Honolulu Men May Be Used As Witnesses; U.S. Attorney To Ask Consideration

NO WRONG WAS INTENDED, SAY TWO LOCAL MEN

Declare Connection With Maverick Was Purely Commercial; Declaration is Followed By Plea of Guilty; to Be Sentenced December 15; Preston Will Make Clemency Plea for Them

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 5.—Eugene Rodiek, former German consul at Honolulu, H. A. Schroeder, Hackfeld & Co. employee, and Captain Wilhelm von Brincken pleaded guilty this afternoon in the federal district court to conspiring to foment a revolution in India.

Von Brincken will be sentenced Monday, the others on December 15.

District Attorney Preston declared he would ask consideration for Rodiek and Schroeder and may possibly use them as witnesses when the trial of the other defendants is resumed.

Captain von Brincken was military attaché of the German consulate at San Francisco.

(SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 5.—George Rodiek, former German consul at Honolulu, and H. A. Schroeder, employee of Hackfeld & Co., offered written statements today in connection with the trial of the Hindu conspiracy case. These statements they declared should be accepted in a spirit of fairness to themselves and their American associates in Hawaii as giving the circumstances on which the charges against them were based.

The statement review a long period before the United States entered the war.

The transaction in which they were involved they said consisted only of furnishing supplies to the Maverick at Hilo on the basis of an ordinary commercial transaction. The transmission of orders to the master of the Maverick Rodiek stated occurred in April and May of 1915 and were of a purely commercial nature.

Neiner was cognizant both stated of any law violations involved.

Rodiek said he went to Honolulu 27 years ago and married an American. He became a naturalized citizen.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 5.—Ten persons were killed and 40 injured today in a terrific explosion in the Heidelberg plant of the Aetna Explosives Company.

SEEKERS OF HABEAS CORPUS LOSE CASES

Mandates which have been received by the local U. S. court from the ninth circuit court of appeals, California, show that the appeals sought by six Japanese from Hawaiian decisions declining them admittance into the territory, have been dismissed in the higher tribunal. The petitioners were K. Ishii, C. Kajikami, Natsu Ishii, Mass Keam, E. Yamada and Asano Yamada.

FIVE TEACHERS FROM JAPAN SEEK APPEAL

A petition to appeal their case to the ninth circuit court of appeals, California, and for an assignment of errors to the decision of Judge H. W. Vaughan finding against them, has been filed in federal court by the five Japanese school teachers who were denied admission to the territory on the ground that they came here under contract. Judge Vaughan held that they were not entitled to admission.

IMPORTS TO HAWAII LIMITED

Collector Franklin Gets Instructions That These and Many Other Articles Cannot Be Admitted Except Under Special Dispensation From Washington

By a presidential proclamation dated November 28, more than fifty articles now imported into the United States in large quantities, will not be allowed to be shipped into continental United States or its territorial possessions except under a license granted by the war trade board at Washington. Among the articles affected are rice, beans (all kinds), burlap, coconut oil, copra, hemp, tobacco, wheat, flour, leather, and a long list of metals and alloys. The order affecting the importations of these articles came in a lengthy cablegram to Collector of Customs Malcolm Franklin yesterday.

That this new regulation will seriously affect local imports was admitted at the custom house this morning. It was stated that in order to import any of the mentioned articles into Hawaii, a license from the war board at Washington must first be secured, and this may be obtained by cabling to the capital through the Honolulu custom house. When the license is granted, the goods will be admitted.

The list of countries from which the importations are thus restricted comprises every country with which this territory has to deal. Rice from Japan, beans for soya, hemp and burlap, palm and coconut oil and copra from the South Seas, are all affected by this regulation.

REFORM SCHOOL FOR REBELLION SEEKER

Charged, among other things, with attempting to foment a rebellion at the boys' industrial school, a young Japanese boy was committed to the institution this afternoon by Circuit Judge Heen. It was alleged he wrote letters to inmates telling them how to escape. The boy is the last of the 44 inmates of the school who escaped in November, 1914, some of whom were indicted by the grand jury. He was captured by Probation Officer Leal last Monday.

ROEHL IS WITNESS BEFORE GRAND JURY

Werner Roehl, superintendent of the Queen's hospital, has been summoned as a witness before a special meeting of the territorial grand jury this afternoon. He will testify, it is expected, in connection with what is believed to be further investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of Miss Florence Berg, a nurse, following a criminal operation.

AMERICAN FLIERS PICKED UP AT SEA

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Dec. 5.—The story reached here today of how two American aviators in Europe lost their way while hunting submarines far at sea, and were providentially picked up by an American vessel 650 miles off the Irish coast. The aviators took on some supplies and then started for their station in their aeroplane.

T. K. K. WILLING TO ENTER ISLAND RUN SAYS AVERY

Asano Advisor Declares He Expects Early Action By Shipping Board to Clear Situation

"We are willing to go into the business of carrying passengers from Honolulu to San Francisco and return, providing the T. K. K. line is given a certain period of time in which to prepare," said W. H. Avery, advisor to the Asano syndicate, today in a talk to members of the Ad Club at the Alexander Young hotel.

"I am under the impression that within the next ten days the shipping board will take some action which will clear the situation. In Washington there has been an impression that the granting of permits to foreign vessels would mean excessive tariffs. I do not believe this to be so."

Fred J. Halton, secretary of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, said that the people of Hawaii are patriotic, and would gladly give every ship on the ocean and live on fish and poi, but he contended that there are many ships passing through this port that could carry passengers but do not. He gave a comparison of the number of passengers carried and the accommodations.

The Siberia had accommodations for 186 and carried 80. The Tenyo, 238-248; the Nippon, 114-66; the Venezuela, 112-78; the Columbia, 112-56; and the Willis, 184-36.

CHILD TO HAVE HELP IN FOOD WORK HERE

Receives Authorization From Washington to Employ Aids to Enforce Laws

Authorization to employ as many assistants as he may require in carrying on the work of his office has been received by J. F. Child, federal food administrator of the territory, from Herbert Hoover, national food administrator.

This means that Mr. Child's present office force will be increased by three employees of at least one or two persons who will be actively engaged in enforcing the rules and regulations laid down by the federal food administration, laws relating to food handling and distribution, and proclamations by the president bearing on the same subjects.

Administrator Child believes that he can carry on the work of his office with one or two inspectors at present; but others will be engaged if the occasion warrants it.

"Up to this time it has been practically a one-man job," says Mr. Child, "and naturally the work of the office has progressed rather slowly as I have had to conduct investigations and attend to other matters personally. With this assistance assured, I expect to speed up the work of the office and place it in a position where it can handle a large amount of work."

Under the food bill $2,500,000 was appropriated for administration work in the various states, but the national administration has intimated that this will be entirely insufficient. However, Mr. Child announced today that he has "ample funds" for the employment of assistance.

LACK OF FUNDS THROWS COURTS INTO CONFUSION

Failure of the board of supervisors to appropriate sufficient money to tide over the circuit court until the first of the year, when its appropriation for the next period becomes available, has thrown two of the three divisions into a state of confusion which will take weeks, and probably months, to straighten out.

At the present time there are about 200 cases pending in Circuit Judge Kemp's division, and they are continuing to pile up because of the fact that there is no money with which to pay juries, and most of the cases must be tried by jury. It was pointed out today that many of these cases can be disposed of in December if money is forthcoming from the supervisors.

In Circuit Judge Heen's division there are probably 100 criminal cases pending, and the work here has also been held up because of the absence of money for jury fees. "We still have a little money—about enough to buy stamps and ice," said a court official today.

Unless money is forthcoming right away, court officials declare, the first of the year will see the calendars of the criminal and law divisions cluttered with some 200 cases. Sessions of the grand jury have been held despite the absence of money to pay the inquisitors, and the return of indictments has caused the piling up of more criminal cases.

CHRISTMAS MAIL SWAMPS FORCE AT POSTOFFICE

By the time the mail boat leaves for San Francisco this afternoon, every bit of Christmas mail will have been despatched from the local postoffice. The postal employees worked steadily until 11 o'clock last night sorting and packing the mail and parcel post which literally swamped the force. Judging from the size of today's Christmas mail, this year's quantity which will pass through the Honolulu postoffice will be fully as large as last year's according to Postmaster MacAdam.

Postmaster MacAdam stated this morning that there would probably be another mail out on the 11th and another on the 13th, which would make deliveries in the states before Christmas, if all facilities are normal. The mail leaving on the 11th would be distributed through the United States in plenty of time for Christmas, while the mail leaving Honolulu on the 13th would be just delivered in time. The next mail from the coast is expected on the 12th.

Postmaster MacAdam urges that everyone will mail their Christmas packages and letters by the 11th and to mail all packages for city and island points as soon as possible.

Major Charles H. Bonesteel, First Infantry, U. S. A., who has been stationed at Hale for some time as an inspector-instructor of the National Guard of Hawaii, has an article in the Atlantic Monthly on the Volcano that does much credit to the army man as a writer. Major Bonesteel is in the city today, making his preparations for an early departure from the islands.

$45,000 Y. W. C. A. CAMPAIGN IN CITY IS PLANNED

War Needs Have Made Imperative Call on Local Institutions; Its Work Broadsens

Announcement of a $45,000 fund campaign for the Y. W. C. A. of Honolulu was made at the Ad Club luncheon today by Miss Martha Chickering, field secretary for the Pacific coast division, Y. W. C. A. immigration department.

This means that Mr. Child's present office force will be increased by three employees of at least one or two persons who will be actively engaged in enforcing the rules and regulations laid down by the federal food administration, laws relating to food handling and distribution, and proclamations by the president bearing on the same subjects.

Administrator Child believes that he can carry on the work of his office with one or two inspectors at present; but others will be engaged if the occasion warrants it.

"The fact that the Y. W. C. A. asked for $35,000,000 for its vast and important work and secured $49,000,000, assures the women at the head of the Y. W. C. A. campaign that far more than the four million requested will be forthcoming."

"These two campaigns, that of the Y. W. C. A. combined with this of the Y. W. C. A., make easily the largest short time appeal for Christian work ever made in the history of the world."

"As this new appeal comes to the people of Honolulu, the Y. W. C. A. is particularly anxious to have it absolutely understood that the work it is doing is under federal endorsement of the commandants concerned; that it is being requested by the federal commission on training camp activities to go into one camp after another with Hostess Houses and into adjoining industrial communities with emergency housing and constructive social activities for younger girls."

Honolulu's Share in This Work

The local association, coming before the public in its annual finance campaign, presents a budget of $45,000. This includes our regular local budget and our share of the four-million-dollar fund.

"The full budget will be explained carefully through the papers in the next few days. The Y. W. C. A. asks in this most important matter the continued careful and responsive attention of the public that it has so deeply appreciated in the past."

NO BLACKLIST IS PLANNED FOR FOOD CAMPAIGN

NATIONAL FOOD PLEDGE CARD

The following pledge is printed at the request of the National Food Administration:

To the Food Administrator:

I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our nation and I hereby accept membership in the United States food administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the Food Administrator in my home, insofar as my circumstances permit.

Name ..... Street ..... City ..... Occupation ..... Number in household ..... Occupation of breadwinner ..... Will you take part in authorized movements for food conservation? ..... Have you a garden? .....

There are no fees or dues to be paid. The Food Administration wishes to have as members all of those actually handling food in the home.

Anyone may have the Home Card of Instruction, but only those signing pledges are entitled to the Membership Window Card, which will be delivered upon receipt of the signed pledge.

Sign and send to Federal Food Administration, Castle & Cooke Bldg., Honolulu, T. H., for Hawaii.

J. F. CHILD,
Federal Food Administrator

for Hawaii.

While it is necessary that a record be kept of signers and non-signers, the women's committee at its meeting yesterday did not take any action looking toward a "blacklist," it was insisted today.

At yesterday's meeting 27 captains for the districts to be covered in the campaign were named.

ELECTROCUTED ON SHIP

Carl Meyers, water tender aboard the Klauea, was electrocuted yesterday afternoon while working around the ship as it lay in drydock. Meyers came in contact with a portable light, and the damp deck is believed to have caused a circuit which resulted in the sailor's death. Meyers was rushed to the emergency hospital after Hospital Steward Stevenson worked for nearly an hour in an attempt to revive Meyers by artificial respiration.

Says Molasses Would Supply Potash Needs

Hawaiian Cane Mills Lead in Percentage of Extraction, Planters Hear

Three reports, one by Dr. R. S. Norris on "Mill Data," one by H. P. Penhallow, chairman of the committee on "Cultivation, Fertilization and Irrigation of Irrigated Plantations," and another by David Forbes, chairman of the committee on "Cultivation and Fertilization of Unirrigated Plantations," occupied the attention of the morning session of the thirty-seventh annual meeting of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association.

During a discussion on the report by Mr. Penhallow when the subject of fertilization was under consideration, it was pointed out that if the plantation mind of the islands combined in the work of extracting potash from molasses sufficient potash could be secured to satisfy the entire demand of the territory. This suggestion, which came from J. N. S. Williams following remarks by other members present on their experiences in securing potash from molasses, was given considerable discussion before the next topic of the report was taken up.

In Dr. Norris' report on "Mill Data" the fact that for the first time in the history of Hawaiian sugar industry the average extraction for the past season has been 37 per cent was brought out. Dr. Norris emphasized the fact that Cuban sugar cane had an average extraction of 32 and Java sugar cane an average extraction of 34 and 35 per cent. The figures secured in the annual reports of mill data are taken from the annual reports of 41 factories embracing all but one of the plantations in the association.

The quality of the cane in the Hawaiian Islands has increased," said Dr. Norris. "The polarization is higher, the percentage of fiber lower and the purity of the juice is higher."

In concluding the report Dr. Norris pointed out that the losses by bagasse and press cake had been reduced to such a low point that they exceed the efforts of any other sugar growing country. The loss in molasses, he said, is, however, still high and should have more attention in improved machinery and methods and enlargements. The greater immediate improvement, in his opinion, could be brought by increased capacity in boiling houses.

The report submitted by Mr. Penhallow on the subject of "Cultivation, Fertilization and Irrigation of Irrigated Plantations" marked the fact that there had been several theories on fertilization which had been upset during the past season, chief of which was that it had been found more satisfactory to apply fertilizer in one large dose rather than in several small doses on a great many plantations. His report also contained the news that a system of lining irrigation ditches with concrete without impairing their work at the time of lining had been devised and a patent applied for it.

Included in the report were letters from John Hind, James Gibb and Frank Alexander, members of the committee.

The third report read to the morning session was that of the committee on "Cultivation and fertilization of unirrigated plantations." David Forbes, chairman of the committee, read the report.

Just before the session closed Chairman E. D. Tenney announced that the Star-Bulletin would photograph the members present following the close of the afternoon session and jocularly advised all those who were to attend the afternoon meeting to come in their best clothes.

The afternoon session took up the report of the committee on "Cutting, loading and general transportation," submitted by L. Weinheimer, chairman.

This last talk will have for its subject "The Symmetry or Completeness of Jesus' Character." Women are invited to bring their sewing to this informal address or Red Cross sewing will be provided for those who wish it. The lecture begins at 10 o'clock and lasts about half an hour.

The Philadelphia Orchestra will play no German music in Pittsburgh.

BIG FOOD PLEDGE CAMPAIGN TO BE STARTED FRIDAY

Patriotic Women Ready to Line Up Housewives in Movement to Conserve Foodstuffs

More than 100 patriotic Honolulu women today are making their final preparations for the big food pledge "drive" which will be actively begun early Friday morning. Aided by automobiles, able lieutenants, Boy Scouts and a large number of older school girls, the captains of the various districts expect to sweep Honolulu from end to end in a smashing campaign to line housewives up with the nation wide movement to conserve America's food supply.

This morning the members of the woman's committee of the territorial food commission, headed by Mrs. A. C. Alexander, chairman, established headquarters in the office of the commission and began the work of sorting out the equipment to be used by the captains and their helpers in the big "drive." Thousands of cards are ready for distribution to the district workers, and by Friday morning everything will be in readiness for the actual launching of the campaign.

Following is a list of the districts and leaders:

OFFICER ACCUSED OF BRUTALITY IN ARREST IS PLACED ON TRIAL

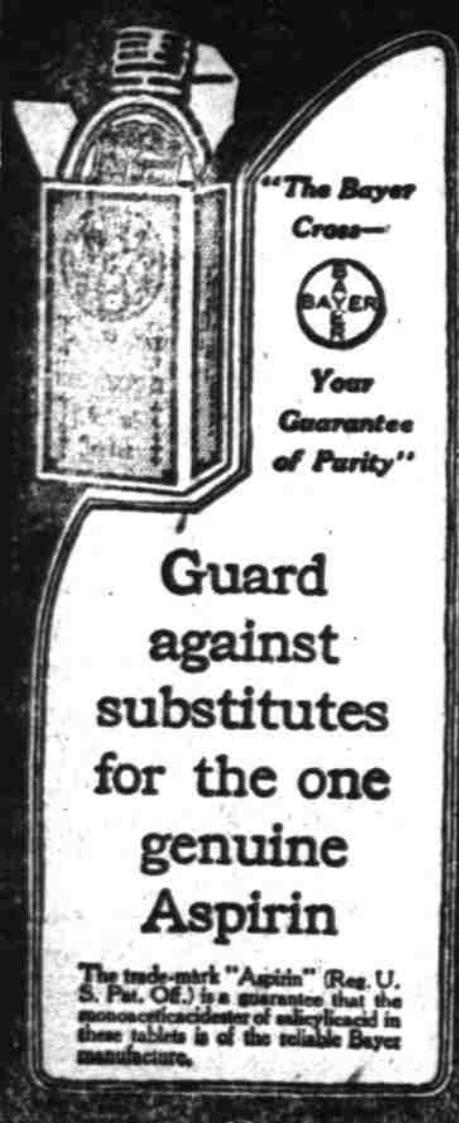

No decision was reached in the hearing yesterday by the Civil Service Commission in the case of Donecio Fernandez against Albert Machado, W. T. Rawlins appeared as attorney for the complainant and Sheriff Chas. H. Rose acted as attorney for the defendant policeman.

Evidence introduced in the testimony of two eye-witnesses, as well as by three photographs made of the complainant, tended to prove that Officer Machado must have given Fernandez at least one heavy blow in the face. The witnesses, Filipe Gabriel and Amor Morino, both of whom were arrested at the same time, testified that they saw the policeman strike Fernandez twice in the face.

Fernandez himself testified that he was not in the house which was raided, but that he was on his way from the fertilizer company to the cannery company, looking for a job; that he had been employed by the Spalding Construction Co., but was at the time of his assault out of work; that he did gamble, at times, but that he was not arrested, but was merely passing the place, and was caught with the others and knocked down by the officer, who struck him over the eye before he spoke to him.

LaSalle Extension University Men Are Here on Island Tour

Visiting Hawaii in the interests of LaSalle Extension University of Chicago, C. M. Lyons and A. W. Martin arrived on the President and will be here for a month, spending part of time in business trips to the other islands.

This is the third trip for Mr. Lyons in connection with this educational institution which trains thousands of ambitious men and women for bettering themselves in business channels. He has been here for three years in succession. It is Mr. Martin's first trip. They are staying at the Young hotel, where they are available to inquirers or patrons.

Many students here are enrolled in this extension work, which has patrons in every large mainland corporation. It is said that more than 125,000 men in active business are reaping the rewards of LaSalle training.

RUSS AGENT HERE STILL CONTINUES

Dr. Marques, However, Will Refuse to Recognize Bolshevik Government

San Francisco papers received yesterday announced that Artemy de Wywodzoff, Russian consul general for the Pacific coast states, had resigned because of his inability to accept the policy of the Bolshevik government, which he characterized as "a band of outlaws." His resignation will have no effect upon the Russian vice-consulate here. Dr. A. Marques, who looks after the consular affairs for Russia in the territory of Hawaii, said yesterday:

"I had heard nothing about Mr. de Wywodzoff's resignation until I saw the announcement in print. A letter received from him under date of Nov. 21 made no reference to his intended resignation. Naturally, very few of us here in America look upon the Bolshevik government as permanent. The Russian ambassador at Washington, under whom we all work, has refused absolutely to recognize this new government, but he has not resigned because of it. The Russian people must be looked after in one way or another while all this unrest goes on in Russia, and I see no reason why any of the consuls should resign because of the Bolshevik attempt at government, which at most can last only for a matter of months. I shall continue my consular work for Russia as usual."

SALVATION ARMY TO MAKE ITS FINAL DRIVE

The final drive for the $200,000 needed by the local Salvation Army as its quota of the $200,000 required by national Salvationists for war relief purposes will be made Thursday morning, when tickets for the benefit concert to be given Thursday evening in Memorial Hall will be sold.

This concert promises to be one of much merit. The girl band of the Salvation Army has made quite a reputation for itself and its music. The girls are not only capable performers on their various instruments, but several of them possess remarkably good voices. The music for the concert will consist of solos, duets and songs by all the members of the band as well as instrumental selections.

Little Pollyanna, who like the "Pollyanna" of fiction for whom she was named, "makes everybody glad," is said by those who have heard her to have a perfect contralto voice. Pollyanna will sing in a duet, and Pollyanna will also make the opening address. She is one of the Salvation Army children, and has now attained to the great age of five sedate years.

Wilson Urges War on German Allies

PRESIDENT IN OUTSPOKEN WAR ADDRESS SAYS EVILS OF PRUSSIANISM MUST END

Partnership of Nations After War Will Guarantee Future Peace of World

[Below is published the complete message of President Wilson to Congress yesterday. The major part of the message was received in time for yesterday's second edition and then printed, the remainder coming by telegraph too late for publication.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5.—President Wilson yesterday delivered to the assembled houses of congress a war message ringing with the determination of the United States to carry on the battle against Germany until the wrongs done by Prussianism in Europe are righted and the future peace of the world is assured.

He declared that nothing will be allowed to divert the energies of the United States until the object for which America entered the war are won. He declared also that the war will be won only when Germany agrees to full reparation and justice for her reckless and ruthless acts of military power.

The president's message also forecast a peace settlement which will end German domination over Austria and the Balkan states and Turkish rule within the borders of Asia.

The President's determined words were spoken to an audience that filled the hall of representatives, where the two houses were assembled, and hung with intense earnestness on each sentence as it was delivered. The galleries were crowded. The official and diplomatic galleries held many foreign diplomats, and the section assigned to friends of members of congress was filled.

The President said:

"Gentlemen of Congress: It has been eight months since I last addressed you and grave events have intervened since that time. I shall not attempt to summarize them. The departments will report to you the details of what has been done and what is being done."

"Today I shall discuss only the outlook upon the vast affairs on which we are engaged, our present duty and the means of accomplishment. I shall not discuss the causes of the war. The intolerable wrongs planned by the sinister masters of Germany have long been grossly obvious. Let us consider again gravely our objectives and measures of attainment.

"Our object is to win the war. We shall not slacken energy and we shall not be diverted until this is done."

"Americans know the causes of war and know what the realization proposes. They are of a united spirit in the intention not to heed the advice of dissent. I know that the critics of the noisy thoughtless and the troublesome will fling itself in impotent disloyalty against the calm and indomitable power of the nation."

"We hear men debate peace who neither understand its nature nor how to attain it—debate with unbroken spirits and uplifted eyes. None of them speak for the nation. They do not touch the heart of anything."

"Another viewpoint believes it necessary to say plainly it considers what the war is for, what is the essential element of its issues."

"We are acting as spokesmen for a people, and they are entitled to know whether their purposes are ours."

"They desire peace by overcoming evil, and by the decisive defeat of sinister forces. They are deeply and indignantly impatient of compromise."

"I believe I speak for them when I say that this intolerable thing in which the masters of Germany have shown their ugly faces, this thing which is a menace through intrigue, which is without conscience, without honor and without capacity for covenanting peace, must be crushed."

"If it is not utterly ended it must at least be shut out of the intercourse of nations."

"Secondly, when this is accomplished and when the German people have spokesmen whose word we can believe and who accept the judgment of nations as to the law and covenants for world-life, we shall be willing and glad to pay the full price of peace ungrudgingly."

"This price will be full and impartial justice for every nation, friendly or enemy."

"Humanity insists that the war shall not end vindictively. The first step is to show autocracy the futility of its claims in the modern world. Until this is done, we cannot establish right as the arbiter of nations. When this is done, as, God will, it will assuredly be, we are free to base speech upon generosity, and to justify that generosity."

"Let there be no misunderstanding as to the immediate task of war, and nothing to divert our energies until it is won. To those desiring peace before the end is attained, I counsel them to carry their advice elsewhere. We shall not entertain it."

"We shall regard the war as won only when Germany shall say through her accredited representatives that they agree to settlement on a basis of justice and of reparation for the wrongs their rulers have done."

"The wrong to Belgium must be repaired. The powers over Austro-Hungary and the Balkan states, and Turkey in Asia, must be relinquished."

"We have not grudged the German successes by skill, industry, knowledge and enterprise—rather have we admired them. But these they threw away to establish military dominion."

"Peace must make right wrong. We do not wish to rearrange or impair the Austro-Hungarian empire. It is no affair of ours what they do industrially or politically. We do not propose to dictate."

"My desire is that their affairs should be left alone, and I should hope to secure for the Balkan states and the Turks the rights of safety and political freedom. Our attitude toward Germany is the same. We intend no wrong and no internal interference."

"The masters of Germany tell the Germans they are fighting for the very life and existence of the empire. This is grossly false. No one is threatening the existence, independence and enterprise of Germany."

"She continues the rulers it is impossible for the world to trust, it might be impossible to admit her to that peace partnership of nations which must henceforth guarantee peace."

"The same falsehoods which have served to bring the German people into a state of mind wherein they believe their national safety to be threatened and attacked, have served to disrupt the alliance which heretofore has had Russia in the Entente and the Russian people are today being misled by the same hands that have misled the peoples of Germany and Austria. Truth is the only antidote that may be given for the correction of the poison that has been instilled into the Russian people."

"The entrance of the United States into war had not altered any previous statements made, nor changed those declarations made before the senate of the United States in January, when said that all nations must be entitled to free pathways of the sea. When those words were uttered I was thinking not alone of small nations, but of the stronger nations also."

Must Pay Great Price

"Such justice and equality are to be had only at a great price. We, who are now seeking a permanent foundation for the peace of the world, must seek candidly and fearlessly. Always the right course will prove to be the expeditious course."

"What we must do first to reach a righteous conclusion is thoroughly to clear away all impediments and make every readjustment in our methods and laws that will facilitate a full and free use of the whole capacity of our armed force as a fighting unit."

"The embarrassing obstacle at present is the fact that while we are fighting Germany we are not fighting Germany's allies."

"I therefore recommend most earnestly that you declare that a state of war exists between the United States and the empire of Austro-Hungary."

"This may seem a strange conclusion from my argument, but is not the logical inevitable? Austro-Hungary is asked for later on in the session based upon the results of experience.

Every Effort for War

General legislation, beyond routine matters, will not be pressed at this session of Congress, the president announced.

"The present session," he said, "ought to devote its whole energy to such matters as will lead to the rapid and successful prosecution of the great task of winning the war."

"You can act with the greater zeal and enthusiasm in this because the war is one of high principle, debased by no ambition of conquest or of legislation whereby the punishment of women may be made equal to the punishment provided for men for other offenses."

Legislation authorizing the confinement of interned prisoners guilty of crimes in penitentiaries instead of in internment camps, making hard labor obligatory upon such interned criminals as upon other criminals.

Unpatriotic Profiteers

Legislation that will permit the administration to go further in the fixing of prices on commodities. Respecting this need, the president said:

"The laws of supply and demand have been replaced in some instances by the law of unrestrained selfishness. We have already eliminated profiteering from some industries, but it is still impudently rampant in others."

The consideration of the question of the use of waterpowers owned by the federal government will be resumed, the president continued, and will be determined on a constructive basis. The president announced that he was opposed to the enactment of the proposed regulations affecting exporters.

Taking up the question of the elimination of the system whereby the departmental appropriation bills are considered in eight separate and uncoordinated committees, the president declared that it is impossible to deal to any satisfactory extent in checking wasteful extravagance with the enormous war appropriations unless the house will center its appropriations in a single committee, as formerly was the custom.

If additional laws should be found essential for the proper coordination of railways system of the country for war purposes, such as is now being attempted, such legislation will be

"Now the supreme moment for the spirit of America has come. The eyes of our people are open and they can see. The hand of God has been laid upon this nation. He will show us favor. I devoutly believe, but only if we rise to the same clear heights of His justice and His mercy."

Exemptions

Many a housewife claims exemption from cooking breakfast and luncheon for hubby because it takes so long to fire up the stove in the morning and is so hot to cook in the middle of the day. Gentlemen, don't let your wife "get by" with any claim like that. She can be just as sweet and dainty as any wife ever was, and cook all three meals for you, —That is, if she cooks with GAS. What's more, she'll save enough to pay for the gas range and pay the gas bill.

Ellen Beach Yaw Heard In Songs

Which Exhibit Her Vocal Prowess

Coloratura Soprano of Astonishing Range Wins Applause of Audience—Hawaiian Music Featured in Evening's Program

Honolulu music-lovers had an opportunity last night to judge for themselves that all that has been written of the wonderful coloratura work of Ellen Beach Yaw is justified. Before an audience which did not fill Mission Memorial hall in number but did fill it again and again with applause, the smiling and graceful "Lark Ellen" appeared in the first of two recitals which will serve to crystallize locally the admiration possible before only through reading the accounts of mainland and European triumphs.

The famous singer's first number gave the audience an inkling of what was in store for her, and in fact, that opening of the "Indian Bell Song," by Delibes, was hardly exceeded during the evening.

The singer's astonishing flights of melody, her trills, cords and cadenzas exhibited to the best effect a vocal instrument whose range has been the wonder not only of musicians but of physiologists. Without apparent effort her voice reaches an octave higher than most sopranos even dare to attempt in public exhibitions. And the outspoken merit of this voice is that its notes seem to gain in sweetness, purity and flexibility as they rise.

Beginning with the Bent Song, whose thinning notes were reproduced with rare fidelity, Miss Yaw followed with four dainty little numbers of the ballad type, of which "Il Primo Amore" contains several sparkling passages which she tossed off with brilliancy, and ended the quartet with Auber's unique "Laughing Song" (Manon). In this her voice and light staccato notes of the piano under Mr. Frank Moss' skilful fingers, were scarcely distinguishable the one from the other. Never has a singer been heard here whose voice so closely approximated not merely the pitch and the tone but the actual quality of piano music.

And of course the audience burst into warmest applause when her own composition, "The Skylark," with its bubbling ecstasy of melody, was given.

In contrast to these lyrical compositions was her closing number, the Mad Scene from Hamlet, in which the distraught Ophelia, in the Thomas musical version, pours out in song her deranged fancies in a scene which concentrates the tenderest pathos of the entire Shakespearean play. This scene served to bring out Miss Yaw's dramatic ability and power of transferring tragedy into her particularly musical realm, and her rendition was given the heartiest applause of the evening. She appeared in the traditional Ophelia night dress, scattering flowers in her wandering phantasms.

A special part of the program was that devoted to Hawaiian numbers. Miss Yaw herself appeared with Ernest Kaai and six singing girls in Kaai's composition "Keonaona." Hawaii has had a good many experiences with visiting singers who attempt Hawaiian songs under the impression that it will be a popular thing to do, and who stumble so over the pronunciations that their efforts are ludicrous. Such attempts are often so far outside the singer's ability that they inevitably injure the general performance. It is due to Miss Yaw to say that she appears in her short stay to have mastered this song with unusual success and the applause which greeted it was deserved. The six singing girls were:

Mrs. R. N. Mossman, Mrs. E. H. Boyd, Miss Lizzie Akana, Miss Louise Copp, Miss Kuualoa Akana, Miss Helene Reis.

Further exhibiting the Hawaiian feature, Mr. Kaai played two ukulele solos, Mascagni's intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Beethoven's familiar "Minuet" with really remarkable dexterity and then the patriotic popular hit, "Over There," displaying the variety of use to which the ukulele commonly regarded as good only for strumming, can be put under skilled fingers.

Mr. Moss, accompanist for Miss Yaw, gave two Chopin numbers, "Nocturne in F Major," and "Valse in E Minor," as solos. His ability is so well known that it is needless to say the solos were very enjoyable parts of the program, and as he plays nothing better than Chopin, they were up to his high standard.

The second and last appearance of Miss Yaw will take place in the same hall on Friday evening, December 7.

POWERFUL BEACH DRAMA AT BIJOU

Replete with stirring incidents that characterize the red-blooded tales of the north in which love tales are so interestingly interwoven in Rex Beach's masterpiece, "The Barrier," one of that novelist's most popular and strongest contributions to the literary world of the twentieth century, will be portrayed on the screen at the Bijou theater opening tonight. It is a fascinating theme, teeming with the vivid life of the frozen north, where might, combined with a quick trigger, give to the fittest the right to survive. Honoluluans who saw "The Spoilers" at the Bijou some two months ago will recall with interest the strength, the virile descriptive powers and the wonderfully human touch that Rex Beach injects into his works.

"The Barrier" is the tale of two powerful men, enemies for over a score of years dating back to an incident in the states that robbed one of the principals of the story of the love of a good woman and gave her into the hands of a wicked rival. The woman dies of brutal treatment, but the daughter is taken by the lover to Alaska.

Years pass and their retreat is discovered in the gold rush. In the meantime he has married an Indian and the general impression is that the girl is a half-breed. The adopted parent guards the secret jealously.

In time the old-time rival comes upon the lair in the gold stampede and each recognizes the other, the villain seeking his opportunity to put his enemy out of the way and steal his gold claim. Here the law in the person of Uncle Sam's soldiers enters on the scene and the love story begins. The doughty captain, however, is mindful of his southern ancestry and is torn with conflicting emotions as to whether he shall suffer banishment by his beloved family if he weds a half-breed or shall sacrifice home ties for love.

"The Spoilers" proved that Beach knows how to stage a real, stand-up and knock-down fight. In "The Barrier" the realism of a terrible struggle is even more accentuated.

EMILY STEVENS ON HAWAII BILL

The highly dramatic story, "The House of Tears," with Emily Stevens in the leading role is the feature of the new bill at the Hawaii theater. It is a Metro picture and supporting Miss Stevens in the cast appears the name of Henri Bergman, who is famed as an actor of emotional roles.

"The House of Tears" is a modern New York home and in it live Robert Collingwood, a Wall street broker, his wife and little daughter, Gail. Henry Thoms is the will of the piece, but it should be added that the domestic triangle, which is a development, is but an incident of the main story that starts when, following a divorce, Thoms and Collingwood's wife wed and depart for the West. The climax of the tale is worked out in startling fashion when the daughter Gail grows to womanhood comes to the brink of marriage with Thoms who has deserted the woman he ran away with and has returned to New York under an assumed name. The intervention of Gail's mother defeats this marriage. Thoms comes to his end in a thrilling scene in which his automobile plunges from a bridge.

The new instalment of the serial picture and the weekly news picture complete the program.

While the serial screen stories that have been features of programs at the Liberty theater have been uniformly of high quality, it may be stated that two new pictures of this class which have their beginnings in the current week's programs at the theater are deserving of special mention.

The first of these serials, "The Mystery of the Double Cross," which has now reached its second episode, is a mystery story of the first order, with one situation more baffling than the other.

Billie Burke is the central figure of the other serial called "Gloria's Ro-

In the War With Every Citizen and Every Dollar

It is a war message worthy of a war president. President Wilson's message yesterday once more emphasizes before the whole world the quality of dogged determination and persistence that is in the chief executive of the United States.

Whatever may have been the complaints that Mr. Wilson did not realize soon enough America's inevitable entry into the European conflict, there can be no complaint that he does not realize America's course and America's duty once in the war. Whatever may have been the complaint that he did not act promptly enough in holding Germany to account for her lawlessness, there can be no complaint that he is not acting forcefully enough in holding Germany to account now.

Throughout his presidential career the president has revealed remarkable strength of purpose and a steadfast mental habit in carrying through whatever he embarked upon. In the smaller affairs of legislation—where he invariably made Congress do his bidding—he revealed his ability to take his stand before the people and secure public sentiment without incurring a break with his own party.

Not even our strenuous ex-president could ask for a more smashing indictment of Germany than Mr. Wilson gave yesterday; not even this outspoken denouncer of Prussianism could have served plainer notice on the Central Powers and the world that the United States is in this war to a victorious finish.

A Washington correspondent once wrote of the present occupant of the White House: "He makes up his mind slowly. His deliberation sometimes seems like needless delay. But once he has got his teeth into anything, he doesn't let go until that particular thing is finished."

Mr. Wilson has got his teeth into this particular thing of waging war to a successful finish.

"Our object," he said yesterday, "is to win the war. We shall not slacken energy and we shall not be diverted until this is done."

America already has felt the practical effects of the president's determination to subordinate every other activity in the United States to the paramount activity of winning the war. We in Hawaii have felt the effects of that indomitable purpose—a purpose that is animating official Washington as official Washington has not been animated in this generation. We are feeling it in the commandeering of steamers needed to transport troops; in the restrictions on cargo-space; in the raising of huge sums of money for war-needs; in the drastic taxations to raise still other huge sums. And we are at the beginning of our part in the war.

Wilson's message yesterday serves full notice on the American people that they must subordinate everything else to the winning of the war. He predicts no date of ending to the conflict. In fact, from the tone of his message may readily be gathered the impression that he does not expect war

A Pledge Every True American Can Make

Patriotic Americans need not hesitate to sign Food Pledge cards. No intention is held by the food administration in Washington or the food administration in Hawaii of imposing hardships on any individual or any family; of making the burden harder for one than for another.

One reason for the proposal to preserve the names of those who will not sign the cards is doubtless to find out exactly who will and exactly who will not give the fullest measure of cooperation to the national conservation movement.

On the mainland it has already been established that anti-Americanism is at work to retard and injure the food conservation plan which is a vital part of our war plan. German agents are busy attempting to discredit the saving of food; German sympathizers, secret enemies of the United States, are attempting to spread dissatisfaction with this regimen which is an essential duty at this national crisis.

It is necessary that Hawaii know how far food conservation is being carried out in Hawaii. To ascertain this, some sort of a record is necessary. As the women's committee of the food commission makes plain today, there is absolutely no intention of establishing a "blacklist" or a boycott. There should be no misunderstanding on this point. The record to be kept is for practical use in food conservation work in Hawaii, but not as a club for retaliation.

Already it is evident that some good American women misunderstand the food pledge campaign and hesitate to sign the cards. Yet the cards merely pledge the signer to "carry out the directions and advice of the food administrator in my home in so far as my circumstances permit."

There can be no valid objection to this that will stand as against what President Wilson, Herbert Hoover and others have found to be vital national policy.

Let no patriotic woman hesitate to sign the card. If there is any misunderstanding, talk it over frankly with the women's committee. They realize that some people hesitate about signing anything, and some women hesitate about agreeing to any restriction on the management of their homes.

But this is a time when the management of each individual home is a matter of national concern. No longer is it merely personal.

Let's have the fullest and frankest of cooperation. If patriotic American women refuse to sign, they give excuse, cover and opportunity to those who for hostile reasons would like to refuse.

Wilson has said it.

to come in 1918, or perhaps in 1919. Not that he speaks of the war continuing through a year or so, but that the whole force of his powerful appeal is directed toward securing national war activity on an even more tremendous scale than now exists.

That the president would recommend declaration of war on Germany's allies has been a virtual certainty since Senator Stone a few days ago gave out a newspaper interview favoring such a step.

Stone, a chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, would not have made such a statement without knowledge of the president's desires and the president's forthcoming message. Other congressmen, including one of those visiting Hawaii—who expressed himself in a Star-Bulletin interview—also indicated that the president and Congress would be one in extending our declaration of hostilities to include Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey.

That no declaration of war against these countries has been previously made has its diplomatic aspect. For almost the whole of 1917 there has been a possibility that any one of Germany's three allies might elect to break with Berlin rather than endure longer the extreme hardships of war; or that at any rate, America's favorable attitude toward these three might foster among the people a desire to break with Germany.

This possibility was ended with the collapse of the Italian armies on the Isonzo front. Germany's reinforcement of Austria-Hungary brought a double gain; first, it gave to the Central Powers a spectacular and much-needed victory in land warfare—a victory which immensely heartened the Dual Monarchy; secondly, it gave Berlin the opportunity to pose as the savior of Austria, as the nation whose timely assistance and generalship had converted a disaster into a triumph. The drive down to the Piave plateau strengthened German prestige throughout all the Central Powers and ended, for this winter at least, any probability that Austria or Bulgaria would "get out from under."

There remains, therefore, no important reason for the United States to refrain from declaring war on Germany's allies.

Readers of the message will agree that in language as in statement of principle it is one of the great state documents the war has brought forth. The president's simplicity of phrase and felicity of diction are once more exhibited. No message of the many he has penned since German outrages brought the United States within the scope of war has revealed a sterner purpose to mobilize the entire American people, and every ounce of our resources, than this message of yesterday. It will strengthen Mr. Wilson's hold on the manhood and womanhood of his nation, and their readiness to respond to the efforts he so plainly portrays will make easier the workings of government which direct our actual steps in war.

Jack D. Cleary claims to have been "faithful to his employers for the last seven years," but I will contradict that statement flatly and undertake to show him and others of his ilk that he has on the contrary been a traitor of the lowest type due undoubtedly to the peculiar perverted mental twist he has acquired from his Hunnish teachers. His former employers, some of whom are personal friends of mine, are stockholders in a corporation originally founded by British capital, and if I am correctly informed a considerable amount of that British capital is still invested in this corporation alongside of good American capital, and yet this man claims to "have been faithful" notwithstanding the fact that in his contemptible attempt to stab his mother country in the back in her hour of direst need—the hour when every man, whatever his differences of any and all kinds, was willing to put them aside for the time and stand shoulder to shoulder with his countrymen against a common enemy—he through these attempts made a direct effort against the very business life of his employers.

A number of the ablest writers of the times have warned Americans repeatedly of the unscrupulous and pre-meditated double-dealing of the Potzdam gang, and also of the fact that when cornered their perfidious agents will be the first to "whine" and plead for mercy; and for that reason and relying upon the judgment of these same writers, I desire to point out to my fellow citizens that it will be suicidal and deleterious for us to allow our better judgment to be set aside in dealing with the enemy in our midst and in fact that we shall be "slackers" of the worst kind if we do not protect our own country, kindred and homes to the extremest efforts possible and assist in placing the traitors where they can do no harm. I do not undertake to prophesy, but mark you well, Mr. Editor, to my mind the indications of the times to come are that they be those that will try the very souls of men.

With pride and deep gratitude that I was born and bred an American. I am,

A COMMENT ON CLEARY'S REPLY

Honolulu, T. H., Dec. 4, 1917.

Editor Star-Bulletin.

Sir: May I be accorded the privilege of your columns to take issue with Jack D. Cleary with reference to his explanation and plea to the citizens of this community concerning his actions which led up to his discharge by his late employers? In the first place I desire to state distinctly that my remarks are made advisedly, with extreme emphasis, without heat, and with nothing but the sincere sympathy for the innocent who are made to suffer through the actions of others.

I am not acquainted with the man, but have heard a great deal concerning him and his Hunnish utterances for some time past and have seen the copy of that scurrilous publication "Viereck's Weekly," formerly issued under the name of "The Fatherland," in which his poem was printed and must confess that my blood has boiled over his traitorous conduct.

Jack D. Cleary states that his actions of August last year were "quite within the law." How this claim can be reconciled with the neutral stand every American citizen was supposed to take at that time I fail to see, and I would specifically point out here that his actions took place after the "rape of Belgium" and the sinking of the Lusitania. He claims to have been "trying to do for Ireland what the patriot fathers did for America, there is not the slightest parallel in the premises—they took their own stand and fought for it, he hid under the cloak of the citizenship of his adopted country—and I am of the firm belief that this citizenship would have been denied him if the proper authorities had known his views when it was sought.

Did Jack D. Cleary have any thought for those of his own who might be made to suffer through his actions or any consideration for other innocent ones who have "gone through the Valley of Sorrow" by the terrible losses and sacrifices they have borne? I think not, and I speak with deep feeling on this point, for my wife, who is of British birth, of which fact I am exceedingly proud, has already lost two of her next of kin who "quit themselves like men" and died in the defense of their country.

Jack D. Cleary claims to have been "faithful to his employers for the last seven years," but I will contradict that statement flatly and undertake to show him and others of his ilk that he has on the contrary been a traitor of the lowest type due undoubtedly to the peculiar perverted mental twist he has acquired from his Hunnish teachers. His former employers, some of whom are personal friends of mine, are stockholders in a corporation originally founded by British capital, and if I am correctly informed a considerable amount of that British capital is still invested in this corporation alongside of good American capital, and yet this man claims to "have been faithful" notwithstanding the fact that in his contemptible attempt to stab his mother country in the back in her hour of direst need—the hour when every man, whatever his differences of any and all kinds, was willing to put them aside for the time and stand shoulder to shoulder with his countrymen against a common enemy—he through these attempts made a direct effort against the very business life of his employers.

Suppose a German fleet was to approach Honolulu. What would be the cry of the civilians? It would be, "Where are the soldiers?" What do we receive in return for our willingness to die if need be for the protection of your homes and people? We are treated with scorn; cold backs are turned upon us. Scarcely any place in Honolulu are we welcomed hardly. There are some places in Honolulu where they are treated as an equal, but they are scarce as the proverbial hen's tooth.

What if a soldier becomes broke in a city in the states. Why, anything in town is his for the asking. Suppose he needs car fare home. He has only to mention the fact and receives it from any one. This is an actual experience of a person I know.

Hoping this reaches the attention of all concerned, I am, respectfully, streets of Honolulu at night for fear of soldiers.

I would like to call the attention of the public to a few facts concerning the feelings of the soldiers.

You all know that if you treat a man as a dog he in time becomes a dog.

Compare the treatment of soldiers here with that of those in the states and France. Why, in the states a girl invariably prefers the company of soldiers to that of civilians of same age and who is as physically fit to be in the army as his friend already in the army—the Lord only knows there are enough of this latter class in Honolulu.

Friends of mine who are stationed here tell me of instances where girls are escorted to dances by civilians only to discard them to dance with soldiers and to be escorted by them.

What is it that causes the attraction of any woman by man? Why, the desire for companionship of sexes. This is a statement that none can deny. How is a man in the army to satisfy this desire for company here when he is shunned by all women with whom a good man would care to associate? They are driven to this habit of accosting unknown women by this desire for company. How long can a group of women exclude themselves from all male company? They desire the company of man as much as man does of woman.

Is there any true-blooded man at home not in the army who could get in without in some way causing grief and want to come to those near and dear to him? Where then are these good and true-blooded men who are on the outside? Surely they must be in the army because they are not at home and could not mysteriously have disappeared.

Who can gainsay me as to these soldiers' courtesy to women on street cars? Ladies, if you are courteous to you there, how can you tell they would not be to you in your homes or in your company anywhere? Can any of you justly say that our daughter is in any danger when in company of a soldier?

Why is the United States in this war, and why are these men in the army? We entered the army to keep from our shores the Germans and from American women the atrocities committed by the Germans upon Belgian and French women. Then do you think we would turn around and commit the same ourselves in our land amongst our own people?

Suppose a German fleet was to approach Honolulu. What would be the cry of the civilians? It would be, "Where are the soldiers?" What do we receive in return for our willingness to die if need be for the protection of your homes and people? We are treated with scorn; cold backs are turned upon us. Scarcely any place in Honolulu are we welcomed hardly. There are some places in Honolulu where they are treated as an equal, but they are scarce as the proverbial hen's tooth.

What if a soldier becomes broke in a city in the states. Why, anything in town is his for the asking. Suppose he needs car fare home. He has only to mention the fact and receives it from any one. This is an actual experience of a person I know.

Hoping this reaches the attention of all concerned, I am, respectfully,

HARLAN S. CAMPBELL,
11th Co., Oahu, Fort Ruger, H. T.

WHO WILL WRITE?

Waco, Tex., U. S. A., Nov. 23, 1917.

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Sir: I am a soldier in the United States army and would like to have some young ladies write to me. I served at Schofield Barracks two years ago and would like to hear from some one in Honolulu.

I am asking your publication to try and locate some young ladies who would like to correspond with a soldier who is a gentleman. Very truly yours,

R. M. POLHAMUS,

Sergeant, Co. C, 125th Inf., Camp Mac-

Arthur, Waco, Texas.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

—BEN KAHALEPUNA: Thirty-two divorces were filed in circuit court last month. We will have to buy a new record book if the suits keep on coming in at this rate.

—ROYAL D. MEAD: Talks by the Four Minute Men at the local theaters are making a decided impression. As soon as the plans can be made, we expect to extend the scope of the organization to embrace the outside islands.

—MARSHAL J. J. SMIDDY: Arrests for sales of liquor to soldiers are keeping Oahu prison full, and hardly a case, I guess, gets by the police and liquor license inspectors. It is noticeable that, however, that the sales have materially decreased during the last month or so.

—T. MATTERSEN: Not one hundred feet from the board of health headquarters is an alley, some ten feet in width, which is one of the most filthy, dirty, rotten, foul, insanitary, disease-breeding spots in this city. It is directly opposite the Free Dispensary building, running makai from Queen street.

—P. J. HALTON: Tourists want to come to Hawaii. It is not unprofitable for them to want to come to Hawaii showing a lack of patriotism in wanting them to come.

—HYDE: In Ware, Massachusetts, Dec. 4, 1917, Mrs. C. M. Hyde, formerly of Honolulu, a native of Brimfield, Massachusetts, 78 years, 3 months and 28 days.

—ARINAS: In Honolulu, Dec. 4, 1917, Leocarlos Arinas of the Planters' Immigration Station, unmarried, laborer, a native of the Philippines Islands, aged 32 years.

—PETER: In Honolulu, Dec. 3, 1917, Hannah, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Peter of 1104 Kawahau street, a native of this city.

SOCIETY

THE COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE

Next Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 on the roof garden there will be an afternoon entertainment by Ivan Bankoff and the Russian orchestra and other talent. The affair is given to make money in order to give Honolulu a community Christmas tree that will be a credit and pleasure. It will be of especial interest to our soldier boys who are so far from home, home environment and the home touch which is the one thing that every heart craves at the Christmas season. This community Christmas tree will at least be as much a touch of the home atmosphere as can be given to the hundreds who will attend.

It is going to take a goodly sum of money to carry out such plans as that at Los Angeles and other mainland cities where tableaus and wonderful lighting effects made a splendid and inspiring sight. Here eleven hundred trained voices will be raised in song and the tableaus are to be very beautiful.

The tickets for this musical and dance are 50 cents. Any information in regard to the tree or tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Archibald Young or Mrs. Augustus E. Murphy, who will gladly help in any way where their services are needed.

A FAIR TO HELP ENDOW A BELGIAN BED

A set of the youngest girls have been busy for weeks sewing and stitching, making knitting bags, schoolbags, guest towels, bureau scarfs, aprons, pincushions, bibs, Red Cross bags and tiny dressed dolls and other dainty articles for a sale that they will have on Saturday afternoon on the lawn at Mr. and Mrs. William R. Castle's home, Victoria and Kinau streets.

The money made will help to endow a bed for the benefit of the Belgians. "War time refreshments" will be there in the form of fruit punch and "war cookies."

The little girls who are responsible for this splendid charity are Miss Ethel Wakefield, Miss Ruth Cockcroft, Miss Helen Hitchcock, Miss Laura Thompson, Miss Dorothea Tower, Miss Helen Tower, Miss Irene Andrus, Miss Marguerite Ault, Miss Eloise Moore and Miss Virginia Watson. The sale starts promptly at 3 o'clock and will continue during the afternoon.

BECOMES BRIDE AT ARMY POST AT FOR SILL

Word comes from Fort Sill, Okla., of the marriage of Miss Emily Anne Deuberry and Lieutenant Murray Montgomery, on November 9, at the residence of the bride's parents, Captain and Mrs. Archibald W. Deuberry. Chaplain G. C. McFadden read the ritual and Captain and Mrs. Cuylar Clark were the only attendants.

The bride is well known here, the Deuberry family having lived in San Rafael for years. She attended the Dominican convent, graduating two years ago with high honors. She is a musician well known in amateur musical societies. Lieutenant Montgomery is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and joined the army from the reserves.

After a honeymoon trip East, Lieutenant and Mrs. Montgomery will live at Fort Sill temporarily.—San Francisco Examiner, Nov. 25.

A PARTY AT SCHOFIELD

Several of the non-commissioned officers who have received courtesies from town folks are giving a dance at Schofield on Saturday, December 15. It gives promise of being a delightful affair. About thirty chaperones have been asked. The trains will take the guests to Schofield and on their return the train will be met by street cars which will go to the different parts of the city, thus enabling all to enjoy a pleasant outing. The dance is to take place in the officers' club at Schofield with the band in attendance. A supper will be served and the young men have arranged several delightful surprises for their guests. Any of the young ladies going who wish to take their escorts with them will be privileged to do so, but naturally they must leave the dancing to the boys in khaki for the town boys have many opportunities of dancing, while our fighting lads have not had much of that pleasure.

THE MORNING MUSIC CLUB RECITAL

The Morning Music Club is giving the first of its afternoon musicals a week from today at 4 o'clock. A fee of 50 cents will be charged and the money thus made will be given to the Red Cross. This is an innovation for the Morning Music Club, as it has always held its recitals in the morning and for members only. This pleasant change will be hailed with delight by many, and as the "sterner sex" have many music lovers among them they are also invited to be in attendance. Mrs. Elizabeth Mackall has charge of the program and a charming afternoon is assured all who may wish to go.

DANCE AT THE OUTRIGGER CLUB
The enlisted men who were entertained so delightfully by the Outrigger club are giving a return dance on Friday evening. About two hundred guests are invited and a jolly evening anticipated. Entertaining the enlisted men has been a great pleasure, for they have responded in a very whole-souled way. Their pleasure in meeting Honolulu folk is keen indeed.

DINNER PARTY

Mrs. C. P. Huff, wife of Commander Huff, U. S. A., entertained at a beautifully appointed dinner party at the St. Francis hotel. Mrs. Huff's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ward Dwight, Mr. and Mrs. Emile Etienne, Miss Frances Briggs, Lieutenant Burian Winslow, Miss Florence Hyland, Lieutenant Steward, Miss Helen Hyland and John Porter—San Francisco Examiner, Nov. 25.

DR. AND MRS. A. W. PALMER HERE

Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Palmer arrived here yesterday on the President. Dr. Palmer coming to take the pastorate of Central Union church. Dr. Palmer was the pastor of one of the largest and most popular of Oakland churches and his coming here means much to the members of Central Union. For the present Dr. and Mrs. Palmer are guests of the Colonial hotel and will remain there until a suitable home is secured.

PRINCESS KAWANAKAOA TO RETURN SOON

Princess Abigail Kawananakaoa, who has been away from the Islands since November of last year, will return on the Dutch liner Ecuador, which now has a permit to carry passengers.

Ever since last spring the princess has been in New York in order to be near her son, Prince Kalakaua, who is in school there. Her return to her native city is eagerly anticipated by her hundreds of friends here.

A WORD ABOUT MRS. CLARENCE OLSON

Mrs. Clarence H. Olson of Honolulu has been visiting in San Francisco for a time previous to leaving for San Luis Obispo and the southern part of the state, where she plans to remain for several weeks. She will leave for Honolulu in season to be at home for the Christmas holidays. Mrs. Olson has many friends in Sacramento who will be interested to learn of her visit to California.—Sacramento, Cal., Bee, November 16.

THE TERRIFIC DIN OF THE BATTLEFIELD

has shattered the nervous systems of many of the patriotic women who have offered their services in the capacity of ambulance and provision wagon drivers and nurses in the hospitals bordering the battlefields. Mrs. Ellet Rogers was obliged to give up the work of driving a provision wagon and take a vacation because of a threatened nervous breakdown. At present she is working in a canteen in Paris, conducted for the benefit of the English "Tommy." Ellet Rogers is driving an ambulance.—San Francisco Chronicle, Nov. 25.

MISS LOIS MYERS

for Honolulu, where her marriage to Harry Foster Hadfield will take place. She will be the guest of Mrs. Mason Prosser, wife of the former attorney general of Hawaii, and the ceremony will be simply solemnized in the Episcopal church, the bride wearing a smart tailor suit, while her uncle, Jackson Myers, will give her in marriage.—San Francisco Examiner, November 17.

Christian de Guigne has returned from France, where he went at the beginning of the European war to look after his interests there. He is at the Fairmont and usually passes the week-ends at the home of his son in San Mateo. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. von Hamm are expected home before Christmas. They have spent the last three months on the mainland.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chandley will visit in Honolulu for several weeks as the guests of relatives. Their stay will be made pleasant by a number of informal social affairs and machine trips to points of interest.—San

A Special Christmas Message for Women

What to give "him" that will at once express just the right degree of affection or friendship, that will be of a quality that all men are known to demand, and that will surely be appreciated. It's a question that haunts the minds of many women right now.

And that is why we address this special message to the women—we know we can help select the fitting gift because we know men's wants.

There are hundreds of articles that you will find here. The best way is to make your visit here early in the Christmas month, talk over the problem with us, and buy later if you wish. Or we will gladly put aside anything you select now from our almost untouched Christmas stock, for later delivery.

Some brief suggestions that may guide you to an early choice.

BOILER INSURANCE HARD TO GET WITHOUT PROPER INSPECTION LAW

The importance of substantial repairs in sugar manufacturing machinery being carried on carefully and the need of repair in many of the plantations' mills at present to assure steady and continuous operations next season is emphasized in the report of the committee on "manufacturing machinery of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association. The report is submitted by the following committee which has investigated the subject thoroughly: J. N. S. Williams, chairman; W. A. Ramsay, E. Kopke, W. G. Hall, R. R. Hind and A. Gartley.

The report deals with the following types of machinery: Mills, carriers and conveying apparatus; Boilers and steam generating plants; Clarifiers, settling tanks and filters, including molasses clarification; Evaporating apparatus and vacuum plans; Crystallizers and centrifugals; apparatus dealing with low grade sugars, each plantation contributing a letter on its experience with the various items.

Boiler Insurance

On the subject of boiler insurance the letter of B. Von Damm is quoted to the effect that the boiler insurance situation in these islands was such that the limited number of boilers here could yield only sufficient insurance business for one company and that the Hartford Steam Boiler and Inspection and Insurance company was not willing to enter the field unless the planters could guarantee it sufficient business.

The letter also declares that when the matter of boiler insurance was placed by the San Francisco agent of the company before the president the insurance company could not see its way clear to enter the territory. On this the committee reports:

"We are convinced that the reason for this decision was the uncertainty as to local conditions and the possibly small volume of business obtainable in the absence of a territorial law making boiler inspection compulsory, as is the case in California and a great many other states."

In order to secure for the owners of boilers in this territory a definite estimate of what the Hartford could do, we respectfully suggest that the sugar planters enter into an agreement with this company to send down to these islands one of their experts, qualified to make an initial inspection of every boiler owned by them, and to make a report on local conditions and of the approximate premium rate the company would have to levy in this territory; the planters to pay for such initial inspection.

Both the company and the sugar planters would thereby be placed in position to approach the subject matter intelligently and a resulting arrangement would without question be mutually much more satisfactory.

The expenses of an initial inspection may run as follows:

Salary of inspector for four months	$1,000
Traveling expenses from San Francisco to Honolulu and return	300
Traveling expenses between the islands and on the islands at $10 per day	1,200

Total ..... $2,500

"We have recently reopened our negotiations with the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance company and have inquired as to whether or not they would be willing to make an initial inspection under the conditions outlined above. Their reply should be in our hands within a short time.

"We would like to state that a new boiler manual went into effect on July 1st of this year, superseding all former schedules issued. We are not so far in possession of this new schedule, but understand that rates have had to be raised generally. We are under impression that every new boiler has to be constructed under the supervision of a licensed inspector, and believe that the provisions of the A. S. M. E. code are made to govern the construction. Furthermore, boilers may be held unsafe and uninsurable at a high pressure and still remain safe and insurable at a lower pressure.

"As soon as we are in possession of further communications from the Hartford Steam Boiler inspection and Insurance Co. we will supply you with copies thereof."

Your committee recommends that the trustees of this association give due consideration to this important matter with a view to establishing a system of boiler inspection and insurance especially applicable to the steam boilers of sugar factories in operation in this territory.

Second Sugars

On the subject of crystallizers and centrifugals and apparatus dealing with low grade sugars the committee reports as follows:

"For several years past a great deal of attention has been given to the problems connected with the manipulation of second sugars and after-products, as it is realized that the bulk of factory losses now occur in the final molasses.

"During the period 1898-1902 when most of the very large factories now in operation in this territory were designed and constructed, crystallizers for handling low-grade molasses were included in the equipments, but a number of factories which were in operation at that time were not so equipped, and it has been a matter of speculation amongst those interested as to why it was that crystallizers for handling second molasses were not generally adopted at that time, since it must be conceded that for cleanliness, mechanical efficiency and speed of work, crystallizers and adjuncts are quite superior to the older methods of manipulating second and low-grade sugars in open coolers and storage tanks or cisterns.

"The probable answer to this question is that to alter and rearrange a factory of the older type to use crystallizers is a very expensive piece of work, involving a large amount of reconstruction, as well as the installation of new and costly equipment, and machinery, and when this expenditure was considered in connection with the anticipated gain in returns of sugar the balance in favor of change of system was not attractive enough to warrant the investment.

"Recent developments in the manipulation of low-grade molasses may cause a change of opinion in this direction."

Repairs

Commenting on repairs of sugar house machinery, the committee states:

"Heretofore it has not been the custom for this committee to comment on factory repairs, but since it is common knowledge that these repairs constitute a large and increasingly important item in the factory cost of Manufacture of Sugar, it seems to be an appropriate subject for discussion.

"The entire factory from the building to the smallest piece of machinery is subject to wear and tear, and therefore to replacements, but that portion of the factory equipment which does the hardest work, and in which the most serious and expensive breakdowns occur, is the milling or crushing department. The most powerful engines, the most complicated gearing and the heaviest and most expensive machinery is situated in this department, and therefore the greatest amount of repairs and renewals occur here, and to a much greater extent than in previous years because of the recent improvements in methods of milling, and the advances in milling efficiency which have been made.

"Repairs are constantly required in all other departments of a factory, but the cost of these repairs remains practically stationary from year to year, consisting mainly of cleaning, renewal of tubes, piping, repairs to brickwork, etc., etc., so that for this report it is proposed to confine discussion to the repairs in the milling department, because it is in this that a great increase in expense has taken place in late years.

"The introduction of the Messchaert drainage groove in 1914 marks the beginning of a notable increase in the extraction of juice obtained by cane crushing mills used in this country. One of the reasons why the Messchaert groove when applied to a cane-crushing mill, produces an increase in the extraction of juice from the cane is because it (the groove) so increases the grip on the mat of cane or bagasse, or what amounts to the same thing, so prevents slipping, that the rollers can be set much closer together than when these grooves are not used. This being the case, it is obvious that where the grooves are in use the mill is very liable to be overloaded, and the frequent breakages of mill rollers, mill cheeks and gearing seem to point to the fact that mills are at times overloaded to a considerable extent; with close setting of the mills any piece of metal entering the rollers with the cane causes a much greater strain on the machinery than when the rollers are set further apart, and closer setting of the rollers demands greater power in the driving engine, which in turn produces a greater strain on the gearing, and as a consequence a greater liability to breakdown of a serious nature.

"In consequence of experience gained during the last few years it has been found necessary to alter and greatly strengthen the design of mill checks, intermediate gearing and the size of roller shafts and power of driving engine, while different qualities of material in cast iron and steel for the rollers themselves have been successfully experimented with.

"It is hardly necessary to point out that excessive repairs in the milling equipment such as have been the recent experience of some factories, are due to the endeavor to obtain increased yield of juice from the cane with weak and inadequate equipment of old design; the expense attending current and permanent repairs in such cases added to the loss of time and delays in harvesting the crop, sometimes more than offset the gain made during the season by the increased quantity of juice extracted, and there are cases in which it is an open question whether or not it is better financial policy to scrap an entire milling plant rather than attempt to add on or build up an old design by stronger parts or replacements.

"It is of the first importance that steady and continuous operation of the machinery in the milling department of a sugar factory be assured, and this can only be done by substantial repairs carefully carried out.

"This committee in this drawing attention to the matter of factory repairs does so for the purpose of inviting discussion, and hopes that valuable hints and information may result therefrom."

Second Sugars

On the subject of crystallizers and centrifugals and apparatus dealing with low grade sugars the committee reports as follows:

"For several years past a great deal of attention has been given to the problems connected with the manipulation of second sugars and after-products, as it is realized that the bulk of factory losses now occur in the final molasses.

"During the period 1898-1902 when most of the very large factories now in operation in this territory were designed and constructed, crystallizers for handling low-grade molasses were included in the equipments, but a number of factories which were in operation at that time were not so equipped, and it has been a matter of speculation amongst those interested as to why it was that crystallizers for handling second molasses were not generally adopted at that time, since it must be conceded that for cleanliness, mechanical efficiency and speed of work, crystallizers and adjuncts are quite superior to the older methods of manipulating second and low-grade sugars in open coolers and storage tanks or cisterns.

MILLION NEEDED FOR ROAD WORK IN NEXT YEAR

City Engineer Says Bond Issue is Only Way to Provide Funds for Work

That only through a liberal bond issue can the roads for the city and county of Honolulu be properly cared for is the opinion of A. S. Cantin, who has been studying the road situation here from the standpoint of both a citizen and an engineer for the last sixteen years.

"Road building and road maintenance for this city cannot be handled by a frontage tax proposition because no frontage tax that would be big enough to cover the necessary funds could be applied. Besides the process would be too slow. Next year alone, with the Belt road, calling for $500,000, and other work calling for $600,000, all to be done before the close of 1918, we have a demand for $1,100,000, and nothing at all for the city."

"What we need, what we must have if we ever have a proper system of roads throughout this city and county, is a sinking fund created through a tax on all the people, that will provide the amount necessary to put this road building into immediate operation and carry with it provisions to care for the roads for from 15 to 20 years. At present we are spending $72,000 a year for road patching. In 15 years this will mean an expenditure of $1,080,000 in patching alone, and the roads will be in worse condition at the end of that time than they are now, for patching is not building. This $72,000 a year could be saved if we had a real road-building fund."

"Whatever fund is created or appropriated must be large enough to cover road building looking ahead for at least fifteen and by rights twenty years, the life of a good road. It should provide, and insist upon, all sewage and water pipes, being laid and all storm drains built before permanent street work is put in. It should also carry with it a requirement which would force the public utilities to put in their improvements before the street work is done, such as the laying of gas mains and gas pipes. Following after this work should come the road work."

"Unless some such fund is created, by bond issuance or some other way, this city and county can expect nothing but continued deterioration of its roads. A bond issuance, covering say $5,000,000 for permanent road building would give us a good start."

FILIPINOS WHO HELD UP OVERSEER HEAVILY FINED

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.)

HILO, Dec. 1.—When Serilo Canioye and Juan P. Catabab appeared in the police court yesterday morning on a charge of having deadly weapons in their possession it was apparent that there was no desire to press another charge, that of holding up Head Overseer Mansfield of Pepeekeo plantation on Thursday morning last. The story told by the overseer at that time was to the effect that the two Filipinos had held him up at the point of their guns and had forced him to give them a note to the plantation office stating that they should be paid a bonus which they declared was coming to them.

The police officers from Hilo were summoned by the Pepeekeo people and the Filipinos were induced to remain at the store until the police arrived. The men were then taken into custody as related in the Tribune yesterday morning.

In the police court it was stated that the only charge against the two men was that of carrying deadly weapons and as there was no further evidence than that of the police who discovered the revolvers fully loaded on the bodies of the men, Judge Metzger found them guilty and fined each of them $60 and costs of court.

The case has caused a lot of talk around town and in the country districts as there does not appear to be any reason to doubt the first story told from Pepeekeo regarding the holdup of the overseer.

There is a story to the effect that a mistake had been made in connection with the time turned in for the two Filipinos and that they did really have a bonus coming to them.

TRAVELING MEDICAL BOARD WILL EXAMINE PLANTATION REGISTRANTS

Radical changes in the new regulation Washington for the examining of men called under the selective service law will need to be put into effect for this territory, according to Maj. F. J. Green, draft officer, who returned this morning from tour of Maui.

Tentative plans which the officer discussed on the island include the naming of a medical board, any three of whose members shall constitute a working force

WAIALUA WOMAN DISAPPOINTED AT MARKET CLOSING

Mrs. F. J. Greenfield, who lives at Waialua, was a much disappointed woman when she visited the Territorial Retail Market last Saturday morning and learned that Lee Todd would not be allowed to keep the market open on his own responsibility.

"I know, of course, that it had been ordered closed," said Mrs. Greenfield, "but I knew, too, that Mr. Todd wanted to take it over, and I felt very sure that he would be allowed to do this, since the reason given by the territorial authorities for closing the market was that it was not making any money for the territory. I gave my order, but instead of having it sent by mail, as I have been in the habit of doing, I decided to come for it myself in my machine, and add a few things to it, and find out just what Mr. Todd was going to do. I am greatly disappointed to know that the market is to be closed."

"It was the greatest sort of convenience to me. Not only did I order all my meat and all the vegetables I had to buy from this market, but I often brought eggs, laid by my own hens, and disposed of them here where they were at once repurchased by city customers who wanted really fresh eggs. Gradually my friends in the country were doing the same thing. I've brought several customers to this market, and every one I have brought has been a regular patron. I know that the market's closing will be a great disappointment to them."

"Most of the patrons of this market were very poor people, people who could not afford the exorbitant prices charged by the private markets. I can not afford these prices myself, and must try to get on with less meat. However, how these very poor people, who work hard for all their money, and have very little to spend for the necessities of life, can afford to have any meat at all now, with this market closed, is more than I can understand."

"The meat here was good, just as good, if not better, than I could get at the private markets, and I've tried them all. Naturally, more equipment was needed. A big refrigerating plant, or even a small plant, would have kept the market in the best sort of shape. But even as it was, the meat was good, and always fresh."

MANOA ROADWAY FIGHT NEAR END; CONTRACTOR PAID

"Agreement" over the complaints which have been made from time to time regarding the Manoa road work was reached last night between the supervisors and the special committee of the Manoa Improvement Club, and, as a result, the board voted to authorize the payment of $17,000 to F. R. Ritchie, the contractor, which represents the major portion of the balance due him under the contract.

The supervisors have withheld the payment of the balance of $3149.63 until the members of the road committee and the special Manoa Improvement Club committee can meet and settle for once and all the question of an alleged discrepancy of 102 tons of asphalt which, it is claimed by Manoa residents, was not used on the job.

Action by the board brings the Manoa road question nearer a settlement than ever before and, according to statements which were made, it is apparent that the supervisors and the Manoa Improvement Club intend to work in harmony to bring the entire controversy to a speedy close.

Another letter from the club was read last night which asserted, among other things, that the amount of asphalt specified in the contract was not incorporated in the completed pavement, and that there was a possibility that this discrepancy might interfere with the life of the pavement. It was also declared that the specifications were not complied with when loose, broken stone was placed in alleyways. Another point raised was that, in certain places, the finished surface of the concrete pavement did not comply with the specifications. This letter was signed by Ferdinand Hons, J. A. Balch, Frank E. Blake and J. W. Caldwell.

Supervisor Petrie stated that, in his opinion, these deficiencies had all been remedied with the exception of the complaint regarding the asphalt. If it can be arranged, the road committee and the special committee of the improvement club will meet at 1 o'clock next Saturday afternoon in the city hall to decide the asphalt question.

FILIPINO HOLDUP MAY FACE SERIOUS CHARGES

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) HILO, Dec. 1.—That there will be an aftermath to the alleged Pepeekeo holdup of Head Overseer Mansfield is the hint dropped by the police department. The third Filipino who was mixed up in the affair at the plantation on Thursday last and against whom no charge was at that time laid, is still in custody and booked for investigation. He was arrested at the same time as the two other Filipinos and he is said to have been the one who waved a gun at the crowd that had assembled on the store lanai.

That this third man may make a confession that will prove that the two other Filipinos did threaten the life of Overseer Mansfield on Thursday last, is thought to be extremely possible and, if that turns out to be true, the two men who are now serving a term for carrying deadly weapons because they could not dig up the fines inflicted on them in the police court on Friday, will have to face fresh charges of a far more serious nature than those for which they were convicted.

The police department feels that while there is only one man's word at present against the two Filipinos most actively connected with the case a third man may be induced to come

GERMANS BARRED FROM WATERFRONT, ON BOARD SHIPS

Alien Enemies Employed in Government Offices Will Have to Go

Advises received in Honolulu from Washington point out that under the proclamation recently issued by President Wilson, the provisions of which are to be enforced by the department of justice and its agents, no alien enemy will be allowed to enter or remain within the following restricted places:

1. Piers along the ocean front or waterfront where a 500-ton vessel may anchor.

2. On board any ship at sea, within three miles of land.

3. In the Panama Canal zone.

4. In the District of Columbia. This means just what President Wilson's proclamation reads—that no alien enemy, man or youth over 14 years old, not a naturalized American, will be permitted to live in these restricted areas. First naturalization papers will not do; second papers must have been taken up before male citizens of any enemy country are sent.

Authority to enforce these provisions of the proclamation in Hawaii have not yet been received by U. S. Attorney S. C. Huber, although it is expected that it will reach him in the near future, unless, as federal officials have already pointed out, territories are not to be included within the scope of the proclamation.

The second of the restricted places has already been observed by the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co., which has announced that hereafter no German alien may travel on its ships without a permit signed by the President, and without a special traveling permit issued by the local U. S. district attorney. It has also announced that other persons must satisfy the company that they are not alien enemies before tickets will be issued them.

It is pointed out by federal officers that this same ruling will apply to all ships touching at Honolulu, the transportation of alien enemies being forbidden under the trading with the enemy act.

The second of the restricted places has already been observed by the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co., which has announced that hereafter no German alien may travel on its ships without a permit signed by the President, and without a special traveling permit issued by the local U. S. district attorney. It has also announced that other persons must satisfy the company that they are not alien enemies before tickets will be issued them.

There will be no exceptions to the ultimate enforcement of the regulations being drawn up by Attorney General Gregory. Even alien enemy clerks, experts, skilled architects, draftsmen or what not, working in the United States government offices, will not be allowed to remain.

As the proclamation, by its terms, excludes women, an alien enemy's family will have plenty of time to make a change of address. Or they may remain in the restricted zones themselves.

NOTICE TO PASSENGERS.

On and after this date CABIN tickets for ports in this territory will be sold only at the Main Office of this company. The sale of these tickets will cease thirty minutes before the scheduled sailing time.

Chun Lee Puck Will Line Up Team For Volcano Run

Chinese Aggregation Will Be Represented in Big Kilauea to Hilo Race—Japanese Runners Also Training for Big Event—Coast Defense and Fort Shafter Runners Working Out on Hills Every Day—Pan-Pacifics Will Begin Training Soon

Chun Lee Puck, the Chinese runner, staged by the Japanese high school of Mills School, who is considered to be one of the best long distance men in the islands, is lining up a Chinese team for the big Volcano run. He said yesterday that he was confident that he could line up a team which would make a good showing against the other teams which will be represented.

The Chinese of the city are taking a great interest in the run and it is expected that the team will receive strong support from the Chinese citizens. Chun Lee Puck has a number of good men to call upon, including Achung Chun, Tom Tim Hook, Charles Woon, Chung Fook, Edward Ha and a number of other runners from Kum Loo and Wah Men schools.

Strong Team. This aggregation with training ought to stand an excellent chance to win, although the Japanese team and one of the Hilo teams are rated as real distance stars. The runners selected are all good men for five miles and real pluggers. It would be a big honor for Chun Lee Puck and the other Chinese of the city if the team should carry off the honors in the first Volcano run.

The Japanese are not letting the grass grow under their feet and have a number of men out for practice. It is not definitely known who will represent the Japanese team, but in Tergawa, Zenimura and Ishimura the Japanese have three excellent long distance stars. Then the recent race.

William McKinley said: "Integrity and industry are the best possible possessions any man can have and every man may have them." There is nothing, however, as powerful as advertising to help us realize on them financially.

Francis Ouimet, the former national golf champion, has this to say about the players who have made good in the royal and ancient game:

"In most sports at the end of a season it is quite the fashion to select an All-American team, but this is done for the sake of sport lovers who like to engage in friendly arguments over the respective selections. Golf, being an individual game, it is impossible to make such a team, although a golf team is not an unknown quantity."

"Unless, however, an international or international match be arranged, it is unlikely that a team, comprising the foremost golfers, could ever be gotten together. I have often thought just how well a team of artists would shoot around a golf course if they could play the shots they outstrip all their rivals in."

"Take, for instance, the drive. Could anyone imagine a better man from the tee than Abe Mitchell? Few Americans have seen him play, because he has never played on this side of the Atlantic, and will have to take what I say for granted. To my mind Mitchell is the longest and most accurate hitter in the world. There may be longer swatters, but none who are both longer and more accurate than the far-hitting Mitchell. He drives, as a rule, a high tee shot with enormous carry and can keep the ball down whenever necessary. He would be the man for the first shot."

Evens, Brassie King.

With Mitchell driving, few brassie shots would be needed, but Chick Evans, with his smooth style and ability to pick the ball up cleanly, would be my choice. Mike Brady or Jack Hutchinson are just as clever, and no doubt could do the work equally as well, but I think the combination for the woodens should be Mitchell and Evans."

"Jim Barnes would take good care of the long iron to the green. Powerful and long, Barnes is in a class by himself when it comes to navigating a long iron shot. He excels at this stroke and has no superior."

Vardon.

"Harry Vardon would lead the troupe of midiron wielders. It is impossible to pick a flaw in Vardon's game, because it is sound beyond belief, but Vardon will lay more midiron shots close to the pin than any man I know of. His brother professional, J. H. Taylor, would play the mischievous shots to the entire satisfaction of all. He could be relied upon to place the ball within holing distance nine times out of ten attempts, leaving the putting

FOOTBALL STARS WILL EAT; ALSO LISTEN TO TALKS

Y. M. C. A. Will Be Scene of Big Gridiron Banquet on Friday Evening: Many Invited

The annual football dinner for the football men of the Interscholastic League will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening. Members of the teams from Punahoa, Kamehameha, McKinley, College of Hawaii and Honolulu Military Academy will be present.

During the dinner Walter Dilling, president of the Harvard club of Hawaii, who will act as toastmaster, will present the trophy to Punahoa. The Harvard cup will have to be captured once more by the Punahoa team before the Buff and Blue can obtain possession.

During the evening talks will be made by Al Castle, Ernest Mott-Smith, Lieut. Atherton Gilman and representatives of the various teams. Captain Britton, Dick Whitcomb, Glenn Jackson, Lieut. Ross, Coach Midkiff, Coach Borden and others are expected to be on hand for the dinner.

Norton Thinks Maile Vicars Will Be Star

Predicts Glorious Future for Feminine Tennis Players; Championship in Sight

In discussing the tennis tournament L. W. De Vis-Norton, who has been a close follower of the game, said today:

"The finals of the Patriotic Tennis tournament on Wednesday next should provide some really sensational play, and, on form, I look to see the Castle-Vicars pair carry off the honors. Mr. Castle is a sterling good all-round player, who uses his head all through a game and plays with excellent generalship. If he has any bad fault at all in mixed doubles it is a tendency to over-cautious which at times leads him into the unforgivable error of poaching. In the match on Friday last, this was very apparent, and appeared to me to mitigate considerably against Miss Vicars showing her true form."

"After a long experience of first-class and championship tennis, I look upon Miss Vicars as the greatest natural player I have ever seen, and while at present, she suffers visibly from the nervousness of most young players before a gallery, the elimination of this by steady work will rectify the rather erratic nature of her first service."

"She has a particularly hard, smashing service, and three times on Friday last she served balls which were perfectly placed, perfectly timed and absolutely unplayable. Her back-hand play has improved so greatly in the last twelve months as to be one of her strongest features, and while she will always be a better singles player than in a mixed double, I fully expect to see her make a name for herself among tennis stars of the first magnitude, for she possesses a determination and a stamina which, combined with the generalship she will acquire by practice, will make her a most dangerous opponent for even the older warriors of the court. Miss Vicars will repay watching by tennis fans, for she will indubitably add to the athletic fame of Hawaii next."

to, I would say, Jerome Travers.

"I do consider Walter J. Travis the master putter. His mastery with the putter comes in his uncanny ability to lay long putts close. Most golfers lose their matches in just this department, but, with the troupe already named, there would be few long putts in the course of a round, and Jerry is the peer of them all when it comes to making the putts that would be called holeable. He will average close to 70 per cent on putts from three to fifteen feet."

The Ideal Golfer

"It might be hard for this group to play up to their usual standard in such a game, and, for special shots and trying ones, I would select Harold Hilton. He knows every single shot that can be played with a club and ball, and, what is more, he can play them. He has more shots at his command than any player I have ever seen."

Taking every shot into consideration, it would be difficult to find a golfer more fitted for the title of 'The Ideal Golfer' than Harry Vardon. He may not drive as far as Mitchell, or putt as well as Travers or Travis. Taylor may be considered a better mashie player and Barnes can certainly play longer iron, but when it comes to accuracy, steadiness and consistency they must all make room for Vardon. The Ideal Golfer."

Vardon.

"Harry Vardon would lead the troupe of midiron wielders. It is impossible to pick a flaw in Vardon's game, because it is sound beyond belief, but Vardon will lay more midiron shots close to the pin than any man I know of. His brother professional, J. H. Taylor, would play the mischievous shots to the entire satisfaction of all. He could be relied upon to place the ball within holing distance nine times out of ten attempts, leaving the putting

ONE-CLUB TOURNAMENT NEXT SUNDAY IS HONOLULU GOLF CLUB'S FEATURE

Now comes the real golf tournament of the year!

All the aspiring Francis Ouimets and Jerry Travers and Walter Traversons of the Honolulu Golf club will assemble at the Moanalua Links next Sunday for the first annual one-club tournament.

You can play the eighteen holes with anything from a driver to a putter—but you have to take one club on the first tee and use that one club all the way around.

If you choose a midiron you have to use the iron for driving, for approaching, for putting and for expressing your feelings afterward.

This one-club tournament is one of the most interesting events in the realm of the royal and ancient game. The dub has a much better chance than usual with the crack, and this tournament Sunday is to be a handcap affair into the bargain, so there

The tournament is to start at 9:30. A big entry list is desired.

Now comes the real golf tournament of the year!

Two valuable prizes are being up First is a $6 gold club, winner to choose the club. The second prize consists of half a dozen balls, and in these days of the high cost of golf balls that is "some prize."

According to the gossip around the locker room at Moanalua most of the contestants Sunday will use midirons, figuring that these clubs are best adapted to all around work. Some of the players, however, will take driving irons and still others rather favor the jigger. One well-known "shark" has tipped it off that his choice will be a mashie. Another who likes the long game declares that he is going to use his brassie and win the championship on distance, while still another is nursing a spoon tenderly and practising in off corners.

The tournament is to start at 9:30. A big entry list is desired.

The safety that is appreciated is that which is constant twenty-four hours a day. Our Safe Deposit Vaults of steel and reinforced concrete afford absolute security day and night for valuables of all kinds.

Private boxes for rent for $3.00 and up per annum. Special storage facilities are also provided for silverware, tapestries, and other bulky articles.

Art Exhibition and Sale

This collection of Paintings, placed on exhibition by M. B. Mihran, is undoubtedly one of the best to be shown in Honolulu. It embodies works of such celebrated American artists as Wm. Keith, A. H. Wyant, Geo. Innes, R. A. Blakelock, also a few works of the old European masters such as David Tennier, Attilio Piambo and C. Van Den Broeck.

There are several beautiful water colors by English artists, notably G. Ramer, H. E. Walters, T. S. Stamm and Harry Carleton.

Harry Carleton is a celebrated painter of architectural subjects and in this collection has produced, in wonderful detail and color, the older cathedrals of Northern France and Belgium—most of these cathedrals now are in ruins. These canvases are shown in our windows.

The public is cordially invited to visit and inspect this unusual exhibit.

CONGRESS READY TO ADD NEW TAX ON WAR PROFITS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—Congress went away from Washington a few weeks ago, exhausted after having appropriated and authorized war expenditures totaling $21,000,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918. Congress is coming back to Washington a few weeks hence to tackle the task of raising $20,000,000,000 more and apportioning it with the original $21,000,000,000 over a period of two years, ending June 30, 1919.

This $50,000,000,000 program, on which experts in war, navy and treasury departments are working, is approaching a actuality. It will confirm the prediction made by Senator Martin, the conservative Virginian.

Senators who scoffed at him when he made the forecast in the earlier days of the last session will find when they return for the next bills under way aggregating approximately $29,000,000,000. Part of this sum will be devoted to rounding up ragged edges of the financial program for the first year of the war, but by far the greater portion of it is intended for 1918-1919.

With the staggering figure to be provided, the question naturally arises—how? Preliminary estimates, based on the system followed at the last session, would produce $10,000,000,000 by taxation and $40,000,000,000 by means of bonds or other forms of loans. The new revenue law will yield $7,500,000,000, leaving $2,500,000,000 to be provided by further taxation.

That congressional leaders now in the city declare, can be done with comparative ease. Simple increases in present levies with some new levies would bring in this money.

The difficulty is conceded to lie in the raising of $40,000,000,000 by bond sales. Experts assert the country positively cannot assimilate that amount in two years. In casting about for a way out of the difficulty conservative leaders find nothing but excessive war profits taxes.

At this session, it is predicted, the administration forces, both Democratic and Progressive-Republicans, like Senators Borah and Johnson, will support the war profits scheme. And some of the old line conservative Republicans will be doing the same thing.

CANADIAN WAR BONDS OFFERED

Britishers and Canadian residents in the Territory of Hawaii will now be able to subscribe to the Canadian Victory Loan through a local bond selling house. The loan is similar to the United States Liberty loan in the fact that in Canada it is free from taxes. The amount of the loan is $150,000,000 and the bonds are issued at a 5 1/4 per cent interest rate. The issue is a purely domestic one and while no attempt is being made to secure subscriptions in the United States and its territories, the Bishop Trust Co. bond department following repeated inquiries from British and Canadian citizens resident here on the possibility of subscribing to the loan, has made arrangements to place local orders for the Canada Victory loan.

The bonds are offered in three maturities: 5 year bonds due December 1, 1922; 10 year bonds due December, 1927, and 20 year bonds due 1937. Interest is payable on June and December of each year and the bonds may be purchased in $50, $100, $500 and $100 blocks. The installments on the subscriptions are to be paid as follows: 10 per cent with subscription; 10 per cent on January 1, 1918, 20 per cent on February 1, 20 per cent on March 1, 20 per cent on April 1, and 20 per cent on May 1. On June 1 the full interest for the first six months will be paid although the last payment has to be made a month before. This system of paying full interest even during the time that installments are being paid does away with the accrued interest calculations necessary in Liberty Loan payments.

Canadian elections which take place on December 17 are not likely to bring forth any surprises or cause any flourries in Canadian financial circles. The recently formed Union Government is expected to be returned to power in the election and continue in its work of prosecuting the war with vigor.

GREEN JOINS REGULARS; NOW ARMY CAPTAIN

Commission Given in Recognition of Draft Service; Will Continue Work

Maj. F. J. Green, National Guard of Hawaii, and officer in charge of the selective draft, has been named by the war department as a captain in the National Army.

Cable advices from the war department received this morning announce the commission and assign the officer for duty with the governor of the territory in connection with the draft.

Captain Green, National Army, is the new title that the officer will wear and the gold leaf on the shoulder of his uniform will be changed to two bars. Friends of the captain are congratulating him on the "de-motion," however, as this action is regarded as national recognition of the services he has rendered in connection with registration and draft work. He reported this morning at army headquarters.

LATIN-AMERICAN FIRMS THAT AID ENEMY EXPOSED

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5.—The war trade board today issued a "black-list" of some 1600 firms in Latin America, forbidding Americans to trade with them on account of their proved German sympathies. A second list was also issued of friendly firms, which carries the same aims, namely, that of benefiting American traders. Other lists will follow.

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.) LONDON, Eng., Dec. 5.—The London correspondent of the London Morning Post insists that the situation in Russia is historically unique.

"Russia will right herself if allowed the necessary latitude by the puzzled Allies," he telegraphs his paper. "She should put new armies in the field and fight the invaders. Meantime the situation is curious. Some force above and beyond the immediate contenders is putting spokes in the wheels of all."

Nuxated Iron to make New Age of Beautiful Women and Vigorous Iron Men

Say Well-Known Physicians—Quickly Puts Roses Into the Cheeks of Women and Most Astonishing Youthful Power Into the Veins of Men—It Often Increases the Strength and Endurance of Delicate, Nervous "Rundown" Folks 200% Per Cent in Two Weeks' Time

A Wonderful Discovery Which Promises to Mark a New Era in Medical Science.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Since the remarkable discovery of organic iron, Nuxated Iron or "Fer Nuxata," as the French call it, has taken the country by storm. It is conservatively estimated that over five million cans are being sold in this country alone. Most astonishing results are reported from its use by both physicians and laymen. So much so that well-known doctors predict that it will soon have a new age of far more beautiful, robust, healthy women and vigorous men.

Dr. King, well-known New York physician and author, when interviewed on the subject, said: "There can be no vigorous iron men without iron. Falter means anaemia. Anemia means deficiency." The lack of anemic blood would be fatal. The heart, the muscles, the brain and often they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women, the result is from the lack of energy and power to do work.

"In our common foods of America, the starches, sugars, table syrups, candies, polished rice, white bread, sodas, crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, tapioca, sago, farina, degerminated cornmeal, no longer is iron to be found. We have never had the benefit of the fruits of Mother Earth from these impoverished foods, and silly methods of home cookery, by throwing down the waste pipe the water in which our vegetables are cooked, are responsible for anemia.

If you wish to preserve your youthful vim and vigor to a ripe old age, you must supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron, just as you would use salt when your food has not enough salt.

Dr. Sauer, one of the most widely-known physicians in this country, who has studied abroad in great European medical institutions, said: "As I have said a hundred times over, organic iron is the greatest strength builder. If you will eat only three or four forms of reduced iron, and numerous concoctions and take simple annexed iron, I am convinced that

T. K. K. WILLING TO ENTER ISLAND BUSINESS

Mr. Halton said that the railroads were doing the best business in history, and believed that there would be a big tourist business if all boats would cater to Honolulu business.

Harry Stinson proposed that the shipping board make some changes, and owing to the lack of passenger accommodations he believed that the board could make a change which would be agreeable to Hawaii.

Emil Berndt said that there were plenty of tourists in California who wanted to come here, but would not because they could not be assured of passage back to home.

Miss Ellen Beach Yaw entertained the members of the Ad Club with two vocal solos.

H. E. Vernon proposed that a committee composed of Mr. Avery, Mr. Halton, Mr. Stinson and Emil Berndt, draw up an outline of the local situation and present the same to George B. McClellan who would be asked to discuss the transportation situation with the shipping board. This was passed by the members of the club.

Following the Ad Club luncheon a special committee met and decided to ask the Chamber of Commerce to call a special meeting for discussion of the shipping situation and outline its desires to be presented to the shipping board.

Mr. Avery presented Mr. McClellan with a letter of introduction to Mr. Pillsbury, San Francisco representative of the shipping board, and it is expected that Mr. McClellan will be able to work with the backing of the San Francisco businessmen.

AERO OFFICER IS ORDERED TO S. F.

Major Harold M. Clark, Signal Corps, aviation officer at department headquarters, has been ordered to San Francisco to become departmental aeronautical officer in the Western department.

Major Clark has been in Hawaii only a few weeks, having been sent here to relieve Major John B. Brooks, who has since left for mainland duty. The order summoning him back to the mainland comes, therefore, as quite a surprise. He is an enthusiastic flyer and it was expected that he would soon be in charge of practice flights with the 6th Aero Squadron as two seaplanes, for this organization are on their way here now.

Major Harold M. Clark, Signal Corps, aviation officer at department headquarters, has been ordered to San Francisco to become departmental aeronautical officer in the Western department.

FALSE PRIDE.

By DOROTHY DIX
The World's Highest Paid Woman Writer.

THE reason that so many women are failures is because so many business women are ashamed of their jobs.

Lately I have been thrown with a woman who is well born and well educated, and until two years ago moved in fashionable social circles. Then her husband suddenly died, and as they had spent everything he made in keeping up with their rich friends, she was left destitute.

She studied stenography and was given a place in a business office by a man who had often been her guest in her palmy days, but instead of being proud that she had enough intelligence, courage and independence to strike out for herself instead of becoming a dependent upon the grudging charity of others, this silly woman was humiliated to death because she had to go to work.

I think I have never seen anything more pathetic than her false pride, a pride that made her boast continually of having known this or that member of the four hundred and of having spent a week end at some millionaire's palatial country home, or taken a trip on some trust magnate's yacht. It made you want to weep to hear her recount her past social triumphs in one breath and in the next wall because most of her former friends and acquaintances had dropped her as if she had been suddenly smitten with leprosy as soon as she had become poor and needy.

This woman had no interest in her work, no ambition to excel in it. Every particle of brain and energy she had was concentrated on hanging on to what little social position she had left and keeping up the fiction that she had taken up stenography as a fad to occupy her thoughts and keep her from grieving too much over the loss of her husband, instead of having taken it up as a business by which to make bread and butter.

This poor lady's case stirred my deepest compassion, not because fate had forced her to become a producer instead of just a waster and a spender for I believe that none but those who work have any excuse for living but because her false pride made the way so hard for her and doomed her to ultimate failure.

She missed the thrill and joy of independence because she was ashamed to be known as a working woman.

She missed that deep satisfying realization that the craftsman has in good work done because she despised the labor at which she toiled. She missed the sincere friendship and companionship that she might have had among her fellow workers because she scorned them as beings of inferior social caste. She slunk into her business office as if she had been going to some disgraceful rendezvous and were trying to escape recognition, and she tortured herself wondering what some brainless cad she had once known would be saying of her.

Is it any wonder that such a woman holds her place only on sufrance that will soon be worn threadbare? Or that her work is bad? Or that she will never get a dollar more salary, or be advanced to any higher place? No human being ever did work well who was ashamed of it. It is only pride that puts the punch in any labor that makes it great. To make a success, you have to believe that the thing you are doing is the finest and best thing in the world and that you are the luckiest person alive to have been elected to do it.

People complain that women's work is so often bad work. This is true, and their work is bad because they are ashamed of it and have no interest in it, but the fault does not lie with the individual woman so much as with the false teaching of which women have been the unfortunate victims.

Men have had the ideal of independence bred into them. Men have been taught that work was glorious, that is was a shameful thing for a man to pass his life in an idle round of pleasure, and that the most admired man was the man who did his work best. That is why men boast of being lawyers, doctors, merchants, manufacturers, mechanics.

On the contrary, women have been taught that if it isn't actually disgraceful for a woman to work it is at least a terrible misfortune. When we hear of a woman who has gone into business we draw down our mouths and "poor Mary" her, and poor Mary feels as humiliated as if she had committed a crime. That is why women will starve before they will go to work, and why, when they do work, they so often try to work in secret and try to camouflage it under the name of charity.

How many of us buy cakes from pathetic old ladies who pretend that they are selling them for a friend who doesn't want her name known? Or how many of us have our fine lingerie made by some woman who says that she makes her missionary money that way because she feels that the money she has made through a personal sacrifice is especially blessed and efficacious in converting the heathen?

How many of us have endured the discomforts of living in untidy rooms and eating meals that were never on time or decently cooked because we were staying with those who took "paying guests," but who would have swooned with horror at the idea of being known as keeping a boarding house or a hotel?

Now you can't get over the teachings of centuries in a minute, and it is going to take time for women to rise above the idea that instead of the brand of being a working woman being a stigma upon them it is an insignia of honor, because it removes them at once from the class of dolls and dolls and raises them to the level of intelligent and capable human beings.

And when women learn to be proud of their work, proud that they have enough gray matter in their heads and skill in their hands and health in their bodies to do the kind of work that is worth while, and that the world is glad to pay for, we are going to hear no more about woman's inefficiency. Pride is the psychological lever by which the feminine Archimedes of the future is going to tilt her universe.

You can see how pride in her work spells success for a woman at every turn. The woman who is ashamed of taking boarders and calls them "paying guests" never sees that the beds are swept under, or does her own marketing, or does her daily stint in the kitchen. She leaves that to servants and she goes bankrupt. The woman who boasts that she keeps the best boarding house or hotel in her town is on to her job at every turn and she makes a fortune.

The woman who would rather die than have it known that she is a dressmaker and who pretends to only sew for a few friends for accommodation, makes the kind of frocks you send to your country cousin. To the woman who is proud of her designs in clothes you gladly pay out good money.

There is no woman in the world who has so much right to be proud of herself as the working woman. All sensible people respect and honor her. And the balance don't count.

Grace For Every Woman

You CANNOT run from an ugly duckling to a graceful swan overnight, but you can cultivate grace and repose in a remarkably short time if you will put your mind earnestly on the idea. First, I would advise studying the graceful way to walk or sit, especially of sitting, for one is less self-conscious when active. In fact, right there is the secret of grace—a lack of consciousness.

Europeans say we people of the new countries lack repose, that we are good sportswomen, graceful at work or active play, but that once we sit down we fidget, twist, fuss with our hair, and jump up again at the first chance. They are right—we are all too nervously active.

Many women feel so self-conscious when sitting quietly that they are painfully and stiffly erect, or, at the other extreme, sloppy. Don't be either. Find out what positions suit you best, train yourself in private to adopt them and in public you will soon be doing it unconsciously.

Watch the way your pet cat walks; she does it better than you do. She places her feet gently, toes ahead, and walks with an easy swing forward that is the essence of grace. A cat has more repose than any human being. She never waddles, she doesn't hunch nor jerk, and she has four feet to think about, too.

Watch other people's habit of sitting and make mental notes of what is awkward in them, then avoid these faults in yourself. Most of all, keep your mind fresh and full of new ideas, absorb what others say and think, be interested in the folks about you, and presently you will lose thought of self, and will cultivate the repose that means grace.

Reply—Shaving under the arms allows the perspiration to evaporate more quickly, the skin being less susceptible. ## SEEKS PUBLIC'S VIEWS ON CITY MANAGER PLAN

E. A. Mott-Smith, who has gone for a little vacation trip to the Big Island, wants everybody in Honolulu to give serious consideration to the city manager plan which he proposed to the board of supervisors several weeks ago.

"It is a matter," said Mr. Mott-Smith, yesterday before leaving, "which concerns every citizen of Honolulu. The board of supervisors will take it up when I return from Hawaii, doubtless at a meeting to be held Tuesday evening, December 18, by which time I trust enough public discussion will have been had of the plan for the people generally to understand its aims."

"As outlined by me when I submitted the plan to the board, my idea is to centralize the government as much as possible, such as instance, as putting the street and road work, which will include the garbage department, under the supervision of the city and county engineer. Considerable improvement could be made in the city administration, and this seems to be an opportunity to accomplish that end."

"In one phase or another all the supervisors are in accord in the belief that we need some scheme for a better municipal administration. I am unable, so far, to say whether or not they are in full accord with me that this city management plan is just what we need to perfect a better administration. Personally, I hope that the plan will be adopted. I have studied the matter very carefully from all sides, and I am convinced that it will work out satisfactorily to the great betterment of the city administration, besides resulting in considerable economy."

PENNSYLVANIA MAN SAID TO BE LEPER

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 19.—Surgeon G. W. McCoy, formerly of the leprosy investigation station of the Bureau of Public Health Service at Molokai, Hawaiian Islands, was brought to this city yesterday to examine Frank Stracusa, who has been held in the contagion hospital outside the city as a leper.

Mr. McCoy diagnosed the case as leprosy in its early stage, but said there is no danger of contamination in this climate and that it would be safe to allow the man his freedom providing he remained north of the Potowmac river. Stracusa came from Olney City several months ago.
