Another Suit For Damages Is Filed Against Crabbe

Complaint Tells Ugly Story And Prohibition Officer In Interview Denies Important Allegations

Action in the form of trespass on case was started yesterday afternoon in the circuit court by the filing of a complaint on behalf of Manuel Abreu against E. C. S. Crabbe and James C. Moriyma by Murphy and Weaver, attorneys. Damages in the sum of $10,000 are asked.

The complaint filed yesterday afternoon alleges that on December 5 the defendants without proper warrant and authority entered on the premises of the plaintiff in the District of Makawao which premises were a dwelling house used exclusively for the purposes of such dwelling. It asserts that the wife of the plaintiff was pregnant and that such condition was made known to the defendants but that they searched the premises and as a result the wife of the plaintiff was made ill and gave premature birth to her child.

Crabbe Denies

Crabbe when questioned yesterday afternoon after the filing of the suit, denied all the allegations set forth in the complaint. He asserts that a search warrant had been procured before his entrance upon the premises in question from District Magistrate Pacheco at the Makawao Court-house. This warrant was served, he said.

The prohibition officer said upon reaching the premises of Abreu he approached the house. At his knock on the door a girl appeared whom he asked if Abreu was there and she replied that he was not. He then asked for Mrs. Abreu and the girl said she was at home but sick. Crabbe asserts he asked the girl if Mrs. Abreu was very sick and the girl replied "No." "May I see her," asked Crabbe. The girl, he says, replied that he could and Crabbe entered the room where Mrs. Abreu lay in bed.

Finds Woman Sick

Crabbe said he asked the Mrs. Abreu if she was very sick and that she replied in the negative, adding that she had given premature birth to a child two weeks previously. The officer then, according to his story, told her that he was sorry as he had a search warrant and was about to search the premises. She replied that she could not get up and go with him, to which Crabbe nodded his assent and asked that the girl be allowed to go with him which she did.

The search did not take long, for the officer had been well informed as to the position of an alleged liquor "cellar". The spot was found, some earth scraped from the top and the door lifted, revealing two barrels which, although they contained no liquor gave out a strong order of mash. Crabbe alleges. No search of the house was made, he added, and said further that the most courteous treatment was given, owing to Mrs. Abreu being ill.

Yesterday morning Crabbe, while on other business at Makawao he met Abreu and told him the circumstances of the case. Abreu then denied that the premature birth had occurred two weeks prior, declaring it had been shortly after Crabbe left the premises when the girl returned to the house and informed Mrs. Abreu that Crabbe had found the hole or cellar. The woman fainted upon being told, Abreu said, and the premature birth occurred.

Crabbe emphatically declared that at no time was he told of the nature of the woman's illness, adding that had he known he would not have exercised the authority vested in him at that time but would have waited until the woman had recovered.

CREDITS FOR FARMERS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS) WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Rural credits legislation, said to have the support of the administration, was introduced in both senate and house yesterday. The measures propose the establishment of a farm credits department as part of the present farm bureau and would make $60,000,000 available through the federal reserve banks for farm loans of from six months to three years.

Waialua Gets Back On Paying Basis And Ewa Pays 18 Percent

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

HONOLULU, Dec. 7.—Dividend declarations were made by Ewa and Waialua plantation companies yesterday, the companion companies of the Cattle and Cooke agency.

Waialua's declaration is the first dividend payment by that company in more than a year and is for two percent payable December 15, and one half of one percent a month in January and thereafter until further notice.

Ewa announced a dividend of three percent payable December 31 in addition to the special two percent dividends which it has been paying since October and the regular one percent dividends it has been paying since July. These will bring Ewa's dividends for the year up to 18 percent.

Directors of Ewa announced that the company will return to a one percent basis in January.

PROHIBITION IN HAWAII

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

HONOLULU, Dec. 6.—The United States Attorney's office announced today, following the news of a request of $9,000,000 from congress for prohibition enforcement in the next fiscal year, the violators of the prohibition law in the territory paid fines aggregating $54,057 in the year ending June 30 and the court heard 400 liquor cases in that year.

Pacific Coast Ball Magnate Disbarred

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 6.—The national association of professional baseball leagues, in session here, today barred William H. Klepper, President of the Portland, Oregon, baseball club, forever from participation in the association's affairs. Klepper was charged with filing a false statement relative to the capital stock of the Tacoma club which he organized.

John H. Farrell, secretary of the association said Klepper misrepresented the paid-in capital stock of the club in a statement filed last February. The Tacoma club was disbanded before the close of last season, leaving salaries of the players unpaid. When claims were presented to the association's board of arbitration, the financial affairs were disclosed. Kene-saw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, last spring placed Klepper on the ineligible list until 1925 for an alleged attempt to defraud the Seattle Club out of the services of William Kenworthy.

HUGE INSURANCE BOUGHT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The reports of 158 insurance companies, given at a convention here of the association of life insurance company presidents, showed the American people are buying $9,300,000,000 of new insurance each year which is $600,000,000 more than was purchased in 1912. At the end of 1922 it is estimated the total amount in force will be $50,000,000,000.

Kahului Project Will Be Favored By Maj. Johnson

Will Make Recommendation To Washington and Expects Provision To Be Made For Survey As To Cost

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

HONOLULU, Dec. 7.—Maj. W. A. Johnson, head of the army engineers office in the department of Hawaii, said this morning that he would submit recommendations to the chief of the United States engineers for further improvements to Kahului, Maui. If such recommendations be approved, he said a preliminary investigation will probably be ordered by congress.

Major Johnson said he believed there should be a continuation of the breakwaters and further dredging of the harbor.

As reported from Washington the recommendations of the engineers' department for improvements for harbors and waterways of the Territory of Hawaii made no provision for those desired for Kahului harbor, providing only for Honolulu, Hilo and Nawiliwili, Kauai.

The above dispatch indicates that further recommendations may be made by the engineers department and an appropriation be inserted in the measure before it is introduced into congress. The procedure would appear to be a survey to determine what the costs would be, the expense of such survey being included in the Rivers and Harbors Bill of this session and upon the completion of such survey and report an appropriation for the project itself to be included in the next following rivers and harbors appropriations.

Commissioners To Study Labor Lack Are Now On Maui

Are Accompanied By Secretary Of Territory and Secretary Of Planters' Association and Shown What They Ask

Four members of the special commission named by the department of labor to investigate labor conditions relative to a labor shortage in the islands arrived yesterday afternoon from Mahukona, Hawaii, on the Ki-lauea. The fifth member of the commission remained in Honolulu when the others left for Hawaii and Maui.

The four commissioners who are investigating Maui conditions are U. R. Cartwright of Portland, Fred Keightley of Pittsburg, John Donlin of Chicago and L. E. Shepherd of Cedar Rapids. Mrs. Shepherd accompanies her husband. With the party are Raymond C. Brown, secretary of the Territory and J. K. Butler, secretary of the Planters Association.

No public hearings have been held by the Commissioners during their visits to the islands and it was said last evening that none would be held here. They are being shown whatever they ask to see by Secretary Brown and Secretary Butler. They are apparently most concerned in the camps and housing arrangements, schools and community work and labor conditions. None of them are talking for publication at this time and it is not probable that they will give any expression of their views before they report to the department of labor.

Yesterday afternoon the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce called on the visitors and extended them an invitation to attend the meeting of the Chamber this afternoon if they desired to do so.

THE CIVIC CONVENTION

In Honolulu this morning there opened the Ninth Annual Civic Convention. Governor Farrington welcomed the delegates from the other Islands and proceedings now are in full swing.

Such meetings as those of the Civic Convention where matters of mutual importance and interest to all parts of the territory are discussed are highly desirable and those who attend always return home with the report that the time spent in attendance was highly profitable. So no doubt will it be this time and it is to be regretted that a larger number from this Island could not be in attendance.

In many things folk of one community or section can profit by the experience of others and the experiences of others are contained in papers and reports that are read and in the discussion that follows. Those who attend, then, bring home with them new ideas which they can disseminate through their own communities.

It is possible for such conferences to lay out a general tentative program for the progress of the whole territory without conflicting with the interests of any section, as in the case of the consideration that will be given to securing a larger appropriation for the Hawaii Tourist Bureau. Every Island benefits to a greater or less extent from the tourist travel to the Islands. Maui does not benefit so much as do Honolulu and Hawaii but that is to a large extent Maui's own fault. Her people have still to be awakened to all that a large and constant influx of visitors will mean. The awakening is slow, but it is coming.

The subject of public education is another that will be discussed on Honolulu and one upon which it will be well if some agreement can be reached and there are other features of the program which should be productive of good for Hawaii nei.

There has not been the wide spread interest this year as in former years but one may hope that the meeting will bring a revival of interest and that the movement for Territorial wide gatherings of the civic organizations will be revived as a result of the present convention.

VOTES AND JURY DUTY

Judge Case's interpretation of the law relative to the choosing of jurors is broader and more liberal than the one that has prevailed in his court recently. He holds that it is not necessary to select the names of the jurors from the names of those who voted at the last general election and the law seems to be clear on that point.

In determining the numbers of jurors to be drawn from the different districts the law provides that there shall be an apportionment in accordance with the votes cast but that does not mean that the commissioners in drawing shall be restricted to the list of voters. The law says that any male person who has the qualifications of a voter is eligible and liable to jury duty. The fact that a person did not vote does not take from him his qualifications as a voter.

Under the old ruling for more than a year there has been a shortage of jurors and men who had served in the so recent past that they had reason to expect to be excused from service for a time had to serve again.

To restrict the choice of jurors to persons who voted at the last election is to encourage persons who seek to avoid jury service to stay away from the polls. It is probable that in Maui there are few such persons but it is asserted that there are some. For such persons to avoid their obligation for jury service while others are forced to attend and serve term after term is unjust to the man who feels he has a duty to the community and himself to perform by going to the ballot box.

In any event there would be a larger list of eligibles next year than this and the attitude of the court, if followed by the commission, will still further lengthen the list.

With the new grind about to start and sugar $1.67 a hundred higher than last year the world certainly looks brighter for workers and stockholders alike.

Ralph De Palma has won many prizes for speeding but now he is serving a jail sentence in San Francisco by reason of his ability in rapid piloting.

Senator Rice's suggestion of a business manager government for Maui has certainly caused some folk to sit up and brought a considerable amount of talk on the subject.

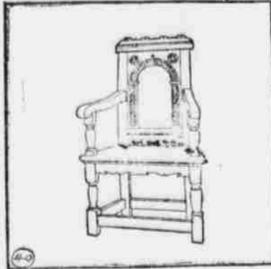

Nine millions of dollars a year for six years sounds like a big sum of money for prohibition enforcement. The House appropriations committee has approved that amount for the next fiscal year.

Members of the federal labor investigation commission are now on Maui seeing conditions here for themselves. They will find no island in the group where more is done for the welfare and comfort of the workers than here and they will find labor better satisfied than elsewhere.

The last report of Kula Sanitarium showed 14 patients discharged which means that there were practically that many arrested cases in one month. Kula's record shows how worth while the institution is.

THE HOME IN GOOD TASTE

No. 40—The Stuart Wainscot Chair

The type of chair called a "Wainscot" chair was made during a great part of the seventeenth century. The one shown in the cut is a good example of this kind of seat and was made in New England somewhere about 1650. They were not so numerous as other chairs and they were meant for heads of families or other important persons. Oak was the wood almost invariably used.

"Wainscot" chairs were built in a far more massive and substantial way than other types of chairs. They were really pieces of cabinet work and their construction resembled the construction of chests or cupboards. The solid backs were paneled, the seats were heavy slabs of wood and the stout turned legs were braced with heavy stretchers, as were the legs of "refectory" tables. The backs and the underframing of the seats were often elaborately carved.

"Wainscot" chairs, usually of the simpler designs without carving, are being reproduced to some extent and, if one has other furniture to go well with them, they are suitable for use in halls or in large room beside a fireplace. They are not desirable in very small rooms. Avoid reproductions in which the proportions are skimped and thin down. One of these chairs in a house is quite enough.

Cordwainer-Relay

This is a lovely competitive game played by two or more files of players. The leader is the Cordwainer. He stands in front of the files at a distance of four or five yards and holds in his hands a rope of short skipping length, for each file of players.

When the Cordwainer gives the signal the leader of each file runs forward, takes a rope by one end, runs back to his file and tosses the other end of the rope to the second player. Then holding the rope between them, close to the ground on each side, they run to the end of the file, each player in the file jumping quickly over the rope as it passes him. When they reach the end of the file No. 2 leaves

No. 1 at the end and runs forward, handing one end of the rope to No. 3, then each carry one end of the rope down each side of the column until they reach the end, when No. 3 leaves No. 2 and runs forward to No. 4 to repeat the performance with his new partner.

So the game continues until the last player in the file carries the rope to the original leader. The file finishing first wins the game. If not many are playing and there are but two files, each victory counts five points, and it takes twenty-five points to count a game. All the players in line must be on the alert to avoid stumbling over the rope as it goes down the file.

DO KINDERGARTENS PAY?

(By H. M. WELLS, President Hawaii Educational Association)

The Hawaii Education Association, through its executive committee, is asking the department of public instruction to establish one kindergarten for every 1000 pupils throughout the territory. We are doing this because we are convinced that kindergartens are the best kind of educational investment that this Territory could possibly make.

Like all the other items of the H. E. A. program, this particular item is subject to the endorsement of the seven affiliated Teachers' Associations of the Territory, to all of whom it has been submitted.

Profitable Investment

We believe that kindergartens pay in two ways:

1. Kindergartens Americanize. Kindergartens pay for themselves in actual dollars and cents by eliminating the receiving grade and by extending the time in which each child may secure an education by one year, thus giving him, by so much, a fuller and richer training before it is necessary for him to leave school.

First, as to Americanization: Psychologists and religious teachers agree that the first six years of a child's life determine, to a great degree, the kind of citizen he is going to develop into.

Two Ways Open

The citizen children of alien parentage in this territory are all heading in one of two directions: Either they are developing into loyal, law-abiding, Christian, American citizens, loving our flag and all that it stands for, respectful and respected by all the people of the land, or they will grow up alien in thought and speech, anti Christian, anti American, distrustful and despised, despising and despised. Which kind of citizen do you and I want for our neighbor? The kindergarten will do much to determine the kind of citizens we shall have, beginning, as it does at the very foundation of character building. No greater mistake can be made than to leave the molding of this plastic citizen stuff, the young child, to the worse than bungling of an ignorant, superstitious, alien enemy to American thought and life.

How Kindergartens Save

Second, as to the claim that kindergartens pay for themselves in actual cash as well as in better coin. In order to prove this proposition, allow me to submit the following facts: Here is a table, showing the comparative standing of two of Maui's largest schools. These particular schools are chosen for this comparison, partly because their problems are very similar. Both are large plantation schools, where a great predominance of Japanese pupils obtain something over 65 percent. They have approximately the same number of teachers, whose personnel has always ranked about the same in ability. The main difference in the two schools lies in the fact that the pupils of one school A, have had the opportunity of attending an efficiently conducted kindergarten (supported by private funds) while the pupils of the other, school B have never had an opportunity to attend kindergarten. Note the discrepancy in the average age of the pupils in the various grades.

Average Age of Pupils By Grades

Gr. I	Gr. II	Gr. III	Gr. IV	Gr. V	Gr. VI	Gr. VII	Gr. VIII
School A—7.4 yrs.	8.6 yrs.	10 yrs.	11 yrs.	12.3 yrs.	13.3 yrs.	14.3 yrs.	15.3 yrs.
School B—8.6 yrs.	9.1 yrs.	11 yrs.	12.1 yrs.	12.4 yrs.	13.6 yrs.	14.3 yrs.	15.5 yrs.

Work Now Duplicated

The discrepancy noted in the primary grades is a natural one, and is similar to that which would be shown in any pair of schools in which the conditions were parallel, since the kindergarten in the one case exactly duplicated, to all practical purposes, the work of the receiving class in the other case. In other words, the kindergarten gave the pupils of school A such a good grounding in English before they arrived at the age to enter the first grade, that they were able to enter that grade a year ahead of the pupils of school B. Looked at in terms of pupil advancement, then, a kindergarten would add nothing to the teaching cost of a school, since it would simply replace a position at ready manned. Of course there would be the actual initial expense of a kindergarten teacher to be met, but the kindergarten would soon displace the Receiving Grade.

It will be noted by the table above, that School B, apparently catches up with School A in grade five, and apparently holds that position through the grammar grades. As a matter of record, however, School B lost all but 25.7% of her pupils before they reached the Grammar Grades, while School A retained 33.5% of hers. The kindergarten, then, not only gave every child in the more fortunate school a year's start of his neighbor, but also gave him such a foundation and such an impetus as to carry him beyond his neighbor at the end of his school life. Other things being equal, School A, which may well represent any school that has a kindergarten within reach of its pupils before they are of regular school age, should send more pupils to High School, and send them younger, than your B school that has no such advantage.

The introduction of kindergartens into our school system, then, will help most effectively to solve our great problem of Americanization; it will also add a year's time to the potential training of our pupils along such lines as we may determine upon, and thus allow for greater breadth of education. The great question educational, today, is what the trend of that education should be, and how it should be directed.

The Hawaii Education Association does not favor an education that shall lead exclusively to the white collar job. We are heartily in accord with the idea of training the youths of this agricultural land along agricultural lines. As a preparation for any kind of an agricultural course however, it is necessary for the boy to have a thorough grounding in the fundamentals. We cannot build a scientific course in agriculture on a fifth grade foundation. The kindergarten will help, by one year's work toward laying that better foundation.

Philippines Reach New Agricultural High Water Record

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 16—(By Associated Press Mail)—The high water mark was reached in Philippine agriculture in the year 1921 insofar as the area planted to the six leading crops of the Islands is concerned, according to the annual report of the bureau of agriculture, just made public. In the year 1921 a total of 8,738,967 acres was cultivated, compared with 8,192,355 acres in 1920.

Notwithstanding the increase in acreage, the year 1921 was one of general dissatisfaction from a financial standpoint, the report says. Because of the record prices prevalent during 1919 and 1920 the cultivation of edible crops, especially rice and sugar, was greatly extended. The area planted to rice in 1921 was increased by 12.7 percent to sugar cane by 22.3 percent to coconuts by 5.3 percent and to corn by 1.2 percent. In yield per acre, 1921 also shows an increase of 1.2 percent in rice and 3.4 percent in sugar cane over that of 1920, but market conditions were such that in spite of the increases in area and yield the value of all Philippine crops fell from $343,565,000 in 1920 to $201,629,000 in 1921 or about forty percent.

New Creative Theory Evolved By English Savant In Australia

SYDNEY, Nov. 9—(By Associated Press Mail)—A new theory of creation, which may supplant the Einstein theory of relativity, has been evolved by Lord Clifford, F. G. S., F. C. S., who is visiting Australia.

Lord Clifford, although averse to laying down a hard and fast theory until more complete investigations have been made, said that the main outline is "that all matter has been produced by the shortening of wavelength per inch of light or ether, owing to explosions of light or ether currents meeting from opposite directions."

"I have been able mathematically to establish an index ratio of all matter and psychic forces in relation to the total wave lengths of light or ether, which may solve many problems in organic and inorganic chemistry," he said. "I have been working for the past four years with Dr. Benjamin Moore on the evolution of organic out of inorganic matter, and it is mainly owing to suggestions of mine that Dr. Moore achieved definite results 12 months before they were achieved likewise but in a different manner by Professor Bally of Liverpool."

Lord Clifford's work has been taken up by the presidents of the English zoological and geological societies. He is touring Australia with the main object of founding branches of the Evolution Society, which was established in 1920 as the result of his work by Dr. Moore, late physicist at Oxford.

Next Sunday Will Be "Forefathers" Day

A Spiritual "Hall of Fame" is to be found in the city of New York. It is located in the great church of St. John the Divine towering aloft on Morningside Heights above the waters of the Hudson. Running around the walls of this largest of American churches are 20 niches. The first 19 have been filled, each with a statue of the most representative man of the centuries past. The twentieth waits to be filled. There has been much spirited discussion as to the fitness of some of the selections. Luther is not found there, but the man of his century is Archbishop Cranmer, possibly in this case the result of Episcopal preference. Dante is not found there, but in his stead is Wycliffe, the morning star of the Reformation. As to most of the others there is no dispute. Athanasius who battled single handed for the faith is there, and Augustine the greatest thinker of all the years. St. Benedict is here, the founder of the monastic world at its best. Charles Martel who broke the power of the onswearing Moors on the plains of Tours, and saved Europe to Christianity, is here, and so is Godfrey, leader of the only successful crusade. The gentle St. Francis of Assisi is represented with the flowers growing about his feet. Four of the last representatives are not churchmen at all, Columbus and Shakespeare, Washington and Lincoln, and many people have wondered why the secular world should have so been drawn upon. The explanation is given that not the greatest men of the church were chosen, but in each case the most representative figure of the century. The coming Sunday is Forefather's Day, and at the Union Churches of Makawao and Wailuku, Mr. Jones will display pictures of these figures as they stand in their hall of fame, and the sermon of the day will be devoted to the services that each has rendered.

New Immigration Scheme Announced By Great Britain

SYDNEY, N. S. W.—(By Associated Press Mail)—Details of a comprehensive immigration scheme, involving the expenditure of 36,000,000 pounds sterling, have just been announced by Prime Minister Hughes. The scheme is an outgrowth of the agreements reached at the conference of British Premiers last year and provides that the initial cost of settling a new farmer is to be assumed by the three governments concerned—the British Empire, the Commonwealth and state. An arrangement has been completed with the premier of West Australia under which 6000 new settlers are to be introduced into that state at the joint expense of the three governments with a total loan expenditure of 6,000,000 pounds sterling. The premier has undertaken to introduce 75,000 new settlers within five years. A similar arrangement has been reached with the Victorian government, and the premier has announced that he is ready to negotiate with all of the states as soon as they indicate a willingness to provide farms. At present the flow of immigrants to Australia is between 25,000 and 30,000 annually, but with the new scheme for which £36,000,000 is available, it is expected that the number will reach approximately 100,000 a year.

Fail To Complete Hazardous Voyage

SYDNEY, N. S. W.—(By Associated Press Mail)—An attempt by three Australians to journey from Singapore to Melbourne recently in an open boat failed when they arrived at Batavia and abandoned their project. The boat was unsuited for the adventure and at the rate of progress it made, at least three years would have been required for the journey, according to Captain George, leader of the trio.

"Our thirst for adventure led us to undertake the journey, but we found it impossible to beat against the wind and the voyage from Singapore to Batavia—550 miles—took us 98 days," he said.

Monsoons made progress impossible for days and strong currents made the adventurers' live arduous he added.

SYDNEY, N. S. W.—(By Associated Press Mail)—The dress and morals of the woman of today received sharp censure at the hands of Mrs. Grant Forsythe, in the president's address at the recent annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. "We deplore many of the new customs and habits that have crept into women's lives," she said. "The too free manner and careless, immodest dress, the inelegant, slangy language, the cigarette-smoking and wine-drinking the betting and gambling that are so meat and drink to many, if not to the majority of girls all are signs of the times. We dare not leave them unchallenged. Some of the evils could be rectified by legislation; some only by example and teaching. Women's place still begins in the home, and there we must look for the remedy." She said that she looked forward to the time when the legislature would give the people an opportunity of ex-

The convention decided to ask the federal government to introduce legislation in Australia which would give married women the right to retain their British nationality on marriage with an alien.
