ALONG THE WATER FRONT. How Some Sailors Feel on the "Crimp" Business. TURNED AWAY FROM SAILORS HOME. FED AND HOUSED BY THE MUCH ABUSED SHIPPING MASTERS. The Newsboy Arrives—Mille Morris Floated—Iwalani Layed Up. Tom Manson, Captain—Notes.

A group of sailors discussing the state of affairs was congregated on the corner of Queen and Nuuanu streets yesterday. They were talking of the so-called sailors' home, which is run by Captain Bray under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. of this city. Three of the men were telling of their being refused admission because they had no money, and a fourth, although he had a little money, was refused because, as he says, he had not enough to pay more than a week's board and lodging. It seems that the three men, who are penniless, had made application to the Joyful News Mission to Mr. J. Leslie McComb, the evangelist, who is working for the welfare of sailors, and had been refused all but spiritual aid. Hearing of the boarding house kept by the much-abused Lewis & Turk, they went there and were given accommodation. Joseph Hancock, a sailor, made the following remarks about the treatment of sailors in this town: On Sunday morning he was sitting on a doorstep on Nuuanu street. A lady approached and asked him to go to a revival meeting that was being held for sailors up the street some place. The man remarked that he was hardly in a condition to go to religious services, as for two days he had had nothing to eat and religion would not set well on an empty stomach. The lady asked him if he was really hungry, and when he repeated that he had not eaten for two days, the lady said she was sorry and walked away. The three men, who were refused admission to the Sailors' Home because they had no money, and are now at the house kept by Lewis & Turk are Joseph Hancock, Frank McKenna and Joseph Pierce. Michael Blake was the man sent away because he did not have money enough. Said Frank McKenna: "There is no town in the world where people pretend to be doing so much for the sailor and really do so little. Here you have a sailor's home that is filled with landmen, a seaman's club that is shut during the day and opened at night for religious services, and a joyful news mission, where it doesn't cost anything to hear a sermon. For a destitute sailor or the only thing that is free among the many institutions run for the betterment of sailors is salvation. Salvation is all right for an empty soul, but it don't fill an empty stomach. "If a man begs, he is a vagrant and is arrested. He is told that only salvation is dispensed at missions and the like. This man McComb is holding forth against the crimps; he berates them well and gets himself in the papers as a friend of the poor sailorman, while, at the same time, these two land sharks, crimps, robbers and blood-suckers, are the only men in this town who would give me and my companions food and shelter. "When a man is destitute and has no place to go he is in a pretty bad fix. Being taken into a private place, kept by men who make a business of shipping sailors, is what we can find all over the Coast. Lewis & Turk, knowing we had not a cent, took us in and are going to get us a ship. They did not ask us for a cent and will not get any money from us, as it is against the law for a ship to advance money to sailors. If the captain of a ship wanting men chooses to pay Lewis & Turk for finding men for him, it is nothing out of our pocket. That is the captain's loss. Lewis & Turk are running their boarding house in connection with their business. They are housing and feeding ten penniless sailors now at their own expense, hoping to make it up from captains wanting men. "Said Oscar Lewis yesterday: "Turk and I would like to have a committee of reputable men in this town appointed to examine into our characters and the character and past life of McComb, who is so hot after us at present. We are willing to abide by their decision; and, if we have ever done anything worse than he has, we will quit the business and leave the shipping of sailors to the water-front police and Sailors' Home kept by Captain Bray."

the lagoon at Koolau, has been floated and patched preparatory to being brought here. ALONG THE WHARVES. The Italian ship Elisa sails for Portland, Or. this morning in ballast. She will load wheat at Portland for the United Kingdom. The bark Olympe will sail to-day for the Sound. She takes a cargo of empty casks and bottles. The little schooner Blanche and Ella, which started for Kaalawai last evening, put back into the harbor about dusk. It was very rough outside and the captain preferred waiting for daylight to make the trip around Diamond Head. With a good wind the schooner Golden Gate raced up the harbor from Molokai last evening, making the Wilder wharf like a steamer. Captain Palis handles the little vessel very cleverly. She left Kaunakakai at 10 o'clock yesterday with a cargo of coal. Captain Tom Mason, long known as a capable man in the handling of island schooners, has succeeded Captain Kewelo in command of the Alice Kimball. The steamers Waialeale and Helene are expected to-day. ARRIVALS. Wednesday, July 25. Am. bktn: Newsboy, from Port Townsend, with cargo of lumber for Allen & Robinson. Smr. The President. (From the Scranton (Pa.) Truth.) Our excellent contemporary, the Washington Star, calls attention to an agreeable and interesting feature of the closing scenes of Congress, namely, the cordiality with which members of all parties express their regard for the President. It is certainly pleasant to contemplate the friendly personal relations existing between President McKinley and the people's representatives. His exalted office entitles the President of the United States to the respect of all his fellow citizens, but in addition to this, it is gratifying to note the tact and courtesy with which President McKinley has commended himself to the esteem and friendly consideration even of those statesmen who are strenuously opposed to him in politics.

WHITE ROSE FLOUR

A Minister's Good Work.

"I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power, of Emporia, Kan. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor. He used them for three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off so long that it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he said, 'No.' I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose; told him to take another dose in fifteen or twenty minutes if he did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured. I think it the best medicine I have ever tried." For sale by all dealers and druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., general agents, Hawaiian Territory.

MOLOKAI AND ITS INDIVIDUAL HOMES.

Government's Efforts to Make Surroundings Pleasant.

PROGRESS IN FRUIT GROWING.

FINE YOUNG ORANGE TREES IN GROUNDS OF BISHOP HOME.

An Example in Cultivation of Various Fruits That Might be Adopted Elsewhere in the Territory.

While segregation from family and friends for those afflicted with the dread scourge of leprosy may seem severe, it is undoubtedly the only means known to prevent the spread of the disease. At Molokai the government of Hawaii has made every effort to make life in the leper settlement as pleasant as possible for the inmates.

Molokai is not a "home" as such places for people of incurable complaints are generally known. Nor is it a "hospital" in the sense that the word is commonly used. There are no barracks or wards for the inmates excepting at the Bishop home for girls and the Baldwin home for boys, and in these institutions there is no crowding into large wards or barracks. The wards are all small, none of them containing over eight beds, and every room is kept as clean as human energy can keep it.

The Molokai settlement is conducted as a series of homes. Those confined there owing to their disease are given the free run of the large grounds, containing several thousand acres. For each inmate or family a cottage with ample grounds is allotted, and the extent to which the people take advantage of these favorable conditions is shown by the fact that there are over six hundred houses in the settlement for the 988 inmates, over two hundred of whom are in the Bishop and Baldwin homes. In other words, there are three cottages for every four lepers in the settlement.

Amusements in the way of a brass band are afforded for all, while at the Bishop home there is a piano and organ on which the girls are allowed to play, and little musical parties are held almost every day. The piano was donated by charitable people of this city a year ago, after the need of one was pointed out by the press. The Sister Superior of the home said last Saturday that she would be much pleased to have some charitable person or society send over a stereopticon lantern and slides, so that entertainments for the girls could be given. She believed a good instrument with a number of slides would not only afford entertainment, but prove very instructive.

Many of the girls work in the garden, and the roses and young fruit trees looked healthy and vigorous, while some garden vegetables are produced.

Over at the Baldwin Home Brother Dutton and his boys have a fine garden in the rear of the buildings. In this garden they showed me some of the nicest garden vegetables I have seen in the islands, while their Avocado pears, bananas, pineapples, mangoes, guavas and pomgranates were enough to make one hungry to look at. In the schoolroom the boys are given instruction in the catechism and in ordinary school work. They are instructed in doing little jobs about the home, and some of them are learning to do the cooking, since the new cook house was put in by Mr. Baldwin.

Brother Dutton has a phonograph, and once a week he gathers his boys into the schoolroom and affords them a treat listening to the machine that talks. The various private cottages over the settlement show wonderful improvement since the adoption of the plan of offering prizes for the best-kept grounds and for the most energy displayed in tree planting.

In this connection the settlement at Molokai shows what can be done in Hawaii in the matter of fruit raising and in diversified farming. At the superintendent's residence the first thing to attract the writer's attention were some big, healthy rose bushes and two thrifty young orange trees, one on each side of the steps. Until very recently the Japanese beetle was unknown at Molokai, and roses were grown in profusion. Lately, however, visitors have carried the larvae of the beetle to the settlement in their leis, and the result is already noticeable on the rose bushes.

But notwithstanding this there is a Princess Clothilde rose tree in front of Superintendent Reynolds' house that is the largest tree of this variety of rose I have ever seen any place. There are bushes of Marchel Neil and Meteor roses in the yard and half a dozen varieties of beautiful roses over in the yard of the Bishop Home.

The young orange trees in the settlement look as thrifty as any I ever saw in the orange-growing districts of California or Arizona, and show a much larger growth for their age than trees do in either of those sections. The Sister Superior of the Bishop Home called my attention to four Japanese orange trees that were bending down with their weight of fruit. These trees are but four years old. A seedling orange tree in another part of the yard, three years old, contained over two dozen oranges, one small twig having a group of four half-grown oranges hanging to it.

A tree of strawberry guavas was laden with fruit, while the Avocado pears, lemons, limes and peaches were all thrifty and showed remarkable quantities of fruit for their age. The pomgranates were as fine as any I ever saw in Mexico or Central America and cannot be beaten anywhere in the world. Figs bear three or four crops a year of the most delicious fruit.

These experiments in fruit-growing at Molokai, in a small way, demonstrate that fruit-growing in Hawaii can be made not alone a success, but a most profitable industry, if people will but turn their attention to it. If oranges, lemons, limes, peaches, pomgranates, guavas, Avocado pears, bananas, pineapples, mangoes, papayas and other tropical and semi-tropical fruits can be grown successfully in the leper settlement at Molokai, there is surely no good reason why they cannot be successfully grown in every island in the Territory.

Incapacity, Unteachableness and Untrustworthiness.

(From the New York World (Dem.)
The platform says that imperialism is "the paramount issue." Mr. Bryan in his signed statement by telegraph to the World urges that imperialism is "paramount." Mr. Hill in his signed statement to the World hopes that the voters will see that imperialism is really "paramount." But will the two or three thousand words devoted to imperialism and the two or three dozen words devoted to the demand for 16 to 1 determine the question of paramountcy in the minds of the voters? And even if they do not regard this preposterous demand for bad money as a menace, will they not regard it as an advertisement of the incapacity and unteachableness, and therefore untrustworthiness, of the leadership that such a demand at such a crucial time, and makes it in face of the overwhelming sentiment of that part of the convention which was most entitled to consideration in platform making?

IRASCIBILITIES OF EVERYONE AROUSED.
Something About a Court Case Drawn Out.
REPORTERS BADLY DISCOINTEGRATED.
WRAY TAYLOR FLEES COURT-HOUSE AND RETURNS TO HIS ORGAN.
Thayer Becomes Profane and Threatens to Adopt the Coat—Interesting Court Notes.

Is there no end to the two I's case? The II estate matter has aroused the irascibilities of every reporter on the detail.
 Dan Logan, the nestor of the press, has become weary; Thayer, vigilant and alert, says: "Oh, Thunder!" Testa threatens to wear a coat, and the writer of these lines—well, well, boys; he's not an angel.
 Of the many ubiquitous reporters, including Wray Taylor, that pass in and out of the courthouse, not one knows about the two I's. There isn't a clerk that knows anything about the two I's.
 The I's, like a summer breeze, drifted into the courthouse a few weeks ago. No man knoweth whence they cometh or whither they goeth. And those confounded I's have been in the courthouse ever since. If you enter the house of justice they buzz about you; if you pass up the stairs they attend you; if you approach a chamber they are there; if you enter the courtroom, they are found.
 Of all the pestiferous cases of litigation that ever confronted a reporter, confounded a writer, who, like Saul of Tarsus, sought the light, the two I's are the worst.
 The I's were wanted into the courthouse with the probing of the Judd will.
 The most intelligent man in the courthouse, if you ask him, can't tell you a thing about them. They came; they are there, and there they will remain forever, or until the courthouse is eaten away by worms, corroded by time or razed by a tidal wave.
 There is nothing fabulous about the two I's. Here is the court record:
 "In the case of the John H. Estate, Limited, vs. A. B. Judd, attorneys ask for a reopening of the case."
 "How appalling! Attorneys ask for a reopening of the case! The attorneys may get a reopening of the case, but never in these columns. The two I's are forever extinguished, collectively or separately, as a news item in the Republican."
 Beats and scraps in connection with the case may appear in other papers, but the writer, like Pilate, washes his hands of the litigation.
 The defendant in the Mace Bonville vs. The Orpheum Company case has given notice of its intention to rely upon the defense of release and payment.
 The defendant in the case of Rosamond Naylor vs. The Orpheum Company, Limited, has given notice of its intention to rely upon the defense of release and payment.
 Helen A. Holt, by order of Judge Humphreys, is appointed guardian of her children.
 Petition for the probate of the will of Sarah Katherine Gray has been filed. She left an estate valued at $3,364.85.
 In the matter of the guardianship of Malaka Moolau and Kealo Moolau, minors, Thomas Murray, has filed a petition to be appointed guardian of the children.
 The defendant in the case of Kapiolani Estate, Limited, vs. E. Peck & Co., Limited, gives notice that he intends to set up by way of defense the statute of limitations.
 Kinney, Ballou & McClanahan for defendants in Thomas Milner Harrison vs. J. A. Magoon et al. have filed a motion setting forth that Judge Humphreys is not qualified to sit in the cause because of his affinity within three degrees to Magoon. They want the cause transferred for hearing before some other judge. The motion is based on the affidavit of defendant Magoon.
 Attorneys W. R. Castle and P. L. Weaver have filed an answer in the case of Kapiolani Estate, Limited, vs. L. A. Thurston, which, besides a general denial, sets up the defense of the statute of limitations, illegality and fraud.

PLENTY OF WATER FOR CITY CONSUMERS.
New Palama Pump Will Be In Operation In About Thirty Days—
Electric Light Power.
"There's plenty of water up the Valley," said Capt. Pratt, at the water works department, yesterday, "to keep everything going until the Palama pump will be set in motion."
"That will be in about thirty days, I think, as the machinery is all on the ground and the foundations are ready to receive it. The new pump will lift about five million gallons of water a day; the Beretania pump supplies 3,000,000 gallons a day."
"Will this insure light to the city? Oh, that's another matter, with which we have nothing to do. The electric light plant is fed from No. 2 reservoir. The city supply is drawn from No. 1 reservoir. Any mishaps to No. 2 reservoir, such as the breaking of the mains by blasting or from other causes, will interfere with the electric plant, though it will have no effect on the city water supply."
"Yes," continued Capt. Pratt, "the water in the new Palama wells is very good and the analyses which have been made are perfectly satisfactory. The quality of the water is not quite as good as that from the Beretania street wells, but as of a superior quality."

Again Committed to Heresy.
(From the Baltimore Herald (Dem.))
The Democratic party of 1900 has again committed itself to the free silver heresy upon which it was beaten in 1896. It is exceedingly questionable as to whether a formidable number of voters can be brought to look upon the nation's present policy of commercial expansion as a monstrous species of "imperialism." Therefore the logical question is as to whether the Democracy can succeed upon an issue on which they were vanquished four years ago by over 600,000 popular majority, and in which majority were numbered tens of thousands of sound money Democrats.
The President's Champion.
(From the New York Times (Ind.)).
For what he is and believes and for what he would do Bryan deserves and will encounter a terrible defeat. For his record and his achievements, for the qualities of character that make him an eminently safe President, for the prosperity of the nation, for its continued maintenance of the position it has taken among the nations of the earth during his administration, Mr. McKinley deserves and will receive a vote of renewed confidence and a reelection to the office he has well administered.
The Times will use its influence to bring about that result.
The Honolulu Republican will be dedicated to any part of the city for 75c per month or $2 per quarter.
Getting up a concert is a sound undertaking.
A soft corn is nearly always a hard thing to bear.

JEWS IN SCHOOLS AND THE COLLEGES.
(From the New York Sun.)
Of the 640 girls who passed successfully the examinations for admission to the Normal College this month, the great majority are Jews. More than five-sixths of the whole number came from the public schools, of which for many years past the best scholars have been of that race chiefly.
The names of these girls indicate the great variety of nationalities now making up the population of New York. Polish Jewish names are numerous and all the different countries from which of late years has come so large a Jewish immigration are represented in the list. Next come Irish names, but relatively their number is not great, and of the purely English there are comparatively few. Scandinavian names are noticeable. Considering the large Italian population now here, the small number of girls representing that race would be surprising if it were not that the great mass of the Italians are still newcomers. Eventually, doubtless, we shall see such names frequent among the more proficient scholars of the public schools. Already they are beginning to appear in the lists of the more adroit politicians of the town, and as time goes on we shall have to count more and more with the subtle Italian intellect in our politics.
It is the Jews, however, who are improving the advantages of the public schools most industriously and most effectively, and from them the boys and girls pass to the free colleges beyond, where they are always in powerful force.
Of about eight hundred graduates from the public schools admitted to the free city college for boys, the vast majority also are of the Jewish race, the proportionate number of other races being even smaller than among the girls admitted to the Normal College. English names are even rarer than among the girls, but relatively there are more Italian, though, perhaps, fewer Irish names. Take, as an example of many the successful pupils of the school sending the greatest number, Grammar School No. 22, situated at Stanton and Sheriff streets: I. Auster, B. Bernsteln, H. Berkowitz, L. Bieber, W. Chies, L. Carp, H. Dominitz, S. Englander, E. Goldstein, J. Grossman, V. Grakowitz, J. Gross, Jacob Gross, A. Gossett, A. Klein, N. Kopf, A. Kohn, J. Krause, J. Laufer, L. Lipkowitz, H. Martinick, L. Moskowitz, E. Pollacher, S. Proszinger, J. Rosenwasser, I. Rosenbaum, M. Rosenberg, I. Seligman, H. Schneider, M. Strauss, L. Stoloff, S. Schaden, J. Shapiro, S. Unger, B. Vitale, J. Waldman, S. Wolfman, I. Weisban, L. Wildmans, J. Weil.
Thus it happens that the supply of teachers and for the professions is coming so largely from the Jewish race. Jews are also now a notable part of the students of our great universities.

Sealed Tenders
