HANAIEI ROAD-HAND BURIED UNDER CAVE-IN

Japanese Editor Speaks Up For His Countrymen—Aviator Falls To His Death In Kansas

(Special to the Garden Island)

HANAIEI, Sept. 1st.—Peter Kanihaalilo, a laborer in the road gang working on the Hanalei grade, came near losing his life to-day when a piece of earth under which he was tunneling, gave way, burying him completely. A wheel barrow, which he had taken into the excavation was at his side when the cave in occurred and in some manner he was thrown beneath it before the earth came down.

When found, his head lay under the wheel barrow, which fact saved his life.

He was taken to his home and medical aid summoned, and examination revealed severe bruises but no broken bones.

EDITOR SHEBA SPEAKS UP FOR JAPANESE

Editor Sheba, publisher of one of the leading daily Japanese newspapers of Honolulu, says that Japan will carry out a policy of Japan for Japan if its America for the whites.

CAN'T STAND JEERS AND FLIES TO DEATH

A Kansas Aviator who refused to fly in the teeth of a prevailing wind storm, was jeered by the crowd who had gathered to witness the flight. Being unable to bear the rebukes longer, he made the flight and when at a dizzy height fell and was instantly killed. Kansas boasts of having no saloons, but a crowd of teetotlers who take peculiar delight in goading a man to his death is certainly far from being any improvement on a drunken crowd if hoodlums.

JAPANESE ATTACKED WITH ELEVATED SPINE

The Japanese have an elevated feeling in the region of their spinal column as a result of the proposed Dillingham Bill, declaring that they are greatly humiliated by being classed with the Chinese.

The Bill provides that no immigrant who is ineligible to become a citizen can enter American territory and there is little need of Japan or any other country, construing this to apply to its own case. The object of the bill was apparently to remove if possible, the appearance of any slight toward the people of any particular nation and now that Japan has taken exceptions to it, the good intention of the formation of this bill—in so far as Japan is concerned—seems a failure.

Some Personal Notes

Senator Carter put the kibosh on four Departmental clerks last Friday, claiming that the young men had been just a little too strong in their admiration of his daughter.

Los Angeles is to have a big electrical combination, no less than eight railway lines joining hands, with a representation of $100,000,000.

Captain Saunders, a well known figure among Honolulu water frontiers, and for years commander of the Korea and Manchuria is dead. The Kapala Hill is receiving a much needed coating of oil.

Miss Ruth Lindly and Miss Lulu Weber are guests of Mrs. C. B. Makee in Hanalei. They return to Honolulu Saturday to make preparation for their fall studies, both being Punahou girls.

BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF THE DEAD IS UNVEILED BY MRS. C. M. COOKE BEFORE LARGE CROWD

Last Friday morning at ten o'clock, in the presence of about two hundred of Kauai's most prominent citizens, a beautiful monument of marble, representing a broken shaft, on the face of which is most exquisitely sculptured, throngs of draped figures of men, women and children whose upturned faces with parted lips, made luminous by a glorious light which appears to be streaming from above, seem to be singing their way upward. Reclining at the foot of the monument, are two bronze figures apparently in the throes of deepest grief. One of the figures is that of a son who lies prostrate, his head resting on his arms, while homes happier, our opportunities greater. Impress us, we pray Thee, with a deeper sense of the obligations which rest upon us by virtue of this inheritance which is ours—to whom much is given—may we realize the measure of our responsibility. Give us grace we pray Thee that we may be worthy of the aims and ideals of the Father; that the mantle of the Father may fall upon us; that we may wear it worthily. And when, at length the call comes to us to give an account of our Stewardship, may we too receive the praise, "well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter into the joy of thy Lord."

thus afflicted. But if you raise your eyes from these sad mourners, up to the high column again and look closer, at the large procession, you will see the victims of death are not prostrated, not sinking down into darkness and destruction. No, they are all walking upwards. Strong rays of light are streaming forth upon them from above and are drawing them upwards towards the full light and they are aware of these rays. They are enjoying the light and the warmth and wandering forth with joy and happiness into the light and life eternal.

sentences, the Rev. Hans Isenberg explained the reasons and objects that had animated the donors from first to last, and then in a short address, in language so simple that every child present could understand, in words eloquent by their very simplicity, he dwelt on the value of works of art in influencing for good, the lives of men and women, in silently appealing to their hearts and uplifting their minds to a clearer and truer perception of the works of the "Great Architect of the Universe." Thus emphasizing by his remarks—perhaps all unconsciously—the sweet sentiment of the poet Keats:

Lihue Brook, on the banks of which stands, in the grove of pines appearing opposite the Lihue Mill smoke stack, the Isenberg monument which was dedicated to the Lihue Cemetery last Friday.

the other figure depicts a mother in the attitude of consoling her grief-stricken son.

This beautiful piece of art which far exceeds anything of its kind in the Territory, is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Isenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Isenberg, and Mrs. C. M. Cooke, in memory of their loved ones who have passed on before, while the monument is a masterpiece of art by the famous Danish sculptor, Sinding. The placing of this magnificent piece of marble and bronze entrusted to the skill of Mr. Scheibert, Lihue's mason, and his work is deserving of highest praise.

Promptly at ten o'clock, Rev. Kamau of the Lihue Hawaiian Church, took a position on a platform which had been constructed for the occasion, and led a part of the assembled in rendering the hymn "Jesus Lover of My Soul," following which he read the "Nineteenth Psalm." At the conclusion of his reading, he led in rendering the hymn "Nearer My God to Thee." Rev. Mr. Lydgate then made the following prayer:

Rev. J. M. Lydgate's Prayer.

"Lord God of our Father, with whom there is neither shadow nor variability of turning the same yesterday to-day and forever, we bow before Thee in all humility—we are here to-day and gone to-morrow; we are as the grass of the field, which groweth up. In the morning it groweth up, in the evening it is cut down and withereth.

We rejoice that in Thee we take hold of Eternal life; we rejoice that our beloved dead pass not utterly away—we hold them in our hearts. We keep them in our memories, but most of all they are hidden with Christ in God, and the veil between this life and that is very thin.

And now, as we gather here for the public unveiling of this monument to the memory of the beloved and honored dead, we rejoice in the grace, the dignity, the worth of these lives. Endowed with many talents, they have used them as in Thy Service and have received the reward of faithfulness. And we entered into the fruit of their labors. Because of what they have been and done, our lives are richer, ours so many of us who have been

In the name and for the sake of our Lord and Master—Amen."

At the conclusion of the prayer, Rev. Hans Isenberg delivered the following explanation of the monument:

Rev. Hans Isenberg's Address.

"My dear friends, I have been asked to give you some explanation about this monument which is to be unveiled presently. True works of art do not require lengthy explanations, for they are clear and intelligible to every one. They attract and delight our eyes by their beauty and appeal to our minds.

"They move and touch our hearts and reveal the deepest truth often hidden to us, most distinctly, and bring it home to us more powerfully than the words of the most eloquent orator. I trust it will be so with this monument, the work of a true artist. I trust it will be clear and intelligible, and powerful, and helpful. I hope it will draw many of our people to come hither and sit down on this bench, let the eyes rest on this work of art, enjoy the beauty and receive the help we so often need for our hearts and minds.

"I will therefore say only a few words of guidance that may be helpful at the first aspect.

"On the high steele of the monument, you will see a large procession of various people—the procession of the human race that goes on constantly at the order of death. You will see some aged and worn, their labors fulfilled, tired and willing to follow the call, but also many strong and vigorous, called away from the midst of their work, and others in the prime of life—a young wife and mother, looking back with a sad face—sad to be called away from her young husband and her helpless babies—you will see young children in the procession, tender buds, broken by cruel death before they had time to bloom. And at the foot of the high steele you will see the effect of this work of death. Two figures, mourning, prostrated with grief, longing for those whom death has taken—longing in vain—a pitiful sight. Yet, true to life, familiar and done, our lives are richer, ours so many of us who have been but to comfort and reassure us, to strengthen our faith and hope in light and life eternal; to believe that the victory is ours, in spite of all the affliction—death, swallowed up, is victory, through Jesus Christ our Lord."

Mrs. C. M. Cooke Dedicates.

Mrs. C. M. Cooke, in an impressive and dignified manner, then stepped forward, and in the following well chosen words, completed this interesting and memorable ceremony:

"To the memory of the loved ones who have gone before us, we present this monument to the public, hoping that it may be a lasting reminder of those lives and the ennobling influences they have left to us. We now unveil it to you."

Scarcely had the last word died away, and exactly at nineteen minutes past ten, when a slash from a knife in the hands of Mr. Scheibert, severed the cords which held the great canvas in position, and down came the canvas, revealing to the spectators who gazed in open eyed admiration at this wonderful piece of art.

The sweet strains of "Aloha Oe" concluded the beautiful ceremony.

THE ISENBERG FAMILY AND THEIR MEMORIAL

EDITOR GARDEN ISLAND:

Dear Sir,

A small part of your columns for a few remarks on the above will be much appreciated.

It may be said, I feel sure, without any straining of words, that all those of mature years whose privilege it was to witness the unveiling and dedication of the Isenberg family monument, will long hold pleasing recollection of that interesting ceremony and the happy incidents connected therewith. And to those members of the family most intimately associated together in the meritorious work of arranging and providing for such a beautiful work of art, surely of them it can be safely affirmed that recollection of that long desired day, recollection clear, vivid and joyous, will outlast unto life's end. In some few brief but well chosen

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

Looking on that monument [fully as much a memorial] after it had been unveiled by Mrs. C. M. Cooke, what thinking mind could doubt that it will be a very strong although silent, force for continuous good. For there it stood revealed, a noble work of art, in the highest, best sense of the word, excellent in execution, but more excellent in the height and depth and nobility of conception, and yet, withal, so sweetly and touchingly simple.

The dominant notes in the harmony of the design are love and faith and hope as expressed by the Christian religion; and let the cynic rail and the scoffer deride as they may, but the one great central fact remains that the Christian religion has been and is the most potent factor for the uplift of the human races that this, our world, has ever known.

But pleasing tho' it was to gaze on that beautiful creation of man's art and skill, yet many were the sympathetic eyes that turned to rest on the gracious and benevolent lady (the chief human figure in that auspicious ceremony) whose numerous acts of loving kindness have made of her name, by unanimous report, throughout the length and breadth of Kauai, the synonym for good deeds.

Small wonder, then, nay, no wonder whatever, that she who is so richly dowered with the attributes of a noble womanhood is so much revered, so greatly beloved. For has it not been most truthfully written:

"'Tis only noble to be good," "Kind hearts are more than coronets," "And simple faith than Norman blood."

Moving among her friends with gracious mien and smiling looks she seemed the embodiment of a nature peaceful, happy, content.

And why not? No time this for tears or regrets. This day her loving task is ended; the desire of long years is attained; the fruition of hope is consummated; the harvest of her joys is complete.

Not without sorrows has her life been lived, but the same faith and

BOY SCOUTS ON THE FIRST HIKE TO COUNTRY

Have Delightful Outing—Locate Imaginary And Various Wild Animals—Don't Like Rest-Cure

The Boy Scouts conducted their first campaign this last week. They "hit the trail" at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning Kamooloa and though this trail was, for much of the way a broad macadamized road they were as full of enthusiasm and adventure as though it had been a trail across the Rockies. Every old cow by the roadside was a possible bear, every distant Jap suggested an Indian,—every dusty hollow an ambush, out of which the enemy might suddenly spring. About 3 hours of diligent "hoofing" it brought them to the camp,—in this case a mountain cottage—where the Scout master was awaiting them with commissariat supplies. An animated discussion followed as to how much water should be allowed to 2 cups of rice the suggestions ranging from 2 to 20 cups. A compromise of 8 was adopted which wasn't far out.

After lunch a siesta of one hour was ordered, and endured with much fortitude. The silence of something of perfection.

A fishing expedition arranged for the afternoon brought home eloquent rumors but no real fish and two or three heads of excellent wild taro.

At night around the extemporized camp, five Boy Scout exploits in other lands were related and the purposes of the movement were explained, until, at 9 o'clock the order "lights out" imposed silence and sleep.

Among other interests of the next day was the plant hunt—20 minutes to bring in the most plants. 52 was the highest number.

The hardest strain on the condition of implicit obedience was the silence of the rest hour, and one or two boys bubbled over so badly that they were ordered, by way of discipline, to carry home their blankets which they did in manly though shame faced fashion.

They would like to have staid longer, but the art of camping is to stop while they wish there was more of it—there will be more of it another time.

MRS. J. K. GANDALL ENTERTAINS AT TEA

One of the most delightful social events of the season was the afternoon tea given by Mrs. J. K. Gandall on Friday afternoon last.

Chairs and tables were set out on the lawn under the shade of the fine old trees, and there Mrs. Gandall received her guests with such easy and natural grace that everyone felt at home at once and entered cordially into the spirit of the occasion. The refreshments, which added to the interest of the event were of the most delicious quality and the table appointments delicate and artistic. It was a most enjoyable and congenial affair and the ladies were loath to leave.

trust that have sustained multitudes in their hours of grief have sustained and comforted her, and with them she has followed the poet in his lofty conception and has sung— "I hold it truth what'er befall," "I know it when I sorrow most," "Tis better to have loved and lost," "Than never to have loved at all."

And so calmly, serenely, and with quiet gladness she passes on her way, for she knows that in due season—or in the stillness of the dawn, or thro' the noontide glare, or in the hush of eventide—some grief laden soul will seek the hallowed silence of that "God's acre" on the crest of the hill, and there in tearful contemplation before that expressive, that eloquent, that appealing story in marble and bronze find comfort and consolation and support, and that

"Peace of God which passeth all understanding."

WHAT bothers ye editor, is why should Great Britain, France and Uncle Sam sign a peace pact, when they ain't a fightin'.

Now comes a wise one who declares that there are 55,000,000 germs in a teaspoonful of ice cream, but as long as there is room in the spoon for the ice cream, our young folks don't give a hang for a few million germs.

If the fad for oiling roads grows as it has started, and the increase in the number of automobiles goes on at the present rate, Rockefeller can afford to donate every head of a family in the islands a motor car in order to get the increased market for his gasoline, and to give every town a sprinkling outfit which will oil its streets.

Will you please let me know the definition of the word "recall" through the columns of your paper, that a question which has risen between myself and a friend might be settled? Thanking you, I am,

B. L. J., Honolulu: The "recall" is where you elect a man to office and if he doesn't do his duty, his friends take him by the nape of his coat collar and the seat of his trousers and yank him out of his job. And we might add that we don't know of a place on earth that needs the "recall" more than Honolulu.

Unusual Drummer

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 8.—Philip H. Nickerson, a salesman, cut his arteries in an attempt to end his life because he said at a hospital to-day, where he is recovering, his wife is too affectionate. He has been married three months.
"I'm fond of my wife," he said, "and want her to be fond of me, but there is a limit to all things. She wants to sit continually on my lap and hug and kiss me. If I stand up she stands up, too, and places her arms about me. It got on my nerves."

If Mrs. Nickerson cared to get a divorce from her icy-hearted spouse she would have no difficulty in securing a position in Hilo.

ON EDUCATION

Editor, GARDEN ISLAND:
Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say a word or two in the interest of school affairs.

With all that has been done and said for the education of our youth, there is one particular part of the subject which has been entirely overlooked by the Department and that is, the food which the child has (or has not.)

It would be a humane act and one which would prove of everlasting credit to THE GARDEN ISLAND if it would undertake a campaign of investigation with a view of ascertaining just what many of our children have for breakfast before starting for school, as well as to see to what extent they are sometimes driven by some hysterical teacher who is rendered unmindful of the child's physical condition through mortal dread of displeasing one whose chief object has seemed to be to visit schools in a critical rather than a helpful mood.

I have evidence where children who live miles from school, depend on green guavas, picked by the roadside as they go to school, for their breakfast; others who bring shell fish for their lunch and others who do not have any lunch at all. Under such circumstances, all the systems imaginable, would become worthless for the child who is unable physically to do his work. I have heard teachers remark on the stupidity of certain children and in each case, have wished very much to see what these same teachers could accomplish on a diet of half-ripe guavas, five cent's worth of jelly and bread, following a sprint of several miles. Why not have a school (as an experiment) fitted up with a cooking outfit consisting of a few pots and kettles and have the pupils (from the school garden or their home garden) furnish vegetables etc., which would be cooked thereon, the cooking to be done by the larger girls of the school. These girls could be detailed each day by the principal. They could begin their cooking class in time to have lunch ready by the noon recess, a different set of girls taking turns daily. Each pupil could have his or her little bowl neatly cleaned and placed in the desk for use when required. By this method, every girl in the school would receive training in Domestic Science and the pupils in turn, would receive the benefit of good, wholesome, nutritious food.

Another plan which has been suggested, would be for the Department to furnish vegetables and sometimes meat, a charge for which five cents per day for each pupil could be made, the proceeds to go towards replenishing the daily supply.

The introduction of Industrial Schools and the advocacy of school gardens, all look well on paper, and, I suppose are badly needed, but it strikes me that before very much can be accomplished in these lines, the wisest move that the Department of Education could make is to see these little frames of humanity strengthened in proportion to the necessary energy required to carry out these plans.

An incident bearing strongly on the manner in which some of our children live, was illustrated in a recent experience of one of Kauai's prominent teachers, to the effect that on hearing a peculiar sound in one of the girl's desks, she investigated, and found a large soft-shelled crab. Thinking that some prank was responsible for its presence there, she requested the girl to throw it away, when she was meekly informed that the crab was to be the girl's lunch and that it had become untied, and was exploring his new surroundings—hence the peculiar sound. Now, Mr. Supervising Principal, when you come to this little girl's paper (and many more of her like,) you may, and probably will, find it marked rather low, whereupon you will promptly "request" the teacher to "urge this pupil, that she can, and must do better etc." Stop! Eat a crab, yourself! Even two! After which, jump onto your geography lesson with both feet and see what great things you can accomplish. Better still: Please go into the mountains for two or three miles, sleep on the floor, get out early next morning and hike for school, making your breakfast from half ripe guavas, arrive a little late and get called down for getting into your line behind others, salute Old Glory, say your prayer, (you'll feel like it I'm sure,) then buckle down to your number work and see how easy (?)

it comestodo your work. But this is not all. A great big, well groomed man blows in, and before you know what is up, you are the object of this wonderful man's attention—he's the Supervisor and the very same who came last month and told your teacher that he was the whole guava tree, root and branch. He is actually talking to you. What does he say? After you get through trying to figure out what variety of guavas he lives on to make him look so strong, you finally realize that he is saying to you that your work is extremely poor. That you must do better. That Billie Jones, in another school, not nearly so old as you, knows much more, and that there is no excuse for you, other than inattention to your studies. Do you think you could do much better than these half-starved children are doing?

It must not be presumed, however, that all the school children attend school in a hungry condition, but it is a fact that foods purchased from the Chinese and Japanese shops, contain but little of the required nutrition necessary for brain food.

One Who Knows.
EDITOR'S NOTE:
The above, while carrying unmistakable evidence of an over drawn imagination, still contains points which might be worth a little consideration by the Department of Education. The writer in reference to the food purchased at coffee shops, is, in our opinion, correct, but the percentage of children subsisting on soft-shelled crab and green guavas, we are thankful to say, is very small. As to the attitude of the Supervising Principal toward backward children and "hysterical" teachers, from personal experience we are not aware of the existence of such a condition of affairs.

Assistant Principal Simpson of Kapaa school was a passenger for Honolulu Saturday, where he went to arrange for his two daughters to enter the Priory school.

OUR BUSINESS MEN AND WHO THEY ARE

Quong Lung:

In Kilauea, Quong Lung's place, is the only business firm of any importance. "Charlie," as he is known by everybody on Kauai, has a large share of the plantation trade, and as a result, has a large and prosperous trade. His store is kept clean and inviting, and he carries one of the largest lines of general merchandise stocks on this side of the island. He makes a special effort to learn the needs of his customers, that he may order for them anything he may not carry in stock. However, his stock consists of such a variety that it is seldom necessary to place a special

The first business firm here to engage our attention, is a Meat Market, conducted by Quong Tai Jan. This very enterprising butcher has a trade extending from Kapaa to Haena. He is a square dealer and is considered one of the most reliable business men of the district.

Road Luna Mahikoa and his two sons, Lionel and Robert, are jointly responsible for one of the most up-to-date auto stands on this side of the island. They are kept busy most of the time, their big cars being almost constantly on the road order. "Charlie" is one of the best known and highly respected Chinese citizens on Kauai.

Kalihiwai:

From Kilauea we drop down the mountain side into beautiful Kalihiwai Valley. Here we find a spot where old Mother Nature has all but excelled herself in grandeur. Beautiful water falls, a winding river, threading its path, snake-like, through verdant fields and well tilled truck farms, finally emptying itself into the ocean, whose tumultuous breakers seem ever intent on stopping the intrusion of the clear, mountain stream and drive it back to its origin. Great mountains, fringed with every shade of nature's green, rise abruptly from the ocean's edge, pretty cottages, surrounded by well kept ever-blooming flower gardens, dot the valley landscape, while a most hospitable class of people, adds all that is lacking to make Kalihiwai one of the most attractive spots on Kauai.

between Kalihiwai and Lihue. Owing to their courtesy, these two men and their father have gained a popularity as drivers of more than passing ability.

The Kalihiwai Store:

This big general merchandise store, is under the management of Mr. Abreu. It is a branch of the "Temple of Fashion," the Elelee Store, owned by ex-representative J. I. Silva. From a very small beginning, Manager Abreu has built up one of the largest and select trades enjoyed by our island stores. Three delivery wagons are required to accommodate his customers. He is honest and perfectly just with the public, which fact has gained for him, a clientele whose value is difficult to estimate. Diligent to the utmost degree, he is a living example to his clerks and other help, which is at once apparent to the observer. The result is, that every employee in this establishment is a most painstaking and obliging member of the firm, with but one object, and that, to please the customer.

Last Sunday's Ball Game

Outplayed in all departments, Makaweli trimmed the Lihue Sunday 8-4 in a great ninth inning rally. For seven innings they failed to cross the plate, in the eighth they brought the score 3 all. In the ninth they dented the pan 5 times whilst the Lihue scored once. An unpleasant accident in the first inning was, when Makanani hit the ball towards pitcher Honan the ball somehow striking him between the eyes almost retiring him from the game. The first run for Lihue came in on this. The third inning saw them with two more. Kamaka doubled Fernandes bunted safely and stole. Oponui fanned, Malina singled, scoring Kamaka and Fernandes. The next two were easy outs. In the eighth Makaweli scored on an error single and a home run.

In the ninth with two down, two singles and a home run brought in three runs. Then came two more singles and an error which gave them two more.

In the ninth for Lihue Makanani reached third on a couple of errors. Here catcher Fassoth practically held up the game, because the Lihue players and fans got too near the base line, although nothing was said when the Makaweli players did the same trick in the previous and same inning. Oliver the base umpire tried to be smart by turning the crowd. The latter retired, however, and the game proceeded. Abana died at first Makanani scoring the next two were disposed of easily.

The game practically gives the championship to Makaweli.

They can now afford to lose three games out of the next seven which is unlikely. This would destroy all interest in the game.

The K. A. C's went across country and fleeced the farmers to the tune of 7 to 5 in an interesting game. This victory for the K. A. C's really places it on a par with the best teams since the team which they defeated were victors over the Lihues two weeks ago.

The Makaweli ground was the scene of a one sided game between the Eleeles and Koloas, the former outclassing the latter to such an extent that the game proved all but entirely lacking in interest. At the finale, the score stood 14 to 5 in favor of Eleele.

BASEBALL SEASON IS CLOSED SUNDAY NEXT

With the game at Kilauea between Kilauea and Makaweli next Sunday, and that between Eleele and Homestead, both being postponed games, will end Kauai's first baseball series.

That baseball is a success on Kauai, has been demonstrated beyond all reasonable doubt. When THE GARDEN ISLAND launched its baseball campaign early in the year, it was with an assurance of self confidence in working up enthusiasm in sports, and the successful Fourth of July track and field meet and the highly satisfactory baseball campaign now terminating, bears unmistakable evidence of the correctness of our judgment.

Obstacles have risen during the series which momentarily dampened our enthusiasm, but we are thankful to say that THE GARDEN ISLAND is made of the most optimistic stuff imaginable and if there's anything in the line of Kauai sports in which we can be of service, just hook us on to your band wagon.

The closing series has brought out the fact that on Kauai there is first-class material and next season's games will be looked forward to with much speculation.

The season is closing Sunday, owing to the fact that Makaweli has such a lead that no other team can hope to bring it to defeat. Again, the season being so long, it was decided best to discontinue while the interest in the game is still above par.

We, in behalf of the league wish to assure the patrons of our games, of our appreciation of the interest they have taken, and the pecuniary aid rendered our league.

THE GARDEN ISLAND extends congratulations to Makaweli, the winners, and will also extend the right hand of fellowship in advance for the next season.

THE GARDEN ISLAND extends congratulations to all the teams on their determined efforts to maintain good, clean sports.

To the men who so kindly gave us their time as umpires, we are also duly grateful, and last but not least, the different transportation companies deserve much credit for their generous treatment of our boys.

AMATEUR GAME

The Eleeles played a good game up to the eighth inning when the Koloas got in some pretty stick work and some combination plays which brought them up four steps higher.

Three runs were due to errors on Eleeles part. I. Akana for the Eleele bunch, pitched a winning game, having the visitors on the hip from the start. There were only three hits registered against him during the game.

After the league game was played, two outside teams lined up and an exhibition of ball that for pure and unadulterated unsophisticated rural humor has not been surpassed this season. A one armed man held down short and executed some fancy stunts which made the league's short stops turn green with envy. As to batting, why he swatted a one handed and got off with a two bagger. He also made a sensational catch.
