

PRINCESS CHARMIAN

By ALIBON.

I fling myself on my knees beside her, bursting into a passion of tears. "You little silly child!" she says, putting her arm around me very tenderly. "It will be better for you—in many ways—when I am gone."

"I shall die of grief when you are gone?" she smiles, though I am sobbing passionately, looking away from me up the long quiet road.

"Die!" she repeats, with the old shrug. "My dear, I don't believe you ever die of grief. I don't believe it."

"But they must die when they don't care to live."

"Must they?" she says softly. And then, as if the words haunted her, she begins to sing softly—

"Will you bury my lady fair When the leaves are green?"

She is gone. And my father laughs at my forlorn face, and scolds me of the day, not so very long ago, when he prophesied that, sorry as I was to have Charmian come to Tranquille, I should be still more sorry when the day came when she must go.

She has come for me in Mrs. Purefoy's carriage—I am to spend a week with her at Earl's Gate Place. Pleasant is packing my clothes under protest, but my father has taken pity on my condition, and gives me leave to go. And my princess looks radiant. Lord Lorraine has forgiven her—came to Earl's Gate Place yesterday and found her alone in the drawing room, and held out his hand to her without even asking her to say she was sorry. And I can see what it must have been to her when she thought she had lost him by the divine happiness which shines in her eyes now that she has found him again.

"My dear Susan, your artlessness has the effect of the highest art, or else that prim old Pleasant Owens knows what suits you better than you know yourself."

"I have come to Charmian's room to tell her that I have nothing fit to wear for dinner, that my seamy white muslin frock is the best that Pleasant has provided, and that I am sure Mrs. Purefoy and her guests will laugh at me, and fancy I am aping simplicity—a grown-up young woman of seventeen and dressed like a child!"

"If you will only let me dine upstairs, Charmian, or not ask me to eat any dinner at all, I could make myself so much less conspicuous in the drawing room afterward."

"My dear Susan, you look delicious, exactly like the quaint pictures every one is raving about now. You would make a charming Little Miss Muffet; you want only the curds and whey and the flax, whatever that may be. Look here—will you tie up these flowers for me? Jeannette has no more idea of arranging a bouquet than the man in the moon. But don't tie them up with a broken straw."

"I said no more complimentary employment. And while I put the yellow roses together I look at my princess, and forget my own shortcomings in delighted admiration of her."

It is the first time I have ever seen her in evening dress. Her gown is of the palest buttepec-colored satin, covered with lace and trails of yellow stars without foliage, closely fitting, leaving the neck and arms bare, falling round her feet in lustrous, billowy folds. But it is not the dress itself which dazzles me, though I have never seen such an ideally graceful garment in all my life before. It is the face with its vivid beauty, the cloud of soft dark hair above the dusky brows, the glad smiling smile which curves the red lips, the happy light in the great soft velvet-brown eyes. My princess looks as if all the world were made for her to-night.

"In this your age, Charmian!" I have lifted one of her bracelets from the table, a snake with golden scales and great glittering diamond eyes.

"Lady Louisa gave it to me," Charmian answers, with a smiling glance at it. "I don't think she would be very sorry if I could bite me. She is not particularly fond of me."

"I suppose she does not want Lord Lorraine to marry you?"

"Certainly she does not want him to marry me!"

"I mean she would rather he did not marry anybody."

"Oh, I don't know about that! She never liked me—had an idea that I was something of a Bohemian, though I don't think she knows exactly what that means," and Charmian shrugs her shoulders. "But she never approved of my bringing-up generally—nor of me."

Arthur Johnstone, Editor and Prop'r.

MONDAY, MAY 17, 1886.

The first point in the Bulletin's "sell out" two years ago is: That as a sale is a contract, the Bulletin entered into a contract, for a pecuniary consideration, by which the proprietor of said paper transferred the editorial management of the Bulletin to a certain buyer or certain buyers for a definite period, which will be definitely fixed hereafter by the proof of a change of editors during the time the contract of sale ran.

The treaty news from the Coast seems to have caused some misapprehension in Honolulu by the seeming introduction of a new article, whereby this Government grants to the United States the exclusive right to enter the Pearl River Harbor and to improve said harbor and take other steps for establishing and maintaining there a "coaling and repair station for the use of vessels of the United States."

In explanation of the matter it will be appropriate to say that when an amendment to an official document is proposed, in the Congress of the United States, it is always printed in italics and inserted in the original document, so that all members of Congress can see just what the proposed amendment is.

In the present dispatch it is stated that the article referred to is printed in italics and, therefore, could not be signed by the representatives of this Government and the United States as many unacquainted with this congressional custom have concluded. The Minister of Foreign Affairs on last Saturday stated that the alleged new treaty as printed in the San Francisco Chronicle, was an invention and a forgery.

On the other hand we do not think that a legal interpretation of the proposed amendment cedes a foot of Hawaiian territory to the United States. It merely grants the exclusive right to enter the Harbor of Pearl River during the continuance of such a treaty, if it is ratified. Either party to the national contract retains the power to terminate the treaty by giving a year's notice.

Nothing official has as yet reached this Government, but if such a treaty should be submitted for consideration there is certainly nothing in it that would endanger our political relations with the rest of the world, or that would give the United States any political advantage over anybody else in case this Government should see fit to accept it.

Our space prohibits us from giving more than an outline of foreign events. The war cloud is showing a black face in Europe and the Powers still seem determined to coerce Greece. The Greek Cabinet has framed a reply to the collective note of the Powers, which the Powers of course consider inadequate. As a consequence most of the foreign Ministers have received orders to leave Athens.

The socialists and strikers of Chicago, Illinois, have disturbed that city with several bloody street riots, during which several policemen were killed and some forty or fifty injured. The police fired on the mob which was dispersed after about fifty Anarchists and on-lookers were more or less injured. The large book establishment of Bancroft & Co., on Market street, San Francisco, together with several other buildings, was destroyed by fire on the afternoon of April 30th. Three lives were lost and others are missing who are supposed to have perished. The loss will amount to over a million dollars, which was only partially covered by insurance. It is announced that another tariff bill will be introduced into Congress which will be a radical revision of the one now before the House. It is said that the Morrison tariff bill, even as he has revised it, cannot pass. The Mormons have already commenced an exodus into the northern part of Mexico. The dispatches say that the Mexican residents of Chihuahua do not oppose the movement, which the Mormons declare is carried on to avoid persecution in the United States. The public debt of the United States was reduced about $15,000,000 during the month of April. The sugar market shows a downward tendency in both raw and refined sugars.

HAWAIIAN LEGISLATURE.

FOURTEENTH DAY. House met pursuant to adjournment, at 10 o'clock A.M., the President, Hon. J. S. Walker, in the Chair. After prayer by the Chaplain, the minutes of the previous session were read and approved.

PETITIONS.

Hon. member Brown from Koolauloa presented resolutions as follows: That all coins heretofore current in this Kingdom be taken at par value. Referred to Finance Committee. That the harbor at Laea be deepened. Referred to Committee on Internal Improvements. That parents of three or more children be pensioned. Laid on table to be considered with a bill. That no bill licensing the sale of opium be passed. Laid on the table to be considered with any bill to that effect that may be presented. That a District physician be appointed for Koolauloa. Referred to Sanitary Committee. That the office of Road Supervisor be abolished. Ordered laid on the table to be considered with bill to that effect. That no loan bill for $1,000,000 be passed. Referred to Committee on Finance.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Hon. member Aholo from the Finance Committee reported on a petition from Molokai praying that no loan bill for $1,000,000 be passed, recommending that the petition be laid on the table to be considered with any such bill that may come up. Also on a resolution referred to same Committee asking that certain taxes twice paid be refunded, and recommended that the two amounts $5 and $3 be inserted in the Appropriation bill. Reports adopted.

SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

His Excellency the Minister of the Interior reported the following bills as printed: An act relating to the carrying of fowling pieces and other firearms. As act to repeal law prohibiting natives from leaving the Kingdom. An act to consolidate the laws relating to internal taxes. An act to provide the descents of property to next of kin. An act to regulate the practice in the escheat of lands. An act making the port of Kailua, Hawaii, a port of entry.

His Excellency the Minister of Foreign Affairs rose to make a statement to the House. It was not exactly a report, but was in accordance with a resolution presented to the House the other day in reference to an alleged dispatch from Washington relative to a cession of Pearl harbor to the United States. There was an alleged treaty published in one of the daily papers this morning amongst the news received by the Alameda. He could assure the members that this treaty was a pure invention. It was a falsehood. The names of Mr. Freyngheusen and Mr. Carter appended to the alleged treaty were forgeries. His Excellency stated that he had received letters from Mr. Carter in Washington which he thought would convince the Hon. members that there was not a word of truth in the report of the alleged cession of Pearl harbor. His Excellency then read the following letters and extracts:

His Excellency stated that the alleged treaty, published in one of the morning papers under the head of foreign news, as having been negotiated between the Hawaiian and United States Governments through Messrs. Freyngheusen and Carter was a pure fabrication. The whole thing was a falsehood, and the signatures of the two Honorable gentlemen was a forgery. His Excellency read certain dispatches received by the mail of that day, from our Minister Resident at Washington, most emphatically denying that there had been such negotiations respecting any cession of territory on the part of the Hawaiian Government. Secretary Bayard had no knowledge of any such clause in the Convention between the two Governments, and Mr. Carter had most emphatically protested against any such clause. Hon. member Richardson expressed himself as much obliged for the information given by the Minister. He made a motion that the papers read by His Excellency be printed for general information. After considerable discussion the motion was amended so as to read that the newspaper representatives be given the opportunity to copy the correspondence so as to have it printed in proper form, and then adopted.

RESOLUTIONS.

Hon. member Castle read for the first time an act to restrict the granting of licenses in Honolulu. Giving the Minister of the Interior the right to refuse a license for any business in Honolulu when, in his opinion the carrying on of the business within the fire limits of the city would be dangerous. On suspension of the rules the bill was read a second time by its title and referred to the committee having in charge the bill to define the fire limits of the city. The Hon. member also read for the first time a bill providing for holding Circuit Court on Maui either in Wailuku or Lahaina in the discretion of the Justices of the Supreme Court.

His Excellency the Attorney General moved that bill be rejected. Hon. member Thurston seconded the motion. His opinion was that this was whipping the Devil around the stump. The intent of the bill was to accomplish the end sought in the bill lately killed in the House.

Hon. member Aholo was of the opinion that the bill was out of order as it was, in effect, the same bill lately defeated. He asked the President to rule on this point. The President ruled that the bill was not identical with that lately defeated. The motion to reject the bill was then put and carried 22 to 8.

His Excellency the Minister of Foreign Affairs read for the first time an act authorizing a national loan and defining the uses to which the moneys should be applied. The bill provides for a loan of $5,000,000 to run thirty years at 6 per cent. per annum. None of the bonds to be sold at less than par value except five per cent. authorized to be paid agents or syndicates for placing the bonds. The principal and interest to be paid in U. S. gold coin of the standard at present in use. The moneys raised on this loan to be used for the following purposes only. To redeem all bonds now out. For immigration purposes $2,500,000. Waterworks for Honolulu $200,000. Sewerage of Honolulu $100,000. Improvement of Harbors and Landings $150,000. For Streets and Roads $100,000. The interest on the bonds payable here and in San Francisco and other financial centres. Passed to its second reading.

General Advertisements. Alden Fruit and Taro Company, OF WAILUKU, MAUI. Taro Flour! Taro Flour! Taro Flour!

Highly recommended by physicians, and used by everybody. A boon to the sick and convalescent. A valuable article of diet for the healthy.

Poi made from this flour possesses cleanliness never found in ordinary poi. It makes by far the best mush.

Taro cakes, muffins, rolls, bread, griddle cakes, gems, and puddings of unrivalled excellence can be made as readily from this as from ordinary flour.

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING POI.—Take the desired amount of flour and mix very thin with cold water, being sure there are no lumps.

When done (while warm) stir with a stout spoon, adding a little water until the whole is well mixed. Let this stand from 5 to 6 hours.

Then add water in small quantities, mixing thoroughly and kneading until the desired consistency is obtained. Owing to its great purity it will take from 3 to 4 days to become acid or sour.
