BY THE SEA SHORE.

Oh fall upon the yellow beach
With kisses keen, with kisses strong;
And to the sands that southward reach,
Give all the music of thy song.
Oh sea, with lips that taste of brine,
But not again from yonder shore
Shall I look on upon thy deep;
The bloom is growing evermore.
The light of life has sunk to sleep—
Her life, oh sea, that fled from mine.
—W. J. Henderson.

Man's Way of Improving the Horse.
The Creator has taken the greatest care to make the whole hoof as light as possible. "Happy thought!" says man. "Let us hang a pound or so on each hoof and make the horse waste his strength in lifting it." "Happy thought!" Let us exceedingly strong. "Happy thought!" Let us weaken it by cutting it away. "Happy thought!" Let us soften it by "stopping." "Happy thought!" He has furnished the hoof with an elastic pad called the "frog," so as to prevent any jar when the horse steps. "Happy thought!" Let us cut away the pad and make the horse's weight come upon a ring of iron. "Happy thought!" Again, the sole of the hoof has been formed archwise, of successive layers of exceedingly hard horn. It bids defiance to hard and sharp-edged objects. "Happy thought!" Let us pare it so another happy thought. "Let us pare it so thin that it not only cannot resist the pressure of the horse's weight upon a stone, but that it yields to the pressure of the human thumb." "Happy thought!"

The coronary ring, from which the fibers of the wall are secreted, is guarded by a pent-house of hair which causes wet to shoot off it as it does from the eaves of a house. "Happy thought!" Let us snip away the hair, and let the water make its way into the coronary ring. "Happy thought!" So, after working his sweat will upon the hoof, man wonders at its weakness, and lays down the stupid axiom that "one horse can wear out four sets of legs," which is equivalent to saying that the Creator did not know how to make a horse. —Rev. J. G. Wood in "Horse and Man."

Charles Dickens and the Secretary.
Charles Dickens when he first visited this country in 1842, was received with prodigious attention. Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore vied with each other in showering adulation upon him, and the doors of the most aristocratic mansions opened wide to receive him. Plays were written and performed, in which he and his most prominent characters were personated true to nature. He was overwhelmed with invitations to the ball, dinners and receptions, and the highest social honors were showered on him, which he received like a concealed coxcomb, and repaid by writing a slanderous account of his tour.

When in Washington he held a daily levee at his hotel, and the secretary of war, calling to pay his respects, heard him say, while waiting in the ante-room: "My hour for receiving is past. That right, at a reception at the White House, he told his friend, Christopher Hughes, to inform the secretary that he was then willing to be introduced to him. "Tell him my hour for receiving him is past," was Mr. Spencer's reply. —Ben. Perley Poore.

How "Othello" Was Once Complimented.
During the first season of the present Howard Athenaeum, when it was under the management of the late Baron Hackett and Mr. Thomas Ford, who was originally known as the keeper of a public house, the elder Booth played an engagement there. One night, when "Othello" was the play, with Booth as the Moor, Mr. Ford had a relative come to visit him from the country, and he put him in his own private box to witness the performance. Mr. Ford did not happen to see his guest immediately after the entertainment, but the next morning at breakfast he said, "Well, uncle, how did you like the play?" "Pretty well, Tom, pretty well," was the answer, "but I saw you one night bigger among the actors." "Yes," replied the manager, hesitatingly, and the guest continued: "But, Tom, I don't see but what he did as well as any of 'em." Praise from such a source was praise indeed, and he was the great Junius Brutus Booth must have appreciated it. —Boston Budget.

Jack and the Rubber Rodents.
Attached to Niblo's garden is a famous cat, black as night, as big as a coyote. He is known as Jack, and his home is an old store-room remote from the stage. In deference to an old theatrical superstition Jack is always kept carefully confined during the performance, but the other night he escaped from the store-room and wandered down to the stage just as Wilke, in the garb of Piper, marched across Hamelin bridge with a swarm of rats at his heels. "What's the matter with that cat?" exclaimed one of the scene-shifters.

Jack was crouching in the wings, when he saw the rats approaching, and before he could be seized, had bounded into the advancing swarm and was eagerly tearing one of the India rubber rodents. The audience laughed themselves hoarse and the curtain was rung down to give the stagehands an opportunity to seize Jack and convey him to a place of security. —Jerome Eddy.

An Indian Can Eat Anything.
"An Indian can eat anything," said a commission merchant, as two ancient children of the forest with wild filled bags over their backs made their exit from the store room. "These squaws come here once or twice a week," he continued, "and beg for the tanned meat and decayed vegetables and fruits. They will take everything we give 'em, and will put the stuff into their sacks and carry it off."
"I have given them stuff that no white being would think of eating, and they seem to think it all right. I asked one of them how many could eat such strong smelling meat, when she informed me that in cooking it they destroyed the offensive odor. For all I know, these squaws keep Indian boarding houses." —St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

Another Substitute for Quinine.
A substitute for quinine, described as being even superior to that remedy, has been obtained from the Peruvia plant known to botanists as Lantana Braziliense. —Arkansas Traveler.

FOR the last two years we have heard a great deal about some threatening crisis, which, it has been repeatedly alleged by different newspapers, has been hanging over Hawaii. In looking over the newspaper files for several years prior to 1884, we read of the same impending crisis and have come to the conclusion with many others that this hanging sword of Damocles must be rather securely poised in mid-air, as the effects of its fall have not yet been reported in any of the prophetic newspapers. On the contrary the public is constantly treated with occasional renewals of the prophecy, with the repeated assurance that there is a crisis or a sword or something else poised above us ready to fall. Every political movement or argument which has been used against us by the enemies of our treaty relations with the United States, has at once been converted by the necromancy of political journalism into a threatened crisis. Now that the treaty seems to have gotten from under the threatened crisis in the United States, political argument has immediately invented another crisis under which it parades Hawaii in a very seriously tragic but ridiculous mask withal! We are now seriously informed that as the treaty crisis is past that the next crisis which threatens Hawaii is, that our mid-ocean Kingdom will be used as the "dark and bloody ground" upon which the hordes of Asia and the freemen of the West will fight for political ascendancy. This, it is alleged, is really and truly the crisis of to-day; not a future crisis, but one where the political shoals and quicksands are immediately before us. Of course, it is alleged, that the Hawaiian Government is totally incapable of carrying the country safely through the terrible danger—if this was not added, the argument would be entirely useless. There are men, of course, in the Kingdom, who could do the thing to perfection, but they are not in office. They are as intangible as the alleged crisis. We consider that the present Administration has struck some hard blows against the prosperity of Hawaii, but we hold that they have not injured us more than the misrepresentations which have been constantly sent abroad by alarmist newspapers to be copied and paraded against us by the San Francisco Chronicle and other anti-Hawaiian journals. "A large number" of the American citizens residing in these Islands were accused in public print yesterday of not liking the tone of the paragraph in the King's speech relating to the treaty. This seems to us rather rough on the "liberality of political ideas" which has long been the boast of our American residents. In fact we don't believe that any of the American residents here, who retain their national identity and have voted in the United States since 1865, have expressed any dislike to the treaty paragraph in the King's speech. The paragraph mentioned will do us good in the United States: the Americans honor independence and manhood, and however much they may be opposed to the continuance of the treaty, the attitude of a King who accepts the inevitable with becoming dignity and with a firm reliance in the resources and capabilities of his Kingdom, must command their respect. It is announced that President Cleveland, after careful and laborious study, is thoroughly convinced of the vastness of the land frauds in the United States. It might be added that the people of the Great Republic have been convinced of the same thing for many years without "careful and laborious study."

HAWAIIAN LEGISLATURE.

FOURTH DAY. Legislature met at ten o'clock with Hon. J. S. Walker in the Chair. Prayer by the Chaplain. The minutes of Monday's session were read by Secretary Pierce, and after a correction moved by Mr. Neumann, were approved.

PETITIONS. By S. W. Kaai—From the citizens of Hana, with forty-one signatures attached, praying an appropriation of $10,000 to improve roads in the District of Hana. Referred to Committee on Public Lands and Internal Improvements.

By E. Kekoa—From citizens of Puna praying that the law for the mitigation of the evils of prostitution be repealed. Referred to Sanitary Committee.

By E. Kekoa—From the citizens of Puna, praying for an appropriation of $24,000 for the benefit and encouragement of the English school at Kalapana, Puna. Referred to Education Committee.

By S. W. Kaai—From the citizens of Hana, praying for extra compensation of the overland mail carriers. Referred to Finance Committee.

By E. Kekoa—That the compensation of the mail carrier from Hilo be increased to $30 per week. Referred to Finance Committee.

By E. Kekoa—Against segregation of lepers to Molokai, and that care of them devolve upon the District to which they belong. Referred to Sanitary Committee.

By E. Kekoa—For the appropriation of $100,000 for the purchase by the Government of lands sold at public auction. Referred to Committee on Public Lands and Internal Improvements.

By E. Kekoa—For the appropriation of $5,000 for the roads of Puna District. Referred to Committee on Public Lands and Internal Improvements.

By A. P. Paohoaole—For the appropriation of $2,000 for a wharf at Pukoo. Referred to Committee on Public Lands and Internal Improvements.

By E. Kekoa—For an appropriation of $3,000 for landing at Kaunaloa. Referred to Committee on Public Lands and Internal Improvements.

SPECIAL COMMITTEES. Mr. Gulick reported the printing of the lists of committees.

The Chair then appointed Honorable J. I. Dowsett, L. Aholo, Jno. W. Kalua, Jno. E. Bush and Asa Kaulia on the Committee on Miscellaneous Petitions.

RESOLUTIONS. Mr. Gulick on behalf of the Minister of Finance gave notice of Mr. Kapena's intention to introduce at an early date a bill for the appropriations of the biennial period ending March 31, 1888.

Mr. Gibson then announced his intention to introduce a bill and proceeded to read a preamble setting forth its reasons and objects when Mr. Dole rose to a point of order.

Mr. Dole stated the rules had been enforced on him, and he saw no reason why the Minister of Foreign Affairs should be an exception. He called the attention of the Chair to Rule 72, the application of which is that Mr. Gibson may give notice to introduce a bill giving its title. The recital of any preamble which explains the nature of the bill is as much out of place as the reading of the bill itself.

Mr. Gibson asked for a suspension of rules to enable him to introduce his intention properly.

Mr. Neumann asked for the ruling of the Chair.

The Chair sustained Mr. Dole's point of order.

Mr. Neumann moved suspension of the rules to enable Mr. Gibson to introduce his bill in his own way. Carried.

Mr. Gibson gave the probable outlay required on Internal Improvements as follows:

Immigration $350,000 Water Works for Honolulu 200,000 Sewerage for Honolulu 100,000 Wharves 100,000 Dredging Honolulu Harbor 50,000 Roads and Bridges 75,000

And gave notice of his intention to introduce a Loan Act providing for certain works of Internal Improvement.

Mr. Neumann gave notice of the following bills:

An Act to regulate the Currency of the Hawaiian Kingdom. An Act to amend Section 1 of Chapter xxvii, Penal Code and the Act amendatory thereto relating to vagabonds and idle and disorderly persons.

An Act to amend Chapter xxv of the Penal Code relating to the Lord's day, commonly called Sunday. An Act repealing the Statute relating to Gaming. An Act to amend law regulating appeals from Police and District Justice Courts.

An Act relating to escheats. An Act to amend Section 17, Chapter xxi of the Session Laws of 1884 relating to challenge of jurors. An Act to license Pawnbrokers. An Act to repeal Section 1 of an Act entitled an Act to facilitate the recovery of rents, approved the 10th day of January, 1865.

Mr. Keau read a resolution to furnish the members of the Legislature with copies of the Penal and Civil Codes and Session Laws of former sessions. Mr. Kalua supported the resolution with an amendment that they be returned to the Minister of the Interior at the close of the session. He objected to lawyers recruiting their libraries through the benevolence of the Legislature or bestowing them as rewards upon those who had greatly aided their elections.

Mr. Kaai favored giving the books to the members as the Government might be thought stingy. He therefore moved an amendment that all new members be supplied with such books to become their own property.

Mr. Dickey moved an amendment that the Minister of the Interior deliver to each member desiring the necessary copies, taking a receipt therefor, the same to be returned at the close of the session.

The Chair favored the last amendment as out of order as it went beyond an amendment to an amendment.

Mr. Keau was not opposed to any of the amendments but he objected to the strong language used by the gentlemen from Lahaina. The gentleman should not attribute improper motives to the framer and supporters of the resolutions.

Mr. Kaulukou moved the previous question. Carried.

The Chair said: "There is an amendment by Mr. Kalua, an amendment to an amendment by Mr. Kaai. I shall therefore decide Mr. Dickey's amendment out of order."

Mr. Aholo objected to the ruling. Mr. Dole admitted the wisdom of the Chair's ruling, but doubted the application to the case at issue. He contended that these were separate original amendments and that they should be voted on in reverse order.

Mr. Dickey's first; Mr. Kaai's next; Mr. Kalua's last.

Mr. Kekoa accepted Mr. Kalua's amendment and the Chair therefore ruled that Mr. Dickey's amendment is now in order as an amendment to an amendment. Mr. Dickey's amendment was then reduced to writing, put to vote and carried. The original motion was then carried.

Mr. Kaulukou gave notice of an Act to authorize a loan of $2,500,000 to build a railway to run from Hilo to Kukuiahe, through the District of Hamakua, Hawaii.

Mr. Richardson gave notice of Acts to amend Chapter 47, being an Act to repeal Chapter 10, Civil Code, relating to the Board of Education; to amend sections 18-23 of Act regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors, the same being Chapter 44 of the Laws of 1882.

Mr. Dickey gave notice of an Act providing for the erection of frame buildings, so as to prevent disastrous conflagrations, not only in Honolulu but in other towns of the Kingdom; also an Act to amend an Act relating to stamp duties passed in 1876.

Minister Gulick gave notice of Acts as follows: Relating to the limit in the city of Honolulu in which fire-proof buildings alone will be permitted; a general copyright law; to prevent the destruction of, or building upon the streets, highways and sidewalks of the city of Honolulu and the towns of Hilo, Lahaina and Waikuku; relating to water rates in the city of Honolulu; to regulate the building of fires within the city of Honolulu.

Mr. Liikalani gave notice of an Act to amend sections 1, 3, 4, 7, 8 of an Act to authorize plantation managers to dispense intoxicating liquors, passed 13th July, 1874.

Mr. Keau gave notice of an Act to make the office of registrar of conveyances a separate bureau; also, an Act to prohibit Chinamen from marrying Hawaiian women unless they give assurances of remaining in this Kingdom.

Mr. Kaulukou gave notice of resolution making an appropriation of $35,000 for the expenses of this session of the Assembly. He moved a suspension of rules to enable him to present it at once. Carried. He then moved a suspension of rules to allow the bill to go to its second reading.

Mr. Aholo deprecated undue haste. The motion was carried and the bill read in both Native and English by the interpreter Mr. Wilcox.

Mr. Kalua moved its reference to the Finance Committee. The report of the Minister of Finance shows a balance in the Treasury of $9,000 round figures. The gentleman from Hilo seems in haste to rush the bill through. There may be less than $9,000 now in the Treasury. It seemed to the speaker proper to refer it to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Kaulukou argued against its reference. Did the gentleman from Lahaina suppose that the Treasury had no receipts as well as expenditures since April 1st?

Mr. Richardson showed other amounts besides $9,000 in the Treasury. Moved to amend by ordering the bill to pass to engrossment. Carried.

It was moved that it be read a third time by title to-day. Carried.

Mr. Castle in a speech advocating, gave notice of resolution to print and distribute all bills before they passed to second reading.

There being no further business before the House it adjourned to 10 o'clock to-day.

SHORTLY EXPECTED! An invoice of Mrs. Sinclair's new and handsome art tribute to Hawaii-nei.

LOCAL NEWS.

H. B. M. S. Triumph is receiving coal. Do not forget the benefit at the Opera House this evening.

The S. S. Zealandia sails for San Francisco at noon next Friday.

Services will be held in the different churches as usual this evening.

Street improvements are going on at present on the road leading into Pauoa Valley.

The Admiral and officers of H. B. M. S. Triumph visited His Majesty, the King, at the Palace yesterday morning.

The S. S. Mariposa, Captain Hayward, will be due from the Colonies en route to San Francisco, next Saturday.

His Honor Judge Preston left for Hilo, Hawaii, by the Kinua last evening, to hold the May term of the Circuit Court.

The Legislature adjourned at a little before twelve o'clock yesterday forenoon, to meet again at ten o'clock this morning.

The first crop for 1886 of the Chinese fruit called lichi is now getting ripe, and the few trees of this species in town are beginning to assume the appearance of elevated strawberry beds.

Seven thousand five hundred bags, or three hundred and fifty tons, of coal were bagged and sent out to H. B. M. S. Triumph between seven o'clock last Monday morning and five o'clock last evening.

The British bark Star of Devon did not sail for Malden Island as it was reported she would in yesterday's PRESS. A number of officers from one of the men-of-war were examining her yesterday, but for what reason could not be learned. It is supposed that she is unseaworthy.

Sad.

A lachrymose native woman was going up Merchant street with a solid policeman. The lachrymose female had no hat on, the solid policeman wore a cap. The lachrymose female looked pensively at the solid policeman, the solid policeman looked solemnly at the lachrymose female, the lachrymose female and solid policeman looked mutually, jointly and severally at each other. That was all there was of it. The reporter was unable to find out the whyness of the whenceness of the thyness.

The Opera Benefit.

At the Hawaiian Opera House to-night, the citizens of Honolulu will tender the Campobello Opera Company a complimentary benefit. Despite the small house at the former concerts given by this company, too much cannot be said of the merits of the different members. The prices of admission have been reduced, as will be seen in an advertisement in another column of this paper. A most excellent programme has been prepared for this evening's concert, and as the prices have been reduced to suit the times, a full house should greet the company.

They Say:

That the Legislature prepared lots of political fun for the future during yesterday's session; that the leaders of the Government and Opposition parties will not be definitely fixed until next week; that the point of order is always judiciously raised when the Honorable members cannot "swim out"; that the weather was a little out of season yesterday; that the men who practice base ball at the Makiki diamond have lots of fun; that there will be some queer bills introduced against the Chinese, this session of the Legislature; that the new members are already taking an active part in national affairs; that the hackmen are the men who make ready money out of the Legislature; that the political wisecracks have discovered another terrible crisis; that the new steam laundry is turning out some excellent work this week; that the taro-flour men announce extended sales over the Islands and throughout Honolulu; that the Campobello concert will attract a large audience to-night; that the police were busy trying to find somebody yesterday; that they did not succeed; that everybody is wondering what has become of the alleged opium bill; that some declare it will never be introduced; that others say it is in the pocket of one of the members now; that the band was engaged at the Palace yesterday morning; that the steam roller annoyed the members of the Legislature during the last sitting; that Captain Tripp was mad yesterday afternoon; that an attempt will be made to have Delex, the escaped prisoner, returned; that the new base ball club will not play this year; that they will take the cake next year; that more prisoners are contemplating taking "French leave"; that the new Police Court is a very attractive place; that it attracts many persons against their will; that the Zealandia will take a large number of passengers; that a professional ballonist will shortly visit Honolulu; and that the men-of-war's men have all good voices.

A Prisoner Escapes.

Ned Delex, a white prisoner who was serving out a sentence for theft of a watch, the property of J. Daly, of the Fashionables, took "French leave" of Honolulu on the bark Natuna, yesterday afternoon. Delex, with several other prisoners, was employed on the tug Pele. Seeing a favorable opportunity early in the afternoon, he stowed away on the vessel. Being missed a search was instituted, but no clue as to the whereabouts of the liberty-aspiring prisoner could be obtained. About one hour before the Natuna sailed, Officer Marcos searched the vessel from stem to stern with no better results than the former search. After the vessel had sailed one of the prisoners employed with Delex, stated that he had seen Delex board the vessel but did not see him return to the wharf. Delex was sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for one year, and fined $50 for the offence mentioned above. He had served one year and was working out the fine when he escaped.

A Parliamentary Question.

Editor Daily Honolulu Press. DEAR SIR: I have been a spectator thus far at the sessions of the Legislature and it seems to me that business is conducted in a rather "go-as-you-please style." To-day a resolution was offered by Mr. Keau that certain books be supplied to members. I did not hear any second. Mr. Kalua moved an amendment that the members be required to return the same to the Minister of the Interior at the close of the session. I did not hear a second. Mr. Kaai moved an amendment that the members be allowed to retain the books as their own property. I did not hear a second. Mr. Dickey then moved an amendment that the members desiring be furnished with the books, a receipt taken therefor by the Minister of the Interior, the books to be returned to the Minister at the close of the session. This was seconded by Mr. Dole. My first question (a) is: What motion was before the house?

The Chair moved Mr. Dickey's amendment out of order, as he could not entertain a motion beyond an amendment to an amendment. Mr. Dole took exceptions to this ruling claiming that these three amendments were amendments to the original motion. He contended that any number of amendments could be made and that it was the duty of the Secretary to keep track of them, that the last amendment should be submitted to vote first, the next to the last next, etc. Is not this a wild statement? (b) Can more than one amendment to an original motion be before the house at once? (c) When is a motion before the house and debatable?

LOBBYIST.

Honolulu, May 4, 1886. [If you have stated the case correctly we should answer unhesitatingly: (a) The only motion to be entertained by the Chair was the one receiving the second. (b) No. Until one amendment is voted upon another cannot be in order. It is for the Chair to decide whether a second amendment proposed is an amendment or an amendment to the original motion. If the former, it is in order and takes precedence. (c) A motion is properly before the House when it has been stated from the Chair and is not debatable until that time. The difficulties you speak of could be remedied by a strict enforcement of the rules by the Chair. The man who makes a motion should rise, address and be recognized by the Chair. The man who seconds it should also rise, address and be recognized by the Chair. The Chair should state the motion and it is then open for discussion. A rambling support of a motion is not seconding it in a parliamentary sense.—ED. PRESS.]

Answers to Correspondents.

PER CENT.—The new loan Act will doubtless embody some provisions, which will not meet with the approval of large capitalists like yourself. It is alleged to be likely that the loan Act will not meet with the approval of any capitalist.

ERGO.—Therefore, we say you are not right, because you have drawn a conclusion, without stating your premise. If you had based your objection to an independent journal on the real reason, viz: because it is opposed to your "clique," then we should have respected your consistency as greatly as we admire your political check.

LEGISLATOR.—We don't see how the Chair could sustain the whole Assembly, although we believe there have been cases reported where a chair has sustained two young people before they were married. No, we don't think the Chair could even sustain a Government and Opposition man both at the same time—unless they should happen to fall in love with each other. It is not likely that such a phenomenon will occur this session. Colonel Sam Nowlein can answer your second question as to whether the military tactics provide for the Legislature shouldering an appropriation.

Confine this in a bag or cloth and place in a kettle of boiling water, and let it continue to boil 1 1/2 to 2 hours, until cooked. When done (while warm) stir with a stout spoon, adding a little water until the whole is well mixed. Let this stand from 5 to 6 hours. Then add water in small quantities, mixing thoroughly and kneading until the desired consistency is obtained. Owing to its great purity it will take from 3 to 4 days to become acid or sour. 202-311

THE LIBERTY OF THE LACKEYS.

The Venations Question of Perquisites—A Duke's Failure—Satisfaction.

After the company is fairly deposited at a ball, all is safe for an hour or two, and the liberty of the lackeys begins. The coachman and footman often get drunk together, and quarrels and scenes are common; the police are called in; horses are sometimes lamed and carriages smashed, but they usually contrive to be ready to take their company home, though sometimes at the risk of their lives.

These gentry, who go to four or five parties a night, are allowed to be late in the morning. It is daylight often and often before they turn in, and half of them breakfast just in time to wait on my lady for her shopping or her visits in the afternoon.

In town the question of perquisites comes up again; not now, it is true, from calls or visitors; only a raw American tips a footman or a butler at a dinner or a ball. But the tradesmen's bills are settled in London, and the servants have established a system of discount which contributes materially to their incomes, if it lessens those of their masters. A shilling in a pound is the ordinary toll. I had a house in London and can speak by the card.

There is little use in struggling against the system. A duke with an enormous fortune attempted to stem the tide, but succumbed ignominiously. He hired a poor gentleman to supervise his bills, and paid them through him, but the servants were in league with the tradesmen, and received their perquisites all the same; while his grace was so badly served that the peace of his life was destroyed, and he was glad to capitulate without the honors of war. As a tradesman once said to an American minister in my hearing: "Your excellency must expect to pay for being your excellency."

Another perquisite is the cast-off clothes. The valets and the ladies' maids are entitled to these, and are outraged if you make any contrary disposition of them. I once gave a child about my house some old pocket handkerchiefs, at which my valet protested; and I heard the little one retort: "You got the shirts."

But, after all, the servants take good care of good masters. Granting them what they consider their due, giving them the consideration and civil treatment which they often deserve, not interfering with their prejudices and perquisites, one can extract a good deal of satisfaction from the condition of life where such servants exist. —Adam Baden in Globe-Democrat.

So As to Let the Public Know.

It is customary with the vaqueros, on arriving in Ploche, Cal., to roll up their overalls at the bottom, so as to let the public know that they also wear cloth pants. The other day an Indian, having a good pair of pants given him, pulled them over his overalls, and, not wishing the public to look upon him as so miserably poor that he could not sport overalls, he rolled the legs of his pants up to the knees and straddled about as boldly as a vaquero. —Chicago Times.

Keeping Track of Coming Criminals.

I learned that wherever a crowd is liable to congregate, there will be found a detective. He is always on hand to familiarize himself with the faces of pickpockets and sneak thieves, who frequent such gatherings, and who sooner or later become more dangerous criminals. In this way the detectives keep track of the on-coming burglars, safe-blowers and forgers. —Pioneer Press "Casual Listener."

The Popularity of War Panoramas.

Panoramas of notable war events have now been established, or are to be, in all the leading cities of the country. They are very popular. Perhaps it will not be long before American painters generally will seek to cater to the tastes of the masses for pictorial representations of great episodes in American history. —The Current.

Water Sports of the Arena.

The site of the Roman arena in Paris has revealed indications of the use of water to flood the arena for the purpose of water sports and sham naval battles. Fragments of seats, with the names of their holders engraved on them, have also been found, and a woman's head in stone, with a fillet of bay-leaves about it. —Frank Leslie's.

The Identification of Silk Fiber.

Silk can be identified in a mixture with any other fiber, animal or vegetable, by means of concentrated hydrochloric acid, which dissolves it completely and immediately, without appreciably affecting any woolen or woody fiber with which the silk may have been interwoven. —Boston Transcript.

Journalistic Enterprise in Mexico.

In Mexico the morning newspapers are sold in the streets the evening before, for they go to press about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The Sunday morning papers are sold Saturday night, and there are none ready for Monday, so that in Mexico there is no Sunday newspaper work done and no Sunday newspaper. —Chicago Journal.

Thought It a Part of the Show.

"It is diverting to know," says London Truth, alluding to the new budget of Beaconsfield letters, "that when Lord Rolle tumbled down the steps of the throne at the coronation, his fall was regarded by the foreigners present as part of the ceremony, being 'a tenure by which he held his barony.'"

When Prince Kratochvike was in Prison.

When Prince Kratochvike was in prison at Clairvaux he became the teacher of twenty fellow-anarchists. Among the studies taught were German, English and Spanish. One of the pupils got along so well in English as to be able to translate a book for publication. —Exchange.

And Lived Happy Ever After.

In one of his letters to his sister, just published, Benjamin Disraeli wrote a jest about a party at Bolinas: "I was introduced, by particular desire, to Mrs. William Lewis, a pretty little woman, a flirt, and a rattle; indeed, gifted with a volubility I should think unequalled, and of which I can convey no idea. She told me that she 'liked silent, melancholy men.' I answered 'that I had no doubt of it.' And yet in a few years Mrs. Lewis and Mr. Disraeli were married and lived happily ever after," as the story books say. —Chicago Tribune.

Didn't Care Much About It.

"How does your father seem to regard my coming here?" anxiously asked Adolphus of little Bobby while Miss Mand was upstairs getting ready to present herself. "Guess he don't care nothing about it," replied Bobby, carelessly. "So he has no objections, eh? But what did he say, my little runt?" "He said if Mand was a saint to make a fool of herself, why let her." —New York World.

No False Pride About Him.

"Ain't you 'blamed ter be seen in der fabricator in sich raggedy pants?" said Whangodoodle Baxter to Jim Webster. "No, indeed, person; I ain't 'blamed. Dey don't belong ter me. What's I got be 'blamed of?" —Texas Slings.
