerchief is thrust into her mouth; another tied across her eyes—good heavens, can you expect her to see everything and hear everything that goes on under those conditions. Poor girl—she was frightened almost to distraction.

Says Husband is Not Count.

"My husband is not a count," said Mrs. Gorecki to a reporter for The Daily News today. "He comes of a fine family and has traveled extensively in Europe, but is not possessed of the title of count, with which he has been largely accredited, much to his personal discomfort. It is alike untrue that he left Poland to evade army service or that he was ever forbidden to return. He came here to make this country his home and to become successful and he has been back to Poland to his home several times."

"Yes, my daughter speaks many languages," was the mother's reply to a query. "She speaks English, German, Polish, French and Russian fluently and understands conversations carried on in many different dialects. She is also a creditable musician and is said to play extremely well."

Displays Work of Daughter.

"Look, here is some of her needlework. This will show you how she passes her leisure moments," said the mother, displaying a pair of handsome covers made in drawn work. "These took three years to make and each stitch is made with extreme care. The work is done in silk, as you see," beamed the mother, proudly.

A pillow cover of satin, upon which a design in silk had been painstakingly worked, was also shown. A handsome mesh bag worked by hand in thread of a golden hue was also passed over for inspection.

"I never received such a shock in my life as when I heard of the accident which had befallen my little Maria," said Mrs. Gorecki. "I am so glad that she was not hurt badly and I hope she will soon be well enough to go back to her school work. I think that she will be by next week."

BY AUTHORITY

SEALED PROPOSALS.

Sealed proposals will be received until 2 p. m. of Wednesday, May 29, 1912 by the Board of Harbor Commissioners for Constructing a 10" Oil Pipe Line Along the Water Front of Honolulu, from the Oil Tanks at Twiile to the Sewer Pumping Station at Kaaka.

Plans, specifications and blank forms of tender are on file in the office of the Superintendent of Public Works, Capitol Building, Honolulu. The Board of Harbor Commissioners reserves the right to reject any or all tenders.

MARSTON CAMPBELL,
Chairman, Board of Harbor Commissioners.
Honolulu, May 14, 1912.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Loan Fund Commission of the City and County of Honolulu up to twelve o'clock noon of Saturday, May 18, 1912, for the construction of Fifty-five thousand, five hundred and twenty-four and three-tenths lineal feet (55,524.3') or ten and fifty-two hundredths miles of highway, designated as Section Two of the Oahu Belt Road, and extending from the end of the present macadamized road in Waiolu District, through Waiolu-aka, and Waipio Districts, to the macadamized road at Kipapa Gulch, in the District of Waipio, City and County of Honolulu.

Proposals shall be on forms furnished by the Commission. Each bidder shall state in his proposal:

(1). A specific sum for which he will furnish all labor, tools and material, except as specified to be furnished by the City and County of Honolulu, necessary to complete the work in accordance with the plans and specifications.

(2). The date upon which he will agree to have the work completed. The Commission, in determining which bid is the lowest will consider the difference in time of promised completion stated in the bids at the rate of Fifty ($50.00) Dollars for each day.

Proposals shall be in a sealed envelope addressed to T. H. Petrie, Secretary of the Loan Fund Commission, City and County of Honolulu, Room 61 Young Building, Honolulu, and plainly marked on the outside "Proposal for the construction of Section 2, Oahu Belt Road."

All proposals shall be accompanied by a certified check for a sum equal to five (5%) per cent of the tender. Plans, specifications and forms of tenders can be had on application to the Engineer of the Commission, H. Stuart Johnson, Room 61 Young Building, Honolulu.

A deposit of Ten ($10.00) Dollars will be required for each set of plans and specifications taken.

ANDREW ADAMS,
Chairman, Loan Fund Commission,
City and County of Honolulu.

RULES AND REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE STORAGE OF FREIGHT ON TERRITORIAL GOVERNMENT WHARVES, AS AMENDED MAY 8, 1912.

No. 1. Foreign Cargoes:

Foreign freight may remain on the wharf, after a General Order has been issued by the Custom House, as follows:
Cargoes of less than 2500 tons, forty-eight hours.
Cargoes of over 2500 tons, seventy-two hours.

The above does not apply to freight for trans-shipment when such trans-shipment is designated in original bills of lading and on packages.

No. 2. Cargoes from Outlets of the Territory:
Freight must be removed from the Territorial Government wharves within the following number of days, to commence on the day upon which the vessel completes discharge:

Cargoes up to 2000 tons, delivered at any one wharf, must be removed from said wharf three days after completion of discharge of vessel.

Cargoes from 2001 tons up to 3000 tons, delivered at any one wharf, must be removed from said wharf four days after completion of discharge of vessel.

Cargoes from 3001 tons up to 4000 tons, delivered at any one wharf, must be removed from said wharf six days after completion of discharge of vessel.

Cargoes from 4001 tons up to 6000 tons, delivered at any one wharf, must be removed from said wharf eight days after completion of discharge of vessel.

The above does not apply to freight consigned to any person, when such freight is destined for trans-shipment to any port in the Territory of Hawaii. In such cases demurrage will be waived up to the time of the sailing of the first vessel whose destination is the port for which the freight is intended.

No. 3. Inter-Island Cargoes:
Domestic freight from inter-island ports, for delivery within the City and County of Honolulu, must be removed within two (2) working days after the day of the arrival of the vessel bringing such freight.

No. 4. Outgoing Freight Originating in the City and County of Honolulu:
On all outgoing freight, originating in the City and County of Honolulu, three (3) days' free storage on wharf will be allowed prior to the commencement of loading of vessel.

No. 5. Gasoline, Etc.:
Gasoline, kerosene, distillate, benzine and other products of petroleum; also paint and paint oils, if in leaky containers, must be removed by the consignees from the wharf by 5 o'clock p. m. of the day of their being discharged.

None of the above articles shall be discharged from any vessel, except between the hours of 7 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. of any day. Upon failure to so remove said articles prior to 5 o'clock p. m. of any day, the Harbor Master must remove said articles; all charges in connection therewith being borne by the consignee.

No. 6. Demurrage:
Demurrage will be charged at the following rates per ton per day: On freight originating in the City and County of Honolulu, or destined for Honolulu delivery, 25 cents.

No freight, subject to demurrage, shall be removed from the dock by the consignee or other person until all charges thereon shall have been paid and a written release given by the Harbor Master.

No. 7. Definition of a Ton:
For the purpose of computing demurrage, a ton is 2000 pounds, or 40 cubic feet, as listed on a ship's manifest which discharges such freight.

No. 8. Definition of a Day:
Twenty-four (24) hours shall constitute a day, commencing at 12 o'clock midnight; and fractional parts thereof shall be charged as a full day.

No. 9. Penalty for Violation of Rules and Regulations:
Any person or persons who shall violate any of the above Rules or Regulations shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to the penalties as provided by Section 9, Act 163 of the Session Laws of 1911. Approved Wednesday, May 8, 1912.

MARSTON CAMPBELL,
Chairman, Board of Harbor Commissioners.
EMIL A. BERNDT,
Secretary, Board of Harbor Commissioners.

NOTICE.

During my absence from the Territory, Mr. Charles P. Osborne will carry on my undertaking business as usual.

The embalming branch will continue to be carried on by two experienced assistants whose specialty is shipping cases, and work first-class as scores of letters on file testify.

GOLF AND TENNIS.

The place for recreation and a quiet time is Haleiwa. The golf links are as good as any in the country, the wind from the sea constantly blows in and the view of the country adds to the attractions of the place. There is a tennis court, as well, and the best swimming beach on this island; no coral, no broken bottles. The table at Haleiwa attracts many tourists who leave satisfied and well pleased with what they have seen and with their entertainment. The management of the hotel has an automobile in the rent service and guests secure it for rides through the country where the pine are growing yellow on their plants.

You Can't Be Happy With a Headache

Probably more pleasure is spoiled because of headaches than from any other reason. When your head aches it not only makes you unhappy but it is very apt to interfere with the pleasure of everyone else around you. One can't be expected to be very cheerful and pleasant when one's head is simply splitting. And there is no need of suffering. Keep a box of

Stearns' Headache Wafers (Shac)

In the house when you are at home—carry it in your bag when you travel. That insures you against the annoyance of headaches—your own and other people's. Stearns' Headache Wafers are as pure as they look, and the snow-white wafers certainly indicate purity in the highest degree. One dose cures, and leaves your head "clear as a bell." It is so much better than any other kind that your own interest demands that you insist on STEARNS'—the genuine.

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

The World's Standard Used Exclusively by 98% of World's Creameries

Ten years ago there were a dozen different makes of creamery or factory separators in use. To-day over 98 per cent of the world's creameries use De Laval separators exclusively.

When it comes to buying a separator why not profit by the experience of the creameryman, which qualifies him to advise you correctly.

He knows which separator will give you the best service and be the most economical for you to buy. That's why 98 per cent of the world's creameries use the De Laval exclusively.

There can be no better recommendation for the De Laval than the fact that the men who make the separation of milk a business use the De Laval to the practical exclusion of all other makes. They know the cleanest last the longest.

Morning Cable Report

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—The latest vote of the California presidential preference primaries gives the following figures to the different candidates: Roosevelt, 132,875; Taft, 67,650; La Follette, 44,131; Clark, 39,134; Wilson, 16,919.

DAYTON, Ohio, May 16.—In an enthusiastic address made last night before a tremendous crowd here former President Roosevelt declared that he is sure of the nomination on the first ballot at the national Republican convention at Chicago. He expressed himself as delighted with the results in California and declared that other states which still have presidential primaries will follow the example set by the Golden State. He said:

"I am confident, after the showing made by the voters of the different States where presidential primaries have been held during this campaign, that I shall be nominated on the first ballot at the Chicago convention. I am now in a position to announce that I have at present 500 uncontested delegates who will cast their ballots for me at the convention. It will be remembered that there are needed to nominate 539 delegates. I am confident that I shall be able to win the thirty-nine votes now lacking before the time comes for the convention."

BERKELEY, Wash., May 16.—Two Republican conventions were held here yesterday without any real results being obtained. The Taft and Roosevelt factions held independent meetings and the delegates elected by both conventions will be contested before the convention.

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Dr. Ben Reiman, press agent and tour manager for Emma Goldman, the anarchist propagandist, arrived here yesterday from San Diego in a miserable plight and told how he had been tarred and feathered by the vigilantes of San Diego, run out of town, turned loose in the scantiest garb to shift for himself and warned to return no more. As a final touch they had burned I. W. W. in the jar on his chest with a lighted cigar. He was supplied with a suit of underwear, a ticket to Los Angeles and advised not to return to San Diego. He walked all night and arrived at Escandido on the Santa Fe road at daylight. Emma Goldman also arrived here today and joined Reiman at his hotel.

BAY CITY, Mich., May 16.—The Democratic convention here yesterday refused to instruct the Michigan delegation to the Baltimore convention, and the delegates will go there unpledged for any candidate.

COLUMBIA, N. C., May 16.—The North Carolina Democratic convention which met here yesterday adjourned without having instructed the delegates to vote for Clark, Wilson or Underwood. There was no fight in the convention.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 16.—The Democratic convention held aloof from all candidates now in the Democratic field, and declined to instruct the delegates to the national convention for any candidate.

PROVO, Utah, May 16.—The State Republican convention yesterday instructed the solid state delegation to the Chicago convention for President Taft.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The Senate committee on foreign affairs yesterday reported favorably on the resolution calling for an international conference to discuss the present high cost of living, the reasons therefor, and if possible find some solution.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Vice-President Sherman yesterday signed the joint resolution calling for the direct election of senators by the people. JIMINEZ, Mex., May 16.—A second battle between the federal forces under General Huerta and the rebels under Orozco is expected this morning.

RAISING BAN

"The rule gives a means to employ when needed. "Repeal would be interpreted with great publicity as indicating a moral declension."

Comes Before General Conference. The subject is to come before the general conference after the committee has reported.

With the necessity of calling the roll of 850 delegates and committee assignments, the conference at the first of its sessions was not prepared to take up regular business. It was said it probably would be several days before the real work of the conference is reached. Only the mornings are to be devoted to conference business, the afternoons being given up to committees and the evenings to reports from missionaries.

FEW STUDENTS ARE WEALTHY.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 1.—Interesting statistics given out by Charles W. Dabney, president of the University of Cincinnati, show that a large percentage of students attending the school come from families in moderate circumstances, against the general belief that the institution was made up of students from the families of the wealthy.

A canvass of a representative body of the students revealed the fact that only five per cent of the students come from what could be termed wealthy families. Seventy-five per cent come from families whose income is less than $2500, an unusual circumstance in a municipal institution, such as the University of Cincinnati. Thirty-five per cent of the student body come from families whose income is less than $1500. Eighteen per cent come from families whose income is from $2500 to $7500. The remarkable fact is disclosed that 19 per cent of the students are fatherless and are being sent to the university by their widowed mothers. It is proved also that 40 per cent of the families having sons or daughters in the university live in rented homes and 60 per cent own their homes.

TURKS GIRL FOR RUSS CLASH.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 1.—Kurds, Turks and Arabs continue to concentrate on the Persian-Turkish-Russian frontier. Dispatches to a St. Petersburg telegraph agency, which is under the control of the minister of the interior, state that local observers estimate the number of armed men mobilized at 100,000, and that a substantial part of this multitude is composed of regular troops.

The Turks have compelled all the Kurdish and Arab tribes, such as the Mamlah, Mongur and Piron, to furnish 2000 equipped soldiers each. The Persian correspondents of the telegraph agency, especially the one in Tabriz, say that developments on the Turkish side are due to Russia's persistence in increasing the number of troops near Kars and along the frontier. The Turks are represented as spreading the report among the Kurds that a war with Russia is imminent.

These dispatches are causing acute uneasiness, since they are permitted by the minister of the interior to become public. They come chiefly either from Russian consuls or consular employes.

OBERRAMMERSGAU HAS A RIVAL.

BERLIN, Germany, May 1.—It is expected that thousands of tourists will make pilgrimages this summer to the village of Erl in the Bavarian Tyrol, which promises to become a rival Oberammergau. There have been Passion play performances in Erl at intervals since 1600, but on a modest scale, the patronage being limited to Erl and adjacent towns. This year an auditorium capable of holding 2000 persons has been erected and preparations have been made to accommodate visitors as they are accommodated at Oberammergau.

All the roles in the play, numbering 300, are taken by villagers. The part of the Savior is assumed by a peasant named Caspar Pfisterer. The play is not merely a copy of the drama as enacted at Oberammergau, but is an original product with a special text written in 1905. Critics who have witnessed the first public rehearsals say the production is marked by dignity, sincerity and depth of feeling.

The play covers all the incidents of the biblical story contained in the Oberammergau version and requires seven hours for its performance.

THE INSANITY OF AMBITION.

Springfield Republican: Of all types of temperament and character, Theodore Roosevelt's would be the least desirable for this republic and this democracy to experiment with in the act of destroying the unwritten law against a third term in the presidency of the United States. When he became president before, he was first of all the creation of an assassin's bullet and, in his youth and inexperience, the ablest and wisest men of his party went to aid and counsel him. Their powerful restraint was ever active, but not always sufficient to curb his instinct and passion to establish one-man rule. Imagine, Mr. Roosevelt placed again in the White House. Who would be his advisers and counselors? Who at his side could venture, who would dare to resist his will, to point out his errors of judgment, to subject his program to a cold, merciless criticism in the light of law and reason?

HOMER DAVENPORT, WHO WON FAME AS CARTOONIST, ONCE CIRCUS CLOWN;
ARABIAN HORSES WERE HIS HOBBY

—Davenport in New York Mail.

DAVENPORT AND ONE OF HIS CARTOONS

NEW YORK, May 3.—Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, who died after a brief illness, became celebrated when in the national campaign of 1896 he made cartoons of Mark Hanna in a suit of clothes bearing the dollar mark. His later cartoons portraying the trusts as savage giants added to his reputation. Born in Oregon in 1867, Davenport was a circus clown for a time. He aspired to be a tumbler, but was cured of this by a fall in which he broke several ribs. His hobby was Arabian horses. He owned several thoroughbreds which he obtained from the sultan of Turkey.

GALES RAZE A SPANISH CAMP.
GIBRALTAR, May 1.—Gales have destroyed the Spanish camp at Kas-el-Kebir, Morocco. The weather has improved and 2,000 Spanish soldiers embark at Algeciras today for Larache. In addition to this force a cavalry regiment from Malaga and a battalion or rifles from Cadiz will be sent. Moors marching on Maline have attacked the French. The Rifian Kabyles, now more numerous than ever before, will attack any French forces that may venture from the Algerian frontier into Morocco.

SEA TRAVEL SAFER THAN EVER.
New York Herald: On every side comment is heard on the dangers of ocean travel, and here and there we hear of some timid soul who has canceled passage or altered vacation plans. This is the acme of foolishness. Never since the days when Father Noah was making a name for himself as a navigator was ocean travel as safe as it is now. The Titanic disaster has taught many valuable lessons and destroyed that overconfidence which was the chief cause of a tragedy that shocked humanity.

THESE SIX LETTERS From New England Women

Prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Does Restore the Health of Ailing Women.

Boston, Mass.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from hemorrhages (sometimes lasting for weeks), and could get nothing to check them. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound (tablet form) on Tuesday, and the following Saturday morning the hemorrhages stopped. I have taken them regularly ever since and am steadily gaining."
"I certainly think that every one who is troubled as I was should give your Compound Tablets a faithful trial, and they will find relief."—Mrs. GEORGE J. JURY, 892 Fifth Street, South Boston, Mass.

Letter from Mrs. Julia King, Phoenix, R.I.

Phoenix, R.I.—"I worked steady in the mill from the time I was 12 years old until I had been married a year, and I think that caused my bad feelings. I had soreness in my side near my left hip that went around to my back, and sometimes I would have to lie in bed for two or three days. I was not able to do my household work."
"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me wonderfully in every way. You may use my letter for the good of others. I am only too glad to do anything within my power to recommend your medicine."—Mrs. JULIA KING, Box 283, Phoenix, R.I.

Letter from Mrs. Etta Donovan, Willimantic, Conn.

Willimantic, Conn.—"For five years I suffered untold agony from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It was impossible for me to walk up stairs without stopping on the way. I was all run down in every way."
"I tried three doctors and each told me something different. I received no benefit from any of them but seemed to suffer more. The last doctor said it was no use for me to take anything as nothing would restore me to health again. So I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see what it would do, and by taking seven bottles of the Compound and other treatment you advised, I am restored to my natural health."—Mrs. ETTA DONOVAN, 762 Main Street, Willimantic, Conn.

Letter from Mrs. Winfield Dana, Augusta, Me.

Augusta, Me.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured the backache, headache, and the bad pain I had in my right side, and I am perfectly well."—Mrs. WINFIELD DANA, R.F.D. No. 5, Augusta, Me.

Letter from Mrs. J. A. Thompson, Newport, Vt.

Newport, Vt.—"I thank you for the great benefit Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I took eight bottles and it did wonders for me, as I was a nervous wreck when I began taking it. I shall always speak a good word for it to my friends."—Mrs. J. A. THOMPSON, Box 3, Newport Center, Vermont.

Letter from Miss Grace Dodds, Bethlehem, N.H.

Bethlehem, N.H.—"By working very hard, sweeping carpets, washing, ironing, lifting heavy baskets of clothes, etc., I got all run down. I was sick in bed every month."
"This last Spring my mother got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and already I feel like another girl. I am regular and do not have the pains that I did, and do not have to go to bed. I will tell all my friends what the Compound is doing for me."—Miss GRACE B. DODDS, Box 133, Bethlehem, N.H.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.
Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.
