Comments by Cosmos.

Since the theater was destroyed by fire various suggestions regarding its reconstruction have appeared. The most absurd of which is that the "public" should rebuild it. Nevertheless the public badly wants a public hall, and I most earnestly hope that the well-to-do proprietors of the land on which the ruins of the theater stand will see fit to supply this want by the erection of a suitable building on the excellent site in Union Square.

For a variety of reasons with which we are all familiar, a full fledged theater (or Opera House, as the lovers of high-sounding titles in small cities call their place of entertainment) cannot be supported in Honolulu, and it will never, so far as we can see, be a paying investment. There is, however, no reason why a public hall should not pay, and it is my opinion that if a properly constructed building were erected it would at least give a decent return on the money invested in it.

Such a hall should be adaptable to all the purposes for which such place can ever be used in Honolulu. There should be a stage for the purpose of theatrical or musical entertainments, to which a moderate amount of scenery and other theatrical accessories can be added at any time; then the floor should be well laid and there should be good retiring rooms, so that when Terpsichore took possession of the premises she would feel comfortable and at home. A suitable room for suppers or refreshments should be conveniently situated in the building, and indeed there might be a kitchen annex, just as in Central Union Church to be used as occasion required.

Such a hall would provide us with a place where public meetings of all kinds, balls, concerts, theatricals, bazaars and every other form of entertainment, usually inflicted on a long-suffering community like ours, might be held.

I respectfully present the above suggestion to Messrs. Spreckels and Irwin with my anticipatory thanks for their adoption of it, and as they are both sensible fellows they are sure to adopt it.

One suggestion more. As the internal arrangements are of vastly more importance than the external appearance, let the plans be supplied by a real architect with some ideas other than a $250 book of house designs supplies.

The mounted police are, I presume, being gradually—very gradually—licked into shape by their chief, Captain Cook (and I hope the process will be perfected before any member of that august body licks Captain Cook out of shape), but when I see them paraded I always think of the mounted police force which was drilled many years ago by Captain Haley and Lieutenant Smythe, and the comparisons I make in my mind of that short-lived force with the present organization are not very favorable to the latter.

Haley's boys were picked natives, good horsemen and well drilled, and they presented a much smarter and more soldier-like appearance than do Cook's myrmidons, who ride like the dickens—you know how that is—head stuck out, chest in, shoulders up, feet out, reins held anyhow. For heavens' and sake, for that of your own reputation, Captain Cook, teach those slouchy Johnnies of yours how to sit and ride their horses. I haven't seen mounted citizens' guard yet, but if it is composed of Honolulu boys, as I understand it to be, I expect they will be able to give points in horsemanship to the troop of malihinis and beat them then.

Captain Cochrane's stereopticon slide representing a cavalry soldier might be printed for distribution among the "force," so that its members could see how a military man should look when he is sitting on a horse. But then I'll be told that our mounted patrol is not composed of military men, and it certainly is not—not by a very large majority.

A mounted policeman, who's worthy the name Loves officers dashing and strict. When good, he's content with escaping all blame, When naughty he likes to be licked. He likes for a fault to be bullied and stormed, Or imprisoned for several days, And hates, for a duty correctly performed, To be slavered with sickening praise.

In the published accounts of Saturday's ludicrous burlesque of military pageantry (by some thought to be the shadow of coming events), reference is made to the long sworded men in kimonos whose duty it is to decapitate prisoners, from which it is to be inferred that the writers of the accounts in question have not heard of the great, and almost completely successful efforts made by Japan in her recent campaign to eliminate from her warfare everything of an illegitimate or barbarous character, and they suppose that to every Japanese army corps a battalion of decapitators is attached whose duty it is to lop the heads off the harmless necessary captives. Needless to say that such is not the case. The sworded gentlemen with the cotton kimonos and heads wrapped in towels were doubtless intended to represent the Samurai of old Japan, the two-sworded retainers of the Daimios who used to carve one another in elegant style in the auld lang syne of Dai Nippon.

Apropos of the consideration of cable projects which we are promised at the coming legislative gathering, it may be interesting to republish the estimated cost of the Canadian-Australian cable according to the tenders received by Mr. Sandford Fleming, whose visit to Honolulu last year is fresh in our minds.

The tender for laying the cable on the Fanning Island route was $7,500,000, inclusive of maintenance and repairs for three years after completion. Mr. Fleming estimates that the revenue would exceed the expenditure for the first three years by $75,000, and for the whole of the first ten years by $3,700,000.

It is most unfortunate that the fear of the United States existing here, and the fear of England's "aggressive foreign policy" existing in the United States, threatens to shut out the Hawaiian Islands from the benefits derivable from being connected with an ocean cable, no matter who owns it. However, the way things political are now I suppose we must content ourselves with being out of the world until the United States takes us under her wing, and among other gifts presents us with a cable. When that time comes where do you think we who are on this earth now will be?

Apropos of Russia's interference with Japan's little game, it is interesting to remember that so far back as Feb. 17 last the Berlin correspondent of the London Standard telegraphed that the Chinese Special Envoy to Berlin and St. Petersburg "had not only to inform himself minutely as to the intentions and opinions prevalent there about the war, but also to bring about an understanding between Russia and China, or, at least, an attitude friendly to China, in return for certain important concessions."

At the same time it was stated that leading Russians held that "the extravagant claims of the Japanese must be rejected, and that Russia cannot under any circumstances allow the independence of Corea to be violated, or any portion of Manchuria to be annexed by Japan. The conditions of peace must, according to the Russian view, confine any annexation of territory to the island of Formosa with a reasonable war indemnity."

The S. S. China, on Monday next, should bring us news as to the working out of the Russian policy sketched in the above quotation.

Weak Reply.

An old played-out game is attempted by the Star, in the effort it makes to rebut the statements by this paper regarding the finances of the country. When another paper on former occasions analyzed the treasury statements, to show the people how their money was going, there was invariably a howl from the journals whose existence depends on extravagant doles of treasury pay. They affected to take it that the criticism was a personal attack on the Minister of Finance, and that he was accused of mismanagement and recklessness, when nothing of the kind could be construed out of the criticism in question. Mr. Damon individually has not been held responsible by the critics for the condition of the treasury. It is freely conceded, indeed, that only his good management of the finances has saved the treasury from a state that would be immeasurably worse than what obtains. The manager of the business of a private corporation is not the one to be condemned if the directors order expenditures beyond the scope of the capital and revenues of the concern. He may be expected to give warning, from his expert knowledge, of the disastrous consequences of such a policy, but beyond that his place is to obey orders if it breaks owners. Mr. Damon did just that thing. Early in the career of the Provisional Government he besought the Executive and Advisory Councils to call a halt in the ruinous military expenditures, but he was overborne by fearful expostulations of his colleagues, who argued that no chances were to be taken with the dreadful royalists—in other words, that the people of the country could not be trusted but must be held under subjugation at all costs to the self-appointed ruling oligarchy. Again, when it came to making a constitution for a republic, Mr. Damon made strenuous efforts to have admitted to some practical share in the control of the country's affairs the small remnant of the people which had survived the crucible of party test oaths—a remnant indeed largely composed of new-comers who had been manufactured into virtual citizens with a facility that it would beggar the history of any country to parallel. Once more the hoarse baying of those who, in their own estimation, were the truly patriotic watch-dogs was heard as they scented the royalist wolf from afar. And again Mr. Damon was borne down by an avalanche of prejudice and self-interest, and all power was committed to a president—who could not take the chances of popular election—in conjunction with a small minority of the Legislature. Mr. Damon's great fault is that he has been only too faithful a steward of unjust masters of the situation. He showed his financial ability by methods of staving off creditors of the government upon the discredited mercantile plan of quarterly credit, so as to tide over times of depletion in the treasury and make a virtue of necessity. It was a good stroke he made when he had the plan adopted of requiring all departments of the government to make requisitions before the close of the month for what money they needed the next month. This, however, would never have been necessary under the normal system of confining departments to the regular biennial appropriation bill and having the Auditor General strictly enforce the rule. However, if Mr. Damon had not established the checks mentioned, there is no saying where the inexperienced crowd in control of expenditures might have landed the country. What the INDEPENDENT says is that, while there has never been two years in the past twelve when so little has been accomplished in public works and increasing the assets of the country as in the past two years, the debt of the country has steadily increased until it is far beyond what it has ever been before. Since the Star is good enough to say that the criticism of the financial situation has "emanated from people entirely without interest, utterly unable to analyze a statement and invariably prejudiced," let it in rebuttal of such criticism give the public something palpable in the shape of a sound review of the finances of the period in question. Thus far, in its defensive function on behalf of those who keep it alive with alimony from the treasury, the Star has never dealt in anything but incoherent and unreasoning epithets of abuse of those who voice the popular discontent.

Observations.

Mention is made in the Bulletin—in a manner indicating that it takes it as a case of harsh justice—of the sentence by Judge Wilcox of "a poor defendant" to ten days at hard labor and to pay a fine of one dollar, for stealing three pounds of sugar of the value of fifteen cents. Now, the fact that the "poor" culprit slashed open bags of sugar on the wharf, doing a great deal more damage than the loss of three pounds of the article, is enough to show the public that the punishment was none too severe.

Our reporter notes, as if it was a grievance felt by the teachers, that no member of the Board of Education attended the meeting of the Teachers' Association. It happens that the Board had a meeting of its own at the time, from which two members were kept away by illness.

Petitions have been circulated and extensively signed by German residents, against the deportation of Wichart of the mounted patrol, who accepted that fate as an alternative to going to prison on his pleading guilty to aiding and abetting Nelson in the assault upon Captain Cook of the mounted patrol. It is learned that the petitions have proved unavailing. Wichart must go into exile. The German colony feels very sore against the Government in consequence of recent doings in connection with the mounted patrol, Germans having been very conspicuous in that body from the start.

There is a sardonic humor about President Dole's proclamation to convene the Legislature for "public business"—which gives unlimited scope to all the hobby-riders for prolonging the session with attention to their fads—while the government organs oracularly announce that the session will be exclusively occupied with the President's colonization fad and a few other items of "special" business. When the Executive and Advisory Councils, without any commission from the people, could not be restrained from all sorts of vagaries in legislation, the country may well be appalled at the prospect of tinkering with the statutes which will be indulged in by the two houses that have been created by the formality of a "popular" election.

"Cosmos" has some knowledge of the world about him, and his notes will be found quite readable. The INDEPENDENT welcomes all bright writers to its columns. It does not want any chewing of the cud of dead issues.

The authoritative statement that 117 teachers in the Government schools are without professional diplomas should make parents and guardians think about what they are paying for in the way of instruction to the rising generation.

The steamer W. G. Hall will be due this afternoon from Hawaii and Maui.

TEACHERS IN COUNCIL

Meeting of the Honolulu Teachers' Association.

Summer School for Teachers Proposed

The Honolulu Teachers' Association met yesterday afternoon as announced. The Y. M. C. A. hall was found not to be suitable for business, as the noise made by the workmen employed on the Gymnasium interfered with the auditory capabilities of the room. An adjournment was therefore made to the Punahou Preparatory School. Here about forty schoolmasters and schoolmasters sat themselves down in the seats usually occupied by the juvenile portion of the community enrolled in that establishment. Professor Hosmer of Oahu College occupied the chair and in well-chosen and brief words introduced the objects of the meeting.

The first business was a paper by Mrs. Dumas on "English and Hawaiian Schools." In an audible voice Mrs. Dumas touched on the underlying principles which guided the teacher instructing pupils in a foreign language. Briefly she said that "the action should be suited to the word and the word to the action." Motion songs practically exemplified by the lecturer illustrated what was indicated as the idea to be carried out. Yet even in her own illustrations, e. g., the teacher with chalk, eraser and blackboard, she showed how little a child can be expected to recollect what a teacher tries to impart. Amongst other interesting chips from other people's workshops it was stated in the lecture that "accurate description is the highest point of composition." Some slight slips in enunciation such as "pitchers" for "pictures" marred the delivery of the composition.

No discussion having ensued, Professor Hosmer introduced Mr. C. M. White, who announced that public and private school teachers could get round trip tickets to the volcano and back at $35 per head. This offer was on behalf of Wilder's S. S. Co., but the I. I. S. N. Co. would probably do the same. No relatives by blood or marriage could go at the same rate though. On the return, teachers could stop over anywhere to the limit of their vacation. If many foreign tourists come along, the Company reserve the right to issue fresh tickets. The trip includes two and a half days' stay over the arrival of the steamer, and everything is found but the horse to the crater. No further discussion took place and Mr. White retired.

Mr. Dumas then took the floor in support of a Summer School for teachers and instanced the fact that 117 teachers now employed by the Board of Education had no certificate of competency to teach. His main argument was that attendance at the proposed Summer School would put the teacher in condition to get a certificate and thus ensure a higher salary.

Professor Richards of the Kamehameha School spoke advocating the school as a means of procuring uniform grading in the schools. As things are now he says that no pupil can go from one school to another, and step into an exactly similar class to the one he left, owing to the want of uniformity in grading, classifying and teaching.

Mr. Lightfoot here remarked that there were no funds to carry on the proposed school.

Mr. Dumas again arose to say that no place on the face of the globe paid such high salaries to teachers as were paid on the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. Kenyon stated that no teachers were comparatively as poorly paid as those on the Hawaiian Islands, and he would like Mr. Dumas' assertion backed by statistics.

Mr. Dumas said he would produce them, stating that his assertion was true of the United States.

Mr. Kenyon simply wanted to know if the United States was the who's face of the globe. Mr. Dumas did not reply.

Professor Hosmer announced that he intended to have Oahu College open a boarding department for teachers attending Summer School at the rate of $10 a month or less, but that circumstances obliged him to state that this summer they could not receive any boarders.

No further discussion took place and the chair appointed Professor Scott and Messrs. Lyons and Dumas a committee on the Summer School.

Treasurer's report by Mr. Dumas showed receipts $115, expenditures $113.65. Of this $76 was received from Dr. Nothrop's two lectures. Of the expenditures stationary took $8.15, rent to the Y. M. C. A. $15, and Northrop $60. The balance was for advertising and there were several bills unpaid, amongst them one of $16 to the Advertiser. It was announced after searching through the constitution and by laws that no further meetings would take place till the annual meeting on the second Tuesday in June. No representative of the Board of Education graced the meeting with his or her presence, and the general air of lack of business and want of knowledge of the ordinary routine of public meetings seemed to indicate that the teachers would be the better of a little personal instruction themselves.

Newspaper Change.

The mortgagee having taken possession of the Daily Bulletin Publishing Company's plant, B. L. Finney, who had obtained a controlling portion of the corporation's stock, yesterday started the publication of a new paper called the Evening Bulletin on his own account. J. T. Stacker, editor of Time, edits the new paper, with George Manson as city editor. The paper is printed in the office of the Gazette Publishing Company.

R. I. Green, agent of the Humane Society, had his attention called to an alleged case of wife beating, the people being natives. When he went to the house, he found that the woman, lately discharged from the Insane Asylum as improved, had taken a relapse of her mania. He gave the husband a sharp reprimand for his harsh treatment of the wife, and had the unfortunate woman returned to the Asylum.

The pumping plant of the water works is in operation and runs smoothly. It will remain on trial until the end of the month, before being taken over by the Government.

M. W. McChesney & Sons have placed an 1100 pound cake of soap on exhibition at the Elite Ice Cream parlors. It was made at the Honolulu Soap Works.

There is to be a dance at Independence Park on the evening of the 23rd inst. Music will be furnished by the Kawaihau Club. Some members of the Lei Iliana Club are getting up the dance.

"290" is the number most frequently called over the telephone wires. It rings up the UNITED CARRIAGE COMPANY'S stand, where Superior Hacks with safe and courteous drivers, are always to be found. A complete livery outfit, including buggies and wagonettes, furnished at the shortest notice.

Engineer Barnhardt has been transferred from Engine house No. 1 to the China engine house, in future to be known as No. 3, where the chemical engine is stationed. Engineer Pat. Hughes takes charge of No. 1 engine.

"Opium Brown" is listed as a probable early arrival from foreign parts. As he left last time without the formality of taking out a passport, there is a prospect of his being dealt with under the laws relating to objectionable residents.

A new lock is being put on the iron gate of the enclosure of King Lunali's tomb in Kawaiahao churchyard. The rusty old lock had to be drilled out by hand, and it was laborious work for the young Hawaiian mechanic doing the job.

J. H. van Giesen is believed to be in the lead for the position of chief of the secret service, in the place of William Larsen, and it is believed that the appointment will be made on the return of Marshal Hitchcock from Hawaii on the 21st inst.

COURT RECORD.

Convicted of Assault with a Pistol.

Assault on an Officer.

The trial of Kaniku, that began on Wednesday, was not concluded until nearly 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. It resulted in a verdict of guilty, three dissenting. Counsel for defendant gave notice of motion for a new trial. Defendant was charged with assault and battery with a pistol on a Chinaman at Punaluu, Oahu.

F. J. Testa was put on trial for "assault and battery on one Henry Espinda, a police officer, with intent to resist and obstruct him, while in the execution of his duty as such, in Honolulu, March 22, 1895." Robertson for prosecution; Kaulia for defendant.

The following jury was empanelled: C. B. Dwight, J. S. Kawehiwehi, J. Nawahi, M. Keliias, A. Bishaw, J. W. Mahelona, C. A. Long, A. K. Achi, J. Paaniani, T. R. Mossman, H. E. Cooke, John Wallace.

Witnesses for the prosecution were Henry Espinda, Kanae, Robert Waipa Parker, A. Hammer, J. L. Osmer and D. A. Kahookano, all members of the police force. The defense called D. B. Smith, Mrs. Nawahi and the defendant.

The difficulty that gave rise to the prosecution occurred at the wharf, when a gang of political prisoners was being sent to Hilo by the steamer Kinau. Mr. Testa, who is a very stout man, was standing in front of the crowd on one side of the space being kept open leading to the gangway.

Mrs. Nawahi spoke to him and gave him the subscription of a friend to the Makaihana newspaper of which he is manager. Policeman, Espinda pushed him roughly against the people behind, including several ladies, and Testa pushed him in return. Testa at the same time angrily challenged the right of the police to shove him about.

Mr. Kaulia himself took the stand after Testa had given his evidence. He had accompanied the defendant to the wharf on the occasion in question, and he gave his version of the difficulty.

The jury came out twice after retiring and reported their inability to agree. They were eight to four the first time, and seven to five the next. Judge Cooper discharged them.

W. F. Allen, administrator of the estate of William A. Aldrich, late of Piedmont, Cal., has filed an inventory of the estate, namely, one piece of land with wooden buildings, situated on Hotel street, near Fort street, value $8000.

Henry Smith, master, has filed his report on the matter of redistribution of the Jose Espinda estate, referred to him by Judge Kalua of the Second Circuit. His computation gives the widow's share as $1578.59, and that of the eight heirs $6329.49. He recommends the appointment of a guardian for the minors to sign receipts for their shares.

Victoria Kaiulani Cleghorn by her attorney in fact, A. S. Cleghorn, has accepted for her property upon coming of age. The accounts of the guardian, Mr. Cleghorn, were approved and he discharged by Judge Whiting. The ward came of age on October 16, 1892, and the final account of the guardian showed a balance due him of $6306.47. This was due to his erection of a mansion to receive the princess on her return from England.

Repairs being made to Kawaiahao church will result in an entirely new edifice with the exception of the coral stone shell.

On Thursday of next week the furniture of W. C. Peacock will be sold at his Waikiki residence by Jas. F. Morgan. The articles are of a high class. An opportunity for public inspection will be given on Wednesday. See notice elsewhere.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Two Members Absent From Illness.

SEVERAL MATTERS CONSIDERED.

There was a meeting of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon. W. R. Castle, president, Prof. W. D. Alexander, vice-president, Prof. M. M. Scott and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham were present. Judge Perry and Mrs. F. S. Dodge were absent on account of illness. J. F. Scott, Secretary to the Board, took the minutes.

Naiwi, a young Hawaiian who had been in the Reformatory School a long time—having been placed there because he had no parents—was granted a release. The boy is going to enter Kamehameha School and, as his conduct has been good, he has excellent prospects of making somebody of himself.

Mrs. C. W. Dickey was appointed school agent for Makawao, Maui, in place of C. H. Dickey, resigned.

A petition to establish a school at Waialua, Molokai, was referred to the teachers' committee, as was another to establish a school at Wainiha, Kauai.

Armstrong Smith, principal of Kauluwela school, Honolulu, was given leave to close his school for the summer vacation on July 2, to enable him to take a trip to the Pacific Coast.

A committee of the Board is to consult with leading Chinese with a view to the Board's taking over the mission schools for Chinese which will have to suspend at the end of the year, on account of the constitutional prohibition of aid to denominational or sectarian schools.

Some other matters pending were referred to committees.

A Japanese Dies Suddenly.

A Japanese man at Kalihi went out fishing yesterday morning. On returning at 7 o'clock he fell down in the road when near home. He was carried into his house by neighbors and a Japanese doctor was called to him. At 2:30 p. m. he died and his death was reported at the police station. Captain Scott went out and found no marks of violence on the body, nor any evidence that there had been foul play. It was not deemed necessary to hold an inquest. The dead man was between 50 and 60 years of age.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions or utterances of our correspondents.]

EDITOR INDEPENDENT:

For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain, commend me to the heathen Chinese!! This may be true, but how about the heathen Christian. Let us see. Immediately after January 17, 1893, with spreadings of "Old Glory," brayings of trumpets, an annexation club started, poor devils contributed their dollars and dimes for the Lord knows what and the goose hung high, but mark the tricks of the heathen Christian—he wanted signatures, and he got them by his plausible misstatements. Passengers on through boats put down their names to swell the roll, but should that roll be called how slim would be the showing. But the next step is one that has wrought the most serious results. And it is hard to see how the Executive members of the Government can shirk the responsibility resting on them in the premises. We speak now of the imposing of an oath of allegiance on persons otherwise loyal—allegiance to a Government is one thing, and loyalty is another. A German may enter the service of the Russian Government and be perfectly loyal and honest in the transaction of the duties assigned him, but to swear allegiance to the Russian Government is a very different proposition, yet this is exactly what this Government must answer for to-day. Through the misrepresentations of its servants, men have thrown away the citizenship of the U.

S. for only a mess of pottage, and Mr. Gresham's decision has so decided it. Taking an oath is a serious matter, and how men having, at the least, the opportunity of consulting Johnstone or Webster can so construe the English language that it may be read two ways surpasses ordinary comprehension. That there is a big kick all around goes without saying. Some have the audacity to blame the present Attorney-General for his exposition of the law! Pray, who is he that he dare to expound the English language. Others blame the American Minister; for the lands sake, scap goat next! The English language as "as she is wrote and spoke," is plainly enough expounded in Johnstone and Webster, and for those who have been foolish enough to barter away citizenship for nothing, let them turn to the dictionary and see what allegiance means. It is perhaps well that Secretary Gresham has decided as he has, because it will set men thinking. His decision has practically disfranchised nearly all in this country, who claim American citizenship, and it will be a lesson to all those filibustering Americans (?) who have the impudence to flaunt "Old Glory" in the face of other folk.
