Court Dead-lock Delays Murder Hearing

The hearing of the case of Mitsuyasu, who shot and killed one of his countrymen last Wednesday, was held up on Friday through an order from Judge Dole, prohibiting the prosecuting attorney from practicing in his court, until the attorney had settled a fine which the judge had recently imposed as the result of a contempt of court proceedings in a recent case. Attorney Kaeo did not consider that the judge had grounds for contempt proceedings, and refused to pay the fine. Both parties have taken the matter up with the attorney general and in the meantime all court business is on a standstill and the Japanese remains in jail, under circumstances which would require a peculiar construction of the law to find a precedent.

TRAGEDY OCCURS IN HOLY GHOST FEAST A PLANTATION CAMP CELEBRATED IN KAPAIA

Oriental Lihue was thrown into a state of panic Wednesday evening about six o'clock when a tragedy as the result of a long standing feud between two Japanese took place in the Lihue camp in the presence of scores of witnesses, the actors being Kumataro Inoshita and Mitsuyasu, the former being so badly wounded that death followed before the hospital was reached.

The motive behind the murder was, according to a statement by the prisoner, one which dates back to a period of several years during which time both men have served a term each in the penitentiary, having been convicted of forgery.

Kumataro was prior to his conviction, a hotel keeper in Honolulu, and it was while Mitsuyasu was attending school he formed the acquaintance of Kumataro with whom he took up his residence, receiving the sum of one dollar and a half per week in addition to his lodgings in payment for work he performed on the Hotel books.

The beginning of Kumataro's ill-will dates from the day he received several postal money orders amounting to nearly two hundred dollars. He insisted on Mitsuyasu forging the signature to the orders which he afterwards cashed, promising so the prisoner states—to divide the spoils. This he refused to do and Mitsuyasu soon left the hotel. Kumataro was arrested shortly afterward, convicted of forgery and sentenced to twelve months imprisonment. During his incarceration, the officials learned that he was unable to write English, and after careful investigation Mitsuyasu was found to be an accomplice, and was arrested, convicted and sentenced for a term of two years. He claims to have been visited by Kumataro while he was in jail, from whom he had promises of one dollar and fifty cents per week for every week he spent in prison.

Having served his time, he began a search for his friend, who in the meantime had come to Kauai. Locating him, he came here in December last and reminded him of the promise of help. Kumataro was unable to help him at the time

Teachers For The Ensuing Year

The appointment of Kauai teachers for the ensuing year, the publication of which the GARDEN ISLAND delayed the present issue hoping to be able to give it to its readers, has been made, but will not be given out until the salaries of the teachers appointed have been determined according to the schedule which requires their standing, qualifications in the way of certificates, the reports of the supervising principals on their work, and their time allowance for work in the service.

Eleele Social Club Holds Annual Meet

ELEELE, June 6. The members of Eleele athletic and Social Club met Friday night and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: J. C. Moura, president; V. Fernandes, vice president; H. C. Coburn, manager; Arthur Fernandes, secretary and treasurer. Directors: K. W. Kinney, M. J. Duart, Antone Pavao, and J. L. Soares.

Hanalei Is To Become Health Storm Center

According to the wireless from Honolulu yesterday, Hanalei is to become a "Storm Center" of the health inspectors. The GARDEN ISLAND feels very much gratified over the successful outcome of its publicity campaign which it has carried on in regard to the "white plague" in Hanalei.

The Holy Ghost feast was celebrated in the Kapaia Catholic church Saturday night and Sunday. The exercises opened at 7:30 with a pretty display of fireworks, which was followed by an appropriate air by the Lihue band, which occupied a position on the lower end of the grounds. Hundreds of spectators thronged the grounds and the two clerks in charge of the ticket booth found it necessary to appoint men to pass through the crowd with tickets for sale in order to supply the demand. A sum amounting to sixty dollars was realized from this booth alone. A procession composed of several hundred persons, headed by the band, was a feature of the Sunday morning exercises. The total amount realized from the sale of various articles was one hundred and thirty dollars. The band goes to Kilauea Saturday where they will play for the Holy Ghost exercises which begin there Saturday night.

New Director For Eleele Baseball Team

ELEELE, June 2. Mr. J. C. Moura, has resigned the management of the Eleele B.B. Club and is succeeded by Mr. H. C. Coburn. Mr. Moura has managed the affairs of the team successfully, and received a vote of thanks from the members. Mr. Coburn is too well known among the sports to require an introduction. The club is fortunate in securing the services of such a public spirited citizen, and that Eleele will continue her successful career throughout the season is an assured fact.

Commissioners Are On The Right Track

The school commissioners are on the right track when they ask that frills be taken of the school program. Fancy, flimsy work prevails in many of our schools to such an extent as to make it difficult for teachers to devote sufficient time to more important studies.

THE first inter-island excursion was a success—for the gamblers.

MORE brains and less swimming would give the supreme court less to do.

THE tuberculosis army which has been encamped in Hanalei for so long, is said to be on the hike.

"A GOOD strap might work wonders"—Principal Cox.

Well why the dickens don't you use it then.

HILO, is making every endeavor to show how real "bad" she can be. Her latest sensation being a turn-down for poor old Link.

EXCURSION boats should be allowed the outside islands on June 24th, that everybody could be given an opportunity to see Honolulu as she never has been seen—clean.

SOMETHING might be learned relative to the reasons for lack of knowledge of english among our public school graduates, if a little more co-operation upon the part of parents and some of these "public spirited" judges were displayed.

THE means employed by a Japanese in getting even with one of his countrymen last Wednesday, shows conclusive evidence that our little brown brothers are becoming Americanized.

The granting of the renewal of the wholesale liquor licenses by the board of commissioners at their meeting Wednesday, and the absence of any request for retail license, indicates pretty clearly that the County is handling the liquor question in a very satisfactory manner.

INDECENT pictures and literature, gambling, smoking, lack of discipline, indiscriminate promotion, and foul language, are said to have caused so much distress among the lady teachers in the Kalihiwaena school in Honolulu, that requests are in for transfers to more pleasant quarters.

THE only successful way to carry out the homestead proposition, is for the 'big' man to assist the 'little' fellow in getting a start, but unfortunately, the majority of the planters are not in sympathy with the move." So spake Land Commissioner Carter to a reporter in an interview at the Fairview Hotel last Friday.

Mr. Carter made a special trip of inspection to the Kapaa Homestead tract, for the purpose of securing information concerning conditions as they exist regarding homesteads receiving support from a plantation.

ONE of our business men says its no use of looking for investment in oil stock and other things when there is plenty of solid investments at home, as we are the richest country in the world. We have a Diamond Head, a Pearl Harbor, the largest Punchbowl in the world, plenty of Castles, all the Cooks are millionaires and we'll never go hungry for there is always an abundance of Rice.

SEVERAL parties on Kauai, who for a number of years have made an endeavor to buy land here, have purchased homes in Florida, where government land is being sold at something other than hold up prices, being twenty dollars an acre, with liberal terms of payment, no interest or taxes and without a residential clause. The state of Florida has placed its lands in the hands of the real estate dealer, with certain requirements as to homesteads to be fulfilled. After experimenting with various methods, this procedure is costing the state less and guards the homesteaders interests with equal security to any other. Furthermore, this way of disposing of the land is said to bring a better class of settlers.

WE would respectfully urge a careful perusal of the article on "Fighting the White Plague," which appears in another column in this issue.

Is Investigating Another School

"Are indecent pictures and literature circulated at the Kalihiwaena school?"

Are gambling and smoking indulged in on the school premises? Why have nine out of ten teachers requested that they be transferred to other schools?

Is it true that the children use foul and insolent language to the teachers?

Are children at the school promoted indiscriminately and sometimes when such advancement is quite unmerited?

Is the lack of discipline so distressing as to cause female teachers much annoyance?"

These are questions to which the attention of the department of public instruction was called yesterday. Superintendent W. T. Pope intimated that they would be taken up at the meeting of the commissioners next Saturday.

He admitted that he had received a good many requests for transfers, but whether the number was nine he could not say at the moment.

Mr. Pope added that Inspector Gibson is making an inquiry into the condition of affairs at the school, and doubtless his report will be ready for the commissioners by the end of the week.

"When we first heard of the difficulty we decided that he should go out on several different occasions and inquire into the matter." Continued on page 5.

Live Educational Notes

EDITOR GARDEN ISLAND:

WE frequently hear complaints as regards progress in our public schools. This teacher or that teacher being so and so. The whole truth in the matter is, that there is not one citizen out of a hundred who ever thinks of visiting the schools only on occasions of special exercises or,—as our parent put it—"to give her a piece of my mind."

Each school principal keeps a "visiting" book, and I will wager pennies to pins that if I should publish the names of all the local people who visit the schools, it would certainly indicate a decided lack of public spirit on the part of many who are so ready to condemn present condition. We never fail to attend an entertainment, whereas in such an institution as the public school, the very foundation of power, is given no further consideration than severe criticism.

It is the duty of every individual to get in and lend his or her aid to the schools instead of keeping them forever in the lime-light of criticism.

When we consider the superior talent of the learned judge who recently expressed his horror at "such a condition of affairs etc." we can partly realize how the poor soul must suffer. It is easy to picture an old weatherbeaten, frame building, from which boards have been torn off, or it might be a log house—at any rate, it is situated near the public road, and is surrounded by big oak trees. A stream passes in the rear of the building, and at present the children are skating and having the time of their lives. The bell rings and in pops the Judge (as he used to be) who takes his place among a group of perhaps a dozen pupils who encircle a roaring red hot stove, at the same time occupying not only an unsanitary position, but having no idea of the proper use of light rays. The teacher of course is a very learned (?) man—far superior to any of our type (?)—and as a consequence receives at least $35.00 per month for, in some instances seven months in the year. As he "boards round," he is able to save his salary, and is therefore considered an important person. But, back to our lessons 'round the stove. The little Judge (of course his father must have been a Judge) was taught readin' 'ritin' 'rithmetic and geography. That is, he was taught at least the way to the post office, to which place he was sometimes allowed to go with his father. Years passed, however, without anything of importance transpiring in the vicinity of the little school when finally the "Sandwich" Islands were placed under the stars and stripes. Many teachers had come and gone since the little Judge's days—oh those days! and now what he considered an up to date teacher had charge of the little flock. This being in the present tense, we will suppose of course that there is an improvement in the equipment such as baseball and basket ball outfits. Mary Jones whose name the little judge had carved on all his father's apple trees—yes, the same Mary—is the teacher. The geography class is reciting. "Johnny," says the teacher, "where is Hawaii?" "Its an island." "Well, what can you say about the inhabitants, their habits, language, religion and government." "Please mam, they are cannibals, don't wear any clothes, worship a burning mountain, speak Spanish, live in grass huts, eat raw fish and paste, and are governed by a king who is the only man who knows anything among thousands of savages. He lives in a place called Paradise, and learned all he knows right here in Spencer Creek School. His name is Judge Blank." (Wild cheers) "children," said Miss Mary, "please be quiet and I'll tell you a story. Johnny is correct in his answers and it strikes me that some day he will become as great a man as the learned judge. Judge Blank and I were in this very school together, just as you girls and boys are today, and it lies within the power of one or all of you to follow our footsteps and become an ever shining light to the ignorant. Who knows but I see before me, this very instant, boys who may some day feel it their duty to follow the example of our very learned judge in risking his life among savages in order to assist in raising these unfortunates from darkness into light." Loud cheers as school is dismissed.

Fighting the White Plague

First, however, soon must be found for a few figures that will assist appreciation of the menace which tuberculosis constitutes to the human race. As Dr. Huber justly asserts, it has been for countless generations by far the most potent of death-dealing agencies.

According to one statistician, the death-roll of all the wars of the nineteenth century totaled 14,000,000 souls, whereas in the same period and countries tuberculosis slaughtered 30,000,000. It has also been estimated that in the United States alone tuberculosis annually claims 150,000 victims, and throughout the world 5,000,000. What increases the tragedy of the situation is the appalling fact that mortality is highest at precisely the period of greatest usefulness, the statistics going to show that the average age of death is thirty-five, and that every third or fourth adult to die between the ages of fifteen and forty-five dies of tuberculosis. The economic loss thus occasioned is incalculable. For the United States it has been estimated at more than $30,000,000 per year. Not is our resentment lessened by the knowledge that the direct cause of all the sorrow and suffering thus involved is but a tiny parasite not more than one ten-thousandth of an inch in length, so minute that it was not until a quarter of a century ago that its existence and action were definitely ascertained.

This parasite, known as the Koch bacillus, after the scientist who succeeded in isolating it, may attack many parts of the body, but it usually assails the lungs, where, under favoring conditions, it multiplies into "colonies" whose voracity produce the too familiar phenomena of tuberculosis.

Prominent among these is the hacking cough which racks the victim and constitutes the danger to those about him, for this cough loosens and ejects bacilli, many of which sooner or later are conveyed into other human bodies by one of the several avenues of infection.

Years may pass before the moment of infection arrives, but when it comes, the parasite, if it has survived the chances of time, has lost none of its fatal power. To illustrate from the concrete instances cited by Dr. Huber to carry home to his readers the need for radical preventive measures: "Dr. Miliken, of Silver City, New Mexico, narrates that in 1890 a farmer of good family history, as regards his physique, took the grippe, and, owing to a relapse, was very slow in making a recovery. He spent much of his time during convalescence with a friend who was ill with tuberculosis. He himself contracted tuberculosis, of which he died. His son, a strong, hearty fellow, who nursed him when he became too weak to take care of himself, became afflicted and died four years later. A second son put into his own room the carpet that had been in his father's room. In about one year he began to decline.

His illness was also shown to be tubercular, with which he struggled for seven years, finally achieving a return to good health. Another son bought the couch upon which his father had slept, and used it to sleep upon himself. He soon evidenced tuberculosis, which disease he succeeded in arresting after a five year's struggle. A fourth son and three daughters, who were away from home at college, remained well.

"A young farmer rented the place and moved into the house. Within two years his wife died of tuberculosis, and two children of marasmus—probably intestinal tuberculosis. "Another young man, with a healthy family, moved into the house, and lost three children within eighteen months, of an obscure bowel trouble (probably tubercular), and the father died a few years later of 'bronchitis,' which was most likely tuberculosis. It was now suspected that the house might have something to do with it. So a thorough cleaning was ordered. The paper was torn from the walls, which, with the woodwork, floors, and ceilings were washed down antiseptically; there was thorough disinfection; since which time not one case of tuberculosis has developed in it."

The first practical consideration will be the disposition of the infective material. . . . The tubercular patient will be careful not to re-infect himself, to which end he must associate as little as possible with other sufferers. As regards others he will observe the Golden Rule, and must take the greatest care not to infect his fellows. It were well for him not to work in dairies or about cattle, nor should he prepare or otherwise handle any foods. The next consideration is that of rest, at least during fever. He must endure the slightest fatigue or over-exertion. To the end that he may rest well the home in which he lives shall be fit and comfortable. His bedroom should be the largest, sunniest, and best ventilated in the house. Rest should be out of doors as much as possible. Pure air and the blessed sunshine—the tubercle cannot stand these. While many people in health are 'hugging fires' tuberculosis patients walk or ride, if possible; or they recline, wrapped up and sheltered, of course, in the open air, during as many hours as may be, through all changes of temperature, fearing neither rain, sleet nor snow. The rain, however, they had best avoid: If the patient is so ill that he cannot go out-doors, his bed should be drawn close to the wide-open window. When indoors, day or night, the patient's windows should be freely opened. Such treatment never has untoward results. The head should be well covered; the feet should be warmed if necessary. In warm weather the head and shoulders must not be kept in the direct rays of the sun. Sun-baths the nude body being exposed to the direct or concentrated rays of the sun must be taken with caution and only by the physician's instruction. High temperatures may thus be induced.

After oxygen comes the necessity of plenty of nutritious foodstuffs, and of good digestion, so that all the fuel that is taken in may be assimilated and converted into healthy germ-resisting tissues. Details concerning diet will be decided upon in individual cases. In general terms, it should be such as will give the largest amount of nutrition with the smallest amount of labor for the alimentary tract—roasted or broiled beef, mutton, lamb, fresh vegetable and fruits, cereals mixed liberally with cream, konniss, plenty of sugar and good butter; and at or between meals six or more eggs and from one to three quarts of milk distributed through the twenty-four hours. Indigestible things such as sweets, pastries, dainties, must be avoided; these interfere with normal metabolism—a perfect change of oxygen, fluids and food into tissue. Between meals, at any rate, plenty of water will be drunk. There should be half an hour's rest on a bed or reclining chair before and after the principle meal at least; nor must the patient eat when in a state of nervous excitement. . . . As regards medicines: Let no patient use any without his physician's directions.

In the last analysis Prevention is, of-course, more important than cure. Here, again, space requirements forbid other than a brief outline of our author's most salient recommendations. The main fight, as he says, must be carried on in the congested districts of our cities and towns, for it is there that are to be found in greatest abundance both the factors making for infection and the factors weakening the resistance-power of those infected—poverty with all that it implies, darkness, dirt, foul air, impure food, physique-destroying vice, utter ignorance of sanitary safeguards. Still, there is urgent need of a defensive campaign in the rural districts with their scattered population; for, paradoxical as it may seem, the death-rate from tuberculosis is falling more rapidly in the cities and towns than in the country. Hard work, lack of recreation, an often unwholesome and sometimes execrable diet, ill-ventilated homes, irregular habits of life—all this combines to lower the vitality of the farmer and give the tubercle bacillus free sweep.

It must never be forgotten that the two main avenues of infection are through the air we breathe and food we eat. As regards the latter, the possibility of the transmission of tuberculosis from cattle to man has recently been questioned, especially by most reliable authority. Patients should be allowed no hand in the preparation of foodstuffs. Here there is scope for official intervention, as also in the regulation of tenement, factory, office and school conditions. Even more vital is the question of preventing infection through the air, for this are most cares. To this end efficient administration of law against expectoration in public places is badly needed although our officials are more alert than ever to the dangers inherent in this practice. There must, too, be an unflinching movement to educate the individual to a keener sense of his responsibilities to himself, to his fellows, and to posterity.

Expert Poultry Notes

We will be glad to hear from readers on any poultry topics, and all queries addressed to the paper will be answered, if possible, in the issue following their receipt. Our desire is to help those who are in any difficulty regarding the management of their poultry, or who think that the advice of an expert may be of value to them.—Editor.

The Two Kinds Of Poultry

Poultry may be divided into two classes—the fancy and the utility—and while, of course, both possess many points of similarity, in some respects they are totally different. The aim in breeding fancy poultry is to perfect the outward characteristics, the comb, wattles, feathers, plumage and general appearance. The aim in breeding utility stock, on the contrary, is to improve their economic value, laying and edible qualities. The fancier, on the one hand, is largely indifferent to the fact that the fowls may be extremely poor layers, and possess flesh of second rate quality; all he cares about are the external characteristics. The utilitarian, on the other hand, is indifferent in a great measure of the feather markings to the outward appearance; all he cares about are the prolificacy of the hens and the table properties of the chickens. We thus find that there are several varieties of poultry that are of purely exhibition value; others there are that excel in their economic qualities; while there are some breeds of which there is a fancy as well as a utility strain.

Shade for Poultry

When it can be so arranged, fowls should never have to go into their roosting places for shelter during the day. For some reason fowls very strongly object to this, and we have repeatedly seen a large flock of birds remaining out in the open, perhaps in the pouring rain, rather than take shelter in their sleeping compartment. For this reason it is advisable to have a shelter shed under which fowls can go during wet and inclement weather. This can be very simply and cheaply made. All that is required is to have two ends and a top, as it can stand against the house which forms a back, and the front may be left entirely open. It need not be more than four feet in height, so that such a place can be made at a small cost, and it will soon repay the outlay by keeping the birds dry and preventing them getting colds and other diseases. With a permanent shelter it is an excellent plan to cover the ground with ashes or fine earth, which forms a capital dust bath. A dust bath is most essential to keep the birds properly clean and healthy, as it is in this way they clean themselves and get rid of the insects. A little disinfectant powder should be sprinkled in it occasionally, and this will keep down the number of insects very considerably. When a hen is troubled with insects she will not lay nearly as many eggs as if she is thoroughly clean.

Clean Ground

Pure soil is a very important factor towards success, for tainted soil is bad for fowls of all ages and under all conditions. The danger to young chickens is intensified greatly since it stunts their growth, retards their development, weakens their constitutions, and makes them ready victims to any disease that may be prevalent. Cleanliness in the houses, feeding troughs, and drinking vessels are all equally important. The houses should be washed regularly and systematically, neglect of which means the encouragement of insect pests. The inside furnishings of the house, such as perches and nest boxes, should be so constructed as to be easily moved; while the bedding, of whatever its nature, requires careful and regular attention. Special care at this season of the year should be devoted to chicken houses, for, excellent as many of them are, the sleeping quarters are

Writer Wants To Change Liquor Law

EDITOR GARDEN ISLAND:

I see that Kauai has quite a number of retail places but none of them pay license to the County, tho the U. S. Government gets its money just the same. I think it is a shame to issue only four wholesale license to one man, why not let him have a retail end in every second house without any license. If I had anything to do with the license board, I would say, give one license to each man that applies for it and is qualified, but no more. I do not see why one man only shall reap the benefit and not all. Let the Lihue District have one wholesale and one retail and all the rest the same, and let the best man in the district control it and the County of Kauai will, in a few years, be able to cut down its taxes to half what they are at the present. Let all liquor be controlled by the County and not by an individual as it is at present.

Summer School Program Planned

The following notification on the plans for the summer school has been issued by the Department of Public Instruction:

The department of public instruction of the Territory of Hawaii has arranged to conduct a summer school in the Territorial Normal School in Honolulu for the purpose of improving the members of its teaching force, and other eligible persons, who wish to take the examinations required for teachers' certificates. This school will also give such other instruction as will train for principalship.

The summer school is to be conducted for a period of six weeks during the months of July and August next. The present spring term closes June 23, and the summer school will begin July 5, continuing to August 12. The regular examinations offered yearly by the department will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 16, 17 and 18 respectively. This arrangement leaves a period of four weeks' vacation for the teachers in which they may rest and get settled in their assigned places before the beginning of the next school year which has been set for September 18, 1911.

"No tuition fee will be charged. All teachers who are in the employ of the department or who have been employed as teachers may be admitted.

Candidates must be eighteen years of age.

Candidates will be examined and certificates granted under the new rules of the department.

Those attending the summer school will be given credit for their class record in the final examination.

"Last year the summer school was organized by the department of public instruction and supported financially by a number of our citizens throughout the Territory. These people recognized the need of improvement in our public school system and cooperated with the department in making the first step a success; 112 persons successfully passed the examination and were granted certificates. We believe that a progressive move on the part of the teachers had much to do with the legislature giving the public schools a liberal appropriation for teachers' salaries. The new school year will find these teachers being paid according to a very liberal schedule.

"The legislature also showed its confidence in the good work of summer schools by making an appropriation for a summer school for each year of this biennial period.

"This summer school will be very much along the lines of that of last year. Those teachers who completed a part of the work last year can finish the work this year.

Those expecting to attend should present their names to the department for registration as early as possible. Regular attendance and thorough work are expected throughout the entire term.

"The appointment of uncertificated teachers at the June meeting of the commissioners is with the understanding that such teachers will secure their certificates before the opening of school next September.

"The department has a booklet, ready for distribution which contains extensive outlines of subjects that will be taught. These booklets will be useful to those attending the school as well as to those not attending who wish to look over the work somewhat before taking the teachers' examination. These can be obtained from the department on application."

Another School Investigated

ter," said Mr. Pope last night. He added that the inspector had already been out twice and would probably go again.

I. M. Cox is principal of the school and has held the position for a year. He has ten teachers under him, and it is stated that nine of these have asked to be transferred. These are declared to be Mrs. E. J. Hall, Mrs. Mary Lee, Mrs. E. H. Coulter, Mrs. Mann, Misses B. Scheffler, Christine Gertz, Olive Horner and Elizabeth Heen, and also Robert Law.

Principal Pope stated yesterday that he had received a letter from Mrs. E. J. Hall, which in substance states that the children at the school are promoted indiscriminately and often when such promotion is not merited. The remark is also made by Mrs. Hall that she dreads hall duty on account of the insubordination of some of the children. They play at will in the lavatories, she declares, and they are given to the use of insolent and foul language.

That little or no effort is made to trace absentees and that tardy children are allowed to go unpunished are other allegations made by Mrs. Hall. She states that she has nothing personal against Principal Cox, but she is unable to work in harmony with him.

Irregular promotion and lack of discipline are stated to be the causes why Mrs. Coulter, Miss Horner and Miss Heen wish to be transferred to other schools.

Next Sunday's Ball Games

June 11. K. A. C. vs. Lihue at Kapaa. Makaweli vs. Homestead at Makaweli. Eleele vs. Koloa at Makaweli.

Jas. K. Kula of Koloa and Arthur Rice of Lihue have purchased new cars this week. Mr. Kula getting a five passenger Peerless and Mr. Rice possessing himself with the first Hippobile-touring car brought to Kauai.

The Kauai Garage Co., agents for these cars prophesy a keen demand for them as the running expense is said to have been reduced to a minimum.

On the Makaweli grounds Sunday, some sensational plays were made, one of which was worthy of professional recognition, being a catch by Akina in the third innings. It was a hot foul fly, but Akina clung to it.

Two double plays were also recorded - being from Keola to Akina and from John Costa to Akina. A large crowd of fans, among whom were many from Waimea and Eleele, witnessed the game which was a decidedly good one throughout. Deverill umpired while Mr. Fergie scored.

Kilauea defeated K.A.C. Sunday 9 to 0 in an interesting but rather one-sided game. The K.A.C. line showed signs of lack of team work, and also weakness in stick play. The gate receipts were very satisfactory, and the game was, while feared of anything sensational in way of special plays, a pronounced success.

The game between the Koloas and Lihues on the Koloa grounds Sunday was one of the hottest of the season, ending in the 13th inning with a score of 5 to 2 in favor of Koloa. The game was interspersed with amusing features as well as some extremely good plays by both teams.

It is all off with the wise ones who have predicted the champions of the season's series. The Koloas come from tail-enders to a creditable place on the percentage basis and have won their last four games through pure grit and staying power. Bully for them. At present they stand a pretty good chance at capturing the pennant.

Continued from page 1. but promised to do so by Jan. 1st. He failed to come through, however, as was also the case on subsequent occasions, and according to Mitsuyasu's story, the latter decided to "even up." He went to Kapaa, bought a thirty-eight revolver, a gallon of sake, and sallied forth bent on getting satisfaction. He called on Kumataro about six o'clock Wednesday evening and demanded money, with no indication of success which fact so angered Mitsuyasu that he fired a shot "just to scare him." Baring his breast, Kumataro in a tantalizing manner, the victim said: "well, why don't you shoot me." His answer was a flash and a second report. When friends reached the dying man they found that the bullet had entered his left side at the junction of the collar and breast bones, having past entirely through the body and right arm.

Mitsuyasu was immediately overpowered and held until the police arrived. Sheriff Rice and Dr. Putman were on the scene within a few minutes after the shooting. Dr. Putman, after a brief examination, pronounced the patient dying and before the hospital was reached death ensued, the bullet having severed an artery the patient dying from internal hemorrhage. To Dr. Putman the prisoner made a statement, and demonstrated the position in which he held the pistol at the time the fatal shot was fired. He was placed in jail and has, it is rumored, made a confession to the sheriff.

Coroner W. H. Rice, Jr., empaneled a jury which met at the hospital at ten o'clock but owing to the lateness of the hour, the inquest was postponed until the following day at 2 p. m. which was held at the sheriff's office, the following verdict being rendered.

We find that the deceased, Kumataro came to his death on the 31st day of May, 1911 from a bullet wound in his left breast, which bullet was fired from a revolver in the hands of one Mitsuyasu at Lihue, District of Lihue, County of Kauai, T. H.
