BRYAN-PARKER FIGHT IN BALTIMORE

COMMITTEE NAMED TO FORM THE ROOSEVELT PARTY

Even June Pay Of Army Is Held Up

Headed by Brigadier General DeSpain an army of gloom invaded army headquarters in the Young building this morning and marched and counter-marched all over the shop, afterward proceeding to the various forts about the island.

The invasion of the glooms was entirely due to a cablegram received by Paymaster Cooke this morning from Washington stating that because the appropriation had been exhausted there would be no pay for officers or men this month.

Captain Cooke was instructed not to expend more than the funds he has on hand and the sum in question is just sufficient to pay off a few soldiers who will be discharged this month, and the civilian employees.

Through the veto imposed upon the army appropriation bill by President Taft the army had been expecting that there would be some difficulty in securing pay for July and possibly for a few months thereafter, but officers and men had expected to draw pay for June, the last month in the fiscal year.

Congress, busy playing politics, neglected to pass an emergency deficiency bill such as is usually passed toward the end of the fiscal year and as a result the "ghost will not walk" this month and there is a strong probability that it will not amble into view for several months.

The failure to pay will affect about 5000 persons immediately connected with the army in Hawaii, and a host of tradesmen who will have a chance to show their belief in the stability of the American government.

The situation is much like that in the year 1877 when J. Pierpont Morgan put the army on his payroll and paid both officers and men through the firm of Drexel, Morgan & Co., until Congress passed the army appropriation bill some six months later.

Although J. Pierpont had the distinction of being the first civilian to have an army dependent on his check-book, he did not permit the honor to cloud his business sense, for he charged six per cent interest duly deducted from the pay of officers and men at the rate of one half of one per cent a month.

It is probable that the present stringency will be relieved by some up to date banking house, which in return for the low interest charged will naturally expect to do a good business in the future, with those benefited.

Aside from the lack of pay, it is probable that the question of sustenance for the army will become a serious matter after July unless congress comes to its aid in the meantime. The contracts for much of the provisions, especially in the Hawaiian Islands, are let monthly. Those for July have been let recently but the question arises as to whether the contractors will be willing to bid for furnishing August supplies if they learn that payments will not be made promptly.

The situation, as one officer pointed out this morning, is an excellent argument in behalf of those who would take the army out of politics and prevent it being made a laughing stock for foreign nations which pay their soldiers and sailors first, and permit verbose lawmakers to "save the country" when there is nothing else on the program.

The regular meeting of the Hawaiian Engineering Association will be held at the College of Hawaii, at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. W. J. Dyer, assistant general manager of Honolulu Iron Works, will give a talk on his recent trip to Peru. Mr. Dyer visited Panama and Peru, the scene of the world's greatest engineering projects today. He has been for many years connected with important manufacturing and engineering developments throughout these islands and his lecture on his recent trip to South America will be authoritative.

Three Cases For Hospital

Three accident cases went to the hospital on Saturday.

E. Postawitz, a Russian, was set on by three countrymen in Camp No. 2, and sustained a badly cut head.

Ishiba Okata jumped off a Kaili-bound street car and bruised his face considerably.

Lee Chung was run away with in a laundry-wagon and was knocked unconscious in the pill which ensued.

TWO DESERTERS ARE CAPTURED

Waterfront Officer Carter returned from Maui by the steamer Mikaha yesterday, bringing with him Privates Moore and Scott, deserters from Fort Ruger.

The men stowed away in the American ship W. P. Frye and were working at Pala when apprehended.

FREAR CABLES ABOUT BONDS

Official notice of the approval of the new bond issue, by President Taft, news of which was cabled the Star a week ago, was received by Acting Governor Mott-Smith yesterday afternoon from Governor Frear, who cabled the acting governor just before leaving the convention for Honolulu.

The same cablegram contained instructions to Treasurer Conkling to meet the governor in San Francisco, which means that the treasurer will have to leave here immediately in order to meet the governor who, in company with his wife, will sail in the Wilhelmina July 1. September 3 is the date given for the actual flotation of the new bond issue.

The governor also stated that he had written Attorney General Wickersham concerning the necessity for a speedy appointment to the circuit judgeship on Kauai, action upon which has elapsed since May 22.

Kuhio Will Be Marshal Of Parade

PRINCE JONAH KUHIŌ KALANIANOʻE, Grand Marshal July Fourth Parade.

Prince Kalanianoʻe will be the chairman of the committee on sports, grand marshal for the Fourth of July parade. He expressed his willingness to act on Saturday night when informed that A. M. Brown, who had been named as grand marshal, would not be able to be in Honolulu on the day in question. When the latter tendered his resignation, the joint committee of the Merchants' Association and Chamber of Commerce unanimously decided to ask the Delegate to accept the post. Through the efforts of Senator Chillingworth, for the Fourth.

The parade which will be marshaled by Prince Kuhio will be civic in character but it is expected to be the largest of its kind yet seen in Honolulu. The majority of the prominent merchants of the city are preparing floats to represent them, and the fraternal organizations and other civic bodies will be in line.

There will be a meeting at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon of the heads of the subcommittees on sports and on the Fourth.

BRYAN EXPECTED TO CARRY FIGHT INTO CONVENTION

(Associated Press Cable to the Star.)

BALTIMORE, June 24.—William J. Bryan has told Jerry Sullivan of Iowa that he himself will be a candidate for temporary chairman against Judge Parker if there is none other to contest the position.

Others Being Considered.

John Worth Kern of Indiana and Ollie James of Kentucky are being considered for the temporary chairmanship.

Friends of Bryan have served notice on the committee that they will nominate him in the convention for temporary chairman if Parker should persist in his candidacy.

Weighty Night Session.

The national committee will hold a night session to consider contests, prepare a temporary roll and select a temporary chairman.

The First Report.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 24.—An attempted compromise of the struggle over the chairmanship of the Democratic national convention was discussed today, the plan being to make Bryan or Norman E. Mack chairman. The plan failed.

The indications are that Alton B. Parker will be chosen by the national committee chairman, and that Bryan will carry the fight against him on to the floor of the convention.

Guffey Ousted Again.

James M. Guffey, of Pennsylvania, who was ousted once before at the instance of Bryan, as a member of the national committee, was ousted again today, by a vote of 59 to 6. Ex-Congressman Mitchell was chosen to succeed him.

NEW ROOSEVELT PARTY.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Governor Hiram Johnson of California has appointed a committee of eighteen, with himself as the chairman, to head an organization for the formation of a new national party.

Roosevelt To Rest.

Colone! Roosevelt will probably leave for Oyster Bay late today to rest a little from the strain of convention week. After he has recuperated the work of organization of the Progressive party will be taken up.

Will Ignore Democratic Action.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Roosevelt has said that the nomination of a progressive Democrat will not affect the plans of the new party.

REGULAR REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

CHICAGO, June 24.—Powell Clayton of Arkansas has been made temporary chairman of the new Republican national committee. When convened a committee of nine will be appointed to confer with President Taft to ascertain his wishes with regard to the selection of a chairman for the campaign. After the conference another meeting will be called.

Charles D. Hilles will probably be the permanent chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Gompers, Mitchell And Morrison Sentenced Again

WASHINGTON, June 24.—President Gompers, vice President John Mitchell and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor were again sentenced to terms in jail today, for contempt of court committed in connection with the strike of the Bucks Stove Range company some years ago. The former sentences were set aside over a year ago. Gompers and Mitchell were sentenced today to nine months each and Morrison to six months. The case is to be again appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

SEVEN KILLED IN STRIKE.

HASTINGS ON HUDSON, N. Y., June 24.—Seven persons, including one woman and one boy, were shot this afternoon during a clash between the strikers and special deputies who were guarding the property of the National Conduit Cable Company.

DEATH ROLL GROWS LARGER.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 24.—Sixteen bodies have been recovered, of those who lost their lives yesterday by the collapse of a dock in the Niagara river. The total number of the dead and missing is thirty.

NATIONAL WOMEN'S CONVENTION.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—The eleventh biennial convention of the general federation of Women's clubs opens here tomorrow. Delegates from all over America are here to attend the session.

SUCCEEDS FRED GRANT.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Brigadier General Wm. W. Wotherspoon has been appointed major general, to succeed the late Fred D. Grant.

MOTT-SMITH CONGRATULATES FREAR AND SENDS FOR CONKLING

Acting Governor Mott-Smith sent two messages today; one was cabled to Governor Frear, the other was a wireless message to Territorial Treasurer Conkling who is at Hilo.

The translated message to Governor Frear at Chicago was: "Please accept my heartiest congratulations regarding approval of bonds; Conkling is on Hawaii cannot leave until the steamer Honolulu leaves next Wednesday. This is probably too late to enable you to meet him at San Francisco. Will it be possible for you to wait for him or shall he await your return to Honolulu?"

At the same time, a wireless was sent to the treasurer at Hilo telling him to return Friday on the Mauna Kea in order that he may be ready to leave for San Francisco immediately pending word from the governor at Chicago.

In the governor's cable to the acting executive yesterday giving official notice of the bond issue, he signified his intention of leaving for Honolulu (Continued on page Four)

Many Republicans Here Are Waiting And "On The Fence"

"I'm going to take time to consider," was the answer given this morning by George A. Davis, to a question as to where he stood on the new political issues raised by the results of the Chicago convention. Davis has long been an enthusiastic and demonstrative Republican, but he is not quite certain whether he is a regular Republican now or not.

It appears that a number of the local political leaders are in some doubt as to their standing, and that, as stated in the Star last week, there is considerable likelihood of the formation of a third party here. "I find a great deal of dissatisfaction with the conditions here, political and other," said Davis, "especially among the young men. It is our small reproduction of the conditions on the mainland. No one can say, just now, what it is going to lead to.

"It is all right for Breckons and others to compare the Roosevelt bolt to the act of the Know-nothings and the Populists, but it is a much bigger matter. It is a very serious matter when 400 representative men from all over the country, elected to represent their people in a national convention, refuse to take part in the proceedings. It shows a condition comparable to that of 1856, which led to the birth of the Republican party.

"Men do not know where they stand, now. It seems as if almost a miracle would be needed to elect the regular Republican ticket, or to put the party organization where it was when led by McKinley, or even where it was four years ago when led by Taft.

"I think that Taft would have been nominated anyhow without unfair tactics, but I do not like the way delegates were stolen from Roosevelt by the power of the party organization. It is hard to forecast what will happen if the talked-of combination of Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson is made."

A Political Revolution.

"It is a political revolution," said Col. C. J. McCarthy, long one of the straight Democratic leaders. "There is evidently a row on in Baltimore now, and it may be that our party will split too. The political conditions are changing, and until after the Baltimore convention we won't know how to size up the changes. The Roosevelt and Wilson combination might be hard to beat."

MANY ARRESTS THIS MORNING

Today's arrests include:

An unrecognizable drunkard.

Mmanuel da Costa, charged with threatening.

Hauilile, profanity.

Ching Yau Hung, assault and battery.

Henry Moldenhauer, assault and battery on Mrs. Moldenhauer.

Solomon Pill, assault and battery on John Farlas.

F. Oissen, obtaining $7.85 from Lee Kee under false pretenses.

Mrs. Ching Chong, assault and battery on Awan Ho Fong.

ANOTHER BAD ASSAULT CASE

Another case of criminal assault upon a female child under the age of twelve is on trial in Judge Robinson's court, the defendant in this instance being a Chinese named Chin Fan. Cases of this kind are becoming common, but seem to attract little attention, such crimes being of frequent occurrence. The assault now being investigated by the court is alleged to have taken place in a Honolulu tenement.

BEAUTY BARS FAIR SEX FROM POLITICS

Handsome must the maiden be Who will catch a wily He If in politics she essays She will find it never pays; For the HES demand the looks, Oft they read in books And the SHES have not the time While at work on laws sublime To look their best. No apologies.

A woman has no right to enter politics because if she does she will not have the necessary time in which to stand before the mirror and plaiter on her already beautiful countenance the accumulated output of the Beauty Parlor factories without which no mere man will deign a second look at her. At least this is the opinion of Miss Nazil Gibara, a winsome maid who argued the matter out with Harbormaster Foster this morning during a discussion as to whether she should come across with one good round dollar alleged by the inhuman and hard-hearted sailor man to be owing as demurrage on a package that arrived some time ago for the lady.

Miss Gibara has the matter all down in a book which she kindly offered to show the harbormaster. "No man," declared the energetic anti-suffragette, "will look at a woman unless she is pretty and a woman who enters the political arena has no time to make herself look nice."

Does this mean that in the near future most of our women are to appear frowsy and that the fashions will only change once in every four years and that what the presidentess, or whatever the "Suffers" call the next one after this, will set the fashion for the whole four years? Does it mean all this? If so, what answer has the Hawaii Suffragette Hul to make to this awful prophecy? What have the militant Chinese ladies who invaded the sanctum of a local Chinese editor to say?

Furthermore, Miss Gibara demands that justice shall be meted out to all and sundry. "Everyone," she says "has a right to justice. I am paying this money under protest and I expect to get justice."

It took Foster just one hour to get that dollar entrusted to his care and the rumor current along the waterfront this morning is that he is in line for the next diplomatic job that is going.

Axelrod and Marcellino who have tied in the handball tournament at the Y. M. C. A., each having won five and lost none, will play off the tie this afternoon on the Y. M. C. A. court, and the contest is expected to be the feature of the tournament.

STOCKS SHOW SLIGHT FALL

The local stock market showed a downward tendency again today. The total volume of sales was small, but in most cases the prices at which the stocks went showed slight declines. Oahu fell from $27.50 to $27.25, Olua from $7.50 to $7.25, and Ewa dropped a quarter, to $31.25. The sales were all very small ones. The biggest sale placed on record was of 200 shares of Olua, which went at the higher price of $7.50. Onomea dropped to $52.50, in a sale of five shares.

GENERAL MONTEAGUDO COMMANDS CUBAN ARMY IN PRESENT UPRISING

HAVANA, June 2.—General Monteaugudo, commander of the Cuban army, is regarded by President Gomez as capable of putting down the uprising of negroes without aid from the United States government. Monteaugudo is a soldier of long experience and training. He is noted for his fearlessness, and the thoroughness with which he goes about anything that he undertakes.

Because the federal government has been too poor to spend $150 for a new structure, Fort De Russy for the past two years has been cursed with a guard house which in point of architecture and comfort would be put to shame by any pen which a provident farmer on the mainland would build for the accommodation of his pigs. For two years Inspector general have held up their gauntleted hands in horror on viewing the guard house at Fort De Russy and have fired recommendations for a new structure, which have been promptly pigeonholed by those in authority in Washington.

The building as it stands is a square shack built of rough boards and covered with corrugated iron roofing; which has curled up around the eaves so that it looks as if it had been blasted by a bolt of lightning. There are no windows in the guard house, but two square holes have been cut in the floor boards in exactly the same manner as ingress and egress is provided for the porcine inhabitants of a sty. Bars across these holes provide the only decorative feature of the building for the bars are not needed as a safeguard. Any strong man could push out a side of the house and walk away with the remainder of the building on his back, were it not for sentries outside. Those who have seen the guard house are of the opinion that while it is not an interesting structure it should certainly prove instructive to the world at large in demonstrating the manner in which the United States takes care of its military prisoners.

MAHUKA CASE GOING TO THE JURY

Unless the unexpected happens, the Mahuka site case will go to the jury this afternoon. But so many delays have been experienced that it is not safe to make any more predictions regarding this long drawn out case. Argument was concluded this morning Attorney Olson closing in reply for the respondents to the argument of United States District Attorney Breckons. It was stated at two o'clock Judge Doie would give his instructions to the jury and then turn the case over to them. It is possible that a verdict may be returned some time today.

GAS COMPANY BONDS TAKEN

The stockholders of the Honolulu Gas Company have approved the recent issue of $200,000 worth of bonds, at five per cent, $200,000 thereof to be used to redeem six per cent bonds now outstanding. The bonds have been subscribed locally. The company is to make very material extensions in its system. Ten miles of pipe for the extension to Kaimuki has already arrived. Work will start on this extension the first of next month. The company has just completed the extension to the whole of the Kalihi district, and it is planned very soon to extend the mains to Fort Shafter. The finishing touches on a new 200,000 cu. ft. gas holder at Iwilei were made Saturday and today it goes into operation. This increases the storage capacity four-fold.

MANY GAMBLERS HAVE TO DIG

In the police court this morning Jose Flores, charged with vagrancy, was committed for trial. T. Dalavell, similarly charged, had sentence suspended for thirteen months. The case of Blanche Martin, charged with assault and battery on Felicitas, was stricken. J. Kani, charged with assault and battery, had sentence suspended for thirteen months. M. Townsend and J. Silva, gamblers, forfeited bail of $10 each. Mokoshi was fined $5 and costs. J. Freitas and J. Vincent, gamblers, forfeited bail of $10. Eleven Porto Ricans, charged with gambling, were fined $5 and costs each. One defendant forfeited bail. D. Noa, O. Chalmers and C. Manu, gamblers, were fined $5 and costs each.

DR. ELIOT ARRIVES

Returning from the Orient, where he laid before the Chinese a scheme for their national education system, Dr. Charles W. Elliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, was supposed to be on board the Tenyo Maru this afternoon. Members of the Harvard club were awaiting him on the Hackfeld dock, but the steamer was delayed outside until after 3 o'clock. During his stay in town he will be entertained by the club. In Shanghai Dr. Elliot addressed a thousand Chinese at the Y. M. C. A., talking as the title of his address, "Points to Be Observed in a National System of Education." During the course of his address he urged them to model their system on that now in vogue throughout the United States. "Your revolution was brought about," he said, "through thousands of your young Chinese visiting the United States and bringing back ideas with them."

THE AGONY IS OVER.

Now that both Roosevelt and Taft have been nominated the first throes in the agony list are over and you may get your mind on pleasant things by taking a trip to Haleiwa. There is always something doing, always something good to eat and a chance for a foursome of golf. The trains will take you to the door and if you wish on, there is an auto in the rent service on the premises. "In your civilization," said the barbarian with the inquiring mind, "the people select a candidate for office, do they not?" "Not precisely," replied Senator Sorghum. "The candidate selects himself and then gets out and persuades the people to endorse him."—Washington Star.

SEARCHLIGHT ON THE SKY.

Mrs. E. A. Bishop of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I should like to have the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound thrown on the sky with a searchlight, so that all suffering women could read and be convinced that there is a remedy for their ills. For years I was a great sufferer from organic female troubles and had despaired of ever being well again, but found relief in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I tried as a last resort." For nearly forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills.

SOCIETY

OVER THE TEACUPS.
Society Editor.
Telephone 2799.

"Jupiter Pete! look at that, will you?" said John, laying down his fork, and gazing at Dolly, as she fluttered into the dining room wearing a fluffy breakfast cap.

"Look at what?" asked Dolly guilelessly.
"That thing on your head."
"You'd rather look at that, than at my hair the way it is," said Dolly.
"Mother looks nice," observed the Kid.
"Of course she does," replied John. "Mother always looks nice. But oh, the way of achieving it."

"But I didn't have time to comb my hair."
"Why didn't you get up sooner?"
"I went to sleep again."

The logic of this being inanswerable, John munched his roll in silence. "It's only a new way it's breaking out," he said after a few minutes.
"What?" asked the Kid excitedly, thinking of measles and scarletina. John didn't heed him.

"At one time," he went on continuing his monologue, "it's rats and puffs until a woman's head looks like an overfed pin-cushion covered with a mass of snaggles."
"Ugh!" said Dolly.

"That's just it. But a woman never thinks of appropriateness. She just goes ahead and gets herself up in the style, regardless of what it may be like. Now that thing fits a garden party, but it doesn't fit the breakfast table."

"But it's very dainty," said Dolly. "I was a long while picking it out. That lace is too sweet for anything, and those rosebuds—"
"Of course," interrupted John. "I'm no judge. But let me tell you this,—if men had the choosing of women's clothes, you wouldn't see women wearing hats that make them look hump-backed—"

"Hats that make them look hump-backed?"
"Yes. The kind that come so nearly to the shoulders that the shoulders try to go up to meet them, and there you are,—a near-hump-back,—and skirts so narrow, they have to toddle along in them like a Jap."

"And I notice now," went on John, "that they are putting a little doodle down the front like a blacksmith's apron, and another in the back like a loose sail, flapping in the wind; though what they are for the masculine mind cannot conceive. They certainly are not beautiful."

"But I notice," said Dolly sweetly, "that the women dressed that way are the ones the men look after and flock around and invite to all the swell affairs."

John picked up his newspaper.
"I can't imagine you or any other man," went on Dolly, "taking a woman to the Horse Show, for instance, who had her hair,—just her own hair,—done up in a nice, little, tight knob behind, who wore a plain little bonnet tied on,—that's the comfortable way,—and a full skirt she could walk in, and a loose, easy waist."

"And I know very well," she concluded as they rose from the table, "if I had come down without this cap on, and with my hair all frowsy—"
"Let's see what it does look like anyway," teased John, reaching toward the cap.

"No you don't," she replied, clapping her hands on her head. "My ambition is always to appear adorable in your sight!"

"You always are adorable," he said kissing her good-by. "And wear the breakfast cap if you want to. I don't care a hang. It really is very fetching."

THE MORNING CABLE REPORT

BUFFALO, June 24.—Twenty persons were drowned here yesterday afternoon when a big dock in the Niagara River collapsed. A steamer was at the dock and the hundreds of pleasure seekers were boarding it when suddenly the wharf gave way under the heavy strain and fell into the water.

More than 250 persons were precipitated into the water and the awful struggle to reach a place of safety was terrible to behold. Men, women and children struggled in their effort to swim and the confusion in the water as they tried to get past each other was heartrending. Many men fought like wild animals to save themselves.

Small boats hastened to the scene of confusion to aid the victims and save as many women and children as possible.

There were many who were unable to swim or even keep themselves above water until assistance arrived. Twenty persons went down to their death while the other hundred of victims were engaged in the struggle to reach a place of safety. Many persons already in the boats looked on unable to do anything.

Many of those who were saved were overcome by the nervous excitement of the catastrophe and it was hours before they were revived by the use of stimulants.

When the news of the accident was first telephoned to the police station a special detail of officers was hurried to the scene in an automobile.

They took charge of the situation and finally succeeded in restoring order.
Charge of Hypnotism.
LOS ANGELES, June 24.—The culmination of a week of sensational events in the trial of Clarence Darrow, charged with bribery of a juror in connection with the trial of the McNamara brothers for dynamiting the Times building, came late Saturday afternoon when District Attorney John D. Fredericks made a sensational charge against Darrow in open court. He asserted that Darrow had used hypnotism on several state witnesses in the present bribery trial in order to influence them to testify in his favor.

The entire courtroom was thrown into an uproar of laughter by this accusation on the part of the district attorney who in conducting the case against Darrow which has been in progress for several weeks. The case was proceeding along with the usual routine of questioning witnesses followed by answers on their part and later cross-examinations by Counsel Rogers and other lawyers for the defense and the charge fell like a bolt from a clear sky.

Lawyers on both sides of the case laughed outright, the jurymen themselves were convulsed and even Judge Hutton, before whom the case is being heard, was unable to restrain himself. The large audience in the courtroom created a regular uproar. Even J. Harrington, the witness on the stand, who was testifying at the time, laughed.

When all was quiet again and only smiles remained on the faces of all in the courtroom, Judge Hutton announced that he would not recognize hypnotism as a power in influencing the witnesses in the case. The trial

Convention of Women.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Hundreds of delegates to the annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of America which opens here Tuesday began arriving here yesterday.
The big convention will last several days and special arrangements have been provided by the local federation of women's clubs to make the stay of the delegates one of real pleasure. Numerous trips to the special points of interest in the city have been arranged as well as many social affairs.

The program is one of the best ever arranged in the history of the many successful conventions of the federation.
The election of officers for the new year promises to be a lively one and the selection of the meeting place for the next convention is sure to be a hard-fought battle.

A DINNER GOWN OF TAFFETA GLACE BY SEBILLON.
Tan shot taffeta with a drapery of cream Bohemian lace was used for this stunning restaurant dinner gown by Sebillon. The skirt has a tuck directly across the center which seems a novel idea, but the fringed lace drapery, trailing behind the short skirt is especially graceful. Applied motifs of the cream lace are used on the satin bodice. A tan straw bonnet with gold colored plumes and buttoned boots of brown satin accompany this costume.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE BY BLISS KNAPP, C. S. B.

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Opera House was filled last evening to hear the lecture by Bliss Knapp, C. S. B., a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The lecturer was introduced by Mrs. Hanney Scott, who said:

"Friends: I am very happy to welcome you here this evening on behalf of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Honolulu. The church is pleased to have this opportunity to offer you a lecture on Christian Science by one who is authorized to speak on the subject as the lecturer this evening is. Christian Science is so widely discussed today, and one hears so many opinions expressed about it, that most people are interested to hear what someone has to say who knows from actual experience what Christian Science is and what it does. The aim of the lecture is not to proselyte or to take from any one here any really good or helpful thing he may have. Thousands of people the world over have been helped out of sickness and sin by the teaching of this new-old religion and most of them are ready to give the reason for the faith that is in them. They are happy to share what has done them good with all those who wish to share it.

The Mother Church in Boston maintains a board of lectureship, whose work it is, through the lectures of its members, to give the public a clear idea what the teachings of Christian Science are and to give facts concerning Mrs. Eddy's life and work. It gives me pleasure to introduce to you the lecturer of the evening, Mr. Bliss Knapp, C. S. B., who is a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass."

The lecturer said:

The wonderful power that characterized the life and works of Christ Jesus was in no more need of champions than the force of gravitation. The one, like the other, is ever operative and must be understood before it can be utilized. People embrace Christianity not so much to help it along, as to be helped. Suffering humanity has a right to be helped of God, and all men have an equal right to the healing and saving power that graced the teachings of Christ Jesus. It has been the mission of Christian Science to present these teachings in such comprehensive simplicity as to restore their lost element of healing. Its religious ethics are generally approved, not only because they conform to the teachings of Jesus, but because they inspire an optimism that has made a vast contribution to hope, brightness, and human happiness. The one thing, however, that is most criticized and the one thing that is most responsible for the tremendous growth of this movement, is the healing of the sick through prayer. Healing as well as preaching was a part of the disciples' duty in the early times, and continued to be so for three hundred years of the Christian era, or until Constantine wrought a change. But neither Constantine nor any one else ever had a right to abolish Christians from this duty. By resuming that long neglected duty, Christian Science has exhibited such a divine impulsion as to make of it a world religion in a remarkably short time. This should lead us to consider, in so far as one may, the healing forces that are behind this movement.

It is recorded that Jesus could "do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do." The ability of this gentle Nazarene to obliterate disease and sin was, therefore, the result of what he knew about God, and surely he knew more about God than any other man who ever trod the globe. The ability of his disciples to perpetuate Christian healing was also the result of what Jesus taught them about God. Even to the ability of a Christian Scientist to heal the sick and bring through prayer is wholly due to a better understanding of God, who is the divine Principle of man's existence. This is in agreement with the Scriptural command to "Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace." How then shall we gain the divine acquaintance that sets us free from mental and physical disturbance?

Divine Acquaintance.

One of the earliest ways of gaining an insight into the realm of God was given by Moses in the Ten Commandments. He led people to think of the divine nature as manifested not through a form but through well defined laws. Idolatry had its origin in thinking of God as a form. When men undertook to fashion what they might conceive the precise form of God to be they became thereby idolaters, against which we have the second commandment of the Decalogue. A divine Principle, manifesting His power, intelligence, and loving kindness through well defined laws, He can be understood. In this way the divine nature is actually recognized and the existence of God is seen to make a tremendous difference in the proper government of Christian nations, as well as individuals. God communicates His nature through His laws, and, spiritually interpreted, they define life and health to men; for "this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

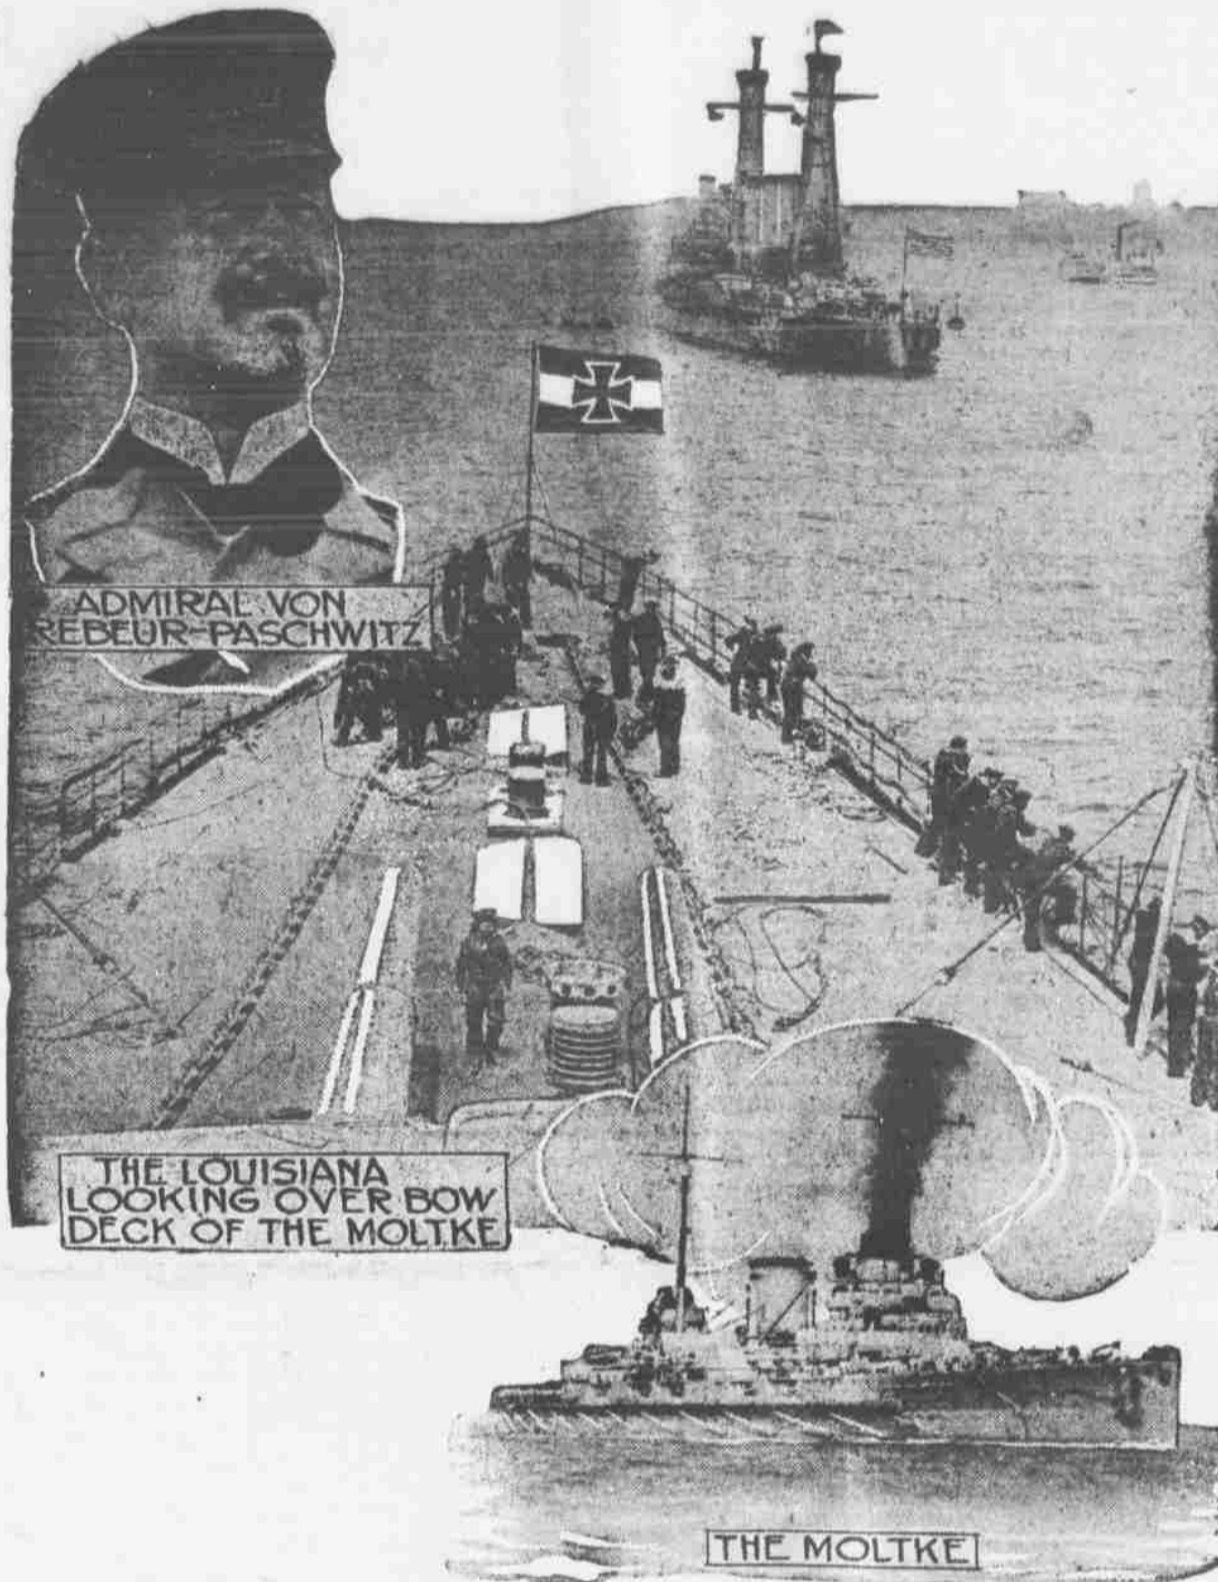

Jesus declared his relationship to this same law in his Sermon on the Mount; for there he said: "Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets; I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill." Having said this, he undertook to teach this law, not so much intellectually, as by a direct appeal to one's moral or spiritual nature. Not that intellectual training should be disapproved; for, on the contrary, the right sort of training is necessary to the proper conduct of every-day affairs. But the one thing of special importance in this connection is the fact that Jesus addressed himself, not so much to the intellects of the disciples, as he did to their spiritual faculties; to their natural tenderness and spiritual aspirations. He recognized that one who has never enjoyed the advantages of an education may have a spiritual sense as well developed, if not superior, to that of a student. Some of his disciples were humble fishermen, with no intellectual training. Others had well-trained intellects. But that which made them all fit students of the divine nature was a well-developed spiritual faculty, for spiritual things must be spiritually discerned. By addressing himself to those faculties, Jesus conveyed to them the actual meaning or understanding of the divine law that communicates God's healing power to humanity. Herein do we observe an understanding that is wholly apart from the human intellect,—an understanding to which Job referred, when he said: "There is a spirit in man; and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding." It is this spiritual understanding of God, that we gain through prayer to Him that heals the sick in every age.

Right Desires.

If an individual is made to believe that he has no faculty for apprehending spiritual law, he is cheered in Christian Science by the sweet assurance that men are natively and inherently spiritual. They need to recognize the latent forces of good already within them. Even the supposedly wicked man may know God and be saved from his evil ways. This is not a mere high-sounding theory, for it is a familiar saying that no one is wholly bad, for there must be at least a spark of goodness in him. Suppose, then, that you address yourself to some very wicked man and ask him if he has ever experienced the desire to be better and to do better; has he really desired to be good? Few will deny that there have been periods when they have entertained such desires. Where do these desires to be good come from? What is their origin? Surely they must have their origin in the infinity of good; and that is what we mean by God—infinite good; the one source of all right desires—the desire to be good, honest, tender, and kind. Whoever entertains such right desires and looks in their direction is looking towards God, and this is not so much a bodily movement as it is a state of consciousness; indeed, a state of spiritual consciousness. When our sense of right corresponds to God's idea of right, then those right desires must originate in God. It is to be noted, therefore, that the desire

NEW YORK, June 10.—The cordiality in the relations between the United States and Germany reached the high note of expression during the visit of the German squadron to this city. The squadron, consisting of the cruisers Moltke, Bremen and Stettin, was anchored in the Hudson river for four days. Mayor Gaynor, other city officials and prominent citizens visited the ships to welcome them, and these visits were returned by Admiral von Rebeur-Paschwitz and other officers of the fleet. Dinners and banquets as well as sight-seeing trips comprised the program of entertainment, and the visitors expressed themselves as delighted with the warmth of the reception given them.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL ITEMS FROM THE BIG ISLAND

KOHALA, June 19.—Following is meeting of the supervising principal of the Kohala Midget's budget of the past week.

Waiohina.

Manager Carl Wolters left Friday for Honolulu, this being his second trip to that place this month.

Henry Kaapana has resigned his position as warehouseman at Honolulu, Manuel Ernesto being the new man on the job.

The Thompson Settlement Association have recently sold their 1912 crop of cane to the Hutchinson Co. They are to receive a certain amount per ton of cane, and it is to be weighed in the field. And that is what some people call "fake homesteading."

Dr. Thompson is back on the farm again, after a few weeks' visit with Senator Hewitt and wife.

Judge Hayselden is contemplating the building of an addition to his home in Kaunamano.

Robert Kekoa and wife had the misfortune to lose their infant son last week. It was buried in the cemetery at Waiohina.

At a meeting of the Waiohina Water Works Co., held in the court house last Saturday night, Capt. Geo. Kawaha was made superintendent. It seems that there has been too much cutting and breaking of the pipes going on in the past and the captain says there will be something doing in the way of prosecutions if there is any more of such work while he has the running of things.

Miss Ben Taylor returned on the Kilauea from Honolulu, where she had been attending the protracted celebrated the 11th of June most enjoyably with a luau at the home of their president, Mrs. Jennie Saffery.

A Korean luna on the Kukuhale plantation was shot in the left shoulder, by one of his fellowmen, with a shotgun, last Saturday, and is at present in the hospital. The murderer is not expected to live. The murderer was arrested.

The funeral of John Low took place at 10 o'clock on the morning of June 11, briefly and impressively conducted by Rev. C. Kamakawiwole. At 11, the procession started for the long journey, from the Ditch headquarters, toward the village, up Mud lane, and up to Mana, the interment being in the family plot. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. At Waimea the cortege was met by many relatives, friends and cowboys, and all joined the procession to Mana.

Henry Kukona, with a bevy of young girls, gave a concert last Saturday at the Honokaa Lyceum. They collected $30, which amount will be used towards building a church in Honokaa.

Pahala.

John Watt and Mr. A. W. T. Bottomley were luncheon guests at Pahala on Saturday last.

Robert Catton has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Ogg for several days past.

L. Chong of Naalehu returned from Honolulu by the last Kilauea with his wife and part of his family. Mrs. Chong lived many years at Pahala before she went back to China.

R. F. Engle left by today's boat to meet his daughter, Dora, in Honolulu and see her off on the Honolulu for San Francisco.

The district is suffering severely from the long continued drought. Mr. and Mrs. A. Braga have left for Honolulu on a visit.

TAFT AND SHERMAN THE STRAIGHT TICKET

Both The President and Vice President Renominated in a Walkover--Roosevelt's Party Organized

CHICAGO, Illinois, June 23.—President William Howard Taft is nominated on the candidate of the Republican party to succeed himself.

James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice president of the United States, received the vice presidential nomination.

The final vote was: Taft, 561; Roosevelt, 166; La Follette, 41; Cummins, 17; Hughes, 2; absent 7; present but not voting, 344.

The voting at the rollcall which nominated President Taft was for the most part quiet, even when the Tafters found themselves winning easily. The only disturbance came when the chairman of the Massachusetts delegation rose to cast the vote of his delegation. He was immediately challenged, and it was not until after considerable time had elapsed that he was enabled to report "present but not voting."

This started the confusion again. A previous ruling of Senator Root in the case of the Delaware delegation which had also announced itself present but not voting was to the effect that in a case of that sort the alternate might vote. This was questioned by Foidick of the Massachusetts delegation, who asked for an explanation. Senator Root declined to give one, but remained firm in his ruling. As a result the Massachusetts vote was recorded as twenty for Taft, not voting 16.

When this was announced the confusion rose to a crescendo, and there were cries of "robbers," "thieves," "piracy." The police were called in to quell the disturbance before quiet was regained and the voting continued.

eight of her delegates are reported as not voting.

In the Carolinas, where there was much disaffection, according to the reports circulated before the convention, the vote was practically sold for the president. Virginia gave him twenty-two out of her twenty-four delegates and Louisiana her solid delegation.

Ohio, the President's State, when the time came showed that there was more or less feeling for the favorite son, and gave Mr. Taft fourteen delegates, not voting thirty-four. Oregon was steadfast in her instructions, and gave a vote of eight for Roosevelt, not voting two.

Illinois, about whose attitude toward a bolt there has been much comment, cast her vote twenty-two for Taft, fifty-two for Roosevelt, absent two, not voting two.

Indiana, another of the contested States, cast a vote of twenty for Taft, three for Roosevelt, not voting seven.

Adjournment.
CHICAGO, Illinois, June 23.—The fifteenth Republican convention adjourned sine die at half-past ten o'clock last night.

The announcement of the nominations started the delegates into new demonstrations, some cheering, some expressing disapproval in groans and hisses, until the bedlam was deafening.

When it became certain early in the day that President Taft would be renominated, the Taft leaders decided that Sherman should be named on the same ticket, and they notified the other aspirants for the honor to drop out. As a result Sherman was the only man

Senator Root finally said that he would allow an appeal before the vote was announced. This was not taken.

Southerners Loyal.

One of the singular features of the vote as recorded is the loyalty to the regular machine of the southern delegates upon whom the Roosevelt contingent had counted before the convention. The southerners stuck fast to the party leaders. Even Texas, about which there had been some doubt, did not give Roosevelt a vote, although regularly nominated, but when New Hampshire's delegation moved to make the nomination by acclamation, the motion was ruled out of order and Senator Root directed that the rollcall be read: This was done and the vote given as: Sherman, 597, Senator Borah twenty-one; Merriman, twenty; Hadley, fourteen; Beveridge, two; Gillette, one; absent seventy-one; not voting 352.
