ADMIRAL MEADE RETIRED.

Washington, D. C., May 20.—The President has signed an order directing Admiral Meade to be retired.

Admiral Meade's application for retirement was made to the Secretary of the Navy May 9, and by him forwarded to the President, who today returned it to the Navy Department with this indorsement:

The within recommendation is approved, and Rear Admiral Richard W. Meade is hereby retired from active service in the navy, pursuant to Section 1433 of the Revised Statutes. The President regrets exceedingly that the long active service of this officer, so brilliant in its early stages, and so often marked by honorable incidents, should at its close, be tarnished by conduct at variance with his commendable career and inconsistent with the example which an officer of his high rank should furnish of submission to restraints and of a wholesome discipline and manifest property.

Our Graves.

To day is the Memorial Day, on which, according to custom, we decorate the graves of the friends who departed ahead of us and who now have solved the great mystery. Many have left us during the past year. Many will follow during the next. But let all the kamaainas give one thought, one flower and, aye, even one tear to the two graves which cover the earthly remains of the two men murdered, we use the word advisedly, during the late alleged revolution.

Charles Lunt Carter is dead. Arthur P. Peterson lies in the same soil. Both were men entitled to the friendship and the respect of their fellow-citizens. One died in his misguided but well-meant attempt at serving his government. Charles Carter was killed when he thought that he was doing his duty in helping the Republic of Hawaii.

Arthur Peterson was killed by the men who through persecution and ill-treatment thought their political enemies would be finally intimidated and utterly suppressed. Both are entitled to the memorial sympathy of the people. Both graves will be covered with flowers today.

We will say no more on this sacred day. We will simply ask our readers to join us in giving one thought to the sacrifice of the lives of these two brilliant lights of Hawaii's present generation. Pax Vobiscum.

ANNEXATION.

Mr. Thurston Says He Never Favored Restoration of the Monarchy.

MINISTERS HATCH AND SMITH TRUE BLUES, FOR THEY THEMSELVES HAVE SAID IT.

According to much published announcements there was an open meeting of the American League last night for the purpose of hearing Lorrin A. Thurston, ex-Minister of Hawaii at Washington, speak on annexation.

D. B. Smith of the Advisory Council, was in the chair, supported by T. B. Murray, president of the League. When Mr. Thurston began his speech, there were seventy people in the hall, and the number swelled to one hundred and twenty before he had proceeded far with his speech.

Mr. Thurston opened with a reference to reports that he favored a restoration of the monarchy, with Princess Kaiulani on the throne. He said he had no idea how such reports had originated, as he had given no reason to anybody for them. He had nothing but respect for that young lady [Princess Kaiulani], who had been placed in an unfortunate position through no fault of her own. At the proper time he would advocate a suitable allowance from the treasury for the proper maintenance of her rank. His opinion on the restoration of the monarchy was expressed in the utterance of Senator Morgan, when he said that when a throne fell in the western hemisphere its fall was irretrievable. Mr. Thurston went on to make a strong plea for the effecting of a common understanding between republicans and royalists in behalf of the best interests of the community. Unity was absolutely essential to confidence in the peace and prosperity of the republic. He was not a pessimist, but saw a brilliant future for this beautiful country. There was not much probability of a successful insurrection, yet the continued rumors of trouble were very damaging to the welfare of the country. He referred to the question as between an independent government and union with the United States. Mr. Claus Spreckels favored independence simply because he could make more out of sugar with contract labor than without. For his part he would prefer a little less money and more peace. The Government had held its own for two years, holding its breath as every mail brought news that the American League was going to overthrow the Republic. Charles Nordhoff and Claus Spreckels had come here to proclaim the impending ruin and bankruptcy of the Provisional Government, but they had vanished from the scene and nobody was left to take up the refrain but poor little Captain Julius Palmer, who was unwise enough to proclaim his mission from the housetops. When the American flag was hoisted over this country all that would be wanted here was a man to hoist it in the morning and take it in out of the weather at night. (Applause.) With that flag over our heads there would be no more necessity for citizens having as part of their household equipment a rifle and fifty rounds of cart ridges. (Applause.)

Another reason why he was in favor of annexation was that he preferred western to eastern civilization. Under an independent government there was no question that the owners of the main industry of the country—the sugar planters—would sustain cheap contract labor for their own protection. Although he owed all he possessed to that industry, and admitting that the planters had been the mainstay of our civilization, and had given such assistance to the present form of government without which they would never have held the advanced position they now did, he preferred to take his chances with having the islands part of the United States. It was generally believed before the war between the North and South that the South could never maintain its industries without free slave labor. The result of the abolition of slavery had, however, been that the South had advanced in wealth and prosperity with more rapid progress than ever before under slave labor. The term of our reciprocity treaty was now expired, and the treaty might be abrogated at a year's notice by either nation. Under an independent government, it had been proved, the planters controlled the government even when it was in the hands of the enemies of the planters. Under annexation the country would at one stroke be relieved from the greatest obstacle to freedom of popular government and he did not believe that it would suffer in prosperity. They would have all the protection to their industry that the tariff of the United States would afford. In conclusion he would summarize the reason why he was an annexationist. It was that to a greater extent than under any other system of government these islands would have an assurance of peace and prosperity. (Applause.)

Chairman D. B. Smith remarked that Mr. Thurston's remarks were a sufficient answer to the slanders that had been circulated about town that Mr. Thurston was in favor of restoration of the monarchy.

W. N. Armstrong was the next speaker. He argued that the representatives of American civilization here had the right to overturn the monarchy because it was, from the nature of the ancient native rule, repressive. It was not impossible that the enemies of the republic might start revolutions. Those events came suddenly. It was so in the case of the American rebellion, and it was so in the case of their little revolt here. They should do some missionary work, and what he would advise was the bringing in of United States farmers. Hitherto the lands had been locked up, but there were lands for thousands of American small farmers. A hundred years from now there might be read on a tombstone the inscription: "Sacred to the memory of T. B. Murray, a missionary who devoted his life to the cause of American civilization." (Loud laughter and applause.)

Mr. Armstrong concluded with an extension of his argument of the feasibility of making a conquest of the islands by the importation of Americans.

F. M. Hatch was called upon by the chairman to give the Government's views on annexation. He spoke substantially as follows: The only answer that any member of the Government can make to the question of the chairman, as to the attitude of the Government, is that they continue to keep office. Everybody in this community knows that annexation is the corner stone—in fact the whole edifice itself—of the Government of the republic. And if any man who sustains this proposition remains in office he furnishes a sufficient answer. If the Government depart from this position, there would soon be a new Government and a new head to the Government. (Applause.) I am an American, or at least was until I became a Hawaiian; I cannot help it because I was born so. (Laughter and applause.) It is perhaps unavoidable that there should be rumors of attempts to restore the monarchy—of dissensions in the Ministry. The wish is father to the thought. This community is in a position of waiting and must remain in that position for a year or more. It is a very severe test. That the Government had stood it, that the community had stood it, is the best testimony that can be given of the stability of the Government, and that gives the greatest comfort to our friends abroad. The Government has stood firmly without the slightest encouragement from the Government of that nation that has been regarded as the best friend of this country. In fact that Government has turned its eyes another way. At the end of this period of trial we shall stand immeasurably stronger. Instead of being regarded as supplicants for charity we may be expected to be considered of some value as part and parcel of the American Union.

W. O. Smith, Attorney General, was called upon to explain a report that he had told John Richardson that he was opposed to annexation. When the Government gives up the policy of annexation I will get out of it. In the proclamation there was the term "political union," in the Constitution the term "political union" was used. As I have said more than once, the more they showed how well they could stand by themselves the more they would be in a position of the party of the other part in the contract, and the more stable would be their position. We deplore the fact that there is only one industry, that the sugar planters were in favor of contract labor. We do not have industries to attract small farmers because we do not have a market, but when we get free trade with the United States there will be a market for all that we can produce. It grieves me when I go around these islands—where you all know I was born—to see the lack of small industries. It is not the planting industry that is hurting this country; without the sugar industry there would be nothing here. The provision of a market for diversified industries would put the country above all the difficulties of the labor question. Let the country be strengthened. Let there be an influx of citizens from America, and it will be prosperous. Until we have close and permanent relations with the United States we will never be free from the danger of being overwhelmed with Asiatics. We owe a great deal to the sugar industry, and it is not because we are inimical to it, but because with only one industry there never will be the conditions of general prosperity, the Government is in favor of annexation. We will never get these advantages of a permanent market without what is called political union or annexation. These islands are my home and if it was not for the hope of annexation I would be inclined to let everything go. These have been trying times to the native Hawaiians, to ourselves, and to our wives and children. This waiting time is a trying time and it is the duty of all to hang on with bulldog tenacity until our cause reaches its consummation.

Chairman Smith thanked the speakers of the evening and dismissed the meeting with a cordial goodnight.

"20" is the number most frequently called over the telephone wires. It rings up the UNITED CARRIAGE COMPANY'S stand, where Superior Hacks with safe and courteous drivers, are always to be found. A complete livery outfit, including buggies and waggons, furnished at the shortest notice.

It was a great pleasure to the kamaainas to see 'Jack' Mehtens around again yesterday. Jack has had a narrow escape in his fight with the grippe, but between his own stubbornness and Captain Tripp he avoided Mr. Williams this time. "Hopp" along, old fellow.

Chairman Smith thanked the speakers of the evening and dismissed the meeting with a cordial goodnight.

It was a great pleasure to the kamaainas to see 'Jack' Mehtens around again yesterday. Jack has had a narrow escape in his fight with the grippe, but between his own stubbornness and Captain Tripp he avoided Mr. Williams this time. "Hopp" along, old fellow.

Economy is the watch word. Government and private concerns alike are interested in solving financial questions. The killing of the Income Tax in the United States has been a surprise party to many people, but at the same time it has not been an unpleasant surprise to the majority. We realize of course that the Cleveland administration will now have its hands full and we equally are aware of the difficulties of the republic of Hawaii. If the INDEPENDENT can be believed the government is running behind every day. No government can afford to do without the tax-payers being ready and willing to back it up and on the alert to dig up the necessary wherewiths and wherfors. To meet the times we have exerted ourselves and we have found a "baby" that will beat anything in its line. This "baby" is a sewing machine and it ranks with the smartest "babies" in the world. You can sew anything on it and do it just as well as on a patent—steam—foot—tramping machine. The "Baby" goes by hand and it fills the ticket every time. To meet the hard times we have reduced the price of this infant "sewer" and we sell it at $3.50 a piece. Three dollars and a-half doesn't buy a "baby" every day and hardly a government bond, but our sewing machine is there for that small amount.

We can also recommend a whistle to you. It is called the Develine Whistle and a devil of a whistle it is. It sounds like a siren and it makes noise enough to scare away Thomas Square hopdums or even mounted police horses. Our Seymour's trimmers are the shears called for by every household. They are sharp, cutting and irresistible. Once used never forgotten—especially if used for scalping purposes. In all the articles we have mentioned to-day, we have been dominated by a sense of economy. We know that taxes will go up and for the sake of our customers prices will have to go down. Now Whistle or Trim Sey-more the Baby.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Decides to Get More of Dr. Goto's Medicines.

CHARGES AGAINST A GOVERNMENT PHYSICIAN.

The weekly meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon. Present: W. O. Smith, president; Drs. Emerson, Wood, Day and Raymond, T. F. Lansing, C. B. Reynolds, agent, Charles Wilcox, secretary.

The report of Dr. W. T. Mon-sarran, veterinary surgeon, on the slaughter houses for two weeks was read. It showed a large proportion of heaves and calves infected with liver fluke. All of the sheep killed were healthy. As inspector under the Act to Milligate the same gentleman reported 57 examinations.

The quarterly report of the Honolulu dispensary by Dr. Howard was presented. There had been 800 calls less than the previous quarter. This was explained to have been due to a falling off during martial law.

Official letters from R. W. Meyer, superintendent of the leper settlement, were read. They contained details of no special interest to the public. The Board gave decisions on some of the questions submitted. One applicant for a favor, forwarded through Chief Justice Judd, put the following salutation before his signature: "Yours truly. Love one another with a holy kiss. In God we trust." He wanted to visit a friend in Kalaupapa, but his desire was refused.

Dr. Armitage inquired if the port physician at Kahului had authority to board steamers. He had boarded the steamer Kahului, but his charges had been refused on the ground that the pilot was the agent of the Board.

It was decided that he be answered that, while the pilot would act in the case of sailing vessels, the port physician should board passenger steamers and receive his fee therefor.

F. S. Dodge wrote calling attention to a public nuisance, in the shape of a stagnant pool, on the line of a road at old Waikiki. It was the sense of the Board that the matter was one to be remedied by the road supervisor, and Mr. Reynolds will see Mr. Dodge and explain the law in such cases.

The president submitted the question of making the term of the contract for supplying the leper settlement with poi three years instead of two. It had been represented that it would be an advantage to the Board to have a longer term, as well as to the natives and Chinese who raised the poi for the contractor.

Dr. Wood and Mr. Lansing would favor the change if it was likely to result in a lower price. It was decided to advertise for the supply by different tenders for two, three and four years.

In the matter of the salary of the superintendent of the experimental station at Kalibi, it was suggested to give him the option of $75 a month and rations or $100 and board himself.

Mr. Reynolds incidentally remarked that the telephone service both at the receiving and the quarantine stations was poor. Good instrument had been replaced by inferior.

Dr. Emerson moved that the superintendent be given the alternative as suggested.

President Smith spoke of the pay of police in comparison. A man in such a situation as the one in question would save more money than a man on the same salary outside.

Dr. Wood said the superintendent was able-bodied and capable of doing hard work. In answer to a question from the chair, he thought the salary might be $100 and the same rations as those served to helpers.

Mr. Lansing suggested that the superintendent be seen by Mr. Reynolds and asked what the committee had suggested to him, as no copy of their letter had been kept.

This was adopted. President Smith reported that there had been strong representations made, on the visit of the Board to Molokai, in favor of continuing the supply of Dr. Goto's medicines. Dr. Oliver said that the treatment was beneficial when properly administered. The Mother Superior said that, while it might not be certain that cures were effected, the treatment had undoubtedly benefited the girls in the home. He thought a further supply of the medicines ought to be obtained.

It was decided to order a fresh supply by Saturday's steamer. In the same connection, with regard to the hot baths required, Mr. Lansing said the fuel question would before long be serious.

President Smith presented a petition from 185 natives at Wailuku, praying for the removal of Dr. Edward Armitage from the position of Government physician. They charged that he refused to treat poor Hawaiians without pay, that he refused to admit them to the hospital, that he declined to visit their homes without being paid, and that he rebuffed them when they applied to him for medicine without money.

The petitioners said they could substantiate all the charges, and the letter enclosing the petition said the number of signatures was small owing to shortness of time in circulating the petition.

Dr. Day read a letter from Dr. Armitage, stating that while he was absent at Honolulu petitions were circulated preferring charges against him. He wished to deny all the charges, saying the hospital records and his note books were all the refutation he desired to submit.

President Smith said that Judge Kalua, when in town lately, had told him of the dissatisfaction existing. The president told him that the people had the right of petition to state their grievances, and when they exercised that right the Board would be bound to make an investigation.

Dr. Day referred to a previous charge that a woman died who had been refused attendance by the doctor. It proved that the reason for non-attendance was that the husband of the woman had not asked the doctor to attend her.

The president in answer to a question said he expected to attend the Circuit Court at Wailuku next week, and when there would inquire further into the matter.

Dr. Wood said the petitioners stated that they could prove their charges, and he thought the evidence certainly should be obtained. He had himself been the subject of similar charges, which had proved on investigation to be utterly groundless.

After further discussion it was moved that the receipt of the petition be acknowledged, and the petitioners be informed that the Board was prepared to receive their affidavits.

Dr. Wood remarked on the statements in the letter that the petitions were got up hastily and that evidence could be furnished. He asked why was there haste, and why had not the evidence been furnished.

Remarks by members on what they knew of the situation at Wailuku, past and present, are not reported here for fear they might prejudice the investigation.

The motion was amended to have the petitioners asked to furnish specifications of their charges.

The request of Ambrose Hutchinson, resident manager of the leper settlement, for an office building, in which the magistrate could also hold court, and for a small storehouse, was considered. It was agreed that Superintendent Meyer should be consulted, and on his approval the material should be forwarded by Mr. Reynolds. The building should be about 35ft. x 15ft., with a front veranda.

Mr. Reynolds brought up the old matter of having a forester at the settlement, to look after the planting of trees and flowers.

It was deplored that so little attention was paid to this kind of work at the settlement. Mr. Reynolds was instructed to write to Mr. Meyer and state that the Board authorized the appointment of one of the inmates as forester.

The Board was in session more than two hours when it adjourned at 5:20.

ON THE STAGE.

Hawaii the Subject for A Farce.

It was of course well understood that we couldn't get along as we did without being made fun of and used for a burlesque, and it seems that the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club has succeeded in "doing" Hawaii in a grand shape during this month at the Marquam Grand Opera House at Portland, Oregon. The burlesque is called "The Hawaiian King pro tem," and the tunes and songs are now being whistled and sung, ground out of hand organs and hammered on every piano from New York to the Golden Gate, from Portland to Florida.

Hawaii on the stage has evidently been more of a success than Hawaii as a doleful republic. The following song, which has especially taken the fancy of the whistling of the street urchin, ought to be sufficient to insure the success of the play. By and by we will offer a prize to the most correct interpreter of this Hawaiian Marching Song:

A ho-ko po-ko an a ar lar la-re, A ho-ko chance po-ni-a-ka hi-a, Kiss me, my darling little Houla-houla girl, A ho-ko chance po-ni-a-ka hi-a.

A-to-ha-oe, A-to-ha-oe, E ke o ke-o ke-na ho-i-ho, I found embrace my Houla-houla girl, Until we meet again.

Hawa-ii Po-no-i Na-na-i Kou-mo-i, Ka-lani-ka-ka-i Ke-a-i-i, Ma-ku-a la-ni e Ka-me-ha-me-ha e, Na-ka-ua o-pa-le Me Ka-i-ke.

Gresham's Letter To Willis.

Why Thurston was Kicked Out.

Department of State.
Washington (D. C.),
February 21, 1895.

Sir: I regret to be constrained to bring to your attention, and through you to the knowledge of the Hawaiian Government, certain acts of its representative in the United States of which this Government has just ground to complain. In order to set forth the facts with desirable clearness, it becomes necessary to relate fully what occurred at two interviews which I had with Mr. Thurston at this department on the 16th and 18th insts.

The recent seizure of a ship at San Diego, Cal., for alleged violation of our neutrality laws, in carrying arms to Hawaii, was the occasion of his first call. After a brief conversation on this subject I took occasion to remark that I had information that he was not pleased with our action in connection with the recent events at Honolulu. Mr. Thurston desired to know why that view was entertained here, whereupon I handed him a clipping from a New York paper of the 13th inst., of which a full copy is hereto appended. After he had read this article I asked him if he had furnished the matter to the paper for publication. He at once said that he had furnished the paragraph which he pointed out. (Here follows the paragraph which is referred to.)

I then desired to know if Mr. Thurston had also furnished the paper the concluding paragraphs, purporting to be extracts from a letter written by "a prominent man in Honolulu." (Here follow the extracts referred to.) Mr. Thurston answered that he had furnished nothing to that or any other paper, but he had permitted an employe or agent of one of the press associations to copy at his Legation a private letter or letters which he had received, and added that the published paragraph did not contain all that was in the private letter or letters. I thereupon said that I was aware this was so, and I knew the private letter or letters did not appear in full in the last paragraphs printed.

Handing him a typewritten paper, I asked if the omitted parts were not contained in the following passage: "There is intense feeling being manifested by the people at what is looked upon as Mr. Willis' unwarranted interference in connection with the present trials. He is doing everything that he can to protect the Royalists and harass the Government. Many of our best men feel it imperative for our future safety that some examples should be made. While the Government is master of the situation for the present, the danger is not entirely over. Much indignation is also felt at the fact that although direct information was given to Minister Willis last November, before the shipment of arms was made at San Francisco, that such a shipment was intended, nothing appears to have been done to stop the shipment. It is felt that the Hawaiian Government has strong ground for complaint against the United States Government on the score of its indifference, if not at its active conniving at this flagrant breach of neutrality. Whether or not the Hawaiian Government will make a claim by reason of the breach of the neutrality laws it is not yet known, but there is a strong feeling here that it should be done."

"The action of Mr. Hawes, the British representative, is in marked contrast to that of Mr. Willis. An analysis of the growth of feeling and facts leading to the insurrection showed that it is based almost wholly on the encouragement given to the Royalists by President Cleveland and his announced and constantly reiterated opinion that the Queen ought to be restored and a feeling which, rightly or wrongly, was disseminated throughout the Royalist sympathizers that, upon the slightest opportunity, Cleveland would take occasion to assist the Royalists if they could get control to a sufficient extent to give him an excuse for so doing."

Another letter received here says: "The most serious feature is the attitude of Willis and Hawes. They are in constant attendance at the trials. Neumann, the attorney defending the insurrection, is constantly in close consultation with them."

Having read this paper, and after some apparent hesitation, Mr. Thurston said he did not know what right I had to interrogate him. I replied that he had already admitted that he had allowed the published matter to be copied from letters at his legation, but that the publication was in full and I did not suppose that he would deny that the papers showed him contained a correct copy of the omitted parts. He said that the letters containing the omitted passages were submitted by him to the representative of the Press Association to be copied for publication, not as expressing his official or personal views, but as showing the state of feeling in Honolulu.

I then remarked that all I desired to know was whether he did not furnish the matter for publication, and he replied that he had not furnished it in his representative capacity or as expressing his personal views, but merely as information, and in doing so it was not his purpose to injure the Administration, the President or Mr. Willis. I remarked that he had permitted the letters, including the omitted parts, to be copied for publication and that he, no doubt, was disappointed that the omitted parts did not appear, and I asked him if he thought he could with propriety, as the representative of a foreign government at this capital, furnish newspapers with such matter. His reply was that he had simply furnished it as news or information which the public might like to hear from Honolulu, and that Senator Kyle had received a letter even more severe in its terms which had been given to the public, to which I rejoined that Senator Kyle was a citizen of the United States, and as such might say and do things which a foreign Minister could not say and do with propriety.

Here the interview ended. When Mr. Thurston called at the department two days later he informed me that there was a further statement he desired to make. After being told that if he wished to say anything more on the subject it should be in writing, he at once proceeded: "I simply desire to say, Mr. Secretary, that I realize I was guilty of official impropriety in furnishing for publication the matter mentioned in our former interview. I did not realize it at the time, but do now. I regret what I did and apologize for it."

I replied that, in order to avoid any possible misunderstanding, the Minister's statement should be in official form and requested that he prepare and submit such a communication. He declined to do this, saying he did not feel called upon to make a written apology and that he would trust to my fairness in reducing to writing what he had said.

You are instructed to make this incident known to the Minister of Foreign Affairs by reading this instrument to him, and should be so desire, giving him a copy. You will express the surprise and dissatisfaction with which the Government naturally regards the conduct of a foreign envoy who thus uses his influence through the press to bias public opinion in a country whose hospitality he enjoys, and you will add that the President would be pleased were Mr. Thurston replaced by another Minister from Hawaii, in whom he may feel that confidence which is essential to frank and cordial intercourse.

I am, sir, your obedient servant.
